Biography/History

Kathryn Linden (January 24, 1905-August 10, 2000) worked as an assistant in the Education Department of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York from 1937 to 1944. In 1944, she was hired by Pearl S. Buck as Director of Audiovisual Education for the East and West Association, an organization founded by Richard Walsh and Pearl S. Buck in 1942 dedicated to cultural exchange and understanding between Asia and the West. While working for the Association, Linden selected films, directed film and lecture series, and created exhibitions for educational purposes. Linden was a co-producer of the educational film series "Through China's Gateway" in 1947.

In 1949, Linden organized the American Nurses' Association's (ANA) film committee and helped put together film programs for ANA biennial conventions in 1950 and 1952. In 1953, Linden was hired as the director of the ANA-NLN Film Service, a cooperative effort between the American Nurses' Association and the National League for Nursing to coordinate film activities for both organizations that included developing and holding film programs at the ANA and NLN conventions, writing film reviews, involvement with film production and endorsement, and developing and administering a film library. She retired in 1970. Linden passed away in 2000 in Doylestown, Bucks County, Pennsylvania.

Scope and Contents

The collection consists of five filmstrips, five booklets, and a 16 inch phonograph recording of "Through China's Gateway," an educational series written and narrated by Pearl S. Buck for the East and West Association and produced by Telefilm Corporation in association with the editors of Look Magazine in 1947.

The film series consists of the following parts:

- "In the Chinese Manner"
- "China's Children"
- "Food for China"
- "A Nation of Scholars"
- "China's Tomorrow"

The five booklets and filmstrips correspond to each of the five parts in the series. Although the booklets indicate the series was intended to be six parts, apparently only five were made. The final part, entitled "Arts of China" was not produced. The phonograph record is of Part Two: China's Children. It is recorded on a 16 inch NBC Orthacoustic record produced by NBC Radio-Recording Division, National Broadcasting Company, New York.
