Interview with Bob Zmuda; Commentary on Captain Beefhart and His Magic Band. December 17, 1999. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885011].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: BOB ZMUDA ("ZMOO-da") is the co-executive producer of the new film "Man on the Moon" about the late comic Andy Kaufman. ZMUDA was also Kaufman's writer, co-conspirator, and close friend. In the 1970s Kaufman was best known for his portrayal of the sweet-natured foreign-born Latka on the TV sitcom "Taxi." On stage he took on mind-bending personas like an obnoxious master of ceremonies, or a wrestler who fought women and challenged them on stage, or an Elvis impersonator. Often he left his audience perplexed as to whether or not he was for real. Kaufman died in 1984 from lung cancer. ZMUDA is also the author of "Andy Kaufman Revealed!" (Little, Brown & Co.) (REBROADCAST FROM 9/8/99) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: BOB ZMUDA continued.

REV. : Rock historian ED WARD with part two of his look at Captain Beefheart and His Magic Band. There's a new anthology of their work, "Captain Beefheart and His Magic Band" (Warner archives/Rhino).

Interview with Vicki Peterson, Peter Holsapple, and Susan Cowsill; Interview with Marshall Crenshaw; Commentary on vocabulary. December 20, 1999. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884935].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: From the band the Continental Drifters: singer/songwriters VICKI PETERSON (formerly of the Bangles), PETER HOLSAPPLE (of the dBs) and his wife SUSAN COWSILL (formerly of the Cowsills). They've just released their second album, "Vermillion" (Razor and Tie label). They performed earlier this month in New York at a concert called "The Songs of the Century." They play and talk about some of their picks for the greatest songs. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: Singer-songwriter MARSHALL CRENSHAW performs some of the songs he did at the same Songs of the Century concert. REV. : Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG tells us what words he would like to see us get rid of for the year 2000.

Interview with Rosemary Clooney. December 21, 1999. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885010].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: We feature an interview with singer/hollywood legend ROSEMARY CLOONEY. She will talk about her life as a singer and performer. We will also listen to songs from throughout her career. Her new autobiography, called Girl Singer, reads like a who's who from the golden age of Hollywood. She has also released a CD companion to the book. Its called Songs from the Girl Singer. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Anthony Minghella. December 22, 1999. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884767].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Director and Screenwriter ANTHONY MINGHELLA. He won the Academy Award for Best Director for the 1996 film The English Patient. The movie also won the Oscar for Best Picture. His new film, The Talented Mr. Ripley opens December 25th, and stars Matt Damon, Gwyneth Paltrow, and Cate Blanchett. Its based on the novel by Patricia Highsmith. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: We feature a conversation with Fresh Air film critic JOHN POWERS about this year's holiday movies. A series of new films are being released this season-- some of them featuring huge stars (like Tom Hanks in The Green Mile, and Jim Carrey in The Man on the Moon), some of them based on popular books (like Angela's Ashes, Snow Falling on Cedars, and Girl Interrupted.) JOHN tells us about the hype, the movie trends, and his picks for the season's best films.INT. 2: We feature an interview with screenwriter/director DAVID O. RUSSELL. His movie Three Kings is being re-released for the holiday season. His other movies include Spanking the Monkey and Flirting with Disaster.REV. : Classical Music Critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the new John Harbison opera, The Great Gatsby, based on the book by F. Scott Fitzgerald.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Composer and musician DON BYRON in a concert featuring music from his cd, "Bug Music." It includes music by the Duke Ellington Orchestra, The John Kirby band, and even some cartoon music by Raymond Scott, who composed for Warner Brothers. BYRON plays the clarinet, and is joined by his band. BYRON'S new CD is called Romance with the Unseen. (REBROADCAST FROM 1-23-97). THIS INTERVIEW WILL CARRY OVER INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW Interview with Norman Mailer, Interview with Fran Lebowitz; Obituary for Curtis Mayfield. December 27, 1999. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884778].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Our special week of writers begins with NORMAN MAILER. Mailer's books, like "The Naked and the Dead," "Armies of the Night," and "The Executioner's Song," have established him as one of America's most important authors. We'll talk about his career, and his work. (REBROADCAST FROM 10/08/91)INT. 2: Writer/Humorist FRAN LEBOWITZ. A Washington Post critic once called her "The Funniest woman in America." In 1978, she wrote the critically acclaimed book "Metropolitan Life." She followed that with Social Studies, in 1981. Her essays are also collected in The Fran Lebowitz reader. She will talk about her work, writing, and her famous writers bloc. (REBROADCAST FROM 1/3/95)REV: Curtis Mayfield, the great soul singer and songwriter, died yesterday at the age of 57. We'll remember him with a 1993 interview.

Interview with Richard Price; Interview with Sekou Sundiata; Interview with Tobias Wolff; Interview with Jane Rule. December 28, 1999. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884776].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Novelist RICHARD PRICE is the author of 'Freedomland' and 'Clockers' which was made into a movie. He's also the screenwriter for the films "Sea of Love," "Ransom," and "The Color of Money." (REBROADCAST from 1986)REV: Performance poet SEKOU SUNDIATA (SAY-coo SOON-de-ah-ta). A Village Voice critic once wrote of SUNDIATA, "... like Billie Holiday, Sundiata surprises with images and tumbling phrases that blend with subtle rhythmic variations." We feature an excerpt from an archive interview.INT. 2: Writer TOBIAS WOLFF. Terry talked with him in 1989 after the release of his acclaimed memoir, "This Boy's Life" about his unhappy upbringing in a working-class town in Washington State in the late 1950s. The book was adapted for screen starring, Robert DeNiro, and Ellen Barkin. WOLFF, who served in Vietnam, later worked as a reporter for The Washington Post, and has also written two highly regarded collections of short stories. (REBROADCAST. Originally aired 1/31/89).REV. : INT. 3: Canadian author Jane Rule, one of the best known and most widely read lesbian writers. Rule is best known for her 1985 novel Desert of the Heart, which was later adapted into the movie "Desert Hearts." Her new book is titled Memory Board. (REBROADCAST from 1/29/88)

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: A rebroadcast of a 1986 interview Terry Gross recorded with writer and social critic James Baldwin, who died in 1987. Baldwin's books include Go Tell it on the Mountain, The Fire Next Time and Notes of a Native Son. Baldwin was one of the first major writers to address the civil rights issue. After the civil rights movement crested, Baldwin moved to France, where he felt more tolerance for his open homosexuality and outspoken nature. (REBROADCAST from 1986) INT. 2 Writer WALLACE STEGNER. His novels and essays were often based in the West where he grew up and lived for many years. STEGNER started the creative writing program at Stanford University in California, which he ran for 26 years. In 1971 he won the Pulitzer Prize for his novel Angle of Repose. One of his most popular books was 1943's semi-autobiographical Big Rock Candy Mountain. Terry talked with him at the time of the publication of his book of essays, Where the Bluebird Sings to the Lemonade Springs. He died in 1993. (REBROADCAST from 4/15/92)INT. 3 Poet JANE KENYON. She was married to poet Donald Hall who was also her former teacher. She died in 1995. KENYON's books of poetry include Boat of Quiet Hours and Let Evening Come. Her collection of poems, Otherwise was published shortly after her death in 1995 of leukemia. The new book A Hundred White Daffodils (Consortium Books) is a posthumous collection of her prose and poetry. (REBROADCAST from 9/1/93)REV: Poet and novelist PAUL MONETTE. He died of complications from the AIDS virus in 1995, at age 49. His 1988 book "Borrowed Time: An Aids Memoir," was the first such memoir to be published about AIDS, and won a National Book Award. In it, MONETTE told the story of his "beloved" friend and lover's two year struggle with AIDS. The book was called "a gallant, courageous love story." In 1992, MONETTE wrote a memoir about his own life before he came out of the closet at the age of 25, "Becoming a Man: Half a Life Story," (REBROADCAST FROM 7/20/92)REV:
Interview with Maurice Sendak; Interview with Stephen King; Commentary on literature and the millennium. December 30, 1999. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884763].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Artist, writer and designer MAURICE SENDAK. Sendak has written and illustrated such classic children's books as "Where the Wild Things Are," "In The Night Kitchen," and "Inside Over There." Time magazine has said, "For Sendak, visiting the land of the very young is not something that requires a visa. He is a permanent citizen." Where the Wild Things Are was adapted into an opera, and Sendak designed the sets and costumes for the premiere production. He's since designed several other operas and ballets. (REBROADCAST from 9/22/93)INT. 2: "Mr Horror": writer STEPHEN KING. He ushered in a whole new era of horror fiction with his first novel in 1974, "Carrie." In the ensuing twenty years he has penned novels, short stories, screenplays, comic books, and TV movies. His novel, 'The Green Mile' has been made into a new film starring Tom Hanks (REBROADCAST from 7/23/92) REV: Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN considers what books she wants to take with her into the next millennium.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Fresh Air film critic JOHN POWERS gives us his ten best list for the year 1999, and then picks the films from the century he'd take with him If he was stranded on a desert Island.INT. 2: Fresh Air rock critic KEN TUCKER gives us HIS ten best list for the year 1999, and then picks the recordings from the century he'd take with him If he were stranded on a desert Island. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer LEE STRINGER. He spent eleven years on the streets of New York City, living n the tunnels under Grand Central Terminal, addicted to crack. His acclaimed memoir "Grand Central Winter: Stories from the Street" (Washington Square Press) chronicled his unraveling, from a marketing executive to being homeless and crack addicted. He collaborated on his new book with Kurt Vonnegut: "Like Shaking Hands with God: a conversation about writing" (Seven Stories Press) REV. : Fresh Air Jazz Critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the Marcus Roberts Trio CD "In Honor of Duke."

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: We talk about the state of welfare with journalist JASON DE PARLE (dee- PARL). De Parle has been covering welfare for the last 10 years. He has been monitoring welfare programs in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, where work requirements have been the toughest. He just finished a yearlong series for the New York Times, about the changes in the welfare system. He says that although there are far fewer people on welfare, the lives of the poor haven't changed much. INT. 2: Singer/Songwriter Marshall Crenshaw. He will talk about and sing songs from his new CD, 'No. 447.' Crenshaw has been writing, recording and performing his songs for some 20 years. 'No. 447' is his 10 th album. Singer/Songwriter Marshall Crenshaw. He will talk about and sing songs from his new CD, 'No. 447.' Crenshaw has been writing, recording and performing his songs for some 20 years. 'No. 447' is his 10 th album.

Interview with Barbara Sonneborn; Review of Puccini's album "Il Trittico." January 5, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884552].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Filmmaker BARBARA SONNEBORN. In her debut documentary Regret to Inform, SONNEBORN weaves together the stories of widows from both sides of the American-Vietnam War.
Sonneborn is a war widow herself; her husband was killed in Vietnam in 1968. Regret to Inform will air on PBS later this month. It has already received an Academy Award Nomination for Best Documentary feature, and won the Best Director and Best Cinematography documentary awards at last year's Sundance Film Festival.

REV. 1: Fresh Air Classical Music Critic Lloyd Schwartz reviews a new recording of Puccini's Il Trittico (ill TRIT-I-co). Schwartz says this group of one-act operas contains some of Puccini's best music.

Description of show segment(s)

GUEST HOST: BARBARA BOGAEVINT. 1: Conductor BENJAMIN ZANDER, of the Boston Philharmonic Orchestra. He has been called "a Pied Piper" of classical music and "one of music's evangelists." His passionate performances have earned him quite a following. Through his teaching and his pre-concert discussions, he has tried to spread his love of classical music to a wider public. He has conducted the Boston Philharmonic for over 20 years. His recording of Mahler's Ninth Symphony was just nominated for a Grammy Award for Best Orchestral Performance.

INT. 2: Dr. EDWARD HALLOWELL talks about his book Connect (Pantheon), about the importance of connectedness and what he sees as the essential need for intimate attachments. Hallowell is a practicing psychiatrist and an instructor at the Harvard Medical School. His other books include Worry (1997), and Answers to Distraction (1995) about attention deficit disorder.

Description of show segment(s)

GUEST HOST: BARBARA BOGAEVINT. 1: Filmmaker D.A. PENNEBAKER. One of America's foremost documentary producers, Pennebaker has brought his cinema verite approach to subjects ranging from Bill Clinton's presidential campaign, to Castro's Cuba, to Bob Dylan's first tour of Britain. Music has been the source of much of Pennebaker's work. His films have featured the likes of Pablo Cassals, jazz singer Dave Lambert, rocker David Bowie, John Lennon and Yoko Ono. Pennebaker's film on Bob Dylan, Don't Look Back, is being released on DVD. (REBROADCAST. ORIGINAL DATE 7/5/89.) INT. 2: "Peanuts" creator CHARLES SCHULZ. For almost 50 years, Schultz was responsible for what is probably the most popular comic strip in the world. He recently decided to retire. Earlier this week, SCHULZ penned his last daily Peanuts strip. (Rebroadcast. Original date 12/18/90). REV. : Fresh Air film critic JOHN POWERS reviews, Magnolia, by Paul Thomas Anderson, who also made Boogie Nights.JANUARY 31 ? FEB 4, 2000

Description of show segment(s)
INT. 1: RUBIN "HURRICANE" CARTER. In the early 60s, Carter was a top contender for the middleweight boxing crown. Then in 1967, he was convicted of three murders he did not commit. He was in prison for nearly 20 years, but continued to fight for his freedom in state and federal courts. Finally in 1985, he was found innocent and set free. We talk with CARTER, and his biographer, JAMES HIRSCH, author of "Hurricane: The Miraculous Journey of Rubin Carter" (Houghton Mifflin Company). A new movie about CARTER, called Hurricane, just opened. THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.INT. 2: Carter and Hirsch continued.REV. : Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews "Weatherhole" the new release by Michael Hurley, formerly of the Unholy Modal Rounders.

Description of show segment(s)
INT. 1: Fabric artist and writer ANDREA SIEGEL is the author of the new book, 'Open and Clothed: For the Passionate Clothes Lover' (Agapanthus Books). In the book she aims to provide an alternative to what the media conveys about clothes, by talking to people in and out of the fashion industry about their motivations for dressing the way they do, and the roots of how they dress. SIEGEL's great grandfather founded the New York department store, 'Kleins.' INT. 2: Poet DAVID LEHMAN (LAY-men) is the editor of 'The Best American Poetry' and on the faculty of Bennington College and The New School. His new book of poems chronicles his attempt to write a poem a day. It's called 'The Daily Mirror: a journal in poetry.' (Scribner) REV. : World music critic MILO MILES reviews 'The Raga Guide' (Nimbus label/ Allegro) a four CD introduction to Indian Raga music.

Description of show segment(s)

1. British actress HELEN MIRREN. She's been nominated for three Golden Globes: for her role in the TV mini-series 'Prime Suspect' and 'Elizabeth I.' Also for her work in the film 'The Queen.' Mirren has preformed with the Royal Shakespeare Company, and the films 'Gosford Park,' "The Comfort of Strangers," 'The Cook, the Thief, His Wife & Her Lover,' "Age of Consent," "The Long Good Friday," and "Excalibur." (rebroadcast from 4/18/06)(2.) Music critic KEN TUCKER reviews four previous Idol stars? Taylor Hicks, Fantasia Barrino, Kellie Pickler, and Chris Doughtree?new albums. They've put them out within weeks of each other. Rock critic Ken Tucker says their styles vary widely, but that quality-control is a common problem. The new season of TV's American Idol starts on Tuesday, January 16th.(3.) Actor ALEC BALDWIN. He has been nominated for a Golden Globe award for his role in the TV sitcom '30 Rock.' He recently can be seen in the films 'The Good Shepard,' 'Running with Scissors,' 'The Departed' and 'The Aviator.' BALDWIN's other films include 'State and Main,' 'GlenGarry Glen Ross,' and 'The Hunt for Red October' and 'The Cooler.' He's appeared on Broadway in 'A Streetcar Named Desire,' and 'Loot.' He is also a board member of People for the American Way, and of the Carol M. Baldwin Breast Cancer Research Fund, sponsored by Stony Brook University in honor of his mother. (REBROADCAST from 12/8/03).(4.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews three shows with season openers this Sunday: Extras and Rome on HBO, and the popular Fox TV series 24.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Staff writer for The New Yorker and legal analyst at ABC News, JEFFREY TOOBIN. He's been a frequent guest on Fresh Air. He wrote about the O.J. Simpson trial in his bestseller "The Run of His Life: Interview with John C. Reilly; Review of Leon Kirchner's album "Leon Kirchner January 13, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884554].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Character actor JOHN C. REILLY. He's starred In all three of director/writer Paul Thomas Anderson's films. He played a small-time gambler In "Hard Eight," a porn star In "Boogie Nights," and a police officer In the new "Magnolia." REILLY has also worked with directors Brian DePalma ("Casualties of War") and Terrence Malik ("The Thin Red Line"). REILLY got his start In Chicago at the Goodman School of Drama and worked with the Steppenwolf theatre. He's also starring In the film version of "The Perfect Storm" later this year. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: JOHN C. REILLY continued.REV. : Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews "Leon Kirchner: Historical Recordings" (Music and Arts)featuring the music of Pulitzer Prize-winning composer Leon Kirchner who turns 81 this year.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer PAUL ABBOTT. He created the mini-series "Touching Evil" which begins a new series on PBS' Mystery. 'Touching Evil' takes place at a fictional London based crime unit that specializes in serial killers and organized crime. ABBOTT also wrote the dramas "Crackers" and"Reckless". ABBOTT lives in Manchester, England. THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF. (REBROADCAST from 9/30/98)INT. 2: PAUL ABBOTT continued.REV. : TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'The Sopranos.' It begins its second season this month..REV. : Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Holy Smoke' the new Jane Campion film starring Harvey Kietel and Kate Winslet.

---

Interview with Aretha Franklin. January 17, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884330].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: (Archive show) A rare interview with the Queen of Soul, ARETHA FRANKLIN. She's won fifteen Grammy awards and is the first woman to be inducted into the Rock 'n' Roll Hall of Fame. The state of Michigan has proclaimed her voice a natural resource. Her hits include "Respect," "I Say a Little Prayer," and "You Make me Feel Like a Natural Woman." She's just written an autobiography with David Ritz, entitled "Aretha: From These Roots" (Villard Books). REBROADCAST FROM 10/11/99

INT. 2: ARETHA FRANKLIN continues.REV. : ARETHA FRANKLIN continues.

---

Interview with Keith Secola; Commentary on Savoy Records. January 18, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884334].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Native American musician and songwriter KEITH SECOLA (se-COAL-a). The music of SECOLA and his group, the Wild Band of Indians, is a hybrid of Rock, Folk and Tribal musics. SECOLA became a cult hero after the release of the contemporary Native anthem, 'Indian Cars.' KEITH SECOLA and the Wild Band of Indians have a new CD called Fingermonkey (Akina Music available through HYPERLINK "http://www.secola.com" www.secola.com). THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.

INT. 2: Secola Continued.REV. : World Music critic MILO MILES shares the story of Savoy Records, an independent label that specialized in jazz, R&B, and gospel from the 1940s to the 60s.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Director, screenwriter, and producer PAUL THOMAS ANDERSON. ANDERSON'S new film is called Magnolia. THE 29-year-old filmmaker also wrote and directed the movies Boogie Nights and Hard Eight. Magnolia stars Tom Cruise, Jason Robards, and Julianne Moore. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) INT. 2: Anderson continued.REV. 1: Fresh Air's Rock critic reviews the new CD by Fiona Apple.REV. 2: Late night talk show host David Letterman underwent heart surgery last Friday. CBS, the home of Letterman's 'The Late Show' will run reruns until Letterman recovers. Our TV critic David Bianculli has another idea for what to do in the interim.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Moscow Bureau chief for the New York Times, MICHAEL GORDON. He's been covering the war in Chechnya. The New York Times is one of only two western news organizations allowed in Chechnya by the Russian military. GORDON also covered the Gulf war and the war in Kosovo, and is co-author of the book "The Generals' War" about the Gulf War. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: Correspondent from the New York Times Moscow bureau, CELESTINE BOHLEN (CELL-es-teen BO-lin). She'll discuss the role of the new acting Russian president, Vladimir Putin, in the conflict. Bohlen will also talk about the reaction of Russian citizens to the war.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actor/Comedian BILL MURRAY. He got rave reviews for his performance in last year's Rushmore. MURRAY began his career in Chicago with the improv troupe Second City. He joined Saturday Night Live in its second season. After leaving SNL, he starred in such films as "Meatballs," "Stripes," "Ghostbusters," "Caddy Shack," "What About Bob?" "Groundhog Day." A special DVD edition of Rushmore was just released. THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF. (REBROADCAST from 2/03/99)REV. 1: Book Critic Maureen Corrigan reviews The Great Arizona Orphan Abduction by historian Linda Gordon (Harvard Press).REV. 2: Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new solo piano CD by Keith Jarrett. It's called 'The Melody at Night, with You.'

Description of show segment(s)

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Historian JON WIENER spent 14 years fighting to gain access to the FBI's secret files on former Beatle John Lennon. WIENER's Freedom of Information case went all the way to the Supreme Court before the FBI decided to settle. His new book 'Gimme Some Truth' (University of California Press) outlines and reproduces the most important pages of the file, revealing that the Nixon administration plotted to deport Lennon in 1972 and silence him as a voice of the anti-war movement. WIENER is Professor of History at the University of California, Irvine, and also author of 'Come Together: John Lennon and His Time.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: JON WIENER continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Children's book writer CHRISTOPHER CURTIS has become the first writer to receive the prestigious Newbery Medal and the Coretta Scott King Author award for his book, 'Bud, Not Buddy.' (Delacorte press). The story, set in the Depression Era, is about an orphan boy and his search for a home. CURTIS is also the first African-American to win the Newbery Medal in 22 years. And he's also author of 'The Watsons Go to Birmingham' which was singled out for many awards. Before becoming a writer, CURTIS worked on an automobile assembly line in Flint, Michigan. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). REV: Book Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews two new thrillers set in Washington, DC: Shame the Devil by George Pelecanos (Little Brown and Co.) and Chaos Theory by Gary Krist (Random House).REV. : Music critic MILO MILES reviews 'At the Close of a Century' (Motown) the new box set that collects the work of Stevie Wonder.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: LOUNG UNG (Loo-ahn-oong) is the author of the memoir, 'First They Killed My Father: a daughter of Cambodia remembers' (HarperCollins). UNG's father had been a high-ranking government official, but in 1975 when Pol Pot's Khmer Rouge invaded Phnom Pen, her family fled, hiding in villages as peasants. But eventually her father was taken away and killed, and the family disperses to survive. UNG was seven years old and sent to a work camp, trained as a child soldier. Now UNG is National Spokesperson for the 'Campaign for a Landmine Free World.' INT. 2: LOUNG UNG continued.REV.: Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews soprano Renee Fleming's new recording of Strauss Heroines with the Vienna Philharmonic, on the Decca label.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actor and Theater Director, William H. MACY. A member of Playwright David Mamet's circle of theater innovators, Macy has starred in most Mamet films. Currently he's starred in the new film "Magnolia." He also has a reoccurring role on the TV show "Sportsnight." MACY co-founded the Atlantic Theater Company, an ensemble which performs mainly original works by American writers. Members of the company wrote "A Practical Handbook For The Actor", from notes taken during acting workshops led by Mr. Macy. (REBROADCAST from 5/28/93)INT. 2: Editor in chief of Simon & Schuster MICHAEL KORDA. In his book "Another Life: A Memoir of Other People" (1999) he wrote about the world of publishing and his rise from assistant editor to editor in chief. Along the way, KORDA worked with writers Jacqueline Susann, Graham Greene, Tennesee Williams, and Harold Robbins. He'll talk about editing Jacqueline Susann. The new film 'Isn't She Great' is about Susann. (REBROADCAST from 6/1/99)REV.: MICHAEL KORDA continued.
Interview with Aaron Kipnis; Interview with Colin Thubron; Commentary on business language. January 31, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884489].

Description of show segment(s)
INT. 1: Clinical psychologist AARON KIPNIS works with at-risk young men. He's the author of the book "Angry Young Men: How Parents, Teachers, and Counselors Can Help 'Bad Boys' Become Good Men." (Newman Communications). KIPNIS was also an at-risk young man. He was a foster child, and ran away from home when his stepfather beat him. This led to his involvement in the juvenile justice system. A sympathetic counselor helped him find his way to a halfway house, then to an education, and a way out of the life he led.INT. 2: Travel writer COLIN THUBRON. His new book about his travels in the heart of Siberia is "In Siberia" (HarperCollins). It's the third in his trilogy on the Russian landmass which includes "Where Nights Are Longest" and "The Lost Heart of Asia." THUBRON has also written books on the Middle East, China, and Central Asia. REV.: Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers how new-age psycho-babble has made its way into the corporate room.

Interview with Sigourney Weaver. February 1, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884450].

Description of show segment(s)
INT. 1: Actress SIGOURNEY WEAVER. She made her first film appearance in a scene so short you could miss her. She played Woody Allen's date in 'Annie Hall' after he broke up with Annie. After that she made her big debut in 'Alien' as Ripley, and went on to star in the other Alien films. Her other credits include: 'Gorillas in the Mist,' 'Working Girl,' 'CopyCat.' She's now starring in 'Galaxyquest' and 'A Map of the World.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: SIGOURNEY WEAVER continued.REV.: SIGOURNEY WEAVER continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Fresh Air film critic JOHN POWERS talks to Terry Gross about this year's Sundance Film Festival. The festival, held annually in Park City, Utah, concluded this past weekend. JOHN POWERS is film critic for Vogue Magazine.INT. 2: Journalist EILEEN WELSOME talks about her book, The Plutonium Files: America's Secret Medical Experiments in the Cold War (Dial Press). The Plutonium Files is about the thousands of secret, government sponsored radiation experiments conducted on unsuspecting Americans during the Cold War. WELSOME won the Pulitzer Prize for her initial research and writing on these experiments. Her book includes new facts about the Manhattan Project, the scientists who conducted the research, and the experiments' victims.REV. : EILEEN WELSOME cont'd.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Journalist ANTHONY LOYD. He was a special correspondent for The Times, covering wars In Chechnya, Afghanistan, Sierra Leone and Kosovo. In his new memoir "My War gone by, I miss It so" (Doubleday), he writes about his own desire to immerse himself In the chaos and drama of war, drawn by his own family's military history, his drug addiction, and despair. LOYD was born In 1966. Before becoming a journalist he was a platoon commander In Northern Ireland and the Gulf. He later went to Sarajevo to witness the conflict, and began reporting from there when a British journalist was Injured. The Kirkus Reviews writes: "There will be more Informative books on the Bosnian wars, but none that takes the reader deeper Into the domestic heart of the conflict as this Idiosyncratic, unspARINGLY graphic, refreshingly self-critical, and beautifully written memoir." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: ANTHONY LLOYD CONTINUED.REV. : Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews two new CDS by Aimee Mann, the soundtrack for "Magnolia," and Michael Penn, "MP4."
Interview with Mary Tyler Moore; Interview with David Chase and Frank Renzuli; Commentary on Gee Records. February 4, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884601].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actress MARY TYLER MOORE. She starred in the Emmy award winning television shows "The Dick Van Dyke Show," and "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," as well as the film "Ordinary People." She also wrote her autobiography, "After All." In her book, MOORE traces the track of her career and reveals the hardships of the person whom America considered "the typical American girl," including her struggles and triumphs over alcoholism and diabetes. On Monday, February 7, MOORE co-stars with her former co-star Valerie Harper in the TV movie 'Mary & Rhoda.' (REBROADCAST from 10/30/95)INT. 2: We feature a panel discussion about the cable-tv series "The Sopranos" recorded last year in L.A. at a Writers' Guild Foundation conference. The participants include show writers David Chase, Frank Renzulli, Robin Green, Mitchell Burgess. The Sopranos is an HBO Original Series depicting the life and times of a modern-day Mafia family living in New Jersey. The series is created by David Chase ("I'll Fly Away"), who also serves as executive producer. (REBROADCAST from 7/29/99).REV. : Rock historian EDWARD remembers the record label Gee which recorded the New York vocal group sound of the 1950s.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Film director and Tibetan Buddhist lama KHYENTSE NORBU. He's making his directorial debut with the new film "The Cup" about a group of Monk's who are soccer fans. The film was shot in an actual Monastery, and cast is the Monks who live there. "The Cup" is also the first feature-length movie shot in Bhutan. The film was shown at last year's The Cannes Film Festival. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: KHYENTSE NORBU continued.REV. : TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the made for TV movie "Mary & Rhoda" starring Mary Tyler Moore and Valerie Harper.
Interview with Mercedes Doretti; Interview with Clyde Snow. February 8, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884603].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Anthropologist and co-founder of the Argentine Forensic Anthropology Team, MERCEDES DORETTI (doe-RET-ee). The group was founded in 1984 to investigate the fate of persons who had been 'disappeared' by the former Argentinean military regime. The team consisting of an anthropologist, pathologist, radiologist, ballistic expert, and an archaeologist exhume gravesites, and the sites of massacres to determine the truth behind what happened, and to identify skeletal remains. Since their initial work in Argentina, the EAAF has worked in many other countries to investigate human rights abuses. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) INT. 2: MERCEDES DORETTI continued REV. : An expert in forensic anthropology DR. CLYDE SNOW. He first developed the forensic team approach to investigating human rights abuses and acted as trainer and mentor to the EAAF team.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: New York Times Reporter ROGER COHEN ("Coan") talks about national and international reaction to the far right Freedom party in Austria. ROGER COHEN is the Times' Bureau Chief in Berlin. He has also reported from Bosnia and wrote "Hearts Grown Brutal: Sagas of Sarajevo" (Random House) about covering the war in Bosnia. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) INT. 2: COHEN CONTINUES.REV. : Book Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews two popular books from last year, that have just been published in paperback: Sonny Liston Was a Friend of Mine (Little Brown and Co.) by Thom Jones and The Intuitionist (Anchor Books) by Colson Whitehead.
Interview with Steven Wise; Interview with Maurice Hornocker. February 10, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884558].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Legal expert on animal protection law, STEVEN WISE. He teaches "Animal Rights Law" at Harvard Law School and other colleges, and is former president of the Animal Legal Defense Fund. In his new book "Rattling the Cage: Towards Legal Rights for Animals" (Perseus Books) he uses scientific research about the intelligence and emotional capacity of animals to argue for their basic legal rights. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: Co-founder of the Siberian Tiger Project MAURICE HORNocker and an authority on the great cats. His photographs of Tigers are featured in "Tigers In the Snow" (Farrar, Straus, & Giroux) by Peter Matthiessen about the tigers of Siberia. The Siberian Tiger Project was founded to study and protect these tigers who are threatened with extinction because of poaching and loss of habitat. HORNocker is also director of the Hornocker Wildlife Institute at the University of Idaho. REV.: HORNocker continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer ANDRE DUBUS III. ('DAH-buse'). He is the son of the celebrated writer Andre Dubus, who died last year. His novel, "House of Sand And Fog" has just been published in paperback (Vintage). DUBUS is the author of two previous books, and he teaches writing at Tufts University and Emerson College. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (REBROADCAST FROM 5/4/99) INT. 2A: Actor ANDRE BRAUGHER (rhymes with "flower"). In the NBC series, "Homicide," he plays the shaved-headed Detective Frank Pemberton, a man described as "eloquent but icy." BRAUGHER was educated at Julliard and is an experienced Shakespearean actor. His other acting credits include, the film, "Glory," and the TNT special, "The Court Martial of Jackie Robinson." (REBROADCAST FROM 1/19/95) INT. 2: TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews this Sunday's 'Homicide' made for TV movie on NBC. REV.: Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'The Beach,' the new film starring Leonardo DiCaprio.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Songwriter, producer, and Instrumentalist of the alternative band Magnetic Fields, STEPHIN MERRITT. The group has produced 6 albums. Their newest Is the three-CD "69 Love Songs," (Merge) which Is a genre blending collection of love songs like"Underwear" and "If You don't Cry." This album topped our rock critic Ken Tucker's list of the best CDS of 1999.(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: CHARLES SCHULZ, the creator of the cartoon strip "Peanuts" died Saturday night. He was 77 years old and had recently been diagnosed with colon cancer. He died the night before his final cartoon ran In the Sunday papers. We remember him with an excerpt of our 1990 Interview With him. (REBROADCAST from 12/18/90) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES AFTER THE FLOATER).REV. : CHARLES SCHULZ continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer and traveler PATRICK SYMMES ('SIMS'). He writes about Latin American politics, globalization and Third world travel for the magazines Harper's, Outside, Wired, and Conde Nast Traveler. He's written his first book: 'Chasing Che: A Motorcycle Journey in Search of the Guevara Legend' (Vintage Books). SYMMES traces the path of Ernesto 'Che' Guevara who in 1952 traveled via motorcycle across South America from Argentina to Cuba and emerged a revolutionary. Guevara was an upper class Argentine medical student before he started the journey, but the poverty he saw radicalized him. He became famous for his part in the Cuban revolution. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: Jazz mandolinist DON STIERNBERG (STEERN-berg). STIERNBERG is a 20 year veteran of music and studied under the jazz mandolinist Jethro Berns. His new jazz mandolin album is called 'About Time' and is the debut album on a new label. (Blue Night Records, P.O. Box 4951, Skokie, IL 60076-4951, e-mail: HYPERLINK "http://www.bluenightrecords.com" www.bluenightrecords.com. Also available thru Amazon.com) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES AFTER THE FLOATER)REV. : DON STIERNBERG continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: DAVID REIMER ('RYMER') was born a boy in 1967, but after a botched circumcision, and on the advise of doctors, his sex was surgically altered and he was raised as a girl. He also had an identical twin brother. Told of his surgery at the age of 14, REIMER decided to live as a male. REIMER's case became a landmark because of its value to the study of nature vs. nurture. He's the subject of the new book, 'As Nature Made Him: The Boy Who was Raised as a Girl' (HarperCollins) by JOHN COLAPINTO (cahl-ah-PINT-o). We'll hear from REIMER and COLAPINTO. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

INT. 2: REIMER & COLAPINTO continued.

Interview with Michael Eric Dyson; Interview with Karl Evanzz; Commentary on the word "virtual." February 17, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884458].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: MICHAEL ERIC DYSON Is the author of the new book "I May Not Get There With You: The True Martin Luther King, Jr." (The Free Press). In It, DYSON, argues that Martin Luther King Jr, the human being, with flaws and gifts serves us better than the romanticized and Idealized King. DYSON Is also the author of "Making Malcolm: The Myth and Meaning of Malcolm X," and other books. DYSON Is an ordained Baptist minister and a Professor at DePaul University. INT. 2: KARL EVANZZ Is an on-line editor at the Washington Post, and author of "The Messenger: The Rise and Fall of Elijah Muhammad" (Pantheon Books) the founder and "Prophet" of the Nation of Islam. EVANZZ talked to Muhammad's children, his apostles, and had access to previously unreleased FBI files about him. REV. : Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the word "virtual" as In virtual reality.
Interview with M. Night Shyamalan; Interview with Alan Ball; Review of the film "Hanging Up." February 18, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884477].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer and director M. NIGHT SHYAMALAN ("SHA mah lahn"). His film 'The Sixth Sense' has been nominated for six Academy Awards: Best Picture, Directing, Performance by an actor (Haley Joel Osment) and actress (Toni Collette), film editing, and screenplay. The film is about a boy who sees the dead. It stars Bruce Willis. SHYAMALAN made his film debut with "Praying with Anger" which was named Debut of the Year by the American Film Institute in Los Angeles. (REBROADCAST from 8/25/99)INT. 2: Writer ALAN BALL. His first feature film screenplay was for last year's critically acclaimed, "American Beauty." The film has been nominated for eight Academy Awards: Best picture, Directing, Performance by an actor (Kevin Spacey) and actress (Annette Bening) in a leading role, original score, editing, and screenplay. BALL's also creator, head writer, and executive producer of the TV comedy "Oh Grow Up." Previously, BALL wrote for the TV shows "Grace Under Fire," and "Cybill." (REBROADCAST from 12/14/99)REV. : Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Hanging Up' the new film by the Ephron sisters, and directed by Diane Keaton.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Retired U.S. Navy flight surgeon and NASA astronaut CAPT. JERRY LINENGER ("Linnen-jer") In his new book, Off the Planet: Surviving Five Perilous Months Aboard the Space Station Mir" (McGraw-Hill) he chronicles his five months on board the Russian Space station "Mir" a ramshackle place he described as "six school buses all hooked together." During his five months there, they had numerous brushes with death, lacking adequate supplies, and battling constant system failures. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: CAPT. JERRY LINENGER continued.REV. : CAPT. JERRY LINENGER continued.
Interview with Alfred Brophy; Interview with Kinney Booker; Interview with Alfred Brophy. February 22, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884460].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Law Professor ALFRED BROPHY. In 1921, what many call the bloodiest race riot in US history took place in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Now 80 years later, a state commission has recommended reparations be made to the aged black survivors of the riots. BROPHY, a professor at the Oklahoma City University Law School, researched the issue of reparations and the riot for the state commission. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES LATER IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

INT. 2: KINNEY BOOKER. He is one of the survivors of the Tulsa Race Riot of 1921. He provides a first person account of the riot. REV. : BROPHY continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Attorneys BARRY SCHECK and PETER NEUFELD. They co-founded the Innocence Project, dedicated to freeing innocent people from jail using DNA tests to do so. BARRY SCHECK is best known for his DNA analysis on the OJ Simpson defense team. They've collaborated on a new book (along with columnist Jim Dwyer) about their efforts, "Actual Innocence: Five Days to Execution, and Other Dispatches From the Wrongly Convicted." (Doubleday). INT. 2: Writer and editor DAVE EGGERS. He's the founder of the now-defunct cynical, satirical literary magazine, 'Might' and the current editor of the literary journal 'McSweeney's.' He's written a memoir ('based on a true story') about being left to raise his 8 year old brother, after both his parents died. EGGERS was 21 at the time. It's called, 'A Heartbreaking Work of Staggering Genius' (Simon & Schuster). REV. : Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'The Complete Django Reinhardt and Quintet of the Hot Club of France Swing/HMV Sessions 1936-1948 (Mosaic Records of Stamford Connecticut, mail-order)
Interview with Mark Chassin; Interview with Christopher Lloyd. February 24, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884475].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: DR. MARK CHASSIN ("cha" as In "CHAT"-sin) Is the co-author of a report on medical mistakes In our nation's hospitals. This week In response to that report, President Clinton ordered that all U.S. hospitals take measures to reduce their errors. The report, Issued by the Institute of Medicine late last year, shook up patients and practitioners alike. It estimated that between 44,000 and 98,000 Americans die each year as a result of medical errors. The study was based on two studies In three states: New York, Utah, and Colorado. The mistakes Include drug mix-ups, surgical errors and misdiagnoses. The report also blamed hospital systems over Individuals, and recommended that a center for patient safety be established within the Department of Health and Human Services. CHASSIN Is a member of the Institute of Medicine. He's also professor and chairman of the Department of Health Policy at the Mount Sinai School of Medicine and Is former Commissioner of the New York State Department of Health.INT. 2: Executive producer of the TV show "Frasier", CHRISTOPHER LLOYD. The show made Its debut In 1993 and since then has won many awards Including the Peabody. The new book, "The Frasier Scripts" collects 15 of the staff's favorite shows (Newmarket Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Tenor saxophonist SONNY ROLLINS is one of the jazz world's greatest improvisational artists. At the tender age of 23, he played with Miles Davis and Charlie Parker. After successfully battling a heroin addiction in the early 1950s, he joined the Clifford Brown-Max Roach quintet. He also began a critically-acclaimed solo career. Now in his sixties, he feels obligated to carry on the vision of his own mentors to today's rising stars. A new 5 CD box set of his Riverside recordings from the late 1950s has just been released: 'Freelance Years ? Complete Riverside' (Fantasy/Riverside). (REBROADCAST from 2/2/94)REV. : MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'City of God' by E.L. Doctorow.INT. 2: Co-founder of the 1970s rock group Steely Dan, DONALD FAGEN. Their hits included "Rikki, Don't Lose that Number," "Deacon Blues," and "Josie." Since then he's issued a solo album and some singles, and worked at film scoring. Steely Dan's new CD is 'Two Against Nature' (Giant Records) (REBROADCAST from 12/9/91)

REV. : Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Wonder Boys' the new film starring Michael Douglas, Frances McDormand, and Tobey Maguire based on the novel by Michael Chabon and directed by Curtis Hanson.

---

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: ROBERT MOOG (pronounced with long "O") Is the Inventor of the Moog synthesizer, an electronic keyboard which makes unworldly sounding electronic music. He Invented It In 1965. MOOG didn't Invent, but he does manufacture the Theremin, the first electronic instrument. It was Invented 70 years ago by a Russian, and It's been used on many science-fiction films because of It's eerie, wavering tones. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

INT. 2: ROBERT MOOG continued.

REV. : Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews new recordings of some of Stravinsky's early vocal music: Natalie Dessay singing Stravinsky's The Nightingale (EMI), and Stravinsky Conducts Stravinsky (box set on Sony).

---

Interview with Audra McDonald; Interview with Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. February 29, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884457].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Singer/Actress/Performer AUDRA MCDONALD. MCDONALD has won three Tony Awards, for her performances in 'Carousel,' 'Master Class,' and 'Ragtime.' She recently performed on Broadway as the star of 'Marie Christine,' and just appeared in The Vagina Monologues at the Westside Theater in New York. She continues to appear on concert stages nationally. Her new CD is called 'How Glory Goes' (Nonesuch Records), and her PBS Special, 'Audra McDonald at the Donmar, London,' is airing nationally in March. (This interview continues in the second half of the show.)

INT. 2: McDonald continued.

REV. : Basketball legend KAREEM ABDUL-JABBAR, talks about his new book, A Season on the Reservation: My Sojourn with the White Mountain Apache (William Morrow and co). In 1998, a member of the Native American tribe, the White Mountain Apaches, asked ABDUL-JABBAR to coach the high school boys basketball team on the reservation. A Season on the Reservation tells the story of his time with the team. Since retiring from the NBA in 1989, KAREEM ABDUL-JABBAR has appeared on TV and in films, worked with numerous charitable organizations, and authored 3 other books. Earlier this month, ABDUL-JABBAR was named the new Assistant Coach for the Los Angeles Clippers.

Interview with Anne Heche; Commentary of the language used to discuss the millennium. March 1, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884660].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actress ANNE HECHE ('HAYSH'). She wrote and directed a segment of the upcoming HBO film 'If These Walls Could Talk 2' a look at the lesbian experience thru three different decades. The segment, set in the year 2000, stars Sharon Stone, and HECHE's real-life lover, Ellen Degeneres, who is also one of the film's executive producers. The film debuts on Sunday, March 5th. HECHE and Degeneres came out publically as a couple, three years ago at the time Degeneres' sitcom character came out on 'Ellen.' HECHE'S film roles include 'The Third Mile,' 'Return to Paradise,' 'Six Days Seven Nights,' and the upcoming 'Aggie Rose.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: Actress ANNE HECHE continued.REV. : Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the difficulties we're having talking about the new millennium.

Interview with Peter Kornbluh; Interview with Joyce Horman; Interview with Peter Kornbluh. March 2, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884661].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: The 84 year-old former Chilean dictator Augusto Pinochet flew home to Chile today, after the British Home Secretary ruled against extraditing him to Spain where he would have faced trial for torture and human rights violations. He was found mentally unfit to stand trial. Pinochet had been under house arrest In England for over a year, as legal efforts were made to hold him accountable for the thousands of people who died or disappeared during his 17-year regime In Chile. We talk with PETER KORNBLUH, ("corn-blue") Senior Analyst at the National Security Archive. Last June the Archive declassified thousands of pages of documents related to Chile. The White House ordered them declassified after Pinochet was arrested in Britain. INT. 2: JOYCE HORMAN is the widow of Charles Horman, an American living in Chile at the time of Pinochet's 1973 coup which overthrew the Socialist government of Salvador Allende. Horman was executed for his support of the Allende government. His story was told in the 1982 film "Missing" and is the subject of the book "The Execution of Charles Horman, an American Sacrifice." The U.S. government had denied any complicity in Horman's death, but the recently declassified documents indicate otherwise. REV.: PETER KORNBLUH continued.

---

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Guitarist and record producer SCOTTY MOORE was Elvis Presley's first guitarist and manager and one of the early influences of the rock guitar sound. On Monday, March 6th, MOORE will be inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. He will be part of a new category of honorees, 'Side-Men.' He co-wrote an account of his work with the King of Rock'n'Roll, "That's Alright, Elvis." (REBROADCAST from 7/29/97) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: Guitarist SCOTTY MOORE continued. REV.: Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Romantics' (Random House) by Pankaj Mishra.

---

Interview with James Nachtwey; Interview with Frank Whaley. March 6, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884714].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Photojournalist JAMES NACHTWEY. Ten years of his photographs taken around the world in areas of war, famine, and conflict are collected in the new book, "Inferno." (Phaidon Press). NACHTWEY has been awarded the Robert Capa Gold Medal four times. The award is the highest honor among photographers and is given to those for the "best photographic reporting or interpretation from abroad requiring exceptional courage and enterprise," and it entails a deliberate decision to go in harm's way. (INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: Writer and director FRANK WHALEY. He's making his debut as such with the semi-autobiographical film "Joe the King," which won this year's screenwriting award at the Sundance Film Festival. The film takes the viewpoint of a child who strives to contend with his lousy circumstances: raised by an alcoholic and abusive father and a withdrawn mother. The film is produced by John Leguisamo who also has a part in the film, and it stars Val Kilmer. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)

REV. : FRANK WHALEY continued.

---

Interview with Stephen Klaidman; Review of D'Angelo's album "Voodoo"; Interview with Barbara Wallraff; Commentary on musicians who have died from AIDS. March 7, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884662].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Medical journalist STEPHEN KLAIDMAN ('CLYDE-MAN') is Senior Research Fellow at the Kennedy Institute of Ethics. His new book 'Saving the Heart: The Battle to Conquer Coronary Disease' (Oxford) takes a look at the treatments developed -- like angiography and balloon angioplasty -- to help patients recover from the damages of heart disease. He also charts the way the field of cardiology has become a multi-billion dollar business, and the conflict that arises between medical ambition and financial incentive and the best treatment options for patients. REV. : KEN TUCKER reviews 'Voodoo' by D'Angelo

INT. 2: Senior editor at The Atlantic Monthly, BARBARA WALLRAFF, and author of the magazine's 'Word Count' column. Her new book about language usage is 'Word Count: Wherein verbal virtue is rewarded, crimes against the language are punished, and poetic justice is done' (Harcourt). REV. : With the recent death of Israeli singer Ofra Haza to AIDS, World music critic MILO MILES reflects on the world musicians who have died of the disease, and the secrecy that surrounded their illnesses.

---

Interview with Anjelica Huston; Review of John Tchicai and Charlie Kolhase's album "Life Overflowing" and Dave Bryant's album "The Eternal Hang"; Review of the television show "God, The Devil, and Bob." March 8, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884663].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actress ANJELICA HUSTON, the star of the films "The Grifters," "Prizi's Honor," and "The Dead" and daughter of film director John Huston. She directs and stars in the new film "Agnes Brown" adapted from the Brendan O'Carroll book, "The Mammy." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: ANJELICA HUSTON continued. REV. : Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews "Life Overflowing" (Nada) featuring John Tchicai (Chick-EYE) and Charlie Kohlhase (COAL-hass) and "The Eternal Hang" (Accurate) featuring Dave Bryant.REV. : TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the new NBC animation show, "God, The Devil, and Bob" featuring the voice of James Garner.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actor MICHAEL IMPERIOLI. He currently stars as Christopher In the HBO series "The Sopranos" and wrote one of this season's episodes. He's also appeared In five Spike Lee films, and starred in, co-wrote and executive produced Lee's latest film "Summer of Sam." IMPERIOLI also appeared in the films "Goodfellas," "Malcolm X," "Clockers," and "Household Saints." INT. 2: Poets SONIA SANCHEZ and MICHAEL HARPER. The two are featured on a new CD anthology, "Our Souls Have Grown Deep Like the Rivers" (Rhino) a collection of African American poetry from 1919 to 1999. It includes the work of Langston Hughes, W.E.B. DuBois, Maya Angelou, Gil Scott-heron, Amiri Baraka and others. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).REV. : Poets SONIA SANCHEZ and MICHAEL HARPER continued.

Interview with Salman Rushdie; Interview with Brian De Palma; Review of the film "Ghost Dog March 10, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884657].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer SALMAN RUSHDIE. His novel "The Ground Beneath Her Feet." (Picador) is now in paperback. It's his sixth novel but the first to be set largely in the United States. His previous novel "Satanic Versus" offended many in Iran which resulted in the government calling for his death. Rushdie lived in hiding for years. The Iranian government has since rescinded its "fatwah." (REBROADCAST from 4/21/99) THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF.INT. 2: Director BRIAN DE PALMA. His new film 'Mission to Mars' opens this week. It stars Gary Sinise, Tim Robbins, and Don Cheadle. DE PALMA's other films include "Carrie", "Dressed to Kill", "The Fury", "Scarface" and 'Carlito's Way.' His thrillers were often compared with those of Hitchcock. In the 1970's, De Palma, along with other young film directors Martin Scorcese, Steven Speilberg and Francis Coppola made films of such quality that the period is sometimes referred to as another Golden Age of Hollywood. (REBROADCAST from 11/10/93) REV. : Critic JOHN POWERS reviews the new Jim Jarmusch film called Ghost Dog: The Way of the Samurai.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Screenwriter JEAN ("John" with a soft "J as In "just") CLAUDE CARRIERE ("Carrier") Is best known for his 19 year collaboration with French film director Luis Bunuel ("Loo-EES BOON-well"). Their films Include "Diary of a Chambermaid," "Belle du Jour," "The Discreet Charm of the Bourgeoisie" and "The Obscure Object of Desire." CARRIERE also wrote screenplays for "The Tin Drum," "The Return of Martin Guerre," and "The Unbearable Lightness of Being." On March 5th, CARRIERE received the highest award given by the Writers Guild of American, the Screen Laurel Award. He was the first foreign-language writer to be given the honor. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: JEAN CLAUDE CARRIERE continued.REV. : Rock Critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new cross over album by country music performer Shelby Lynne. The CD is called "I am Shelby Lynne" (Mercury Records).

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: NATHANIEL LACHENMEYER has written the new book, 'The Outsider: A Journey Into My Father's Struggle with Madness' (Broadway Books). His father, Charles, was a professor of sociology who lived a normal suburban life with his family until the onset of schizophrenia. The disease destroyed his life: he lost his job, his family, and ended up homeless. NATHANIEL corresponded with his father until it became too difficult to continue. After learning of his father's death in 1995, he decided to find out what happened to him. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: Attorney and former Deputy Commissioner of Baseball, STEPHEN GREENBERG. He'll discuss his father, legendary baseball player Hank Greenberg, who faced bigotry in the 1930s and 40s as America's first Jewish baseball star. Greenberg played first base and outfield for the Detroit Tigers from 1933-46 and for the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1947. And he helped the Tigers win the penant four times. There's a new documentary about him, 'The Life and Times of Hank Greenberg' (by Aviva Kempner). REV. : STEPHEN GREENBERG continued.

---

Interview with Kimberley Pierce and Hilary Swank; Commentary on Huey "Piano" Smith and the Clowns. March 15, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884551].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Director/writer KIMBERLY PIERCE and actress HILARY SWANK from the film "Boys Don't Cry." The movie is based on a true story about a Nebraskan teenage girl, Teena Brandon, who successfully passed herself off as a boy, Brandon Teena. When her true identity is discovered, she's raped by two men, and killed after bringing charges against them. SWANK has been nominated for an Academy Award for her portrayal, so has her co-star Chloe Sevigny who plays Teena's girlfriend Lana. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: KIMBERLY PIERCE and HILARY SWANK continued. REV. : Rock historian ED WARD tells us about the New Orleans Rock and Roll band, 'Huey 'Piano' Smith and the Clowns.

---

Description of show segment(s)

critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the performance of Elliott Carter's new comic opera 'What Next?' by Daniel Barenboim and the Chicago Symphony.

Interview with Nick Hornby; Interviews with Ornette Coleman, Denardo Coleman, Charlie Haden, and Don Cherry; Review of the film "Erin Brockovitch." March 17, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884548].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: British writer NICK HORNBY. His novel High-Fidelity has been made into a new film starring John Cusack as a 36-year old obsessed record-collector who's just lost his girlfriend -- a casualty of his devotion to music. The movie opens March 31st. (REBROADCAST from 9/26/95) INT. 2: This month composer and jazz musician ORNETTE COLEMAN celebrates his 70th birthday. We'll hear from him and his son DENARDO COLEMAN. In 1959 Coleman changed the course of jazz with the start of "free jazz" and the formation of The Ornette Coleman Quartet. We will also hear from members of Coleman's original Quartet: bassist CHARLIE HADEN and the late trumpeter DON CHERRY. (REBROADCAST from 7/11/97)REV.: Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Erin Brockovitch' starring Julia Roberts.

Interview with Lennard Davis; Review of Susan Sontag's novel "In America." March 20, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884581].

Description of show segment(s)

INT.: LENNARD DAVIS talks about his new memoir 'My Sense of Silence: Memoirs of a Childhood With Deafness' (University of Illinois Press), about Davis's experiences, growing up a hearing child with deaf parents. He'll talk about his complex and sometimes difficult relationship with his deaf, working-class Jewish immigrant parents. DAVIS is a professor and Graduate Director of the English Department at State University of New York, Binghamton. He has written several books and published essays in The Nation, the Chronicle of Higher Education, and other publications. He also published "Shall I Say a Kiss: The Courtship Letters of a Deaf Couple" (Gallaudet University Press), a compilation of his parents love letters. (This interview continues in the second half of the show.)REV.: Book Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the new novel by Susan Sontag called In America (Farrar Straus & Giroux).

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Tens of thousands of African-American men, women, and children were lynched by mobs in the United States between 1882 and 1968. Some of these lynchings were photographed, and the photos were saved as souvenirs, and were even sometimes used as postcards. Antique dealer JAMES ALLEN came across these disturbing images and began to collect them. His collection is currently on display at the New York Historical Society. The book about Allen's collection, called 'Without Sanctuary: Lynching Photography in America' (Twin Palms Publishers) was published earlier this year. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)INT. 2: JAMES ALLEN continued.REV. : TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'The Beat' the new cop drama by the Tom Fontana/Barry Levinson team that also created the series 'Homicide.' The new show premieres on the UPN network tonight.

Interview with Stephen Sondheim; Commentary on irony and sarcasm; Interview with Ernesto Quinonez. March 22, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884580].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Composer and lyricist STEPHEN SONDHEIM turns 70 on this day, Wednesday, March 22nd. We commemorate the occasion with 1988 interview with him. He discusses his work on 'West Side Story' (for which he wrote lyrics), 'Gypsy' (lyrics), and his own musical 'Sweeney Todd.' SONDHEIM learned his craft from Oscar Hammerstein, who was a neighbor and surrogate father to him. SONDHEIM'S other musicals include 'Company,' 'Follies,' and 'Sunday in the Park with George.' (REBROADCAST from 11/10/88).REV. : Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the difference between irony and sarcasm.INT. 2: Writer ERNESTO QUINONEZ ('Kee Nyo Nez'). His debut novel, 'Bodega Dreams' (Vintage books), is set in Spanish Harlem. Like his narrator, QUINONEZ is half Ecuadorean, half-Puerto Rican. A reviewer in the Kirkus Reviews writes of the book, 'Edgy, street-smart. . . An admirable debut, brimming with energy and refreshingly devoid of genre cliches.'

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actress JOAN CUSACK ('Q' (like the letter)- sack). She has received two best supporting actress Oscar nominations -- in 1988 for her role in Working Girl, and in 1997 for her role in In and Out. Her other movies include Broadcast News, Addams Family Values, Grosse Pointe Blank, Arlington Road, The Cradle Will Rock and Runaway Bride. She stars with her brother John Cusack in the new film High Fidelity, based on the novel by Nick Hornby. (High Fidelity opens March 31st) THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.INT. 2: Writer TED HELLER. His new book is 'Slab Rat.' HELLER was responsible for the famous 'Separated at Birth' feature in Spy Magazine, a concept that has lived on long after the publication. His new book is a satire about a magazine staffer who will do just about anything to get ahead. Heller has also worked at a number of magazines, including Details, Premiere and Vanity Fair.REV. : TED HELLER continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Host of ABC'S "Nightline" TED KOPPEL. Today is the 20th anniversary of the show (first aired March 24th, 1980). Koppel has won every major broadcasting award, including 30 Emmys. He's interviewed over ten-thousand people. He was born in Lancashire, England, and started his career as a desk assistant and reporter for WMCA Radio in New York City. Terry originally talked to him when his memoir was published. It's called "Nightline: History in the Making and the Making of Television" (Times Books, by Ted Koppel and Kyle Gibson). (Originally aired 5/30/96)INT. 2: KOPPEL continuesREV. : Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ profiles the work of Pierre Boulez ('pee-AIR boo-LEZZ'). Boulez recently played a four-concert series of 20-th century music at Carnegie Hall. Lloyd, who attended the shows, says Boulez is not only a conductor, a composer and a theorist, but a cultural icon as well.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: JEROME GROOPMAN, MD. His new book is "Second Opinions: Stories Of Intuition And Choice In A Changing World Of Medicine." (Viking) The Harvard Medical School doctor and researcher says patient and doctor should be working together, using intuition, cutting-edge science and personal values to make critical medical decisions. The book's case histories include Goodman's infant son, who was misdiagnosed in a hospital emergency room and almost died. (THIS BOOK CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: JEROME GROOPMAN, MD continued.REV: Linguist GEOFREY NUNBERG discusses the word hacker. REV: Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews "Two Against Nature" the new release by Steely Dan.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actor JOHN CUSACK ('CUE-sack'). He stars in the new film 'High Fidelity' based on the novel of the same name. He plays a 35 year-old used record store owner who keeps top-five lists for everything, and can't keep a relationship. By the time CUSACK was 22 he had a number of films to his credit: 'The Sure Thing,' 'Eight Men Out,' 'Say Anything,' and 'Fat Man and Little Boy.' Later he went on to make 'The Grifters,' 'Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil,' 'The Thin Red Line,' and 'Grosse Pointe Blank' which he cowrote. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: JOHN CUSACK continued. REV: JOHN CUSACK continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Religion scholar and former nun KAREN ARMSTRONG. She's the author of the bestselling book, 'A History of God.' Her new book, 'The Battle for God' examines the fundamentalist movement in Christian, Jewish, and Islamic faiths that began to emerge in the 1970s. She writes that today's fundamentalist movements differ from previous ones, in that they are no longer throwbacks to the past, but are complex movements that are shaped by the modern culture they also decry. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: KAREN ARMSTRONG continued.REV. : Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Tenor & Fallen Angels' (hatology) the new reissue by Joe McPhee.

Description of show segment(s)

Interview with Jim Hall and Pat Metheny; Interview with Kevin Spacey; Review of the film "High Fidelity." March 31, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884488].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Jazz guitarists JIM HALL and PAT METHENY talk about their collaboration on the album "Jim Hall & Pat Mentheny" (Telarc) HALL emerged on the jazz scene in the late 1950's and went on to performed with such artists as Ella Fitzgerald, Sonny Rollins, Bill Evans, Art Farmer and Itzhak Perlman. Metheny's recording career took off in the 1970's and became so successful...that Guitar Player magazine called him the "Jazz Voice of the 80s." Their August 1999 recording was hailed as a cross-generational summit of two exceptional jazz guitarists. This weekend, the San Francisco Jazz festival hosts 'The Guitar,' a program featuring Jim Hall and Pat Metheny. (Rebroadcast. Originally aired 7/14/99.) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF)

INT. 2: Actor KEVIN SPACEY. He just won an Academy Award for best actor in the film 'American Beauty.' On Sunday the cable station Court TV begins reruns of the TV series he co-starred in 'Wiseguy.' (REBROADCAST from 5/31/91)

REV. : Our rock historian ED WARD steps in to review the new film 'High Fidelity,' starring John Cusack.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: This year marks the centennial of the birth of German-born Kurt Weill, considered one of the 20th century's most influential composers. And Monday, April 3, is the 50th anniversary of his death. He and lyricist Bertoldt Brecht revolutionized musical theatre with a blend of cabaret and classical traditions resulting in 'The Threepenny Opera' 'Seven Deadly Sins' and others. In 1933 Weill, a Jew, fled Berlin and in 1935 came to America where he began working in American theatre. We talk about Weill with KIM KOWALKE (Koe-WALL-kee), President of the Kurt Weill Foundation for Music. He also edited a book of letters between Weill and his wife, Lotte Lenya, and a book of essays on Weill. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: KIM KOWALKE continues.

REV. : Book Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews a new biography about Joan of Arc.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Singer KEELY SMITH. She has been called 'The Queen of Swing' and 'the First Lady of Las Vegas'. SMITH is perhaps best known as the duet partner and wife of Louis Prima. Smith and Prima drew crowds to the lounges of Las Vegas in the 1950s. Their hits include 'Jump, Jive, an' Wail,' 'Just a Gigolo,' 'I've Got You Under My Skin,' and 'That Old Black Magic.' Smith talks about her marriage to Prima, the music they made together, and her career. Smith has just released a new CD called Swing Swing Swing.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actor JOHN SPENCER. He plays Leo McGarry, the Chief of Staff to the President in the tv series "The West Wing." The show, set in the Whitehouse, and concerning a fictional democratic President and his staff has just won a prestigious George Peabody award. In this first season of the show, SPENCER'S character has had to deal with his former alcoholism becoming a matter of public scrutiny. SPENCER previously was a regular on "L.A. Law" and began his career on "The Patty Duke Show." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: Actor JOHN SPENCER continued.REV. : Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews two new CDS from two Southern hip hop groups: "Tha G-Code" (Cash Money) by Juvenile and "World Party" (Arista) by Goodie Mob.

Interview with Om Puri; Commentary on the television movie "Fail-Safe." April 6, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884487].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actor OM PURI ("OM" as in "dome" "POUR-ee") is a star of Bombay's film industry, known as Bollywood. In his two decades of acting he's worked with every major Indian film director including Satjayit Ray. In western films he had roles in "Ghandi" and "City of Joy," and in the TV series "The Jewel in the Crown." Recently he's had starring parts in two British films "My Son the Fanatic," and the new film "East is East." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: Actor OM PURI continued.REV. : TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI tells us about the upcoming live TV event: a live production of "Fail-Safe" on CBS Sunday night starring George Clooney.
Interview with Robert Hass; Commentary on Elizabeth Bishop; Interview with Billy Collins; Review of the movie "Black and White." April 7, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884496].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: On today's archive edition of Fresh Air, we honor National Poetry month. First, we feature an interview with Former U.S. Poet Laureate ROBERT HASS. (Rhymes with "grass"). HASS served as Laureate from 1995-1997. He won the National Book Critics Circle award for poetry for his book "Sun Under Wood" (Ecco Press). He's written several other books of poetry including "Praise" and "Human Wishes." He also edited "The Essential Haiku: Versions of Basho, Buson & Issa." (Ecco Press). Hass has also been involved in environmental activism and continues to teach in the English department of the University of California at Berkeley. (REBROADCAST from 4/23/96)INT. 2: Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ on poet Elizabeth Bishop and how he saved a poem of hers from obscurity. It's called "Breakfast Song." LLOYD is the editor of "Elizabeth Bishop and Her Art" (University of Michigan Press). (REBROADCAST of 4/15/98)INT. 3: Poet BILLY COLLINS. His books include "Picnic, Lightning" (Univ of Pittsburgh), "The Art of Drowning" (Univ of Pittsburgh Press), and "Questions about Angels" (William Morrow & Co.), which was selected as a winner of the National Poetry Series Competition in 1990. John Updike says of Collins' poetry, "Billy Collins writes lovely poems. . . Limpid, gently and consistently startling, more serious than they seem, they describe all the worlds that are and were and some others besides." Collins' poetry has also appeared in anthologies, textbooks, and a variety of periodicals, including Poetry, American Poetry Review, Harper's, and The New Yorker. He is professor of English at Lehman College, CUNY. Originally aired 4/7/98.INT. 4: Film Critic JOHN POWERS reviews the new movie Black and White.

Interview with Barbara Ehrenreich; Interview with Michael Miletic; Review of Steve Lacy and Roswell Rudd's album "Monk's Dream." April 10, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884497].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Essayist and feminist journalist BARBARA EHRENREICH. For three weeks last year Ehrenreich worked for a cleaning service in Portland, Maine. She writes about her experience, and the politics of house cleaning in this month's issue of Harper's magazine. The article is called "Maid to Order: The politics of other women's work" (April 2000). She is a contributing editor of Harper's. Her articles, reviews, essays and humor have appeared in Time, The New York Times Magazine, The Nation, The Atlantic Monthly, The New Republic, and The Wall Street Journal. Ehrenreich shared the National Magazine Award for Reporting in 1980, and she was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship for 1987-88. Her books include "The Worst Years of Our Lives: Irreverent Notes From a Decade of Greed" (Pantheon, 1990), "Fear of Falling: The Inner Life of the Middle Class", which was nominated for a National Book Critics Award in 1989, and "The Hearts of Men: American Dreams and the Flight from Commitment" (Doubleday, 1983). INT. 2: We will talk about the psychology of sports and athletes with Doctor MICHAEL MILETIC (MILL-a-tick). He is one of the few psychoanalysts currently treating active professional athletes. MILETIC serves as a psychiatric consultant to the Detroit Pistons, several professional Hockey teams, and the parents group of the National Football League Players Association. MILETIC himself was an athlete. He was even a member of the Canadian Olympic weight lifting team, until an injury cut his career short. Now as a psychiatrist, he counsels individual athletes and is trying to develop a psychological map of the jock mind. REV. : Jazz critic KEVINE WHITEHEAD reviews Monk's Dream (Verve records), the new record from soprano saxophonist Steve Lacy and trombonist Roswell Rudd.

Interview with Jim Jarmusch; Interview with Peter Berg. April 11, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884486].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Filmmaker JIM JARMUSCH ('JAR-mush') is new movie is called Ghost Dog: The Way of the Samurai, starring Forrest Whitaker. JARMUSCH often acts as writer, director, and producer of his films. His other films include Stranger Than Paradise, Down by Law, Mystery Train, Night on Earth, and Year of the Horse. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) INT. 2: Actor, writer, director and producer PETER BERG. He is the creator and executive producer of the new controversial ABC series Wonderland. The show is set in a mental hospital. Some call it the most accurate portrayal of the mentally ill on network television, while some mental health organizations say that the series further stigmatizes mental patients. As an actor, PETER BERG has started on the TV show Chicago Hope, and has appeared in movies like The Last seduction, Copland, and the Great White Hype. Berg spent 8 months in New York's Bellevue hospital, doing research, and observing patients and doctors for the series. REV. : PETER BERG continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: We talk about the Taliban with Pakistani journalist AHMED RASHID 'A (as in 'la')-med RA-sheed (rhymes with need)'. His new book is called Taliban: Militant Islam, Oil, and Fundamentalism in Central Asia (Yale University Press). In the mid 1990s, the Taliban Movement gained power in Afghanistan, a country in the wake of a civil war. The Taliban declared they wanted to restore peace and enforce traditional Islamic law. Instead, The Taliban has shown itself to be a troubling development in Islamic radicalism. It has launched a genocidal campaign against Shiite Muslims in Afghanistan. It has sanctioned acts of international terrorism. It has closed schools for girls, forced women to quit their jobs, and banned movies, TV, and music. The Taliban has inspired fascination, controversy, and fear, not only in Afghanistan, but also throughout the Muslim world and the West. RASHID's book has been called the most in depth study of the Taliban. RASHID is a correspondent for the Far Eastern Economic Review and the Daily Telegraph, reporting on Pakistan, Afghanistan, and Central Asia. He is also author of the book The Resurgence of Central Asia: Islam or Nationalism. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

INT. 2: And we talk to the director of the clandestine girls school system in Afghanistan. The Taliban has outlawed schools for girls. However, some women have decided to break the law and open such schools. Our guest directs 35 girls' schools in 3 cities in Afghanistan. She struggles to raise the funds to keep the school running, but wants girls to receive an education. REV. : RASHID continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: DANIEL GROSS is a New York-based writer and columnist for Investment News and the author of 'Bull Run: Wall Street, the Democrats, and the New Politics of Personal Finance' (PublicAffairs). He has worked as a reporter at the New Republic and Bloomberg Business News. GROSS is the author of Forbes Greatest Business Stories of All Time (Wiley, 1996). INT. 2: Director BARRY BLAUSTEIN ('blouse-teen') is making his directorial debut with the new documentary film 'Beyond the Mat.' The movie takes a look at the personal lives of the stars of the World Wrestling Federation, men with names like 'Mankind' and 'Jake the Snake.' BLAUSTEIN previously was head writer and supervising producer at Saturday Night Live and he co-wrote many of Eddie Murphy's best-loved characters like 'Buckwheat,' 'Velvet Jones,' 'Gumby,' and 'Mr. Robinson.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW). REV. : Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'American Moderns: Bohemian New York and the Creation of a New Century' by Christine Stansell.

---

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: ERIC IDLE was one of the six original members of Monty Python's Flying Circus. IDLE wrote many of the songs from the show including "Always Look on the Bright Side of Life." He has a new CD, 'Eric Idle Sings Monty Python, Live in concert.' (Big Monkey Records). Idle is going on tour for this album, beginning 4/29/00 in Phoenix, AZ and ending 6/28 at NYC's Carnegie Hall. IDLE has also written a number of books. His latest is a comic science-fiction thriller, "The Road to Mars: A Post-Modern Novel." (Pantheon books) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (REBROADCAST. ORIGINALLY AIRED 10/6/99) INT. 2: IDLE continues. REV. : Film Critic JOHN POWERS reviews the new movie, American Psycho.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actor EDWARD NORTON. His first major role was in the 1996 film "Primal Fear" as a quiet, stuttering altar boy accused of a brutal murder. He was nominated for an Academy Award for his portrayal. NORTON went on to roles in Woody Allen's "Everyone Says I Love You," "The People vs. Larry Flint" and "Fight Club." He was nominated for an Academy Award again for his role in "American History X." He directed and stars in the new film "Keeping the Faith." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: Actor EDWARD NORTON continued.REV. : Macabre cartoonist and illustrator EDWARD GOREY died on Saturday at the age of 75 of a heart attack. His illustrations are the opening credits of the PBS show "Mystery." He wrote over 100 books including 'The Gashlycrumb Tinies' an alphabet book which began 'A is for Amy who fell down the stairs.' One of his other books 'The Doubtful Guest' was a classic, about a creature who shows up uninvited at a dreary mansion and becomes a member of the family. Toward the end of his life, GOREY lived in a 200 year old house in Cape Cod, with his five or six cats. (REBROADCAST from 4/2/92) Interview with Sidney Poitier; Review of Saul Bellow's novel 'Ravelstein.' April 18, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884793].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actor SIDNEY POITIER (POY-tea-a). He is the leading African-American actor of his generation. He was the first, and so far, the only African American to win the Academy Award for Best Actor which he did in 1963 for his performance in 'Lilies of the Field.' His other films include, 'The Defiant Ones,' 'A Patch of Blue,' 'Guess Who's Coming to Dinner,' and 'To Sir, With Love.' He's written a new autobiography, 'The Measure of a Man: A Spiritual Autobiography' (Harper) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: Actor SIDNEY POITIER (POY-tea-a). REV. : Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the new novel by Saul Bellow, 'Ravelstein' ('steen') (Viking).
Interview with Mary Harron; Review of Bob Dorough's album "Too Much Coffee Man"; Interview with David Margolick. April 19, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884790].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Film director MARY HARRON. She's directed the new film 'American Psycho' based on the controversial novel by Bret Easton Ellis about a murderous and misogynistic young man on Wall Street. The film stars Christian Bale. HARRON also co-wrote the screenplay. One reviewer writes, 'the movie establishes its insidious balance of humor and aestheticized gore.' HARRON previously directed the film 'I Shot Andy Warhol.' REV.: Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Too Much Coffee Man' (Blue Note) by singer-songwriter Bob Dorough. INT. 2: Contributing editor for Vanity Fair DAVID MARGOLICK. In his new book 'Strange Fruit: Billie Holiday, Cafe Society, and an Early Cry for Civil Rights' (Running Press), MARGOLICK traces the history and impact of the song 'Strange Fruit,' a ballad about lynchings which became Billie Holiday's signature song. It was written by a Jewish school teacher who was inspired to write the song after seeing a newspaper photograph of a lynching. REV.: DAVID MARGOLICK continued.

Interview with Sarah Vowell; Review of Lou Reed's album "Ecstasy." April 20, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884804].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Contributing editor for This American Life, and columnist for Salon.com, SARAH VOWELL. She has a new collection of essays, 'Take the Cannoli: Stories from the New World' (Simon & Schuster). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: SARAH VOWELL continued. REV.: Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Ecstasy' the new collection by Lou Reed.
Interview with Tim O'Brien; Interview with Horst Faas and Tim Page; Interview with Oliver Stone; Interview with Maya Lin. April 21, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884796].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Novelist TIM O'BRIEN. He was writing about Vietnam long before it became fashionable to do so. His Vietnam memoir, "If I die in a Combat Zone," was published in 1973. O'BRIEN's 1979 novel "Going After Cacciato" was praised for its depiction of the Vietnam War. It also was the surprise winner of the 1979 National Book Awards -- beating out books by John Irving and John Cheever. He's also written the novels, "Northern Lights," and "The Nuclear Age." His other books are, "The Things They Carried," and "Tomcat in Love." (REBROADCAST from 3/22/90) INT. 2: Photojournalists HORST FAAS and TIM PAGE. They compiled and edited a book of pictures by photojournalists who lost their lives covering war in Indochina and Vietnam from the 50's to the mid 70's. The book "Requiem" was published in 1997 (Random House). It features 135 different photographers including Robert Capa, Larry Burrows, and Sean Flynn. HORST FAAS was an Associated Press photographer in Vietnam and TIM PAGE worked in Laos and Vietnam for United Press International and "Paris-Match." They were both wounded in Vietnam. (REBROADCAST from 11/5/97) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)REV. : Film Director and screenwriter OLIVER STONE. His movies include, "Platoon," "Born on the Fourth of July," "Wall Street," and "Talk Radio." He also wrote the screenplay for "Scarface" and others. He talks about his experience as a soldier in the Vietnam war and depicting the war on screen. (REBROADCAST from 7/17/90) INT.: Designer, sculptor, architect MAYA LIN. She was a 21 year-old undergraduate student when her design was selected for the Vietnam War Memorial. Her works are known for their ability to elicit powerful emotions. LIN also designed the Civil Rights Memorial in Montgomery, Alabama, and the "Women's Table" at Yale (which dealt with the history of female students at Yale, which was mostly all-male for 300 years.) Most recently LIN designed "The Wave Field" in memory of Francois-Xavier Bagnoud Interview with Bret Hart; Commentary on Reno & Smiley and the Tennessee Cutups. April 24, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884795].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Pro-wrestler BRET 'HITMAN' HART of World Championship Wrestling (WCW). He comes from a wrestling family: his father was a wrestling promoter and ran a wrestling school in Calgary, Alberta, Canada. All his brothers were wrestlers including his brother, Owen Hart, who was killed in a wrestling stunt last year. BRET HART is the subject of a new biography, 'Bret 'Hitman' Hart: The Best There Is, The Best There Was, The Best There Ever Will Be.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: BRET 'HITMAN' HART continued.REV. : Rock historian ED WARD remembers the pioneering Bluegrass group of the 1950s Reno & Smiley and the Tennessee Cutups.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: ANDREW WARD is the author of 'Dark Midnight When I Rise: The Story of the Jubilee Singers, Who Introduced the World to the Music of Black America' (Farrar, Strauss & Giroux). The Jubilee singers were nine former slaves who who set off from Nashville in 1871 to raise money to rescue their school, Fisk University, from bankruptcy. They toured the U.S., Britian, and Europe introducing audiences to African-American spirituals. The Jubilee singers are also the subject of an upcoming American Experience documentary on PBS. (Monday, May 1, 2000 at 9:00) INT. 2: Brazilian film director BRUNO BARRETO (Ba-RET-to). His new film 'Bossa Nova' is a romantic comedy starring his wife, American actress, Amy Irving. BARRETO's other films are the critically acclaimed 'Dona Flor and Her Two Husbands' and 'Four Days in September' which was nominated for an Academy Award for best Foreign Language Film. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).REV. : BRUNO BARRETO continued.
Interview with Tudor Parfitt; Interview with George C. Wolfe; Interview with Toni Collette; Commentary on the language of the stock market. April 26, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884466].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: British anthropologist TUDOR PARFITT. His new book is 'Journey to the Vanished City: The Search for a Lost Tribe of Israel' (Vintage paperbacks). PARFITT went to southern Africa to find the Lemba people, who claim to be Jewish. Recently geneticists have found that many Lemba men carry DNA consistent with Jewish ancestry.INT. 2: Playwright and director GEORGE C. WOLFE. He wrote and directed the hit Broadway musical 'Jelly's Last Jam,' about Jelly Roll Morton. Wolfe also wrote the play 'The Colored Museum,' a satire about the black experience in America. His newest musical is 'The Wild Party' based on the long-lost classic poem about the roaring twenties by Joseph Moncure March. (the book was republished in 1994 with drawings by Art Spiegelman). It's currently playing at the Public Theatre on Broadway./ INT. 3: Australian actress TONI COLLETTIE. She stars as Queenie, a vaudeville dancer, in 'The Wild Party.' COLLETTIE is best known for her offbeat role as Muriel in the film 'Muriel's Wedding.' She also had a role in 'Velvet Goldmine.' This year she received an academy award nomination for her portrayal of the boy's mother in 'The Sixth Sense.'REV. : Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the language of the stock market.

Interview with Mary Nelle Gage, Zachery Hill, and Fredo Sieck; Interview with Sofia Coppola; Review of the album "The Voice of the Poet." April 27, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884647].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: From 1968-1975 'Operation Babylift' took place in Vietnam. Thousands of orphans were evacuated to safety and homes in the U.S. and other countries. The last babylift took place twenty-five years ago in the waning days of the war. A discussion about the effort with: SISTER MARY NELLE GAGE who took part in the airlifts from 1973 to February 1975. Now she organizes gatherings of those adoptees in the U.S. We also hear from two former orphans: ZACHERY HILL who is now 26. He was adopted by a family in Atlanta, and FREDO SIECK ('FRAY-do Seek') who is also 26. He is one of few survivors from one of the planes that crashed in 1975. He was adopted by an American family and grew up in Indianapolis. INT. 2: Director SOFIA COPPOLA is the daughter of film director Francis Ford Coppola. She's directed the new film 'The Virgin Suicides' based on the novel by Jeffrey Eugenides, about five teenage sisters and the domino effect after the youngest kills herself. REV. : Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ is also a poet. He reviews 'The Voice of the Poet' (Random House) a collection of poets reading their own work on audio tape.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Minimalist composer STEVE REICH. He's considered one of our foremost living composers. Three of his early recordings have been recently reissued on the new CD: Steve Reich: New York Counterpoint/Eight Lines/Four Organs (Nonesuch). Last year "Reich Remixed" was released, a dance album in which American, British, and Japanese DJ's pay tribute to REICH, by sampling and reassembling his music. Also last year Reich's "Triple Quartet" written for and performed by the Kronos Quartet, had its world premiere at the Kennedy Center in Washington D.C. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (REBROADCAST from 5/11/99, and 3/31/89)INT. 2: STEVE REICH continued.REV. : Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Time Code' the new film by Mike Figgis that features four different stories on the screen at one time, by dividing the screen into quadrants. Figgis did this by using four digital cameras, recording each story in real time without edits.

Interview with Francine Prose; Commentary on the value of work; Interview with Alex Chilton. May 1, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884649].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Novelist FRANCINE PROSE. Her new book 'Blue Angel' (Harper Collins) echoes the title of the film classic about a German teacher who becomes infatuated with a show girl (played by Marlene Dietrich). In PROSE's novel, a creative writing teacher falls in love with his talented student. Recently PROSE wrote an article in the New York Times Magazine (Feb 13, 2000) about the problems with cultural programing 'for women, by women.' REV. : Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reflects on the value of work, upon receiving a letter about her benefits from the Social Security Administration. INT. 2: Singer/guitarist ALEX CHILTON has been playing music for decades. As a teenager he was a member of the Memphis Band Box Tops. He was 16 years old when they recorded their hit, the R&B song 'The Letter.' Later with the band 'Big Star' he became a underground hero. After dropping out of sight to kick an alcohol addiction, CHILTON returned to performing. By then many younger bands, REM and The Bangles, considered him a legend. CHILTON's new release (as a part of a trio) 'Set' (bar-none) was recorded on the spur of the moment, and without overdubbing.

Interview with Ted Conover; Interview with Victor Regnier; Review of the television show "Who Wants to Be a Millionaire?". May 2, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884644].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer TED CONOVER (CON-over) spent a year as a prison guard inside New York State's infamous Sing Sing prison. He wanted to experience first hand the conditions within a prison. He writes about it in his new book 'Newjack: Guarding Sing Sing' (Random House). CONOVER'S previous books chronicled his time spent with illegal aliens ('Coyotes') and railroad hoboers ('Rolling Nowhere'). CONOVER is a contributing writer to The New York Times Magazine. INT. 2: Professor of Architecture and Gerontolgy VICTOR REGNIER (Ruh-NEAR) teaches at the University of Southern California. In 1997 he published a book (Assisted Living Housing for the Elderly: Design Innovations from the United States and Europe' (Wiley) comparing the Northern European and U.S. approaches to caring for the elderly. The European model helps the elderly to stay in their homes, with the help of assisted living programs. This week he is presenting a paper on the subject at the AIA (American Institute of Architects) convention in Philadelphia. REV. : TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'Who Wants to be a Millionare?.' This week celebrities are the contestants.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Three veteran book editors discuss the state of publishing today. . .when mergers create mega publishing houses, the bottom-line dominates decision making, and e-technology threatens the book itself. The three are: MICHAEL KORDA, editor-in chief of Simon & Schuster, ROBERT LOOMIS, executive editor at Random House, and JONATHAN GALASSI, editor-in-chief at Farrar, Straus and Giroux. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: Writer STACY SCHIFF. She's the author of 'Vera' (now in paperback, Modern Library), about Vera Nabokov, and her 52 year marriage to Russian writer Vladimir Nabokov, the author of 'Lolita'. The book is a literary story and a love story, revealing how important Vera was in shaping Nabokov's work, and how devoted the two were to each other. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW) REV. : STACY SCHIFF continued.

Description of show segment(s)
INT. 1: The new documentary 'Well-Founded Fear' goes inside the Immigration and Naturalization Service to document the process by which asylum agents grant or deny asylum to refugees. The INS gave the filmmakers, SHARI ROBERTSON and MICHAEL CAMERINI, unprecedented access. Terry talks with the two, and with Asylum Officer ROBERT GERALD BROWN. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: INS officer GERALD BROWN continues. REV. : INS officer GERALD BROWN continues.

Description of show segment(s)
INT. 1: A Fresh Air favorite, opera soprano DAWN UPshaw. She has more than two dozen albums to her credit and has become widely known for her ability to perform both in the opera as well as sing Broadway tunes. UPshaw joined the Metropolitan Opera in 1984 and has performed at the Met. Many of the world's leading conductors have invited UPshaw to appear with some of the finest orchestras, including The Chicago Symphony, the Philadelphia Orchestra, and the Berlin Philharmonic. On May 17, she performs Broadway Songs at a Lincoln Center sponsored concert at John Jay College Theatre. She'll sing the music of Rogers and Hart, Stephen Sondheim, and Vernon Duke, among others. Last year she released a CD, "Dawn Upshaw sings Vernon Duke" (Nonesuch). It features Fred Hersch on piano and John Pizzarelli on guitar. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (REBRAODCAST FROM 2/11/99) REV. 1: Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Sonny Rollins: The Freelance Years: The Complete Riverside & Contemporary Recordings' (Riverside) REV. 2: Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Gladiator' directed by Ridley Scott starring Russell Crowe.

---

Interview with Philip Roth; Review P.D. James's memoir ""Time to Be In Earnest."" May 8, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884646].

Description of show segment(s)

---

Interview with Joss Whedon; Commentary on "censorware." May 9, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884648].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Fresh Air TV Critic David Bianculli talks with JOSS WHEDON (Joss is pronounced like 'Floss,' Whedon is WE-den). He's the creator of the movie and TV series 'Buffy The Vampire Slayer.' He is executive producer of 'Buffy' and co-executive producer of the Buffy Spin-off 'Angel.' WHEDON also writes for both shows. Before working on Buffy, WHEDON wrote for the TV series 'Roseanne.' He also writes screenplays. He has worked on the scripts for such films as Alien Resurrection, Twister, Toy Story, Speed, and this summer's X-Men. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) REV. : These days, there's a lot of public concern about objectionable content on the Web. Fresh Air's Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG discusses the problems with so-called 'censorware', the software programs that claim to screen out pornography and other offensive material.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Journalist ORVILLE SCHELL talks about his new book Virtual Tibet: Searching for Shangri-La from the Himalayas to Hollywood (Metropolitan Books). For centuries now, the mountainous and remote nation of Tibet has been the object of Western fascination. Today, Tibet is the subject of movies and Hollywood celebrities have taken on Tibetan Freedom as their cause. SCHELL talks about Tibet, real and imagined, and takes us through the history of the West's infatuation. SCHELL has covered China and Tibet for many years. He is the author of a number of books and his articles have appeared in the New Yorker, Newsweek, and The New York Review of Books. He is also Dean of the Graduate School of Journalism at the University of California, Berkeley. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF SHOW) INT. 2: We meet VETON SURROI (vi-TON sir-ROY), publisher of the leading independent Albanian newspaper in Kosovo, called Koha Dotire (CO-ha DE TOR-ray). SURROI has just received a democracy award from the National Endowment for Democracy, a US non profit bipartisan organization. During NATO's bombing of Kosovo, SURROI was in hiding and his newspaper was published underground.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: South African journalist and anti-rape activist CHARLENE SMITH. Last year, she was raped, and feared the man who raped her could have given her HIV/AIDS. SMITH had a hard time obtaining the drugs that could lessen the potential of her getting HIV. SMITH then wrote about her experience and helped spread awareness about rape and HIV in South Africa. Statistics say every 26 seconds, a woman is raped in South Africa-- the country with the fastest growing HIV rate. SMITH continues to speak about her experience and is pushing for legal and medical reforms in South Africa. (This interview continues in the second half of the show.) INT. 2: We talk more about HIV and AIDS in South Africa with journalist PHILLIP VAN NIEKERK (fawn-KNEE-kirk). Recently, the president of South Africa, Thabo Mbeki (TAH-boh mm-BEK-eh) has become very involved in the AIDS policy in his country. Mr. Mbeki is focusing on a medical theory that states that the human immunodeficiency virus, or HIV, does not cause AIDS. Many leading scientists have criticized Mr. Mbeki for wasting his time on what they see as a discredited theory about AIDS. The International AIDS conference is scheduled to be held in South Africa this summer.

Description of show segment(s)
INT. 1: Country music singer RAY PRICE. He was a close friend and protege of Hank Williams. PRICE's hits include "Talk to Your Heart," "Don't Let the Stars Get in Your Eyes," "I'll be There," "Crazy Arms," "For the Good Times," and more. In 1996 he was inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame. Price's new CD called Prisoner of Love (Justice Records) will be released next week. (REBROADCAST FROM 1/19/99) INT. 2: This week marks Fresh Air's 13th year as a national show. We celebrate by featuring an in-studio interview and concert with composer and musician JOEL FORRESTER. FORRESTER composed Fresh Air's theme music, as well as other music we use on the show. He is also co-founder of the Microscopic Septet . REV. : We continue our celebration of Fresh Air's 13th birthday by talking to a three comedians about bar mitzvahs-- MEL BROOKS(Originally broadcast 7/30/91), RICHARD LEWIS (Originally broadcast 6/16/88),and RICHARD BELZER (Originally broadcast 12/31/87).

Description of show segment(s)
INT. 1: Writer KEITH FLEMING talks about his first book, a memoir, The Boy with the Thorn in His Side (William Morrow.) When FLEMING was a teenager, he was living in Chicago, depressed, and was committed to a string of mental institutions. Then his mother sent him to New York to live with his young, gay uncle, the critically acclaimed novelist and biographer Edmund White. The move and his uncle's influence transformed his life. KEITH FLEMING is a freelance editor and writer living in Providence, RI (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: RUDY BEHLMER (BELL-mur) is the editor of 'Memo from David O. Selznick,' (Modern Library) a new collection of the producer's private letters, telegrams and memos. The making of 'Gone With the Wind' and other film classics are documented in this revealing look at the movie business in its early years. This book is part of a series of film books being reprinted by Martin Scorsese. Also in the 'Modern Library: The Movies' series are 'The Making of 2001: A Space Odyssey,' 'Agee on Film' by James Agee, and 'The Art of the Moving Picture,' by Vachel Lindsay.

---

Interview with Paul Mayersburg; Interview with Mike Hodges. May 16, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884513].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Screenwriter PAUL MAYERSBURG (MY-urz-burg). He penned the film 'Croupier,' directed by Mike Hodges, whom we'll hear from later in the show. 'Croupier' is a thriller about a novelist who moonlights at a London casino, although he doesn't gamble himself. He lives to watch others' defeat. Mayersberg wrote the 1976 classic 'The Man who Fell to Earth,' starring David Bowie. In addition to writing, he's also directed several films, including 'The Last Samurai.' INT. 2: Filmmaker MIKE HODGES. He directed 'Croupier.' Hodges' debut work, the 1971 'Get Carter,' was hailed as the greatest British thriller ever. It starred Michael Caine. 'Croupier' revisits some of the same themes as 'Get Carter.' The new film has been getting rave reviews in the UK. Hodges' film career has been spotty. Some of his other films include 'Flash Gordon,' 'Terminal Man,' and 'Morons from Outer Space.' REV. : HODGES continues.

---

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer MICHAEL ONDAATJE. His new novel is 'Anil's Ghost' (Knopf), set in Sri Lanka, where Ondaatje was born. The story is about a forensic anthropologist who is working in Sri Lanka during the ethnic wars of the late 1980s and early 90s. This is his first novel since 'The English Patient,' which won the Booker Prize. Ondaatje is also a poet. His books of poetry include 'The Cinnamon Peeler' and 'Handwriting.' He lives in Canada. INT. 2: Forensic entomologist M. LEE GOFF is the author of the new book 'A Fly for the Prosecution: How Insect Evidence Helps Solve Crimes' (Harvard University Press). GOFF examines the insect life that inhabits a decomposing corpse, to understand when a person died and other circumstances of death. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW). REV. : LEE GOFF continued. REV: Our guest pianist tomorrow will be Dick Hyman. One of our guest singers will be Vernel Bagneris, who has explored this period in his own musical revues. To give you a preview, we asked him to sing a song that he's performed on stage, which was originated by Bert Williams. It's called "Somebody Lied."

Description of show segment(s)

We continue our American Popular song series, with a program about composer Will Marion Cook. He was born in 1869 and was part of the first generation born after slavery. Cook was one of the innovators of ragtime song, and helped introduce ragtime to Broadway. Cook wrote 'In Dahomey' the first full length broadway musical written and performed by African Americans. It opened on Broadway in 1903. Some of Cook's songs reflect the racial stereotypes and dialect of the time. In this program we hear selections of his music performed by singers VERNEL BAGNERIS and TERRY BURRELL, and pianist DICK HYMAN. We also hear from MARVA CARTER who is writing a biography of Cook. She is the director of Graduate Studies at the School of Music at Georgia State University. INT. 2: Performances continue and we hear from TOM RIIS who compiled and edited a book containing the complete score of 'In Dahomey.' RIIS directs the American Music Research Center at the University of Colorado and is the author of 'Just Before Jazz.' REV. : Conductor MAURICE PERESS. He specializes in reconstructing historic American concerts. He's worked with Ellington and Bernstein, and is the author of the forthcoming book, 'Living With American Music: Dvorak to Duke Ellington.'
Interview with Pete Townshend; Review of Elliot Smith's and Jules Shear's albums "Figure 8" and "Allow Me"; Obituary for Paul Bartel; Review of the film "Croupier." May 19, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884382].

Description of show segment(s)

Int. 1: Musician PETE TOWNSHEND turns 55 on May 19th. In the 1960's he made waves as the lead guitarist in the British rock group The Who. He was world famous for smashing guitars during concerts. After The Who split up, TOWNSHEND released a number of solo projects, and "Tommy," the rock opera he wrote for The Who in 1969, opened on Broadway. This summer The Who is back on tour. (REBROADCAST from 11/23/93). REV. 1: Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Figure 8' by Elliott Smith, and 'Allow Me' by Jules Shear. INT. 2: Director and actor PAUL BARTEL died on Saturday at the age of 61. He had been diagnosed with liver cancer. We'll listen back to his interview. Bartel's acting credits included roles in "Fame" and "L.A. Law," but he was best known for his direction of several black comedies, such as "Eating Raoul," which he also co-wrote and acted in and "Scenes from the Class Struggle in Beverly Hills." (REBROADCAST from 7/5/89) REV. : Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Croupier.'

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actress TRACEY ULLMAN. She plays Frenchy, a manicurist married to an ex-con dishwasher in Woody Allen's new comedy 'Small Time Crooks.' She also worked with Allen on two of his previous films 'Bullets Over Broadway,' and 'Everyone Says I love You.' ULLMAN is the star of her own shows, HBO's 'Tracey Takes On,' and 'The Tracey Ullman Show.' INT. 2: Authors ADAM COHEN and ELIZABETH TAYLOR are the authors of American Pharaoh: Mayor Richard J. Daley, His Battle for Chicago and the Nation' (Little, Brown & Co). In the book, the authors look at Daley's legacy, how he transformed Chicago into a modern metropolis, but also turned it into the nation's most segregated city. REV. : Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'White Teeth' by Zadie Smith. It's Smith's debut novel about a couple of World War 2 veterans and their families.
Interview with Joseph Opala; Interview with Zainab Bangura; Interview with Susan Rice. May 23, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884511].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: We talk about the controversial efforts to bring peace to Sierra Leone. As part of the agreement to end the civil war, members of the rebel forces were invited to participate at high levels of government? these were the same people who committed atrocities such as hacking off the limbs of children. First, we'll speak with anthropologist JOSEPH OPALA (oh-PA-la) OPALA is an American who lived in Sierra Leone for 23 years. This past May, the Sierra Leone army staged a coup and OPALA thought he would be safe in the hotel where the Nigerian General was staying. Instead, the hotel became a target and caught on fire from the attacks. OPALA had to help other people get out of the country and was eventually evacuated himself. INT. 2: Pro-democracy leader ZAINAB BANGURA (ZI-nab bahn-GUHR-rah). She is a human rights activist and pro-democracy leader in Sierra Leone. She's been threatened both by the government and the rebels because of her outspokenness. We'll speak to her about the situation as it stands right now. INT. 3: SUSAN RICE, the U.S. State Department's Assistant Secretary for African Affairs.

Interview with Linda Grant; Review of recent of classical music concerts. May 24, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884673].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: British writer LINDA GRANT. She's the author of the new memoir, 'Remind Me Who I Am, Again' (Granta Books) about her mother's disappearance into dementia (diagnosed as Multi-Infarct Dementia). She first wrote about her mother's situation in the pages of the Guardian. GRANT's other books include 'Sexing the Millennium' and 'The Cast Iron Shore.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). REV. : Classical music critic Lloyd Schwartz talks about making the familiar fresh and the unfamiliar accessible. He has a review of two recent concerts.
Interview with Amy Sedaris; Interview with Clifford Wright; Commentary on recent season finales of television shows. May 25, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884672].

Description of show segment(s)

Guest host: BBINT. 1: Actress AMY SEDARIS. She's the star of the comedy series 'Strangers With Candy' that airs Monday and Saturday nights on Comedy Central. SEDARIS plays Jerri Blank, a 47-year old ex-con, ex-prostitute lesbian high school freshman. She's the sister of David Sedaris, a humor writer who has been on Fresh Air several times. Amy and David have produced and written several plays together, including the 1996 Obie award winning 'One Woman Shoe.' INT. 2: Writer CLIFFORD WRIGHT. His new book is 'A Mediterranean Feast: The Story of the Birth of the Celebrated Cuisines of the Mediterranean, from the Merchants of Venice to the Barbary Corsairs, with more than 500 Recipes.' (Morrow) As you can tell from the title, it's a comprehensive look at Mediterranean foodstuffs, cooking and culture, at over 800 pages. It won the James Beard Cookbook of the Year award, and it is being developed into a 13-part series for PBS called 'A Cook's Tour: Mediterranean Journeys with Clifford Wright.' REV. : TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI comments on the season finales of several television shows.

Interview with Linda Greenlaw; Review of books for summer reading; Interview with John Woo; Review of the film "Mission Impossible 2." May 26, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884674].

Description of show segment(s)

Guest host: BBINT. 1: LINDA GREENLAW has worked on commercial fishing boats for nearly 20 years. She has written about her experience leading a sword fishing boat to Newfoundland in the book "The Hungry Ocean." It's just been released in paperback(Hyperion). GREENLAW is also featured in the best selling book, The Perfect Storm. That book is being made into a movie which will be released this summer. Boston magazine named GREENLAW one of the most intriguing women of 1997. She lives on Isle au Haut, Maine. (REBROADCAST FROM 6/21/99) REV. 1: Book Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN gives us her picks for the best summer reading. INT. 2: Director JOHN WOO. He grew up in Hong Kong and directed numerous films there before coming to Hollywood. He has established himself as a master of action thrillers and is known for his elaborate action scenes. WOO has directed the American films
'Broken Arrow,' 'Hard Target,' and "Face/Off." His new film, Mission Impossible 2, came out this week. (REBROADCAST from 7/10/97)REV. : Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews Mission Impossible 2.

Interview with Dave McKenna; Interview with Daryl Sherman; Interview with Artie Shaw. May 29, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884676].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: A live concert/interview with pianist DAVE McKENNA. Whitney Balliett, jazz critic for The New Yorker magazine, called McKenna "the hardest swinging jazz pianist of all time." McKenna plays with amazing virtuosity and swing, mixing stride, boogie and more modern playing styles. MCKENNA has recently released 2 CDs-- Clarinet Blue with Bobby Gordon (Arbors) and Jubilee with Daryl Sherman (Arbors) MCKENNA turns 70 this week. (Rebroadcast. Originally broadcast on Thursday, December 29, 1988.)INT. 2: New York jazz singer and pianist DARYL SHERMAN (woman). She has just released a CD with Dave Mckenna called Jubilee. It celebrates the centennials of Fred Astaire, Hoagy Carmichael, Noel Coward and Duke Ellington. She has been a long-time favorite of Manhattan's night life. (REBROADCAST from 8/26/98)REV. : Band leader and clarinetist ARTIE SHAW. In the 1930s and 40s his band ranked with the Goodman, Dorsie, and Miller bands in popularity. But he rejected many of the pop tunes and stuck with music by composers like Porter, Gershwin, and Berlin. SHAW is also known for working with many fine Black musicians and singers, including Billie Holiday. SHAW is now retired from performing. He celebrated his 90th birthday last week. (Rebroadcast from a 1985 interview.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: British comedian, stand up performer, and actor EDDIE IZZARD. IZZARD is currently selling out venues in the US and Canada, with his new stand up show 'Circle'. He has won over fans with his quirky comedy and his cross-dressing. The Chicago Tribune says "Izzard lives up to his billing. He's very bright, very fast and very hip.' As an actor, IZZARD has appeared in the films Mystery Men, The Avengers, and the Velvet Goldmine. (This interview continues in the second half of the show.)

INT. 2: IZZARD Continued.

REV. : IZZARD Continued.

---

Interview with Jon Stewart; Interview with Jim DeRogatis; Review of a production of Shakespeare's play "Macbeth." May 31, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884571].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: JON STEWART is the co-producer and anchorman of Comedy Central's 'The Daily Show with Jon Stewart.' The show is an alternative take on the news. Previously STEWART had a part on HBO's 'The Larry Sanders Show.' He also hosted Comedy Central's 'Short Attention Span Theater.'

INT. 2: JIM DeROGATIS ('Day-ro-GOT-is') is the author of 'Let it Blurt: The Life & Times of Lester Bangs, America's Greatest Rock Critic' (Broadway Books). Bangs wrote about rock 'n' roll for the Rolling Stone, Creem, and The Village Voice. DeROGATIS describes him as, 'the great gonzo journalist, gutter poet, and romantic visionary of rock writing?its Hunter S. Thompson, Charles Bukowski, and Jack Kerouac all rolled into one.'

REV. : Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new production of Shakespeare's 'Macbeth' starring Kelsey Grammar of 'Frasier.' The show is in tryouts in Boston this week and opens on Broadway next.

---

Interview with David Sedaris; Review DJ Eric San's, MC Paul Barman's, and DJ Green Velvet's album "Carpal Tunnel Syndrome," "It's Very Stimulating," and "Green Velvet"; Review of the television show "Survivor." June 1, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884675].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer DAVID SEDARIS is best known for his contributing work with Public Radio's 'This American Life.' He's written three books of essays, 'Barrel Fever,' 'Naked,' and his newest 'Me Talk Pretty One Day' (Little Brown) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: World music critic MILO MILES reviews some funny rap music, 'Carpal Tunnel Syndrome' (Nijatunes) by the Canadian DJ Eric San, MC Paul Barman's 'It's Very Stimulating' (WordSound), and 'Green Velvet' (F-111) by the DJ Green Velvet.

REV. : TV critic DAVID
BIANCULLI reviews 'Survivor' the new summer series on CBS, in which 16 contestants are marooned on a tropical island for more than a month. The winner takes home a million dollars.

---

Interview with Ravi Coltrane; Interview with Elvin Jones. June 2, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884741].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Saxophonist RAVI COLTRANE. He's the son of the legendary jazz musician John Coltrane, and was two years old when his father passed away. In 1998 he recorded his first album as band leader, 'Moving Pictures.' His new album is 'From the Round Box' (RCA). (rebroadcast from 5/18/98) INT. 2: Drummer ELVIN JONES. His most influential work was with saxophonist John Coltrane from 1960-1966. Later he established himself as a bandleader. The new box set, 'The Complete Blue Note Elvin Jones Sessions' (Mosaic) collects his work as a leader (1968-1973). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW). REV. : ELVIN JONES continued.

---

Interview with Jeffrey Eugenides; Review of Anchee Min's and Qui Xialong's novels "Becoming Madame Mao" and "Death of a Red Heroine"; Review of Andrew Hill's album "Dusk." June 5, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884671].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: JEFFREY EUGENIDES ('u-GEN-eh-dees') is the author of 'The Virgin Suicides' (paperback, Warner books) a gothic flavored novel about five sisters who kill themselves. The book is set in suburbia in the 1970s and is told in the voice of boys ? now men ? who were obsessed by them. The book was critically acclaimed when it was first published in 1993. It's now the subject of a new movie. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). REV. 1: Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews two new novels about China: 'Becoming Madame Mao'(Houghton Mifflin) a fictional biography by Anchee Min, and the detective novel, 'Death of a Red Heroine' (Soho) by Qui Xialong. REV.V 2: Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Dusk' (Palmetto) the new CD by pianist Andrew Hill.
Interview with Martin Amis; Review of Slaid Cleaves' and Gurf Morlix's albums "Broke Down" and "Toad of Titicaca." June 6, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884572].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: British novelist MARTIN AMIS. He's considered one of the leading British writers of the late-twentieth century and one of the most controversial. His books include 'Night Train,' 'Money: A Suicide Note,' 'The Information,' and 'London Fields.' He's just written a new memoir, 'Experience: a Memoir' (Talk Miramax Books). Much of it is about his father, the late writer Kingsley Amis. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

INT. 2: AMIS Continued.

REV.: Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews two new albums: 'Broke Down' by singer-songwriter Slaid Cleaves, and 'Toad of Titicaca' by Gurf Morlix.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Publisher of the New York Times ARTHUR SULZBERGER JR. He's just been named 'Publisher of the Year' by Editor and Publisher Magazine. SULZBERGER's family is one of the foremost newspaper families in the world. His great-grandfather Adolph Ochs bought the paper more than a century ago. ARTHUR SULZBERGER JR., was appointed publisher by his father Arthur Ochs Sulzberger in 1992.

INT. 2: Assistant Managing Editor of The New York Times, ALLAN SIEGAL. He oversees usage and style at the Times. A revised and expanded edition of his 'The New York Times Manual of Style and Usage' (Times Books) has just been published. REV.: Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the world-premiere recording of Kurt Weill's opera Die Buergschaft?The Pledge (on EMI). It's one of Weill's most neglected works first performed in Berlin in 1932, and was revived last year during the Spoleto Festival USA.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Bodybuilders PUDGY and LES STOCKTON. Pudgy was an early pioneer of women's body building, and began working out and performing at Santa Monica's Muscle Beach in 1939, often teaming up with LES who she married in 1941. PUDGY is featured in an exhibit, 'Picturing the Modern Amazon' at New York's New Museum of Contemporary Art (to June 25th). There's also a companion book of the same title (Rizzoli publications).INT. 2 NADINE COHODAS ('Coe-HOE-dus') is the author of 'Spinning Blues into Gold: the Chess Brothers and the Legendary Chess Records' (St. Martin's Press). It's the story of brothers Leonard and Phil Chess, Jewish immigrants from Poland, who knew little about music, but somehow created the influential blues label, Chess Records. Muddy Waters helped them see the potential in the music and they went on to record Waters, Howlin' Wolf, Willie Dixon, Chuck Berry, and others. Chess Records was located in Chicago.

Interview with Dennis Hopper; Interview with Mary Woronov; Review of the film "Gone in 60 Seconds." June 9, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884680].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actor DENNIS HOPPER. Some of his films include "Easy Rider," "Apocalypse Now," "Blue Velvet," "Speed," "Waterworld," "River's Edge," "Carried Away," "Hoosiers," and "Basquiat." Hopper made his feature film debut in "Rebel Without a Cause" in 1955. In addition to acting, Hopper has directed film and written screenplays. He is also a photographer and an art collector. This summer an exhibit of his photographs from the 1960s will be showing at the Schindler House In West Hollywood. The show is called "American Pictures 1961-1967." (Rebroadcast from 4/01/96)INT. 2: Actress/painter MARY WORONOV. She was part of Andy Warhol's "Factory" in the 1960s. She was discovered while still a college student and was in Warhol's film, "Chelsea Girls," about New York bohemian life. Her memoir about those years is called Swimming Underground: My Years in the Warhol Factory (Journey Editions). WORONOV has a new novel called Snake (High Risk Books.) (RE-BROADCAST FROM 12/7/95)REV. : Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews the new film Gone in 60 Seconds, starring Nicolas Cage and Angelina Jolie.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer JIM KNIPFEL (ca-NIF-fil-- like sniffle). His first book, the acclaimed memoir Slackjaw (Putnam), is his funny, irreverent account of loosing his sight and trying to take his life. In his new book, Quitting the Nairobi Trio (Tracher/Putnam), he writes about the time he spent in a psychiatric ward. The New York Times says Knipfel is 'blessed with a natural, one might even say reflexive, knack for telling stories.' Knipfel is a columnist and staff writer for New York Press. (this interview continues in the second half.)INT. 2: KNIPFEL continued.REV: Rock critic Ken Tucker reviews Billy Bragg and Wilco's album Mermaid Avenue, Volume 2.

Interview with Aimee Mann; Commentary on business names. June 13, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884678].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Singer/Songwriter AIMEE MANN. She's best known for her work on the soundtrack for the film 'Magnolia.' Her song 'Save Me' from the film was nominated for an Oscar. Her new release is 'Bachelor No. 2.' Previously the album was available over her website (Aimeemann.com) and at her concert performances. Now it is available in stores. MANN and her manager had bought the master tapes from her record label in an effort to retain creative and marketing control. It's the first recording to be released on MANN's Superego Records. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: Singer/Songwriter AIMEE MANN continued.REV: Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the trend among corporate giants to change their names to create a new identity.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Founder and Editor in Chief of the online magazine Salon, DAVID TALBOTS. Last week the magazine had to lay off 13 employees because of financial problems. It was one of three online journalism sites to do so. TALBOT started the magazine in 1995. Before that he was the arts and features editor of the San Francisco Examiner. TALBOT is also the author of 'Burning Desires: Sex in America.' This interview was conducted live before an audience and taped for broadcast. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: From the American Movie Classics cable channel, Vice President for scheduling, PAT DAVIS. And from The Turner Classic Movie channel, Vice President of programming, CHARLIE TABESH (TA ('a' as in 'axe') Besh). They'll discuss their work scheduling and acquiring classic films to be shown on cable TV. REV. : MOVIES continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Author GARRY WILLS. The Pulitzer Prize winner has written a new book criticizing the Catholic Church. It's called 'Papal Sin: Structures of Deceit.' (Doubleday) Wills is a practicing Catholic and studied with Jesuit priests, though he was never ordained. In Papal Sin, Wills describes a papacy that seems unable or unwilling to admit its mistakes. He writes, 'Given so much to hide, the impulse to keep hiding becomes imperative, automatic, almost inescapable.' He addresses topics such as birth control, the ordination of women, and views on the Holocaust. WILLS is an adjunct professor of history at Northwestern University. His other books include 'Lincoln at Gettysburg,' for which he won the Pulitzer, 'John Wayne's America,' and a biography of St. Augustine. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: Ex-co-leader of the septet Squirrel Nut Zippers, TOM MAXWELL. His new recording as a solo artist is 'Samsara' (Samsara Ltd.) On the album he continues the work he started with the Zippers, harkening the sound of hot jazz, but also blues and gospel, Country and Western, and even Chinese opera. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).REV. : TOM MAXWELL continued.
Interview with Isaac Hayes; Interview with Kennan Ivory Wayans; Review of the film "Shaft"; Obituary for George Segal; Obituary for Jacob Lawrence. June 16, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884679].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: (A)Composer and musician ISAAC HAYES. The new movie 'Shaft' features the theme music that he wrote for the original 1972 'Shaft' film and which won him an Oscar. HAYES is also an actor, who has held roles in the movies "Robin Hood: Men in Tights," "I'm Gonna Git You Sucka," "Posse," and "It Could Happen to You." He's also a regular voice (as the Chef) on the cable animation show "South Park." (REBROADCAST from 7/28/94)(B) KEENAN IVORY WAYANS. He co-wrote and acted in "Hollywood Shuffle," Robert Townsend's film about a black actor trying to make it in a world of show business stereotypes. He wrote, directed and starred in, "I'm Gonna Git You Sucka," a comedy that parodies black exploitation, kung fu and wild action movies. (REBROADCAST FROM 5/2/89) ? Guest film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new "Shaft" film starring Samuel Jackson. SHEEHAN is film critic for the Orange Country Register. INT. 2: Sculptor and painter GEORGE SEGAL died June 9th at the age of 75. He was best known for his free standing sculptures depicting everyday people in urban settings. His life-like sculptures were derived from full-body plaster casts he placed on his models. SEGAL worked in a former chicken coop on his family's farm in New Jersey. (REBROADCAST from 7/23/98)REV: GEORGE SEGAL died last Friday. In this interview, Segal talks about his work which is being featured through October at The Jewish Museum in New York City. It is his first major exhibition in North America in 20 years. He is best known for his free standing sculptures depicting everyday people in urban settings. (REBROADCAST from 7/23/98)REV. : Painter JACOB LAWRENCE died on June 9th at the age of 82. For six decades, Lawrence had been widely regarded as one of America's most important black artists. His work depicted the black American experience from the Civil War to the Civil Rights movement. (REBROADCAST from 5/16/88)
Interview with Nick Park and Peter Lord; Review of the album "Hollywood & Jazz"; Commentary on British television shows that have come to the U.S. June 19, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884633].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Director/producer NICK PARK is the academy award-winning creator of the much-loved animated British characters Wallace & Gromit. Director/producer PETER LORD is Chairman and co-founder of the clay animation studios Aardman, where PARK created his short films featuring Wallace & Gromit ('A Grand Day Out,' 'The Wrong Trousers' and 'A Close Shave.') They've just collaborated on their first full-length feature film, 'Chicken Run' an animated escape film with chickens as the escapers. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: NICK PARK & PETER LORD continued.REV.: Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Hollywood Swing & Jazz: Hot Numbers from Classic MGM, Warner Bros., and R.K.O. Films' (a Rhino box).REV.: TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI comments on popular British TV imports, past and present.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Dr. VJOSA DOBRUNA ('Vee-YO-sa Doe-BRU-na') is one of this year's recipients of the Jonathan Mann Award for Global Health and Human Rights. She's being recognized for her work as founder of the Pristina Center for the Protection of Women and Children, which treats those victimized by rape, torture, or psychological trauma. DOBRUNA is a pediatrician neurologist. During the war, she fled to Macedonia and set up work in a Macedonian refugee camp. DOBRUNA narrowly escaped arrest last year. Her colleague, Dr. Flora Brovina, is the other recipient of the award. But Brovina is in a Serb prison, convicted of terrorism for providing medicine and knitting wool to women who were allegedly aiding members of the Kosovo Liberation Army. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: DR. NILS DAULAIRE is the president of the Global Health Council, one of the three non-governmental organizations that administers the Jonathan Mann Award, named after the late doctor who was a pioneer in the fight against AIDS and connecting global health and human rights.REV.: We remember actress NANCY MARCHAND who died Sunday at the age of 71. Most recently she was best-known for playing the bitter mother of Tony Soprano in the HBO series...
'The Sopranos.' During the 1970s she played the newspaper publisher on the 'Lou Grant' show. (interview with TV critic DAVID BIANCULII rebroadcast from 3/18/99)

Interview with Laurence Maslon; Interview with Vernel Bagneris; Review of Britney Spears' and Hanson's albums "Oops! I Did It Again" and "Third Time Around." June 21, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884630].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: The 1946 Harold Arlen/Johnny Mercer musical St. Louis Woman is being revived at the Prince Music Theatre in Philadelphia. (thru June 25th) The musical ? which was written for and features an African-American cast ?features the songs 'Come Rain or Come Shine,' 'I Had Myself a True Love,' and 'Anywhere I Hang My Hat is Home.' We talk with two individuals, first: LARRY MASLON who rewrote the libretto for the show. MASLON is professor of theatre at New York University. INT. 2: Also star Vernel Bagneris (ver-NEL BAHN-er-eese) who also wrote, directed and starred in the hit show, 'One mo' Time' and the sequel 'Further Mo.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).REV. : Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews Britney Spears 'Oops! Did It Again' and Hanson's "Third Time Around."

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Creator and executive producer of the HBO hit series 'The Sopranos,' DAVID CHASE. The show has just completed its second season and experienced the death of one of its cast members, Nancy Marchand. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: DAVID CHASE continued.REV. : DAVID CHASE continued.

Description of show segment(s)

REV/ Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Mood Indigo' (Milestone) the new CD by singer JIMMY SCOTT. . . then:INT. 1: Singer JIMMY SCOTT. He sang with Lionel Hampton's band in the late 1940s early 50s and influenced such singers as Nancy Wilson, Marvin Gaye, and Stevie Wonder. Quincy Jones who played with Hampton's band then said of Scott's singing, "It's a very emotional, soul-penetrating style. Jimmy used to tear my heart out every night." He became best known for his ballads. Despite his talent, SCOTT has had a sporadic singing career marked by long periods of obscurity. He returned to performing and recording in the early 1990s. (REBROADCAST from 7/23/92)INT. 2: Head coach of the new NBA champions-the L.A. Lakers, PHIL JACKSON. Prior to leading the Lakers to the championship, Jackson coached the Chicago Bulls to six NBA championships with his unique coaching style. Before that JACKSON played for eleven years with the New York Knicks, worked as a television color commentator, and coached minor-league for four years. (REBROADCAST from 9/30/96)REV. : Guest film critic Henry Sheehan reviews the new Farrelly Brothers comedy 'Me, Myself & Irene,' starring Jim Carrey and Renee Zellweger. Sheehan is the film critic for the Orange County Register.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Editor TOM KUNTZ and reporter PHIL KUNTZ (‘koontz’). Their new book 'The Sinatra Files: The Life of an American Icon Under Government Surveillance' (Three Rivers Press) excerpts and analyzes portions of the FBI's massive file on Frank Sinatra. The file is 1,275 pages long and was begun in the mid 1940s and lasted until 1972. TOM KUNTZ is the editor of ‘Word for Word,’ a column in The New York Times Week in Review section. PHIL KUNTZ is a staff reporter for The Wall Street Journal.INT. 2: Chinese independent film producer AND native New Yorker PETER LOEHR (‘LORE’). He became China's first independent film producer. His film 'Spicy Love Soup' in 1998 was the second only to 'The Titanic' in box office receipts in China. LOEHR'S third feature 'Shower' is currently a hit in China, and is due in the U.S. next month. LOEHR founded the company Imar to produce and distribute his films. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW). REV. : PETER LOEHR continued.

---

Description of show segment(s)

---

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Associate curator at The Museum of Contemporary Art in Los Angeles, RUSSELL FERGUSON. He curated the exhibit 'In Memory of My Feelings: Frank O'Hara and American Art,' (there's also a companion book). Frank O'Hara was part of a small group of poets in New York City in the 1950s and 60s, influenced by the Abstract Expressionist painters of that time, including Jackson Pollock and Willem de Kooning. O'Hara died in 1966 after being struck by a jeep. Also, poet DAVID LEHMAN ('LEE-man'), author of 'the Last Avant-Garde: The Making of the New York School of Poets' (Anchor Books).INT. 2: INT. 2 An in-studio concert and interview with guitarist BILL FRISELL. His latest recording is 'Ghost Town' (Nonesuch). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Bill Flanagan; Commentary on The Clash; Commentary on the expression "thought leader." June 29, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884058].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Senior vice president and editorial director of VH1, BILL FLANAGAN. He's the author of 'A&R' (Random House) a satirical novel about the music industry. Prior to this, FLANAGAN wrote extensively about the business for 'Vanity Fair,' 'Rolling Stone,' 'Esquire,' and 'Spy.' He's also the author of 'Written in My Soul' a collection of conversations with songwriters. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: interview with BILL FLANAGAN continued.REV: Rock historian ED WARD begins his two-part series on the British punk band, 'The Clash.'REV. : Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the phrase 'thought leader.'

Interview with Milt Hinton; Commentary on The Clash; Interview with Bruce Aidells; Review of the film "The Perfect Storm." June 30, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884886].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Jazz bassist MILT HINTON. He turned 90 years old a week ago today. HINTON is one of the great jazz bassists, having played with musicians like Cab Calloway, Dizzy Gillespie, Coleman Hawkins, Duke Ellington and Billie Holiday. Throughout his career, Hinton photographed the musicians he worked with, and the surroundings he moved through. His books 'Bass Line: The Stories and Photographs of Milt Hinton' (Temple University Press), and 'Overtime: The Jazz Photographs of Milt Hinton,' (Pomegranate) have been reprinted in paperback. (REBROADCAST from 7/11/88)REV. : rock historian ED WARD continues his retrospective of The ClashINT. 2: Cookbook author BRUCE AIDELLS ("ay-DELLS"). He's co-authored (along with Denis Kelly) the book, "The Complete Meat Cookbook" (Houghton Mifflin). It's the first comprehensive reexamination of meat cooking to come along in 20 years. Recipes include: The Classic Hamburger, Not-Like-Mom's Meat Loaf, and Beef Stew with Mushrooms, Onions, and Dark Beer. AIDELLS is also the founder of Aidells Sausage Company. The teams previous cookbook "Hot Links & Country Flavors" won a Julia Child Award.REV. : Guest film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'The Perfect Storm' starring George Clooney and Mark Whalberg. SHEEHAN is the film critic for the Orange County Register. JULY 3-7, 2000
Interview with John Pizzarelli, Martin Pizzarelli, and Ray Kennedy; Interview with Philip Furia; Interview with John Pizzarelli, Martin Pizzarelli, and Ray Kennedy; Interview with Philip Furia; Interview with Julia Riva. July 3, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884924].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Today we begin Monday rebroadcasts of our series on American Popular Song. We start with part one of a two-show tribute to composer HARRY WARREN (1893-1981). Warren was a successful but little known songwriter who produced a number of hits during the 1930's and 40's. Some of his best known songs include: "I Only Have Eyes for You," "Lullaby of Broadway," "We're in the Money," and "The More I See You." Warren dreamed of writing for Broadway, but instead migrated west and became one of Hollywood's most prolific songwriters. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: MAY 24, 1999)First, We feature THE JOHN PIZARELLI TRIO discussing and performing several of Harry Warren's songs. The trio is JOHN PIZARELLI, guitar and vocals, his brother MARTIN PIZARELLI, bass; and RAY KENNEDY, piano. INT. 2: PHILIP FURIA is currently writing a book on Hollywood's musicals. He discusses the impact of Harry Warren on movie musicals. FURIA is the author of "The Poets of Tin Pan Alley," "Irving Berlin: A Life in Song." He is chair of the English department at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington. REV. : Harry Warren's music publishing company, Four Jays Music, is now headed by his grand-daughter, JULIA RIVA. She talks about her grandfather and his music.

Interview with John Pizzarelli, Martin Pizzarelli, and Ray Kennedy; Interview with Philip Furia; Interview with John Pizzarelli, Martin Pizzarelli, and Ray Kennedy; Interview with Julia Riva; Interview with John Pizzarelli, Martin Pizzarelli, and Ray Kennedy. July 4, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884887].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: We continue the rebroadcasts of our series on American Popular Song. . .with part 2 of our profile of HARRY WARREN (1893-1981), a successful but little known songwriter who produced a number of hits during the 1930's, 40's and 50's. Today, we focus on Warren's songs of the 40's and 50's, including some of the most popular love ballads of the world war two years, one of Dean Martin's biggest hits, and the theme for TV western. Warren dreamed of writing for Broadway, but instead migrated west and became one of Hollywood's most prolific songwriters. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: MAY 25, 1999)First, we feature THE JOHN PIZZARELLI TRIO discussing and performing several of Harry Warren's songs. The trio is JOHN PIZZARELLI, guitar and vocals, his brother MARTIN PIZZARELLI, bass; and RAY KENNEDY, piano. INT. 2: PHILIP FURIA is currently writing a book on Hollywood's musicals. He discusses the impact of Harry Warren on movie musicals. FURIA is the author of "The Poets of Tin Pan Alley," "Irving Berlin: A Life in Song." He is chair of the English department at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington. REV. : Harry Warren's music publishing company, Four Jays Music, is now headed by his grand-daughter, JULIA RIVA. She talks about her grandfather and his music.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Voice artist and animation historian KEITH SCOTT has written the new book 'The Moose That Roared: The Story of Jay Ward, Bill Scott, a Flying Squirrel, and a Talking Moose' (St. Martin's Press) The book is about the creator (Jay Ward) and writer (Bill Scott) of the popular Rocky & Bullwinkle TV cartoon show of the late 1950s, early 60s. The new film 'The Adventures of Rocky and Bullwinkle' is based on the characters and stars Robert Deniro, Rene Russo, and Jason Alexander. SCOTT also is the voice of Bullwinkle in the film. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).REV. 1 Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the reissue 'Louis Armstrong: Satch Plays Fats' (Columbia/Legacy).REV: 2: Book Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the new novel Bee Season, by Myla Goldberg.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Doctor MEL GREAVES, author of Cancer: The Evolutionary Legacy (Oxford University Press. GREAVES is professor of cell biology and director of the Leukemia Research Fund Centre for Cell and Molecular Biology at the Institute of Cancer Research in London. GREAVES places cancer in its evolutionary context, using examples from the 15th century to the most contemporary research.
GREAVES talks about the importance of looking at cancer through a Darwinian lens. He says there may be implications for research, prevention, and treatment. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) REV: Classical Music Critic LLOYD SHWARTZ reviews this year's Music Festival in Dresden, Germany.

Interview with Johnny Cash; Obituary for Harold Nicholas; Commentary on the Harry Potter books. July 7, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884583].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Music legend JOHNNY CASH. CASH has been recording albums and performing since the 1950's. Representing CASH'S varied musical styles, he has been inducted into the Songwriters, Country Music, and Rock and Roll Halls of Fame. In 1997, he released an autobiography called "CASH" (Harper). The recording Johnny Cash at San Quentin (The Complete 1969 Concert) (Columbia/Legacy) has been remastered, and released this week. This reissue of Cash's classic live performance includes eight previously unreleased songs, including "Big River," "Ring of Fire," "I Walk the Line," and "Folsom Prison Blues." A 3-CD Box Set of his music, called 'Love, God, and Murder,' was also recently released. Original Broadcast: 11/4/97. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

INT. 2: Earlier this week, HAROLD NICHOLAS, the younger member of the famous tap-dancing duo, The Nicholas Brothers, died in Manhattan. The Nicholas Brothers danced in vaudeville, on Broadway, in night clubs and on TV, but may be best known for their appearances in movie musicals of the 1930s and 40s. We'll listen back to a 1985 interview with NICHOLAS. REV.: The next installment of the Harry Potter series comes out tomorrow. Book Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the Harry Potter books and the hype around them.JULY 24-28, 2000

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: We rebroadcast another episode of our American Popular Song Series; this one will profile composer JEROME KERN. He wrote the songs "All the Things You are," "Can't Help Lovin' That Man," "I'm Old-Fashioned," "Ol' Man River," and "The Way You Look Tonight." A number of those songs are from the broadway musical "Showboat" which he wrote. We'll focus on the music he wrote before then, before 1927. Terry will talk with JOHN MCGLINN, an authority on Kern, and we'll hear performances by: REBECCA LUKER, who is currently starring in the broadway revival of 'The Music Man', and who also starred in the revivals of "Showboat" and the "Sound of Music," GEORGE DVORSKY who sang leading roles in the New York City Opera's productions of "Cinderella" and Brigadoon." They'll be accompanied by WILLIAM HICKS, assistant conductor and assistant chorus master at the Metropolitan Opera. Original broadcast: 11/01/99 (THESE INTERVIEWS AND PERFORMANCES CONTINUE THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: With all the hype surrounding new advances in information technology, what is truth and what is fiction? PAUL DUGUID (DO-good), co-author of 'The Social Life of Information,' (Harvard Business School Press) helps us answer that question. DUGUID is a Research Associate in Social and Cultural Studies at the University of California, Berkeley and consultant at Xerox Palo Alto Research Center. In their book, DUGUID and co-author John Seely Brown, distinguish between the predictions of pundits and 'futurists' (those who predicted that paper communication would be obsolete and home offices would be the norm,)and the reality of today's offices and work spaces. INT. 2: Cartoonist BEN KATCHOR, creator of the weekly comic strip, Julius Knipl (ka-NIP-le), Real Estate Photographer. Through his comic strips, KATCHOR has been an astute and witty commentator on New York in particular and urban life in general. His new book, 'Julius Knipl, Real Estate Photographer: the Beauty Supply District' (Pantheon), is a novel that incorporates some of his single-page strips from the last few years. KATCHOR has been syndicated in alternative newspapers and magazines since 1988. His strips were adapted into short sound pieces for NPR's 'Weekend Edition.' KATCHOR is currently a MacArthur Fellow.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Yugoslavian-born writer ALEKSANDER HEMON (HEY-men). Hemon was born in Sarajevo in 1964. While in his early 20s, he came to the United States as a tourist. On the day he was supposed to return to Sarajevo, his home city came under siege. He was forced to stay in the US. Hemon then began working on his English and now writes in English, even though it is not his first language. His first book is a collection of stories called 'The Question of Bruno' (Nan A. Talese/ Doubleday).INT. 2 WAYNE BARRETT, author of the book, 'Rudy!: An Investigative Biography of Rudolph Giuliani' (Basic Books). Rudolph Giuliani, the mayor of New York City, recently dropped out of the highly visible New York Senate race, after he was diagnosed with prostate cancer. The Mayor is a controversial figure; some think of him as a savior who has cleaned up Manhattan's streets, while others see him as a turn around artist and brut. BARRETT's book traces Guiliani's life and career?from college student to U.S. attorney, to mayor of New York City and possible senate candidate. BARRETT is a senior editor at the Village Voice. He has been covering politics and Guiliani for over 20 years. He is also the author of Trump: The Deals and the Downfall, and co-author of City for Sale.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: We talk about the current state of prescription drugs with DOCTOR MICHAEL WINNIFORD and DOCTOR PETER UBEL ('U'-bil). Dr. Winniford is a cardiologist, professor of Medicine at the University of Iowa in Iowa City, and director of the University's Heart Care Center. Dr. UBEL is assistant Professor at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School, and is also on the faculty of the University's Center for Bioethics. The two doctors will talk about the high cost of prescription drugs, and the problems associated with that cost. It is especially hard for the elderly because often, insurance does not cover the costs of all medicines. WINNIFORD AND UBEL will also talk the business of prescription drugs, and the side effects of new drugs and new drug combinations. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) REV: Pop Music Critic KEN TUCKER reviews the newest CD by rapper Eminem. It's called The Marshall Mathers LP.

Interview with Anthony Minghella; Interview with Stan Lee; Review of the film "Chuck and Buck.' July 14, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884585].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Director and Screenwriter ANTHONY MINGHELLA. He won the Academy Award for Best Director for the 1996 film The English Patient. The movie also won the Oscar for Best Picture. His film The Talented Mr. Ripley, starring Matt Damon, Gwyneth Paltrow, and Cate Blanchett is out on video. The film is based on the novel by Patricia Highsmith. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 12/22/99)INT. 2: Cartoonist STAN LEE-- the creator of such Marvel comic book superheroes as Spiderman, The Incredible Hulk, The Fantastic Four, and The X-Men. He joined Marvel comic books at the age of 16, more than 40 years ago. The movie The X-Men, based on his comics, opens this weekend. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 10/17/91)REV. 1 : Guest film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new film 'Chuck and Buck.'

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: We continue the Monday rebroadcasts of our American Popular song series, with a program about composer WILL MARION COOK. He was born in 1869 and was part of the first generation born after slavery. Cook was one of the innovators of ragtime song, and helped introduce ragtime to Broadway. Cook wrote 'In Dahomey' the first full-length Broadway musical written and performed by African Americans. It opened on Broadway in 1903. Some of Cook's songs reflect the racial stereotypes and dialect of the time. In this program we hear selections of his music performed by singers VERNEL BAGNERIS and TERRY BURRELL, and pianist DICK HYMAN. We also hear from MARVA CARTER who is writing a biography of Cook. She is the director of Graduate Studies at the School of Music at Georgia State University. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: MAY 18, 2000)INT. 2: Performances continue and we hear from TOM RIIS who compiled and edited a book containing the complete score of 'In Dahomey.' RIIS directs the American Music Research Center at the University of Colorado and is the author of 'Just Before Jazz.' (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: MAY 18, 2000)

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Husband and wife song writing team, BARRY MANN and CYNTHIA WEIL, the duo responsible for such songs as 'You've Lost that Loving Feeling,' 'On Broadway,' 'We Gotta Get Out of This Place,' 'Here You Come Again,' 'Don't Know Much,' and more. The two met when they were both working in the famous songwriting landmark, the Brill Building? MANN as a composer and WEIL as a lyricist. The two have been writing ever since. In edition to their many pop hits, MANN and WEIL have also written songs for films. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer JOYCE JOHNSON, talks about her relationship to Beat icon Jack Kerouac, and her new book, 'Door Wide Open: A Beat Love Affair in letters' (Viking). In 1957, JOHNSON started a relationship with the then little-known writer Kerouac. 9 months later, Kerouac's Beat classic 'On the Road' was published. JOHNSON will talk about her two-year, tumultuous love affair with Kerouac, how the publication of 'On the Road' changed Kerouac, and she'll talk about what it was like being young and female and part of the Manhattan bohemian scene. 'Door Wide Open' contains many letters sent to JOHNSON by Kerouac. In addition to 'Doors Wide Open,' JOHNSON is also the author of 3 novels, including 'In the Night Cafe?.' Her memoir 'Minor Characters' won the National Book Critics Circle award, and her work has been published in major magazines including the New Yorker and Harper's.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Singer-songwriter SHELBY LYNNE. We will listen to her songs and talk to LYNNE in studio. Her new CD, 'I Am Shelby Lynne' (Universal/Island) is part country and part soul. This is the 6th album for this Alabama-born singer, but it is the first album in which LYNNE writes most of the songs. Her other albums were products of the Nashville country music scene. With this new album, LYNNE has won over critics and fans alike. LYNNE is currently touring the US. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

INT. 2: Veteran smokejumper MURRY TAYLOR. He's been fighting forest fires for over 35 years, is the oldest active smokejumper and the oldest to ever do the job. He's written a new memoir about his experiences 'Jumping Fire: A Smokejumper's Memoir of Fighting Wildfire.' (Harcourt Inc.)

REV: Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'An Obedient Father' (Farrar Straus & Giroux) the debut novel by short story writer Akhil Sharma.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Professor and writer ANDRE ACIMAN, author of "Out of Egypt: A Memoir." (Farrar, Straus & Giroux) The book follows ACIMAN's close-knit, flamboyant Jewish family through 50 years of residence in Alexandria. The family was forced to leave Egypt when ACIMAN was 14, during a long wave of Anti-Semitism and Arab nationalism. In 'Out of Egypt,' ACIMAN explores the lives and relationships of his grandparents, parents, uncles and aunts, and finally his own emotions about leaving his idyllic childhood home. His new book of essays is called False Papers: Essays on Exile and Memory. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 2/13/95)

INT. 2: Stand-up comic MARGARET CHO. Next month a film version of her one-woman, stand up show, 'I'm the One That I Want,' will be released. She talks about her foray into... the TV sitcom world, when she was the first Asian-American to star in her own TV show. The series, "All-American Girl" was short lived, and a nightmare for CHO. The new film of her show won't be Cho's first time on the screen. For example, she is the voice of the detective in "Rugrats" and she appeared in John Woo's "Face/Off." REV. 1 : Guest film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new film 'What Lies Beneath.'

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: We continue our rebroadcast of our series on American Popular Song with a tribute to ragtime composer and performer EUBIE BLAKE. He was born on February 7, 1883 in Baltimore, Md. He wrote the songs for the Broadway hit Shuffle Along. African American ragtime musicians of the day sought out Eubie to write their songs. Two of Eubie Blake's best known songs are "I'm Just Wild About Harry" and "Love Will Find A Way." Just over one hundred years after his life began, on February 12, 1983, Eubie Blake died in Brooklyn, New York. We'll present a concert with singer Vernel Bagneris and pianist Dick Hyman and feature theater historian Robert Kimball. Singer Vernel Bagneris co-starred in the Broadway musical "The Life." He also co-created and starred in a Jelly Roll Morton revue, and the New Orleans music revue "One Mo' Time." Dick Hyman is an expert in piano styles of the teens, twenties and thirties. He has also composed music for several Woody Allen movies. Kimball rediscovered Blake in the late 60's and co-authored the book "Reminiscing with Sissle and Blake." Kimball is also the co-author of "The Gershwins, and editor of "The Complete Lyrics of Ira Gershwin and Cole Porter." (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 5/28/98)INT. 2: EUBIE BLAKE TRIBUTE CONTINUES.REV. : EUBIE BLAKE TRIBUTE CONTINUES

- Page 2156 -
Interview with Craig Bierko and Rebecca Luker; Interview with Frank Punzo; Review of Steve Earle's album "Transcendental Blues." July 25, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569011].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: The 1957 musical 'The Music Man' by Meredith Wilson is currently being revived on Broadway. A talk with two of the stars: CRAIG BIERKO (Be-AIR-co) who plays the lead role of traveling salesman and conman Harold Hill originated by Robert Preston. This is BIERKO's first Broadway show. Also co-star REBECCA LUKER who plays Marian the Librarian, the role originated by Barbara Cook. This is LUKER's fourth Broadway role. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)INT. 2:The Republican National Convention convenes in Philadelphia in a week. A talk with FRANK PUNZO, Sales Manager for Verizon Communications which is the official local telecommunications provider for the convention. PUNZO is responsible for providing the infrastructure that supports telephone service, video conferencing, internet access and video streaming. REV. : Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Transcendental Blues' the new recording by Steve Earle.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Staff writer for The Philadelphia Inquirer THOMAS GINSBERG. He's been covering how the city is preparing for the advent of protests during the Republican National Convention. INT. 2: Protestor MICHAEL MORILL ('Mor-ale') is the organizer of Unity 2000 a coalition of groups which is staging a rally on Sunday, July 31st, to cover a range of issues. MORILL and his organization sued the city to obtain a permit to protest. Also AMY KWASNICKI ('Kwas-NICK-ee') is a member of the Philadelphia Direct Action Group which is coordinating three days of protests and civil disobedience during the convention. The group was not given a permit to protest. REV. : Music critic MILO MILES reviews new albums by two Latin artists: 'Make Up for Lost Time' (High tone) by Little Willie G. and 'Nava' (Ryko latin label) the debut album by Nava.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Reporter DAVE DAVIES talks about Philadelphia and next week's Republican National Convention. He'll talk about what the city did to get the convention, what image the city is trying to project, and what the city is doing to prepare for the delegates, the protestors, and the media. DAVIES will also talk about the current controversy surrounding the Philadelphia police. DAVIES is a long time reporter in the Philadelphia area. He covers City Hall and city politics for the Philadelphia Daily News.

INT. 2: Biographer HOWARD POLLACK is the author of 'Aaron Copland: The Life and Work of an Uncommon Man' (University of Illinois Press). This year marks the 100th anniversary of Copland's birth. Though Copland was Jewish, gay, and raised in Brooklyn, his work came to personify the American West, with such well known compositions as 'Billy the Kid' and 'Rodeo.' Copland also wrote 'Appalachian Spring,' and 'Fanfare for the Common Man.' Copland also wrote the film scores for 'The Red Pony,' and 'The Heiress.' POLLACK is professor of music history and literature at the University of Houston. REV. : HOWARD POLLACK continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Character actor JOHN C. REILLY. REILLY can currently be seen in the film 'The Perfect Storm.' He's starred in all three of director/writer Paul Thomas Anderson's films. He played a small-time gambler In "Hard Eight," a porn star In "Boogie Nights," and a police officer In "Magnolia." 'Magnolia' has just been released on video. REILLY has also worked with directors Brian DePalma ("Casualties of War") and Terrence Malik ("The Thin Red Line"). REILLY got his start in Chicago at the Goodman School of Drama and worked with the Steppenwolf theatre. ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 1/13/00 (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: JOHN C. REILLY CONTINUED.REV. : Guest film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new film 'Girl on the Bridge.'
Interview with Rebecca Kilgore and Dave Frishberg; Interview with Deborah Grace Winer; Interview with Rebecca Kilgore and Dave Frishberg; Interview with Philip Furia; Interview with Rebecca Kilgore and Dave Frishberg; Interview with Cy Coleman. July 31, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569007].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: As part of our encore presentation of our series on American popular son, we remember the late lyricist DOROTHY FIELDS. Born in 1905, She was the only woman in the pre-rock era to sustain major critical and popular acclaim as a songwriter. First, We feature singer BECKY KILGORE and pianist DAVE FRISHBERG perform music by Dorothy Fields. (Rebroadcast of 4/12/99) Biographer DEBORAH GRACE WINER talks about Fields life and music. Winer is author of "On the Sunny Side of the Street: The Life and Lyrics of Dorothy Fields." (Rebroadcast of 4/12/99) PHILIP FURIA talks specifically about the lyrics DOROTHY FIELDS wrote. Furia is Chairman of the English Department at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington. He is also author of "Poets of Tin Pan Alley." (THESE INTERVIEWS AND PERFORMANCES CONTINUE IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (Rebroadcast of 4/12/99)INT. 2: We continue our conversation with PHILIP FURIA. BECKY KILGORE and pianist DAVE FRISHBERG perform more of Fields' music. (Rebroadcast of 4/12/99) REV. : Composer and Broadway director CY COLEMAN talks about working with Dorothy Fields in the 1960s and 70's. They collaborated on the Broadway shows "Sweet Charity," and "Seesaw." (Rebroadcast of 4/12/99)

Interview with John Waters; Review of B.B. King and Eric Clapton's album "Riding with the King." August 1, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973568694].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Filmmaker JOHN WATERS. His latest film is 'Cecil B. Demented' about an underground filmmaker and his cult following who declare war on bad cinema by kidnapping a starlet and forcing her to star in their own film. WATERS other movies include, "Pecker" about a young amateur photographer who becomes the darling of the New York art world; "Cry Baby," a juvenile delinquent love story set in the 1950's, which brought together such performers as Patty Hearst, Johnny Depp, Ricki Lake, David Nelson, and Polly Bergen. WATERS is known for his independent, off-beat films, such as "Pink Flamingos," "Female Trouble," and "Polyester." In 1988 WATERS entered the mainstream with his popular film, "Hairspray." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE Interview with Nicholas Kristof; Interview with Harry Shearer. August 2, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569191].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: National Correspondent for The New York Times, NICHOLAS KRISTOF. He's written a series of biographical articles on George W. Bush, focusing on his early years. KRISTOF is former Tokyo Bureau Chief for The Times, and was co-recipient of the Pulitzer Prize for international reporting for his coverage of Tianamen Square. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)
INT. 2: NICHOLAS KRISTOF continued REV. : Satirist HARRY SHEARER, the host of 'Le Show,' and the voice behind several characters on "The Simpsons". SHEARER is also the author of "It's the Stupidity, Stupid: Why (Some) People hate Clinton and Why the Rest of Us Have to Watch." This week he is in Philadelphia as part of the 'Shadow Convention' an alternative to the Republican and Democratic conventions, which covers the issues it says the other conventions won't touch like campaign finance reform, poverty in the midst of prosperity, and the drug war. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Christopher Walken; Interview with Louis Sheldon and Winnie Stachelberg; Commentary on the coverage of the Republican National Convention. August 3, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973568693].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actor CHRISTOPHER WALKEN. He got his start in the business as a tap-dancing kid and went on to play some of the most menacingly evil characters around. His films include 'At Close Range,' 'The Comfort of Strangers,' 'King of New York,' 'The Dead Zone,' and 'Annie Hall' (in which he played Annie's creepy brother who had an impulse to drive his car into oncoming traffic.) His new film is 'The Opportunists.' INT. 2: CHRISTOPHER WALKEN continues. Int. 3&4: In light of the news that Republican V-P candidate Dick Cheney's daughter is a lesbian, we speak to two people close to the issue. First, REVEREND LOUIS SHELDON, Chairman and Founder of the Coalition for Traditional

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer ALEC WILKINSON remembers his friend and mentor WILLIAM MAXWELL who died Monday at the age of 91. Wilkinson is a staff writer for the New Yorker, and has been there since 1980. His book, 'Midnights: A Year With the Wellfleet Police' (Hungry Mind Press) was recently released in paperback. (Note: this is a new interview, not a repeat.)

1B: We listen to rebroadcast of a 1995 interview with WILLIAM MAXWELL. MAXWELL was fiction editor of the New Yorker from 1936-1976 and worked with such authors as J.D. Salinger, John Cheever, John Updike, Eudora Welty and scores of others. MAXWELL was the author of a number of novels, including "Time Will Darken It," and "So Long, See You Tomorrow," as well as several short story collections. In 1995 a collection of his stories was published in the book "All The Days and Nights." John Updike has said Maxwell's voice is "one of the wisest in American fiction. It is, as well, one of the kindest. " (REBROADCAST from 3/29/95)

(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) INT. 2: WILLIAM MAXWELL interview continued./ We return to our conversation with ALEC WILKINSON REV. : Guest film critic Henry Sheehan reviews 'Space Cowboys,' directed by and starring Clint Eastwood. It's about three aging air force pilots who want to go into space.
Interview with Rebecca Kilgore, Dave Frishberg, Richard Sudhalter, and Hoagy Bix Carmichael.

Description of show segment(s)

Interview with Rebecca Kilgore, Dave Frishberg, Richard Sudhalter, and Hoagy Bix Carmichael.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Screenwriter/actress POLLY DRAPER and jazz pianist MICHAEL WOLFF have co-produced 'The Tic Code.' The new film is about a mother and her son, a musical prodigy with Tourette's syndrome. The syndrome is a nervous disorder that produces uncontrollable facial tics and jerky muscular spasms, as well as causing strange noises to be emitted from those who have the disorder. POLLY DRAPER wrote the film based on the life of her husband, MICHAEL WOLFF. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)INT. 2a: MICHAEL WOLFF and POLLY DRAPER continued INT. 2b/3 We remember British actor Sir ALEC GUINNESS who died Saturday at the age of 86. He's known to older audiences for his roles in films like 'The Bridge on the River Kwai,' and to younger audiences as Obi-Wan Kenobi in Star Wars. (REBROADCAST from MAY 1986)

Interview with Dan Miller; Interview with Willem Dafoe; Review of Travelers' Tales' album "Malinke." August 9, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973568695].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Volcanologist and resident geologist for the U.S. Geological Survey DAN MILLER. He also heads the Survey's Volcano Disaster Assistance program which helps developing countries in the event of volcanic eruption. MILLER was part of the team of geologists who studied Mt. St. Helens and predicted a blast before the turn of this last century. Mt. St. Helens blew May 18th, 1980. His team studied the frequency and past characteristics of eruption in Mt. St. Helens and put together hazard assessments for local officials. MILLER and his team are profiled in the new book 'Volcano Cowboys: The Rocky Evolution of a Dangerous Science' by Dick Thompson. INT. 2: ROGER EBERT interviews WILLEM DAFOE. This is a special broadcast of a live event that took place at this year's Cannes Film Festival. Ebert explores Dafoe's 17-year career of more than 40 films, including his upcoming film, 'Shadow of the Vampire.' Dafoe's films include 'The Last Temptation of Christ,' 'Affliction,' 'The English Patient,' and 'Platoon.' REV. : Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Malinke' (Omnitone) the new recording by Marty Ehrlich.

Interview with Ru Paul; Interview with Craig McCracken. August 10, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569188].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actor, singer and drag queen RU PAUL. The six-foot seven entertainer is even taller in heels and has fashioned for himself a supermodel persona. He attributes his mainstream appeal to his non-threatening sexuality and his 'non-bitchy' drag queen personality. RU PAUL is appearing out of drag in the new comedy 'But I'm A Cheerleader.' He plays an ex-gay rehab counselor. RU PAUL's other films include 'Crooklyn,' 'The Brady Bunch Movie,' and 'Wigstock the Movie.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: Creator and executive producer of 'The Powerpuff Girls' the hit cartoon series on the Cartoon Network, CRAIG MCCrackEN. The show follows the adventures of three super-powered superheros, the cute but tough sisters Blossom, Bubbles and Buttercup. There's also a new CD of music inspired by the girls, 'The Powerpuff Girls: Heroes and Villains' (Rhino. The cartoon airs on Wednesday nights 8 PM (PT/ET) and Fridays at 9 PM. REV. : continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: RAVI SHANKAR the world's leading sitar player, and his 18 year old daughter ANOUSHKA. Currently SHANKAR and his daughter are celebrating his 80th birthday with a "Full Circle" tour of performances across the U.S. We'll hear from RAVI SHANKAR and later we'll be joined by his daughter. ANOUSHKA has a new CD which includes duets with her father, "Anourag" (Angel). (REBROADCAST from 11/17/99) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF). INT. 2: RAVI
SHANKAR & ANOUSHKA SHANKAR continued. REV. : Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on distinctions in grammar.

Interview with Melinda Henneberger; Interview with Brenda Blethyn; Review of Juliana Hatfield's albums "Beautiful Creature" and "Total System Failure." August 14, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973568696].

Description of show segment(s)
INT. 1: Washington Correspondent for The New York Times MELINDA HENNEBERGER. She's writing a series of biographical profiles on Al Gore. INT. 2: British actress BRENDA BLETHYN (like 'Beth'? 'BLETH-in'). She's starring in the new comedy 'Saving Grace' about a middle aged widow whose irresponsible husband left her in huge debt. She decides to start growing marijuana in her greenhouse instead of orchids. BLETHYN's other films include Mike Leigh's 'Secrets and Lies' (she was nominated for an Oscar) and 'Little Voice.' REV. : Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews two new CDs by Juliana Hatfield, 'Beautiful Creature' and 'Total System Failure.' (both by Zoe records)

Interview with Emmylou Harris; Interview with Peter Straub. August 15, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569045].

Description of show segment(s)
INT. 1: Singer EMMYLOU HARRIS. She's been making records for over 30 years with music that transcends the country-genre she started with, encompassing folk, rock, and pop. After decades of performing others' songs, she has a new album of her own songs 'Red Dirt Girl' (Nonesuch). She wrote 11 of the 12 songs on the CD. 'Red Dirt Girl' will be released September 12. It's her first solo album since her 1995 'Wrecking Ball' record. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: Horror writer PETER STRAUB. He has 14 books to his credit, including 'Mr. X,' 'Ghost Story,' and 'The Talisman' which he wrote in collaboration with Steven King. The two of them are currently working on a sequel. STRAUB's newest work is a book of short fiction 'Magic Terror.' (Random House) REV. : PETER STRAUB continued.
Interview with Naomi Klein; Interview with George Stevens, Jr. August 16, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569181]

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Journalist NAOMI KLEIN is the author of 'No Logo: Taking Aim at the Brand Bullies' (Picador USA), a look at the global reach of multinational corporations, their pervasive use of branding to sell a concept, the impact on culture and society, and the protest movement that's resulted. INT. 2: Founder of the American Film Institute, GEORGE STEVENS JR. The 1952 classic western 'Shane', directed by his father George Stevens has been reissued on DVD, with new special production features. GEORGE STEVENS JR. was a production assistant on the film. REV.: GEORGE STEVENS jr. continues.

Interview with Monica Yant Kinney and Tom Ginsberg; Commentary on the language used to describe Joe Lieberman; Commentary on music and the Democratic National Convention. August 17, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569183]

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Journalists MONICA YANT KINNEY and TOM GINSBERG of the Philadelphia Inquirer. The two covered the protests during the Republican National Convention two weeks ago. They'll pick up the story since the convention, and discuss the lawsuits filed against the city on behalf of the protesters. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) INT. 2: Rock critic KEN TUCKER considers what pop music Al Gore and vice presidential candidate Joseph Lieberman might use tonight at the conclusion of their convention. REV.: Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG takes a look at the trouble the media had trying to find the words to describe vice presidential candidate Joseph Lieberman.

Interview with Jim Jarmusch; Review of Red Smith's and Ron Rosenbaum's essay collections "Red Smith On Baseball" and "The Secret Parts of Fortune"; Interview with John Irving; Review of Interview with Frank Vertosick; Review of the album "Big Mon." August 21, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569180].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Neurosurgeon FRANK VERTOSICK (ver-TAH-sick) writes about the history and management of chronic pain in the new book 'Why We Hurt: The Natural History of Pain.' (Harcourt Inc.) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) INT. 2: Neurosurgeon FRANK VERTOSICK continued. REV.: Rick critic Ken Tucker reviews 'Big Mon,' a new tribute album to Bill Monroe. It was produced by Ricky Scaggs for his own label and includes many big names, such as Dolly Parton, Bruce Hornsby and Joan Osborne. (Skaggs Family Records)

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: We'll speak to KATHRYN KING about her mother, jazz singer JERI SOUTHERN. King co-produced a new re-issue of her Southern's work from the fifties (The Very Thought of You: Jeri Southern/The Decca Years, 1951-57/GRP Records). Miles Davis once said she was his favorite singer. She's been described as 'smoky-voiced.' Southern died in 1991 at the age of 64. King has worked in the record industry for 25 years as a corporate executive and independent producer. INT. 2: Kathryn King continues.

REV. : Critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'The Fundamentals of Play,' by Caitlin Macy. She says it can be read as one big fictional quote of the Great Gatsby.

Interview with Samuel Freedman; Commentary on the television show "Survivor." August 23, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569184].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer SAMUEL FREEDMAN. He's just written a book about the state of the American Jewish Community called 'Jew vs. Jew: The Struggle for the soul of American Jewry." (Simon & Schuster) Freedman believes that three fundamental questions are rending the American Jewish community today: "What is the definition of Jewish identity? Who decides what is authentic and legitimate Judaism? And what is the Jewish compact with America?" We talk with Freedman following the recent nomination of the first Jewish vice presidential candidate, Democrat Joe Lieberman. Freedman is also the author of 'The Inheritance: How three families and America moved from Roosevelt to Reagan and Beyond,' which was a finalist for the 1997 Pulitzer prize. INT. 2: SAM FREEDMAN CONTINUES. REV. : TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews tonight's 2-hour finale of 'Survivor.'
Interview with Richard Rosenthal; Interview with James Carter; Commentary on punctuation. August 24, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569046].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Working cop and writer RICHARD ROSENTHAL. For 20 years, ROSENTHAL was a detective for the New York Police Department where he dealt with homicide, narcotics, and armed robbery. Now he is the chief of Police in a small village on Cape Cod. He'll talk about the differences between the two kinds of police work. ROSENTHAL is the author of two books about police work called Sky Cops and K-9 Cops. He also wrote a novel called The Murder of Old Comrades. His new book, Rookie Cop (Leapfrog Press), is a memoir about his time undercover in the Jewish Defense League. INT. 2: Jazz saxophonist JAMES CARTER. He has just released two new CDs? 'Chasin' the Gypsy' and 'Layin' in the Cut' (Atlantic Records). The 31-year-old New York based musician was discovered at the age of 17 by Wynton Marsalis. He's played with Marsalis, the late Lester Bowie and Kathleen Battle. He has been praised by jazz musicians and critics alike; Richard Harrington of the Washington Post once wrote, 'To hear saxophonist James Carter is to be blown away.' REV. : Linguist Geoff Nunberg contemplates the finer points of punctuation.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Rapper and actor ICE-T...one of the original "gangsta" rappers. He's got a new CD,'Greatest Hits: The Evidence' (Atomic Pop). Greg Knot of The Chicago Tribune has written that "ICE-T is that rare gangster rapper who leads with his brain instead of his gun or his crotch." ICE-T's 1992 song "Cop Killer" landed him at the center of a controversy about gansta rap--is it a legitimate form of expression or is it incendiary hate-mongering? In addition to his singing career, ICE-T is an actor. He will be Munch's partner on the new (2000) season of Law and Order Special Victims Unit. He has also starred in films "New Jack City," "Trespass," and "Ricochet." (originally aired 2.15.94)INT. 2: Film Director Arthur Penn. At the age of 77, he's just been hired as executive producer of the T-V show 'Law and Order.' The appointment is seen as a breakthrough for the elderly in Hollywood. Penn's films include "Bonnie and Clyde," "Little Big Man," "The Miracle Worker," "Alice's Restaurant," and "The Missouri Breaks." His film career lost steam in the 80s, and he went to Broadway. His shows included 'Two for the Seesaw' and 'The Miracle Worker.' He's also made several T-V films. (Originally aired 9.29.89) REV. : Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new film, 'Bring it On.'

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: We begin TV week with a show devoted to sitcoms. Many people will remember SHEILA JAMES KUEHL as Zelda Gilroy on the old T-V show "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis." Her T-V career ended when rumors began to circulate that she was a lesbian -- and those rumors were true. She became a prominent lesbian activist and women's rights lawyer in Los Angeles. In November 1994, she became the first openly gay or lesbian person to be elected to the California State Assembly. (REBROADCAST FROM 3/26/92)

INT. 2: Actress PATTY DUKE. At the time of her 1962 film "The Miracle Worker," Duke was the youngest actress to win an Oscar, for her role as Helen Keller. At 16, she was the youngest actress in television to have a prime-time series built around her. The success, however, masked personal misery which included depressions that led to suicide attempts and a string of failed marriages. Duke has written an autobiography titled Call Me Anna. (REBROADCAST FROM 5/26/88)

INT. 3. Director and Actor RON HOWARD. As a child he played Opie on the Andy Griffith show, and later Richie on Happy Days. He made his directorial debut in 1978 with Grand Theft Auto, he's also become one of the most prominent film directors in Hollywood.....with movies like Splash, Cocoon, Parenthood, Far And Away and The Paper and Apollo 13. (REBROADCAST FROM 6/29/95)

INT. 4: Radio and television writer SHERWOOD SCHWARTZ. Schwartz began writing for radio on the Bob Hope Show in 1939. When television came along, Schwartz wrote for such comedy hit shows as "The Red Skelton Show," and "My Favorite Martian." He won an Emmy Award for his comedy writing from the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. In 1963 Sherwood created, wrote and produced the hit series "Gilligan's Island." He was also responsible for 'The Brady Bunch.' (REBROADCAST FROM 8/26/88)
Interview with Jay Leno; Interview with Fred De Cordova; Interview with Dick Cavett; Interview with Conan O'Brien. August 29, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973568770].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: JAY LENO, host of The Tonight Show. He was doing stand up during the era that included Robin Williams, Andy Kaufman, and Steve Martin. LENO took over the helm of The Tonight Show in 1992. (REBROADCAST from 10/21/96) INT. 2: FRED DE CORDOVA, is the former executive producer of "The Tonight Show with Johnny Carson." In 1988 he wrote his autobiography, "Johnny Came Lately," a behind-the-scenes tell-all about the workings of one of television's longest-running and highest rated shows. De Cordova credits include directing Ronald Reagan in "Bedtime for Bonzo," directing "The Jack Benny Show," "The Burns and Allen Show," and "My Three Sons." (REBROADCAST from 3/21/88)INT. 3: Former late-night talk show host DICK CAVETT. He got his start writing gags for Jack Parr, when Parr was the host of The Tonight Show. CAVETT then went the route of the standup comic, and in 1968 landed a morning talk show gig. Eventually he hosted his own late-night talk show opposite The Tonight Show which ran on ABC until 1975. From 1977-1982 he hosted The Dick Cavett Show five times a week on PBS. (REBROADCAST from 9/24/85)INT. 4: Late-night talk show host CONAN O'BRIEN. He took over David Letterman's spot in 1993. Previous to that, O'BRIEN was a writer for Saturday Night Live. His sketches included "Mr. Short Term Memory" and "The Girl Watchers." He was also a writer/producer for "The Simpsons." (REBROADCAST from 10/30/96)

Interview with Peter Falk; Interview with J.K. Simmons; Interview with Sharon Gless and Tyne Daly; Interview with James McDaniel. August 30, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569072].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actor PETER FALK (pronounced like 'Talk'). He's best known for his role as a rumpled L.A. detective in the 1970s TV series "Columbo," where he garnered three Emmy awards. (REBROADCAST FROM 3/15/95)INT. 2: Actor J.K. SIMMONS. He's a regular on HBO's "OZ" the graphic and disturbing drama of life in a maximum security prison. SIMMONS plays convict and neo-nazi Vernon Schillinger. And he has a recurring role in 'Law & Order.' SIMMONS film credits include "The Jackal" and "Extreme Measures." (REBROADCAST from 7/30/98)INT. 3 The stars of the 1980s TV series "Cagney & Lacey"
SHARON GLESS (Christine Cagney) and TYNE DALY (Mary Beth Lacy). The two played New York City Police detectives. "C&L" was the first TV crime show in which the two central characters were female. The TV series won 14 Emmy Awards and one Golden Globe Award. TYNE DALY is currently starring in the CBS series 'Judging Amy.' (REBROADCAST from 4/27/95) INT. 4 Actor JAMES McDANIEL is Lieutenant Arthur Fancy on NYPD Blue. McDANIEL has appeared in numerous television, film and theater productions, including the films "Strictly Business," "Malcolm X," and "Alice." He's also received the Clarence Derwent Award for his performance in the Broadway play, "Six Degrees of Separation." McDANIEL has appeared on the television shows "Kate and Allie," "Hill Street Blues," "L.A. Law," and "Civil Wars." (REBROADCAST from 12/10/96) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES AFTER THE FLOATER)

Interview with Carl Reiner; Interview with Larry Gelbart; Interview with Dick Smothers and Tom Smothers; Interview with David Alan Grier. August 31, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569071].

Description of show segment(s)

Int. 1 Film director CARL REINER. He was a writer and appeared in Sid Caesar's "Your Show of Shows." He's best-known to baby boomer audiences as the creator and writer of "The Dick Van Dyke Show." He also staged several Broadway plays, including "Enter Laughing," which is based on his novel and which he later adapted to the screen. Since then, he has concentrated on film direction, specifically comedies. His films include "Where's Poppa?" "The Jerk," "Dead Men Don't Wear Plaid," "All of Me" "Oh God," and "Bert Rigby, You're a Fool." (REBROADCAST FROM 3/2/89) INT. 2: Comedy writer LARRY GELBART. In the 1950s he was part of a team of television writers that included Carl Reiner, Mel Brooks, Neil Simon, and others who wrote for Sid Caesar's "Your Show of Shows" and "Caesar's Hour." GELBART went on to develop and write for the television version of "M*A*S*H. Also, he wrote the screenplays for "Oh, God!" and "Tootsie," and the stage play for "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" (which has recently been revived on Broadway). (REBROADCAST from 8/19/96) INT. 3: DICK AND TOM SMOTHERS of the comedy duo The Smothers Brothers. In 1967, their show The Smothers Brothers Comedy hour first went on the air. The show has been credited with helping pave the way for a new generation of TV comedy shows including Saturday Night Live. (REBROADCAST from a 1985 interview.) INT. 4: Actor and comedian DAVID ALAN GRIER. GRIER got his start on the TV sketch comedy show In Living Color. He's films include Boomerang, Blankman, and Return to Me (REBROADCAST from 4/01/91).

---

Interview with Phil Donahue; Interview with Chuck Barris; Interview with Alex Trebek; Interview with Jack Larson. September 1, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569069].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: PHIL DONAHUE host and creator of The Phil Donahue show which originally went on the air in 1967 in Dayton, Ohio. It went into syndication in '69, moved to Chicago in '74, and then to New York before going off the air. DONAHUE's show gave rise to the daytime talk shows of today with audience participation and outrageous guests. (REBROADCAST FROM 11/12/85) INT. 2: CHUCK BARRIS was the creator of 'The Dating Game,' 'The Newlywed Game,' and 'The Gong Show.' He also composed the themes for each show. (REBROADCAST from 1/28/86) INT. 3: ALEX TREBEK, host of the game show "Jeopardy." He's been hosting the show for years. And he's played himself as host of Jeopardy in a number of TV shows including, 'The Simpsons,' 'Seinfeld,' 'Ellen,' 'The Larry Sanders Show' and many others. (REBROADCAST from 9/3/87) INT. 4: JACK LARSON was Jimmy Olsen, the cub-reporter on the original 'Superman' TV show. Since then he's become a librettist, poet, and playwright. One of his poems "The Relativity of Icarus" was part of a Joffrey Ballet." He's also written a couple of versed plays, "The Candied House," and "Cherry, Larry, Sandy, Doris, Jean, Paul." (REBROADCAST from 4/12/93)

---

Interview with Keith Scott; Interview with Annette Funicello; Interview with Fred Rogers. September 4, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973568773].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Voice artist and animation historian KEITH SCOTT has written the new book 'The Moose That Roared: The Story of Jay Ward, Bill Scott, a Flying Squirrel, and a Talking Moose' (St. Martin's Press) The book is about the creator (Jay Ward) and writer (Bill Scott) of the popular Rocky & Bullwinkle TV cartoon show of the late 1950s, early 60s. The new film 'The Adventures of Rocky and Bullwinkle' is based on the characters and stars Robert Deniro, Rene Russo, and Jason Alexander. SCOTT also is the voice of Bullwinkle in the film. (REBROADCAST from 7/5/00) INT. 2: Former Mouseketeer,
ANNETTE FUNICELLO. At the age of 12, she was discovered by Walt Disney at a dance recital; he was looking for kids for his new show, "The Mickey Mouse Club." FUNICELLO became the "most popular" Mouseketeer, and went on to star in a number of Disney films: "The Shaggy Dog," "Babes in Toyland," and "The Monkey's Uncle." Before she went to star in the beach party movies for which she is also known, Disney requested that she wear a one-piece bathing suit instead of a bikini. FUNICELLO agreed. In 1987 FUNICELLO was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis and she founded the Annette Funicello Research Fund for Neurological Diseases. Her autobiography is "A Dream is a Wish Your Heart Makes." (REBROADCAST from 5/5/94)

REV.: FRED 'MISTER' ROGERS is the host of 'Mister Rogers' Neighborhood' the longest running show won PBS. It first went on the air in 1968. (REBROADCAST from 9/24/1984)

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: KATHLEEN HANNA and JOHANNA FATEMAN (FATE-men) of the band, Le Tigre (lay-TEE-gruh). HANNA was the lead singer of the 90s band Bikini Kill. Bikini Kill was part of the music/cultural/feminist movement know as 'Riot Grrl,' which focused on the concept of 'girl power' and young women's empowerment. The movement was based primarily in Washington, DC and Olympia, WA, and its members formed bands, wrote fanzines, and held meetings, protests and festivals. HANNA was a leader and spokesperson for the movement. Her first solo project after Bikini Kill was called Julie Ruin. She then formed Le Tigre. Bandmate FATEMAN is an artist and zine writer. Le Tigre's new eponymous CD, released by the Mr. Lady Label, combines pop, punk and feminism. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

INT. 2: HANNA AND FATEMAN CONTINUED.

REV.: Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews A Good House, Bonnie Burnard's first novel. It won the 1999 Giller prize, Canada's most prestigious literary award. It's just been published in this country.

REV.: Our classical music critic Lloyd Schwartz turns off the turntable and reads us a poem from his new book, Cairo Traffic.
Interview with Bill Moyers; Commentary on false etymologies and race. September 6, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973568771].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Bill Moyers has a new PBS series about death and dying, but the focus isn't just on dying; it's on trying to live a decent life in the face of death and on the movement to improve care at the end of life, such as new approaches to pain relief and hospice care. The series also examines some of the difficult personal and medical choices faced by people who are dying and their loved ones. The series is called "On Our Own Terms." It premieres Sunday evening on most PBS stations and continues over the next three consecutive nights.REV: Linguist Geoffrey Nunberg comments on false etymologies and race.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Former White House adviser DAVID GERGEN. He worked with Presidents Nixon, Ford, Reagan, and Clinton. GERGEN left politics and become a regular analyst on The Newshour with Jim Lehrer and Nightline. He is also Editor-at-large at U.S. News & World Report. His new book is 'Eyewitness to Power: The Essence of Leadership' (Simon & Schuster). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: DAVID GERGEN continued.REV. : Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Electric Waco Chair,' the new recording by the Chicago based group The Waco Brothers. One of the band's leaders is Jon Langford, formerly of the British group the Mekons.

Review of the film "Nurse Betty"; Interview with Morgan Freeman; Interview with Charles Busch; Review of the album "Thelonius Monk September 8, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569070].

Description of show segment(s)

REV. : Guest film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'Nurse Betty.'INT. 1: Actor MORGAN FREEMAN. He's currently starring in the new film "Nurse Betty." He's one of stage and screen's most acclaimed actors, for his ability to emerse himself in different roles. He's originated the role of the chauffeur in the Broadway production of "Driving Miss Daisy." Later he revived the role in the movie version, for which he was nominated for an Academy Award. FREEMAN's other movies include, "Glory," "Clean and Sober," "Lean on Me," "The Bonfire of the Vanities," and "The Shawshank Redemption." FREEMAN made his directing debut with the film, "Bopha," based on a South African play. (REBROADCAST. Originally aired 9/20/93)INT. 2: Playwright, female impersonator, and novelist CHARLES BUSCH. His play, "Psycho Beach Party" has been made into a new film. His play, the camp classic, "Vampire Lesbians of Sodom," was the longest-running play in Off-Broadway history. His other plays include, "Red Scare on Sunset" and a show which parodied the variety shows of the 60s, "The Charles Busch Revue," in which he made seven costume changes in an hour and 15 minutes. BUSCH's also wrote a novel, "Whores of Lost Atlantis." (REBROADCAST from 7/29/93)REV. : Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Thelonious Monk: The Complete Prestige Recordings' (Prestige)

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Senator and former presidential candidate JOHN MCCAIN. His book, 'Faith of My Fathers: A Family Memoir' (Harper Perennial) is now out in paperback. He'll discuss his years as a POW, his bid for the presidency, and his endorsement of George W. Bush. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: JOHN MCCAIN continued.REV. : Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Blind Assassin' (Doubleday) the new novel by Margaret Atwood.

Interview with Mary Robinson; Review of Andreas School and David Daniels albums; Review of the film "Almost Famous." September 13, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569113].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: The United Nation's High Commissioner for Human rights, MARY ROBINSON, and former president of Ireland. She'll discuss the murders last week of three UN human rights workers in West Timor. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews recordings by two countertenors: a collection of religious music for solo voice by Vivaldi performed by German born ANDREAS SCHOLL (on Decca) and 'Serenade' (Virgin Classics) by American DAVID DANIELS.REV. : Guest film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new film 'Almost Famous.'

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Composer and lyricist STEPHEN SONDHEIM. He was mentored by Oscar Hammerstein, and went on to revolutionize musical theatre. His first major success was writing lyrics for 'West Side Story.' SONDHEIM wrote the lyrics for 'Gypsy.' He composed the music and wrote the lyrics for 'A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum,' 'Follies,' 'A Little Night Music,' 'Sweeney Todd,' 'Sunday in the park with George,' and 'Into the Woods.' In 1954 he wrote the musical 'Saturday Night' but it wasn't performed for 40 years. There's a new cast recording of it. INT. 2: Actor GREG KINNEAR (kin-EAR). He plays a soap opera star in the new film 'Nurse Betty.' KINNEAR's other films include 'As Good As It Gets' (for which he was nominated for an Academy Award) and 'Sabrina.' KINNEAR got his start as host and executive producer of 'Talk Soup' on E! Entertainment. Later he hosted his own late-night talk show, 'Later with Greg Kinnear.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)REV.

Interview with Burkhard Bilger; Interview with Whit Stillman; Interview with Christopher Guest. September 15, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569115].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Journalist BURKHARD BILGER. His new book about clandestine Southern traditions is 'Noodling For Flatheads: Moonshine, Monster Catfish, and Other Southern Comforts' (Scribner) His article "Enter the Chicken" which originally appeared in Harper's Magazine about cockfighting in Louisiana, is in the new book. (REBROADCAST from 3/9/99)INT. 2: WHIT STILLMAN is the writer, director and producer of the film "The Last Days of Disco which portrayed the disco scene in New York in late 1970's to the early 1980's. Stillman also wrote and directed the films "Metropolitan" and "Barcelona." His new book is a novel which follows the action of his disco film, 'The Last Days of Disco with Cocktails at Petrossian Afterwards' (Farrar, Straus & Giroux). (REBROADCAST from 6/11/98)REV. : The mock rock documentary 'This Is Spinal Tap' is being re-released in theatres and new special editions are being released on DVD and VHS. We feature interview with co-writer and co-star CHRISTOPHER GUEST. (INTERVIEW ARE REBROADCAST FROM 9/14/89)

Interview with Ben Stevenson; Interview with Lauren Anderson; Interview with Zahi Hawass; Review of Jane Stevenson's book "Several Deceptions." September 18, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569111].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Artistic director for the Houston Ballet, BEN STEVENSON. He's been with the ballet for over 25 years, turning it into a premiere dance company. The New York Times' dance critic said of STEVENSON, (he) 'is one of the most original figures in the development of regional ballet in America.' STEVENSON's own choreography for the Houston ballet include the full length works: 'Swan Lake,' 'Cinderella,' 'Peer Gynt,' 'Dracula,' and 'Cleopatra.' STEVENSON is a native of Britain. INT. 2: Principal dancer for the Houston Ballet, and the first African-American to be a principal dancer, LAUREN ANDERSON. She began studying at the ballet’s academy at the age of 7, and working with STEVENSON at the age of 11 when he was hired by the ballet. STEVENSON choreographed 'Cleopatra,' for her. INT. 3: Dr. Zahi Hawass (ZA-hee HA-WAAS), Director of excavations at the ancient cemetery at Bahariya Oasis, 200 miles outside Cairo. Known as 'the Valley of the Golden Mummies,' this area in Egypt has yielded over 100 mummies just in the last year. Hawass will talk about these recent archaeological discoveries. Hawass also lead the teams that discovered the tombs of the workmen who built the pyramids. His new book is called 'Valley of the Golden Mummies' (Harry N. Abrams Inc.) Hawass is currently a visiting professor at University of California at Los Angeles. REV. : Book Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Several Deceptions' by Jane Stevenson.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: JUDITH WALLERSTEIN ('steen') is an expert on the effects of divorce on children and is the co-author of the new book 'The Unexpected Legacy of Divorce' (Hyperion) which is based on a 25 year study following the lives of children whose parents had divorced. The book explores how the divorce of their parents decades ago continues to affect them into adulthood. She is also the founder of the Judith Wallerstein Center for the Family in Transition. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) INT. 2: DR. LYNN PONTON (PAHN-tin) is a psychiatrist who specializes in treating troubled teenagers and their parents. Her new book is 'The Sex Lives of Teenagers: Revealing The Secret World of Adolescent Boys and Girls' (Dutton). In the book, PONTON uses case studies to take a look at the role of sexuality in adolescent development, and the conflicting messages teenagers receive about sexuality. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)
Interview with Gary Sinise and Terry Kinney; Interview with Joan Allen and Laurie Metcalf. September 20, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973568850].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Chicago's Steppenwolf Theatre celebrates its 25th anniversary this year. The actor-driven theatre is known for its ensemble acting, and cutting-edge acting style. It's members include John Mahoney (Martin Crane on 'Frazier'), John Malkovich, Kevin Anderson and four actors whom we'll hear from: First, founding members GARY SINISE (films: 'Mission to Mars,' 'Apollo 13,' 'Of Mice and Men,' ) and TERRY KINNEY (a regular on HBO's 'Oz'). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF. OTHER STEPPENWOLF INTERVIEWS FOLLOW.)INT. 2: Actresses JOAN ALLEN (Pat Nixon in 'Nixon,' 'The Ice Storm,' 'Pleasantville' and the upcoming film 'The Contender') and LAURIE METCALF (a regular on TV's 'Norm', longtime co-star of 'Roseanne').

Interview with Marc Maron; Interview with Liz Smith. September 21, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569116].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Comedian MARC MARON (maah-run). His hit one man show in Manhattan, 'Jerusalem Syndrome,' is described as a 'poetically paranoid rant on corporate culture and the quest for spiritual fulfillment.' Maron has appeared on David Letterman, Conan O'Brien, and was the host of Comedy Central's 'Short Attention Span Theater.' He appears in Cameron Crowe's new film, 'Almost Famous.'INT. 2: Gossip columnist LIZ SMITH. She's just written a memoir called 'Natural Blonde' (Hyperion) about her dealings with the rich and famous throughout her career. SMITH boasts that she's the highest paid print journalist in the world. He bylined column has appeared daily since 1976 and is syndicated to millions of readers in over 70 newspapers. She was recently named a 'Living Landmark' by the Landmarks Conservancy of New York.
Interview with Isabella Rossellini; Interview with Mercedes McCambridge; Review of the film "The Exorcist"; Commentary on television coverage of the Olympics. September 22, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973568849].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actress and model ISABELLA ROSSELLINI talks about her famous parents, actress Ingrid Bergman and filmmaker Roberto Rossellini, and her own career. She stars in the new film 'Left Luggage' with Maximillian Schell. It opens this weekend. She has acted in numerous T-V shows, and her film credits include "Blue Velvet," 'The Impostors,' and 'Big Night.' She is also the spokesmodel for Lancome cosmetics. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (6/12/97)INT. 2: Actress MERCEDES MCCAMBRIDGE, who chilled audiences in the 1970's as the voice of the Devil in "The Exorcist". She won an Academy Award for her first film role -- in 1949 for "All the King's Men". She also starred with Joan Crawford in Nicholas Ray's western, 'Johnny Guitar.' (3/18/94)REV: Film critic Henry Sheehan has a review of the re-release of the horror classic 'The Exorcist.' Some new scenes have been added.REV: T-V critic David Bianculli takes a look at this year's Olympic coverage.

---

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Novelist DAVID LEAVITT. His new book is 'Martin Bauman; or, A Sure Thing.' (Houghton Mifflin) It is a look at the Manhattan publishing scene as viewed through the eyes of 19-year-old Martin Bauman. Leavitt's own first book, 'Family Dancing,' was published when he was just 23. Leavitt's other books include 'The Lost Language of Cranes,' 'Equal Affections,' and 'While England Sleeps.'INT. 2: Israeli poet Yehuda Amichai (ya-HOO-da AH-muh-kye, rhymes with pie) died Friday at the age of 76, and we feature a 1991 interview from the archives. Amichai was a celebrated poet whose subjects were love and loss, and more recently, aging and mortality. The New York Times wrote that he had a 'gift for poeticizing the particular: the localized object or image in everyday life.' (originally aired 2/27/91)
Interview with F.X. Toole; Interview with Michael A. Bellesiles; Commentary on Napster.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer F.X. Toole. At age 70, he's just published his first book. It's a collection of short stories about boxing called 'Rope Burns: Stories from the Corner.' (ECCO/HarperCollins) For twenty years, he's been a cut man, stopping the bleeding so fighters can go on to the next round. Toole has been writing for 40 years, but it was the publication of his first story last year in a small literary magazine that caught the attention of a book agent. Writers James Ellroy and Joyce Carol Oates have praised this book, the former calling it 'the best boxing fiction ever written.' Others have compared his literary style to Frank McCourt's. Toole worked as a cabbie, bartender and bullfighter before entering the world of boxing.INT. 2: Professor MICHAEL A. BELLESILES ('bell-EEL') on the history of gun culture in America. His new book, 'Arming America: The Origins of a National Gun Culture' (Knopf) looks at our country's obsession with guns. Historically, he says it began around the civil war. Before that, there was virtually no access to firearms. His research refutes the conventional lore that Colonial families were armed, and that the gun was the symbol of the frontier. Bellesiles is a Colonial historian at Emory University, and the Director of Emory's Center for the Study of Violence.REV. 1: Music critic MILO MILES gives us his take on Napster, the online music community that allows users to download entire songs free of charge.

Interview with Michael Wladman; Commentary on the idea of community; Interview with Andre Schiffrin; Review of the Queens of the Stone Ages's album "R." September 27, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569170].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Former presidential speechwriter MICHAEL WALDMAN. His new book is called 'POTUS Speaks: Finding the Words that Defined the Clinton Presidency.' (Simon and Schuster) From 1993 to 1999, Waldman was a special assistant and then chief speechwriter to Bill Clinton. During that time, he worked closely with the president to write or edit nearly two thousand speeches, including four State of the Union addresses and two inaugural addresses. Previously a public-interest lawyer and writer, Waldman is the author of 'Who Robbed America? A Citizen's Guide to the S&L Scandal.' Since leaving the White House, he has taught at the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University.REV 1: Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG has a commentary on the idea of community. A controversial recent book by Harvard political scientist Robert Putnam argues that community participation is in sharp decline in American life, but Nunberg says the word 'community' is being used more frequently than ever.

INT.

2: Publisher ANDRE SCHIFFRIN, director of The New Press, and former head of Pantheon books, talks about the New York publishing world from the business side. He's just written 'The Business of Books,' (Verso) described as part memoir, part history of contemporary publishing.

REV.

2: Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews a new CD by Queens of the Stone Age. It's called 'R,' as in the movie ratings code for 'Restricted.' The band is currently on tour as part of OZZfest.

---

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Washington Post reporter PETER BAKER. He's the journalist who co-wrote the story breaking the news about Monica Lewinsky, and he's just written a book about that episode of the Clinton presidency, called 'The Breach: Inside the Impeachment and Trial of William Jefferson Clinton.' (Scribner) He writes, 'For all the titillation about thongs and cigars, the story? was not so much about sex as it was about power.' (This interview continues in the second half of the show.)

REV. 1: Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews Dogmental (GM label), the new CD by the Andy Biskin Quintet.

REV. 2: Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews The Island of Lost Maps: A true Story of Cartographic Crime (Random House) by Miles Harvey.

---

Interview with Carole Levine; Interview with Chris Strachwitz; Commentary on jug band music; Review of the film "Dancer in the Dark." September 29, 2000. Link to record with audio file.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Director of the United Hospital Fund's Project on Family Caregiving in an Age of Change, CAROLE LEVINE (Leh-VEEN). She brings her professional and personal life to bear on her work with the project. Since 1990, when her husband was critically injured in an automobile accident, she has been his caregiver. LEVINE new book which came out this week is called, Always on Call: When Illness Turns
Families into Caregivers. LEVINE is also the founder and executive director of The Orphan Project: Families and Children in the HIV Epidemic. She was also awarded a MacArthur Foundation Fellowship for her work in AIDS policy and ethics. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 12/07/99).INT. 2: Record producer and folklorist CHRIS STRACHWITZ (rhymes with "crock-witz"). In 1960, Strachwitz started Arhoolie records as a leading outlet for many types of music that were disappearing or outside the mainstream. Today, the label has hundreds of titles, featuring blues, cajun, country and bluegrass, Tex-Mex, and many other styles. Strachwitz has just received a NEA National Heritage Fellowship Award, the nation's highest honor in the folk and traditional arts. Strachwicz also has a new CD anthology of his Arhoolies recordings. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 2/22/90)

REV. : Rock Historian ED WARD introduces us to jug band music, popular in the 1920s and 30s.

REV. : Film Critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the Dancer in the Dark, the new film directed and written by Lars von Trier.

Interview with Mary Karr; Review of new television programs. October 2, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569169].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Poet and memoirist MARY KARR. Author of the best selling Liar's Club, she has just published a new book chronicling her teen age years entitled 'Cherry' (Penguin Putnam, 2000). In a follow up to what critics call 'a hard scrabble childhood,' she returns to East Texas to detail her adolescence. Karr relates anecdotes of rebellion, self doubt and sexual coming of age. The recipient of several literary awards such as the Pushcart Prize and the Bunting Award, she has published two volumes of poetry. She is the Peck Professor of English Literature at Syracuse University. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)INT. 2: MARY KARR CONTINUES.REV. : TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI takes a look at the new season.

Interview with Armistead Maupin; Review of Kazu Ishiguro's novel "When We Were Orphans." October 3, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569175].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Writer ARMISTEAD MAUPIN, creator of the award winning newspaper serial turned TV series 'Tales of the City'. Maupin's new book 'The Night Listener' (Harper Collins, 2000) is his first novel in eight years. It examines the relationship that grows between a cult writer and one of his younger radio fans; critics have noted the autobiographical subtext to the story. Maupin won the 1998 Peabody Award for his work in television and has written several novels and two collections of essays. He lives in San Francisco. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF)

INT. 2: ARMISTEAD MAUPIN CONTINUES.

REV.: Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the novel 'When We Were Orphans' (Knopf) by Kazu Ishiguro.

---

Interview with Alan Schroeder; Review of Branford Marsalis's album "Contemporary Jazz."

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Political Analyst ALAN SCHROEDER. His new book 'Presidential Debates: Forty Years of High Risk TV,' (Columbia University Press, 2000) examines the history of the televised presidential debate. Drawing from his experience as a print journalist and TV producer, he details the decisions that influence every aspect of the event: the color of the backdrop curtain to the camera angles chosen. He also looks at the results of past debates, discussing strategies for political effectiveness. He is an Associate Professor of Journalism at Northeastern University. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO SECOND HALF)

INT. 2: ALAN SCHROEDER CONTINUES.

REV.: Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews Contemporary Jazz, a new CD from saxophonist Branford Marsalis (Columbia Records).

---

Interview with Dave and Mase; Review of Muddy Waters' album "Rollin' Stone October 5, 2000.

[Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569173].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Hip Hop Artists DE LA SOUL. Formed in 1985, De La Soul released their latest record 'Art Official Intelligence' (Tommy Boy) this August. Dubbed 'the hippies of hip hop', De La Soul continue to pen songs without gangsta rap influence, focusing instead on the use of samples, jazz vamps, and wordplay. Consisting of Posdnus, Trugoy the Dove, and Pasemaster Mace, the male trio began recording at the same time as Queen Latifah, Monie Love, and A Tribe Called Quest. De La Soul hails from Long Island, New York. (INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO SECOND HALF). INT. 2: DE LA Interview with Mike Hodges; Interview with Michael Caine; Interview with John Spencer. October 6, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569166].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Filmmaker MIKE HODGES. His debut work, the 1971 'Get Carter,' was hailed as the greatest British thriller ever. It starred Michael Caine. A new remake of 'Get Carter' is out in theatres, starring Sylvester Stallone, with an appearance by Caine. HODGES also directed the recent film 'Croupier.' (REBROADCAST from 5/16/2000)Actor MICHAEL CAINE. He's made over 70 films, including 'Get Carter.' (REBROADCAST from 11/17/92)INT. 2: Actor JOHN SPENCER. He plays Leo McGarry, the Chief of Staff to the President in the tv series "The West Wing." The show won the coveted Peabody Award in its first season. This week it began it's second season. The show is set in the Whitehouse, and concerning a fictional democratic President and his staff. In the first season of the show, SPENCER'S character has had to deal with his former alcoholism becoming a matter of public scrutiny. SPENCER previously was a regular on "L.A. Law" and began his career on "The Patty Duke Show." (REBROADCAST from 4/5/2000) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW). REV. : JOHN SPENCER CONTINUED.

Interview with Joel Schumacher. October 9, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569171].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Film director JOEL SCHUMACHER. His films include 'St. Elmo's Fire,' 'The Client,' 'A Time to Kill,' and 'Batman Forever.' SCHUMACHER's new film is 'Tigerland' about a group of army recruits in training who are about to be shipped off to Vietnam. The film was made on a low budget in 28 days, on sixteen millimeter film and mostly with hand-held cameras. In making the film SCHUMACHER was inspired by the Dogma 95 movement by Danish film director Lars von Trier. The movement rejects Hollywood artifice, abandoning the use of elaborate lighting, special effects and music. (THIS

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Novelist STEPHEN KING. Last year, the prolific and popular horror writer experienced something that could have come out of one of his books: he was struck by a car while walking along a rural road in Maine and nearly killed. Six operations and a long recovery followed. Five weeks after the accident KING started writing again, and published over the internet only, the novella, 'The Plant.' His new book is 'On Writing: A Memoir of the Craft' (Scribner). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: Novelist STEPHEN KING continued.REV. : Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews 'The Music of Samuel Barber' (Vanguard)

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Journalist and novelist GEORGE PACKER. PACKER grew up in a family with a very strong liberal tradition; his grandfather was a populist congressman from Alabama in the early part of the century. His father was a Jewish Kennedy-era liberal who was a professor at Stanford. His new book, the Blood of the Liberals (Farrar, Straus and Giroux), is a memoir about his family's liberalism and Packer's own coming to terms with it. He looks at the history of liberalism in America, and the clashes it caused in his own family. PACKER'S other books include The Half Man, Central Square, and The Village of Waiting. His articles and essays have appeared in Harper's, Dissent, Double Take, and The New York Times. INT. 2: Jazz guitarist RUSSELL MALONE. The 35-year-old self-taught guitarist is widely acknowledged as one of the most versatile and complete jazz guitarists of his generation. MALONE has played with a diverse group of artists including vocalist/pianist Diana Krall, Harry Connick Jr., Clarence Carter, Little Anthony and Bucky Pizzarelli. He also fronts his own band. His new CD is called Look Who's Here (Verve). REV. : Jazz guitarist RUSSELL MALONE.

Interview with Timothy Wright and Richard Wright; Interview with Nicholas Kristof and Sheryl WuDunn. October 12, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569258].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: AIDS researcher TIMOTHY WRIGHT and his brother, criminologist RICHARD WRIGHT. In 1995, TIMOTHY WRIGHT was in Bolivia conducting AIDS related research. Then during Mardi Gras festivities, WRIGHT was assaulted, robbed, and suffered a severe brain injury. In the years since, his brother, RICHARD helped TIMOTHY in his recovery. We talk to both brothers about TIMOTHY'S injury and dramatic recovery. The story of TIMOTHY’S recuperation is chronicled in a book written by Helene Wright, TIMOTHY AND RICHARD'S mother. Its called Someone Stole Yesterday (Providence House Publishers). Also, TIMOTHY and RICHARD WRIGHT have written on AIDS and Bolivia. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) int. 2 National Correspondent for The New York Times, NICHOLAS KRISTOF and Times Foreign Correspondent SHERYL WUDUNN. The two won a Pulitzer prize for their coverage of the Tiananmen Square. They've collaborated on the new book, 'Thunder from the East: Portrait of a Rising Asia' (Knopf)

Interview with Joe Torre; Review of the film "Dr. T and the Women"; Interview with Jim DeRogatis; Review of Radiohead's album "Kid A." October 13, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569161].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: The Manager of the New York Yankees, JOE TORRE. We revisit our conversation with Torre as the Yankees enter the third game of the American League Championship Series, in their pursuit of the 2000 World Series title. TORRE is the author of the book, "Joe Torre's Ground Rules for Winners: 12 Keys to managing Team Players, Tough Bosses, Setbacks, and Success" (Hyperion). (Original broadcast: November 30, 1999)Rev.: Film Critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new film 'Dr. T and the Women'.INT.2: JIM DeROGATIS ("Day-ro-GOT-is") is the author of "Let it Blurt: The Life & Times of

REV. : Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Kid A' the new CD by the band Radiohead.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Church leader and gospel singer REVEREND AL GREEN. He's just published a new biography called 'Down by the River' (Harper Entertainment) detailing the trip from R&B stardom to Reverend. Presiding over his own Pentecostal church in Memphis for the last 20 years, Green recently returned to the recording studio to record a set of gospel songs. A popular culture icon, he's had cameo roles in movies and TV shows. He lives in Memphis, Tenn. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). INT. 2: AL GREEN continued.REV. : Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Warning' the new CD by the contemporary punk band Green Day.

Interview with Dion; Commentary on presidential debates. October 17, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569165].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Singer Songwriter DION. He's just released a new record of doo-wop tunes 'Deja Nu' (Collectables 2000). In the late 1950s, Dion and his band the Belmonts topped the chart with several pop hits, earning him the status of 'teen idol'. Dion split amicably with the band in 1960 and continued to write Top 10 hits until the British Invasion changed the pop preference. Now, in his 50s, he continues to produce, write and sing new material. He lives in Boca Raton, Florida. INT. 2: interview with DION continues.REV. : Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG has some advice for Gore and Bush as they head into their third and final debate.
Interview with Danny Rubinstein October 18, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569162].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: A talk about the Israeli/Palestinian crisis, and the history leading up to it with two journalists: first, DANNY RUBINSTEIN ('steen'), columnist and member of the editorial board of the Israeli newspaper Ha'aretz. We talk with a Jordanian journalist in the second half of the show.INT. 2: Journalist RAMI KHOURI (Rah-me Core-ee) syndicated columnist and former editor of the Jordan Times. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)REV. : RAMI KHOURI continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: The host of NPR's Weekend Edition Saturday, SCOTT SIMON. He's written a new memoir, "Home & Away: Memoir of a Fan" (Hyperion).INT. 2: SCOTT SIMON continued INTV. We remember dancer GWEN VERDON. She died today at the age of 75. She became an overnight Broadway sensation in 1953 as a dancer in Can Can, for which she won her first Tony Award. Later she created her most memorable roles in Bob Fosse's "Damn Yankees" as the seductress Lola, "Sweet Charity" as the taxi dancer Charity, and "Chicago" as the chorus girl Roxie. VERDON was also Fosse's third wife. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST from 5/5/93)

Interview with Dave Frishberg; Interview with Bob Dorough; Interview with Kevin Spacey; Review of the film "Pay it Forward." October 20, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569259].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Jazz Musicians BOB DOROUGH and DAVE FRISHBERG. They just released their new album 'Who's on First?' (Blue Note Records). After more than 35 years of friendship and songwriting collaboration, this is their first album together, recorded live one night at the Jazz Bakery in Los Angeles. An interview with DAVE FRISHBERG is rebroadcast during the first half of the show. A Grammy nominee in 1998, Frishberg is noted for his music which draws its inspiration from jazz classics but whose lyrics are quirky modern originals about neurosis, and the oddities of contemporary life. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST MAY 22, 1998). In the second half, we speak to Bob Dorough. INT. 2: Jazz Musician BOB DOROUGH. He was the musical director of the 1970s educational TV series, "School House Rock" and composer of the popular song "Three is a magic number". (ORIGINAL BROADCAST MAY 9, 1996). Intv.: Actor KEVIN SPACEY. He won an Academy Award for best actor in the film 'American Beauty.' He's starring in the new film 'Pay it Forward' with Helen Hunt. (REBROADCAST from 5/31/91)REV. : Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'Pay it Forward.'

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Comedian and actor TIM MEADOWS. MEADOWS was a regular on TV's Saturday Night Live for some 9 years. Leon the Ladies Man, a swingin' politically incorrect radio love doctor that he played on the show, is now featured in the new film 'The Ladies Man.' MEADOW recently left SNL to co-star in the new comedy 'The Michael Richards show' which premieres Tuesday, October 24th. INT. 2: Journalist ROBERT SULLIVAN. His first book, 'The Meadowlands' (now in paperback) an urban adventure in the wilds of the marshy dumping area between New Jersey and New York was praised for its wit, imagination and intelligence. His new book 'A Whale Hunt' (Scribner) chronicles the two years he spent watching the Makah Indian tribe in Washington state as they prepared for and attempted their first whale hunt in over 70 years. But they didn't do it alone: they were surrounded by angry protestors and hounded by the press. REV. : TV Critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the season premiere of 'Ally Mc Beal' and the premiere of the new show, Boston Commons. Both shows air on FOX and both were created by David E. Kelley.
Interview with Lee Kuan Yew; Interview with Stan Sesser. October 24, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569163].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Singapore's first prime minister and its current senior minister-- LEE KUAN YEW. A very controversial figure, LEE KUAN YEW formed the People's Action Party, and won the first Singapore general election in 1959. Since it was granted independence in 1965, Singapore has gone from British colony to Asian economic powerhouse. Yet, its government is often criticized for being too authoritarian and weak on civil liberties. LEE KUAN YEW will talk about his country's economic success, as well as the criticism about his government's treatment of its citizens. His new book is called From Third World to First (Harper Collins).INT. 2: LEE KUAN YEW continued.REV. : Journalist STAN SESSER. He covers the Pacific Rim for The New Yorker. His articles have appeared in the New Yorker, the New Republic and Mother Jones. SESSER has written extensively about Singapore and LEE KUAN YEW.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Journalist ELAINE SCIOLINO (shi-LEAN-o). She covered Iran for some 20 years for Newsweek and the New York Times. Her new book 'Persian Mirrors: The Elusive Face of Iran' (Free Press) was just released last month. It illustrates the culture of Iran: its press, its movie industry, its restaurants and homes. She speaks today on Iran's political position during the Middle East crisis. She is a Senior Writer at the Washington bureau for the New York Times. She lives in Washington, D.C.INT. 2: Historian JULES TYGIEL (TIE-gell). He gained recognition and critical acclaim for his first book on baseball history 'Baseball's Great Experiment: Jackie Robinson and His Legacy'. Now in his newly released sequel 'Past Time: Baseball as History' (Oxford University Press), he examines the relationship between baseball and American society over the past 150 years. He gives his thoughts on baseball history and this year's World Series. He is a Professor of History at San Francisco State University.REV. : Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Evelyn Waugh: The Complete Short Stories' (Back Bay Books).
Interview with Daoud Kuttab; Interview with David Horovitz; Interview with Hanan Ashrawi; Interview with Uri Savir. October 26, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569081].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Palestinian journalist DAoud KUTTAB ('dah-ood koo-TAHB') is the Director at the Institute of Modern Media at Al-Quds University in Jerusalem. He was the managing editor of Al-Fajr English weekly. He is the recipient of the Press Freedom Award from the Committee to Protect Journalists, and the PEN USA West Freedom to Write Award. INT. 2: Israeli journalist DAVID HOROVITZ is the editor of Jerusalem Report, has just released a new book 'A Little Too Close to God' (Knopf). It chronicles the last 20 years he's spent living in Israel. It also examines the ramifications of the country's history on its culture. He was the recipient of the B'nai B'nai International Award for journalism in 1994.INT.. 3 Palestinian peace negotiator HANAN ASHRAWI ('hahn-NAHN hah-SHROW-ee'). She is a member of the advisory board for the Council on Foreign Relations, the World Bank Middle East and Africa Regions and the UN Research Institute for Social Development. Ashrawi is the author of several publications supporting an independent and self-governing Palestine. INT. 4 : Israeli peace negotiator URI SAVIR ('OO-ree sah-VEER'). He is the Director General at the Peres Center for Peace. A member of the Knesset, he was Chief Israeli Negotiator at the Oslo Peace Accord.

Description of show segment(s)

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Former theater critic FRANK RICH. He's just published his memoir 'Ghost Light,' (Random House). In it he examines the influence of his childhood on his adult career: his parents' divorce and an early curiosity for theater. He was chief drama critic for the New York Times from 1980-1983 and has been an op-ed columnist for that paper since 1994. He lives in New York City.REV. Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews original cast albums of Broadway musicals that have just been reissued. They include 'Finian's Rainbow,' 'The Pajama Game,' 'Bye Bye Birdie,' and 'Kismi' (all on Sony) and 'Guys and Dolls' (on Decca).INTV. Producer-director HAROLD PRINCE. He's the producer of '3hree', three one-act musicals which opened last week in Philadelphia. And he directs one of the three musicals 'The Flight of the Lawnchair Man'. In the 46 years of his career, he's won 20 Tony Awards in music theater, as well as acclaim for his work in film, drama and opera. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Satirist AL FRANKEN. For 15 years he was a cast member of Saturday Night Live, creating such well-loved characters as Stuart Smalley (author of "I'm Good Enough, I'm Smart Enough, and Doggone It, People Like Me!"). His bestselling satire, "Why Not Me: The Inside Story of the Making and Unmaking of the Franken Presidency" is now in paperback (Delta). He's also coordinating producer of this Sunday's 'SNL Presidential Bash 2000.'INT. 2: Former standup comic and creator and current host of ABC's 'Politically Incorrect,' BILL MAHER. On his late-night talk show, MAHER invites celebrity guests from all parts of the political spectrum to discuss politics and the issues of the day. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).REV. : BILL MAHER continued.
Interview with Karen Armstrong; Interview with Christopher Buckley; Commentary on Steve Allen. November 1, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569083].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Religion scholar KAREN ARMSTRONG. She's the author of the bestselling books 'The Battle for God,' 'Jerusalem,' and 'The History of God.' She'll discuss the religious history of the Middle East, and the significance of the region to the people there. She's also written 'Islam: A Short History' (Modern Library Chronicles). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).INT. 2: CHRISTOPHER BUCKLEY was George Bush Sr.'s speechwriter from 1981-1983 when Bush served as Vice President. The son of William F. Buckley, he is the author of the political satire, "Thank you for Smoking" which poked fun at everything and everyone associated with the tobacco industry- from anti-smoking advocates to tobacco company executives. BUCKLEY is the editor of Forbes' FYI Magazine. He'll discuss the presidential campaign from the perspective of a Bush supporter. REV. : TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI remembers Steve Allen who died Monday at the age of 78.

Interview with Alan Cumming; Review of Carla Bley's album "4x4." November 2, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569085].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Scottish actor ALAN CUMMING. He's co-starring in the new film 'Urbania,' a contemporary film noir. His previous film appearances include, 'Get Carter,' 'Eyes Wide Shut,' and 'Emma.' He also starred in the recent revival of Cabaret.(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).REV. : Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews '4x4' (WATT/ECM) the latest CD by pianist and composer Carla Bley.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Film editor and sound designer WALTER MURCH. He has re-edited Orson Well's 1958 film "Touch of Evil." At the time of the film's initial release the studio remixed the film to Well's displeasure. He fired off a letter with suggested changes. With those notes as their guide, MURCH and re-edit producer Rick Schmidlin have reconstructed the film to Well's intentions. Some of the other films he's edited and/or mixed are "The Conversation," "American Graffiti," "Apocalypse Now," "The Godfather (II, and III)" and "The English Patient." He's also written a book about his work, "In the Blink of An Eye: A Perspective on Film Editing." (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 9/8/98) THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.REV. : MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'One market Under God' by Thomas Frank.INT. 2: ROBERT MOOG (pronounced with long "O") is the inventor of the Moog synthesizer, an electronic keyboard which makes unworldly sounding electronic music. He invented it in 1965. MOOG didn't invent, but he does manufacture the Theremin, the first electronic instrument. It was invented 70 years ago by a Russian, i been used on many science-fiction films because of It's eerie, wavering tones. MOOG wrote the forward for the new book 'Theremin: Ether Music and Espionage' (University of Illinois Press)., by Albert Glinsky. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST 2/28/2000)REV. : TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'Charlie's Angels' the new film based on the popular 70s tv show.

Interview with Anna Deveare Smith; Interview with Julia Query. November 6, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569082].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Actress and playwright ANNA DEVEARE SMITH. She's best known for her one-woman plays based on hundreds of interviews she did with diverse people who experienced a crisis in their community. They include 'Twilight: Los Angeles, 1992' about the Rodney King verdict, and 'Fires in the Mirror' about the Crown Heights disturbances. Her most recent show 'House Arrest' took her to Washington D.C to interview politicians and pundits, and it involves a community not in crisis. DEVEARE SMITH has also written a new memoir, 'Talk to Me: Listening Between the Lines' (Random House).INT. 2: Writer, director and exotic dancer JULIA QUERY. Her new documentary is 'Live Nude Girls, Unite!' about a group of strippers in San Francisco who fight to start a union. Now they have the only union of exotic dancers in the U.S. The women decided unite when they realized they were being illegally filmed by customers in special one-way mirrors. Using a consumer grade Hi8 camera, first time director QUERY filmed the actions of the workers. She is also a performance artist and stand-up comic, who started dancing as a way to pay the bills. REV. : JULIA QUERY continued.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: CURTIS GANS an expert on voter turnout and participation, and the director of the Committee for the Study of the American Electorate, a non-partisan group which analyzes the habits of voters. GANS supports the electoral process. AKHIL AMAR is Southmayd Chair of Constitutional Law at Yale Law School. He would like to see the electoral college system abolished. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)INTV.: ROB RICHIE, Executive Director of the Center for Voting and Democracy. He'll discuss non-traditional voting-- such as early voting which is now an option in 13 states. Many states have made it easier to get absentee ballots, and more people than ever are using that option.. In Oregon, all the ballots this year are mail-in.

Interview with Dana Milbank; Interview with Harry Shearer; Interview with Wendy Warren. November 8, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569252].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Journalist DANA MILBANK. A senior writer for the Washington Post, he covered the presidential election for that paper. He talks about the outcome of the presidential election and recounts the pivotal moments in the parties' campaigns. INT. 2: Satirist HARRY SHEARER. He's the host of NPR's Le Show. He's also the author of "It's the Stupidity, Stupid: Why (Some) People hate Clinton and Why the Rest of Us Have to Watch." (The Library of Contemporary Thought, The Ballintine Publishing Group) which came out earlier this year. Today he speaks on the outcome of the presidential election.

Interview with S.V. Date; Interview with Don Foster; Review of the coverage of the 2000 presidential election. November 9, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569251].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: Journalist S.V. DATE ('DAW-tay') is based in Florida where he is Tallahassee bureau chief for The Palm Beach Post. He'll discuss the recount in Florida for the Presidential election. DATE is also the author of the new novel 'Smokeout' (Putnam)INT. 2: Literary forensics expert DON FOSTER. Named the first literary detective of all time, he uncovered the identity of Joe Klein as the Anonymous writer of 1996's 'Primary Colors'. His new book is 'Author Unknown: On the Trail of Anonymous' (Henry Holt, Inc.) which details the techniques he uses to identify writers behind anonymous books and documents. He teaches English at Vassar College.REV. : TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the election night coverage.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: World War Two combat veteran ROBERT KOTLOWITZ has written about his experiences in "Before Their Time: A Memoir" (Hardcover released in 1997, re-printed in 1999 on Anchor Books). KOTLOWITZ was part of a platoon that was ordered to charge the German front, an order that killed all but 3 men. His previous books included: The Boardwalk, His Master's Voice, Sea Changes, and Somewhere Else. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 7/27/99)INT. 2: Former fighter pilots ED MECHENBIER (Mac-in-BYER) and RON BLISS. During the Vietnam War they were both shot down, and became POWs in Hanoi. They are featured in the 1999 documentary "Return with Honor." The film was made by Freida Lee Mock and Terry Sanders, the team that made the Oscar winning film, "Maya Lin: A Strong Clear Vision.' (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 7/26/00) REV. : Film Critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new film 'Men of Honor,' starring Robert De Niro and Cuba Gooding, Jr.

Interview with Steve Erlanger; Interview with Lloyd Doyle; Obituary for Lea Rabin. November 13, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569097].

Description of show segment(s)

(1) New York Times reporter and Prague Bureau Chief STEVE ERLANGER. He'll talk to us about Serbia after the elections that ended the rule of Milosevic. And he'll talk about the new president, Vojislav Kostunica. ERLANGER will report to us from Belgrade. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2) A look at the U.S. elections from abroad. Foreign editor LLOYD DOYLE of the British paper the Independent tells us what people outside the United States think about the current controversy. (3) We remember LEA RABIN, the widow of assassinated Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin. She died on Sunday at the age of 72. She had cancer. (REBROADCAST from 4/9/97)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer VERNOR VINGE. The author of 16 books of science fiction, he gained a cult following for his early role in writing about cyber-culture and the Internet. His new book 'Across Realtime,' (Orion Audio) came out earlier this year. He talks about the difficulty of writing science fiction when technology out dates itself as rapidly as it does. He teaches computer science at San Diego State. (2.) Actor STEVE BUSCEMI. He directed and produced his newest movie 'Animal Factory,' a prison drama starring Wilhelm Defoe and Edward Furlong. He made his directorial debut with 'Tree's Lounge' in 1996. He's acted in over 60 movies in the past twenty years; winning praise for roles in cult favorites like Reservoir Dogs, Pulp Fiction and Fargo. (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG talks about a new kind of literacy test revealed by the Palm Beach County Ballot controversy.

Description of show segment(s)

Attorney CASS SUNSTEIN (SUN-steen). He's considered by many to be one of the nation's authorities when it comes to interpreting the U.S. Constitution. He's the author of 'One Case at a Time: Judicial Minimalism on the Supreme Court,' (Harvard University Press) which came out last year. Today, he explains the legal aspects of the election controversy in Florida. He teaches at the University of Chicago.

Interview with Frank Stella; Interview with Peter Kornbluh. November 16, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973568485].

Description of show segment(s)

Abstract painter FRANK STELLA. The 64 year old artist was first well known in the late 1950s for his Black Paintings series - striped monochrome works that helped touch off the minimalism movement. Over the years his work evolved from the canvas to colorful geometrical configurations of sculpture and architectural dimension. Some of his recent work is being shown at the Lock Gallery in Philadelphia, through November 25th. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)

2.) Senior analyst at the National Security Archive, PETER KORNBLUH. Recently the CIA released thousands of secret U.S. documents about their role in the overthrow of the Allende government in Chile in 1973. KORNBLUH led the effort to get the documents declassified. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)

Interview with Glenn Close; Review of Youssou N'Dour's album "Joko"; Interview with Ray Bradbury; Review of the film "You Can Count on Me." November 17, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569250].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress GLENN CLOSE. In her new movie, '102 Dalmatians,' the sequel to 1996's '101 Dalmatians,' she resumes her role as Cruella DeVille. She has appeared both on Broadway and in film. Some of her movie credits include "Fatal Attraction," "The Big Chill," "The Natural," and "Dangerous
Liaisons." (REBROADCAST: 11/27/96). (2.) World music critic Milo Miles reviews Senegalese Youssou N'Dour's new CD, 'Joko.' (Nonesuch Records) (3.) Writer RAY BRADBURY. He's just been awarded the Medal for Distinguished Contribution to American Letters by the National Book Foundation. He is the author of over twenty-three books, including 'I Sing the Body Electric,' 'The Martian Chronicles' and 'Fahrenheit 451,' all classics of science fiction. Bradbury created the scenario for the U.S. Pavilion at the 1964 New York World's Fair, and the concept for Spaceship Earth at EPCOT at Disney World. In the early 60s, he wrote screenplays for the television programs "The Twilight Zone" and "Alfred Hitchcock Presents." He lives in Los Angeles, California. (REBROADCAST: 8/17/88)(4.) Film Critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new independent film, 'You Can Count on Me,' starring Laura Linney.DECEMBER 4-8, 2000

Interview with Robert Pastor; Interview with Lloyd Schwartz; Review of Iris Murdoch's and Jack Kerouac's books "Something Special" and "Orpheus Emerged." November 20, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569237].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Political scientist ROBERT PASTOR, Ph.D. joins us to talk about possible election reforms in the American system after this presidential vote. PASTOR is a professor of Political Science at Emory University, and in his former role as a Carter Center Fellow, he helped create international election monitoring teams. He has monitored 20 foreign elections. PASTOR is the author of 10 books on subjects such as U-S foreign policy, international trade and democratization.(2.) Our classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ joins us to talk about his new book of poems, 'Cairo Traffic.' (University of Chicago Press) Lloyd is professor of English at the University of Massachusetts Boston and writes about classical music for the Boston Phoenix. In 1994, he was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for Criticism.(3.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'Something Special' by Iris Murdoch and 'Orpheus Emerged' by Jack Kerouac.
Interview with Dede Allen; Interview with Andy Biskin; Review of P.J. Harvey's album "Stories from the City, Stories from the Sea." November 21, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569236].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film editor DEDE ALLEN. She edited such films as The Hustler, Bonnie And Clyde, Serpico, Dog Day Afternoon, and The Wonder Boys, which has just been re-released. Her Hollywood career began in the 1940's as an apprentice editor. Today she's arguably the highest paid and one of the top five film editors in the business. Allen's been nominated twice for Academy awards.(2.) Jazz clarinetist ANDY BISKIN. His latest CD is 'Dogmental,' (GM Recordings) by the Andy Biskin Quintet. Biskin is also a composer. He grew up in San Antonio, Texas and is now based in Manhattan.(3.) Rock critic Ken Tucker reviewed PJ Harvey's new CD: 'Stories from the City, Stories from the Sea.'

Interview with Jerry Butler; Review of the films "102 Dalmatians" and "Unbreakable." November 22, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973568997].

Description of show segment(s)

Singer JERRY BUTLER, aka The Iceman. His 1969 hit, 'Only the Strong Survive,' is a rhythm and blues classic, and also the title of his new autobiography: 'Only the Strong Survive: Memoirs of a Soul Survivor' (Indiana University Press) Butler founded the vocal group The Impressions as well as having a successful solo career. His awareness of civil rights led him to politics, and he is serving his fourth term on the Cook County Board of Commissioners in Chicago. The book was written with Earl Smith, Butler's brother-in-law and a journalist. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews two holiday movies: '102 Dalmatians' and 'Unbreakable.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We feature a tribute to Hoagy Carmichael, originally part of our American Popular Song series. CARMICHAEL wrote "Star Dust," "Heart and Soul," "The Nearness of You," "Skylark" and many more.
We feature performances by singer REBECCA KILGORE and pianist DAVE FRISHBERG. We'll also talk with RICHARD SUDHALTER, who has written a forthcoming biography of Carmichael. And we talk with Carmichael's son, Hoagy Bix Carmichael who now manages his father's music catalogue. (THIS TRIBUTE CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW). (ORIGINALLY AIRED 11/22/99)

Description of show segment(s)

It's the 50th anniversary of the Broadway opening of 'Guys and Dolls.' We feature two interviews about the hit show. First, behind the scenes during the golden age of the Broadway musical: SUSAN LOESSER (pronounced "lesser"), daughter of Frank Loesser, who wrote the score for 'Guys and Dolls.' He also composed the classic songs "Heart and Soul" and "Baby It's Cold Outside." LOESSER's 1993 memoir of her father is "A Most Happy Fella." (Originally Aired 6/18/93) When Frank Loesser wrote his shows, he made demo recordings to demonstrate to the cast what the songs should sound like. Our second guest, music archivist JOSEPH WEISS, discovered those demos years later. He was the copyright manager of Paul McCartney's publishing company, which acquired Loesser's publishing company in 1979. Along with the acquisition came hundreds of unindexed tapes. In 1992 Weiss produced a CD of the demos. (Originally aired 12/4/92)Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews pianist Uri Caine's new 2 C-D set, 'The Goldberg Variations' (Winter & Winter). (4.) Magician and trickster TELLER of Penn and Teller. They've been performing for over twenty years, both on Broadway and around the world. The duo has also written several books: "How to Play in Traffic," "Cruel Tricks for Dear Friends" and "How to Play With Your Food." (Originally aired 10/22/97)Rock Critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Stankonia,' the new C-D from the band Outkast.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Voice and acting coach Patsy Rodenburg. ('ROH-den-burg') She's worked with some of the world's leading English-speaking actors, including Judi Dench, Daniel Day-Lewis, Maggie Smith and Nicole Kidman. Her new book is 'The Actor Speaks: Voice and the Performer.' (St. Martin's Press) Rodenburg is the Director of Voice at London's National Theatre and the Guildhall School of Music and Drama. 'The Actor Speaks' is a complete vocal workshop for performers of every skill level. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews 'The Jimi Hendrix Experience,' a new 4 C-D box set celebrating the legendary rock guitarist. (MCA records)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Veteran actress ANGELA LANSBURY. This weekend she receives a Kennedy Center Honor. She's spent over 50 years in the business on stage, and in film and television. When she was 17 she debuted in 'Gaslight,' and was nominated for an Oscar for her portrayal of Ingrid Bergman's Cockney maid. LANSBURY also played opposite Judy Garland in 'The Harvey Girls,' was Elvis Presley's mother in 'Blue Hawaii,' and the manipulative mother in 'The Manchurian Candidate.' On stage she starred in 'Mame' and was the baker of the worst pies in London in 'Sweeney Todd.' For twelve years she starred in the TV series, 'Murder, She Wrote.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian ALEXANDER KEYSSAR ('KAY-sar'). In his new book 'The Right to Vote: The Contested History of Democracy in the United States' (Basic Books), he examines the checkered history of our country's right to vote, and how this right was not for a time extended to certain groups of people, from propertyless whitemen, to women, immigrants, and African-Americans. Even now, he argues, that the wealthy and well-educated are for more likely to go to the polls than the poor and under educated. KEYSSAR is Professor of History and Public Policy at Duke University. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) KIM ALEXANDER is President of the California Voter Foundation, organized to pioneer new technologies to improve democracy. The group produces the California Online Voter Guide. Recently ALEXANDER was part of the Task Force for Internet Voting put together by California's Secretary of State.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist JAY MCINERNEY ('MAC-in-UR-knee'). He broke onto the literary scene with his bestselling novel 'Bright Lights, Big City,' about the excesses of the a Manhatten yuppie in the 1980s. His new book is a collection of essays about the pleasure of wine. It's called 'Bacchus & Me: Adventures in The Wine Cellar' (The Lyons Press).(2.) Actress EVA MARIE SAINT. She starred opposite Marlon Brando in the 1954 film 'On the Waterfront,' and won an academy award for her portrayal of his convent-reared girlfriend. Later she and Cary Grant teamed up for Alfred Hitchcock's 'North by Northwest.' SAINT studied at the famed Actors Studio where Brando, Paul Newman, Marilyn Monroe and Dennis Hopper also did. This Sunday she stars in the CBS Sunday Movie, 'Papa's Angels.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

---

Interview with Nick Park and Peter Lord; Review of the television show "Queer as Folk"; Interview with Freddie Roman and Jeffrey Ross; Review of the film "Yi Yi." December 1, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569223].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Director/producer NICK PARK is the academy award- winning creator of the much-loved animated British characters Wallace & Gromit. Director/producer PETER LORD is Chairman and co-founder of the clay animation studios Aardman, where PARK created his short films featuring Wallace & Gromit
(‘A Grand Day Out,’ ‘The Wrong Trousers’ and ‘A Close Shave.’) They collaborated on their first full-length feature film, ‘Chicken Run’ an animated escape film with chickens as the escapers. It's now out on video. (REBROADCAST FROM 6/19/2000)(2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the new show 'Queer as Folk,' which premieres on Showtime this Sunday night. The series is an American version of the controversial British show of the same name.(3.) The documentary film, "Let Me In, I Hear Laughter: a Salute to the Friars" provides an inside look at the club where show business entertainers meet and then roast each other. The 1999 film has just been released on video. Such comic luminaries as George Burns, Groucho Marx, Bob Hope, as well as entertainers Will Rogers, George M. Cohan, and Irving Berlin were members of the Friars club. We listen back to an interview with two current members of the Friars-- FREDDIE ROMAN, the Dean of the New York Friars' Club, and comic JEFFREY ROSS. Both are featured in the documentary. (REBROADCAST FROM 10/25/99)(4.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN review the Taiwanese film 'Yi Yi' (yee- yee {lcub}long 'E'{rcub}) which was a hit at Cannes and is just making its way to US theaters.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer MICHAEL PATRICK HEARN. He's edited 'The Annotated Wizard of Oz: A Centennial Edition' (W.W. Norton). The book commemorates the 100th anniversary of the publication of L. Frank Baum's classic 'The Wonderful Wizard of Oz.' Back in 1900, the first 10,000 copies printed of Baum's book sold out in two weeks. Baum wrote 14 Oz books in all. (2.) Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Complete Letters of Oscar Wilde' edited by Merlin Holland and Rupert Hart-Davis. (Henry Holt) The volume includes over 1500 letters. November 21, 2000 marked the 100th anniversary of Wilde's death.(3.) Columnist STANLEY BING (a pseudonym) satirizes the corporate world in his columns for Fortune and Esquire Magazines. He revels his true identity in this interview. His book 'Lloyd?what Happened: A Novel of Business' followed the aspirations of an executive who was climbing the corporate ladder. BING's newest book is 'What Would Machiavelli Do? The Ends Justify the Means' (Harperbusiness) a satirical how-to book for the Machiavellian-minded in the corporate world. (4.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the debut C-D from singer-songwriter Nelly Furtado, called 'Whoa, Nelly.'
Interview with Ang Lee; Interview with Michelle Yeow. December 5, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569227].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director ANG LEE. His new movie is 'Crouching Tiger, Killing Dragon,' starring Chow Yun-Fat and Michelle Yeow ('Yo'). He also co-produced the film. LEE is best known for his English-language dramas such as 'Sense and Sensibility,' the Jane Austen novel adaptation, as well as the Chinese-American themed 'Eat Drink Man Woman' and 'The Wedding Banquet.' In 'Crouching Tiger,' Lee brings an art-house sensibility to the Hong Kong martial arts genre.(2.) Actress MICHELLE YEOW ('Yo'). She's been called Asia's foremost female action star. She's the lead in Ang Lee's 'Crouching Tiger, Killing Dragon.' Yeow has starred in many films including 'Supercop' with Jackie Chan and the 007 thriller 'Tomorrow Never Dies.' Yeow is also a film producer. She is a native of Ipoh, Malaysia, and in fact was once Miss Malaysia. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)

Interview with Jasmina Tesanovic; Commentary on legalese. December 6, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973568919].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Serbian writer JASMINA TESANOVIC. She's just published a book called 'The Diary of a Political Idiot,' (Midnight Editions 2000). The book, comprised of excerpts from her personal journal, narrates daily life in Belgrade during the political upheaval and bombings in Serbia. She is one of the founders of 94, the first feminist publishing house in Serbia. She lives and works in Belgrade.(2.) Language commentator GEOFF NUNBERG considers the realm of legal-speak in light of all the court action surrounding the presidential election.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) KENNETH KAMLER, MD is a surgeon who also climbs mountains. He was team doctor on three expeditions to the top of Mount Everest, including the disastrous 1996 trip during which 6 people died.
KAMLER is both storyteller and advisor in his book, 'Doctor on Everest: Emergency Medicine at the Top of the World ? A Personal Account including the 1996 Disaster.' (The Lyons Press) Blackened limbs due to severe frostbite were the least of his troubles. I-V fluids are frozen solid, and abrasions cannot heal at such high altitudes. KAMLER's day job is Director of the Hand Treatment Center in Hyde Park, New York, where he is a microsurgeon. He's done research on telemedicine for NASA and Yale Medical School.(2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new recording of Handel's opera, 'Alcina.' (‘al-CHEE-na’) It's a live performance by the Paris Opera (Erato).

Interview with Cynthia Lennon; Interview with Yoko Ono; Interview with John Wiener; Review of the film "Proof of Life." December 8, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569078].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) It's the 20th anniversary of on former Beatle John Lennon's death. We feature three interviews remembering him. We'll speak with CYNTHIA LENNON, his first wife (REBROADCAST FROM 8/6/85). Artist and musician YOKO ONO. Before she met John Lennon, Ono was a sculptor. In fact, Lennon met her at an exhibition of her work in London in the late 60s. (REBROADCAST FROM 4/11/89) Historian JON WIENER spent 14 years fighting to gain access to the FBI's secret files on John Lennon. WIENER's Freedom of Information case went all the way to the Supreme Court before the FBI decided to settle. His book 'Gimme Some Truth' (University of California Press) outlines and reproduces the most important pages of the file, revealing that the Nixon administration plotted to deport Lennon in 1972 and silence him as a voice of the anti-war movement. WIENER is Professor of History at the University of California, Irvine, and also author of 'Come Together: John Lennon and His Time.' (1/25/2000)(4.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new movie 'Proof of Life' starring Meg Ryan and Russell Crowe.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer/songwriter PAUL SIMON. In 1964 he and Art Garfunkle, as the duo Simon & Garfunkle, hit number one on the pop charts with the song 'Sound of Silence.' They continued with 5 albums that all sold gold. After a split in 1970, SIMON continued writing songs and took up a solo singing career. His albums include 'Still Crazy After All These Years,' 'Graceland,' and 'Rhythm of the Saints.' His new album is 'You're The One.' (Warner Bros.) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Journal 1935-1944: The Fascist Years' (pub., Ivan Dee) a journal of Romanian writer Mihail Sebastian ('Me-hi-eel Sebas-ti-an') about the Nazification of Europe.

Interview with Big Sandy; Interview with Esther Sternberg; Review of the album "Threepenny Opera." December 12, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569080].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) BIG SANDY is the lead singer of the Fly Rite Boys a band that combines rockabilly, western swing, and hillbilly boogie sounds. They are currently on tour and have a new album 'Night Tide' (High Tone Records). With it, they've taken a darker more personal bent. Big Sandy and his Fly Rite Boys have been making music together since 1988 and have recorded seven albums all told, including BIG SANDY's solo doo-wop tribute, 'Dedicated to You.' (2.) DR. ESTHER STERNBERG from the National Institute of Mental Health and National Institutes of Health. In her new book 'The Balance Within: The Science Connecting Health and Emotions' she looks at how researchers have uncovered the connection between mind and body. (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the reissue of the original cast album of the legendary 1954 Theatre de Lys' Off-Broadway production of Kurt Weill's 'Threepenny Opera' starring Lotte Lenya. It's on the Decca label.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Law Professor CASS SUNSTEIN. An expert in Constitutional interpretation, he explains the US Supreme Court decision in Bush v. Gore handed down last night. He talks about the legal difficulties of the case, what the final decision means for each candidate, and what sort of historical precedent a decision such as this one sets for the future. (2.) Journalist JEFFEREY TOOBIN. A staff writer for the New Yorker and senior analyst for television network ABC, he's currently working on a book about the election controversy. He talks today about the election in retrospect, the U.S. Supreme Court decision that was handed down last night, and what the decision means for Bush and Gore.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Reporter ERIC SCHMITT. He covers Capitol Hill for the New York Times. He'll talk about the new Congress and power sharing in the 50/50 Senate. SCHMITT will also talk about how the just resolved Presidential election?along with a truncated transition period for George W. Bush -- may effect political decision making on the Hill. (2.) Historian BERNARD WEISSBERGER. He's the author of 'America Afire,' (William Morrow 2000). The book chronicles the political tumult surrounding the Presidential Election of 1800 between Adams and Jefferson. As in this election, a voting glitch caused confusion. Neither candidate was willing to concede. Weissberger compares the events then, at the birth of the Constitution, to the Gore v. Bush controversy now. He has written more than a dozen books and works on documentaries with Bill Moyers and Ken Burns.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Ed Harris is starring as Jackson Pollack in a new movie about the artist's life. We'll feature an interview from our archives about Pollock. KIRK VARNEDOE ("VAR-na-doh") was the chief curator for a major Jackson Pollock exhibit that ran last year at the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. Pollock is widely considered the most challenging and influential American painter of the twentieth century and one of the primary creators in modern art since 1945. Pollock was born in Cody, Wyoming in 1912. Varnedoe wrote the accompanying book "Jackson Pollock." (11/16/98)(2.) We remember actor Werner Klemperer, who played Colonel Klink on the T-V show Hogan's Heroes. He died on December 7th at the age of 80. He was the son of the conductor Otto Klemperer. He started his career in theater, and moved on to Hollywood. He won two Emmys during his 6 year stint as Klink (he was nominated all six years). In 1987 he returned to Broadway to play a Jewish shopkeeper in a revival of Cabaret. His work earned him a Tony nomination. (5/25/87)(3.) Film critic Henry Sheehan reviews 'The Emperor's New Groove,' an animated feature from Disney.

Interview with Christine Baranski; Review of the album "Now! That's What I Call Music 5"; Interview with Benjamin Miller; Review of Chico O'Farrill's album "Carambola." December 18, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569077].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress CHRISTINE BARANSKI. She's probably best known for her work on the T-V series 'Cybill,' in which she played Maryann, the best friend of Cybill Shepherd. She's currently starring in the T-V sitcom 'Welcome To New York' (CBS). She also plays Martha May Whovier in the new film 'Dr. Seuss How the Grinch Stole Christmas.' She's won two Emmys, an American Comedy Award, a Screen Actors Guild Award, and two Tonys for her theater performances. Her film credits include 'Bowfinger,' 'Cruel Intentions,' and 'The Birdcage.' Her plays include 'The Real Thing' and 'The House of Blue Leaves.'(2.) Rock critic Ken Tucker looks at the new pop compilations reminiscent of those sold by K-Tel records on T-V in the seventies. This series is 'Now That's What I call Music,' and Ken looks at #5, with hits from Destiny's Child, Janet Jackson, Everclear and Mystikal. (3.) Garbage expert BENJAMIN MILLER discusses the history of rubbish in New York. He's the former director of policy planning for the New York City Department of Sanitation. He's just written a book on the subject, entitled 'Fat of the Land: Garbage in New York ? The Last 200 Years.' (Four Walls Eight Windows) Miller says that the dumping of garbage has literally shaped New York City as it took over surrounding islands and bulked up Brooklyn, Queens and Manhattan.(4.) Jazz critic Kevin Whitehead reviews 'Carambola,' the new C-D from composer Chico O'Farrill, who is also the leader of the Afro-Cuban Jazz Big Band in New York.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ROBERT SMIGEL (SMY-gull) is a writer and creator of animated comic episodes for Saturday Night Live, including 'X-Presidents' and 'The Ambiguously Gay Duo.' His newest effort is the new Comedy Central series 'TV Funhouse,' described as a broken kid's show for adults. The Funhouse combines real animals, puppet animals, short films and animation (Wednesday nights at 10:30). Smigel has also written a new comic book based on the X-presidents filmed shorts (called 'X-Presidents'/Villard Books). Smigel wrote for SNL from 1985-1993, and he was the original headwriter and producer of Late Night With Conan O'Brien. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Critic MILO MILES reviews the new edition of 'The Rough Guide to World Music.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Editors ROBERT GOTTlieb and ROBERT KIMBALL have collaborated on the new book 'Reading Lyrics' (Pantheon Books), an anthology of some of the most important lyricists of the last century, including the lyrics of George M. Cohan, Irving Berlin, Cole Porter, Ira Gershwin, Lorenz Hart, Dorothy Field, Frank Loesser, Johnny Mercer, and more. The book covers the time period 1900-1975. ROBERT GOTTlieb is the author of 'Reading Jazz,' and ROBERT KIMBALL is the editor of complete lyrics collections of Cole Porter, Ira Gershwin, and Lorenz Hart. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) We remember Jazz bassist MILT HINTON. He died yesterday at the age of 90. HINTON was one of the great jazz bass players, having played with musicians like Cab Calloway, Dizzy Gillespie, Coleman Hawkins, Duke Ellington and Billie Holiday. Throughout his career, Hinton photographed the musicians he worked with, and the surroundings he moved through. His books of photographs are "Bass Line: The Stories and Photographs of Milt Hinton" (Temple University Press), and "Overtime: The Jazz Photographs of Milt Hinton" (Pomegranate). (RB)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor ALFRED MOLINA ('muh-LEE-nah'). He's starring in the new film, 'Chocolat,' ('show-koh-LAHT') about a mysterious and seductive chocolate shop that electrifies a French village. MOLINA is a Tony-nominated actor who has played in over 30 films, 30 TV movies, and many theater productions. His Tony nomination was for his role in the Broadway hit 'Art.' His film credits include 'Boogie Nights,' 'Anna Karenina,' 'Prick up Your Ears,' and 'Raiders of the Lost Ark.' Molina was born in London, UK, and lives in Los Angeles.(2.) Comedian RICHARD LEWIS. His new book is called 'The Other Great Depression,' (Public Affairs, 2000) and chronicles his recovery from alcoholism. He's an award winning stand up comic and has appeared in over twenty movies and TV shows. Currently, he co-stars in Larry David's HBO show 'Curb Your Enthusiasm.' (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews thrillers.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer OTIS WILLIAMS. He was the founder of The Temptations, whose smooth five-part harmonies and synchronized dance steps made them one of the hottest of Motown's super groups. Their hits included "My Girl," "Just My Imagination," and "Papa Was a Rolling Stone." He is the only surviving member of the original group. The Temptations have just released a new CD called 'Ear-Resistible.' (9/15/88)(2.) Mavis Staples remembers her father, Pops. Pops died on December 19. (RB of 6/2/1999) (3)Classical music critic Lloyd Schwartz reviews 'Bach Christmas Cantatas,' a new CD featuring the orchestra and chorus of Emmanuel Music. (4.) Filmmaker ETHAN COEN makes movies with his brother Joel Coen. Their films include, "Blood Simple," "Raising Arizona," "Barton Fink," "Fargo," and "The Big Lebowski." His stories have appeared in The New Yorker, Playboy, and Vanity Fair. His first book is called, "Gates of Eden" (Rob Weisbach Books) which is a collection of stories. The Coen Brothers have a new film called 'O Brother Where art thou.' (10/21/98) (5.) Film Critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new movie 'Castaway,' starring Tom Hanks.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We feature a 1999 interview with singer/Hollywood legend ROSEMARY CLOONEY. She starred in the 1954 film White Christmas. She talks about her life as a singer and performer. We will also listen to songs from throughout her career. Her 1999 autobiography, Girl Singer, reads like a who's who from the golden age of Hollywood. She also released a CD companion to the book. Its called Songs from the Girl Singer. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 12/21/99) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Jay McShann; Interview with Red Rodney; Interview with Max Roach; Interview with Abby Lincoln. December 26, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569122].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Kansas City pianist JAY MCSHANN. As a big band leader in the 40s and 50s, McShann helped start the careers of jazz stars like Charlie Parker and Big Joe Turner. He performs "When I Grow To Old To Dream." (rebroadcast from 10/8/87) (2.) Jazz trumpeter RED RODNEY. Rodney's played with the greats...Benny Goodman, Woody Herman, Charlie Parker, among many others. (REBROADCAST from 6/15/90) (3.) Bebop drummer and composer MAX ROACH. He's been at the forefront of contemporary jazz for over 40 years. He played with a number of bop groups in New York during the 1940s with quintets led by Charlie Parker and Dizzy Gillespie. Later, a quintet led by him and Clifford Brown, came to epitomize the sound known as hard bop. During the Civil Rights movement, Roach was composing some of jazz' strongest political statements. (REBROADCAST from 6/25/87)

(4.) Jazz singer/songwriter ABBY LINCOLN. Once married to legendary jazz drummer Max Roach, she's made her mark on jazz for over 40 years, singing with giants like Benny Carter, Sonny Rollins and Coleman Hawkins. Lincoln has been hailed by one critic as the "Last Great Diva", and says herself that she sings in the tradition of Sarah Vaughan, Bessie Smith and Billie Holiday. (REBROADCAST from 6/16/93)

Interview with Woody Herman; Interview with Stan Getz; Interview with Anita O'Day; Obituary for Jason Robards. December 27, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569119].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Band leader WOODY HERMAN. Herman was the leader of numerous big bands, all variously called The Thundering Herd. His bands were noted for their dazzling improvisation combined with their incisive ensemble playing. He died in 1987. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 8/19/1986) (2.) Jazz Saxophonist, STAN GETZ. Born in Philadelphia in 1927, Getz got his start playing with Woody Herman's band. He later went on to form his own quartet. He has worked with such greats as Dizzy Gillespie and Lionel Hampton. In the early 1960's, Getz became the first American musician closely identified with the bossa nova movement. He died in 1991. (REBROADCAST FROM 6/14/90) (3.) Jazz vocalist ANITA O'DAY. She joined Gene Krupa's band in 1941. She later sang with Stan Kenton. She is still performing today (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 12/3/87). (4.) We remember actor JASON ROBARDS. He died yesterday at the age of 78, after a long battle with cancer. He was an actor for over 50 years. He won Oscars for his performances as Ben Bradlee in "All the President's Men," and Dashiell Hammett in "Julia." In 1956 ROBARDS first came to the attention of the critics with his performance in Eugene O'Neill's "The Iceman Cometh." His performance helped define the role for a generation. It also began ROBARDS collaboration with director Jose Quintero, resurrecting the works of O'Neill. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 11/2/95)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Jazz musician JAMES MOODY. Just after World War II, MOODY joined the bebop big band of Dizzy Gillespie and played with Milt Jackson. His most famous recording is of an improvisatory piece he performed in 1949, now known as "Moody's Mood For Love." Terry talked to him in 1996, about his CD, "Young At Heart," (Warner Brothers) which had just been released. It is a collection of Frank Sinatra tunes. In this CD, MOODY performed as vocalist, tenor/alto/soprano saxist and flutist. Some of the selections include "Love and Marriage," "Nancy," "Only the Lonely" and "In the Wee Small Hours of the Morning." (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 7/23/96)(2.) Jazz pianist Marian McPartland. Though British-born, white and a woman, McPartland has had a forty-year career in a profession that is largely male and black. She is heard on many National Public Radio stations in her popular series with leading jazz artists. (REBROADCAST from 9/8/87)(3.) Singer and actress ANNIE ROSS. Ross is best-known as a member of the jazz vocal trio Lambert, Hendricks and Ross. She also wrote "Twisted," which was recorded by both Joni Mitchell and Bette Midler. She made her acting debut in the 1974 play "Kennedy's Children," and has appeared in such films as "The Homecoming," "Yanks," and Robert Altman's "Short Cuts." (Rebroadcast from 3/2/90)(4.) Critic Maureen Corrigan reads us her list of the best books of 2000.

Interview with Elvin Jones; Interview with Gary Burton; Interview with Lester Bowie; Review of the film "O Brother, Where Art Thou?". December 29, 2000. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569121].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Elvin Jones, considered one of the most influential drummers in jazz history. He's been a bandleader for over 30 years. He's played with all the great names in jazz. In the early sixties, he played with Charlie Parker. He also did a brief stint with Duke Ellington's band before going out on his own. (originally broadcast 1/7/98)(2.) Jazz vibraphonist GARY BURTON. He invented a four-mallet grip for the instrument that is used by many contemporary players. BURTON left Stan Getz's quartet in the mid 60's (at the age of 24) to form his own combo; a few years later he hired a young guitarist named Pat Metheny, giving Metheny his first taste of big time jazz. BURTON has been teaching percussion and improvisation classes at the Berklee School of Music in Boston; in 1985 he was named Dean of Curriculum there. BURTON has over fifty albums to his credit and three Grammy awards. (originally broadcast 1/5/94)

(3.) Jazz trumpeter LESTER BOWIE. Bowie was considered one of the most original trumpeters in jazz, and a master of horn effects. He died in November of 1999. Bowie started out playing with Saint Louis R&B bands. In 1969, he helped found the Art Ensemble of Chicago as an outlet for more eclectic and avant-garde jazz. Bowie also headed his own band, Lester Bowie's Jazz Fantasy. (originally broadcast 11/3/89)

(4.) Film critic Henry Sheehan reviews 'O Brother Where Art Thou,' starring George Clooney. Directed and written by the Coen brothers, it's loosely based on Homer's 'The Odyssey.'

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer Songwriter DION. He's just released a new record of doo-wop tunes 'Deja Nu' (Collectables 2000). In the late 1950s, Dion and his band the Belmonts topped the chart with several pop hits, earning him the status of 'teen idol.' Dion split amicably with the band in 1960 and continued to write Top 10 hits until the British Invasion changed the pop preference. Now, in his 50s, he continues to produce, write and sing new material. He lives in Boca Raton, Florida. (ORIGINALLY AIRED 10/17/00)

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker STEVEN SODERBERGH. His latest movie is 'Traffic,' starring Michael Douglas and Catherine Zeta-Jones. It's about drug traffic at the U.S.-Mexico border. The idea came from a British miniseries called 'Traffik.' Soderbergh began his career with the low budget hit, 'Sex, Lies and Videotape.' His other films include 'Erin Brockovich,' 'The Limey,' 'Out of Sight,' and 'Kafka.' (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new CD boxed set of live performances by conductor Leonard Bernstein.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress REBECCA PIDGEON. Her latest film is David Mamet's 'State and Main.' She also starred in Mamet's earlier films 'The Spanish Prisoner' and 'The Winslow Boy.' PIDGEON is also known for her work on stage. She trained at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts in London and appeared in many plays including the London production of 'Speed the Plow,' and 'The Old Neighborhood' on Broadway. PIDGEON is also a singer/songwriter. Her latest CD is called 'Four Marys.' (Chesky Records)(2.) Historian IAN KERSHAW. His new book, 'Hitler: 1936-1945 Nemesis' (Norton Books) is the second volume of his biography of Hitler. It has been nominated for the Whitbread Prize. The first volume, 'Hitler: 1889-1936 Hubris' was an 'editor's choice' of the New York Times and is now available in paperback (Norton). KERSHAW is a professor of modern history at the University of Sheffield. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)

Interview with John Balaban; Review of Ken Burns' documentary series "History of Jazz;"

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Poet JOHN BALABAN has translated the poetry of an 18th century Vietnamese concubine in the new book, 'Spring Essence: The Poetry of Ho Xuang Huong' (Copper Canyon Press) Ho Xuang Huong won acclaim for her poetry despite the fact that she was a woman and she challenged established conventions. Most of her poems also were double entendres: a hidden sexual meaning lay behind her words. BALABAN was a conscientious objector during the Vietnam war, and went back to the country after the war to collect and preserve Vietnamese folk poetry. BALABAN is also the author of a memoir, and of several books of his own poetry. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews new ten-part documentary series on the history of jazz by Ken Burns. It premieres on PBS, January 8th. (3.) We remember CHARLIE LOURIE, co-founder of Mosaic Records. He died on December 31st of cardiac arrest. Mosaic was founded to reissue the classic Blue Note jazz recordings. (REBROADCAST from 4/11/96)(4.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'Traffic.'

---

Interview with Ray Redfield; Commentary on the Stanley Brothers; Interview with David Paymer. January 5, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825724].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) KAY REDFIELD JAMISON is an authority on manic-depression and suicide. Her book, 'Night Falls Fast: Understanding Suicide' is now out in paperback (Vintage) She's also the author of 'Touched with Fire: Manic-Depressive Illness and the Artistic Temperament.' JAMISON disclosed her own 30-year battle with manic-depression in the memoir, 'An Unquiet Mind: A Memoir of Moods and Madness.' JAMISON is Professor of Psychiatry at the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine.(2.) Rock historian ED WARD considers the work of the bluegrass music duo the Stanley Brothers.(3.) Actor DAVID PAYMER received an Oscar nomination for his role in "Mr. Saturday Night." He also starred in the movie "Quiz Show" as Dan Enright, the villain producer who rigs the show "Twenty-One." His other film credits include 'Get Shorty' and the new David Mamet film 'State & Main.' (REBROADCAST from 10/6/94)

---

Interview with David and Karen O'Connor; Interview with Bill Charlap. January 8, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825727].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Equestrians DAVID and KAREN O'CONNOR. Only the second husband and wife team to share a medal in Olympic history, the O'Connors helped win the US a bronze medal and a gold (David O'Connor in the individual event) in the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney. Internationally recognized equestrians, they won a silver medal for the US in the 1996 Olympics. In 2000, the US won the bronze in the Team Three Day Event Dressage. David O'Connor won the gold in the Individual Three Day Event (Jumping, Cross Country and Dressage). The duo train and run clinics in The Plains, Virginia. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Pianist BILL CHARLAP. Critics call him 'one of the strongest mainstream jazz pianists on the scene' and 'one of the most gifted interpreters of standards.' He has worked with the Gerry Mulligan Quartet, Benny Carter, Clark Terry and the Phil Woods Quintet where he remains. His most recent album, 'Written in the Stars' was released in 2000 (Blue Note Discs).

Description of show segment(s)

1. DAVID KESSLER is former Commissioner of the U.S. food and Drug Administration. As such, he took on one of the country's most powerful foes: the tobacco industry. They investigated tobacco makers to determine whether nicotine was a drug, and if so, be regulated by the FDA. KESSLER's book about it is 'A Question of Intent: A Great American Battle with a Deadly Industry.' (Public Affairs books) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)

2. World music critic MILO MILES reviews the new box set by Little Feat: 'Hotcakes and Outtakes: 30 Years of Little Feat' (Rhino)

Description of show segment(s)

1. White House Correspondent for the Washington Post, DANA MILBANK. He covered the recent presidential campaign and the aftermath. He's written a new book about it, 'Smashmouth: Two years in the Gutter with Al Gore and George W. Bush' (Persues Books) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF)

2. T.V. critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the two new reality based TV shows: 'The Mole' which premiered last night on ABC, and 'Temptation Island' which premieres tonight on FOX.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) President Clinton's former campaign strategist and political advisor PAUL BEGALA talks about life in the Clinton Whitehouse.(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) President Clinton's former budget director and chief of staff LEON PANETTA. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUED THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JONATHAN COHN ('CONE') is senior editor of The New Republic, where he writes a blog called 'The Treatment.' He'll talk with Terry about what's in the House and Senate health bills and what a compromise could look like. COHN is also the author of 'Sick: The Untold Story of America's Health Care Crisis ? and the People Who Pay the Price.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Tom Blanton; Interview with Sergei Khrushchev; Interview with Steve Reich; Review of the film "13 days;" Commentary on Mejla Hlavsa. January 12, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825592].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Head of the National Security Archive TOM BLANTON. He helped research information for "The Cuban Missile Crisis.' In the book, released documents and top-secret files reveal how close the U.S. came to a nuclear entanglement. In 1987, the National Security Archive filed suit against the U.S. government for failing to produce the documents they requested. Since then there has been more compliance with the archive, especially since the Russian government told the U.S. to go ahead and release the Kennedy-Krushchev letters. (REBROADCAST from 10/15/92) (2.) Former Soviet Ambassador to the United States ANATOLY DOBRYNIN. He was a key diplomat in many U.S./Soviet conflicts including The Cuban Missile Crisis. (REBROADCAST from 10/10/95)(3.) SERGEI KHRUSHCHEV is the son of the former Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. He remembers the Cuban Missile Crisis. (REBROADCAST from 6/23/99)(4.) Minimalist composer STEVE REICH on his composition 'It's Gonna Rain' inspired by the Cuban Missile Crisis. (REBROADCAST from 5/11/99)(5.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews '13 Days' the new film about the Cuban Missile Crisis starring Kevin Costner. (6.) World Music critic MILO MILES remembers Czech musician Milan Hlavsa leader of the band 'The Plastic People of the Universe.' He died on Jan 5th from cancer.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian CLAYBORNE CARSON is director of Stanford University's King Papers Project, dedicated to editing and publishing all the papers of Martin Luther King, Jr. CARSON is the co-editor of the new book 'A Call to Conscience: The Landmark Speeches of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr' (Warner Books) a collection of eleven speeches delivered at turning points in the civil rights movement. (2.) MAXWELL TAYLOR KENNEDY is the youngest son of the late Robert Kennedy. He edited a collection of his father's private journal entries called "Make Gentle The Life of this World: The Vision of Robert F. Kennedy." He reads from the speech his father gave on the night that Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated. (REBROADCAST from 6/4/98)(3.) Rhythm and blues singer, songwriter, and guitarist BARBARA LYNN. The left-handed guitarist was one of the first female practitioners of the instrument. Her signature song is the 1962 hit 'You'll Lose a Good Thing.' The Rolling Stones recorded her song 'Oh Baby (We Got a Good Thing Going') in 1964. After a lengthy hiatus to raise a family, LYNN made a come back in 1986. Her new album is 'Hot Night Tonight' (Antone Records).
Interview with Mike McCurry; Interview with Joe Lockhart; Review of Alan Jackson's music album 'When Somebody Loves You.' January 16, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825265].

Description of show segment(s)

Former Clinton White House Press Secretary from 1995-1998 MICHAEL MCCURRY. He was press secretary when the Monica Lewinsky story first broke. Former Clinton White House Press Secretary from 1998 to October 2000, JOE LOCKHART. He held the post during Clinton's impeachment trial. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'When Somebody Loves You' (Arista/BMG) the new album by country singer Alan Jackson.

Interview with Bill Bradley; Interview with Muriel Gillick; Review of jazz recordings 'Live at the Left Bank.' January 17, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825267].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former presidential candidate and U.S. Senator BILL BRADLEY. He discusses the state of politics today. He published his memoir, 'Time Present, Time Past' in 1996. In addition to his political career, BRADLEY was also a star basketball player with the New York Knicks. His latest book is called 'The Journey from Here' (Artisan Press).(2.) Doctor MURIEL GILLICK talks about the problems associated with care for the elderly. As life expectancy increases, how can we properly care for the elderly? GILLICK's new book is called 'Lifelines: Living Longer, Growing Frail, Taking Heart' (WW Norton and Company, Inc.).(3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews a new series of recordings called 'Live at the Left Bank' (Label M.)
Interview with Boyden Gray and Mark Gearan; Interview with Harry Shearer; Commentary on Doug Sahm. January 18, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825263].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MARK GEARAN. Now the head of the Peace Corps, he served on President Clinton's transition team as Deputy Director in 1992. He's been Assistant to the President, Director of Communications, and White House Chief of Staff. Under his direction, the Peace Corps has expanded its efforts to South Africa and Jordan in addition to opening a new section for crisis and natural disaster. And, BOYDEN GRAY. He was George Bush, Sr.'s Director of the Office of Transition Counsel. He counseled the elder Bush when he was President and Vice President. Now, a Chairman at Citizen for a Sound Economy, he is also a lawyer for a Washington, D.C. firm that specializes in regulations for trade, the environment, biotechnology and risk management. (2.) Satirist and host of the public radio program Le Show, HARRY SHEARER considers the upcoming Presidential inauguration of George W. Bush and has some parting remarks about President Clinton. (3.) Rock historian ED WARD remembers South Texas singer Doug Sahm.

Interview with Nicolas Cage; Interview with Willem Dafoe; Review of the film "Save the last dance." January 19, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825266].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The new film 'Shadow of The Vampire' opens this week; Actor NICOLAS CAGE is one of the producers of the film. His acting film credits include 'The Family Man,' 'Gone in 60 Seconds,' 'Face Off,' 'Wild at Heart,' 'Leaving Las Vegas,' 'Birdy,' 'Moonstruck,' and 'Raising Arizona.' (REBROADCAST from 7/27/90)(2.) Actor WILLEM DAFOE stars in 'Shadow of The Vampire.' We feature two interviews with DAFOE, one by film critic Roger Ebert, recorded live at the Cannes Film Festival last year, in which he discussed 'Shadow of the Vampire' (REBROADCAST from 8/9/2000)(WE CONTINUE WITH ANOTHER DAFOE INTERVIEW IN THE SECOND HALF). (3.) WILLEM DAFOE's interview with Terry Gross. (REBROADCAST from 5/7/97) Dafoe's 17-year career includes 'The Last Temptation of Christ,' 'Affliction,' 'The English Patient,' and 'Platoon.' (4.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'Save The Last Dance.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist ERIC SCHLOSSER investigated the fast food industry for his new book, 'Fast Food Nation: The Dark Side of the All-American Meal' (Houghton Mifflin). In it he traces diverse influences of fast food (the rise of franchising and the spread of obesity) and he examines the production of fast food including the secret flavor industry which accounts for the way the food tastes.(2.) Rock historian EDWARD remembers the 60s band MC5.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Jazz critic and writer GARY GIDDINS. His new biography of Bing Crosby is called, 'Bing Crosby: A Pocketful of Dreams--the Early Years, 1903-1940' (Little Brown and Company). From 1930s to the 50s, Crosby was a pop culture icon, dominating American entertainment with his hit records and movies. In this first volume of the biography, Giddins chronicles the rise of Crosby's career. Giddins may be best known as a jazz columnist for the Village Voice. He won the 1998 National Book Critics Circle Award for his book 'Visions of Jazz.' He was one of the experts featured in Ken Burn's Jazz series on PBS.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Presidential hopeful, SENATOR BOB DOLE. He's the bestselling author of 'Great Political Wit.' His new book, called 'Great Presidential Wit (I Wish I was in the Book,' (Scribner)is a collection of funny anecdotes and quotations by or about American Presidents. DOLE was the longest-serving Republican leader in Senate history. He is currently serving as the chairman of the World War II Memorial campaign and as chairman of the International Commission on Missing Persons in the Former Yugoslavia. Dole was also a commentator for Comedy Central's Indecision 2000.(2.) Editor and publisher JASON
EPSTEIN. In his new book 'Book Business' (W.W. Norton and company), EPSTEIN gives his insider's take on publishing today. He also talks about how publishing has changed since he entered the business in the early 1950s. Early in his career, EPSTEIN created Anchor Books, which is said to have helped establish the trade paperback format. EPSTEIN was also editorial director of Random House and has edited many well-known novelists including Norman Mailer, Vladimir Nabokov, Philip Roth, and Gore Vidal. (3.) Rock historian ED WARD remembers rock and roller Eddie Cochran whose big hit in the U.S. was 'Summertime Blues.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker JOHN WATERS. His film is 'Cecil B. Demented' has just been released on video and DVD. It's about an underground filmmaker and his cult following who declare war on bad cinema by kidnapping a starlet and forcing her to star in their own film. WATERS' other movies include, "Pecker" about a young amateur photographer who becomes the darling of the New York art world; "Cry Baby," a juvenile delinquent love story set in the 1950's, which brought together such performers as Patty Hearst, Johnny Depp, Ricki Lake, David Nelson, and Polly Bergen. WATERS is known for his independent, off-beat films, such as "Pink Flamingos," "Female Trouble," and "Polyester." In 1988 WATERS entered the mainstream with his popular film, "Hairspray." THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW. (Original Broadcast: August 1, 2000)(2.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'Shadow of the Vampire.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We'll hear the latest in research on Alzheimer's Disease from DR. RUDOLPH TANZI. He's professor of Neurology at Harvard Medical School and Director of the Massachusetts General Hospital's Genetic and Aging Unit. In the early 80s, Tanzi worked on an experiment that made disease genes identifiable. Since then, TANZI has been on the forefront of Alzheimer research. His new book is called 'Decoding

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Psychiatrist and neurologist TODD FEINBERG. His new book is called 'Altered Egos: How the Brain Creates the Self' (Oxford University Press). What is the self? and what is the relationship between the brain and selfhood? FEINBERG uses the stories and interesting cases of his patients to try and answer these questions from a neurological and psychological standpoint. Feinberg claims that the way patients with brain damage or disorders like 'alien hand syndrome' talk about themselves can tell us a lot about how the brain 'creates itself'. Dr. Feinberg is assoicate professor of Neurology and Psychiatry at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine and Chief of the Betty and Morton Yarmon Division of Neurobehavior and Alzheimer's Disease at the Beth Israel Medical Center of New York. (2.) Executive producer and writer, TOM FONTANA of HBO's, "Oz," the realistic drama about life in an experimental unit of a maximum security prison. FONTANA also created "Homicide: Life on the Street" and the 1980s drama set in a city hospital, "St. Elsewhere." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Sociologist SUDHIR VENKATESH. He's an Associate Professor of Sociology and Director of African American Studies at Columbia University in New York. His newest book 'American Project: The Rise and Fall of the Modern Ghetto,' (Harvard 2000) was awarded the 2000 Professional/ Scholarly Publishing Award of the Association of American Publishers. His research interests are based in investigating the social organization of poor urban neighborhoods. He lives in New York City. (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews two new novels about academia: 'The Lecturer's Tale' (Picador) by James Hynes and 'Meetings of the Mind' (Princeton) by David Damrosch.
Interview with Jay Bakker; Obituary for Leo Marks. February 1, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825330].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JAY BAKKER is the son of televangelists Jim and Tammy Faye Bakker. In 1989 his father, Jimmy, was convicted of defrauding his followers at the Praise The Lord ministry, and sent to prison. Then his parents divorced. BAKKER was 13 years old at the time. In his new memoir, 'Son of a Preacher Man: My Search for Grace in the Shadows,' (Harper), he writes of returning to faith after a long period of alcoholism and disillusionment. JAY BAKKER now heads his own ministry, Revolution, in Atlanta, ministering to skateboarders, punk rockers, and hippies, and other neglected kids. (2.) Code breaker LEO MARKS died January 15th at the age of 80. He served as one of Britain's top code makers during WWII. There he revolutionized the military's code making methods. He wrote about his experiences in "Between Silk and Cyanide: A Codemaker's War 1941-1945. (Free Press) MARKS was also a screenwriter. His most famous film was the 1960's cult-classic "Peeping Tom." (REBROADCAST from 7/13/99)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Gladys Knight; Interview with Alan Arkin; Interview with Sidney Lumet; Review of the film "In the mood for love." February 2, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825550].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) GLADYS KNIGHT. She has a new solo recording out this month, 'At Last' (Uni/MCA). KNIGHT began her singing career at age 4. Since that modest start, she went on to lead one of the most successful vocal soul groups in America, "Gladys Knight and The Pips." The group stayed together for 39 years before disbanding. Among, the group's most notable songs include: "I Heard It Through The Grapevine," "Neither One of Us," and Midnight Train to Georgia." Knight then launched a solo career. Terry interviewed Knight before a "live" audience in San Francisco in 1996. (REBROADCAST from 9/10/06) (2.) Film Director SIDNEY LUMET has directed 40 films, which have received over 50 Academy Award Nominations. He's the creator and Executive Producer of the new A&E cable series, "100 Centre St." His films include "Network," "Fail-Safe," "Dog Day Afternoon," and "The Prince of the City." He details his craft in his book 'Making Movies.' (Originally aired 8/23/88)(3.) Actor and director ALAN ARKIN. He's currently co-starring in the A&E series "100 Centre St." ARKIN plays Judge Joe Rifking.
ARKIN began his career with Chicago's Second City improv group. He went on to win a Tony on Broadway, in Carl Reiner's play "Enter Laughing," and to star in movies such as "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming," "The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter," "Wait Until Dark," "Catch-22," and "The In-Laws." Arkin's directing credits include "The Sunshine Boys" and "Little Murders" on Broadway, and several movies and T-V shows, including an episode of the P-B-S comedy series, "Trying Times." (REBROADCAST from 11/2/89)(4.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN REVIEWS 'In the Mood for Love' the new film by Hong Kong filmmaker Wong Kar-wai, whose previous film was 'Chungking Express.'

---

Interview with Manil Suri; Interview with Peter Hessler. February 5, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825534].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer MANIL SURI. He's just published his first novel 'The Death of Vishnu' (W.W. Norton 2001). The book follows the lives of the many inhabitants of a Bombay apartment building--including Vishnu, the homeless man who lives in the building's stairwell. Based on the writer's childhood in Bombay, the book has met praise from critics for its inclusion of Hindu mythology and cinema. When not writing, Mr. Suri is a Professor of Mathematics at the University of Maryland.(2.) Writer PETER HESSLER is the author of 'River Town: Two Years on the Yangtze' (HarperCollins). It's about his two years in Fuling, China as a Peace Corps volunteer, teaching English and American literature at a local college. The book was serialized in The New Yorker.

---

Interview with David Briggs; Interview with Charlie Parsons; Interview with Anna Brakenhielm. February 6, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825637].

Description of show segment(s)

Two of the most popular shows on television are U.S. versions of shows originated in Britain. We talk with the people behind them: (1.) DAVID BRIGGS is the creator of Who Wants to Be a Millionaire? which premiered on British television in September 1998 and thereby set the phrase (or its translation) 'Is that your final answer?' into orbit. The show's format has been licensed in 80 countries including India, Japan, Greece, and of course, the U.S. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) CHARLIE PARSONS invented the reality format show Survive, but couldn't get any interest for it in Britain. In 1996 Strix Television in Sweden bought the format rights for Survive, and went on to produce Expedition Robinson. It has become the most successful and controversial TV series in Scandinavia. (3.) ANNA BRAKENHIELM ('BRO-ken-yum') is managing director of Strix Television and the woman behind Expedition Robinson. It's now in its fifth season.

Interview with Mark Salzman; Commentary on J.J. Johnson; Review of hip hop recordings 'Live at the Fillmore' and 'Restless.' February 7, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825634].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist MARK SALZMAN is the author of the new novel, 'Lying Awake' (Knopf) about a cloistered nun who discovers that her spiritual visions may be induced by epilepsy. The book explores the connection between neurologic disorders and mysticism. SALZMAN is also the author of the novel 'The Soloist,' and a memoir, 'Lost in Place.' He is also a cellist. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF) (2.) J.J. JOHNSON, a pioneer of the modern jazz trombone died Sunday at his home in Indianapolis. He was 77. It was an apparent suicide. JOHNSON was considered the definitive trombonist of the bebop generation. He played with the Count Basie Orchestra, Benny Carter, Dizzy Gillespie, Wood Herman, and Miles Davis, often balancing that with leading his own band. Later in life, JOHNSON moved to Hollywood to work as a composer and arranger for television. (REBROADCAST from 12/14/87) (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews recordings by two hiphop recordings: 'Live at the Fillmore' by the group Cypress Hill, and 'Restless' by the rapper Xzibit.

Interview with Tom Kelley; Commentary on the word "literacy." February 8, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825641].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TOM KELLEY is the General Manager of IDEO (pronounced eye-DE-o), a design firm that has created some of the most successful and well-often used products, such as the first Apple mouse, Polaroid's I-Zone instant camera, the Palm V pilot, the Crest Neat Squeeze standup toothpaste tube, and the Oral-B soft grip kids' toothbrush. The company is known for its innovation, cutting-edge design, and attention to how products are used in real-life situations. His new book is 'The Art of Innovation: Lessons in Creativity from IDEO, America's Leading Design Firm.' (Currency/Doubleday)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the word 'literacy.'

Interview with Jerry Linenger; Interview with Anthony Hopkins; Review of the film "Hannibal." February 9, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825632].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Retired U.S. Navy flight surgeon and NASA astronaut CAPT. JERRY LINENGER ("Linn-en-jer") In his book, 'Off the Planet: Surviving Five Perilous Months Aboard the Space Station Mir" (in paperback) he chronicles his five months on board the Russian Space station "Mir" a ramshackle place he described as "six school buses all hooked together." During his five months there, they had numerous brushes with death, lacked adequate supplies, and battled constant system failures. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (REBROADCAST from 2/21/2000)(2.) British actor ANTHONY HOPKINS. His include 'Equus,' 'The Remains of the Day,' 'Mission Impossible,' 'Armistad,' 'Nixon,' and 'The Silence of the Lambs.' In the new film 'Hannibal' he revives the character of Doctor Hannibal Lecter, a brilliant psychiatrist turned sociopath killer, which he played in 'The Silence of the Lambs.' (REBROADCAST from 3/5/91)(3.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new film 'Hannibal' starring Anthony Hopkins and Julianne Moore.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Jazz Historian WILL FREIDWALD. He's the author of the books 'Jazz Singing: America's Greatest Voices from Bessie Smith to Bebop to Beyond', 'Sinatra! The Song is You: A Singer's Art' and a contributor to Tony Bennett's autobiography 'The Good Life.' Most recently, he wrote the liner notes for Mosaic Records' release of 'The Complete Columbia Mildred Bailey Sessions,' a comprehensive 10 disc set of the legendary singer's recordings. He talks today about Bailey's influence in American music. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Actor JOHN RITTER. He is probably best recognized for his role as Jack Tripper, the token male roommate on the sitcom 'Three's Company.' He acted on that show from 1977 to 1984, winning two Emmys for 'Outstanding Lead Actor in a Comedy Series.' He has acted in over 50 television and movie spots since, including 'Slingblade' and 'Bride of Chucky.' He appears in the movie 'Panic,' showing in theaters now. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Sam Quinones; Obituary for Buddy Tate; Interview with Chico O'Farrill; Review of Rick Moody's novel "Demonology." February 13, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825640].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) This Friday, George W. Bush embarks on his first presidential trip outside the US. He will travel to Mexico to meet the new president of Mexico, Vincente Fox. We talk about Mexico with Journalist SAM QUINONES. He has been covering Mexico for 7 years. His new book is called, 'True Tales from Another Mexico: The Lynch Mob, the Popsicle Kings, Chalino, and the Bronx' (University of New Mexico Press). QUINONES work has appeared in the Los Angeles Times, Baltimore Sun, LA Weekly, and Ms. Magazine.(2.) Composer, arranger and trumpeter CHICO O-FARRILL. His music combines American jazz with the rhythms of Cuban/Latin Music. The 79-year old's latest CD is called 'Carambola' (Milestone Records).(3.) Book Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Demonology' by Rick Moody.

Interview with Ann Crittenden; Interview with David Gollaher; Interview with Philip Sherman; Interview with Larry Josephson. February 14, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825639].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Economics journalist ANN CRITTENDEN is a former reporter for The New York Times. She's the author of the new book 'The Price of Motherhood: Why the Most Important Job in the World is Still the Least Valued' (Metropolitan books). In the book, CRITTENDEN writes about the cost to mothers when their work is unrecognized and undervalued. For instance, because child care is not counted as labor, caregivers receive no Social Security credits, and as a result they lose out on retirement income.CRITTENDEN spent five years research on her book talking to economists, sociologists, and to mothers. (2.) The topic is circumcision. Author DAVID GOLLAHER ('GALL-ah-her'). He is president and CEO of the public policy group, California Healthcare Institute and is the author of 'Circumcision: A History of the World's Most Controversial Surgery' (Basic Books, soon to be in paper)(3.) Cantor PHILIP SHERMAN is a mohel ('moyle') who performs the Jewish rite of circumcision on the eighth day of a baby boy's life. In his twenty-two year career he's performed about nine thousand. His grandfather was also a mohel.(4.) Veteran broadcaster LARRY JOSEPHSON tells us some of his favorite mohel jokes. (PLEASE DON'T FORWARD PROMOTE THIS SEGMENT-LET IT BE A SURPRISE)

Description of show segment(s)

Interview with Oliver stone; Interview with Kathleen Hanna and Johanna Fateman; Review of the film "Pollack." February 16, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825635].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director OLIVER STONE. Two collections of his films have been released on DVD, including the films: 'Any Given Sunday,' 'JFK,' 'Natural Born Killers,' 'Heaven and Earth,' 'Born on the Fourth of July,' 'Wall Street,' 'The Doors,' 'Nixon,' 'Talk Radio,' and 'U Turn.' The collections include extended scenarios, trailers, and directors commentary. (REBROADCAST from 7/17, and 7/18/90) (2.) KATHLEEN HANNA and JOHANNA FATEMAN (FATE-men) of the band, Le Tigre (lay-TEE-gruh). HANNA was the lead singer of the 90s band Bikini Kill. Bikini Kill was part of the music/cultural/feminist movement know as 'Riot Grrl,' which focused on the concept of 'girl power' and young women's empowerment. The movement was based primarily in Washington, DC and Olympia, WA, and its members formed bands, wrote fanzines, and held meetings, protests and festivals. HANNA was a leader and spokesperson for the movement. Her first solo project after Bikini Kill was called Julie Ruin. She then formed Le Tigre. Bandmate FATEMAN is an artist and zine writer. Le Tigre's new CD is 'From the Desk of Mr. Lady.' (REBROADCAST from 9/5/200) (3.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new film 'Pollack.'

Interview with Sam Brylawsk and Cooper Graham; Interview with Marlin Fitzwater; Review of the ban Low's debut album ?Things We Lost in the fire.? February 19, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825633].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) From the Library of Congress, Recording Sound Specialist, SAMUEL BRYLAWSKI and Acquisition Specialist COOPER GRAHAM. The two compiled a collection of presidential speeches dating back 85 years 'Historic Presidential Speeches (1908-1993)' (on Rhino/World Beat label). It begins with William Howard Taft, recorded during the presidential campaign of 1908. (REBROADCAST from 11/7/95) (2.) Former press secretary for Reagan and Bush, MARLIN FITZWATER. He spent 17 years as a government flak before being appointed to his position in the Reagan White House. He wrote about his experiences in the memoir, 'Call the Briefing!' He has a new novel coming out this spring called 'Esther's Pillow.' (REBROADCAST from 10/26/95) (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Things We Lost in the fire' (on the independent label Kranky) by the rock band Low.
Interview with Alex Vernon and Greg Downey; Review of the recording ?The Complete Vee Jay Lee Morgan-Wayne Shorter Sessions.? February 20, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973811245].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) February 24th marks the 10th anniversary of the use of ground forces during the Gulf War. NPR's NEAL CONAN talks with two former lieutenants who were tank platoon leaders with the 24th Infantry Division: ALEX VERDON and GREG DOWNEY. The two were just out of college and leading platoons for the first time. They tell their story in the new book, 'The Eyes of Orion'(The Kent State University Press). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'The Complete Vee Jay Lee Morgan-Wayne Shorter Sessions' on the Mosaic box label.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Religion scholar KAREN ARMSTRONG. The best-selling author of 'The History of God,' and 'The Battle for God,' has a new book about the life of Buddha. From North India, Sidhatta Gotama, renounced normal life, leaving his wife and child to live alone and attain enlightenment. He found it through his own experiences, did not rely on a supernatural God, and fought against the cult of personality that would turn him into a leader. Instead the Buddha taught his disciples to discover the truth within themselves. His teachings flourished in India for 1500 years and then spread to Tibet, Central Asia, China, Korea, Japan, and Southeast Asia. ARMSTRONG's book 'Buddha' is published by Penguin Lives. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Critic MILO MILES reviews a new 3-CD set 'Demons and Angels' (Shanachie) collecting the recordings of blues guitarist Rev. Gary Davis.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and musician DAVID JOHANSEN (‘joe-HAN-sen’) was the lead singer for the 70's pre-punk punk rock band New York Dolls. Later he performed as Buster Poindexter, a pompadour tuxedo wearing lounge lizard swing bandleader of the band 'Banshees in Blue.' Now he has a new roots-music band and a new album of straight blues, 'David Johansen and the Harry Smiths.' (Chesky Records) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Teenagers are the hottest consumer demographic in America. Media analyst DOUGLAS RUSHKOFF examines the multi-billion dollar marketing industry aimed at teenagers in the new Frontline documentary 'The Merchants of Cool.' (Tuesday, Feb. 27th at 10 PM). RUSHKOFF is also the author of 'Coercion: Why We Listen to What 'They' Say' (Riverhead books) about how our everyday decisions are influenced by marketers, politicians, religious leaders, and other forces.

Interview with Laura Luft; Interview with Olu Dara; Review of the film "Monkeybone." February 23, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825577].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) LORNA LUFT is the daughter of Judy Garland. The new made-for-TV movie "Life with Judy Garland: Me and My Shadows" will be broadcast on Sunday, February 25th on ABC. The movie is based on LUFT's 1998 memoir "Me and My Shadows: A Family Memoir" (Pocket Books). Judy Garland died in 1969. Lorna Luft is also a half sister to Liza Minnelli. (REBROADCAST from 4/29/98)(2.) Musician, singer, composer OLU DARA (OH-lu DAR-ah). In 1998 after over 30 years in the business, he released his first solo album, "Olu Dara: In the World: From Natchez to New York." During the 70s and 80s DARA played in Art Blakey's band, as well as that of avant-garde artist Henry Threadgill and others. His 1998 CD blended the two worlds and the two sounds that influenced him most: his hometown of Natchez, Mississippi and New York City where he lives now. OLU DARA has a new CD, 'Neighborhoods.' (ATLANTIC)(3.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'Monkey Bones' the new part animated/part live-action film starring Brendan Fraiser.
Interview with Glyn Moody; Interview with Mike Judge; Commentary on John Fahey. February 26, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825581].

Description of show segment(s)

1. Author GLYN MOODY. His new book is called 'Rebel Code: Linux and the Open Source Revolution' (Perseus, 2001). It charts the movement begun by computer programmers who believe software should be given away for free. MOODY is a London-based writer whose work has appeared in 'Wired,' 'The Economist,' and 'The Financial Times.'

2. Animator MIKE JUDGE. He's the creator of, and voice behind, MTV's phenomena Beavis and Butthead. His current creation is the Fox series 'King of the Hill,' where he provides the voice for main character, Hank. He's also the writer, director and producer of the cult movie 'Office Space.' A self-taught animator with a physics degree, Kraft talks about animation and comedy. 'King of the Hill' is an Emmy nominated series nearing its 100th episode next week.

3. Critic MILO MILES remembers folk musician and guitarist John Fahey who died last week at the age of 61.

Description of show segment(s)

1. Jazz pianist KEITH JARRETT. Called one of the greatest improvisers in the history of jazz, Jarrett was famous for his wildly passionate solo recitals. In 1996, Jarrett came down with a mysterious illness—an interstitial bacterial parasite-- that caused him to stop performing for about two and a half years. Jarrett has started performing and recording again, but he still keeps a low public profile, so his condition will not worsen again. His newest CD is Whisper Not (Universal Classics). His other recent CD, 'Melody at Night, With You,' was a solo album JARRETT recorded at his home studio in rural New Jersey.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) British novelist A.S. BYATT ('BYE-it'). Her novel 'Possession' was a bestseller, and her novella 'Angels & Insects' was turned into an arthouse film. BYATT's new novel is 'The Biographer's Tale' (Knopf). This interview was recorded before a live audience at the Free Public Library in Philadelphia. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews several new books about food, the new Modern Library's Food series which collects four books about food, and 'Comfort Me with Apples' (Random House) by Ruth Reichl and 'The Kitchen Congregation' (Picador) by Nora Seton. (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews 'Teresa Sterne: A Portrait' (Nonesuch) a tribute album to Teresa Sterne, a musical prodigy who took over Nonesuch Records in the early 60s and turned it into the respected label it is today. Sterne died last December of Lou Gehrig's disease.

Interview with Chris Carter; Interview with Alan Furst; Review of Kayhan Kalhor's music. March 1, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825574].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CHRIS CARTER is the creator of the popular FOX TV series, 'The X-Files.' The series, about a team of FBI agents investigating paranormal activity like alien abductions, telepathy, and the occult, has a cult following. This is its eighth and possibly final season. CARTER'S newest series 'The Lone Gunman' is a spin off of 'The X-Files' and features three computer-savvy conspiracy geeks. It premiers this Sunday, March 4th at 9 PM on FOX.(2.) Novelist ALAN FURST. He's written six historical spy novels all taking place in Europe just before World War Two. They include 'Night Soldiers,' 'Dark Star,' 'The World at Night,' and his new one, 'Kingdom of Shadows.' (Random House). His books are best-sellers in Britian. (3.) Critic MILO MILES reviews music by Persian musician Kayhan Kalhor (Kay-HAN KAL-hor). His solo albums 'Scattering Stars Like Dust' and 'Night Silence Desert' are on the Traditional Crossroads label.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) LENNARD DAVIS talks about his experiences, growing up a hearing child with deaf parents. He had a complex and sometimes difficult relationship with his deaf, working-class Jewish immigrant parents. It's the subject of his memoir 'My Sense of Silence: Memoirs of a Childhood With Deafness' (University of Illinois Press). DAVIS is head of the English Department at the University of Illionis, Chicago. He has written several books and published essays in The Nation, the Chronicle of Higher Education, and other publications. He also published "Shall I Say a Kiss: The Courtship Letters of a Deaf Couple" (Gallaudet University Press), a compilation of his parents love letters. (REBROADCAST from 3/20/2001) (This interview continues in the second half of the show.) (2.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new film 'The Mexican.' (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the season opener of 'The Sopranos' on HBO Sunday night.

Interview with Chris Kraft; Interview with Kenneth Gluck. March 5, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825578].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former NASA flight director CHRIS KRAFT. He was NASA's first flight director, from the first forays into space in the 1960s to after Neil Armstrong landed on the moon in 1969. KRAFT also created Mission Control. He's written a new book, 'Flight: My Life In Mission Control' (Dutton). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Humanitarian aid worker KENNETH GLUCK. He was working with Doctors Without Borders in Chechnya when he was kidnapped and held for 26 days. He was released on February 3rd. GLUCK still isn't sure who kidnapped him or who freed him. It could have been Chechen gangs, who have seized other humanitarian workers. Or it could have been Russian authorities who staged the abduction for propaganda purposes. The Russians claimed credit for freeing him. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Kenneth Lonergan; Review of the new jazz collection, "Don Wilkerson's Complete Blue Note Sessions." March 6, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825600].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Playwright and screenwriter KENNETH LONERGAN. The writer behind five screenplays and several theater productions, his new play is called 'Lobby Hero' and opens March 13 at Playwrights Horizons. He also wrote, directed and acted in the Oscar nominated 'You can Count on Me,' which came out last year. The screenplay for that movie recently won Best Screenplay by the Writers Guild of America and is up for an Oscar in the same category. It is also an Oscar contender in the category of Best Actress in a Leading Role (played by Laura Linney). Other movies he's worked on include 'The Adventures of Rocky and Bullwinkle' and 'Analyze This.'

(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the complete Blue Note sessions of tenor saxophonist Don Wilkerson.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Last week the Taliban, the Islamic Militants ruling Afghanistan issued a decree to demolish all pre-Islamic religious images. Reportedly they have partially demolished the 175 feet and 120 feet seventh-century Buddhas 100 miles west of Kabul, considered two of the most important ancient works. A talk with the Director of the Center for Afghanistan Studies at the University of Omaha, THOMAS E. GOUTTIERRE ('G00-tea-air'). He also served on the United Nations Peacekeeping Mission to Afghanistan, and is the American specialist on Afghanistan, Tajikistan, and South Asia at the meetings of the U.S.-Russian Task Force on Regional Conflicts.

(2.) Journalist SEBASTIAN JUNGER. He traveled to Afghanistan to profile Ahmad Shah Massoud, (known as the 'Lion of Panjshir'), the legendary leader of the guerrilla war against the Soviets, who is now fighting the Taliban. JUNGER traveled with photographer Reza Deghati who spent several years covering the war there. JUNGER's article 'The Lion in Winter' appears in the March/April issue of National Geographic's Adventure magazine. It's also the subject of a National Geographic Explorer program 'Into the Forbidden' which aired March 4 on CNBC).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director ROB SITCH. He and his creative team at Working Dog, got their start in morning radio, then switched to TV. They made their first feature film 'The Castle' in 1997. Their newest film 'The Dish' is based on the true story of how three Australian scientists made possible the worldwide broadcast of Neil Armstrong's first steps on the moon. The film stars Sam Neill and Patrick Warburton ('Puddy' on Seinfeld). (2.) Critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Dog in the Band' by Frank Black and the Catholics. (3.) Writer DAGOBERTO GILB. His first book of short stories 'The Magic of Blood' was published in 1993. Since then he's written a novel, 'The Last Known Residence of Mickey Acuna.' His new book is a collection of stories about women, 'Woodcuts of Women.' (4.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'My Dream of You' (Riverhead) by Irish writer Nuala O'Faolain.

Interview with David Chase; Interview with Michael Imperioli; Commentary on Nancy Marchand; Review of two new films "15 Minutes" and "Series 7." March 9, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825601].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Creator and executive producer of the HBO hit series 'The Sopranos,' DAVID CHASE. The show has just begun its 3rd season. (REBROADCAST from 6/22/00)(2.) Actor MICHAEL IMPERIOLI. He currently stars as Christopher in "The Sopranos" and has written some episodes. IMPERIOLI also appeared in five Spike Lee films, and starred in, co-wrote and executive produced Lee's film "Summer of Sam." IMPERIOLI also appeared in the films "Goodfellas," "Malcolm X," "Clockers," and "Household Saints." (REBROADCAST from 3/9/00)(3.) Actress NANCY MARCHAND. Before her role as the harping mother on 'The Sopranos', she was best known for her recurring roll as Mrs. Pynchon on the TV series "Lou Grant. MARCHAND's film credits included "Jefferson in Paris," "The Naked Gun," and "The Bostonians." She died last year. This interview was conducted by TV critic David Bianculli. (REBROADCAST from 3/18/99) (4.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews '15 Minutes' and 'Series Seven.'
Interview with Asma Jahangir; Review of Ralph Gleason's Jazz Casual Series; Review of the television show 'The Chris Isaak Show.' March 12, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825597].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Human Rights Lawyer ASMA JAHANGIR ('AHS-mah Juh-HAHNG-Gear'. She's been at the forefront of the movements for women's rights, human rights and peace in Pakistan for twenty years. She co-founded the Human Rights Commission of Pakistan. In her work she's defended a boy against the charge of blasphemy-the penalty would have been death. She's defended the right of women to chose their own husbands. Because of her efforts she's been arrested, received death threats, and been the target of hostile propaganda. JAHANGIR is one of the six recipients of the new Millennium peace Prize for Women, which is cosponsored by the UN Development Fund for Women. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews Ralph Gleason's Jazz Casual Series (Rhino), a collection of Gleason's 1960s TV show on DVD and video. (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the premiere of 'The Chris Isaak Show' on Showtime, a series starring musician Chris Isaak.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian AVI SHLAIM ('AH-vee SHLAME') is the author of the new book, 'The Iron Wall: Israel and the Arab World.' SHLAIM's book is a revisionist interpretation of Isreal's policy toward the Arab world, based on newly released documents, and on interviews with policymakers and participants in events. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) We remember writer ROBERT LUDLUM. His string of bestsellers, such as 'The Bourne Identity,' 'The Osterman Weekend,' and 'The Icarus Agenda,' established him as one of literature's most successful espionage novelists. LUDLUM died yesterday of a heart attack. He was 74 years old.(REBROADCAST from 3/10/88)
Interview with Dennis Lehane; Interview with Gina Gallo; Commentary on language. March 14, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825599].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Crime novelist DENNIS LEHANE ('la-HAIN'). He's written five novels featuring the working-class Boston private detective team of Patrick Kenzie and Angela Gennaro. They include 'A Drink Before the War,' 'Darkness Take My Hand,' 'Sacred,' 'Gone, Baby, gone,' and 'Prayers for Rain.' LEHANE abandons the duo for his new book about the affect of an abduction on a group of boys. It's a thriller, 'Mystic River' (William Morrow). A critic with The New York Times writes of the book, 'This one is terrific: soulful, atmospheric, suspenseful and propelled by deep, wrenching emotions.' (2.) Former Chicago policewoman GINA GALLO. While she was part of the force, she also wrote about her work in columns for NYCop online magazine and Blue Murders online magazine. They were collected in the book 'Crime Scenes' (Blue Murder Press). She has a new memoir, 'Armed & Dangerous: Memoirs of a Chicago Policewoman.' (Forge)(3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the word 'like.'

Interview with Kate Winslet; Interview with Bill Sloan; Review of the band Swag's new album "Catch-All." March 15, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825602].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) British actress KATE WINSLET. The 24 year-old actress became a star with her role in the blockbuster 'Titanic.' Before that she made her breakthrough in 'Heavenly Creatures,' the film based on a true story of two young girls who murder the mother of one of them. Her other films include Ang Lee's 'Sense and Sensibility,' and Jane Campion's 'Holy Smoke.' She's currently starring in the film 'Quills.'(2.) Journalist BILL SLOAN is the author of 'I Watched a Wild Hog Eat My Baby! A Colorful History of Tabloids and Their Cultural Impact' (Prometheus Books). SLOAN is a former tabloid insider having worked for 'The National Enquirer,' Montreal's 'Midnight' (now called 'Globe'), and the 'National Tattler.' SLOAN was also an investigative reporter for the Dallas Times Herald. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Catchall' the new release by the band Swag.
Interview with Steven Tyler and Joe Perry; Interview with Paul Simon; Review of the film "Memento." March 16, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825612].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) STEVEN TYLER and JOE PERRY are two of the original members of the band Aerosmith. Next week the band will be inducted into the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame. (REBROADCAST from 9/10/97) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Singer/songwriter PAUL SIMON. Already an inductee in the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame, as a duo with Art Garfunkle, next week he will be inducted into the Hall of Fame as a solo artist. As a solo artist, his albums include 'Still Crazy After All These Years,' 'Graceland,' and 'Rhythm of the Saints.' His new album is 'You're The One.' (Warner Bros.) (REBROADCAST from 12/11/00)(3.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'Momento.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The founder of the Mamas and the Papas, JOHN PHILLIPS. He died of heart failure on Sunday. He was 65. PHILLIPS was the principal songwriter for the pop group which had a string of hits from 1966 to 1968 when the group broke up. Their hits included 'Monday, Monday,' 'California Dreamin',' 'I Saw Her Again Last Night' and others. (REBROADCAST from 1986)(2.) Saxophonist/composer JOE LOVANO. Last year he was voted Down Beat Readers and Critics Poll Winner Tenor Player of the Year. Early in his career LOVANO played with Woody Herman and the Mel Lewis Orchestra. He's also worked with Elvin Jones, Carla Bley, Lee Konitz and Charlie Haden. And he played with the Paul Motian Trio which featured his Berklee School of music classmate, Bill Frisell. In 1991 he began work as a leader, and has recorded a number of albums. His latest is 'Flights of Fancy: Trio Fascination, Edition Two' (Blue Note). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)
Interview with Ellen Burstyn; Interview with Ruben Ramos; Interview with Laura Hillenbrand. March 20, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825390].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress ELLEN BURSTYN. She's up for an academy award for her portrayal of the mother of a drug addict who is also an addict herself in the film 'Requiem for a Dream.' This is her 5th nomination and could be her second win. She won the Academy Award for the 1974 film 'Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore.' BURSTYN's other films include 'The Last Picture Show,' 'The Exorcist,' and 'Same Time, Next Year' (she starred in the Broadway version too and won a Tony).(2.) RUBEN RAMOS is considered a pioneer of Tejano music, the sound known for its traditional Mexican roots infused with the big-band sound of the 1940s, and heavily influenced by blues and rock. He's bandleader of Ruben and the Texas Revolution. Their most recent recording is 'El Gato Negro: A Class Act' (Revolution). He's also part of the all-star band Los Super Seven which has a new CD 'Canto' (Columbia/Legacy).(3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Seabiscuit: An American Legend' about the famous racehorse of the 1930s by Laura Hillenbrand.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Director MIKE NICHOLS. He directed the new HBO movie 'Wit' based on the Pulitzer-prize winning off-Broadway play about a college professor dying of ovarian cancer. (It premieres on HBO Saturday, March 24 at 9PM). NICHOLS is also the director of 'The Graduate' (for which he won an Oscar for Best Director), 'Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf,' 'Silkwood,' 'Working Girl,' and 'Primary Colors.' Before he became a film director NICHOLS was known for his popular comedy improvisations with Elaine May. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Classical Music Critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a series of concerts by Pierre Boulez and the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra.
Interview with Ken Herman; Interview with Joseph Hallinan; Review of Ronny Elliott's new CD called "Poisonville." March 22, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825543].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist KEN HERMAN from the Austin American Statesman. He's has been covering Texas politics for over 20 years and is currently in Washington, covering the first six months of President George W. Bush's administration. He'll talk about the differences between George W. Bush the governor and George W. Bush the President. HERMAN will also talk about President Bush's first few months in office?- his new policies, the outcome of his campaign promises, and the press corp's reaction to Bush.

(2.) Pulitzer-prize winning journalist JOSEPH HALLINAN. He's been writing about the criminal-justice system for about a decade. For his new book, 'Going Up the River: Travels in Prison Nation' (Random House) he looks at the consequences of our country's prison boom. The prison-industrial complex is our nation's biggest growth industry. HALLINAN currently writes for The Wall Street Journal. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Poisonville' the new CD by singer Ronny Elliott.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Director STEVEN SODERBERGH. Two of his films are big contenders for Academy Awards on Sunday. His film 'Traffic' has been nominated for Five awards: Best Picture, Best Directing, Best Editing, Best Writing (Adapted), as well as Best Actor in a Supporting Role for actor Benicio Del Toro. His film 'Erin Brokovich' has been nominated for five awards also: Best Directing, Best Picture, Best Writer (original screenplay), as well as Best Actor in a supporting role for Albert Finney, and Best Actress in a Leading role for Julia Roberts. Soderbergh began his career with the low budget hit, 'Sex, Lies and Videotape.' His other films include 'The Limey,' 'Out of Sight,' and 'Kafka.' (REBROADCAST from 1/2/2001)(2.) Film director ANG LEE. His film 'Crouching Tiger, Killing Dragon,' is up for ten academy awards: Best Foreign Language Film, Best Art Direction, Best Cinematography, Best Costume Design, Best Directing, Best Editing, Best Music (Score), Best Music (song), Best Picture, and Best Writing (screen adaption). The film stars Chow Yun-Fat and Michelle Yeow ('Yo'). LEE is best known for his English-language dramas such as 'Sense and Sensibility,' the Jane Austen novel adaptation, as well as the Chinese-American themed 'Eat Drink Man Woman' and 'The Wedding Banquet.' In 'Crouching Tiger,' Lee brings an art-house sensibility to the Hong Kong martial arts genre. (REBROADCAST from 12/5/2000)

(3.) Actress MICHELLE YEOW ('Yo'). She's been called Asia's foremost female action star. She's the lead in 'Crouching Tiger, Killing Dragon.' Yeow has starred in many films including 'Supercop' with Jackie Chan and the 007 thriller 'Tomorrow Never Dies.' Yeow is also a film producer. She is a native of Ipoh, Malaysia, and in fact was once Miss Malaysia. (REBROADCAST from 12/5/2000)

(4.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'Enemy at the Gates' starring Jude Law and Joseph Finnes.

Interview with Jackie McLean; Review of the Vermeer exhibit at the Met. March 26, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825393].

Description of show segment(s)

(1). Jazz saxophonist JACKIE MCLEAN ('mc-CLEAN'). The legendary alto sax player began playing saxophone at the age of 15 in native New York City. Schooled in bebop at the start of his career, McLean names Coleman Hawkins, Lester Young and Charlie Parker as influences. He's played with jazz greats pianist Bud Powell, Miles Davis and Charles Mingus. He continues to play and record today. He also teaches music at the University of Hartford. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Classical music critic Lloyd Schwartz turns art critic to talk about the work of the Dutch painter Vermeer. There's a major show at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

Interview with Jared Harris; Commentary on Pub rock; Commentary on language. March 27, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825546].

Description of show segment(s)

(1). Actor JARED HARRIS. Son of actor Richard Harris, Jared has acted in theater and on the big screen. He's appeared in movies like 'I Shot Andy Warhol,' 'Happiness,' 'Sunday,' 'Smoke,' and VH1's 'Two of Us,' in which he plays Beatle John Lennon. He talks to us today about his newest movie called 'Shadow Magic,' which is set in China. Harris plays the man that brought the motion picture projector to China.
He lives in New York City. (2.) Rock Historian ED WARD talks about 'Pub Rock.' (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG talks about the use of the term 'Lucubrate.'

---

Interview with Jack Bishop; Interview with Mary Simmons; Review of the band "Public Announcement's" new CD. March 28, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825545].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Cookbook author and food writer JACK BISHOP. His latest book is called Vegetables Everyday (Harper Collins). BISHOP writes about food for the New York Times, and Cooks Illustrated and Natural Health Magazines. His other cookbooks include Pasta e Verdua, The Complete Italian Vegetarian Cookbook, and Lasagna. (2.) Food writer MARIE SIMMONS. Her latest cookbook is called 'The Good Egg' (Houghton Mifflin Co). She writes about food for Bon Appetit, Ladies Home Journal, and Food & Wine. Her other cook books include 'Lighter, Quicker, Better,' and the A to Z series. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new CD from Public Announcement.

---

Interview with Christopher Nolan; Interview with James Sallis; Review of Julie Salamon's new novel, "Facing the wind." March 29, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825391].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Screen writer and director CHRISTOPHER NOLAN. His new film Memento, is about a man who is unable to make new memories since the violent murder of his wife. Now without a short term memory, he seeks to avenge her death. The movie stars Guy Pearce, with Carrie-Anne Moss and Joe Pantoliano. The script for Memento was based on a short story written by Johnathan Nolan, CHRISTOPHER NOLAN'S brother. Memento is CHRISTOPHER NOLAN'S second feature film; his first was the critically acclaimed 1998 film Following. (2). Writer JAMES SALLIS. Probably best known for his mystery writing, Sallis is the author of the new highly anticipated biography of African American mystery writer and realist Chester Himes. Himes wrote several books in the late 50s like 'The Real Cool Killers,' and 'Cotton Comes to Harlem.' Sallis has also published several science fiction stories as well as the Lew Griffin mystery series.
His book about the lives of noir writers 'Difficult Lives,' came out last year. (3.) Book Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the new true crime book, Facing the Wind (Random House).

---

Interview with Neil Innes; Interview with Joan Cusack; Interview with John LeCarre; Review of the film "The Tailor of Panama." March 30, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825542].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Record producer and songwriter NEIL INNES (IN-ess). He is a founding member of the comedy-rock group "The Bonzo Dog Band." He's also a member of "The Rutles," the band which he and Eric Idle of Monty Python, created as a spoof of the Beatles. INNES is also considered the "seventh Python" player because he provided and performed comedy music for the Monty Python troupe. The Rutles first came to the attention of the public in 1978 when their spoof documentary "All You Need is Cash" aired. Many of the original stars of Saturday Night Live appeared in the film. The film has just been released on DVD. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 1/15/97.)

(2.) Actress JOAN CUSACK ('Q' (like the letter)- sack). She has received two best supporting actress Oscar nominations -- in 1988 for her role in Working Girl, and in 1997 for her role in In and Out. Her other movies include Broadcast News, Grosse Pointe Blank, Arlington Road, The Cradle Will Rock, Runaway Bride, and High Fidelity, based on the novel by Nick Hornby. She has a new sit com on ABC called 'What About Joan.' It airs Tuesday nights. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 3/23/00)

(3.) Spy novelist JOHN LE CARRE. His novels, almost every one of which is considered a masterpiece of the genre, include "The Spy Who Came In From the Cold," "A Small Town in Germany," "Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy" and "The Little Drummer Girl." Several of his works have been made into movies. The new film "The Tailor of Panama" is based on his book. (REBROADCAST FROM 5/30/89)

(4.) Film critic HNERY SHEEHAN reviews the new film 'The Tailor of Panama,' starring Pierce Brosnan and Geoffrey Rush.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Irish writer NUALA O'FAOLAIN (NEW-la oh-FWAY-lawn). Her newest book is her first novel called 'My Dream of You' (Riverhead Books). Her critically acclaimed 1998 memoir, 'Are You Somebody? The Accidental Memoir of a Dublin Woman' was on the New York Times bestseller list. O'FAOLAIN is also a columnist for the Irish Times; she has been at the paper for over 12 years. (2.) Classical Music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ on the music of composer/poet/dancer/calligrapher Lou Harrison.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We learn about caves from journalist and caver MICHAEL RAY TAYLOR. His new book is called Caves: Exploring Hidden Realms (National Geographic Society). He is also the author of the creative nonfiction works DARK LIFE (Scribner 1999) and CAVE PASSAGES (Scribner 1996). He has written for the Discovery Channel Online, Audubon, Sports Illustrated, Reader's Digest, and many other magazines. He'll talk about the geology of underwater caves and ice caves, and the secret microbial life flourishing in caves. (2.) Writer RICHARD BERNSTEIN. He has served as TIME Magazine's Beijing Bureau Chief as well as the New York Times' National Cultural Correspondent and now, book critic. He's published several books including 'From the Center of the Earth,' a book on modern China and 'Dictatorship of Virtue,' which examines multiculturalism. His newest book is 'Ultimate Journey: Retracing the Path of an Ancient Buddhist Monk Who Crossed Asia in Search of Enlightenment.' In it, Bernstein traces the monk Hsuan Tsang's legendary journey through seventh century China and India. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Gardens of Kyoto' (Scribner) the debut novel by Kate Walbert.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The Car Talk guys, TOM & RAY MAGLIOZZI talk with Terry about their first garage and more. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the premiere of the new Comedy Central sitcom about life in the Bush Whitehouse, 'That's My Bush' by the creators of 'South Park.'

Interview with Fred Sheftell; Commentary on Barbara Acklin. April 5, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825800].

Description of show segment(s)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comic BOB NEWHART. He's been a part of the American comedy landscape since 1961 when his debut comedy album "The Button-Down Mind of Bob Newhart" became a surprise hit. Since then he's starred in three TV shows, including the Peabody award winning original "The Bob Newhart Show." And appeared in numerous films. There's a new Rhino anthology of his classic routines, "Something Like This. . .The Bob Newhart Anthology." Recently NEWHART was honored at the Aspen Comedy Festival. This Fall NEWHART is scheduled to co-star in a pilot for a new TV show. There's also a live concert

---

Interview with Anne Nivat; Commentary on Sun Ra. April 9, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825799].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist ANNE NIVAT ('NEE-VAH') is Moscow correspondent for the French paper Liberation. Two years ago, after the Russians denied her press access to Chechnya, she disguised herself as a Chechen peasant woman and snuck across the boarder. For six months she followed the war, traveling with the underground rebels and staying with families. Her reports were published in Liberation. Her new memoir is 'Chienne De Guerre: A Woman Reporter Behind the Lines of the War In Chechnya' (PublicAffairs). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD begins a new six-part series we call 'Avant Garde Made Easy' highlighting some of the important modern jazz mavericks of the so-called Avant Garde. We begin the series with pianist, composer, and band leader Sun Ra. (Information regarding the music used in the piece can be found on the Fresh Air website).

---

Interview with Lou Michel and Dan Herbeck; Interview with Don Hewitt. April 10, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825790].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalists LOU MICHEL ('Meh-SHELL') and DAN HERBECK are staff writers for the Buffalo News. The two have collaborated on the new book 'American Terrorist: Timothy McVeigh & the Oklahoma City Bombing' (ReganBooks). MICHEL lived twenty minutes away from the McVeigh's father, and over time he developed a relationship with the elder McVeigh which in turn helped him gain access to his son. MICHEL and HERBECK conducted nearly 80 hours of interviews with Timothy McVeigh. During the interviews, McVeigh expressed no remorse for the 168 deaths he caused and described the 19 children he killed as 'collateral damage.' McVeigh is scheduled to be put to death by lethal injection on May 16th. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Veteran broadcaster and executive producer of 60 Minutes, DON HEWITT. He's been with CBS News since 1948 and was producer-director of the CBS Evening News with Walter Cronkite before creating 60 Minutes in 1968. He's written a new memoir, 'Tell Me a Story: Fifty Years and 60 Minutes in Television' (PublicAffairs books)

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Classical pianist and conductor MURRAY PERAHIA ('Per-EYE-ah'). He's been exploring the music of J.S. Bach in his recordings. His latest is 'Bach's Keyboard Concertos vol. 1' which he recorded and conducted with the St. Martin in the Fields ensemble. He also recorded the 'Goldberg Variations' and Bach's complete English Suites. (All are on Sony Classical). In 1994 PERAHIA suffered a thumb injury that left him unable to play regularly for a year. He took up his first conducting post as Principal Guest conductor of the Academy of St. Martin in the Fields. They just completed a 10-city tour. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

---

Interview with Emmanuel Dongala; Review of Tim Buckley, ?Morning Glory.? April 12, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825784].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) African novelist and chemist EMMANUEL DONGALA. He was born in the Congo Republic, was educated in the U.S., and left the Congo with the outbreak of civil war in 1997. Two of his novels have just been translated to English: 'Little Boys Come From the Stars' and 'The Fires of Origins' (both by Lawrence Hill Books). With the help of writers Philip Roth and William Styron, DONGALA now has a visiting professorship in chemistry at Simon's Rock of Bard College in Massachusetts. DONGALA is also president of the Congolese PEN Centre. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist PHILIP ROTH. His book 'The Human Stain' about a classics professor accused of racism has just won the PENN/Faulkner Award for Fiction. It's his second such award. He won his first in 1994 with 'Operation Shylock. 'The Human Stain' is the third of a trilogy which includes his 'American Pastoral' and 'I Married a Communist'. (REBROADCAST from 5/8/2000) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'Bridget Jones's Diary.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) April 17th marks the 40th Anniversary of the Bay of Pigs invasion, in which Cuban exiles trained by the CIA unsuccessfullly tried to invade Cuba and overthrow Castro. A talk with PETER KORNBLUH of the National Security Archives. He edited the new book 'Bay of Pigs Declassified' (The New Press). Among the documents released is the agency's post-mortem on the disastrous invasion, written after a six-month investigation. It was one of the most closely guarded secrets of the Cold War. Recently KORNBLUH organized an international conference in Havana on the Bay of Pigs. Also we hear from the Chief of the Cuban Interests Section here in the U.S., FERNANDO RAMIREZ. (MORE INTERVIEWS ON THE SUBJECT IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) A talk with two individuals involved in the invasion: ALFREDO DURAN who was 24 years old when he was part of the Brigade 2506, the group that invaded Cuba. And ROBERT REYNOLDS who was chief of the CIA's Miami station during the Bay of Pigs. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer WENDY SWALLOW. She's a former staff writer for the Washington Post. She's written a new memoir about divorce, 'Breaking Apart: Dreaming of Divorce' (Hyperion). She writes about the slow unraveling of her 12 year marriage, and the impact on herself, her husband, and their two sons. She writes, 'There are those who believe it is simple selfishness that leads people to divorce. For those of us who have lived it, it's hard to see why anyone would rip out their veins for some immature or narcissistic desire to get what they want.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).
(2.) We remember rock musician JOEY RAMONE, the lead singer of the punk band The Ramones. He died on Sunday at the age of 49. He had lymphoma. From their start in 1974, the Ramones combined fast, deafening guitar with precise drumming to create a hurricane of sound. Their songs had titles like "Beat on the Brat," "Gimme Gimme Shock Treatment" and "Now I Wanna Sniff Some Glue." (REBROADCAST from 9/8/88)(3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews last night's premiere of NBC'S 'The Weakest Link' the latest British-imported game show.

Interview with Benson Bobrick; Commentary on trumpeter Lester Bowie; Commentary on language. April 18, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825673].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer BENSON BOBRICK. He's the author of the recently published 'Wide as the Waters: The Story of the English Bible and the Revolution It Inspired.' The book chronicles the difficulties scholars had in translating the Bible into English ? efforts that culminated in the King James version. Bobrick is the author of several books and lives in Brattleboro, Vermont.(2.) We continue our 'Avant-Garde Made Easy,' series by jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD with the music of trumpeter Lester Bowie.(3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG examines the origins of the word 'apology.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1). Sherpa JAMLING TENSING NORGAY. Author of the new book 'Touching My Father's Soul,' Norgay was Climbing Leader for the 1996 Everest IMAX Filming Expedition and summited the Mountain that year. He's also the son of Tenzing Norgay, one of the first men in history to summit Mt. Everest. In his book, Jamling Norgay recounts his 1996 Mt. Everest ascent: the climb and its familial meaning. He now heads Tenzing Norgay Adventures which is based in India.(2.) KENNETH KAMLER, MD is a surgeon who also climbs mountains. He was team doctor on three expeditions to the top of Mount Everest, including the disastrous 1996 trip. Kamler is both storyteller and advisor in his book, Doctor on Everest: Emergency Medicine at the Top of the World A Personal Account including the 1996 Disaster. Blackened limbs due to severe frostbite were the least of his troubles: I-V fluids are frozen solid, and abrasions cannot heal at such high altitudes. Kamlers day job is Director of the Hand Treatment Center in Hyde Park, New York, where he is a microsurgeon. Hes done research on telemedicine for NASA and Yale Medical School.(3.) Book Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the "Death in holy orders" by P.D. James.

Interview with Mel Brooks; Interview with Gary Sinise and Terry Kinney; Review of the music album ?Isolation Drills.? April 20, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825671].

Description of show segment(s)

(1). The broadway musical 'The Producers' has opened on Broadway, based on the Mel Brooks movie. It starts Nathan Lane and Matthew Broderick. . . We feature an archive interview with MEL BROOKS. (REBROADCAST from 7/30/91)(2) Chicago's Steppenwolf Theatre's production of 'One Flew Over the Cukoos Nest' is also on Broadway. . . We feature interviews with actor GARY SINISE who stars in it, and director TERRY KINNEY. Steppenwolf is an actor-driven theatre known for its ensemble acting, and cutting-edge acting style. (REBROADCAST from 9/20/2000)(3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Isolation Drills' the new release by the band Guided by Voices.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) In 1945 the U.S.S. Indianapolis was torpedoed in the South Pacific. Nearly 900 men ended up in the water, but after four days fighting hypothermia, dehydration and sharks, only 317 crewmen survived. A talk with two of the survivors: PAUL MURPHY, Chairman of the Indianapolis Survivors Organization and HAROLD BRAY. Their story was told in the 1958 book 'Abandon Ship! The Saga of the U.S.S. Indianapolis, the Navy's Greatest Sea Disaster' by Richard Newcomb which has just been republished (Harper). The captain of the ship was court-martialed for failure to practice evasive maneuvers in enemy waters; but it's widely believed he scapegoated for the disaster. Last Fall, Congress passed legislation exonerating the captain, but the legislation did not clear the conviction from his record. The Survivors Organization is working to clear it. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JAMES BAMFORD has investigated the inner-workings of the National Security Agency for his new book, 'Body of Secrets: Anatomy of the Ultra-Secret National Security Agency: From the Cold War Through the Dawn of a New Century' (Doubleday). The book examines the Agency's past and its present activities including the ongoing hunt for the terrorist Osama bin Laden. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Kent Walker; Commentary on Anthony Braxton. April 25, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825463].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) KENT WALKER is the oldest son of Sante Kimes, the 66-year old con-artist and convicted killer. Last year Kimes was convicted along with her other son Kevin Kimes of murdering an elderly Manhattan millionaires. The two have also been connected to the deaths or disappearances of three other wealthy people. Sante Kimes has been dubbed the 'Dragon Lady.' Her other crimes include shoplifting, arson, and slavery. KENT WALKER's book is 'Son of a Grifter' (written with Mark Schone, published by William Morrow). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD continues with part three of his Avant-Garde Made Easy series. This time he considers improviser and saxophonist Anthony Braxton. (More information about Braxton can be found on the Fresh Air website).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Mexican Filmmaker ALEJANDRO GONZALEZ INARRITU. His debut film 'Amores Perros' has just been released in the U.S. to critical acclaim. The film follows the lives of three groups of people whose human relationships parallel the relationships they have with their dogs. Released in Los Angeles theaters in April, the movie was nominated for an Oscar in the category of Best Foreign Language Film. Other awards include the Canal Award at Cannes 2000, Grand Prix for Best Film and Best Director at the Tokyo International Film Festival and New Director's Award at Edinburgh. (2). Writer PAUL ROBESON, JR. He's just written a new memoir called 'The Undiscovered Paul Robeson,' the first of a two part series on his father, the famed actor, singer and athlete. He talks about his father's rise in show business and what it was like growing up as the son of an icon. He lives in Brooklyn, New York. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director JOEL SCHUMACHER. His films include 'St. Elmo's Fire,' 'The Client,' 'A Time to Kill,' and 'Batman Forever.' SCHUMACHER's latest film 'Tigerland' is now out on video, about a group of army recruits in training who are about to be shipped off to Vietnam. The film was made on a low budget in 28 days, on sixteen millimeter film and mostly with hand-held cameras. In making the film SCHUMACHER was inspired by the Dogma 95 movement by Danish film director Lars von Trier. The movement rejects Hollywood artifice, abandoning the use of elaborate lighting, special effects and music. (REBROADCAST from 10/9/00)(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Tropical Brainstorm' the final album by the late British singer-songwriter Kirsty MacColl.(3.) Actor GREG KINNEAR (kin-EAR). His newest film is 'Someone Like You.' He plays a soap opera star in the film 'Nurse Betty' which is now out on video. KINNEAR's other films include 'As Good As It Gets' (for which he was nominated for an Academy Award) and 'Sabrina.' KINNEAR got his start as host and executive producer of 'Talk Soup' on E! Entertainment. Later he hosted his own late-night talk show, 'Later with Greg Kinnear.' (REBROADCAST from 9/14/00)(4.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'Town & Country.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Beatle PAUL MCCARTNEY. His song lyrics include 'When I'm Sixty-Four,' 'Yesterday,' 'Fool on the Hill,' 'Paperback writer' and many more. They are collected as well as his poems in a new volume, 'Blackbird Singing: Poems and Lyrics 1965-1999' (W.W. Norton). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Michael Chabon; Commentary on the 1906's band "Love." May 1, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825526].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer MICHAEL CHABON (SHAY-bon). Chabon just won a year 2000 Pulitzer prize for his novel 'The Amazing Adventures of Kavalier and Clay' (Random House). His other books include The Mysteries of Pittsburgh, and a collection of stories called Werewolves in Their Youth. Last year, his book Wonder Boys was adapted into a film starring Michael Douglas. He has also written for many publications including The New Yorker, Harpers, and Esquire.

(2.) Rock Critic ED WARD on the music of the 60s band Love. Their album Forever Changes has just been reissued by Rhino.

Interview with Mark Bowden; Review of the book, "Womens Tales from the New Mexico WPA." May 2, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825679].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist MARK BOWDEN (BOW-den, as in 'take a bow.') His new book is called 'Killing Pablo: The Hunt for the Worlds Greatest Outlaw' (Atlantic Monthly Press.) It's an investigation into the U.S. government's role in bringing down Colombian cocaine kingpin and terrorist Pablo Escobar. BOWDEN will talk about Escobar, the world of drug trafficking and U.S./Colombia relations. MARK BOWDEN is a reporter with the Philadelphia Inquirer. His previous book was the award winning bestseller Black Hawk Down. A film adaptation is in the works.

(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Women's Tales from the New Mexico WPA' (Arte Publico Press) a collection of interviews with rural Hispanic women conducted as part of the Federal Writer's Project during the Depression and published here for the first time.

Interview with Laura Linney; Interview with Bahman Farmanara; Commentary on Cecil Taylor. May 3, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825676].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress LAURA LINNEY. She was nominated for an Academy Award this year for best actress in the film 'You Can Count on Me.' She's currently starring in 'Further Tales of the City,' (premiering Sunday May 6th at 10 PM on Showtime) the third installment of Armistead Maupin's saga of San Francisco life in the 1980s. LINNEY also starred in the previous 'Tales of the City' and 'More Tales of the City.' Her other films include 'The House of Mirth' and 'The Truman Show.' LINNEY got her start in the theatre when she was 12 years old.

(2.) Iranian filmmaker BAHMAN FARMANARA ('FAR-ma-NA-ra'). He began making films 30 years ago in his native country. Recently he returned to Iran after many years living in Canada, running a film festival and teaching. He's also returned to filmmaking. His new film 'Smell of Camphor, Fragrance of Jasmine' is his first in 20 years. He also stars in the film about a fictional film director making a film about his own death. (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD continues his Avant Garde Made Easy series with a look at pianist Cecil Taylor.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Editor in chief of Gourmet magazine, and former restaurant critic for The New York Times RUTH REICHL ("RYE-shall"). Her book "Tender at the Bone: Growing up at the Table," a memoir of her lifelong passion for food was a bestseller. She continues her story with the new book, 'Comfort Me with Apples: More Adventures at the Table' (Random House). (REBROADCAST from 6/29/98)(2.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new Australian film 'Chopper.'(3.) Attorney and former Deputy Commissioner of Baseball, STEPHEN GREENBERG. He'll discuss his father, legendary baseball player Hank Greenberg, who faced bigotry in the 1930s and 40s as America's first Jewish baseball star. Greenberg played first base and outfield for the Detroit Tigers from 1933-46 and for the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1947. And he helped the Tigers win the pennant four times. The documentary about him, 'The Life and Times of Hank Greenberg' (by Aviva Kempner) will air on Cinemax this month. (REBROADCAST from 3/14/00)(4.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews last night's season finale of 'Survivor.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) British actor COLIN FIRTH. Up until now, he was probably best known for his role as Mr. Darcy in the BBC/A&E production of 'Pride & Prejudice.' The film turned him into a heart-throb. He stars in the new film 'Bridget Jones's Diary' based on the book of the same name which borrows from the storyline of 'Pride & Prejudice.' He plays hate/love-interest Mark Darcy. COLIN FIRTH the actor shows up in the book sequel to Bridge Jones's Diary. His other films include 'Valmont,' 'Another Country,' 'The English Patient,' 'Shakespeare in Love,' and 'Fever Pitch.' FIRTH shows off his writing in the new book edited by Nick Hornby, 'Speaking with the Angel.' (Riverhead Books). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO Interview with David Snowden; Commentary on language; Commentary on Albert Ayler. May 8, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825524].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Epidemiologist and one of the world's leading experts on Alzheimer's disease, DAVID SNOWDON. In 1986 he began what he calls the 'Nun Study' to follow a group of aging nuns to better understand why some of the sisters were able to age gracefully, retaining the mental faculties, and others were not. He studied 678 nuns who belonged to The School Sisters of Notre Dame. His study is published today (Monday, May 7th) in The Journal of Personality and Social Psychology. It's also the subject of SNOWDON's book, 'Aging with Grace: What the Nun Study Teaches Us About Leading Longer, Healthier, and More Meaningful Lives' (Bantam Books). SNOWDON is Professor of Neurology at the University of Kentucky Medical Center. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the anachronistic use of words.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Basketball Hall of Famer, and former Boston Celtic BILL RUSSELL. He's considered the greatest defensive center in the history of the game. In the 1960s he helped the Celtic on to 11 NBA championships in 13 seasons. He was named the NBA's most valuable player five times. He's written a new book, 'Russell Rules: 11 Lessons on Leadership From the Twentieth Century's Greatest Winner' (Dutton)(2.) Studio drummer HAL BLAINE. His distinctive sound could be heard on thousands of recordings from the late 1950s and on for 25 years. He played on the hit records, 'Be My Baby' by The Ronettes, 'Good Vibrations' by the Beach Boys, 'I Got You Babe,' by Sony & Cher, 'Mr. Tambourine Man,' by The Byrds, 'Monday, Monday' by the Mamas and the Papas, 'Strangers in the Night' by Frank Sinatra, and many many more. Last year BLAINE was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame.

---

Interview with Johnston, David Cay; Review of Barbara Ehrenreich's book,"Nickel and Dimed."

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist DAVID CAY JOHNSTON. Last month he won a Pulitzer Prize for beat reporting. His beat is taxes. He writes about tax inequities, tax loopholes and the IRS for The New York Times. In a recent article (April 8, 2001), JOHNSTON wrote about the effect of the estate tax on farmers. The President contends that to help save the family farm, estate taxes should be repealed. JOHNSTON found that very few farmers pay estate tax, and he couldn't find an example of one farm that had been lost because of estate taxes. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE STORY).(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Nickel and Dimed: On (Not) Getting By in America' (Metropolitan Books) by Barbara Ehrenreich.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian and actor TIM MEADOWS. MEADOWS was a regular on TV's Saturday Night Live for some 9 years. Leon the Ladies Man, a swingin' politically incorrect radio love doctor that he played on the show, is featured in the film 'The Ladies Man' which is now out on video. (REBROADCAST from 10/23/00)(2.) Singer KEELY SMITH. She's been called 'The Queen of Swing' and 'the First Lady of Las Vegas'. SMITH is perhaps best known as the duet partner and wife of Louis Prima. Smith and Prima drew crowds to the lounges of Las Vegas in the 1950s. Their hits include 'Jump, Jive, an' Wail,' 'Just a Gigolo,' 'I've Got You Under My Skin,' and 'That Old Black Magic.' Smith talks about her marriage to Prima, the music they made together, and her career. Smith's newest CD is 'Keely Sings Sinatra' (Concord Jazz) (REBROADCAST from 4/4/2000)(3.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews the new documentary about Latin jazz, 'Calle 54.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer DAVID RAKOFF ('Rack-OFF'). He's a regular contributor to 'Outside,' the 'New York Times Magazine,' and public radio's 'This American Life.' One of his peers, writer Paul Rudnick says of him, 'Rakoff is a comic saint... an ideal mix of the crabby and the debonair.' RAKOFF has a new collection of essays, 'Fraud' (Doubleday). He's also appearing in Amy & David Sedaris' new off-broadway show. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the hit debut single of the girl-group 'Eden's Crush' and the new comeback CD 'God Bless the Go-Gos' by (of course) the Go'Gos.

Interview with Daniel Schacter; Interview with Michela Wrong; Commentary on language. May 15, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825510].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Psychologist DANIEL SCHACTER. He's the author of the new book "The Seven Sins of Memory: How the Mind Forgets and Remembers." The book looks at memory loss and age, arguing that gaps in memory are normal if not necessary to a sharp mind. He's a Professor of Psychology at Harvard University. (2.) Journalist MICHELA WRONG. She's the author of the new book "In the Footsteps of Mr. Kurtz: Living on the Brink of Disaster in Mobutu's Congo." The book examines the 1960 CIA plot to murder Patrice Lumumba who was then leader of newly independent Congo. The plot led to Lumumba's removal from power and the ascension of Mobutu Sese Seko. Wrong is a staff reporter with the Financial Times. (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the use of the word `literally.'
Interview with Bradley Whitford; Review of the season's finale of "West Wing;" Interview with Henry Sheehan. May 16, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825529].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor BRAD WHITFORD. He plays Josh Lyman, the Deputy Whitehouse Chief of Staff on the NBC drama "The West Wing." The show's season finale airs also appeared in many films including Scent of a Woman, Philadelphia, A Perfect World, Revenge of the Nerds II, and Billy Madison. He'll talk about his role on the West Wing, and what its like playing a high-ranking staff member in a fictitious White House.(2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews tonight's season finale of "The West Wing."(3.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN talks to Terry Gross about this year's Cannes Film Festival. SHEEHAN, who is currently in Cannes for the festival, will talk about the festival's film, and the buzz. The Cannes Film festival began last week and ends this weekend.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Documentary filmmakers CHRIS HEGEDUS (sounds like prejudice) & JEHANE (ja-HAN) NOUJAIM (new-JHAME {lcub}rhymes with game{rcub}). Their new film 'Startup.com' is a Cinema Verite look at the rise and fall of an internet startup company. The film premiered at the 2001 Sundance Film Festival and is now opening in theaters. HEGEDUS has been making documentaries with veteran filmmaker D.A. Pennebaker for over 20 years. Their films include, 'The War Room,' which chronicles Bill Clinton's presidential campaign. Startup.com is JEHANE NOUJAIM's first feature film. (2.) Astronaut JIM NEWMAN. Dr. Newman has logged many days in space, including many space walks. In 1998 he was a member of one of the first crews to work on the International Space Station, Endeavor. He'll talk about what it was like doing construction in space. Next year, NEWMAN will go back to space to work on and repair the Hubble Telescope.(3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Dying Animal' (Houghton Mifflin) by Philip Roth.
Interview with Benjamin Zander; Interview with Brenda Blethyn; Commentary on Misha Mengelberg. May 18, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825527].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Conductor BENJAMIN ZANDER, of the Boston Philharmonic Orchestra. He has been called "a Pied Piper" of classical music and "one of music's evangelists." His passionate performances have earned him quite a following. Through his teaching and his pre-concert discussions, he has tried to spread his love of classical music to a wider public. He has conducted the Boston Philharmonic for over 20 years. He leads the Philharmonia Orchestra on a new CD' Mahler: Symphony No. 5' (Telarc) and he has a new book, 'The Art of Possibility: Transforming Professional and Personal Life' (Harvard Business School Press). (Original broadcast: 1/6/00)(2.) British actress BRENDA BLETHYN (like 'Beth' ? 'BLETH-in'). She co-stars in the TV mini series 'Anne Frank.' It airs this Sunday and Monday on ABC. Her film, 'Saving Grace' is out on video. The British comedy is about a middle aged widow whose irresponsible husband left her in huge debt. She decides to start growing marijuana in her greenhouse instead of orchids. BLETHYN's other films include Mike Leigh's 'Secrets and Lies' (she was nominated for an Oscar) and 'Little Voice.' (Original broadcast: 8/14/00)(3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD concludes his series 'Avant Guard Made Easy' with a review of the music of Misha Mengelberg.

Interview with Mark Morris; Review of the season finale of Sopranos. May 21, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825530].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Dancer/Choreographer MARK MORRIS. Early in his career, MORRIS performed with a variety of companies. He then founded the Mark Morris Dance Group in 1980, creating over 90 works for the troupe. He has also staged over a dozen commissions for other ballet companies, including the San Francisco Ballet, Paris Opera Ballet, and the American Ballet Theatre. From 1988-1991, MORRIS was Director of Dance for the national opera house of Belgium in Brussels. MORRIS was named a MacArthur Fellow in 1991, and he is the subject of a biography by Joan Acocella (Farrar, Straus and Giroux). This spring, the Mark Morris Dance Group is opening the Mark Morris Dance Center in Brooklyn, New York. (This interview continues in the second half of the show.) (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the season finale of 'The Sopranos' which was broadcast last night on HBO.

- Page 2265 -

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian DAVID McCULLOUGH is the Pulitzer-Prize winning author of 'Truman.' His new book is the biography of founding father and second President of the United States. The book is 'John Adams' (Simon & Schuster) (2.) Food Editor for the Los Angeles Times, RUSS PARSONS. He examines the science of cooking in his new book, 'How to Read a French Fry: and other Stories of Intriguing Kitchen Science,' (Houghton Mifflin).

Interview with Wesley Clark; Commentary on language. May 23, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825507].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RETIRED GENERAL WESLEY K. CLARK. He commanded the NATO troops during the Kosovo conflict, the first and only NATO war. His new memoir is 'Waging Modern War' (PublicAffairs books). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG responds to listeners' comments about his anachronism piece a few weeks ago and the popular use of the word 'gay' referring to homosexuals.

Interview with Barron Lerner; Commentary on Bob Dylan. May 24, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825508].

Description of show segment(s)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We remember singer SUSANNAH MCCORKLE with excerpts from her Fresh Air interviews and concerts. She died last weekend after jumping to her death. She was 55. She had 17 albums to her credit and a repertoire of more than 3000 songs. Besides being a literate interpreter of American popular song, she was also a prose writer who published fiction in Mademoiselle, Cosmopolitan and 'The O. Henry Book of Short Stories.' (REBROADCASTS from 7/17/87, 12/23/88, 4/12/91, 7/3/96). (2.) We talk with Susannah McCorkle's ex-husband and former manager DAN DINICOLA.

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: (1.) Country Music Hall of Famer DOLLY PARTON. She made her debut at the Grand Ole Opry in 1959. Since then she's written thousands of songs, including the hits 'Coat of Many Colors,' 'Jolene,' and 'I Will Always Love You.' And she's had hits on both the country and pop charts. PARTON wrote her autobiography in 1994, 'My Life and Other Unfinished Business.' Her new all-acoustic CD is 'Little Sparrow' (Sugar Hill/Blue Eye Records). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (REBROADCAST from 1/23/2001)REV. : (2.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'Pearl Harbor.'

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: (1.) Deputy Editor-in-Chief of the Columbian newspaper El Tiempo, ENRIQUE SANTOS CALDERON. El Tiempo is one of Columbia's leading dailies. He'll talk about putting out a newspaper under the threat of kidnapping, torture or death from leftist guerillas and right wing paramilitary groups. In

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: (1.) DARREN STAR is the creator and executive producer of the HBO series, 'Sex and the City' which begins its fourth season on June 3rd. The series stars Sarah Jessica Parker as a columnist in New York City who chronicles the mating habits of single New Yorkers. Much of her material comes from her life and that of her three closest friends. STAR is also the creator of 'Beverly Hills 90210' and 'Melrose Place.' INT. 2: (3.) Broadway music director PAUL GEMIGNANI (gem-in-YAWN-knee). He's been the musical director of almost every Stephen Sondheim work over the last 30 years. His other productions include 'Kiss Me, Kate,' 'Crazy for You,' and 'High Society.' Next Sunday GEMINGANI will receive a lifetime achievement award at the Tony Awards. REV. : (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Survivor' the new release by Destiny's Child.

Interview with Martin Amis; Interview with Lauren Bacall; Review of the film "Moulin Rouge." June 1, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825571].

Description of show segment(s)

INT. 1: British novelist MARTIN AMIS. He's considered one of the leading British writers of the late-twentieth century and one of the most controversial. His books include 'Night Train,' 'Money: A Suicide Note,' 'The Information,' and 'London Fields.' His memoir, 'Experience,' is now out in paperback (Vintage Books). Much of it is about his father, the late writer Kingsley Amis. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (Original airdate: 6/6/00)INT. 2: Actress LAUREN BACALL is a legend, though she doesn't like to think of herself as such. She's been a star of stage and screen for nearly sixty years, was married to Humphrey Bogart, and won the National Book Award for her 1978 autobiography "By Myself." This weekend, Bacall is being honored with a Lifetime Achievement Award at the fifth annual Tony Awards Party, which takes place Sunday June 3 2001. (Original airdate: 10/18/94)REV. : Film critic Henry Sheehan reviews Moulin Rouge, starring Nicole Kidman.

Interview with Linus Torvalds; Commentary on language; Review of Maria Muldaur's new blues CD. June 4, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825570].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Computer programmer LINUS TORVALDS. He is the creator of LINUX, a computer operating system intended to improve upon UNIX. When Torvalds wrote the original code in 1991, he sent it out on the internet to allow anyone to make changes and improvements. So LINUX was developed by a committee of thousands. In the past few years, investors backed LINUX, thinking it an alternative operating system to Microsoft's. However, with the recent crash in tech stocks, LINUX suffered. Torvalds has just written a new memoir, called 'Just for Fun: The Story of an Accidental Revolutionary.' (Harper Business)(2.) Linguist Geoff Nunberg wonders if the English language could do with fewer adverbs? 'tenderly,' 'arguably' and 'hopefully,' for example.(3.) Music critic Milo Miles profiles singer Maria Muldaur, most famous for her 70s hit 'Midnight at the Oasis.' She has a new album called 'Richland Woman Blues.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer songwriter Ron Sexsmith. He brings his guitar to the studio. His new album is 'Blue Boy.' Elvis Costello has been a big supporter of Sexsmith, praising his songwriting abilities and bring him on tour as an opening act. Sexsmith has recorded three other albums. He hails from Toronto, Canada. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)(2.) Film director and writer Dominik Moll. His new movie, 'With a Friend Like Harry,' has been compared to the thrillers of Hitchcock. It's about an accidental meeting of two old friends and the subsequent unsettling turn of events. The French film thrilled audiences at the 2000 Cannes Film Festival, and won 4 Cesars awards (the French... equivalent of the Oscars). This is the second feature for the 38 year old German born filmmaker; his first was the 1993 'Intimacy,' a flop at the box office.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer Michael Pollan. His new book, 'The Botany of Desire: A Plant's-Eye View of the World' (Random House) takes a look at four plants cultivated by humans: the apple, the tulip, potatoes and marijuana. Pollan demonstrates that plants and humans have developed a reciprocal, co-evolutionary relationship: do we plant potatoes, or do potatoes seduce us into planting them? Pollan questions the assumption that we are in charge of our agriculture. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)(2.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews Empire Falls, the new novel by Richard Russo. (Knopf)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ANDREW SPIELMAN is one of the world's leading experts on mosquitoes. He's just written a book, 'Mosquito: A Natural History of Our Most Persistent And Deadly Foe.' (with Michael D'Antonio; Hyperion) We'll find out why mosquito bites itch, and how the mosquito transmits deadly diseases. Spielman is a professor at Harvard University. (2.) Stage and screen actor JONATHAN PRYCE. He plays Gustav Mahler in the new film Bride of the Wind. Pryce has won many acting awards, including two Tonys, first for 'The Comedians,' and later for his role in the hit musical 'Miss Saigon.' He's also appeared in many films including 'Brazil,' 'Evita,' 'Tomorrow Never Dies,' and 'Glengarry Glenn Ross.'
Interview with David Sedaris; Interview with Alan Cummings; Review of the film "Swordfish."

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer DAVID SEDARIS is best known for his contributing work with Public Radio's 'This American Life.' He's written three books of essays, 'Barrel Fever,' 'Naked,' and his newest 'Me Talk Pretty One Day' (Little Brown) which was just released in paperback. (original airdate: 6/1/00)(2.) Scottish actor ALAN CUMMING. He co-wrote, co-directed and is co-starring in the new film 'The Anniversary Party,' along with Jennifer Jason Leigh. His other film appearances include 'Josie and the Pussycats,' 'Get Carter,' 'Eyes Wide Shut,' and 'Emma.' He also starred in the recent revival of Cabaret. (original airdate: 11/2/00) (3.) Film critic Henry Sheehan reviews 'Swordfish,' starring John Travolta.

Interview with Andrew Solomon; Commentary on the rock group B52's. June 11, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825573].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer ANDREW SOLOMON. His new book on depression, 'The Noonday Demon: An Atlas of Depression,' (Scribner) came out of a 1998 New Yorker article. He draws on personal experience as well as interviews with patients, physicians, philosophers and drug designers.(2.) Rock historian ED WARD on the B 52's.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Los Angeles Lakers coach, PHIL JACKSON. Currently, his LA Lakers are battling the Philadelphia 76ers in the NBA Finals. They lead the series 2 games to 1. JACKSON has already won 7 NBA championship rings; He led the Lakers to the championship last year, and he also won 6 with the Chicago Bulls. He has coached NBA greats Michael Jordan, Shaquille O'Neal, and Kobe Bryant. JACKSON also has a new book called 'More than a Game,' written with Charley Rosen (Seven Stories Press).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian and film maker MEL BROOKS. Brooks has made some of the funniest films in movie history, including "The Producers," "Young Frankenstein," and "Blazing Saddles." His film 'The Producers' has been turned into a Broadway musical and is now the hottest show on Broadway. The show has broken records; earlier this month, The Producers won 12 Tony Awards. Brooks won Tony Awards for Best Book (with Thomas Meehan) and Best Score. Now, Brooks is one of the few people who have won a Tony Award, an Academy Award, a Grammy Award and an Emmy Award. Brooks won his Grammy for the famous comedy recording, "The 2,000 Year Old Man in the Year 2000," his Oscar for the original screenplay of the movie of "The Producers," and an Emmy for a recent guest appearance on the sitcom "Mad About You." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) GENE ROBERTS and TOM KUNKEL. They are authors of the new book, 'Leaving Readers Behind: The Age of Corporate Newspapering' (University of Arkansas Press.) The book examines how newspaper reporting is being altered by the buying, selling, and consolidation of papers. In the book, they say the age of corporate newspapering is bringing about 'a change that is diminishing the amount of real news available to the consumer.' Thomas Kunkel is dean of the Philip Merrill College of Journalism at the University of Maryland and president of American Journalism Review. Gene Roberts, longtime executive editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer and former managing editor of the New York Times, is a professor of journalism at the college.(2.) Writer DENNIS MCDougAL. His book is 'Privileged Son: Otis Chandler and the rise and fall of the L.A. Times Dynasty.' (Perseus) It is a history of the paper from 1960 to 1980. During that time Otis Chandler, a fourth generation member of the family, took control of the paper. His reign had elements of fabulous success and major scandal. He was described as 'larger than life?'
transforming The Times from a dreadful newspaper into one of the two or three best in the country.' (NYT magazine 1/23/2000) Dennis McDougal is a former investigative journalist for the L.A. Times.

Interview with Joyce Johnson; Interview with Laurie Pepper; Review of the film "Our song." June 15, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825548].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer JOYCE JOHNSON talks about her relationship to Beat icon Jack Kerouac, and her book, 'Door Wide Open: A Beat Love Affair in letters' which is now out in paperback. In 1957, JOHNSON started a relationship with the then little-known writer Kerouac. Nine months later, Kerouac's Beat classic 'On the Road' was published. JOHNSON will talk about her two-year, tumultuous love affair with Kerouac, and how the publication of 'On the Road' changed Kerouac. 'Door Wide Open' contains many letters sent to JOHN son by Kerouac. In addition to 'Doors Wide Open,' JOHNSON is also the author of 3 novels, including 'In the Night Cafe?.' Her memoir 'Minor Characters' won the National Book Critics Circle award, and her work has been published in major magazines including the New Yorker and Harper's. (REBROADCAST FROM 7/19/00)(2.) LAURIE PEPPER is the wife of the late alto saxophonist Art Pepper, who died in 1982 and was considered to be the greatest alto saxophonist of the post-Charlie Parker generation. Laurie Pepper has just produced a box-set compilation of Art Pepper's music, called 'Art Pepper: The Hollywood All-Star Sessions.' (Galaxy) .Terry talked with PEPPER on the occasion of the updated version of her husband's autobiography, Straight Life which he wrote with the help of Laurie (published by Da Capo Press). (REBROADCAST from 2/5/96)(3.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'Our song' the new small independent film by director Jim McKay.

Interview with James Fallows; Interview with Han Ong; Review of the new Missy Elliott music album "Miss E...So Addictive." June 18, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825539].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JAMES FALLOWS is National Correspondent for The Atlantic Monthly, a regular commentator on NPR, and a licensed pilot. In his new book 'Free Flight: From Airline Hell to a New Age of Travel' (PublicAffairs) he looks into the technological innovations which will change airline travel. For instance, smaller jet planes (‘airtaxis’) will ferry passengers from local airports, bypassing the crowded international airports. FALLOWS is also the author of 'Breaking the News: How the Media Undermine American Democracy.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) HAN ONG (pronounced 'hahn uhn') is a Filipino writer whose debut novel is 'Fixer Chao.' (FSG) It's about a Feng Shui con artist operating on New York's elite. Ong is the winner of a 1997 MacArthur award. He is also a playwright.

---

Interview with B. Mark Smith; Interview with Charlotte Rampling. June 19, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825555].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Stock market expert B. MARK SMITH. His book is called 'Toward Rational Exuberance: The Evolution of the Modern Stock Market.' (FSG) Smith is retired stock trader with nearly two decades of experience, first with CS/First Boston Corporation, where he became director, then as vice president of Goldman, Sachs & Co. He explains how the market has evolved from a primitive insiders' game to a very public and important institution.(2.) British actress Charlotte Rampling. She's known for her great beauty. She was a model before beginning her film career in the sixties with hits such as 'Georgy Girl' and 'The Damned.' She may be best known for 'The Night Porter,' a 1974 classic about a concentration camp survivor reunited with the Nazi guard who tortured her. Rampling's new film is the French 'Under The Sand,' about a woman whose husband mysteriously disappears during a seaside vacation.

---

Interview with Andrew Newberg; Interview with Michael Baime; Review of Joseph Mitchell's essays "My Ears Are Bent" and "McSorley's Wonderful Saloon." June 20, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825556].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ANDREW NEWBERG, MD and MICHAEL BAIME, MD discuss God and the brain: tracking transcendence. Newberg conducted brain scans while people prayed and meditated to see if he could locate the brain function that caused the feeling of oneness and the presence of god. His book on the subject is called 'Why God Won't Go Away: Brain Science and the Biology of Belief,' by Newberg, Eugene D'Aquilli MD and Vince Rause (Ballantine). Newberg is an assistant professor in the department of Radiology in the Division of Nuclear Medicine, and an instructor in the Department of Religious Studies at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Michael Baime was one of the participants in the study. He is a mediation expert who runs a stress management program out of the University of Pennsylvania. Baime is a Clinical Assistant Professor of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine. He has practiced meditation since the age of 14. (2.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'McSorley's Wonderful Saloon' by Joseph Mitchell. (Pantheon)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JON COHEN has just written a book called 'Shots in the Dark: The Wayward Search for an AIDS vaccine.' (Norton) He is a leading AIDS reporter who covers science and medicine for Science Magazine. He'll talk about the work that is being done to develop the AIDS vaccine, trials, funding issues, and when the future of AIDS prevention. (2.) South African journalist CHARLENE SMITH. She writes about the spread of AIDS in Southern Africa. In 1999, she was raped, and feared the man who raped her could have given her HIV/AIDS. SMITH had a hard time obtaining the drugs that could lessen the potential of her getting HIV. SMITH then wrote about her experience and helped spread awareness about rape and HIV in South Africa. Statistics say every 26 seconds, a woman is raped in South Africa--the country with the fastest growing HIV rate. SMITH continues to speak about her experience and is pushing for legal and medical reforms in South Africa. Her website is www.speakout.org.za. Smith is a repeat Fresh Air guest. She was first on the show in May 2000.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist STEPHEN KING. In 1999, the prolific and popular horror writer experienced something that could have come out of one of his books: he was struck by a car while walking along a rural road in Maine and nearly killed. Six operations and a long recovery followed. Five weeks after the accident KING started writing again, and published the novella, 'The Plant' over the internet. His latest book is 'On Writing: A Memoir of the Craft.' It's just out in paperback (10/10/00)(2.) Poet BILLY COLLINS. He's just been appointed the next Poet Laureate. His books include "Picnic, Lightning" (Univ of Pittsburgh), "The Art of Drowning," (Univ of Pittsburgh Press), and "Questions about Angels" (William Morrow & Co.), which was selected as a winner of the National Poetry Series Competition in 1990. John Updike says of Collins' poetry, "Billy Collins writes lovely poems. . . Limpid, gently and consistently startling, more serious than they seem, they describe all the worlds that are and were and some others besides." COLLINS currently teaches at Lehman College of the City University of New York. (4/7/98)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ALAN BALL is the creator of the new HBO series 'Six Feet Under.' Ball won an Academy Award for writing the screenplay for 'American Beauty.' He also has production credits on the TV shows 'Cybill' and 'Oh Grow Up.' Ball has served as producer, writer and director on Six Feet Under. Ball is a return guest on the show. His first visit was in December of 1999. KEN TUCKER reviews the new CD by Rufus Wainwright. It's called Poses.

Interview with Steve Earle; Commentary on the music of three blind bluesman; Review of Ann Patchett's "Bel Canto." June 26, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825553].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer-songwriter STEVE EARLE. He's released ten critically acclaimed albums; his latest CD is called 'Transcendental Blues.' He's just published his first book, a collection of short stories called 'Doghouse Roses.' (Houghton Mifflin Company) Earle is also politically active. He currently serves as a board member of the Journey of Hope and is affiliated with both the Citizens United for Alternatives to the Death Penalty and the Abolitionist Action Committee.(2.) Rock historian ED WARD on the music of three blind bluesmen.(3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'bel canto' by Ann Patchett (Harper Collins).
Interview with John Lithgow; Interview with J.J. Sedelmaier; Review of the music of the band Neu!. June 27, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825480].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor JOHN LITHGOW (lith-GO). He is one of the stars of the animated hit movie, Shrek. His comedy TV series Third Rock from the Sun just finished its run on NBC. LITHGOW also writes children's books. He's just published the book 'Marsupial Sue' (Simon and Schuster), and he has released a new CD of music for children called 'Farkle and Friends' (Watershed Records). LITHGOW is currently performing his children's material live in concert.(2.) Animation director J.J. SEDELMAIER. He is the animator of the TV Funhouse skits which run on Saturday Night Live. They include The Ambiguously Gay Duo, Fun with Real Audio, and The X-Presidents. Sedelmaier and his animation company work on many other projects for TV and commercials. They have worked for MTV and Nickelodeon. He also has his own Cartoon Network series, 'Capt. Linger.'(3.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews the music of the 'mysterious' German band 'Neu!.' The band has just reissued its first three albums from the 1970s: 'Neu!,' 'Neu!2,' and 'Neu! '75.' (Astralwerks label)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian and civil rights activist ROGER WILKINS has written a new book 'Jefferson's Pillow: The Founding Fathers and the Dilemma of Black Patriotism' (Beacon Press). WILKINS considers our founding fathers and their conflicting attitudes toward race and how it affects his own sense of patriotism. WILKINS is a professor of history at George Mason University, a Pulitzer-prize winner, and former Assistant Attorney General under President Johnson. (2.) Brazilian actress SONIA BRAGA. She starred in the 1985 independent film 'Kiss of the Spider Woman' (with William Hurt and Raul Julia). The film is currently being re-released. BRAGA is also a guest star in the HBO comedy series 'Sex and the City.' And she plays Jennifer Lopez' abused mother in the film 'Angel Eyes.' Her other films include 'Dona Flor and Her Two Husbands,' and 'The Last Prostitute.' (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Freefall' (Verve) featuring pianist Kenny Barron and violinist Regina Carter.
Interview with Eric Idle; Interview with Michael Palin; Interview with John Cleese; Interview with Graham Chapman; Review of the film "AI;" Obituary for Chico O'Farrill. June 29, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825481].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) 'Monty Python and the Holy Grail' is being re-released in theatres this summer in anticipation of a new DVD release this Fall. We feature archive interviews with four of the players: ERIC IDLE was one of the six original members of Monty Python's Flying Circus. IDLE wrote many of the songs from the show including "Always Look on the Bright Side of Life." He has a CD, 'Eric Idle Sings Monty Python, Live in concert.' (Big Monkey Records). IDLE has also written a number of books. His latest is a comic science-fiction thriller, "The Road to Mars: A Post-Modem Novel."(Pantheon books) (REBROADCAST from 10/06/99) (2.) Actor, comedian, filmmaker, and author MICHAEL PALIN. He recreated the journey Jules Verne described in "Around the World in 80 Days." PALIN turned his journey into a very successful eight-part TV BBC series. He is of course also known for his tenure as a member of Monthy Python's Flying Circus and his appearances in "The Missionary" and "A Fish Called Wanda." (REBROADCAST FROM 4/17/90) (3.) Comic GRAHMAN CHAPMAN. He was the straight man in the Monty Python troupe who would come in and break up the skits. A physician by training, he was a writer and activist for gay rights. He died in 1989. (REBROADCAST FROM 7/2/87) (4.) Actor, writer, and Monthy Python member JOHN CLEESE. Post-Python, CLEESE is best known for "Fawlty Towers," and a number of movies, including his 1988 comedy, "A Fish Called Wanda." He's also written a book called "Families and How to Survive Them" with therapist Robyn Skinner, and he makes training films for corporations. (REBROADCAST FROM 6/22/90) (5.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new Stephen Spielberg film 'A.I.' (6.) We remember Cuban composer, arranger and bandleader CHICO O'FARRILL. He died on Wednesday. He was 79. (REBROADCAST from 2/13/01)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Editor and writer WALTER KIRN. His new novel 'Up in the Air' (Doubleday) is about 35 year-old Ryan Bingham, a well-traveled business man who has a goal of accumulating one million miles in his frequent flyer account. KIRN is the literary editor for GQ and a contributing editor to Time and Vanity Fair. His fiction and non-fiction work has appeared in The New Yorker and the New York Times Magazine. He's also the author of two other novels, and a selection of short stories. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Casting director and actress JOANNA MERLIN. She's written a new guide for actors, 'Auditioning: An Actor-Friendly Guide' (Vintage Books). MERLIN was casting director for Harold Prince and his productions of 'Follies,' 'A Little Night Music,' 'Sweeney Todd,' 'Evita,' and more. She's casted films, as well as acted in films and on television.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer ALICE RANDALL is the author of the controversial new parody of 'Gone with the Wind.' Her book 'The Wind Done Gone' (Houghton Mifflin). RANDALL retells the story of the ante-bellum South from the viewpoint of Cinnamon, a beautiful illegitimate mulatto woman, the daughter of a plantation-owning father, and a slave mother. (2.) Film director JULIEN TEMPLE. His new film 'Pandaemonium' is set in the 1880s and is about the relationship between two poets: William Woodsworth and Samuel Taylor Coleridge. TEMPLE is one of the early pioneers of music videos, directing the Kinks, Rolling Stones, David Bowie, and Janet Jackson. He's also directed documentaries. His other films include the 1995 'Bullet' and the 1999 'Vigo.' (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'White Blood Cells' the new CD by the Detroit duo The White Stripes.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) A CONCERT and INTERVIEW with singer and pianist MARCIA BALL. She has a new CD titled 'Presumed Innocent' (Alligator Records). She's been compared with Fats Domino, Professor Longhair, Dr. John, Leon Russell - and, Jerry Lee Lewis. She's been called the bayou queen of the piano. The concert was recorded in September 1998 in Austin, Texas as a benefit for the public radio station KUT.
Rhythm and Blues singer TRACEY NELSON. She's best known for her work leading the Mother Earth band from the 1960s and 70s. Her hits included "Down So Low" and "Mother Earth." A collection of her hits "The Best of Tracy Nelson/Mother Earth" (Reprise) came out in 1996. Her new CD is 'Ebony & Irony.' Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'A People's History of the American Revolution' by Ray Raphael.

Poet, critic, and novelist CAROL MUSKE-DUKES. Her new novel 'Life After Death' (Random House) is the story of a woman who says one day to her husband in anger 'Why don't you just die?' The next day he drops dead. The book follows her journey into grief, self-reproach, and self-discovery. MUSKE-DUKES is the Director of the PhD Program in Creative Writing and Literature at the University of Southern California. She's published three previous novels, and six collections of poetry, the most recent is 'An Octave Above Thunder.' She's also a regular critic for the New York Times Book Review. We remember MORDECAI RICHLER, Canadian social critic and novelist. He died Tuesday at the age of 70. He's best known for his work chronicling Jewish life in Montreal in works like the book 'The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz.' He died of complications from cancer.

An interview with composer PHILIP GLASS by his cousin IRA GLASS, the host of "This American Life." The conversation was recorded on-stage in Chicago in 1999. Beginning next week PHILIP GLASS is the featured composer at the Lincoln Center Festival (July 10-27th) where his newest opera collaboration, 'White Raven' premieres. IRA GLASS was just named America's best radio host by Time Magazine.
HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the return of the reality show 'Big Brother' and considers other new reality shows.

Interview with Jay Winik; Interview with Andrew Kromah. July 9, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039189].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer and historian JAY WINIK. His new book, a bestseller, is 'April 1865: The Month That Saved America' (HarperCollins). He writes that April 1865 is a month that 'could have unraveled the American nation. Instead it saved it.' During that month the war ended with Lee's surrender, Lincoln was assassinated, and the rebuilding of the nation began. WINIK is a senior scholar at the University of Maryland's School of Public Affairs and a regular contributor to the Wall Street Journal. (2.) Journalist ANDREW KROMAH. He lives and works in Sierre Leone. The country has been rated the most dangerous country in the world for journalists. For eight years now KROMAH has run an independent radio station (KISS-FM) in Freetown and has reported on the rebels and government. Each week, as 'Mr. Owl' he investigates local corruption. Twice his building has been burned down. During the 1996 election there, KROMAH and his staff were forced to broadcast from the bush to escape injury.

Interview with the Nick Hornby; Interview with David Hajdu; Review of Otis Taylor's new music album "White African." July 10, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039265].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist NICK HORNBY. His new book is 'How to Be Good' a novel about a bitter and sarcastic man who becomes a 'do-gooder.' He's also the author of the bestseller 'High Fidelity' (which was made into a film starring John Cussack), 'Fever Pitch,' and 'About a Boy.' HORNBY is also the pop music critic for The New Yorker. (2.) Writer DAVID HAJDU ('HAY-do'). He's the author of the new book, 'Positively 4th Street: The Lives and Times of Joan Baez, Bob Dylan, Mimi Baez Farina, and Richard Farina.' (Farrar, Strauss & Giroux). The book focuses on the early 1960s when the four of them changed the nature of popular music. HAJDU is also the author of the award-winning biography, 'Lush Life: A Biography of Billy Strayhorn.' HAJDU also writes for The New York Times Magazine, and Vanity Fair. (3.) Critic MILO MILES reviews 'White African' (Northern Blues label) by blues man Otis Taylor.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Icelandic film director BALTASAR KORMAKUR ('BALL-ta-zar KORM-ah-kor'). He's been compared with Spanish film director Almodovar for his debut film, an off-beat comedy, '101 Reykjavik.' It's set (of course) in Iceland, and is the story of a 28 year-old slacker, his mother, and the flamenco teacher they both fall in love with. The film won the Discovery Award for Best First Film at the 2000 Toronto Film Festival. And Kormakur was just named by Variety as one of the 'Ten Directors to Watch.'(2.) Writer and editor ROGER ANGELL ('ANGEL'). He's been a fiction editor at the New Yorker for over 40 years. And has written about baseball for the magazine for decades. His pieces about baseball have been collected in four books including 'Late Innings' and 'The Summer Game.' ANGELL's new book is 'A Pitcher's Story: Innings with David Cone' (Warner Books). Cone is a celebrated pitcher, a Cy Young Award winner, and one of sixteen men in history to pitch a perfect game. Last year, pitching for the Yankees, Cone experienced his first major slump. ANGELL'S chronicles Cone's struggle in his book. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times reporter STEVE ERLANGER returns to the show to talk about the upcoming trial before the International War Crimes Tribunal of Slobodon Milosevec. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor EDWARD NORTON. He's co-starring in the new film 'The Score' along with Robert De Niro and Marlon Brando. His first major role was in the 1996 film "Primal Fear" as a quiet, stuttering altar boy accused of a brutal murder. He was nominated for an Academy Award for his portrayal. NORTON went on to roles in Woody Allen's "Everyone Says I Love You," "The People vs. Larry Flint" and "Fight Club." He was nominated for an Academy Award again for his role in "American History X." He directed and stars in the new film "Keeping the Faith." (REBROADCAST from 4/17/00)(2.) Actor SIDNEY POITIER (POY-tea-a). He is the leading African-American actor of his generation. He was the first, and so far, the only African American to win the Academy Award for Best Actor which he did in 1963 for his performance in 'Lilies of the Field.' His other films include, 'The Defiant Ones,' 'A Patch of Blue,' 'Guess Who's Coming to Dinner,' and 'To Sir, With Love.' His autobiography, 'The Measure of a Man: A Spiritual Autobiography' is now out in paperback. (Harper) (REBROADCAST FROM 4/18/00)(3.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'The Score' starring Robert De Niro, Marlon Brando, and Ed Norton.

Description of show segment(s)

(1). Actor VINCE VAUGHN. He teams up again with 'Swingers' costar John Favreau in the new movie, 'Made.' The movie, written and directed by Favreau, follows two aspiring boxers who concoct a money laundering scheme. Vaughn has appeared in several movies including 'Swingers,' 'The Lost World,' the remake of Alfred Hitchcock's 'Psycho,' and 'The Cell.'(2). Photographer JIMMY MCHUGH. The grandson of singer/ songwriter Jimmy McHugh, McHugh and his family manage the estate of the legendary artist. Songwriter Jimmy McHugh was famous in the forties and fifties for songs like 'The Sunny Side of the Street.' Today, McHugh talks about the resurgence of interest in his grandfather's jazz standards. Several remakes of McHugh's songs presently hold top spots in the jazz charts.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Biomedical ethicist ARTHUR CAPLAN, Ph.D. We talk about the news that human embryos are being grown by researchers doing stem cell research. Previously, the cells were harvested from aborted fetuses. The idea of fetal farming is quite controversial. Proponents cite the enormous potential for finding cures to cancer, Alzheimer's and diabetes. Opponents are aghast at the notion of using and destroying human life for the sole purpose of research. Caplan is the Director of the Center for Bioethics and Trustee Professor of Bioethics at the University of Pennsylvania. He is also a Professor of Molecular and Cellular Engineering and Professor of Philosophy. Caplan has written seven books on bioethical topics, including 'Ethics and Organ Transplants' and 'Am I My Brother's Keeper? The Ethical Frontiers of Biomedicine.' He's consulted for numerous government offices and is a frequent commentator in the national media.(2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the New edition of Grove's Dictionary of Music and Musicians.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We remember the former publisher of the Washington Post, KATHERINE GRAHAM. She died today (July 17th) at the age of 84. Graham's father owned the Post in 1933 and later her husband, Phil Graham, took over. Following her husband's suicide in 1963, Graham became publisher, knowing little about the managerial or journalistic aspects of the job. But, learning while she worked, she transformed the paper into one of the country's most respected newspapers. "The Post" broke the Watergate scandal and published the Pentagon Papers against a federal judge's ruling. Graham also became chairman and CEO of the Washington Post Media company. She wrote about her childhood and experiences as publisher in her autobiography "Personal History." (REBROADCAST from 2/17/97) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new anthology 'Woody Herman- Blowin' Up a Storm: The Columbia Years 1945-47.' (Columbia/Legacy)(3.) Language commentator Geoff Nunberg on solutions.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times reporters DAVID BARSTOW and DON VAN NATTA, JR. They went to Florida following the closest presidential election in history. During a six month investigation, the two journalists found 'under intense pressure from the Republicans, Florida officials accepted hundreds of overseas absentee ballots that failed to comply with state election laws.' (NYT 7/15/01) However, the outcome of the investigation is inconclusive. If all invalid overseas ballots had been thrown out, Bush would have still maintained a narrow margin over Gore. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor JOHN CUSACK ('CUE-sack'). He stars in the new film 'America's Sweethearts' opposite Julia Roberts. By the time CUSACK was 22 he had a number of films to his credit: 'The Sure Thing,' 'Eight Men Out,' 'Say Anything,' and 'Fat Man and Little Boy.' Later he went on to make 'The Grifters,' 'Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil,' 'The Thin Red Line,' and 'Grosse Pointe Blank' which he cowrote. His most recent film was 'High Fidelity' based on the Nick Hornby novel. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (REBROADCAST from 3/28/00)(2.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'America's Sweethearts.'

Interview with John Cameron Mitchell; Review of Yahoo's debut album "Fear not the obvious;" Interview with Christopher guest; Review of John Irving's "The fourth hand." July 23, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039268].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) John Cameron Mitchell wrote, directed and starred in the off-broadway hit rock musical, Hedwig and the Angry Inch (with songs by Stephen Trask). The play has just been made into a new film, also directed by and starring Mitchell. The film won the Audience Award for Drama and the Directing Prize at the 2001 Sundance Film Festival. The story is about Hedwig, a German immigrant living in a trailer in Kansas, the victim of a botched sex change operation. With the help of her band, the Angry Inch, she tells the story of her life.(2.) Rock critic Ken Tucker reviews Fear Not the Obvious (Bloodshot Records) the debut album by a group called the Yayhoos.(3.) Actor, writer, director Christopher Guest. He's best known for his role as Nigel Tufnel, the lead guitarist in the mock rock documentary "This is Spinal Tap." He got his start with SCTV, and later was a part of the Saturday Night Live crew. Guest went on to make the mockumentaries, "Waiting for Guffman" about a group of amateur thespians working on a community musical, and "Best in Show" about pure breed dogs, their owners and the dog shows they compete in. This interview with Guest was recorded recently before an audience in New York as part of The New Yorker's festival of literature and the arts.(4.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews The Fourth Hand (Random House) by John Irving.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) It's not not surprising that RUFUS WAINRIGHT would become a musician and singer. He is the son of singer-songwriters Loudon Wainwright III and Kate McGarrigle (of the McGarrigle sisters). He has just released his second album, Poses.(2.) PHILIP SIMMONS was diagnosed with ALS, otherwise known as Lou Gehrig disease. The disease is degenerative, with no cure. Simmons has lived longer with the disease than most. He written a new collection of essays, Learning to Fall: The Blessings of an Imperfect Life (Homefarm Books). Simmons is a professor of English at Lake Forest College in Illinois.

Interview with George Anastasia; Commentary on language. July 25, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039149].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Reporter GEORGE ANASTASIA has been covering the Philadelphia mob scene for the Philadelphia Inquirer for 15 years. He'll discuss the recent trial of reputed mob boss Joseph 'Skinny Joey' Merlino and his associates, which just wrapped up last week. The jury acquitted Merlino and his associates of the serious charges of murder, attempted murder, and drug trafficking, but convicted them of racketeering.
During the 15 week trial, 90 witnesses took the stand and 943 evidentiary exhibits were introduced.(2.) GEOFF NUNBERG on speaking with hands.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Guitarist and singer HOWARD FISHMAN of the Howard Fishman Quartet. The group's material draws on a wide variety of American music: jazz, blues, country, folk and Texas swing, but their experimental and improvisational style sets them apart. The Quartet includes trumpeter Erik Jekabson, bassist Jonathan Flaugher, and violinist Russell Farhang. The group debuted in the Oak Room of the Algonquin two years ago. They wrap up a engagement at Joe's Pub in New York City July 29th. The Quartet is currently working on a jazz opera We Are Destroyed in conjunction with The Public Theatre. (2.) We remember record producer MILT GABLER, who died July 20 at the age of 90. Gabler founded America's first independent record label, Commodore Records. He was the first to record Billie Holiday's anti-lynching song, Strange Fruit, after major record companies refused. He was also the first to pair Louis Armstrong and Ella Fitzgerald. Later, he produced records for Bill Haley and the Comets, Peggy Lee, the Weavers, the Ink Spots and many others. His record store Commodore Music was legendary and a hangout for musicians and music lovers.(3.) In this excerpt from Terry Gross' 1979 interview with BILLY CRYSTAL, the actor discusses his uncle, Milt Gabler. Gabler founded the first independent jazz label.

Interview with Mike Nichols; Commentary on Eudora Welty; Obituary for Eric Barnouw; Review of the film "Ghost world." July 27, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039151].

Description of show segment(s)

(1). Director MIKE NICHOLS was recently nominated for an Emmy award for his direction of the HBO movie of the off-Broadway play Wit. He also directing the star-studded production of Chekov The Seagull at the Delacorte Theatre in Central Park (now in previews). Nichols directed the films The Graduate (for which he won an Oscar for Best Director), Who Afraid of Virginia Woolf, Silkwood, Working Girl, and Primary Colors. Before he became a film director Nichols was known for his popular comedy improvisations with Elaine May. (2). Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN has an appreciation of writer Eudora Welty who died earlier this week, and a review of Zigzagging Down a Wild Trail by Bobbie Ann Mason. (3.) We remember one of the most respected historians of the media ERIK BARNOUW. He died last week at the age of 93. He was the author of the classic three-volume History of Broadcasting. Barnouw was the first chief of the Library of Congress' Motion Picture, Broadcasting, and Recording Sound Division. In 1996 Barnouw wrote a memoir about his life, Media Marathon: A 20th Century Memoir. (4.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews Ghost World.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Psychiatrist and Director of the Gaza Community Mental Health Programme, DR. EYAD EL-SARRAJ (ee-YAHD Sir-RAJ). The Programme is a non-profit Palestinian, non-governmental organization, formed to help families cope with the aftermath of torture and violence. EL-SARRAJ is well known in the occupied territories and Israel as Gaza's first practicing psychiatrist and for his efforts to foster co-existence between Arabs and Jews. EL-SARRAJ is also former Commissioner General of the Palestinian Independent Commission for Citizens rights. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Psychiatrist, peace activist and feminist DR. RUCHAMA MARTON (Roo-HAMMA MAR-ton). She teaches at the Tel Aviv University Medical School Institute for Psychotherapy. She is also President of Physicians for Human Rights, Israel. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer BARRY HANNAH. A native of Mississippi, HANNAH has been writing for over thirty years - short stories, and novels set in the South. His writing is described as intensely personal, frenetic and comic. Truman Capote once called him 'the maddest writer in the U.S.A.' His first book, the autobiographical novel 'Geronimo Rex' (published in 1972) won the William Faulkner Prize for writing. He followed that with 'Airships' a collection of short stories now considered a classic. He continued to publish more short story collections and novels, though his new novel 'Yonder Stands Your Orphan' (Grove/Atlantic) is his first in ten years. HANNAH teaches creative writing at the University of Mississippi. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI on the 20th anniversary of MTV. The 24-hour cable music channel turns 20 tomorrow, and celebrates with an all-day retrospective, and a prime-time concert.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress SARAH JESSICA PARKER. She's been acting for most of her life, including playing Annie on Broadway, the young bimbo in "L.A. Story," and a fed-up fiancee in "Honeymoon in Vegas." This is her fourth season starring in the HBO hit series "Sex and the City," as Carrie, a columnist who writes about the sexual mores of New Yorkers. Terry recorded this interview with PARKER live before an audience at Martha's Vineyard in July. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Director of the Louis Armstrong House & Archives, MICHAEL COGSWELL. August 4th is the 100th anniversary of Armstrong's birth. The archive contains 5000 photographs, 350 pages of autobiographical manuscripts, 270 sets of manuscripts band parts, 650 home-made tape recordings and more. We'll hear excerpts from the tapes. COGSWELL is in the process of converting the Louis Armstrong House in Queens, where Louis and his wife Lucille lived for almost thirty years, into a museum and educational center. The House is expected to open in 2002. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews two new Armstrong reissues: 'Louis and the Angels' and 'Louis and the Good Book' (both recorded in the 1950s, and released on Verve).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film critic JOHN POWERS returns to Fresh Air and reviews the new recut and expanded version of 'Apocalypse Now' which is opening in theatres.(2.) ELEANOR COPPOLA is the wife of Frances Ford Coppola. She filmed a documentary about behind-the scenes of the making of 'Apocalypse Now.' It's called "Hearts of Darkness." (REBROADCAST from 1/24/92)(3.) Film editor and sound designer WALTER MURCH. He won an Academy Award for sound design for "Apocalypse Now." Some of the films he's edited and/or mixed are "The Conversation," "American Graffiti," "Apocalypse Now," "The Godfather (II, and III)" and "Crumb." He wrote a book about his work, "In the Blink of An Eye: A Perspective on Film Editing." (REBROADCAST from 4/15/96)(4.) Actor MARTIN SHEEN. During the filming of 'Apocalypse Now' he suffered a heart attack even though he was only in his 30s. SHEEN now stars as President Bartlett in the NBC TV drama 'West Wing.' (5.) Actor LARRY FISHBURNE. He was 15 when he played a young G.I. in 'Apocalypse Now.' He was also Cowboy Curtis on "Pee-wee's Playhouse." His films include 'Boyz N in the Hood,' 'Deep Cover,' 'Searching for Bobby Fisher,' 'What's Love Got to Do with it,' and 'The Matrix.' (REBROADCAST from 4/6/92)(6.) Actor ROBERT DUVALL. He played a crazy colonel in 'Apocalypse Now.' His other roles include his film debut as Boo Radley in "To Kill a Mockingbird," counsel to the mob in "Godfather" I and II, and a country singer in "Tender Mercies" (for which he won an Oscar). In all he's acted in more than 50 films. (REBROADCAST from 4/5/96)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) An interview with film director FRANCES FORD COPPOLA recorded at this year's Cannes Film Festival. Film critic ROGER EBERT will talk with COPPOLA about the re-edited version of this 1979 epic film "Apocalypse Now." The redux "Apocalypse Now" includes an additional 49 minutes of material. It is currently showing in New York and L.A. and opens in other cities over the next couple of weeks. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Director, writer, and producer FRANCIS FORD COPPOLA talks with Terry Gross about wine making. He and his wife bought and restored the Inglenook wine estate in Napa Valley. (REBROADCAST from 10/1/97)

(3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews "Three Mo' Tenors" a PBS Great Performances program (to be broadcast this month) and a new CD. It features the African-American tenors Rodrick Dixon, Victor Trent Cook, and Thomas Young.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer SIMON WINCHESTER. He wrote the best seller "The Professor and the Madman." His new book is "The Map That Changed the World" (HarperCollins) about William Smith, an obscure British 19th century engineer obsessed with creating the first geological map. His map, hand-painted in 1815, paved the way for modern geology, but Smith was swindled out of the recognition and profits due him until a nobleman intervened. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Del and the Boys' by the Del McCoury Band.

(3.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews "The Grand Complication" a new novel by Allen Kurzweil that she says is perfect summer reading. (Theia/Hyperion)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Cancer researcher JOHN MENDELSOHN MD. He is the president of the MD Anderson Cancer Center at the University of Texas. We will talk about new developments in cancer treatment. Mendelsohn created a new cancer drug, known as C225. The drug shows great promise in treating a number of cancers by halting the growth of cancer cells. There has been an explosion in the number of cancer drugs in recent years.

(2.) Filmmaker Joseph McCarthy. His new short is 'The Brave Man.' It's a retelling of the Battle of Brooklyn set in modern times. Sixteen red cars (mostly Ford Tauruses) represent the British. The actions of one man, General William Alexander, prevented a British victory that day in 1776. The film stars Graeme Malcolm as Alexander. The low-budget short is still not fully funded. McCarthy is also a creator of corporate promotional films.

(3.) Music critic Milo Miles reviews 'Avalon Blues,' (Vanguard) a new tribute album to country blues performer Mississippi John Hurt.

---

Interview with Mondli Makhanya and Howard Barrell; Obituary for Larry Adler. August 9, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974038962].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) South African journalists HOWARD BARRELL and MONDLI MAKHANYA. They talk about race and racism in their country in light of the upcoming U-N conference on World Racism, which will be held in South Africa. Barrell is editor of Johannesburg's Daily Mail & Guardian. Until his appointment as editor last year he was political editor of the M&G. Mondli Makhanya is the Political Editor of the Sunday Times.

(2.) We remember the world's best known player of the mouth organ, LARRY ADLER. He died recently at the age of 87. He got started on vaudeville, and went on to perform with Fred Astaire, George Gershwin, Jack Benny and many others. When George Gershwin first heard ADLER play 'Rhapsody in Blue' on the mouth-organ he said, 'It sounds as if the goddamned thing was written for you.' ADLER also played classical music and performed with a number of symphony orchestras. ADLER moved to England after being blacklisted during the McCarthy hearings. (REBROADCAST from 6/19/87)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) In 1945 the U.S.S. Indianapolis was torpedoed in the South Pacific. Nearly 900 men ended up in the water, but after four days fighting hypothermia, dehydration and sharks, only 317 crewmen survived. A talk with two of the survivors: PAUL MURPHY, Chairman of the Indianapolis Survivors Organization, and HAROLD BRAY. Their story was told in the 1958 book 'Abandon Ship! The Saga of the U.S.S. Indianapolis, the Navy's Greatest Sea Disaster' by Richard Newcomb which has just been republished (Harper). The captain of the ship was court-martialed for failure to practice evasive maneuvers in enemy waters. Last month the Navy exonerated the Captain. Next week August 16-19, the Survivors Organization will hold their 12th reunion in Indianapolis, Indiana. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (REBROADCAST from 4/23/2001)(2.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'The Deep End.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Science and natural history writer HANNAH HOLMES. Her new book is 'The Secret Life of Dust: From the Cosmos to the Kitchen Counter, the Big Consequences of Little Things.' (John Wiley & Sons). Among the interesting facts you'll find in the book is this: within a juice glass sitting in the sun, you would find 25,000 microscopic pieces of dust, at a minimum. HOLMES is also a regular contributor to the Discovery Channel Online.(2.) Writer JULIE FENSTER. She's written a new book about the coincidence and circumstance that led to the first use of ether, making surgery painless for the first time. The break thru day ? known as Ether Day ? was October 16, 1846. One of the men behind it was a Boston dentist, William Morton, who was also a conman and an opportunist. FENSTER tells the story in her new book, 'Ether Day: The Strange Tale of America's Greatest Medical Discovery and the Haunted Men Who Made it' (HarperCollins). FENSTER is a columnist for American Heritage and a contributor to the New York Times.(3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ has some thoughts after seeing an exhibit of Dutch painter Piet Mondrain's 'Transatlantic Paintings' at Harvard.

Interview with Alejandro Amenabar; Review of two music albums 'Time The Revelator,' and 'Everybody Got their Something'; Interview with Allen Kurzweil; Review of Chicago Underground Quartet's new album August 14, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039281].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) 28-year-old Spanish filmmaker ALEJANDRO AMENABAR (ah-MEN-ah-BAR.) His new film, a horror film called 'The Others,' stars Nicole Kidman. It's his first English language feature. His first film 'Tesis' (Thesis) won seven Goyas, the Spanish equivalent of the Oscars, in 1997. His second movie, 'Abre los Ojos' (Open Your Eyes) has been remade in the US. The film, 'Vanilla Sky,' was made by Cameron Crowe and stars Tom Cruise.(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER looks at two very different female musicians: Gillian Welch, whose new CD is 'Time The Revelator,' and Nikka Costa, whose debut release is 'Everybody Got their Something.'(3.) Author ALLEN KURZWEIL. His latest novel is the literary thriller 'The Grand Complication.' His first novel, 'A Case of Curiosities,' (Harcourt, 1992) received international critical acclaim. KURZWEIL worked for many years as a freelance journalist in Europe before settling in the United States and turning his attention to fiction. (4.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Thrill Jockey,' the new CD from the Chicago Underground Quartet. He also talks about a new re-issue of Miles Davis 'Live at the Fillmore East' recordings. (Columbia)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian STEPHEN E. AMBROSE. His new book is 'The Wild Blue: The Men and Boys who Flew the B-24s Over Germany.' (Simon & Schuster) It's about the 18-22 year old men, including the young George McGovern, who flew dangerous missions in the plane they called 'The Liberator.' The casualty rate was nearly 50 percent. Ambrose is the author of a number of books of history, including the New
Fresh Air With Terry Gross

York Times number one bestseller 'Nothing Like it in the World.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

---

Interview with Otis Taylor; Interview with Bradley Briggs; Commentary on Beale street 1952. August 16, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039283].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Blues singer OTIS TAYLOR. He brings his banjo to the studio for a concert and conversation. We'll hear tracks from his new CD, 'White African.' (NorthernBlues Music) Taylor plays guitar and ukelele in addition to banjo. His music is often described as minimalist, and his lyrics are often stories of race and racism. He's been compared to John Lee Hooker. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) RETIRED LT. COL. BRADLEY BIGGS. He was part of America's first all-black paratroop unit ? called the Triple Nickles. The 555th Battalion of the 82d Airborne. The troop was trained to go to war, but instead was sent to the West Coast to fight forest fires started by Japanese balloon bombs. They were the first parachuters to fight fires, and developed many of the techniques used today. Later they became the first army unit to be integrated into the 'regular' army during World War II. BIGGS has written a new memoir, 'The Triple Nickles' (Archon Books).(3.) Rock historian ED WARD remembers Beale street 1952 the place in Memphis that launched the careers of Ike Turner, Rosco Gordon, Bobby Bland, Little Junior Parker, and B.B. King.

---

Interview with Michael Chabon; Interview with Steve Buscemi; Review of the film "The others." August 17, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039282].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer MICHAEL CHABON (SHAY-bon). Chabon won a year 2000 Pulitzer prize for his novel 'The Amazing Adventures of Kavalier and Clay' which is now out in paperback (Picador). His other books include The Mysteries of Pittsburgh, and a collection of stories called Werewolves in Their Youth. Last year, his book Wonder Boys was adapted into a film starring Michael Douglas. He has also written for many publications including The New Yorker, Harpers, and Esquire. (REBROADCAST from 5/01/01) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Actor STEVE BUSCEMI. He's currently starring in the new film 'Ghost World' playing a blues record collector who can't get a date. Recently he directed and produced the movie 'Animal Factory,' a prison drama starring Willem Dafoe and Edward Furlong. He made his directorial debut with 'Tree's Lounge' in 1996. He's acted in over 60 movies in the past twenty years; winning praise for roles in cult favorites like Reservoir Dogs, Pulp Fiction and Fargo. (REBROADCAST from 11/14/00)(3.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'The Others.'

Interview with Doug and Stacey Loizeaux; Obituary for Donald Woods. August 20, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974038961].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) STACEY & DOUG LOIZEAUX (Loo-WAH-zoo). The two are niece and uncle and are part of the family-owned demolition company, Controlled Demolition, of Maryland. They are experts at imploding buildings. The buildings they've brought down include the Seattle Kingdome, the Sands Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas(which was brought down spectacularly with a fireworks display), and the bombed federal building in Oklahoma City. DOUG's father pioneered the techniques of implosion nearly 60 years ago. Controlled Demolition holds a number of world records including tallest building brought down, and the most buildings felled simultaneously. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) We remember newspaper editor and anti-apartheid activist DONALD WOODS. His relationship with the slain black South African activist Steve Biko was dramatized in the 1987 film, 'Cry Freedom.' He died yesterday in England, where he had lived for over 20 years. We'll listen back to a 1987 interview. (original broadcast: 9/2/87)

Interview with Dana Wechsler Linden and Mia Wechsler Doron; Interview with Peter Nathanielsz; Review of Thomas Kelley's new novel 'The Rackets.' August 21, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039166].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DANA ('Donna') WECHSLER LINDEN AND MIA WESCHSLER DORON (Dor-AHN), authors of the book, 'Preemies: the Essential Guide for Parents of Premature Babies' (Pocket Books Parenting). Linden and Doron are sisters, both personally interested in providing information to the public about premature babies. Ms. Linden gave birth to premature twins, and is a journalist. She is also a former senior editor at Forbes Magazine. Dr. Doron is a neonatologist at the Newborn Critical Care Center at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. (2.) Dr. Peter Nathanielsz (na-THAN-yellz), author of 'The Prenatal Prescription,' (Harper Collins). Dr. Nathanielsz explains what happens to the fetus while in a mother's womb. He claims that the environment created in the womb affects a person throughout life, especially in areas of heart disease, obesity, diabetes, and mood disorders. Nathanielsz is the director of the Laboratory for Pregnancy and Newborn Research at Cornell University.(3.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'The Rackets' by Thomas Kelley (FSG)

Interview with Dominick Chianese; Review of the the new NSync album, Celebrity. August 22, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039302].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor DOMINIC CHIANESE. He plays Uncle Junior on the hit H-B-O series 'The Sopranos.' He's been nominated for an Emmy. He's had roles in TV shows such as 'Kojak,' 'Law and Order,' and films including 'Dog Day Afternoon,' and 'The Godfather Part II.' At the age of 70, he is now launching a singing career. His new album is called 'Hits' (Madacy Entertainment Group). He brings his guitar to the studio.(2.) Rock critic Ken Tucker reviews the new 'NSync CD, entitled 'Celebrity.'

Interview with Elisabeth Gitter; Interview with Marge Champion; Commentary on the music label IndigeDisc. August 23, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039300].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author ELIZABETH GITTER. Her book is 'The Imprisoned Guest: Samuel Howe and Laura Bridgman, the Original Deaf-Blind Girl.' (FSG) Gitter came upon the story of Laura Bridgman and was fascinated by this forgotten chapter of history. Bridgman learned to read and write, but her fame was eclipsed by the more charming and attractive Helen Keller. Gitter is a professor of English at the City University of New York's John Jay College. She specializes in the Victorian era. (2.) Dancer and actress MARGE CHAMPION. She starred in some of the great musicals of the 1950s, including the films 'Show Boat' and 'Mr. Music,' as well as several stage productions and television shows, along with her partner Gower Champion. She acted in some notable films, including 'The Swimmer' (1968). Her career spans many decades and she was most recently in a Broadway revival of 'Follies.' Champion teaches classes at Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival.(3.) World music critic Milo Miles profiles Indigedisc, a new record label that specializes in vintage and current African pop.

Interview with Christopher Nolan; Review of Buffalo Springfield's 4-CD set; Interview with Neil Young; Review of the film "The Curse of the Jade Scorpion." August 24, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039165].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Screen writer and director CHRISTOPHER NOLAN. His film 'Memento' is about a man who is unable to make new memories since the violent murder of his wife. He seeks to avenge her death. The movie stars Guy Pearce, with Carrie-Anne Moss and Joe Pantoliano. The script for Memento was based on a short story written by Jonathan Nolan, CHRISTOPHER NOLAN'S brother. Memento is CHRISTOPHER NOLAN'S second feature film; his first was the critically acclaimed 1998 film Following. It will be released on DVD and video next month. (3/29/01)(2.) Rock historian Ed Ward reviews a new 4-CD box set from Buffalo Springfield. (Rhino Records)(3.) Rock musician NEIL YOUNG. In 1966 he joined the L.A. rock band Buffalo Springfield; they split up 3 albums later due to inter-band fighting and their lack of commercial success. YOUNG then meandered from band to band, including "Crosby, Stills, Nash, and Young," while doing a lot of solo work as well. He's been called the "Godfather of Grunge" and "The king of punk." (11/5/92)(4.) Film critic John Powers reviews 'Curse of the Jade Scorpion,' the new Woody Allen film.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) It's SOUL WEEK on Fresh Air. We present interviews from our archives with some of the great soul musicians and their producers. We begin with a rare interview with the Queen of Soul, ARETHA FRANKLIN. She's won fifteen Grammy awards and is the first woman to be inducted into the Rock 'n' Roll Hall of Fame. She was born and grew up in Detroit. The state of Michigan has proclaimed her voice a natural resource. Her hits include "Respect," "I Say a Little Prayer," and "You Make me Feel Like a Natural Woman." (10/11/99)(2.) Singer and pianist RAY CHARLES. He was born in Albany, Georgia. Charles created a new sound when he merged country, blues, R&B and gospel music. His hits include classics such as 'I Got a Woman,' 'Unchain My Heart,' 'Georgia on My Mind,' and 'Ruby.' He has won 12 Grammy Awards. (10/19/98)

---

Interview with Jerry Butler; Interview with Curtis Mayfield; Commentary on Sam Cooke. August 28, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039163].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We hear from two former members of the vocal group The Impressions who went on to have their own successful solo careers. First, singer JERRY BUTLER, aka The Iceman. His 1969 hit, 'Only the Strong Survive,' is a rhythm and blues classic, and also the title of his autobiography: 'Only the Strong Survive: Memoirs of a Soul Survivor.' (Indiana University Press) Butler founded The Impressions. His awareness of civil rights led him to politics, and he is serving his fourth term on the Cook County Board of Commissioners in Chicago. The book was written with Earl Smith, Butler's brother-in-law and a journalist. (11/22/00)(2.) CURTIS MAYFIELD. He's been called "the thinking man's soul man." He was known for his floating falsetto voice, gospel sound, and social commentary. He was with the group The Impressions for 12 years recording such classics as "Gypsy Woman," "I'm so Proud," and "People Get Ready." After that he went solo. His score for "Superfly," was considered a musical breakthrough, and has inspired many of today's hip-hop performers. MAYFIELD was preparing for a comeback, with the release of "Return of Superfly," in 1990, when a freak stage accident left him paralyzed from the neck down. He died on December 26, 1999. (3/23/93)(3.) Rock historian Ed Ward looks back at the music of Sam Cooke and the Soul Stirrers. (10/24/90)

---

Interview with Bobby Womack; Interview with Barry White. August 29, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039301].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rhythm and blues singer BOBBY WOMACK. His R&B and pop hits include "It's All Over Now," "Lookin' For A Love," and "That's The Way I Feel About Cha." WOMACK began his career singing gospel with his brothers. They were discovered by Sam Cooke. (REBROADCAST from 11/24/99) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Soul singer BARRY WHITE, the sweet-talking, deep-voiced performer who rhapsodizes about love. His hits include "My First, My Last, My Everything," "Never Never Gonna Give Up," and "I'm Gonna Love You Just a Little More." Before he became a hit as a solo performer, WHITE put together the female vocal trio, Love Unlimited and founded the Love Unlimited Orchestra, a 40 piece ensemble to accompany himself and the trio. (REBROADCAST from 10/27/99)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rock and roll historian ED WARD considers the Philly sound that came out of Philadelphia. (REBROADCAST FROM 10/14/98)(2.) TEDDY PENDERGRASS was a popular soul singer in the group "Harold Melvin and The Blue Notes". He went solo in 1976. In 1982, he was paralyzed after a near fatal car accident in Philadelphia, his hometown. Since then he has returned to the studio and produced several albums. He's currently on tour. (REBROADCAST from 10/14/98)(3.) Soul singer AL GREEN. Last year he published a new biography called 'Down by the River' (Harper Entertainment) detailing the trip from R&B stardom to Reverend. Presiding over his own Pentacoastal church in Memphis for the last 20 years, Green recently returned to the recording studio to record a set of gospel songs. A popular culture icon, he's had cameo roles in movies and TV shows. He lives in Memphis, Tenn. (REBROADCASTS from 6/21/91 and 10/16/00)

Interview with Dan Penn; Interview with Jerry Wexler; Interview with Steve Cropper; Interview with Isaac Hayes. August 31, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039304].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer, songwriter, guitar player, DAN PENN. PENN has written soul music classics like "Do Right Woman," "Cry Like a Baby," "Sweet Inspiration," and "I'm Your Puppet." His compositions have been made famous by the likes of Aretha Franklin, James Carr, Percy Sledge, Solomon Burke and Otis Redding. PENN left his tiny hometown of Vernon, Alabama when he was sixteen. . . a white kid, singing like Ray Charles and in love with black music. (REBROADCAST FROM 4/28/94)(2.) An interview with former Atlantic Records executive JERRY WEXLER. Wexler was the producer behind some of the greatest soul music of the 60s, including classic sessions with Aretha Franklin, Ray Charles, Wilson Pickett and Otis Redding. (REBROADCAST FROM 5/7/93)(3.) Guitarist, songwriter, and producer STEVE CROPPER. In the 60's, he was with Stax Records, the record company that defined the Memphis sound of the time. He's best known for his playing with Booker T & the MGs; he also played in the band from the film "The Blues Brothers." He co-wrote such hits as "In the Midnight Hour," "Soul Man," and Otis Redding's "(Sittin' on) The Dock of the Bay." (REBROADCAST FROM 9/18/90)(4.) Composer and musician ISAAC HAYES. He won an Oscar the the theme music he wrote for the the 1972 movie 'Shaft.' HAYES is also an actor, who has held roles in the movies "Robin Hood: Men in Tights," "I'm Gonna Git You Sucka," "Posse," and "It Could Happen to You." He's also a regular voice (as the Chef) on the cable animation show "South Park." (REBROADCAST from 7/28/94)

Interview with Berry Gordy; Interview with Gladys Knight; Interview with Otis Williams; Interview with Martha Reeves. September 3, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039164].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) BERRY GORDY, founder of Motown. GORDY and Motown made stars out of musicians and singers including Diana Ross and the Supremes, Marvin Gaye, Stevie Wonder, and Michael Jackson. In 1994 GORDY has published his autobiography, "To Be Loved: The Music, the Magic, the Memories of Motown: An Autobiography." (REBROADCAST FROM 11/16/94)(2.) Rock and roll historian EDWARD profiles Smokey Robinson. (Original broadcast 1994)(3.) Singer OTIS WILLIAMS. He was the founder of The Temptations, whose smooth five-part harmonies and synchronized dance steps made them one of the hottest of Motown's super groups. Their hits included "My Girl," "Just My Imagination," and "Pappa Was a Rolling Stone." (REBROADCAST FROM 9/15/88)(4.) GLADYS KNIGHT. She has a new solo recording out earlier this year, 'At Last' (Uni/MCA). KNIGHT began her singing career at age 4. Since that modest start, she went on to lead one of the most successful vocal soul groups in America, "Gladys Knight and The Pips." The group stayed together for 39 years before disbanding.Among, the group's most notable songs include: "I Heard It Through The Grapevine," "Neither One of Us," and "Midnight Train to Georgia." Knight then launched a solo career. Terry interviewed Knight before a "live" audience in San Francisco in 1996. (REBROADCAST from 9/10/06) (5.) MARTHA REEVES is the lead singer of Martha and the Vandellas, the Motown group which made it big in the 60's with such hits as "Nowhere to Run," "Heat Wave," and "Dancing in the Street." Her autobiography, "Dancing in the Street: Confessions of a Motown Diva," was published in 1994. The book is about her career at the height of Motown music's popularity, and about her conflicts with other Motown singers and managers.

(REBRACKET FROM 8/24/94)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film critic Pauline Kael died yesterday at the age of 82. We'll talk with her former editor WILLIAM WHITWORTH. He was her editor at the New Yorker from 1975 to 1980. He's also former editor of the Atlantic Monthly, and currently Editor Emeritus of the Atlantic. (2.) We listen back to a 1985 interview with PAULINE KAEL. She reviewed movies for the New Yorker for 25 years, and wrote 13 books about the cinema, including a National Book Award winner. Her most recent book was a collection of more than 275 of her reviews, called "For Keeps: Thirty Years at the Movies" (1994, Dutton). (REBROADCAST from 1985) (3.) Excerpts of PAULINE KAEL's 1994 interview. (REBROADCAST from 11/16/94) (4.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Fan Dance' the new recording by Sam Phillips, and her first album in five years.

Interview with Garrison Keillor; Commentary on Howard Tate. September 5, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039261].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer and radio personality GARRISON KEILLOR. He is the host and writer of 'A Prairie Home Companion,' broadcast from Minnesota and heard weekly on public radio stations nationwide. Keillor has just published two new books. One is a semi-autobiographical novel, called 'Lake Wobegon Summer 1956.' (Viking) The other is in collaboration with photographer Richard Olsenius: 'In Search of Lake Wobegon' (Viking Studio). It's an effort to capture in words and pictures the people and places that inspired the fictional town of Lake Wobegon. Keillor is the author of 9 books and teaches at the University
Interview with Daniel Clowes; Interview with Terry Zwigoff. September 6, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039260].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Cartoonist DANIEL CLOWES (like 'plows'). Drawn in 1950s pop culture style, his comics are darkly humorous satires of middle class America. His graphic novel 'Ghost World' (first published in 1993) is the basis of the new film of the same name. His first comic book series was 'Lloyd Llewellyn,' followed by 'Eightball' (both published by Fantagraphics Books). CLOWES was the first cartoonist to contribute a comic story to Esquire's annual fiction issue. (2.) Producer/ Director TERRY ZWIGOFF. He recently directed the new film "Ghost World" based on the graphic novel of the same name by Daniel Clowes. ZWIGOFF also directed the documentary, "Crumb" about the life of Robert Crumb, the famous underground artist who popularized character's such as Mr. Natural, Flakey Foont and Keep on Truckin'. He also directed the documentary "Louie Bluie."

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer MARY KARR, author of the best-selling memoir 'The Liar's Club.' Her new memoir 'Cherry' which chronicles her teen age years is now out in paperback. In a follow up to what critics call 'a hard scrabble childhood,' she returns to East Texas to detail her adolescence. Karr relates anecdotes of rebellion, self doubt and sexual coming of age. The recipient of several literary awards such as the Pushcart Prize and the Bunting Award, she has published two volumes of poetry. She is the Peck Professor of English Literature at Syracuse University. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the novel 'Long Time No
See' by Susan Isaac, her sequel to her 1978 bestseller 'Compromising Positions.' (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews HBO's 'Band of Brothers.'

---

Interview with ken Wiwa; Commentary on language. September 10, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039036].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Nigerian-born journalist KEN WIWA ('WE-wah') writes for the Toronto Globe and Mail. He is the son of the late Ken Saro-Wiwa, one of Nigeria's best-loved writers and vocal critics of the military rule. Saro-Wiwa was executed by the Nigerian military regime in 1995. KEN WIWA has written the new memoir, 'In the Shadow of a Saint: A Son's Journey to Understand His Father's Legacy' (Steerforth Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the words we use to denote a down-turn in the economy.

---

Interview with Lowell Bergman; Interview with Thomas Goutierre; Interview with Burton Visotsky. September 17, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039259].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Investigative reporter LOWELL BERGMAN. He's the correspondent on the Frontline documentary about Osama Bin Laden. Previously, BERGMAN's work exposing the tobacco industry became the hit film "The Insider." He was portrayed by Al Pacino. BERGMAN is a contributor to the New York Times. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Director of the Center for Afghanistan Studies at the University of Omaha, THOMAS E. GOUTTIERRE ('GOO-tea-air'). He also served on the United Nations Peacekeeping Mission to Afghanistan, and is the American specialist on Afghanistan, Tajikistan, and South Asia at the meetings of the U.S.-Russian Task Force on Regional Conflicts. (3.) Biblical theologian Rabbi BURTON VISOTZKY ('Vis-OTT-sky') teaches at the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York City. He's best known for his Genesis seminars, attended by novelists, poets, editors, filmmakers, CEOs, and attorneys to understand the relevance of Genesis to modern life.
It became the basis of a 10-part PBS series in 1996. He is also the author of "The Road To Redemption: Lessons from Exodus on Leadership and Community."

---

Description of show segment(s)

---

Interview with Thomas Friedman; Interview with Karen Armstrong; Interview with Sayed Hassan Qazwini; Interview with Asma Gull Hasan. September 19, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039038].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times columnist THOMAS FRIEDMAN. He covered the Middle East for many years, work that won him two Pulitzer Prizes. He's also the author of the book, From Beirut to Jerusalem. The book looked at the inside of Arab and Israeli power circles, and examined the intifadah and the perceptions American and Israeli Jews have of each other. (2.) Religion scholar and former nun KAREN ARMSTRONG. She's the author of many books, including, 'A History of God,' an examination of the fundamentalist movement in Christian, Jewish, and Islamic faiths and 'Islam: A Short History.' She's also the author of the bestsellers 'Jerusalem,' and 'The History of God.' (3.) Imam ('E-mahm') SAYED HASSAN QAZWINI ('Sigh-ED Hah-SAN Kaz-WE-knee') is the religious leader of the Islamic Center of America in Detroit, the biggest such center in the United States. It includes a Mosque in which he preaches. (4.) American Muslim ASMA GULL HASAN ('OZ-ma GULL Ha-SAHN'). She's the author of the book, now in paperback, 'American Muslims: The New Generation' (Continuum press). ASMA was born in Chicago and is the daughter of Pakistani immigrants.

---

Interview with Richard Reeves; Interview with Mohsin Hamid; Commentary on the television coverage of the terrorist attacks and its aftermath. September 20, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039039].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Syndicated columnist and biographer RICHARD REEVES. His most recent book is 'President Nixon: Alone in the White House' (Simon & Schuster). He's also written books about Presidents Reagan, Kennedy, Clinton, and Ford. REEVES lived in Pakistan during the 1980s. He is currently Visiting Professor of Journalism at the Annenberg Schoo for Communication at the University of Southern California. (2.) Pakistani novelist and New Yorker MOHSIN HAMID ('MOE-sin HAH-mid'). His debut novel is 'Moth Smoke.' (Picador)(3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reflects on television's coverage of the attacks and the aftermath, and the transition to the new TV season next week.

---

Interview with Liz Thompson; Interview with Robert Pinsky; Interview with Bruce Goldstein; Interview with Robert Haas; Review of the film "Together." September 21, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039258].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Director of the Lower Manhatten Cultural Council, LIZ THOMPSON. The arts organization brought art, dance, and performance to World Trade Center Plaza. They had offices in WTC building five; a number of their artists had studio space in tower one. One of their artists, sculptor Michael Richards was killed in the attack. Liz Thompson was at a meeting in tower one when the attack took place. (2.) Former poet laureate ROBERT PINSKY reads a poem that he has turned to at this time.(3.) BRUCE GOLDSSTEIN ('Gold-steen') directs the program of repertoire films at The Film Forum in New York City. The Forum is only a couple of miles from where the World Trade Center towers were. The Forum is currently showing a series of films about the New York City police department.(4.) Former poet laureate ROBERT HASS (like 'pass') also reads a poem.(5.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Together.'
Interview with Mark Bowden; Interview with Andrew Davis; Obituary for Isaac Stern. September 24, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039089].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist MARK BOWDEN (BOW-den, as in 'take a bow.') is a staff writer for the Philadelphia Inquirer. He is the author of the award-winning bestseller 'Black Hawk Down' about the 1993 ill-fated mission by the U.S. in Somalia. There's currently a film adaptation of the book. He's also the author of 'Killing Pablo: The Hunt for the Worlds Greatest Outlaw' an investigation into the U.S. government's role in bringing down Colombian cocaine kingpin and terrorist Pablo Escobar. BOWDEN will talk about the U.S. military strategy in the war against terrorism. (2.) Film director ANDREW DAVIS. His films include 'The Fugitive,' and 'Under Seige.' His latest film 'Collateral Damage' starring Arnold Schwarzenegger was about to go into distribution but was pulled after the attacks on the World Trade Centers and the Pentagon. (3.) We remember violinist ISAAC STERN. He died Saturday at the age of 81. He died of heart failure. (REBROADCAST from 1988).

Interview with Sebastian Junger; Review of the fall television season. September 25, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039088].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist SEBASTIAN JUNGER ('YOUNGER'). Last year he traveled to Afghanistan to profile Ahmad Shah Massoud, (known as the 'Lion of Panjshir'), the legendary leader of the guerrilla war against the Soviets, who had been fighting the Taliban. Massoud was assassinated by Osama bin Laden's associates about two weeks ago. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews the new TV season.
Interview with Nicolas de Torrente; Interview with Billy Collins; Commentary on naming military operations. September 26, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039208].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Executive director of the USA division of the French medical relief organization Doctors without Borders, NICHOLAS de TORRENTE ('deh-TARE-n-tay'). During August, he was in the Northern Territory of Afghanistan checking on the work of the organization. To do their work, Doctors without Borders had to negotiate with the Taliban. After the attacks, the organization had to evacuate all foreign workers out of the country, leaving their Afhani staff behind. De TORRENTE was flying to JFK airport on Sept 11, and his plane was one of the last international planes to land in the U.S. before planes were diverted to Canada.(2.) Our new U.S. Poet Laureate BILLY COLLINS. His new collection of poems is 'Sailing Alone Around the Room' (Random House). His other collections include "Picnic, Lightning" (Univ of Pittsburgh), "The Art of Drowning" (Univ of Pittsburgh Press), and "Questions about Angels" (William Morrow & Co). John Updike says of Collins' poetry, "Billy Collins writes lovely poems... Limpid, gently and consistently startling, more serious than they seem, they describe all the worlds that are and were and some others besides." Collins' poetry has also appeared in anthologies, textbooks, and a variety of periodicals, including Poetry, American Poetry Review, Harper's, and The New Yorker. He is professor of English at Lehman College, CUNY (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the practice of giving names to military operations, like the misconceived 'Operation Infinite Justice' that was pulled from use.

Interview with Mamoun Fandy; Commentary on music. September 27, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039205].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Professor of Politics with an expertise on the Arab World, MAMOUN FANDY ('Mah-MOON Fendy'). He teaches at the Near-East South Asia Center for Strategic Studies at the National Defense University. He's written for the New York Times, Los Angeles Times, and regularly for The Christian Science Monitor. His latest book is 'Saudi Arabia and the Politics of Dissent.' (St. Martin's Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reflects on what music he has and hasn't been listening to.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Architect and critic ANTHONY VIDLER. He'll discuss urban planning and architecture in the wake of the terrorist attacks. VIDLER is Dean of the Cooper Union School of Architecture and professor of art and architecture at UCLA.(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the new novel 'London Bridges' (Houghton Mifflin) by Jane Stevenson.(3.) Documentary film director RIC BURNS. He directed the 7-part Emmy-awarded winning PBS series, 'New York: A Documentary Film.' The last two episodes of the series air on most stations September 30th and October 1st. Also commentator PETER QUINN who appears in the film. QUINN is a novelist, essayist and third generation Irish-American. He is the author of the historical novel 'Banished Children of Eve.'(4.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Zoolander' the new film co-written, directed and starring Ben Stiller.

Interview with John Sifton; Interview with Nick Lowe. October 1, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039207].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Lawyer and humanitarian aid worker JOHN SIFTON. He was working in Pakistan and Afghanistan earlier this year. He returns to Pakistan soon. His story about what he observed as a humanitarian worker in Afghanistan is featured in yesterday's (Sept 30th) issue of the New York Times Sunday magazine. (2.) NICK LOWE brings his guitar to the studio for music and conversation. The British singer-songwriter and producer has had a long and varied career. In the late sixties, he played bass and sang for the pop band Kippington Lodge. In the seventies, he produced albums for Graham Parker and the Rumour, The Damned, Dave Edmunds and Elvis Costello. Lowe co-founded Stiff Records, one of the premier labels for punk rock. Then, his own solo career took off with the release of the single "I Love the Sound of Breaking Glass." He has continued to both produce and sing. His new solo album is "The Convincer."

---

Interview with Salar Abdoh; Interview with Christopher Whitcomb; Review of J.J. Johnson's reissued album ?The Eminent J.J. Johnson, Volume 2.? October 2, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039202].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Iranian born novelist SALAR ABDOH. His first novel 'The Poet Game,' (2000, Picador USA) is a fictitious account of an Iranian secret agent sent to New York City to investigate rumored terrorist plots, in the wake of the 1993 World Trade Center bombing. The main character, Sami Amir poses as a terrorist to try and stop the attacks. SALAR ABDOH fled Iran with his father and brothers following the revolution in 1979. ABDOH earned a master's degree in Creative Writing from the City College of New York. He lives in New York City.(2.) FBI special agent CHRISTOPHER WHITCOMB. He was part of the agency's hostage rescue team. The team is the equivalent to the Navy's SEALs and the Army's Delta Force. As such he participated in the missions at Waco, Ruby Ridge and Kosovo. He is currently director of strategic information management for the Critical Incident Response Group. He's written the new book: 'Cold Zero: Inside the FBI Hostage Rescue Team' (Little, Brown and Co.)(3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the reissue 'The Eminent J.J. Johnson, Volume 2' (Blue Note).

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Istanbul bureau chief for the New York Times, STEPHEN KINZER. He's written the new book 'Crescent & Star: Turkey Between Two Worlds,' (Farrar, Straus & Giroux). He describes a country caught between the entrenched ruling elite and its younger, well-educated population who want democracy. He describes a country of talented 'writers, thinkers, university professors and business executives' who have been excluded from positions of power. KINZER is currently the Times' national culture correspondent based in Chicago. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Love and Theft' (Columbia) the new release by Bob Dylan.

Interview with Harry Shearer; Interview with Will Ferrell; Interview with Rob Siegel and Todd Hanson; Review of the television show "West Wing." October 4, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039206].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Satirist and host of the public radio program Le Show, HARRY SHEARER on how he's been dealing with the aftermath of the terrorist attacks on his show. (2.) WILL FERRELL is a regular cast member of Saturday Night Live. Last weekend the show began the new season in a somber tone, opening the show with Mayor Guilliani surrounded by a group of New York fire fighters, police and EMT workers. FERRELL has portrayed President George Bush on the show as well as Janet Reno, Alex Trebek and Robert Goulet; his other send-ups include musical middle school teacher Marty Culp, and Spartan cheerleader Craig. (3.) From the satirical weekly newspaper The Onion, editor ROB SIEGEL and writer TODD HANSON. They've produced two issues of the paper since September 11th. Their recent issue includes the articles 'A Shattered Nation Longs to Care About Stupid Bullshit Again,' 'U.S. Urges Bin Laden to Form Nation It Can Attack,' and 'Security Beefed up at Cedar Rapids Public Library.' (4.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews last night's special episode of 'The West Wing'? the show's response to the terrorist attacks.

Interview with Jane Kaczmarek; Interview with Edie Falco; Review of the film "L-I-E;" Commentary on the term "Terrorism." October 5, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039272].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress JANE KACZMAREK ('Kaz-MAIR-ick'). She's been nominated for an Emmy (Outstanding Lead Actress in a Comedy Series) for her role on FOX's 'Malcolm in the Middle.' She plays the harried mother of four boys. KACZMAREK was a series regular on 'Equal Justice,' 'Paper Chase: The Second Year,' and has had recurring roles on 'Frasier,' 'The Practice,' and 'Cybill.' Her film roles include 'Pleasantville,' 'Uncommon Valor,' and 'The Chamber.' (2.) Actress EDIE ('E-dee') FALCO plays Carmella
Soprano, wife of Tony Soprano on the HBO drama 'The Sopranos.' She too has been nominated for an Emmy for Outstanding lead Actress in a Drama Series. The role turned her from a relative unknown to a TV star. She's had roles on 'Law & Order' and 'Homicide: Life on the Streets.' She's starred in the independent films 'Judy Berlin,' 'Trust' and 'Laws of Gravity.' (3.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'L-I-E,' an independent film about a troubled teenage boy and the older man who steps into his life. L.I.E. stands for Long Island Expressway, where the boy's mother died in an auto crash.(4.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the history of the term "terrorism."

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author JAMES RESTON JR. His new book is 'Warriors of God: Richard the Lionheart and Saladin in the Third Crusade.' (Doubleday) It's the story of the battle for the Holy Land in the late 12th century. It begins as a dual biography of Saladin, the Sultan of Egypt, Syria, Arabia and Mesopotamia, and Richard I, King of England, known as the Lionheart. The two men led the battling Islamic and Christian armies. James Reston is also the author of twelve books, including 'The Last Apocalypse' and 'Galileo: A Life.' He is currently a scholar in residence at the Library of Congress.(2.) Film director JULES DASSIN ('DASS-in'). His 1955 film noir masterpiece 'RIFIFI' was re-released last year. It was virtually unseen since its release because Dassin was blacklisted. He met and married Greek actress Melina Mercouri, and went on to collaborate with her in the hit films 'Never on Sunday' and 'Topkapi,' the inspiration for 'Mission: Impossible.' Mercouri is being honored by New York's Film forum.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former U.S. Senator from Maine, GEORGE MITCHELL. After leaving the Senate he chaired the Northern Ireland peace talks. His book 'Making Peace,' is about his work on that negotiation. He recently headed an international panel examining the conflict between the Israelis and Palestinians. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the new short story collection 'Flights of Love' (Pantheon) by Bernhard Schlink.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JEFFREY GOLDBERG is a staff writer for the New Yorker, specializing in foreign reporting with an emphasis on Europe, Africa, and the Middle East. His article, 'Letter from Cairo: Behind Mubarak: Egyptian clerics and intellectuals respond to terrorism' appears in the October 8th issue of the New Yorker. He is currently writing a non-fiction book about the Middle East, due out next year. Previously, GOLDBERG was a contributing writer for The New York Times Magazine. (2.) Pakistani journalist AHMED RASHID (EH-med RA-sheed) (rhymes with need). He's the author of the book, 'Taliban: Militant Islam, Oil, and Fundamentalism in Central Asia' (Yale University Press-2000). RASHID's book has been called the most in-depth study of the Taliban. RASHID is a correspondent for the Far Eastern Economic Review and the Daily Telegraph, reporting on Pakistan, Afghanistan, and Central Asia.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist ROBERT KAPLAN is a correspondent for The Atlantic Monthly. He is the best known for his book 'Balkan Ghosts' which became the book that former President Clinton turned to before the U.S. involvement in the Bosnian crisis. His 1990 book, 'Soldiers of God: with Islamic Warriors in Afghanistan and Pakistan' has just been republished, updating the story. The book now includes a new introduction and a final chapter on how the Taliban came to power. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Editor and writer WALTER KIRN lives in Montana, a place where many people are thinking of moving to - now that the United States is under threat of more terrorist attacks. KIRN was recently on Fresh Air to discuss his new novel 'Up in the Air' (Doubleday) about 35 year-old Ryan Bingham, a well-traveled business man who has a goal of accumulating one million miles in his frequent flyer account. KIRN is the literary editor for GQ and a contributing editor to Time and Vanity Fair.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) For today's entire show we excerpt portions of the New Yorker magazine's benefit program 'Beyond Words' in which New Yorker writers read the work of others on-stage. (Taped Thursday, Oct 11 at Town Hall in New York City). 'Beyond Words' benefits The September 11th Fund. In the first half of the show we hear from: DAVID REMNICK, editor of The New Yorker introduces the readings.

Interview with Jonathan Franzen; Commentary on language; Commentary on the television show "I love Lucy." October 15, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039095].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist JONATHAN FRANZEN. His critically acclaimed new novel 'The Corrections' is a saga about two generations of an American family, the parents and their children, and the family's response to the illness of the father. Fellow novelist Don DeLillo says, 'Franzen has built a powerful novel out of the swarming consciousness of a marriage, a family, a whole culture. And he has done it with a sympathy and expansiveness... (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Linguist GEOFFREY NUNBERG on the language of religious fundamentalists.

(3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI on the 50th anniversary of the 'I Love Lucy' show.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Professor of structural engineering at the University of California at Berkeley, HASAN ASTANNEH ('Ha-SAN Ah-STAHN-eh'). He is a member of a team assembled by the American Society of Civil Engineers to investigate the World Trade Centers site. He recently received a grant from the National Science foundation to study the remains of the at the site. His findings will be used in engineering studies to help improve the structural integrity of buildings. ASTANNEH also has done research on bomb-resistant designs, following the bombing of the Oklahoma Federal Building. (2.) Former lead singer of the indie-rock band the Del Fuegos, DAN ZANES. When he became a father he realized he couldn't stomach the music for kids so started writing his own. He also formed the Rocket Ship Revue, a touring band that performs dance-party shows for kids. His first CD 'Dan Zanes + Friends Rocket Ship Beach' received a Parents Choice Award and the kids liked it too. It also featured Suzanne Vega and Sheryl Crow. ZANES' new CD is 'Family Dance.' (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN tells us about some of the mysteries she and her friends are reading to help cope with the times. They include 'Hope to Die' the new Laurence Block mystery featuring hard-boiled detective Matt Scudder; 'Journey into Fear' (1940) a classic by Eric Ambler; 'Rouge Male' (1950) by Geoffrey Household; 'The Ministry of Fear' (1943) by Graham Greene; 'The Maltese Falcon' (1930) by Dashiell Hammett.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Religion scholar KAREN ARMSTRONG on Islamic fundamentalism. She's the author of the bestselling books 'The Battle for God,' 'Jerusalem,' and 'The History of God.' She's also the author of Interview with Michael Gordon; Commentary on speech; Commentary by Billy Collins. October 18, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039093].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Military affairs correspondent for the New York Times, MICHAEL GORDON. He's former Moscow bureau chief for the paper. He covered the war in Chechnya when the Times was one of only two western news organizations allowed in Chechnya by the Russian military. GORDON also covered the Gulf war and the war in Kosovo, and is co-author of the book "The Generals' War" about the Gulf War. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers how the September 11th attacks and the aftermath have affected the way we talk. (3.) Poet BILLY COLLINS reads his poem 'This Much I Do Remember.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Psychiatrist ROBERT JAY LIFTON is an expert on terrorism and cult groups. He's the author of the book, "Destroying the World to Save It: Aum Shinrikyo, Apocalyptic Violence, and the New Global Terrorism' about the Japanese cult group that released sarin nerve gas in the Tokyo subways. LIFTON will soon join the Harvard faculty as a visiting professor.(2.) Singer and songwriter LOUDON WAINWRIGHT the Third. He has a new CD, 'Last Man on Earth' and a new role on the hit FOX TV series, 'Undeclared.' He plays a dysfunctional father on the show. Loudon Wainwright III grew up in the town of Bedford in wealthy Westchester County north of New York City. He became a folk singer/songwriter in the late '60s, singing humorous and autobiographical songs. In 1972, on his "Album III" he scored the top-40 hit "Dead Skunk." Many of his songs have been featured on NPR's Morning Edition. And many of his songs have been recorded by others including Kate (his ex-wife) and Anna McGarrigle.
(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)(3.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews the new David Lynch film, 'Mulholland Drive.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) journalist CHARLES SENNOTT (sounds like 'senate') of The Boston Globe. He just returned from Afghanistan, where he traveled with the Northern Alliance. He is also the author of the new book, 'The Body and The Blood: The Holy Land's Christians At the Turn of a New Millennium' (PublicAffairs). SENNOTT was the Globe's Middle East bureau chief, and is currently the Globe's European bureau chief. He lives in London. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Photographer JOEL MEYEROWITZ ('MY-roh-its'). He took three portraits of the World Trade Center Towers in 1981. His work appears in a new group show, 'Here is New York,' which is located on Prince Street in Soho, not far from Ground Zero. The exhibit aims to be democratic, having accepted hundreds of submissions from professional and amateur photographers alike on the subject of NYC before and after September 11. Meyerowitz thinks of himself as a street photographer. He's published eleven books of his photographs as well as a book on the history of street photography. He also recently completed a documentary film called 'POP.'(2.) Rock critic Ken Tucker reviews 'The Rock: Stone Cold Country 2001,' the new album by country singer George Jones.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Doctor PETER PIOT ('PEE-aht'). Since 1994, he's been the director of the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS and the executive director of UN AIDS, the UN agency coordinating the fight against the disease. He also co-discovered the Ebola virus. He's considered the UN's top AIDS official. He says Asian countries need to take AIDS prevention and treatment more seriously, as they are only at the beginning of the epidemic. Countries most affected are Thailand, Myanmar and Cambodia. Piot says the HIV/AIDS epidemic has hit India very hard. (2.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews CDs from neo-soul singers Alicia Keys (Songs in A Minor) and Babyface (Face2Face).

Interview with George Chakiris; Interview with Rita Moreno and Marni Nixon; Commentary on language. October 25, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039047].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) In honor of the 40th anniversary of the film 'West Side Story,' we speak with cast members. The film is a screen adaptation of the hit Broadway musical about New York City gangs circa 1960. It won ten Oscars. First, GEORGE CHAKIRIS ('sha-KEER-iss'), who played Bernardo in the movie. He won an Oscar and a Golden Globe for the role. Chakiris was born in 1935 and made his acting debut at the age of 12. He's been in many films, TV shows and plays. He got the 'West Side Story' film role after playing the role of Biff in the London theater production of 'West Side Story.' (2.) Actress RITA MORENO and vocalist MARNI NIXON. Moreno ('mo-RAIN-o') won an Oscar for her role as Anita in West Side Story. She's been in dozens of films and TV shows. Many baby boomers will remember her from the kids' PBS series 'The Electric Company.' She played a starlet in 'Singin' in the Rain.' According to Leonard Maltin, Moreno is listed in the Guinness Book of World Records for being the first performer to win an Oscar, a Tony, an Emmy, and a Grammy. However, Maltin goes on to say the entry is inaccurate. Barbra Streisand won all four by 1970. MARNI NIXON is the singing voice of Maria (played by Natalie Wood) in 'West Side Story.' She also did voiceovers for Deborah Kerr in 'An Affair to Remember' and Audrey Hepburn in 'My Fair Lady.' More recently, she did voiceover work for the animated film 'Mulan.' (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG reflects on 'The Star Spangled Banner' and possible alternative anthems that would be less militaristic and easier for everyone to sing.

Interview with Albert Brooks; Interview with Al Kooper. October 26, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039195].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor, comic, writer, director ALBERT BROOKS. He stars in the new movie "My First Mister". He's appeared in such films as 'The Muse,' "Taxi Driver," "Broadcast News," and "I'll Do Anything." and "Mother." and he wrote, directed and acted in are "Real Life," "Modern Romance," "Lost in America," and "Defending Your Life." (Originally aired 12/19/96). (2.) Musician AL KOOPER. He seems to have had a hand in every classic rock song ever made. He helped popularize the Hammond B3 organ as part of rock music, performing on recordings of Bob Dylan ('Like a Rolling Stone'), Lynyrd Skynyrd ('Freebird'), Jimi Hendrix, The Rolling Stones, and The Who. He was a member of the legendary Blues Project, and later founded the group Blood Sweat & Tears. There's a new 2-CD retrospective of his work called 'rare and well-done: The Greatest and Most Obscure Recordings 1964-2001' (Columbia/Legacy Sony Music Entertainment). His autobiography is "Backstage Passes & Backstabbing Bastards: Memoirs of a Rock 'n Roll Survivor" (Billboard Books). (Originally aired 12/8/98)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author HANIF KUREISHI ('kuh-RAY-shee'). His new novel is 'Gabriel's Gift,' (Scribner) about a 15-year-old boy and his struggles with his artistic soul and restless parents. Simultaneously two of Kureishi's works are coming out in a combined paperback edition: 'Intimacy: A Novel and Midnight All Day: Stories.' (Scribner). 'Intimacy' has been adapted to film. Several of Kureishi's earlier novels, 'My Beautiful Laundrette,' and 'Sammy and Rosie Get Laid,' were also made into films. (2.) Dancer GARTH FAGAN. He's the Tony Award winning choreographer of Broadway's 'The Lion King.' He is the founder and artistic director of the critically acclaimed group Garth Fagan Dance. Fagan is a Distinguished University Professor of the State University of New York. He's won many awards and fellowships, including a Guggenheim. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'My Wars Are Laid Away In Books' (Random House) the new biography of Emily Dickinson by Alfred Habegger.

Interview with Chris Hedges; Interview with Christoph Eschenbach. October 30, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039239].

Description of show segment(s)

(1). Former New York Times Balkans Bureau Chief and Middle East Bureau Chief CHRIS HEDGES. In the past few weeks, he's been covering terrorist cells in France and Belgium. He recently published a piece in Harper's Magazine called 'A Gaza Diary.' He currently is a correspondent for the paper and lives in New York. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2). Conductor and Pianist CHRISTOPH ESCHENBACH. He becomes the music director of the Philadelphia Orchestra in 2003. Formerly music director for the Houston Symphony, Eschenbach is currently Conductor Laureate for that symphony. He is the music director of the Orchestre de Paris and Germany's Hamburg NDR Symphony Orchestra. He has also been the music director of the Ravinia Festival, summer home to the Chicago Symphony since 1994.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) An expert on chemical/biological weapons proliferation and arms control, DR. JONATHAN TUCKER. He is Director of the Chemical & Biological Weapons Nonproliferation Program at the Center for Nonproliferation Studies at the Monterey Institute of International Studies. TUCKER is also author of the new book, 'Scourge: The Once and Future Threat of Smallpox' (Atlantic Monthly Press). (2.) WILLIAM WECHSLER (pronounced 'WEXLER') was Special Adviser to the Secretary of the Treasury from 1999 to 2001. He also served as Director for Transnational Threats on the U.S. National Security Council and as Special Assistant to the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff under President Clinton. He'll discuss what needs to be done to track the terrorist money trail. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Bob Costas; Interview with Robert Kimball; Review of "The complete Billie Holiday on Columbia (1933-1944)." November 1, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039196].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Emmy-award winning sportscaster BOB COSTAS. Since 1980 he's been affiliated with the NBC network covering Major League Baseball, the NFL, and the NBA. He was the prime-time host for the 1992 Summer Olympic Games, the 1996 Summer Olympics, and the 2000 Sydney Games. He's won numerous Emmys including one for his now defunct late-night TV interview program 'Later with Bob Costas.' He is currently anchor of MSNBC's 'InterNight.' COSTAS is also the author of 'Fair Ball: A Fan's Case for Baseball.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) ROBERT KIMBALL is the editor of the new book, 'The Complete Lyrics of Irving Berlin' (Knopf) which he compiled with Berlin's daughter, Linda Emmet. Berlin's songs include 'Cheek to Cheek,' 'Let's Face the Music,' 'Always,' 'There's No Business Like Show Business,' 'White Christmas,' and the song heard a lot lately, 'God Bless America.' KIMBALL edited complete lyrics collections of Cole Porter, Ira Gershwin, and Lorenz Hart. He also collaborated on the book 'Reading Lyrics' an anthology of some of the most important lyricists of the last century, including the lyrics of George M. Cohan, Irving Berlin, Cole Porter, Ira Gershwin, Lorenz Hart, Dorothy Field, Frank Loesser, Johnny Mercer, and others. (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'THE COMPLETE BILLIE HOLIDAY ON COLUMBIA (1933-1944).'</n Interview with Elia Kazan; Interview with Budd Schulberg; Interview with Eva Marie Saint; Interview with F.X. Toole; Review of film ?The Man Who Wasn?t There.? November 2, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039237].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The 1954 classic film "On the Waterfront" starring Marlon Brando with a score by Leonard Bernstein is now out on DVD. It won eight Academy Awards for Best Picture, Director, Actor, Supporting Actress, Story & Screenplay, Cinematography, Art Direction-Set Decoration, and Editing. We hear from ELIA KAZAN who directed the film and collaborated on the screenplay. KAZAN was a member of the Group Theater and co-founded the Actors Studio with Lee Strasberg. (REBROADCAST from 5/5/88).(2.) Screenwriter BUDD SCHULBERG wrote the screenplay for 'On The Waterfront.' The story was based on a 24-part newspaper exposes about labor racketeering and corruption that appeared in the New York Sun. (REBROADCAST from 2/6/90)(3.) Actress EVA MARIE SAINT. She starred opposite Marlon Brando in 'On the Waterfront,' and won an Academy Award for her portrayal of his convent-reared girlfriend. Later she and Cary Grant teamed up for Alfred Hitchcock's 'North by Northwest.' SAINT studied at the famed Actors Studio where Brando, Paul Newman, Marilyn Monroe and Dennis Hopper also did. (REBROADCAST from 11/30/00)(4.) Writer F.X. TOOLE. Last year at age 70, he published his first book, a collection of short stories about boxing called 'Rope Burns: Stories from the Corner' (in paperback, Ecco press). For twenty years, he's been a cut man, stopping the bleeding so fighters can go on to the next round. TOOLE has been writing for 40 years, but it was the publication of his first story in a small literary magazine in 1999 that caught the attention of a book agent. Writers James Ellroy and Joyce Carol Oates have praised this book, the former calling it 'the best boxing fiction ever written.' Others have compared his literary style to Frank McCourt's. Toole worked as a cabbie, bartender and bullfighter before entering the world of boxing. (REBROADCAST from 2/6/90)(5.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'The Man Who Wasn't There' the new film by Joel and Ethan Coen.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Musician, producer, arranger, composer QUINCY JONES. He has a new autobiography, 'Q: The Autobiography of Quincy Jones,' (Doubleday) and a 4-CD boxset collecting his work, 'Q: The Musical Biography of Quincy Jones' (Rhino). In his fifty year career he's worked with just about anyone who is anybody in the music business. As a teenager he played backup for Billie Holiday, along with his 16 year old friend, Ray Charles. At 18 he began playing the trumpet in Lionel Hampton's band beside Clifford Brown. He went on to work with Count Basie, Frank Sinatra, Dinah Washington, Sarah Vaughn, Lesley Gore and many others. He wrote the theme songs for the TV shows 'Sanford & Sons,' and 'Ironside,' and music for the films 'In Cold Blood,' 'For the Love of Ivy,' and 'The Pawnbroker. His biggest commercial success was producing and arranging Michael Jackson's 1982 hit album 'Thriller.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview Jeffrey Toobin; Interview with Ben Cheever; Review of the television series "24."]

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JEFFREY TOOBIN, staff writer at The New Yorker. His new book is an investigation into the bush gore presidential recount. Its called, 'Too Close to Call : The Thirty-Six-Day Battle to Decide the 2000 Election' (Random House). He also has a piece in the latest New Yorker, about the new anti-terrorism legislation. His last book, 'A Vast Conspiracy,' was about the Clinton-Lewinsky scandal. His book 'The Run of His Life' was about the OJ Simpson Trial. TOOBIN is also a legal analyst for ABC news.(2.) Writer BEN CHEEVER. His new book is called 'Selling Ben Cheever: Back to Square 1 in a Service Economy (Bloomsbury).' In 1995, Cheever lost his publisher and was not able to sell his third novel. To continue working, he decided to take jobs at chain bookstores, car dealerships, and sandwich shops. His book is about his 5 years working in the 'service economy.' Cheever's novels include The Plagiarist, The Partisan, and Famous After Death. He has been a newspaper reporter and an editor at Reader's Digest. (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the new Fox series '24.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Presidential historian MICHAEL BESCHLOSS. His new book is called 'Reaching for Glory: The Secret Lyndon Johnson Tapes, 1964-1965 (Simon & Schuster).' It is Beschloss's second volume on the LBJ tapes. Beschloss will talk about the tapes, and we will hear excerpts, including some recordings of conversations about Vietnam, Civil Rights, and with Jackie Kennedy. Beschloss has written 5 previous books on American presidents. He is also a regular contributor to The News Hour with Jim Lehrer. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Israeli journalist DAVID HOROVITZ is the editor of the Jerusalem Report. He'll discuss how Israelis are responding to the September 11th attacks, the war on terrorism, and the continued violence in the Middle East. HOROVITZ is the author of, 'A Little Too Close to God.' He was the recipient of the B'nai B'rith International Award for journalism in 1994. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Palestinian journalist GHASSAN KHATIB. He's the Director of the Jerusalem Media and Communications Center and publisher of Palestine Report Online. He offers the Palestinian perspective on the peace process and post-September 11th events.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RICKY JAY has been called "a master in the art of deception" and "one of the greatest sleight of hand artists in the world." He is also an actor. Next Spring, he will star in the one-man show "Ricky Jay on Broadway." A few years ago, he starred in the off-Broadway show "Ricky Jay and his 52 Assistants," which was directed by DAVID MAMET. JAY co-stars in Mamet's new film, "Heist." Jay has had a long-term collaboration with MAMET, acting in the films "House of Games," "Things Change," "Homicide," "Spanish Prisoner" and "State and Main." Jay also appears in the movies "Tomorrow Never Dies," and "Boogie Nights." Jay is also the author of the new book, "Jay's Journal of Anomalies," a compilation of four years of his quarterly publication of the same name. He also wrote "Cards as Weapons," "The Magic Magic Book," and "Learned Pigs, and Fireproof Women." (4/1/94)(2.) Film critic John Powers reviews 'Heist,' written and directed by David Mamet and co-starring Ricky Jay. Also starring are Gene Hackman, Danny DeVito and Delroy Lindo.(3.) Language commentator Geoff Nunberg considers the puzzle of the anonymous anthrax letters.
Interview with Niall Ferguson; Interview with Simon Schama; Obituary for Ken Kesey; Review of Jennifer Egan's new novel "Look at me." November 12, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039219].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) NIALL (Neel) FERGUSON is the author of "The Pity of War: Explaining World War I." (Basic Books) Ferguson is Fellow and Tutor in Modern History at Jesus College, Oxford, England. His other books include "Paper and Iron" and "The House of Rothschild." Ferguson talks about why W.W.I was the century's worst war and why he blames Great Britain for prolonging the war. (Rebroadcast. Originally aired 5/31/99)(2.) As part of The New Yorker's Beyond Words series, we hear Simon Schama read from Winston Churchill's work, 'Winston and Clementine: The Personal Letters of the Churchills (1914-1916) by Winston Churchill. The Beyond Words series was taped October 11 in New York City at Town Hall. Proceeds benefit the September 11th Fund.(3.) Writer KEN KESEY. He died Saturday 11/12/01 at the age of 66. Kesey was a leading figure of 60s counterculture. As the organizer of the Merry Pranksters, Kesey did as much as anyone to popularize the use of L-S-D and other hallucinogens. Kesey also wrote two of the most popular books of the era, "Sometimes a Great Notion" and "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest." He's also the author of "Demon Box," "Caverns" and other books. (Originally aired 12/15/89)(4.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'Look at Me' by Jennifer Egan (Doubleday), and talks about Jonathan Franzen's bestseller 'The Corrections.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist CHRISTOPHER DICKEY. He is Newsweek magazine's Paris bureau chief and Middle East regional editor. His article in the November 19th issue is called 'The Saudi Game' and details America's complex relationship with Saudi Arabia. It will be the subject of today's interview. Dickey has written a number of critically acclaimed books, including the novel 'Innocent Blood' and the non-fiction works 'Expats' and 'With the Contras.'(2.) Novelist RICHARD PRICE reflects on life in New York City post September 11th. He reads an excerpt from an article he wrote for the 11/11/01 Sunday New York Times Magazine, about advice he gave his daughter. Price is the author of the novels 'Clockers' and 'Freedomland.'

Interview with Peter Bergen; Review of Henry Threadgill's music album, ?Up Popped the Two Lips;? Interview with Kim Phuc; Review of Strokes' debut album "Is this it." November 14, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039245].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer PETER BERGEN. He's a former correspondent/producer and current terrorism consultant for CNN, and the author of the book 'Holy War Inc.: Inside the Secret World of Osama bin Laden.' (The Free Press) It's both a biography of Bin Laden and an explanation of bin Laden's global network. While at CNN, Bergen produced bin Laden's first TV interview, filmed at his mountain hideout in Afghanistan. Bergen has written about Islamist militant groups for The New Republic, London's Daily Telegraph and The Washington Times.(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Up Popped the Two Lips,' one of two new records by composer, saxophonist and flutist Henry Threadgill. Threadgill recorded the album with a new sextet called Zooid (ZOO-id). (Pi Records)(3.) KIM PHUC is the subject of the Vietnam War's most famous photo: a 9-year-old girl running naked and screaming down a street. She has just been hit by napalm. Kim Phuc now lives in Canada with her husband and children. The 1999 book 'The Girl in the Picture,' by Denise Chong, tells Phuc's story. We'll find out what happened to Phuc after the photo was taken.(4.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Is This It', the debut CD of the New York quintet, The Strokes. (RCA Records)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York City Police Commissioner BERNARD KERIK. Mayor Rudolph Giuliani appointed him the 40th police commissioner of the City of New York in August of 2000. Prior to that, he was the commissioner of the Department of Correction. He began as a prison warden in New Jersey. He joined the NYPD as a beat cop on Times Square. He's just written a book, called 'The Lost Son: A Life in Pursuit of Justice.' (Regan Books) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES UNTIL THE END OF THE SHOW)

Interview with Andrew Solomon; Commentary on the Boston Symphony Orchestra; Review of the film ?Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone.? November 16, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039140].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer ANDREW SOLOMON. His book on depression, 'The Noonday Demon: An Atlas of Depression,' (Scribner) just won a National Book Award. The work came out of a 1998 New Yorker article. He draws on personal experience as well as interviews with patients, physicians, philosophers and drug designers. (6/11/01)(2.) Classical music critic Lloyd Schwartz brings us classical music news from Boston. Seiji Ozawa is leaving the Boston Symphony Orchestra after 29 years as conductor. James Levine will replace him. Also, Lloyd will explain how the events of September 11th have changed the BSO's programming.(3.) Critic Ken Tucker reviews the film 'Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer/producer JUDD APATOW (pronounced AAH-puh-tao). His new series for FOX is called 'Undeclared.' He's billed as the creator/executive producer. It's about a group of geeky college freshmen. Apatow also worked on the Emmy award winners 'Freaks and Geeks' and 'The Ben Stiller Show.' He was a writer for 'The Larry Sanders Show.' He began as a stand-up comic and he wrote jokes for Roseanne, Jim Carrey and Garry Shandling.(2.) Novelist, screenwriter and biographer A.E. HOTCHNER. His book "Papa Hemingway" (Carroll & Graff) is about his friend and colleague, Ernest Hemingway. HOTCHNER met Hemingway when he was a 20-something journalist, on assignment to interview Hemingway for Cosmopolitan magazine. That first interview in 1948 developed into a 14 year friendship. In 1957, he wrote 'The World of Nick Adams,' a dramatization of Hemingway's Nick Adams stories for CBS. The TV special starred Paul Newman and was scored by Aaron Copland. Tonight, Newman and a cast of stars will stage a production of work at Avery Fisher Hall in New York. It's a benefit for Paul Newman's charity, The Hole in the Wall. (3.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews the new Grateful Dead box set. (Rhino Records.)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RUTH KLUGER is the author of the new memoir, 'Still Alive: A Holocaust Girlhood Remembered' (The Feminist Press). KLUGER was ten years old when she and her mother were deported to the Jewish 'ghetto' Theresienstadt. From there they were sent to Auschwitz and the young KLUGER survived to go to the work camp Christianstadt by lying about her age. Her memoir 'Still Alive' was published in Germany in 1992 and has just been published in the U.S. KLUGER became a distinguished professor of German and is professor emerita at the University of California, Irvine. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Wittgenstein's Poker' (Ecco Press) by British journalists David Edmonds & John Eidinow.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) KEN WELLS is senior writer and features editor for The Wall Street Journal's Page One. He is also the author of two novels: his latest 'Junior's Leg' (Random House), and 'Meely LaBauve' (published last year). Both novels are set in south Louisiana on the bayou where he grew up. (2.) Jazz trumpeter STEVEN BERNSTEIN. With his quartet, Sex Mob, he's just released a new CD which pays homage to the music of James Bond films. It's called 'Sex Mob Does Bond' (ropeadope records) and is the sextet's third album. BERNSTEIN also heads two other groups: 'Diaspora Soul' which specializes in performing versions of ancient Jewish melodies, and 'Millennial Territory Orchestra' with which he explores jazz from the 1920s and 1930s. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Nick Lowe; Interview with Dan Zanes; Interview with Loudon Wainwright. November 22, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974038645].

Description of show segment(s)

(1). Musician NICK LOWE. In his forty-year career, he's played in several bands, performed as a singer songwriter and worked as the record producer for bands like Elvis Costello and the Pretenders. He's released over ten solo albums including hit singles 'Cruel to Be Kind' and 'Crackin' Up.' His latest album was released this past September. It's called 'The Convincer.' (ORIGINALLY BROADCAST 10/01/01)

(2). Musician DAN ZANES. Formerly of the 80's rock group, the del Fuegos, Zanes is now head of the Brooklyn based children's record label, festival five. He has also released two full length albums on festival five that feature Zanes and friends covering folk songs and children's songs. He performs frequently in and around New York City where he lives. (ORIGINALLY BROADCAST 10/16/01)

(3). Singer songwriter LOUDON WAINWRIGHT III. He has a new CD, 'Last Man on Earth' and a new role on the hit FOX TV series, 'Undeclared.' He plays a dysfunctional father on the show. Loudon Wainwright III grew up in the town of Bedford in wealthy Westchester County north of New York City. He became a folk singer/songwriter in the late '60s, singing humorous and autobiographical songs. In 1972, on his "Album III" he scored the top-40 hit "Dead Skunk." Many of his songs have been featured on NPR's Morning Edition. And many of his songs have been recorded by others including Kate (his ex-wife) and Anna McGarrigle. (ORIGINALLY BROADCAST 10/19/01)

Description of show segment(s)

(1). Writer JONATHAN FRANZEN. His critically acclaimed new novel 'The Corrections' chronicles the reaction of a dysfunctional American family to the father's illness. It's just been awarded the National Book Award. Franzen is also the author of two other novels, 'Strong Motion' and 'The Twenty-Seventh City.' He lives in New York. (ORIGINALLY BROADCAST 10/15/01)

(2). Writer DAVID LEAVITT. Author of 14 books, Leavitt specializes in gay fiction and Italian traveling narratives. He was first published in the New Yorker at the age of 20 and followed that with stories in Harper's Magazine, and the 1984 O.Henry Prize Story Collection. His novel about the publishing world, 'Martin Bauman; or A Sure

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DALTON CONLEY is the author of the memoir, 'Honky' (Vintage books, in paperback) about growing up white in a predominately African American and Latino neighborhood on the Lower East Side of New York. CONLEY is Associate Professor of Sociology and Director of the Center for Advanced Social Science Research at New York University. (2.) J.T. LEROY is the author of two books: 'The Heart is Deceitful Above All Things' (Bloomsbury) is the collection of autobiographical stories that he wrote at the age of 16. And 'Sarah' a novel about a cross-dressing 12-year old hustler. Leroy's writing comes from his experience traveling with his mother across the country. She was a sometime prostitute. At the times he turned tricks too. LEORY writes for NY Press, Shout Magazine and The Face.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Standup comic BERNIE MAC. He just premiered his own sitcom 'The Bernie Mac Show' on the FOX network, loosely based on his own experience when he took care of his drug-addicted sister's three children. MAC has had several HBO specials and was featured in Spike Lee's documentary, 'Kings of Comedy.' MAC is also the author of 'Bernie Mac on how Life is: I Ain't Scared of you' (w/Darrell Dawsey, pub. By Pocket books).(2.) Hip hop entrepreneur RUSSELL SIMMONS. Called the 'godfather of hip hop,' he's been credited with bringing rap to the mainstream. In the early 1980s, he founded Def Jam Records with Rick Rubin. The label launched legendary hip hop acts like Run DMC, the Beastie Boys and LL Cool J. SIMMONS also heads Def Comedy Jam which introduced comedians Chris Rock and Martin Lawrence. His hip hop empire has grown with the addition of Phat Farm clothing line. He produced the film 'The Nutty Professor' and published his first book this year. It's called 'Life and Def: Sex, Drugs, Money and God.'
Fresh Air With Terry Gross

Interview with Danis Tanovic; Commentary on talking robots; Review of a new music box sets ?Artie Shaw November 28, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974038648].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Bosnian filmmaker DANIS TANOVIC (DAN-iss TAN-o-vitch). His new film 'No Man's Land' (United Artists) is about three soldiers trapped in a trench between enemy lines, during the war in Bosnia. During the war in early 90s, TANOVIC was the Bosnian army's cameraman, documenting the war for the army archive. He also directed many documentary films about the war and his hometown of Sarajevo. 'No Man's Land' won the Best Screenplay award at this year's Cannes Film Festival. Its also been shown at this year's Toronto Film Festival and the Sarajevo International Film Festival. (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the efforts to make talking robots.(3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new box set, 'Artie Shaw: Self Portrait' (RCA/Bluebird). The five-CD box set of Shaw's music was edited by Shaw himself.

Interview with Larry Goodson; Commentary on language; Review of the music of the band X. November 29, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974038646].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) LARRY GOODSON is associate professor of international Studies at Bentley College, Waltham, Massachusetts. He's the author of the book, 'Afghanistan's Endless War: State Failure, Regional Politics, and the Rise of the Taliban' (University of Washington press). GOODSON writes that Afghanistan has 'become the archetype of a failed state and a perfect example of how nonstate actors move into the vacuum created when a state fails.' He also writes about the divisions in the Afghan population: ethnic, linguistic, regional, sectarian, racial, and tribal. (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the terms 'highbrow,' 'middlebrow,' and 'Lowbrow.'(3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews three new re-issues from the LA band, X.

Description of show segment(s)

(1). We learned today that former Beatle George Harrison has died. We'll listen back to drummer, RINGO STARR who talks to Terry about the early life of the Beatles. (REBROADCAST from 6/14/95)(2.) RAVI SHANKAR, the world's leading sitar player. In 1999 he published his autobiography, 'Ravi Shankar: Raga Mala.' The book was edited and introduced by his friend George Harrison. He'll discuss his relationship with Harrison and how Harrison helped introduce the sitar to western audiences. (REBROADCAST from 11/17/99)(3.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews the French film that has become a hit in France and has received a cult following, 'Amelie.' It's just been released in the U.S.(4.) Actor VINCE VAUGHN. He teamed up again with 'Swingers' costar John Favreau in the movie, 'Made.' The movie, written and directed by Favreau, follows two aspiring boxers who concoct a money laundering scheme. It's just come out on video and DVD. Vaughn has appeared in several movies including 'Swingers,' 'The Lost World,' the remake of Alfred Hitchcock's 'Psycho,' and 'The Cell.' (REBROADCAST from 7/16/01)(5.) Actor GENE HACKMAN. The star of the films "Bonnie and Clyde," "The French Connection," "The Conversation," and "Unforgiven." He's now starring in two films, with a third about to come out: 'Heist,' 'Behind Enemy Lines' and 'The Royal Tannenbaums' which will be released December 14th. (REBROADCAST from 11/15/99)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Program Director for the International Center for Transitional Justice, PAUL VAN ZYL (pronounced 'FUN sail'). As such he helps emerging democracies to reckon with the human rights abuses in their past. VAN ZYL is from South Africa and was the executive secretary of South Africa's Truth and Reconciliation Commission. The center is now working with the UN to design a justice policy for post-Taliban Afghanistan. The International Center for Transitional Justice is located in New York City. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) LEILA AHMED is Professor of Women's Studies in Religion at the Harvard Divinity School. She's written extensively on Feminism and Islam, and is the author of a new memoir about growing up in Egypt during the 1940s and 50s. It's called 'A Border Passage: from Cairo to America?a Woman's Journey.' (Penguin)

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress ANGIE DICKINSON. She played an undercover cop in the TV series 'Police Woman' from 1974-78. Her film roles include 'Dressed to Kill,' 'Even Cowgirls Get the Blues,' 'Pretty Maids all in a Row,' and 'Ocean's Eleven' which she made in 1960 with the rat pack: Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, and Sammy Davis Jr. (There's a new remake of Ocean's Eleven with George Clooney, Brad Pitt, and Don Cheadle.) Two new rat pack CD's have been reissued: 'The Rat Pack Live at the Sands,' which includes their previously unreleased performance from 1963 'Eee-O-11' (both on Capitol) a collection of their classic tunes from 1950s and 60s. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) GERALD EARLY is Merle Kling Professor of Modern Letters at Washington University in St. Louis. He is also a former commentator for Fresh Air. EARLY is the editor of the new book, 'The Sammy Davis Jr. Reader: The Life and Times of the Last Great Hipster-from Vaudeville to Vegas-as seen Through the Eyes of his Public' (Farrar, Straus & Giroux). The book includes writings about him by his friends, as well as profiles, reviews and interviews. EARLY also edited 'The Muhammad Ali Reader.'

---

Interview with Jimmy Carter; Interview with James Jeffords; Review of books for the holidays. December 5, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039052].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former U.S. President JIMMY CARTER. He's the author of a number of books including a memoir about his boyhood, 'An Hour Before Daylight.' His latest is a memoir, 'Christmas in Plains' (Simon & Schuster). Carter and his family has spent the last 48 Christmases in Plains, through out his Navy career, his stint as Governor and his tenure as President. The only exception was 1979 when American hostages were being held in Iran. (2.) U.S. Senator JAMES JEFFORDS of Vermont. Last May he shocked his fellow Republicans when he defected from the party and became an Independent. Stating that he could no longer reconcile his beliefs with the party, he switched allegiances. In doing so he deprived the Republicans of their trifecta: control of the White House, the Senate and the House of Representatives. He explains how he came to make the decision in the new book, 'My Declaration of Independence' (Simon & Schuster)(3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN has her holiday season literary gift list. This year, all the books revolve around New York City: 'Manhatten Unfurled' (Random House, 2001) by Matteo Pericoli'A Walker in the City' (first publ. 1951, HBJ paperback in print) by Alfred Kazin'A Drinking Life' (publ. 1994, Little Brown paperback in print) by Pete Hamill'Terrible Honesty' (publ. 1995 by Farrar, Straus, Giroux, paperback in print) by Ann Douglas'Down 42nd Street: Sex, Money, Culture, and Politics at the Crossroads of the World' (Warner Books, 2001) by Marc Eliot'My New York' (publ. 1993 by Little, Brown) by Kathy Jakobsen

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist SEBASTIAN JUNGER ('YOUNGER'). He's just returned from Afghanistan where he was traveling with the Northern Alliance. Last year he was also in Afghanistan following Ahmad Shah Massoud, (known as the 'Lion of Panjshir'), the legendary leader of the guerrilla war against the Soviets, who had been fighting the Taliban. Massoud was assassinated by Osama bin Laden's associates in September. JUNGER is also the author of the bestseller 'The Perfect Storm,' and his new book 'Fire.'(2.) Journalist CHARLES SENNOTT (sounds like 'senate') of The Boston Globe. He just returned from Afghanistan, where he traveled with the Special Forces. He's also the author of the new book, 'The Body and The Blood: The Holy Land's Christians At the Turn of a New Millennium' (PublicAffairs). SENNOTT was the Globe's Middle East bureau chief, and is currently the Globe's European bureau chief. He lives in London. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)
Interview with Shawn Levy; Interview with Mia Farrow; Interview with Tom Kuntz and Phil Kuntz; Review of the film "Ocean's eleven." December 7, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039287].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) SHAWN LEVY is the author of "Rat Pack Confidential: Frank, Dean, Sammy, Peter, Joey & the Last Great Showbiz Party" (Doubleday, paperback). It's about the circle of showbiz pals who played and later performed together. It included Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis, Jr., Peter Lawford and Joey Bishop. LEVY is also the author of the biography, "King of Comedy: The Life and Art of Jerry Lewis." (REBROADCAST from 8/19/98)(2.) Actress MIA FARROW. She was married to Frank Sinatra and will talk about their relationship. As a young actress she starred in "Peyton Place" and "Rosemary's Baby." She was also married to Andre Previn. Her 12-year relationship with Woody Allen ended with his affair with FARROW's adopted daughter Soon-Yi. FARROW and Allen had two children, and made twelve films together before their highly dramatic and public breakup. Her memoir published in 1997 is, "What Falls Away" (Mass Market, paperback). (REBROADCAST from 2/19/97)(3.) Editor TOM KUNTZ and reporter PHIL KUNTZ ('koontz'). Their book 'The Sinatra Files: The Life of an American Icon Under Government Surveillance' (Times Books, paperback) excerpts and analyzes portions of the FBI's massive file on Frank Sinatra. The file is 1,275 pages long and was begun in the mid 1940s and lasted until 1972. TOM KUNTZ is the editor of 'Word for Word,' a column in The New York Times Week in Review section. PHIL KUNTZ is a staff reporter for The Wall Street Journal.(4.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Ocean's Eleven' starring George Clooney, Brad Pitt, Don Cheadle, Matt Damon, and Julia Roberts.

Interview with Sissy Spacek; Interview with David Atkins; Review of the television special ?The Art of Violin.? December 11, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039289].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress SISSY SPACEK. It's been twenty-five years since her memorable performance in the 1976 horror film 'Carrie,' based on a Stephen King novel. Her new film is 'In The Bedroom,' a family drama/tragedy. It won several awards in this year's Sundance festival. SPACEK won an Oscar for her performance in 'Coal Miner's Daughter,' and she's been nominated for Best Actress 5 times. She got her

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor PATRICK WARBURTON. He's best known for his recurring role on 'Seinfeld' as Elaine's laconic boyfriend, Puddy. Though he only appeared in nine episodes, he became one of the show's favorite characters. WARBURTON currently stars in the new FOX show 'The Tick.' He could also be heard as the voice of Joe on Fox's animated series 'The Family Guy.' He's been in commercials for American Express, Cadillac and M&M's. He starred in the movie 'The Woman Chaser' which was critically acclaimed at the New York Film Festival and The Sundance Film Festival, and he was in the Australian film, 'The Dish.' His upcoming films include, 'Big Trouble,' 'Joe Somebody,' and 'Men In Black 2.'(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Missundastood' (Arista) the new album by Pink.(3.) Composer AARON JAY KERNIS. He's one of the youngest composers to win the Pulitzer Prize. This Saturday, his latest composition will be performed by the Philadelphia Orchestra as part of the grand opening of the Kimmel Center, Philadelphia's new concert hall. The piece was commissioned specifically for the event. The Walt Disney Company has commissioned a piece by Kernis. His many awards include a Guggenheim Fellowship, an NEA grant, a New York Foundation for the Arts award, and two Grammy nominations. Kernis was born in Philadelphia and is 41 years old.(4.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Poetry Speaks' (Sourcebooks) a collection of poems by 42 English speaking poets, along with biographical and critical essays, as well as three CDS featuring the poets reading their own work.

---

Interview with Wes Anderson; Interview with Eric Croddy. December 13, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039053].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director WES ANDERSON. He also co-wrote and produced the new film 'The Royal Tenenbaums,' about a family of geniuses, who despite their talents are ill-suited to deal with everyday problems. The family comes together for an unexpected reunion. The film stars Gene Hackman, Anjelica Huston, Billy Murray, Wyneth Paltrow and Ben Stiller. ANDERSON also co-wrote and directed 'Bottle Rocket' and 'Rushmore.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Biological and chemical weapons expert ERIC CRODDY. He's a senior research associate at the Monterey Institute of International Studies, and author of the book, 'Chemical and Biological Warfare: A Comprehensive Survey for the Concerned Citizen' (Copernicus Books).

---

Interview with Alan Ball; Review of the film "The royal Tenenbaums." December 14, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039291].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ALAN BALL is the creator of the HBO series 'Six Feet Under' which premiered last summer to critical acclaim. On Wednesday, December 12th, HBO began rebroadcasting the original 13 episodes. They will run on successive Wednesday nights at 10 PM EST. The new season of 'Six Feet Under' will begin in March 2002. BALL won an Academy Award for writing the screenplay for 'American Beauty.' He also has production credits on the TV shows 'Cybill' and 'Oh Grow Up.' Ball has served as producer, writer and director on Six Feet Under. ( rebroadcast from 6/25/2001) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews the new film 'The Royal Tenenbaums' directed by Wes Anderson.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and rapper WILL SMITH. He's starring in the new film "Ali" as fighter Muhammad Ali. The film begins in 1964, the year that Cassius Clay became world heavyweight champion, announced his conversion to Islam, and took on the name Muhammad Ali. The film is directed and co-written by Michael Mann who also made "The Insider." SMITH also starred in the films "The Legend of Bagger Vance," "Men In Black," "Independence Day," and "Six Degrees of Separation." SMITH got his start as a rapper, making his first record in high school. Known as the Fresh Prince he and his friend DJ Jazzy Jeff went on to make several albums and won two Grammys and three American Music Awards. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Blues singer RUFUS THOMAS has died at the age of 84. We'll play back several songs and an interview from the 1997 Chicago Blues Festival. Thomas was best known for novelty dance tunes like 'Walking the Dog' and 'Do the Funky Chicken.' In 1953 Thomas recorded 'Bear Cat,' the answer to Big Mama Thornton's 'Hound Dog.' It became Sun Records' first hit. In the sixties, Thomas became one of the founding performers for Stax Records. (7/3/97)

Interview with Bernard Lewis; Interview with Robert Jay Lifton; Commentary on the word of the year. December 18, 2001. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039231].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) BERNARD LEWIS, Ph.D. He is a Professor Emeritus of Near Eastern Studies at Princeton University. He's just written a new book about the war in the Middle East called 'What Went Wrong? Western Impact and Middle Eastern Response' (Oxford University Press). The New York Times Book Review has called Lewis 'the doyen of Middle Eastern Studies.' Lewis says that there may be no escape from the 'downward spiral of hate and spite...culminating sooner or later in another alien domination.' (2.) Professor ROBERT JAY LIFTON specializes in the study of extremist religions and cults. He'll talk with us about John Walker, the American captured in Afghanistan fighting for the Taliban. Lifton is Distinguished Professor of Psychiatry and Psychology at the Graduate School University Center and Director of The Center on Violence and Human Survival at John Jay College of Criminal Justice at The City University of New York. He's written books on many topics, including the Japanese cult which released poison gas in the Tokyo subways, Nazi doctors, Hiroshima survivors and Vietnam vets. (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the word of the year – past and present.

Description of show segment(s)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. LYNN AMOWITZ ('AM' as in 'ham') is a researcher for Physicians for Human Rights. AMOWITZ specializes in internal medicine, women's health and epidemiology. Last month she was in Afghanistan interviewing displaced women as B-52s were bombing just six miles away. Previous to that visit, AMOWITZ researched and compiled the report on the condition of women under the Taliban in the report 'Women's Health and Human Rights in Afghanistan.' AMOWITZ specializes in working in war torn communities. Over the years she's worked in Kosovo, Sierra Leone, Zaire, and Nigeria. AMOWITZ also works at the Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews Pierre Boulez conducting Wagner's Ring Cycle on DVD (Universal) and works by Stravinsky, Debussy, and Berg on two DVDs (Image).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film critic JOHN POWERS talks with Terry Gross about the holiday movies coming out, and about his favorite films from the last year. (THIS CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN on her favorite books of the year: In the non-fiction category: 'Seabiscuit' a biography of a racehorse by Laura Hillenbrand'Nickel and Dimed' by Barbara Ehrenreich'Facing the Wind' a true-crime story by Julie Salomon'The reprints 'My Ears are Bent' and 'McSorley's Wonderful Saloon' about New York City both by Joseph Mitchell'Stuffed' an autobiography by Patricia Volk'My Wars Are Laid Away in Books' a biography of poet Emily Dickinson by by Alfred Habegger. In the fiction category:'Empire Falls' by Richard Russo. 'The Corrections' by Jonathan Franzen'My Dream of You' by Nuala O'Faolain'Bel Canto' by Ann Patchett'Long Time No See' by Susan Isaacs'Almost' by Elizabeth Benedict

Interview with Rebecca Kilgore, Dave Frishberg, Deborah Grace Winer and Philip Furia.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) This Christmas week we rebroadcast our series on American popular song, and begin with the late lyricist DOROTHY FIELDS. Born in 1905, she was the only woman in the pre-rock era to sustain major critical and popular acclaim as a songwriter. First, singer BECKY KILGORE and pianist DAVE FRISHBERG perform music by Dorothy Fields. Biographer DEBORAH GRACE WINER talks about Fields' life and music. Winer is author of "On the Sunny Side of the Street: The Life and Lyrics of Dorothy Fields." PHILIP FURIA talks specifically about the lyrics DOROTHY FIELDS wrote. Furia is Chairman of the English Department at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington. He is also author of "Poets of Tin Pan Alley." (THESE INTERVIEWS AND PERFORMANCES CONTINUE IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We rebroadcast another episode of our American Popular Song Series. This one will profile composer JEROME KERN. He wrote the songs "All the Things You are," "Can't Help Lovin' That Man," "I'm Old-Fashioned," "Ol' Man River," and "The Way You Look Tonight." A number of those songs are from the broadway musical "Showboat" which he wrote. We'll focus on the music he wrote before then, before 1927. Terry will talk with JOHN MCGLINN, an authority on Kern, and we'll hear performances by: REBECCA LUKER, who is currently starring in the broadway revival of 'The Music Man', and who also starred in the revivals of "Showboat" and the "Sound of Music," GEORGE DVORSKY who sang leading roles in the New York City Opera's productions of "Cinderella" and Brigadoon." They'll be accompanied by WILLIAM HICKS, assistant conductor and assistant chorus master at the Metropolitan Opera. Original broadcast: 11/01/99 (THESE INTERVIEWS AND PERFORMANCES CONTINUE THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We continue our American Popular song series, with a program about composer WILL MARION COOK. He was born in 1869 and was part of the first generation born after slavery. Cook was one of the innovators of ragtime song, and helped introduce ragtime to Broadway. Cook wrote 'In Dahomey' the first full length broadway musical written and performed by African Americans. It opened on Broadway in 1903. Some of Cook's songs reflect the racial stereotypes and dialect of the time. In this program we hear selections of his music performed by singers VERNEL BAGNERIS and TERRY BURRELL, and pianist DICK HYMAN. We also hear from MARVA CARTER who is writing a biography of Cook. She is the director of Graduate Studies at the School of Music at Georgia State University. (THIS CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We continue our rebroadcast of our series on American Popular Song with a tribute to ragtime composer and performer EUBIE BLAKE. He was born on February 7, 1883 in Baltimore, Md. He wrote the songs for the Broadway hit Shuffle Along. African American ragtime musicians of the day sought out Eubie to write their songs. Two of Eubie Blake's best known songs are "I'm Just Wild About Harry" and "Love Will Find A Way." Just over one hundred years after his life began, on February 12, 1983, Eubie Blake died in Brooklyn, New York. We'll present a concert with singer Vernel Bagneris and pianist Dick Hyman and feature theater historian Robert Kimball. Singer Vernel Bagneris co-starred in the Broadway musical "The Life." He also co-created and starred in a Jelly Roll Morton revue, and the New Orleans music revue "One Mo' Time." Dick Hyman is an expert in piano styles of the teens, twenties and thirties. He has also composed music for several Woody Allen movies. Kimball rediscovered Blake in the the late 60's and co-authored the book "Reminiscing with Sissle and Blake." Kimball is also the co-author of "The Gershwins, and editor of "The Complete Lyrics of Ira Gershwin and Cole Porter." (THIS CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We continue our rebroadcast of our series on American Popular Song with a tribute to composer HOAGY CARMICHAEL. CARMICHAEL wrote "Star Dust," "Heart and Soul," "The Nearness of You," "Skylark" and many more. We feature performances by singer REBECCA KILGORE and pianist DAVE FRISHBERG. We'll also talk with RICHARD SUDHALTER, who has written a forthcoming biography of Carmichael. And we talk with Carmichael's son, Hoagy Bix Carmichael who now manages his father's music catalogue. (THIS TRIBUTE CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Today we feature part one of two in our next installment of Fresh Air's American Popular Song series. We profile HARRY WARREN (1893-1981), a successful but little known songwriter who produced a number of hits during the 1930's and 40's. Some of his best known songs include: "I Only Have Eyes for You," "Lullaby of Broadway," "We're in the Money," and "The More I See You." Warren dreamed of writing for Broadway, but instead migrated west and became one of Hollywood's most prolific songwriters. First...We feature THE JOHN PIZZARELLI TRIO discussing and performing several of Harry Warren's songs. The trio is JOHN PIZZARELLI, guitar and vocals, his brother MARTIN PIZZARELLI, bass; and RAY KENNEDY, piano. PHILIP FURIA is currently writing a book on Hollywood's musicals. He discusses the impact of Harry Warren on movie musicals. FURIA is the author of "The Poets of Tin Pan Alley," "Irving Berlin: A Life in Song." He is chair of the English department at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington. We again feature THE JOHN PIZZARELLI TRIO discussing and performing several of Harry Warren's songs. We continue with PHILIP FURIA on Harry Warren's role in the evolution of the Hollywood musical in the 1930's. Harry Warren's music publishing company, Four Jays Music, is now headed by his grand-daughter, JULIA RIVA. She talks about her grandfather and his music.

Interview with John Pizzarelli; Interview with Philip Furia; Interview with Julia Riva. January 1, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884584].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) As part of our series on American Popular Song...Today we continue our profile of HARRY WARREN (1893-1981), a successful but little known songwriter who produced a number of hits during the 1930's, 40's and 50's. Today in part two of our profile, we focus on Warren's songs of the 40's and 50's, including some of the most popular love ballads of the world war two years, one of Dean Martin's biggest hits, and the theme for a tv western. Warren dreamed of writing for Broadway, but instead migrated west and became one of Hollywood's most prolific songwriters. Same line up as previous day.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Biographer VICKI WICKHAM. With writer Penny Valentine, Wickham recently published 'Dancing with Demons: The Authorized Biography of Dusty Springfield.' Wickham was Springfield's close friend and manager for over a decade of Springfield's career. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Actor and producer BOB BALABAN. He's appeared in over 50 movie and television spots, directed for television and produced three full length films. His latest project is 'Gosford Park,' a Robert Altman whodunnit set in an English manor. The film is up for several Golden Globe awards. Balaban produced and appears in it.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) EDNA GUREWITSCH ('Guh-RAY-vitch') is the wife of the late Dr. David Gurewitsch who was Eleanor Roosevelt's personal physician from 1945 to her death in 1962. GUREWITSCH has written a new book about the close personal relationship that developed between her husband and the former first lady, 'Kindred Souls: Eleanor Roosevelt and David Gurewitsch, 1945-1962' (St. Martin's press). Dr. Gurewitsch was a handsome, compassionate man, 18 years younger than Mrs. Roosevelt, and she fell in love with him. He didn't share those feelings, but they maintained a friendship of devotion and respect. 'Kindred Souls' contains excerpts of their many letters. (2.) ERIC BURDON was the lead singer for the British band, 'The Animals' - the 1960s group that gave us, 'House of the Rising Sun' 'Don't Let Me Be Misunderstood,' and 'We gotta Get Out of This Place.' BURDON has written his autobiography, 'Don't Let Me Be Misunderstood' (Thunder's Mouth press) He is currently touring with the New Animals. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).
Interview with David Remnick; Interview with George Foreman; Commentary on Television programming. January 4, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884561].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DAVID REMNICK is the author of the book "King of the World" (in paperback, Vintage books) about heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali. REMNICK is editor of the New Yorker Magazine and is also the Pulitzer Prize winning author of "Lenin's Tomb." (REBROADCAST from 10/28/98)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Former two time Heavyweight Champion of the World GEORGE FOREMAN. In 1974 in what was called the 'Rumble in the Jungle' he took on Muhammad Ali in Zaire for the World Heavyweight title. He entered the fight as a better than 3-1 favorite, but in a humiliating upset for Forman, Ali won and became World Heavyweight Champion. In 1995 FORMAN wrote his autobiography: 'By George: The Autobiography of George Foreman' (Villard Books) written with Joel Engel. Forman staged a comeback in 1994 when he beat Michael Moorer to regain the title. In April, 1995 Forman defended the title against Axel Schultz. But Forman was stripped of the title after refusing to fight. (REBROADCAST from 6/7/95)(3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI considers the new TV season ? on cable, mostly.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RANDALL KENNEDY is a Harvard Law professor. His new book, 'Nigger: The Strange Career of a Troublesome Word' (Pantheon Books) is based on a series of classroom lectures he prepared exploring the history and use of the word 'nigger.' He found the word in literature, political debates, cartoons and songs. And he explores the use of the word from a hateful slur to a term of endearment. KENNEDY is a Rhode Scholar and he served as a law clerk to Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall. KENNEDY's also the author of 'Race, Crime and the Law.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Composer JERRY GOLDSMITH has been writing film and TV music since the 1950s. He won an Academy Award in 1976 for his music for 'The Omen.' His film scores include:'Star Trek: The Motion Picture,' 'The Sand Pebbles,' 'Chinatown,' and 'A Patch of Blue.' His TV credits include:
'The Man from U.N.C.L.E.,' 'Dr. Kildare,' 'The Waltons,' and 'Barnaby Jones.' There's a new CD collecting his music, 'The Film Music of Jerry Goldsmith' (Telarc).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Colombian senator and presidential candidate INGRID BETANCOURT. ('BET-an-court') In a country controlled by drug cartels and corrupt government officials, she has spoken out against corruption. Her efforts have earned her and her family death threats. She travels with as many as a dozen body guards, and sent her children away. BETANCOURT grew up in Paris, the daughter of Colombia's ambassador to UNESCO. Her mother was a political activist. BETANCOURT's book about her fight against corruption was a bestseller in France where it was first published. It's just been published in English under the title, 'Until Death Do Us Part: My Struggle to Reclaim Colombia.' (HarperCollins). BETANCOURT is 39 years old. (2.) Freelance journalist STEPHEN DUDLEY has been reporting from Colombia for five years for National Public Radio and Public Radio International's 'The World.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor, director, screenwriter BILLY BOB THORNTON. The 1996 film 'Sling Blade' which he wrote, directed and starred in put him on the map and earned him an Academy Award for Best Adapted screenplay. He was nominated for an Academy Award for his role in the 1998 film 'A Simple Plan.' Last year he directed the film 'All the Pretty Horses.' This past year, he starred in the Coen Brothers 'The Man Who Wasn't There,' 'Bandits' with Bruce Willis, and 'Monster's Ball.' Before he got into acting, he was interested in a music career. Last fall he released a new CD on which he sings his own songs, 'Private Radio.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Paul Eisenstein; Review of the music album "The Most of Dan Hicks & His Hot Licks." January 10, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884537].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist PAUL EISENSTEIN ('EYES-in-stine') covers the automotive industry and is publisher and editorial director of the website, 'The Car Connection'(TheCarConnection.com) a site of news, opinions, and reviews about cars. He'll talk about the latest car trends (the station wagon is back ? though they don't like to call it that) and the economic outlook for automakers. The North American International Auto Show - where most manufacturers unveil their new products - takes place in Detroit Jan 12-21. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Rock historian EDWARD profiles Dan Hicks and his Hot Licks. There's a new compilation of their music, 'The Most of Dan Hicks & His Hot Licks' (Epic/Legacy)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Abstract painter FRANK STELLA. The artist was first well known in the late 1950s for his Black Paintings series - striped monochrome works that helped touch off the minimalism movement. Over the years his work evolved from the canvas to colorful geometrical configurations of sculpture and architectural dimension. His 31 foot high sculpture, "Prinz Friedrich von Homburg, Ein Schauspiel" was recently unveiled in front of the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C. (REBROADCAST FROM 11/16/00)(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Holiday in Dirt,' the new album by Stan Ridgway.(3.) JUAN GARCIA ESQUIVEL was the icon of space age/bachelor music, producing innovative recordings of pop music in the fifties and sixties. He died in his home in Mexico on January 3rd at the age of 83. In 1994 his work was re-issued on the CD, "ESQUIVEL!: SPACE AGE BACHELOR PAD MUSIC"(Bar/None). (4.) IRWIN CHUSID, the producer of "ESQUIVEL!" (5.) and YVONNE DE BOURBON, one of Esquivel's ex-wives, and a former performer in his live show. (REBROADCAST FROM 9/7/94)(4.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Black Hawk Down.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer NEIL BALDWIN is author of the new book, 'Henry Ford and the Jews: The Mass Production of Hate' (PublicAffairs books). In the book he details Ford's early obsession with moralistic writings condemning Jews for not accepting Christ. Shortly before World War I and continuing into the 30s he wrote a series of venomous anti-semitic essays in the newspaper, 'The Dearborn Independent' (which he owned). In 1928 he collected many of the essays published in 1920 under the title, 'The International Jew: The World's Foremost Problem.' He also published 'The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion.' BALDWIN is executive director of the National Book Foundation. He's also the author of 'Legends of the Plumed Serpent: Biography of a Mexican God,' 'Edison: Inventing the Century,' and 'Man Ray: American Artist.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'Mark Twain' the new two-part documentary series by Ken Burns which airs on PBS tonight and tomorrow night.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Australian actress CATE BLANCHETT. In her latest film 'Charlotte Gray' she plays a courier behind enemy lines during World War Two, directed by Australian director Gillian Armstrong. She's also in three films out now: she plays a slutty wife in 'The Shipping News,' a bored housewife who hooks up with thieves in 'Bandits,' and Galadriel in 'The Lord of the Rings.' BLANCHETT was nominated for an Academy Award for her starring role in 'Elizabeth.' Her other films include 'Pushing Tin,' 'Oscar and Lucinda,' 'The Talented Mr. Ripley,' and 'The Gift.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Even in the Darkness' the new release by the hip-hop group, The Dungeon Family.(3.) We remember film and television director TED DEMME . He died Sunday at the age of 38 from a heart attack. He was playing basketball when he died. Early in his career he produced 'Yo! MTV Raps.' He won an Emmy in 199 for co-producing the civil-rights TV movie,
'A Lesson Before Dying.' DEMME's film credits include 'Who's the Man,' 'The Ref,' 'Snitch,' and 'Blow.' TED DEMME was the nephew of film maker Jonathan Demme. (REBROADCAST from 3/22/94)

Interview with Milt Bearden; Interview with Carl Hiaasen; Review of four-CD set ?Nuggets Two January 16, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884535].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MILT BEARDEN ('BEER-den') spent thirty years in the CIA. He ran the CIA's covert operations in Afghanistan during the Soviet invasion, and helped train the Afghan freedom fighters. BEARDEN also was station chief in Pakistan, Moscow, and Khartoum. He received the CIA's highest honor, the Distinguished Intelligence Medal. Since the September 11th attacks, BEARDEN has been a frequent commentator on TV and in print. He is also the author of the novel, 'The Black Tulip: A Novel of War in Afghanistan' (paperback, Random House). (2.) TERRY GROSS interviews journalist, novelist and satirist CARL HIAASEN ('HIGH-ah-sin'). He's the author of eight novels. Mystery writer Tony Hillerman once called Hiaasen 'the Mark Twain of the crime novel.' His latest novel is 'Basket Case' (Knopf). HIASEN also writes a twice-weekly column for the Miami Herald. He got his start at the Herald twenty-five years ago as an investigative reporter going after unscrupulous developers and narco-traders, which helped him hone his skills for writing crime novels. (3.) Rock historian ED WARD reviews the new four-CD set 'Nuggets Two: Original songs from the British Empire and Beyond, 1964-1969' an expanded compilation of psychedelic obscurities put out by Rhino Records.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times investigative reporter KURT EICHENWALD ('EYE-kin-WALD'). He's covering the Enron scandal for the paper. He's written about white-collar crime and corporate corruption for the Times for more than a decade. Eichenwald is a two-time winner of the prestigious George Polk award for excellence in journalism. He's also the author of 'The Informant,' about the Archer Daniels Midland Corporation (Random House). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Hateship, Friendship, courtship, Loveship, Marriage,' a collection of short stories by Alice Munro.

__Interview with Paul McCartney; Review of the CD box set "Nuggets Two January 18, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884531].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Beatle PAUL MCCARTNEY. His song lyrics include 'When I'm Sixty-Four,' 'Yesterday,' 'Fool on the Hill,' 'Paperback writer' and many more. They are collected along with his poems in a recent volume, 'Blackbird Singing: Poems and Lyrics 1965-1999' (W.W. Norton). His latest album is called 'Driving Rain.' (Capitol Records) (Originally aired 4/30/01)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Rock historian ED WARD continues with part two of his review of the Nuggets II Box set. This time he focuses on music from Europe, South America and Asia. The CD collection is called 'Nuggets Two: Original songs from the British Empire and Beyond, 1964-1969' (Rhino Records).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author PHILIP DRAY is the author of the book, 'At the Hands of Persons Unknown: The Lynching of Black America' (Random House). DRAY chronicles the incidents of lynching: from 1882-85 the number of whites lynched exceeded the number of blacks. But after 1886 the number of blacks lynched exceeded that of whites. And not until 1952 did a year pass without a single recorded lynching. He looks at the perpetrators, and the groups and individuals who courageously took a stand against it (the NAACP, Ida Wells, and W.E.B. Du Bois), and the legacy it left behind. DRAY researched his book at the Tuskegee Institute where records about lynchings have been kept from 1882. DRAY is also the co-author of 'We Are not Afraid: The Story of Goodman, Schwerner, and Chaney and the Civil Rights Campaign for Mississippi.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.)
Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Keep That Groove Going!' (Milestone) featuring veteran saxophonists Plas Johnson and Red Holloway.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer MICHAEL PATRICK KING. He's the executive producer of hit HBO comedy series, 'Sex and the City.' Now in its fourth season, the show just won its 3rd Golden Globe award for 'Best Television series?Musical or Comedy.' The show also received last year's Emmy for 'Best Comedy Series.' MICHAEL PATRICK KING writes for the show. He has also written for the television series, 'Murphy Brown,' and acted as a consultant for the hit series, 'Will and Grace.' (2.) Television critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews some new DVDs of both current and classic TV series.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Country Music Hall of Famer DOLLY PARTON. She made her debut at the Grand Ole Opry in 1959. Since then she's written thousands of songs, including the hits 'Coat of Many Colors,' 'Jolene,' and 'I Will Always Love You.' And she's had hits on both the country and pop charts. PARTON wrote her autobiography in 1994, 'My Life and Other Unfinished Business.' Her new all-acoustic CD is 'Little Sparrow' (Sugar Hill/Blue Eye Records). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Body Artist' (Scribner) by Don DeLillo.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist DAVID CAY JOHNSTON. Last year, he won a Pulitzer Prize for his reporting on the US tax code. He writes about tax inequities, tax loopholes and the IRS for The New York Times. He will talk about how Enron and other large corporations get away with not paying taxes, and how the current economy and the war against terrorism will effect the proposed tax cuts. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'The Almeria Club' the new recording by Hank Williams Jr.

Interview with Barton Gellman; Interview with Sylvia Nasar; Commentary on language. January 24, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884275].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist BARTON GELLMAN of the Washington Post will discuss the Clinton and later the Bush administration's efforts to track down Osama Bin Laden and his network prior to September 11th. GELLMAN wrote a two part series about it that ran in the Post late last year. (December 19-20, 2001). A third installment was published Jan 20, 2002. (2.) SYLVIA NASAR is the author of 'A Beautiful Mind' the biography of mathematical genius and Nobel Laureate John Nash who also suffered from schizophrenia. The book won a National Book Critics Circle Award, and is the basis of the movie of the same name. NASAR is a former economics correspondent for The New York Times. She is currently the Knight Professor of Journalism at Columbia University. (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on retronyms.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) British rock star ELVIS COSTELLO. Since he debuted in 1979 with "My Aim is True" Costello has been one of the most prolific and influential rock acts. His music has been praised for the wit and intelligence of his lyrics, and the inventiveness of the music. Rhino Records is currently reissuing his entire catalog. (REBROADCAST from 2/28/89)(2.) ELVIS COSTELLO recorded after he released an album "Brutal Youth," in which he recorded again with his band The Attractions. (REBROADCAST from 1/27/94)(3.) ELVIS COSTELLO brings his guitar to the studio and performs some of his music. (REBROADCAST from 6/4/96)(THIS CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(4.) Musicians BURT BACHRACH and ELVIS COSTELLO talk about their collaborative album, "Painted From Memory" (Mercury). The two worked together for nearly two years, beginning with the Grammy-nominated single "God Give Me Strength" (from the film "Grace of my Heart"), included on this album. (REBROADCAST from 12/23/98)(5.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'The Mothman Prophecies' starring Richard Gere, Laura Linney, and Alan Bates.

Interview with Rabbi Steven Greenberg, Michelle Miller and Sandi Dubowski; Interview with Lee Benson. January 28, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884278].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer and filmmaker SANDI DUBOWSKI. His new documentary 'Trembling Before G-d' tells the story of eight Orthodox Jewish men and women who have struggled to reconcile their love for their religion with their homosexuality. He is joined by STEVEN GREENBERG, the first openly gay Orthodox rabbi and MICHELE MILLER, a lesbian who was raised in a Hasidic Brooklyn family. The film shows in theaters now.(2.) Salt Lake City reporter LEE BENSON. He's just published 'Lee Benson's Inside Guide to the Games: 2002, Salt Lake City.' Recognized as one of Utah's leading experts on the Games, Benson has covered seven Olympic Games for Salt Lake City paper, the Desert News, in the past. He lives in Salt Lake City.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Veteran British journalists PETER PRINGLE and PHILIP JACOBSON. They've just collaborated on the new book 'Those Are Real Bullets: Bloody Sunday, Derry 1972' (Grove Press) about the day thirty years ago when British paratroopers shot 27 unarmed Irish Catholic demonstrators in Derry, Ireland, killing thirteen of them, wounding fourteen. Five were shot in the back. Since then the day has been known as 'Bloody Sunday.' After a formal inquiry the British soldiers were exonerated. PRINGLE and JACOBSON covered the massacre for the Sunday Times, conducting interviews in the days following. For their new book they re-examine the event and the days leading up to it, using formerly classified documents by the British government. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Gone' (Henry Holt) the new novel by Martin Roper.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Lieutenant Colonel MARTHA MCSALLY and her lawyer JOHN WHITEHEAD. MCSALLY is our nation's highest ranking female fighter pilot. Last month she sued the Defense Department for its policy toward women military personnel stationed in Saudi Arabia. When traveling off-base women are required to wear traditional Islamic religious clothing, covering themselves from head to foot. They also have to be chaperoned by a male, and are required to ride in the back seat of any vehicle. Last week, the Pentagon amended the language regarding the women's dress code in Saudi Arabia from 'mandatory' to 'strongly encouraged.' MCSALLY is continuing her suit on the other counts. MCSALLY flew more than 100 hours patrolling the 'no-fly' zone over Iraq. She currently is a flight instructor stationed in Tucson, Arizona. WHITEHEAD is with the Rutherford Institute, an international, nonprofit civil liberties organization committed to defending constitutional and human rights. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Navy Commander ERNEST DUPLESSIS of United States Central Command - administrative headquarters for U.S. military affairs in countries of the Middle East, Southwest Asia and Northeast Africa, including the Arabian Gulf. He gives the military response to McSally's suit. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Rings Around The World' (XL Recordings/Beggars group) by the Welsh quintet Super Furry Animals which is a hit in England, and soon to be released in the U.S.

Description of show segment(s)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews "Blacks in Television" on the cable station TV Land tonight.(2.) Comedy Central begins a five part look at the Heroes of Black comedy next week. We feature interviews with comedians: Comedian BILL COSBY (10/22/91) (3.) RICHARD PRYOR (5/22/95) (4.) Actor DAVID ALAN GRIER former cast member of 'In Living Color.' (4/1/91) (5.) DAMAN WAYANS (6/14/99) (6.)BERNIE MAC (11/27/01) (7.) CHRIS ROCK (12/12/91) (8.) (3.)Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN remembers Astrid Lindgren the creator of the Pippi Longstocking books. The Swedish author died this week at the age of 94.

Interview with Gene Simmons; Interview with Mark Webber. February 4, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039181].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Leader and bassist of the band KISS, GENE SIMMONS. The band rose to prominence and popularity in the mid 1970s. They were known for their Halloweenish face paint, black-leather outfits, eight-inch platform heels and grandiose stage shows where SIMMONS spit out blood, belched fire, and stuck out his seven-inch tongue. SIMMONS has written a new autobiography, 'Kiss and Make-up' (Crown Publishers) which details his early years growing up in Israel and later in Brooklyn. (2.) 21 year old actor MARK WEBBER. He's currently starring in the new Todd Solondz movie, 'Storytelling.' He got rave reviews for his performance in the London and New York stage productions of David Mamet's 'American Buffalo' opposite William H. Macy and Phillip Baker Hall. He also appeared in 'Snow Day' with Chevy Chase and 'The Animal Factory' directed by Steve Buscemi. WEBBER grew up in Philadelphia where he was sometimes homeless with his mother Cheri Honkala. She is a homeless rights activist and founder of the Kensington Welfare Rights Union. In March WEBBER can be seen in HBO's Laramie Project. In upcoming films he plays Woody Allen's son in 'Hollywood Endings,' and Al Pacino's assistant in 'People I Know.'

---

Interview with Todd Solondz; Interview with Paul Giamatti February 5, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884783].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director and writer TODD SOLONDZ ('so-LAHNZ'). His new film is 'Storytelling,' and it has already inflamed some critics more than his previous two features, 'Welcome to the Dollhouse' and 'Happiness.' Those films won prizes at Sundance and Cannes. 'Storytelling' is two separate stories set in high school and college. In one, we meet three college students and their writing professor. The other is about a filmmaker who wants to make a documentary about a high school senior and his family. (2.) Actor PAUL GIAMATTI ('jah-MAH-tee'). He stars in the Todd Solondz film 'Storytelling.' He plays an aspiring filmmaker who sets out to document the empty life of a New Jersey high school senior and his well-to-do parents. Giamatti's film credits include 'Planet of the Apes,' 'Big Momma's House,' 'Saving Private Ryan,' and 'The Truman Show,' among many others. He has also appeared in numerous TV shows.

---

Interview with Greg Mortenson; Interview with Andrew Meldrum. February 7, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884773].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Activist GREG MORTENSON. He's the founder and Executive Director of the Central Asia Institute. Since 1993, the organization has opened schools and provided an education for over 4000 girls in Pakistan and Afghanistan. The schools promote literacy, women's vocational skills, public health and environmental awareness. Mortenson splits his time between Central Asia and Montana.

(2.) Journalist ANDREW MELDRUM. He's the Guardian's Zimbabwe correspondent. Currently, he covers the upcoming presidential election in Zimbabwe and the crackdown that the media faces as election time nears. In the past few weeks, he's written a series of articles focusing on the bill President Mugabe signed, requiring all journalists working in Zimbabwe to have a license from the Minister of Information.

Interview with John Grisham; Commentary on the term "Capitalism;" Interview with Elaine Stritch; Commentary on Winter Olympics. February 8, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884770].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) One of the most popular writers of the legal thriller genre...JOHN GRISHAM. His new book is called 'The Summons.' It's a return to the thriller after his last novel, 'A Painted House.' The Summons is about two brothers, their recently deceased father, and a mysterious stash of three million dollars. Grisham is also the author of Skipping Christmas, The Brethren, The Testament, The Street Lawyer, The Partner, The Runaway Jury, The Rainmaker, The Chamber, The Client, The Pelican Brief, The Firm, and A Time to Kill. He'll talk with Terry about writing and law. (Rebroadcast from 2/27/97)(2.) Language commentator GEOFF NUNBERG looks at the term 'capitalism.' He says it is back in fashion after an era of 'free enterprise.'(3.) Actress ELAINE STRITCH. She launches her one woman show, 'At Liberty,' at Broadway's Neil Simon Theatre February 13, 2002. Stritch is an established Broadway star who's appeared in the hits "Company," "Pal Joey," "On Your Toes," "Bus Stop" and "Love Letters." She's also been in many TV shows and films and she's the narrator for the PBS series 'EGG: the Arts Show.'(1/24/90)(4.) TV Critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews the winter Olympics. He says technology and terrorism are major themes.
Interview with Andre Vaughn; Interview with Clinton Lacy; Commentary on the word "evil." February 11, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884774].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We speak with two people involved with 'Youth Portraits,' a radio skills training program for ex-offenders released from Riker's Island prison in New York City. Riker's Island is the biggest jail in North America. 'Youth Portraits' is a joint project of Friends of the Island Academy and NPR's 'Sound Portraits.' First, we hear from Andre Vaughn, a 21-year-old ex-offender who was released from Riker's and became involved with the 'Youth Portraits' program. He was caught stealing at the age of 17 and subsequently served three sentences. He now works for Friends of the Island Academy at an outreach program in a Bronx high school. Through 'Youth Portraits,' Andre was one of five young people who spent eight months working with Sound Portraits to create audio documentaries of their lives. (2.) We speak with CLINTON LACY, a longtime program director of Friends of the Island Academy. FOIA was founded in 1989 by the first principal of the high school on Riker's Island. The program is designed to break the cycle of return to Riker's by providing education and counseling. Each year, FOIA works with 350 young people.

Interview with Chris Klug; Review of Princess Superstar's new album "Princess Superstar Is...;" Interview with Roswell Rudd. February 12, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884785].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Olympic snowboarder Chris Klug (pronounced 'kloog'). He's considered the top American male alpine snowboarder. In July 2000, he underwent a liver transplant to cure a serious and rare degenerative liver ailment. Klug was back on the slopes within months, competing in the World Cup races. Snowboarding made its Olympic debut at the 1998 Nagano games. Klug began skiing at the age of two. He was born and lives in Colorado. (2.) Critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new CD by hip hop artist Princess Superstar. Its called 'Princess Superstar is...'(3.) Jazz trombonist and composer ROSWELL RUDD. Rudd is known for his work with groundbreaking groups and musicians like Herbie Nichols, the New York Art Quartet, Cecil Taylor, Archie Shepp, and Carla Bley. He has been playing traditional and avant-garde jazz for some 60 years. His latest CD is a live recording with Archie Shepp called 'Live in New York.' (Verve)
Interview with Gary Cohen; Interview with Cass Sunstein; Review of the album 'Down From the Mountain.' February 13, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884784].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist GARY COHEN. His article in this month's Atlantic Monthly is about the World War II case that the Bush administration says sets the precedent for use of military tribunals. Cohen studied 3,000 pages of trial transcripts at the National Archives and the Roosevelt Presidential Library, in Hyde Park, New York for the article. Cohen is a former member of the investigative unit at U.S. News & World Report.(2.) Attorney CASS SUNSTEIN (SUN-steen). He will talk about the constitutionality of the Bush Administration's plans for Military tribunals for Al Qaeda suspects. Sunstein is considered by many to be one of the nation's authorities when it comes to interpreting the U.S. Constitution. He's the author of 'One Case at a Time: Judicial Minimalism on the Supreme Court,' (Harvard University Press). Sunstein teaches at the University of Chicago.(3.) World critic MILO MILES reviews 'Down From the Mountain' the concert album by many of the performers from the soundtrack of 'O Brother Where Art Thou.'

Interview with Dr. Chris Giannou; Interview with Christopher Keenan. February 14, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884769].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CHRIS GIANNOU (YAW-new), head surgeon for the International Committee of the Red Cross. For about 20 years he has been a medic in war torn parts of the world including Burundi, Somalia, and in a Palestinian Refugee Camp. As such he has seen the devastation on human beings from landmines. GIANNOU is currently leading the Red Cross's campaign for a ban on anti-personnel landmines worldwide, which kill or injure hundreds of civilians each week. Giannou has just returned from six weeks in Afghanistan. (GIANNOU has been on the show a number of times. He wrote a memoir in 1994 about his work in the refugee camp, "Besieged: A Doctor's Story of Life and Death in Beirut." (Published by Olive Branch Press).(2.) REVEREND CHRISTOPHER KEENAN. He is the Chaplain of the Fire Department of New York. He succeeds the Rev. Mychal Judge, who was killed on September 11th 2001 when hit by falling debris at the World Trade Center. Keenan is a Franciscan friar who was born in New York City. In the 80s, he established hospices for AIDS patients, and more recently, he's worked with the homeless.

Obituary for Waylon Jennings; Interview with Daniel Clowes; Interview with Terry Zwigoff; Commentary on Dave Van Ronk; Review of the film "Iris." February 15, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884775].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Country music star WAYLON JENNINGS. He died this week at the age of 64. Born in 1937 in Littlefield, Texas, he was a disc jockey at 14, and had already formed his own band at the age of 12, making guest appearances on local station KDAV's "Sunday Party," where he met Buddy Holly in 1955. Jennings became Holly's bass player. It was Jennings who gave his seat up to the Big Bopper on the plane that crashed and killed Buddy Holly. In 1975, Waylon was named the Country Music Association's Male Vocalist of the Year, and in 1976, he helped found the "Outlaw Movement." In that year, Waylon, Willie, Jessi Colter (who married Waylon in 1969) and Tompall Glaser teamed up for "Wanted: The Outlaws" that became the first platinum (one million units) album ever recorded in Nashville. WAYLON, the authorized autobiography, was written with writer-musician Lenny Kaye in 1996. (This interview originally aired 10/14/96.)

(2.) Cartoonist DANIEL CLOWES (like 'plows'). Drawn in 1950s pop culture style, his comics are darkly humorous satires of middle class America. His graphic novel 'Ghost World' (first published in 1993) is the basis of the film of the same name. 'Ghost World' has just been nominated for an academy award in the Adapted Screenplay division. Clowes' first comic book series was 'Lloyd Llewellyn,' followed by 'Eightball' (both published by Fantagraphics Books). CLOWES was the first cartoonist to contribute a comic story to Esquire's annual fiction issue. (Original broadcast date: 9/6/01)

(3.) Producer/ Director TERRY ZWIGOFF. He directed the film "Ghost World" based on the graphic novel of the same name by Daniel Clowes. ZWIGOFF also directed the documentary "Crumb" about the life of Robert Crumb, the famous underground artist who popularized character's such as Mr. Natural, Flakey Foont and Keep on Truckin'. He also directed the documentary "Louie Bluie."(Original broadcast date: 9/6/01)

(4.) Music critic Milo Miles remembers Dave Van Ronk, the folk performer who died las Interview with Gerald Shur and Pete Earley; Commentary on cars. February 18, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884771].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Founder of the Federal Witness Protection Program, GERALD SHUR, and journalist PETE EARLEY. They've collaborated on the new book, 'WITSEC: Inside the Federal Witness Protection Program' (Bantam Books). SHUR started the program in the 1960s after realizing that many witnesses would not testify because they were afraid of being killed as a result. WITSEC assigns a new identity and relocates witnesses and their dependents. Witnesses have included everyone from mobsters to drug traffickers to terrorists in the first world trade center bombing. SHUR headed the program for 34 years. The program is part of the Justice Department's Organized Crime and Racketeering Section. SHUR is now retired. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Language commentator GEOFF NUNBERG on the names of cars, past and present.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer BRENDA LEE. She is one of the early rock 'n' roll singers, with hits such as 'I'm Sorry,' 'Rockin' Around the Christmas Tree,' and 'Break it To Me Gently.' She's just been inducted into the Rock 'n' Roll Hall of Fame, class of 2002. She's also in the Country Music Hall of Fame. LEE was born Brenda Mae Tarpley in Atlanta. At the age of 13, in 1957, she made her debut at the Grand Ole Opry. She's performed around the world. Her new memoir is 'Little Miss Dynamite: The Life and Times of Brenda Lee.' (Hyperion)(2.) JANE FARRELL-BECK and COLLEEN GAU, authors of the book, 'Uplift: The Bra in America.' It's a sociological and historical look at the undergarment. Farrell-Beck is Professor of Textiles and Clothing at Iowa State University. Colleen Gau is President of CPRTex, Inc., a home-based conservation of textiles business, and a writer.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) South African Surgeon, Journalist, and Documentary filmmaker JONATHAN KAPLAN. He has treated patients in many war torn locations, including Kurdistan, Mozambique, and Eritrea. He writes about his experiences in his new book 'The Dressing Station: A Surgeon's Chronicle of War and Medicine.' (Grove Press). He began his medical career in South Africa, where he first cared for patients wounded by political violence.(2.) MICHAEL KINSLEY, editor of the online newsmagazine Slate. He's just announced that he's stepping down from the position. Slate (www.slate.com) has been a very successful website, with over 2 million visitors each month. Kinsley told the New York Times that throughout his career, he has changed jobs every five or six years since he tends to get bored. Kinsley also recently announced that he has Parkinson's disease. But he says that his decision to leave Slate is not directly tied to his condition. He will continue to write for the web site. Previously, Kinsley was editor of The New Republic magazine and co-host of CNN's 'Crossfire.'

Interview with Martin Short; Review of Joey Ramone's 'Don't Worry About Me;' Interview with Jon Ronson. February 21, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884652].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and comedian MARTIN SHORT. His TV series, 'Primetime Glick,' is a spoof of celebrity talk shows. Short plays Jiminy Glick, the self-absorbed host of the fictitious talk show. He interviews A-list celebrity guests, but often gets information about these guests wrong. The new season of 'Primetime Glick' premieres this weekend. MARTIN SHORT was a cast member on both Saturday Night Live and SCTV. His movies include Father of the Bride, The Three Amigos, and Innerspace.(2.) Rock critic Ken Tucker reviews 'Don't Worry About Me,' the posthumously released CD from Joey Ramone. The lead singer of the punk band the Ramones died last April at the age of 49.(3.) British journalist and documentarian JOHN RONSON. His book is called 'Them: Adventures with Extremists.' (Simon and Schuster). He traveled around the world interviewing different types of 'extremists'?from Islamic fundamentalists in a Jihad training camp, to Ku Klux Klansmen at rallies. 'Them' was first published in the U.K. in the spring of 2001.

Interview with Nuala O' Faolain; Interview with Johnny Cash; Review of the film "Storytelling."

Description of show segment(s)

1. Irish writer NUALA O'FAOLAIN (NEW-la oh-FWAY-lawn). Her first novel, 'My Dream of You,' (Riverhead Books) has just come out in paperback. Her critically acclaimed 1998 memoir, 'Are You Somebody? The Accidental Memoir of a Dublin Woman' was on the New York Times bestseller list. O'FAOLAIN is also a columnist for the Irish Times; she has been at the paper for over 12 years. (original broadcast date: 4/2/01)
2. Music legend JOHNNY CASH. CASH has been recording albums and performing since the 1950's. Representing CASH'S varied musical styles, he has been inducted into the Songwriters, Country Music, and Rock and Roll Halls of Fame. Cash suffers from Parkinson's disease. He turns 70 next week (original air date: 11/4/97)
3. Film critic John Powers reviews 'Storytelling,' the new Todd Solondz movie.

Interview with David Hoffman; Commentary on plagiarism; Obituary for Chuck Jones.

Description of show segment(s)

1. Journalist DAVID E. HOFFMAN. His new book is called 'The Oligarchs: Wealth and Power in the New Russia.' He profiles a group of men who became leaders in post-soviet Russia, taking over industry, commanding private armies and buying up television stations. HOFFMAN is the former Moscow Bureau chief for the Washington Post. Now he is based in DC as the newspaper's Foreign Editor.
3. CHUCK JONES, creator of the cartoon characters Bugs Bunny, Daffy Duck and many others for Warner Bros. He died Friday at the age of 89. His career in animation lasted nearly 70 years. We'll listen back to a 1989 interview with the master of animation. (Original airdate: 10/18/89)
Interview with Peter Jackson; Review of the Television show "Watching Ellie;" Interview with Doug Niven; Commentary on Johnny Cash. February 26, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884699].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker PETER JACKSON. He directed 'Lord of the Rings: Fellowship of the Ring.' The film has been nominated for 13 Academy Awards, including Best Director, best Picture and Screenplay. His other films include 'Heavenly Creatures' and 'The Frighteners.' The New Zealander is also slated to direct the other two upcoming films of the Hobbit trilogy, 'Lord of the Rings: The Two Towers' and 'Lord of the Rings: The Return of the King.' (THIS INTERVIEW WAS CONDUCTED BY GUEST HOST BARBARA BOGAEV)(2.) TV critic David Bianculli reviews 'Watching Ellie,' the new sitcom starring Julia Louis-Dreyfus, a Seinfeld alumna.(3.) Photographer DOUG NIVEN. He's curated a new show (with companion coffee table book published by National Geographic Press) called 'Another Vietnam: Pictures of the War from the Other Side.' It's an exhibition of photos from the Vietnam War, as seen through the lens of North Vietnamese photographers. It runs until March 17th 2002 at the International Center of Photography in Manhattan. It's the first time these photos have been publicly shown. They were locked away in government archives or secretly stored by the photographers. DOUG NIVEN worked as a photographer in Phnom Penh, Cambodia, for Agence France Presse from 1992-1995.(4.) Rock critic Ken Tucker salutes country music legend Johnny Cash, who turns 70 today.

Description of show segment(s)

John Lasseter, Executive Vice President of Creative for Pixar, Inc. Lasseter was one of the founding members of the computer animated filmmaking company. He served as Director and Animator of the feature films Toy Story, Toy Story 2 and A Bug's Life. He was also Executive Producer of Monsters, Inc. Toy Story was the first computer-animated feature film. Lasseter also directed a number of shorts for Pixar, including Tin Toy, Red's Dream and Luxo, Jr. Tin Toy won an Oscar in 1988 for Best Animated Short Film. Lasseter joined Lucasfilm's Computer Division in 1984, and then helped create Pixar in 1986. He previously worked as an animator for Walt Disney.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) LEONARD DOWNIE JR. and ROBERT G. KAISER. The two Washington Post journalists have co-written the book, 'The News about the News: American Journalism in Peril.' (Knopf) Downie has been at the paper since 1964. He's been executive editor since 1991. Kaiser joined the Post in 1963 and is now associate editor and senior correspondent. Their book is an investigation of why the journalism we watch and read is so bad. They offer suggestions on how to improve the institution.(2.) Music critic Lloyd Schwartz reviews the soundtrack from the film 'Gosford Park,' directed by Robert Altman. The film features original music and songs from the 1920s and 1930s. The CD has just been released. (Decca)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Lt. Gen. HAROLD MOORE and former U.S. News and World Report Senior Writer JOSEPH GALLOWAY. On November 14, 1965 they were together at the site of the first and bloodiest major land battle of the Vietnam War, Ia Drang. MOORE was in command of the 1st battalion of the 7th Cavalry, and GALLOWAY, then a UPI reporter, accompanied them. MOORE and GALLOWAY wrote a book about their experiences in the Ia Drang valley, "We Were Soldiers Once...And Young."(Random House) It's been made into a movie, 'We Were Soldiers,' starring Mel Gibson. Galloway has a small part in the film. His character's name is Barry Pepper. The movie opens today, 3/1/02. (original airdate: 11/11/92) (2.) ROBERT MOOG (pronounced with long "O") is the Inventor of the Moog synthesizer, an electronic keyboard that makes unworldly sounding electronic music. He invented it in 1963. Also, MOOG didn't invent the Theremin, but he manufactures this early electronic instrument. A Russian invented it 70 years ago, and it's been used on many science-fiction films because of its eerie, wavering tones. The National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences has just honored MOOG with the technical Grammy award for Lifetime Achievement. (Original airdate: 2/28/00)(3.) Critic Milo Miles reviews 'Cowboy Bebop,' a Japanese animation series. It airs Sundays at midnight on the cartoon network. The series is now available as six individual VHS tapes or DVDs.

---

Interview with Rodney Brooks; Interview with Carl Stiner. March 4, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884655].

Description of show segment(s)

1. RODNEY BROOKS, the director of the Artificial Intelligence Laboratory at MIT (Massachusetts Institute of Technology). His new book is called 'Flesh and Machines: How Robots Will Change Us.' (Pantheon) Brooks offers a vision of the future of humans and robots. He is also Fujitsu Professor of Computer Science and Engineering at MIT. Brooks is the chairman and chief technological officer of iRobot Corporation. He was one of the subjects of Errol Morris' 1997 documentary, "Fast, Cheap and Out of Control."
2. Retired General CARL STINER (STINE[like 'fine']-er). With Best Selling author Tom Clancy, He co-authored of the book, 'Shadow Warriors: Inside the Special Forces' (Putnam). General Stiner was commander in chief of the US Special Operations Command (SOCOM) from 1990 to 1993. SOCOM is responsible for the readiness of all special operations of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

---

Interview with Charles Strouse; Review of the music album ?Ornette Coleman Trio at the Golden Circle, Vols. 1 and 2.? March 5, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884812].

Description of show segment(s)

1. Composer CHARLES STROUSE (Straus). His Broadway musicals include 'Bye, Bye Birdie,' 'Annie,' 'Applause,' 'It's a Bird, It's a Plane, It's Superman,' and 'Golden Boy,' which originally opened on Broadway in 1964 and starred Sammy Davis Jr. The show will be revived later this month by City Center Encores in New York. STROUSE also composed music for film and TV, including 'Those Were the Days,' the theme song for TV's 'All in the Family."
2. Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Ornette Coleman Trio at the Golden Circle, Vols. 1 and 2' (Blue Note).
Interview with Jamsheed Akrami; Interview with Wash West; Commentary on Harlan Howard. March 7, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884759].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker JAMSHEED AKRAMI ('AH-krah-me'). He's a scholar of Iranian film. His two documentaries are 'Dreams Betrayed' and 'Friendly Persuasion: Iranian Cinema After the Revolution.' Together, they explore Iranian filmmaking before and after the 1979 revolution. In Iranian films, male and female characters are not allowed to touch, ever, and women must be veiled at all times. Despite these and other limitations, Iranian cinema has garnered international critical acclaim. AKRAMI is an associate professor at William Paterson University.(2.) Porn film director WASH WEST, AKA Wash Westmoreland. His newest is 'The Fluffer,' set in the gay porn industry. As compared to the films of Iran, Wash West's movies are all about touching. His other films include 'Seven Deadly Sins: The Gluttony,' 'Naked Highway,' 'Animus' and 'Toolbox.' West has won much acclaim, including several from the Adult Video News Awards and the Gay Erotic Video Awards.(3.) Rock critic Ken Tucker profiles the late country music songwriter Harlan Howard. He died this week at the age of 74.

Interview with Vernel Bagneris; Review of the film "We were soldiers;" Interview with Gary Paulsen; Review of CBS documentary "9/11." March 8, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884815].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer VERNEL BAGNERIS (ver-NEL BAHN-er-eese) wrote, directed and starred in the 1979 hit show, 'One mo' Time.' It's being revived and opens on Broadway this week at the Longacre Theater. The setting is a hot, sultry night at New Orleans' Lyric Theatre in the 1920s. Bagneris performs Charlestons, rags, cakewalks, and other songs of the Vaudeville age, including "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," "Down in Honky Tonk Town," and "Everybody Loves My Baby." (original airdate: 6/21/00)(2.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'We Were Soldiers,' starring Mel Gibson.(3.) Writer GARY PAULSEN. He is a prolific writer of children's books. He began writing over thirty years ago, when he was coming to terms with his alcoholism. For many years he and his wife lived in poverty in rural Minnesota. This changed when Paulsen won the Newbery Award for children's fiction in 1985 with "Dogsong," about running the Iditarod. The famed Alaskan dog race Is going on right now. Paulsen won two subsequent awards during the next three years. Paulsen's children's books often deal with adventurous youths who triumph over adversity in the wilderness.(Original airdate: 10/6/92)(4.) T-V critic David Bianculli previews the CBS special '9/11,' which airs Sunday night at 9:00 ET/PT. Filmmakers Jules and Gedeon Naudet captured footage of the collapse of the World Trade Center from the inside. Robert DeNiro narrates the special.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Linguist JOHN MC WHORTER (WHORE-ter). His newest book is called 'The Power of Babel: A Natural History of Language' (Time Books/ Henry Holt). He has written on Ebonics, language and African Americans, and the origins of the Creole Language. His other books include 'Losing the Race: Self-Sabotage in Black America' and 'Word on the Street: Debunking the Myth of 'Pure' Standard English.' McWhorter is a professor at the University of California at Berkeley. (2.) Photographer JOEL MEYEROWITZ (MY-roh-its). In honor of the six-month anniversary of September 11, 2001, Meyerowitz talks about his World Trade Center Archive Project, a traveling State Department-sponsored exhibition of Ground Zero photographs. Meyerowitz originally spoke about his World Trade Center photos when he was a guest on Fresh Air on October 23, 2001. For more information, go to www.joelmeyerowitz.com.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) FATHER DONALD COZZENS (pronounced 'cousins'). He is the author of 'The Changing Face of the Priesthood: A Reflection on the Priest's Crisis of Soul.' (the Liturgical Press). Father Cozzens is president-rector and professor of pastoral theology at Saint Mary Seminary and Graduate School of Theology in Cleveland. He is also the editor of 'The Spirituality of the Diocesan Priest.' Father Cozzens will talk about the church's current sexual abuse scandals, and other crises facing the priesthood. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)
Interview with Chris Waddell; Interview with Guy Pearce. March 13, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884813].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Paralympic gold medallist CHRIS WADDELL (wa-DELL). He has won metals in both the winter and summer Paralympic Games, competing as both an alpine mono-skier and a wheelchair racer. WADDELL is currently competing in the Paralympics in Salt Lake City. He has already won a silver medal this week.

(2.) Actor GUY PEARCE. He is currently starring in the films 'The Time Machine' and 'The Count of Monte Cristo.' His other movies include 'Memento,' 'LA Confidential,' 'Rules of Engagement,' and 'The Adventures of Priscilla, Queen of the Desert.' His first big acting break came in the 1980s, when he starred in an Australian syndicated TV series called 'Neighbours.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Percussionist Jonathan Haas ('hahz'). He is a solo timpani player who's garnered international praise. He plays all styles of music, from classical to jazz and rock. He's commissioned pieces for the timpani. He is the principal timpanist for the New York Chamber Symphony, the Aspen Chamber Orchestra, and the EOS Ensemble. He regularly performs with numerous other orchestras worldwide. Haas also teaches percussion at the Aspen Music School and has been the Director of the Peabody Conservatory Percussion Studio for seventeen years. He's also the head of Sunset Records, Kettles and Company, and Gemini Music Productions. For more information, go to www.aboutjonathanhaas.com.

(2.) Writer JAKE ARNOTT. His new novel is 'He Kills Coppers,' a dark thriller set in London in 1966. Arnott's first novel, 'The Long Firm,' is being made into a five-part series for the BBC.
Interview with Nathan Lane; Interview with Matthew Broderick; Interview with Mel Brooks; Commentary on city book clubs; Review of the film, "Harrison's flowers." March 15, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884814].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor NATHAN LANE. He's currently starring in 'The Producers,' the Broadway hit musical, a role for which he was awarded a Tony for Best Actor. This Sunday, March 17th 2002, will be his last performance. LANE has starred in many productions for stage, screen and television, including revivals of 'The Man Who Came to Dinner' and "Guys and Dolls." Playwright Terrance McNally has written roles for LANE and says, "I need an actor like Nathan to fully express myself. I can't do it with just the words. I need his faces and gestures to finish the sentence." LANE starred in McNally's "The Lisbon Traviata," and in "Lips Together, Teeth Apart." He also was in the films 'Mousehunt,' 'The Birdcage,' "Frankie and Johnny," (as Michelle Pfeiffer's neighbor -- a part McNally wrote for him). (Rebroadcast; originally aired 1/3/94)(2.) Actor Matthew Broderick. He co-stars with Nathan Lane in the Producers on Broadway. Sunday 3/17/02 is also Broderick's last day in the role. Broderick was nominated for a Tony along with Lane, but lost the award to Lane. BRODERICK has starred in many stage, screen and film productions. On Broadway, he was in 'How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying' and the stage version of 'Biloxi Blues,' among many other plays. He got his first big break in film with the 1983 hit 'War Games.' His other films include 'Ferris Bueller's Day Off,' 'Election,' 'The Freshman,' 'Inspector Gadget,' and 'You Can Count on Me.' (rebroadcast; originally aired 5/16/95)(3.) Comedian and filmmaker MEL BROOKS. Brooks has made some of the funniest films in movie history, including "The Producers," "Young Frankenstein," and "Blazing Saddles." His film 'The Producers' was turned into the hottest musical now on Broadway. The Producers won 12 Tony Awards in 2001. Brooks won Tony Awards for Best Book (with Thomas Meehan) and Best Score. Now, Brooks is one of the few people who have won a Tony Award, an Academy Award, a Grammy Award and an Emmy Award. Brooks won his Grammy for

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film composer HOWARD SHORE. He has over sixty film scores to his credit including the recent 'The Lord of the Rings,' also 'The Fly,' 'Dead Ringers,' 'Naked Lunch,' 'The Silence of the Lambs,' 'Ed Wood,' and 'Philadelphia.' SHORE was also one of the original creators of Saturday Night Live, serving as Musical Director from 1975 to 1980. His chamber music is featured on the CD 'Reel Life ? The Private Music of Film Composers Vol. 1' (arabesque)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Gypsy Project' (Dreyfus) the new CD by guitarist Bireli Lagrene. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Atonement' (Doubleday) the new novel by Ian McEwan.

Interview with James Bennett; Commentary on media bias. March 19, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884760].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JAMES BENNETT of the New York Times. He's been in the Middle East covering how the crisis there is affecting both Israelis and Palestinians. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG does some of his own checking on liberal bias in the media.

Interview with Srdja Popvic; Interview with Dennis Smith; Review of the CD "Wish You Were Here March 20, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884890].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) SRDJA POPOVIC (SEER-jah PUP-o-vich) is one of the founders of the student nonviolent group which helped bring down Serbian dictator Slobodan Milosevic. The group known as Otpor (the Serbian word for 'resistance') had a clenched fist as their symbol, but they used humor and theatre to ridicule Milosevic and other government officials. The new PBS documentary 'Bringing Down a Dictator' tells their story (scheduled for March 31st). POPOVIC is now a member of Parliament. (2.) Writer and retired New York city firefighter DENNIS SMITH. He arrived at the site of the World Trade Center towers on the day of the attacks to volunteer with the rescue effort. His new book 'Report from Ground Zero' (Viking) is made up of first-person testimony of rescuers who were there when the towers were attacked and fell, and who helped in the efforts afterwards. SMITH spent 18 years with the fire department. He is the author of nine books, including the bestseller 'Report from Engine Co. 82' about his years in the city's most dangerous and active firehouse. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new CD 'Wish You Were Here?Love Songs for New York' a new anthology of songs recorded in reaction to the September 11th terrorist attacks.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer, songwriter, musician and arranger BARRY MANILOW. He made the pop charts over and over again during the 1970s and early 80s with his love ballads like 'Mandy,' 'Looks Like We Made It,' 'I Write the Songs,' and 'Copacabana (At the Copa).' Before becoming a singer he was Bette Midler's accompanist and arranger. He's currently on tour and has a new album of material 'Here at the Mayflower;' (his first pop album since the 1980s) and a new anthology of his hits. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Dustin Hoffman; Interview with Mike Nichols; Interview with Buck Henry; Interview with Robert Redford; Review of the film "Y Tu Mama Tambien." March 22, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884743].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.)The new Broadway adaptation of the film 'The Graduate' is currently in previews and opens in a couple of weeks. It stars Kathleen Turner, Jason Biggs and Alicia Silverstone. We listen back to interviews about the making of the film 'The Graduate'. First, the star of the film, actor DUSTIN HOFFMAN. He got his first big break starring in "The Graduate." Some of the films he's starred in include: "All The President's Men," "Kramer vs. Kramer," "Rainman," and "Tootsie." (REBROADCAST from 4/19/99)(2.) Director MIKE NICHOLS. He won an Academy Award for directing 'The Graduate.' His other film directing credits include 'Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf,' 'Silkwood,' 'Working Girl,' and 'Primary Colors.' Before he became a film director NICHOLS was known for his popular comedy improvisations with Elaine May. (REBROADCAST from 3/21/01)(3.)Writer, actor, and comedian BUCK HENRY co-wrote the script for the 1967 film. (This interview was held before an audience at the Film Forum in New York City on Feb 13, 1997 during a 30th anniversary presentation of 'The Graduate.' (4.) Actor, director, and founder of the Sundance Institute, ROBERT REDFORD. On Sunday he will receive an Honorary Achievement Award during the Academy Awards. (REBROADCAST from 1/12/98)(5.) Film critic Jon Powers reviews 'Y Tu Mama Tambien.' It translates as 'And Your Mother Too,' and it's set in Mexico.

---

Interview with Kevin Conley; Obituary for Eileen Farrell; Commentary on language. March 25, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884888].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.)Author KEVIN CONLEY. His new book is about breeding racehorses. It's called 'STUD: Adventures in Breeding.' (Bloomsbury) STUD explores the process of creating champions, from the farms of Kentucky, where studs command a half million a pop, to the horse auctions, where the world's richest people compete for the top yearlings. (2.) Soprano EILEEN FARRELL has died at the age of 82. We'll listen back to a 1992 interview. Her career began in radio, with her own show on CBS, in the 1940s. In the fifties she started singing opera, and performed with every major opera company and symphony orchestra in the U.S., including five seasons with the Metropolitan Opera in New York. Starting in the sixties, she began putting out albums of jazz standards. Her 1999 autobiography is entitled, 'Can't Help Singing.' She was also a professor of music at Indiana University and the University of Maine. (Original airdate: 7/9/92)(3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG comments on the way films like 'Star Wars' have influenced the language of corporate culture. Enron picked names such as Jedi Capital and Obi-1 Holdings, Inc. to hide funds offshore.
Interview with Michael C. Hall; Interview with Hal Hartley; Review of two television comedies "Andy Richter Controls The Universe" and "Greg The Bunny." March 26, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884742].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor MICHAEL C. HALL. He plays David Fisher, the gay brother who co-runs a funeral home on the HBO hit 'Six Feet Under.' The American Film Institute has nominated Hall for Best Male TV Actor-Drama for his role in the series. Hall comes to TV from the stage. Most recently, he was on Broadway as the emcee in 'Cabaret.' Prior to that role, he was in a number of off-Broadway productions.(2.) Director and screenwriter HAL HARTLEY. His new film is 'No Such Thing.' It's about a monster and a young woman who finds him. According to the film's production notes, the monster has been in existence since the dawn of time. Nothing can kill him. Along comes Beatrice, a young girl who makes friends with the monster and together they seek out the doctor who can finally end the monster's life. HARTLEY is an art student turned filmmaker. His work includes 'Trust,' 'Henry Fool,' 'Flirt,' and 'Amateur.' (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews two new Fox comedies... 'Andy Richter Controls the Universe' and 'Greg the Bunny.'

Interview with Jeffrey Goldberg; Interview with Harry Shearer. March 27, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884746].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JEFFREY GOLDBERG. His article in the current New Yorker Magazine is about Saddam Hussein's chemical attacks on the Kurds in 1988. There is also new evidence of Hussein's ties to Al Qaeda. Goldberg has been a staff writer at the New Yorker since 2000. His specialty is foreign reporting with an emphasis on Europe, Africa and the Middle East. Goldberg came to The New Yorker from The New York Times Magazine, where he reported from Africa and the Middle East. (2.) Writer, actor, director, comedian and radio host HARRY SHEARER. His new film, which he wrote and directed, is called 'Teddy Bear's Picnic.' It's a satire of the goings-on at the Bohemian Grove, an exclusive retreat in the Northern California woods. The richest and most powerful men gather in the Grove. Their activities are kept secret, but a lot of drinking is involved. Shearer visited the Grove in order to write the script. 'Picnic' opens March 29. Shearer hosts 'Le Show,' now in its 19th year on public radio.
Interview with Andy Bellin; Interview with Chris Isaak. March 28, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884744].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer ANDY BELLIN. His new book is 'Poker Nation: A High-Stakes, Low-Life Adventure into the Heart of a Gambling Country.' (HarperCollins) Bellin is a graduate school dropout. He's an editor at the Paris Review and a semiprofessional poker player.(2.) Singer, songwriter, and actor CHRIS ISAAK. His new album is called 'Always Got Tonight.' He's the star of the semi-autobiographical Showtime series 'The Chris Isaak Show,' now in its second season. Isaak's 1991 hit 'Wicked Game' still stands as his signature song.

Interview with Jessica Williams; Review of Nora Jones' debut album "Come away with me." March 29, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884747].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) An in-studio concert and interview with jazz pianist JESSICA WILLIAMS, recorded at WHYY. We'll hear WILLIAMS' original compositions as well as some interpretations of standards. WILLIAMS has been recording albums, both solo and with ensembles, since 1978. Her music is often featured on Fresh Air between interview segments. Williams' new album is 'This Side Up,' on the MAXJAZZ piano series. (THIS INTERVIEW WILL CONTINUE INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (Original airdate: 11/26/97)(2.) Rock critic Ken Tucker reviews 'Come Away With Me,' the debut album from vocalist Norah Jones.

Interview with Bharati Mukherjee; Interview with Gerard Jones; Review of The blasters' CD compilations ?The Blasters Testament April 1, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884891].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer BHARATI MUKHERJEE ('pah-RAH-tee MOO-ker-gee'). Her new novel is called 'Desirable Daughters.' (Theia Press) Mukherjee is an Indian 'born writer who emigrated to the U-S as an adult. Her new novel is about a traditional Brahmin family transformed by contemporary culture. Mukherjee is the author of five novels, two non-fiction books and two collections of short stories, including "The Middleman and Other Stories," for which she won the National Book Critics Circle Award.(2.) Writer GERARD JONES is the author of the new book, 'Killing Monsters: Why Children Need Fantasy Games, Superheroes, and Make Believe Violence' (Basic Books). A former creator of comic books, he's written text for Batman, Superman, X-Men, and Pokemon. This is his fourth media studies book. He lives in San Francisco.(3.) ED WARD reviews The Blasters' new 2-CD compilation 'The Blasters Testament: The Complete Slash Recordings' (Rhino).

Interview with Christopher Dickey. April 2, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884889].

Description of show segment(s)

(1) Journalist CHRISTOPHER DICKEY. He is Paris bureau chief and Middle East regional editor for Newsweek magazine. He'll talk about the situation in the Middle East. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MICHAEL POLLAN is a contributing writer for the New York Times Magazine. To learn more about the meat industry in the U.S. he bought a calf, and then followed the process from fattening it to slaughter. He wrote about it in the Sunday, March 31st issue of the New York Times Magazine section. The article 'Power Steer' is the cover story. POLLAN is also the author of the book, 'The Botany of Desire: A Plant's-Eye View of the World' in which he maintained that plants and humans have developed a reciprocal, co-evolutionary relationship. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Mark Bowden; Interview with Richard Rodriguez; Review of Seiji Ozawa's "Vienna New Years Concert with Seiji Ozawa". April 4, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884787].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist MARK BOWDEN (BOW-den, as in 'wow. ') discusses Saddam Hussein, the subject of his cover story for the May issue of The Atlantic Monthly. The story is 'Tales of the Tyrant: The private life and inner world of Saddam Hussein. BOWDEN is also author of the bestseller 'Black Hawk Down' which was made into a film. His book 'Killing Pablo: The Hunt for the Worlds Greatest Outlaw' about the U.S. government's role in bringing down Colombian cocaine kingpin and terrorist Pablo Escobar is now in paperback. It won the Overseas Press Club Award for best non fiction book on foreign affairs. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Journalist RICHARD RODRIGUEZ is a regular essayist on PBS' 'NewsHour with Jim Lehrer' and is an editor at the Pacific News Service in San Francisco. In his new book 'Brown: the Last Discovery of America' (Viking) he assesses the meaning of Hispanics to the life of America. (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new recording of the Vienna Philharmonic conducted by Seiji Ozawa, who is leaving the Boston Symphony Orchestra to conduct the Vienna Philharmonic: 'Vienna New Years Concert with Seiji Ozawa' (Phillips)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and songwriter STEVE EARLE. His new CD, 'Sidetracks,' features several unreleased and underexposed tracks. This is his eleventh full length CD. He's the author of last year's acclaimed book, 'Doghouse Roses,' a collection of short stories. (Houghton Mifflin Company) Earle is also politically active. He currently serves as a board member of the Journey of Hope and is affiliated with both the Citizens United for Alternatives to the Death Penalty and the Abolitionist Action Committee. (REBROADCAST FROM 7/30/96 and 6/26/01). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Nanny Diaries' (St. Martin's Press) by Emma McLaughlin and Nicola Kraus.
Interview with Laura Blumenfeld; Interview with David Blumenfeld. April 8, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884799].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist LAURA BLUMENFELD is the author of the book, 'Revenge: A Story of Hope' (Simon & Schuster). In 1986 a Palestinian terrorist shot her father while he was visiting Israel. The bullet grazed his head. Ten years later, while a reporter for The Washington Post, BLUMENFELD went in search of the shooter as a way to deal with her own feelings of revenge. She found his family who in turn led her to him. She developed a friendship with them, before they knew who she really was. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Laura's father DAVID BLUMENFELD. He served as rabbi for 12 years in Glen Cove, New York. He began his career as a U.S. Army chaplain. In the eighties he was an Adjunct Assistant Professor in the Department of Hebraic Studies at Long Island University. Currently, he is the Director of Department Services to Affiliated Congregations at the United Synagogue of Conservative Judaism.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Professor HENRY LOUIS GATES, JR. Last year, Gates uncovered a manuscript of a novel purportedly written in the 1850s by an African American woman who had been a slave. It is the first known work of its kind and has great historical and literary significance. 'The Bondwoman's Narrative' by Hannah Crafts, edited by Henry Louis Gates, has just been published (Warner Books). We'll talk with Gates about the process of finding, authenticating and publishing the novel. Gates is the W.E.B. DuBois Professor of Humanities and chair of the Department of African-American Studies at Harvard University. He's published seven books and has received many awards for his work. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film maker JON FAVREAU. He wrote and starred in his films which include the hipster comedy 'Swingers' and 'Made' (which he also directed). In each film he teamed up with fellow actor and friend Vince Vaughn. Recently he also starred in the romantic comedy 'Love and Sex.' His latest project is a new talk show series 'Dinner For Five' which he created and hosts for the Independent Film Channel (premieres Monday, April 14 at 8:00 PM ET/PT).
Interview with Donald Hall; Interview with Julie Christie. April 10, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884788].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Poet DONALD HALL returns to the show to discuss his new collection of poetry, 'The Painted Bed' (Houghton Mifflin) much of it written in mourning for his late wife, poet Jane Kenyon who died in 1995. HALL received the National Book Critics Circle Award and the Los Angeles Times Book Prize in poetry for his collection, 'The One Day,' and the 1990 Frost Medal from the Poetry Society of America for 'Old and New Poems.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) British actress JULIE CHRISTIE. She stars as a doctor in the new Hal Hartley film, 'No Such Thing.' Her other films include 'Doctor Zhivago,' 'McCabe and Mrs. Miller,' 'Shampoo,' 'Heaven Can Wait,' and 'Nashville.' She won the Oscar for Best Actress for her work in the 1965 film 'Darling.'

Interview with Jeffrey Toobin; Interview with Jeffrey Rosen. April 11, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884801].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JEFFREY ROSEN. His article in this coming Sunday's New York Times Magazine is about the CIA's effort to partner with Silicon Valley to develop new anti-terrorist technologies. The CIA has founded a venture-capital firm that funds the development of cutting edge technologies that may be useful for national security, in particular new techniques for finding terrorists. Rosen will talk about some of these technologies-- and what civil libertarians think of them. (2.) Journalist JEFFREY TOOBIN. He discusses his profile of Attorney General John Ashcroft, published in this week's New Yorker. Toobin is a staff writer for the New Yorker. He is also a legal analyst for ABC news. His books include, 'Too Close to Call : The Thirty-Six-Day Battle to Decide the 2000 Election' (Random House), 'A Vast Conspiracy,' and 'The Run of His Life.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Major Leaguer KEITH HERNANDEZ. Called by some baseball purists the finest First Baseman in the game, HERNANDEZ played with the St. Louis Cardinals, the New York Mets, and the Cleveland Indians. He is the winner of eleven consecutive Golden Glove Awards for fielding, and played in two World Championships. HERNANDEZ is the author of the book "Pure Baseball: Pitch by Pitch for the Advanced Fan.' His newest book 'First Base Hero' (Golden Books) is a children's book about a boy who wants to grow up to play major league baseball. (REBROADCAST from 2/24/94)(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Century's Son' (Knopf) by Robert Boswell.(3.) We listen back to an interview with the eccentric singer and performer TINY TIM. Born Herbert B. Khaury, TIM began performing in the 1950s. He is best known for his performances on Laugh-In, especially his croonings of "Tip Toe Through the Tulips." TIM died in 1996. Friday, April 12, 2002 would have been his 70th birthday.(4.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the three-part mini series 'Almost Strangers' starring Michael Gambon on the cable and satellite network BBC America.

Interview with Ellen Degeneres; Interview with Andy Richter; Review of the music album "The element of swing." April 15, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884800].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress, writer, comedienne ELLEN DEGENERES. She's soon to begin a comedy tour. Her five-year sit-com "Ellen" won an Emmy for her much anticipated coming-out episode. She and her character came out at the same time. This was followed by a very public relationship with actress Anne Heche, which eventually ended. DEGENERES talks about coming out, her relationship with Heche, and why she resists becoming a lesbian role model. DEGENERES is the author of the book, "My Point. . . And I Do Have One." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Actor, writer, comedian ANDY RICHTER. For seven years he was Conan O'Brien's sidekick on 'Late Night.' Now he has his own sitcom on FOX, 'Andy Richter Controls the Universe' (Tuesdays at 8:30). RICHTER could be seen in the movies, 'Scary Movie 2,' 'Dr. T & The Women,' and in the upcoming films 'Big Trouble,' and 'Run, Ronnie, Run.' (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'The Element of Swing' (Stunt) featuring drummer Ed Thigpen and saxophonist Joe Lovano.

Interview with Peter Rasmussen; Interview with Dr. Paul Stull. April 16, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884789].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Five years ago Oregon voters passed into law the Death with Dignity Act, legalizing physician-assisted suicide. Last Fall Attorney General John Ashcroft challenged the law using the Controlled Substances Act. A federal judge blocked enforcement of Ashcroft's order, and is expected to rule on it sometime this month. We talk with two doctors who work with the terminally ill: Oncologist PETER RASMUSSEN of Salem, Oregon who has prescribed lethal doses of medication for dying patients. (MORE ON THIS IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) DR. PAUL STULL, a Palliative Care Consultant, of Astoria, Oregon who opposes physician-assisted suicide. (3.) A retired Oregon physician who has prostate cancer. He has a lethal dose of drugs on hand to use if he chooses to. He wishes to remain anonymous.

Interview with Dr. Atul Gawande; Interview with Cheryl Benard; Review of Jim Roll's new album "Inhabiting the Ball." April 17, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884596].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Surgical resident ATUL GAWANDE ('a-tool Ga-WAHN-dee') and staff writer on medicine and science for The New Yorker. His new book 'Complications: A Surgeon's Notes on An Imperfect Science' (Metropolitan books) is based on his experiences and what he found up close: 'how messy, uncertain, and also surprising medicine turns out to be.' (2.) Sociologist CHERYL BENARD is the author of the book, 'Veiled Courage: Inside the Afghan Women's Resistance' (Broadway). Under the Taliban, the group known as RAWA (The Revolutionary Association of the Women of Afghanistan), educated girls and women in underground schools, ran small businesses, and secretly photographed Taliban beatings and executions. BENARD has worked with the organization for ten years. She is also the wife of an Afghan refugee who is one of President Bush's key Afghanistan advisors. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews
'Inhabiting the Ball' the third album by Chicago singer-songwriter Jim Roll. It features collaborations with novelists Rick Moody and Denis Johnson.

---

Interview with Denis Leary; Interview with Daniel Harris; Commentary on the Proto-punk band the Sonics. April 18, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884594].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and comedian DENIS LEARY. He's currently starring in the ABC comedy series, 'The Job.' He's also known for his work in films such as 'The Thomas Crown Affair' and 'The Ref.' Leary has completed over 20 feature films, several cable specials, a book, a CD, and he has an international hit song. He's got his own production company, Apostle. He recently launched a website, www.crudegreetings.com.

(3.) Rock historian ED WARD looks at the proto-punk group The Sonics, who played in the 1960s and 70s.

---

Interview with Robbie Robertson; Interview with Levon Helm; Interview with Eddie Palmieri; Review of the film "Sullivan's travels." April 19, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884595].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The 1978 film 'The Last Waltz' is playing in theaters again, and it's also being released on DVD May 7th. Also, a 4-CD box set of the music from The Last Waltz is available. Martin Scorsese directed the 1978 documentary about The Band's last performance. We'll listen back to interviews with two members of The Band. Musician ROBBIE ROBERTSON was a guitarist and songwriter for The Band until their breakup in 1976. Since then, he has put out solo albums and done film soundtracks for director Martin Scorsese. (Originally aired 10/18/94)

(2.) First, LEVON HELM (pronounced LEE-von). He was the drummer and lead vocalist for The Band. Helm's Arkansas roots gave the Canadian group an American folk sound. In the 1960's The Band got its start backing Bob Dylan. They went on their own in 1968 with "Music From Big Pink." (originally aired 8/12/94) (3.) Bandleader and pianist EDDI PALMIERI. Through his first band, La Perfecta, labeled "the band with the crazy roaring elephants," Palmieri was credited with originating Latin jazz's trombone sound in New York during the sixties. In 1994, Palmieri's lobbying culminated in the announcement of a new Grammy Award category for Afro-Carribean Jazz. "I proposed the category to give proper distinction to that segment of jazz music based on rythmical elements and instrumentation of Africa, as opposed to jazz which developed from blues, gospel and other expressions of African-Americans." His new recording is 'La Perfecta II' (Concord Picante). (REBROADCAST from 6/20/94)(4.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews the new DVD release of the classic Preston Sturges film, 'Sullivan's Travels.'

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Ugandan Aids activist NOERINE KALEEBA ('No-REEN Ka-LEE-ba'). She works with UNAids, a United Nations organization in Geneva. She's also on the Ugandan committee on Aids, and founded The Aids Support Organization in Uganda. KALEEBA lost her husband to the disease; four of her siblings are HIV positive as are a number of their children. KALEEBA is also author of the book, 'We Miss You All: Noerine Kaleeba?Aids in the Family' (Women & Aids Support Network). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews Norman Granz's 'Jazz at the Philharmonic Concert, Carnegie Hall, 1949' (Pablo)(3.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews the new film 'Time Out.'

---

Interview with John Allen; Interview with Laurent Cantet. April 23, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884418].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Correspondent for the National Catholic Reporter JOHN ALLEN. He covers the Vatican for the paper and has a regular column, 'The View From Rome.' This week American Cardinals are meeting in Rome to discuss the sex abuse scandals that have rocked the Catholic Church in the U.S.(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) French film director LAURENT CANTET. He's made two feature films, both of which focus on the world of work, and the toll that work can take on our lives. His first film, made in 1999, was 'Human Resources.' His newest film 'Time Out' is about a middle-aged, mid-level executive who loses his job, but doesn't tell his family. The film has just been released here and has received critical acclaim.

Paul Mayewski; Interview with Sheri Tepper. April 24, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884600].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) An expert in climate change research, PAUL MAYEWSKI. He led the National Science Foundation's Greenland Ice Sheet Project Two. The project extracted ice cores chronicling 100,000 years of climate history. MAYEWSKI writes about their expeditions in the new book (which he co-authored with Frank White), 'The Ice Chronicles: The Quest to Understand Global Climate Change' (University Press of New England). MAYEWSKI is also co-director of the Institute of Quaternary and Climate Studies at the University of Maine. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Science fiction writer SHERI S. TEPPER. She is the author of over a dozen novels including, 'The Fresco,' 'The Family Tree,' 'Grass' and her newest, 'The Visitor.' (Harper Collins).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer RICHARD LOURIE ('lore-EE'). His new book is a biography of the Russian scientist, dissident, and Nobel peace prize winner Andrei Sakharov. He's considered one of the greatest physicists of the twentieth century. Sakharov created Russia's H-bomb, but later underwent a moral awakening and confronted his country over issues of nuclear responsibility and human rights. LOURIE also translated the Sakharov's memoirs. (2.) South African writer, actress, and first-time playwright PAMELA GIENT (hard 'g' ? 'GE-in'). Her off-broadway one-woman show is 'The Syringa Tree.' It's a semi-autobiographical play about the love between two families, one black, one white. She plays 28 different characters in it.
Interview with Billy Bob Thornton; Interview with Eddie Izzard; Review of the new Elvis Costello CD "When I Was Cruel." April 26, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884599].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor, director, screenwriter BILLY BOB THORNTON. The 1996 film 'Sling Blade' which he wrote, directed and starred in put him on the map and earned him an Academy Award for Best Adapted screenplay. He was nominated for an Academy Award for his role in the 1998 film 'A Simple Plan.' Last year he directed the film 'All the Pretty Horses.' This past year, he starred in the Coen Brothers 'The Man Who Wasn't There,' 'Bandits' (which is now out on video) with Bruce Willis, and 'Monster's Ball.' Before he got into acting, he was interested in a music career. Last fall he released a new CD on which he sings his own songs, 'Private Radio.' (REBROADCAST FROM 1/9/02)(2.) British comedian, stand up performer, and actor EDDIE IZZARD. He's won over fans with his quirky comedy and his cross-dressing. The Chicago Tribune says "Izzard lives up to his billing. He's very bright, very fast and very hip.' As an actor, IZZARD has appeared in the films 'Mystery Men,' 'The Avengers,' and 'The Velvet Goldmine.' His new film is 'The Cat's Meow.' (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'When I Was Cruel' the new release by Elvis Costello. It reunites him with two members of his first rock combo, The Attractions.

Interview with Bill Paxton; Interview with Sue Graham Mingus. April 29, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884622].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor BILL PAXTON makes his directing debut with the new psychological thriller 'Frailty.' He co-stars in the film, with Matthew McConaughey and Powers Boothe. Paxton previously starred in the films 'Twister,' 'A Simple Plan,' 'One False Move,' and 'Apollo 13.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) SUE GRAHAM MINGUS' new memoir 'Tonight at Noon' is about her love affair with the late jazz musician and composer Charles Mingus. She is a former magazine editor and publisher, and now works as a music producer. She also created and directs repertory ensembles that carry on the music of her late husband. 'Tonight at Noon?Three or Four Shades of Love,' a CD featuring tracks by the Mingus Big Band and the Charles Mingues Orchestra, was recently released on the Dreyfus Jazz Label. In her efforts to reclaim bootleg recordings of Charles Mingus' music, Sue Mingus incorporated Revenge Records, which copies bootleg CDs and releases them anew.

---

Interview with Al Franken; Interview with Michael J. Fox. April 30, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884598].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Satirist AL FRANKEN has a new book that spoofs how-to-succeed books. His new book is 'Oh, The Things I know! A Guide to Success, or, Failing that, Happiness' (Dutton). FRANKEN is former co-producer of Saturday Night Live where he created the self-help guru Stuart Smalley ('I'm Good Enough, I'm Smart Enough, and Doggone It, People Like Me!). He's also the author of 'Rush Limbaugh Is a Big Fat Idiot and Other Observations.' (2.) Actor MICHAEL J. FOX. He got his start acting as a teenager in the popular sitcom 'Family Ties.' After that he made the blockbusters 'Back to the Future,' 'The Secret of My Success,' and 'Doc Hollywood.' He retired from his role on the sitcom 'Spin City.' In 1998 he made the stunning announcement that he had Parkinson's disease and he now heads The Michael J. Fox Foundation for Parkinson's Research. He has a new memoir, 'Lucky Man,' (Hyperion).

---

Interview with Carol Shields; Review of Bonnie Raitt's new CD "Silver Lining;" Commentary on the word "chastity." May 1, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825533].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist CAROL SHIELDS. She won a Pulitzer Prize for her best-selling novel 'The Stone Diaries.' Her books are often about middle class people leading quiet lives. Her other novels include 'Larry's Party' which won Britian's Orange Prize, 'The Republic of Love,' and 'Swann: A Mystery.' She also wrote a biography of Jane Austen as well as plays, poetry and story collections. In 1998 SHIELDS was diagnosed with breast cancer. She is now in stage 4, a late stage of the disease. Her new novel 'Unless' (Fourth Estate) was written after her diagnosis. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews Bonnie Raitt's new album, 'Silver Lining.' (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the word 'chastity.'
Interview with Mark Malloch Brown; Interview with Jeff Tweedy. May 2, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825583].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MARK MALLOCH BROWN heads the United Nations Development Programme. He'll discuss their efforts in Afghanistan, the West Bank and Gaza to help with reconstruction. BROWN is from Britian. He is also the chair of the United Nations Development Group, a committee of the heads of all UN development funds, programmes and departments. (2.) Founder of the band Wilco, JEFF TWEEDY. He also sings, writes songs, plays guitar and banjo. The band got started as an alternative country band, but has recently left that sound behind. Their new recording is 'Yankee Hotel Foxtrot' (Nonesuch). Before forming Wilco in 1994, TWEEDY headed the band Uncle Tupelo.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor OM PURI ("OM" as in "dome" "POUR-ee") is a star of Bombay's film industry, known as Bollywood. In his two decades of acting he's worked with every major Indian film director including Satjayit Ray. In western films he had roles in "Ghandi" and "City of Joy," and in the TV series "The Jewel in the Crown." He's had starring parts in two British films "My Son the Fanatic," and the film "East is East." His latest film is the Merchant Ivory production, 'The Mystic Massuer' based on the novel by V.S. Naipaul. (REBROADCAST from 4/6/00) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Composer and lyricist RICHARD ADLER. In the fifties, he collaborated with his partner, Jerry Ross, on the Broadway musicals "Damn Yankees" and "The Pajama Game." He later became an impresario and organizer of events. His wrote a memoir, "You Gotta Have Heart." The Pajama Game is currently being revived by City Center Encores in Manhattan (REBROADCAST" www.citycenter.org) (REBROADCAST from 8/9/90) (3.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'Spiderman.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Director, co-writer STACY PERALTA of the documentary 'Dogtown and Z-Boys.' The film is about the community of skateboarders in California in the 1970s who originated extreme skateboarding. They did so in rundown urban beach neighborhood near Santa Monica and Venice called Dogtown. They became international stars. PERALTA was one of the Z-boys and is considered one of the founding fathers of modern skateboarding. The film won the Audience Award and Director's Award at the 2001 Sundance Film Festival. There's also a companion book, 'Dogtown ? The Legend of the Z-Boys' (Burning Flags Press). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new CD by Andrew W.K. Its called 'I Get Wet.' (3.) Book Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Bad Blood,' a memoir by the late literary critic, Lorna Sage.

Interview with John Burns; Interview with Alfonso Cuaron. May 7, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825589].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JOHN BURNS. He is the Islamabad Bureau Chief for the New York Times. He will talk about reporting on Pakistan and Afghanistan. In the past, Burns has been posted in China, Bosnia, South Africa and Russia. He has won two Pulitzer Prizes, one of them in 1997, for his reporting on the Taliban. (2.) Mexican film director ALFONSO CUARON. His new film 'Y Tu Mama Tambien' is set in Mexico and is about two teenage boys and an 'older' woman who set out on a journey. The film has been described as a 'smart and sexy new road movie' and one that transcends the usual teen road-trip genre. CUARON previously directed two consecutive Hollywood movies, 'A Little Princess,' and 'Great Expectations.'
Interview with Neal Conan; Commentary on Martha and the Vandellas. May 8, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825703].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Host of NPR's Talk of the Nation, NEAL CONAN. During the summer of 2000, he took a hiatus from his duties at NPR to follow the fortunes of the Aberdeen Arsenal, a minor league baseball team. CONAN pursued a lifelong dream: to become a baseball announcer. He writes about it in his new book: 'Play by Play: Baseball, Radio and Life in the Last Chance League' (Crown Publishers). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian ED WARD remembers Martha and the Vandellas.

Description of show segment(s)

Novelist RICK MOODY. He's the author of 'The Ice Storm' which was made into a film, and the short story collection 'Demonology' as well as a number of other books. He calls his new book a 'sort of non-fiction novel.' 'The Black Veil' is about his young adulthood when he was so depressed he became hospitalized. He started to look into his own family history of depression for answers. He found that one of his ancestors ? a clergyman ? was the inspiration for Nathaniel Hawthorne's short story 'The Minister's Black Veil.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer ALEC WILKINSON is the author of new memoir, 'My Mentor: A Young Man's Friendship with William Maxwell' (Houghton Mifflin) about his relationship with writer and editor WILLIAM MAXWELL. MAXWELL was fiction editor for the New Yorker from 1936-1976 and worked with such authors as J.D. Salinger, John Cheever, John Updike, Eudora Welty and scores of others. MAXWELL was the author of a number of novels, including "Time Will Darken It," and "So Long, See You Tomorrow," as well as several short story collections. He died at the age of 91 in August 2000. WILKINSON is a staff writer for the New Yorker, and has been there since 1980. He's the author of several books including, 'Midnights,' 'Moonshine,' and 'Big Sugar.' We'll listen to a rebroadcast of a 1995 interview with MAXWELL (3/29/95), and to an interview with ALEC WILKINSON shortly after Maxwell's death (8/4/2000). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'L.A. Law: the movie' and considers the penchant of networks to look back instead of ahead. (3.) Comic PHYLLIS DILLER. She retired from doing stand-up last Sunday after nearly half a century on the stage. She's 84. (REBROADCAST from 7/1/86)(4.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Lagaan' ('La-GONE') the new film from India made in Bollywood which he says may be one of the few Indian films to make it big over here. It's already been released in England and is also released on DVD.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) This year marks the centennial of the birth of composer Richard Rodgers. He was born on June 28, 1902. Rodgers was one of America's most prolific and best-loved composers. He collaborated with Lorenz Hart on the songs 'My Funny Valentine,' 'The Lady is a Tramp,' 'Blue Moon,' and 'Bewitched.' Later he went on to collaborate with Oscar Hammerstein on the musicals, 'Oklahoma!,' 'Carousel,' 'South Pacific,' 'the King and I,' and 'The Sound of Music.' We'll hear a concert of Rodgers' songs performed by singer REBECCA KILGORE and pianist, singer, and composer DAVE FRISHBERG. (THE CONCERT CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Maria Rosa Menocal; Interview with Jamie Bernstein. May 14, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825585].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MARIA ROSA MENOCAL is a R. Selden Rose Professor of Spanish and Portuguese and Director of the Whitney Humanities Center at Yale University. She is also the author of the new book: 'The Ornament of the World: How Muslims, Jews, and Christians created a culture of tolerance in Medieval Spain' (Little, Brown). MENOCAL details Andalucia, Spain from 786 to 1492 where literature, science, and tolerance flourished. (2.) Writer, musician and broadcaster JAMIE BERNSTEIN THOMAS. She is the daughter of composer-conductor Leonard Bernstein. She hosts 'The New York Festival of Song' on WQXR which features highlights from that concert series. She and her siblings founded the Bernstein Education Through the Arts (BETA) Fund. On Friday, May 24th she will be the speaker for a production of Leonard Bernstein's Symphony No. 3, 'Kaddish' based on the Jewish liturgical prayer. The concert will be part of the Cincinnati May Festival held at Cincinnati's historic Music Hall. (for info, 513-744-3248).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Photographer JOEL MEYEROWITZ ('MY-roh-its'). Since September 11th, MEYEROWITZ has taken over 7000 photographs of Ground Zero. He gained unlimited access to the site and did so in conjunction with the Museum of the City of New York. A selection of those pictures can be seen in the May 20th issue of The New Yorker.(2.) Architecture critic for The New Yorker PAUL GOLDBERGER. He'll discuss the different ideas for what to do with the site of the World Trade Center. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the debut novel 'Everything is Illuminated' (Houghton Mifflin) by Jonathan Safran Foer.

Interview with Scott Anderson; Commentary on naming conventions. May 16, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825704].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist SCOTT ANDERSON. He traveled with a platoon of elite Israeli commandos into the West Bank and wrote about it in the article 'An Impossible Occupation' which was the cover story of last Sunday's New York Times Magazine. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Linguist Geoff Nunberg reflects on the evolution of world wide web naming conventions, such as attaching 'e' or 'cyber' in front of everything internet.
Interview with Nick Hornby; Review of Cassandra Wilson's album "Belly of the sun;" Interview with Jamling Tenzing Norgay; Review of season finales of the shows ?Survivor,? ?The Practice? and ?The X-Files.? May 17, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825586].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer NICK HORNBY. His novel, 'About a Boy,' has been made into a film starring Hugh Grant and Toni Collette. It opens May 17. Hornby also wrote the novel 'High Fidelity,' which became a hit film of the same name starring John Cusack. (REBROADCAST. ORIGINAL AIRDATE: 5/20/98)(2.) Jazz critic Kevin Whitehead reviews 'Belly of the Sun,' the new album from singer Cassandra Wilson (Blue Note records).(3.) Sherpa JAMLING TENSING NORGAY. Norgay was Climbing Leader for the 1996 Everest IMAX Filming Expedition and summited the Mountain that year. He's also the son of Tenzing Norgay, one of the first men in history to summit Mt. Everest. In his book 'Touching My Father's Soul,' Jamling Norgay recounts his 1996 Mt. Everest ascent: the climb and its familial meaning. He now heads Tenzing Norgay Adventures, which is based in India. (Rebroadcast. Original airdate 4/19/01)(4.) T-V CRITIC David Bianculli wraps up May ratings sweeps. He talks about the season finales of the shows 'Survivor,' 'The Practice' and 'The X-Files,' and discusses reunion specials such as 'The Cosby Show: A Look Back.'

Interview with Dr. Mel Levine; Interview with Mary Wells Lawrence. May 20, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825588].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MEL LEVINE, MD. The founder of the All Kinds of Minds Institute and the Director of the Center for Development and Learning has just written a book called 'A Mind at a Time: America's Top Learning Expert Shows How Every Child Can Succeed.' Levine is a professor of Pediatrics at the University of North Carolina Medical School.(2.) Advertising great MARY WELLS LAWRENCE. Her career spans the 1960s to the 1980s, and she created many memorable campaigns. She is responsible for the Alka-Seltzer 'Plop Plop Fizz Fizz,' and the slogan, 'I Love New York.' Here new book is called 'A Big Life (in Advertising)' (Knopf). She is a member of the Advertising Hall of Fame and the Copywriters Hall of Fame.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and Songwriter TOM WAITS. Since the 1973 release of his first album, 'Closing Time,' Waits has won over fans with his original songwriting and distinctive, gravely vocal style. One reviewer calls Waits 'the Ultimate hobo boho, a Jack-in-the-box cum storyteller.' Musicians including Johnny Cash, Bruce Springsteen, and Rod Stewart have recorded covers of his songs. He has also acted in films, including Sylvester Stallone's 'Paradise Alley,' Jim Jarmusch's 'Down By Law,' and Robert Altman's 'Short Cuts.' Waits has two new CDs out this month; 'Alice' and 'Blood Money,' a pair of very different sounding albums, were written and produced by Tom Waits and his wife and long-time collaborator, Kathleen Brennan. (2.) We remember Paleontologist and evolutionary biologist STEPHEN JAY GOULD. He died yesterday, at the age of 60. He had cancer. Gould was a professor of geology and curator at the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard. He wrote columns for "Natural History Magazine" and "Discover Magazine," and had written several books, including the award-winning "The Mismeasure of Man." Gould used his writing and teaching to illuminate and demystify the scientific method and to provide a historical perspective on science for the layman. In March he published what he described as his magnum opus, 'The Structure of Evolutionary Theory' which he had worked on for decades. (REBROADCAST from 11/9/89)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Producers/writers/directors JUSTINE SHAPIRO and B.Z. GOLDBERG. Their new documentary film 'Promises' takes a look at the Palestinian-Isreali conflict thru the eyes of seven children living in or near Jerusalem. It was filmed between 1997 and the summer of 2000. SHAPIRO grew up in Berkeley, California and hosts and co-writes the award-winning travel series, 'Lonely Planet.' GOLDBERG was born in Boston and grew up outside of Jerusalem and has been a television journalist. 'Promises' was broadcast on PBS last December as part of the P.O.V. series. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.(2.) Writer NOELLE HOWEY has written a new memoir about growing up in a household where as she was coming of age, her father was coming out as a trans-sexual and her mother was coming into her own as an independent woman. Her new book is 'Dress Codes: Of Three Girlhoods-My Mother's, My Father's and Mine' (Picador). HOWEY is coeditor of 'Out of the Ordinary: Essays on Growing Up with Gay, Lesbian, and Transgender Parents.' She received a 2001 Nonfiction Fellowship from the New York Foundation for the Arts. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Dive From the Clausen's Pier' (knopf) the debut novel by Ann Packer.

Interview with Daniel Handler; Interview with Keely Smith; Review of the film "Insomnia." May 24, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825777].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer DANIEL HANDLER is the author (under the name Lemony Snicket) of the children's books "A Series of Unfortunate Events" featuring the orphans Violet, Klaus, and Sunny Baudelaire. In each of the nine books so far, the orphans face increasing misfortune, from being pursued by an evil Count out to get their inheritance, to undergoing unnecessary surgery. HANDLER's books are filled with literary references and in-jokes that only adults would get. When "The Hostile Hospital," (Harper Collins) his latest book in the series debuted, it knocked the newest Harry Potter book off the top of The New York Times children's bestseller list. Now, you can read all about Lemony Snicket in the new book 'Lemony Snicket: The Unauthorized Biography.' (Original airdate 12/10/01)(2.) Singer KEELY SMITH. She has been called 'The Queen of Swing' and 'the First Lady of Las Vegas'. SMITH is perhaps best known as the duet partner and wife of Louis Prima. Smith and Prima drew crowds to the lounges of Las Vegas in the 1950s. Their hits include 'Jump, Jive, an' Wail,' 'Just a Gigolo,' 'I've Got You Under My Skin,' and 'That Old Black Magic.' Smith released the CD 'Swing Swing Swing' two years ago. Her new CD is 'Absolutely the Best of Keely Smith' (Varese) (REBROADCAST from 4/4/00)(3.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Insomnia.'

Interview with Will Smith; Interview with Bill Russell; Commentary on Stiff Records. May 27, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825780].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and rapper WILL SMITH. His film 'Ali' in which he stars as fighter Muhammad Ali is now out on video and DVD. This summer he stars in 'Men in Black II'. SMITH also starred in the films "The SMITH got his start as a rapper, making his first record in high school. Known as the Fresh Prince he and his friend DJ Jazzy Jeff went on to make several albums and won two Grammys and three American Music Awards. He also starred in his own TV sitcom, 'The Fresh Prince of Bel Air.' (REBROADCAST FROM 12/17/01) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Basketball Hall of Famer, and former Boston Celtic BILL RUSSELL. He's considered the greatest defensive center in the history of the game. In the 1960s he helped the Celtic on to 11 NBA championships in 13 seasons. He was named the NBA's most valuable player five times. His book, 'Russell Rules: 11 Lessons on Leadership From the Twentieth Century's Greatest Winner' is now out in paperback. (REBROADCAST from 5/9/01)

(3.) Rock historian ED WARD reviews 'The Stiff Records Box Set' (on Rhino).

Interview with Jim Lauderdale; Interview with Charles Hazlewood, Pauline Malefane and Sandile Kamle; Commentary on language. May 28, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825779].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Country singer/songwriter JIM LAUDERDALE. He's been called the 'not-so missing link between soul and country.' His songs have been recorded by Vince Gill, George Strait, the Dixie Chicks, Shelby Lynne and many others. But he's also recorded over a dozen of his own solo albums and has sung background vocals on more than 40 albums. In 1999 he collaborated with his hero, blue grass legend Ralph Stanley on the album, 'I Feel Like Singing Today' which was nominated for a Grammy. Recently he collaborated again with Stanley on the album 'Lost in the Lonesome Pines' (Dualtone); He also has a new solo album 'The Hummingbirds' (Dualtone).

(2.) From the South African production of the opera Carmen, and Yiimimangaliso: The Mysteries, an opera based on the medieval Chester Mystery plays: music director CHARLES HAZLEWOOD and singers SANDILE KAMLE and PAULINE MALEFANE. The operas were staged in London's West End to rave reviews. They are currently making their American premiere at the Spoleto Festival in Charleston, South Carolina that runs May 24-June 9. HAZLEWOOD went to South Africa and auditioned over a thousand performers for Carmen. The Mysteries has a 34-member South African cast and is performed in four languages: Afrikaans, Xhosa, Zulu and English. The Mystery plays were popular medieval street theatre performed in the streets of towns all over Europe.
They are dramatic versions of stories from the Bible. Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers obscure legal language and the word 'prurient' used in the landmark 1973 Supreme court ruling on obscenity.

Interview with Tom Friedman. May 29, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825774].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Foreign Affairs columnist for The New York Times, THOMAS FRIEDMAN. He's just won his third Pulitzer Prize, this time for his 'clarity of vision, based on extensive reporting, in commenting on the worldwide impact of the terrorist threat.' Previously FRIEDMAN was awarded the 1983 Pulitzer Prize for his international reporting from Lebanon and the 1988 Pulitzer Prize for international reporting from Isreal. He's also the author of 'From Beirut to Jerusalem,' and 'The Lexus and the Olive Tree: Understanding Globalization.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with James Martin; Interview with Eugene Kennedy; Review of Ida Haendels' new CD. May 30, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825775].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) FATHER JAMES MARTIN has written a new memoir about his spiritual journey from the corporate world to the priesthood. His book is 'In Good Company: The Fast Track from the Corporate World to Poverty, Chastity and Obedience' (paperback, Sheed & Ward). MARTIN is associate editor of America, the national Catholic magazine and is the winner of three Catholic Press Association Awards. He's also the author of 'This Our Exile: A Spiritual Journey with the Refugees of East Africa.' (2.) Psychologist, Catholic scholar and former priest EUGENE KENNEDY. He left the priesthood after 22 years to marry and has been married now for 25 years. KENNEDY believes that celibacy should no longer be an absolute condition for the priesthood. He's the author of the new book, 'The Unhealed Wound: The Church and Human Sexuality' (St. Martin's Griffin) (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews violinist Ida Haendel's (EE-da HEN-dl) new 2-CD set on Decca and the video on VAI.
Interview with Dennis Hopper; Interview with Isabella Rossellini; Interview with David Lynch; Review of "Eminem Show;" Review of the film "The sum of all fears." May 31, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825776].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) A new special DVD edition of David Lynch's 1986 film 'Blue Velvet' is coming out June 4th. It includes new interviews with the cast, and deleted scenes. We hear from several people involved with the film: Actor DENNIS HOPPER. He made his film debut in "Rebel Without a Cause," and has starred in "Blue Velvet," "Rivers Edge," and "Hoosiers." Hopper directed, co-wrote, and starred in the 60's classic, "Easy Rider." He has directed several films, including "Colors," and the film, "The Hot Spot." (REBROADCAST from 10/10/90)(2.) Actress and model ISABELLA ROSSELLINI, daughter of actress Ingrid Bergman and filmmaker Roberto Rossellini. She has acted in numerous films including "Blue Velvet," and she was the spokesmodel for Lanco?me cosmetics company. She wrote a book about her life "Some of Me." (REBROADCAST from 6/12/97)(3.) Director DAVID LYNCH, who Mel brooks called "Jimmy Stewart from Mars." LYNCH is the director of "Eraserhead," "The Elephant Man," "Dune" and "Blue Velvet," all of which have received critical acclaim and attained cult status. He is also the creator of the popular but short-lived TV series, "Twin Peaks." (REBROADCAST from 12/15/94)(4.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the third album by Marshall Mathers (otherwise known as Eminem) 'The Eminem Show.' (5.) Guest film critic ARMOND WHITE who writes for the New York weekly, New York Press, reviews 'The Sum of All Fears.'

Interview with David Newman; Interview with Gino Yevdjevich; Commentary on language. June 3, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825773].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DAVID NEWMAN is a political columnist for the Jerusalem Post. He is also chairman of the department of politics and government at Ben Gurion University of the Negev and editor of the International Journal of Geopolitics. He'll discuss the history of the Jewish settlements in the West Bank and Gaza. He's written about the settlements in The New York Times. NEWMAN is also author of the book, 'Population, Settlement and Conflict: Israel and the West Bank' (1991, Cambridge University Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) GINO YEVDJEVICH (yev-jev-ich) is the lead singer of the Bosnian-Bulgarian punk rock band Kultur Shock.
He was a rock musician in Sarajevo when the Bosnian War broke out. During the war, he played a major role in rewriting the musical 'Hair' into a new version called 'Hair: Sarajevo, AD 1992' which played in Sarajevo for three years to standing room only crowds. YEVDJEVICH now lives in Seattle; he moved there in 1996 when a theatre produced his play 'Sarajevo: Behind God's Back.' His band Kultur Shock has a new CD called 'F.U.C.C. the INS' (Kool Arrow Records). (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers 'journalese.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comic book writer STAN LEE. He was the leading creative force behind the rise of Marvel Comics and is responsible for many of the best-known comic book heroes. 40 years ago, he co-created the character Spider-Man. He also helped create The X-Men, The Fantastic Four, and The Incredible Hulk. He is now Chairman Emeritus of Marvel Enterprises, and is Executive Producer of the new movie, Spider-Man. It stars Tobey Maguire, Willem Dafoe, and Kirsten Dunst. His new book is called 'Excelsior! The Amazing Life of Stan Lee.' (Fireside)(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Emperor of Ocean Park' (Knoph) by Stephen L. Carter.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Directors CHRIS and PAUL WEITZ. Their new film, 'About a Boy' is based on the novel by Nick Hornby and plays in theaters now. The Weitz brothers, born to fashion designer John Weitz and Oscar nominated actress Susan Kohner, first became famous for directing the 1999 teen comedy, 'American Pie.' They also wrote the screenplay for the animated movie 'Antz' and directed the Chris Rock movie 'Down to Earth.' They live in New York. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews a number of CDs devoted to the music of Hoagy
Carmichael: 'Stardust Melody' (Bluebird); 'Hoagy Sings Carmichael' (Pacific Jazz); 'Stardust Melody: Beloved and Rare Songs of Hoagy Carmichael' (A-Records); 'Bill Charlap: Stardust' (BlueNote).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Photographer and reporter SCOTT PETERSON of the Christian Science Monitor has been covering the war on terrorism since the September 11th attacks. He is also the paper's Moscow Bureau Chief, and their former Middle East Correspondent. PETERSON recently attended a training camp for journalists to learn how to deal with kidnappers and gunmen. He was also a friend of murdered journalist Daniel Pearl. PETERSON is the author of the book, 'Me Against My Brother: At War in Somalia, Sudan, and Rwanda.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) ROBERT JAY LIFTON is Distinguished Professor of Psychiatry and Psychology at the Graduate School University Center and Director of The Center on Violence and Human Survival at John Jay College of Criminal Justice at The City University of New York. He'll talk with us about the psychological impact of the threat of terrorism and the nuclear war between Pakistan and India. LIFTON specializes in the study of extremist religions and cults. He's written books on many topics, including the Japanese cult which released poison gas in the Tokyo subways, Nazi doctors, Hiroshima survivors and Vietnam vets.

Interview with Michael Pollan; Review of Cee-Lo Green's "Cee-Lo Green and his Perfect Imperfections;" Review of the film ?The Divine Secrets of the Ya-Ya Sisterhood.? June 7, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825731].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer Michael Pollan. His book, 'The Botany of Desire: A Plant's-Eye View of the World' (Random House) takes a look at four plants cultivated by humans: the apple, the tulip, potatoes and marijuana. Pollan demonstrates that plants and humans have developed a reciprocal, co-evolutionary relationship: do we plant potatoes, or do potatoes seduce us into planting them? Pollan questions the assumption that we are in charge of our agriculture. The book is now in paperback. (REBROADCAST FROM 6/6/01)(2.)
Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new CD by hip-hop artist Cee-Lo Green, 'Cee-Lo Green and his Perfect Imperfections.' (3.) Film critic John Powers reviews 'The Divine Secrets of the Ya-Ya Sisterhood.'

Interview with John Ridley; Review of the music ?Songs in the Key of Z, Vol. 1 June 10, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825714].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer JOHN RIdLEY. He wrote the screenplay for the new film 'Undercover Brother,' which began life as a web site animation The film is an action comedy replete with seventies fashions. Concurrently, Ridley has published a novel, 'A Conversation with the Mann,' about a black comic in the civil rights era of the early sixties. (This interview continues into the second half of the show). (2.) Music critic Milo Miles reviews 'Songs in the Key of Z, Vol. 1: The Curious Universe of Outsider Music.' (acapella records)

Interview with Raja Shehadeh; Interview with Michael Oren; Commentary on language. June 11, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825710].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RAJA SHEHADEH ('RAH-zha sheh-HA-day') is a Palestinian lawyer and writer whose latest book is 'Strangers in the House: coming of Age in Occupied Palestine.' (Steer Forth Press) He is a founder of the nonpartisan human rights organization Al-Haq, an affiliate of the International Commission of Jurists, and author of several books about international law, human rights and the Middle East. Shehadeh lives in Ramallah. He was a guest on Fresh Air in February of this year. He's been keeping a diary of the occupation. He returns to talk about the latest news.(2.) Writer MICHAEL OREN. His new book is 'Six Days of War: June 1967 and the Making of the Modern Middle East.' (Oxford University Press) Oren was raised and educated in the United States, and emigrated to Israel over 25 years ago. He is a Senior Fellow at the Shalem Center, a Jerusalem based institute for Jewish social thought and public policy. He is the head of the Middle East history project there.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) National security expert LOCH ('lock') JOHNSON. He's written several books about intelligence and the trade-off of personal freedom, including 'Bombs, Bugs, Drugs and Thugs: Intelligence and America's Quest for Security.' Johnson is a professor of political science at the University of Georgia. He has served on several U.S. Senate committees on Intelligence.(2.) Reverend ROY HAWTHORNE. He is one of the original windtalkers. They were a group of Navajo men who developed a secret code for American World War II fighters. The Japanese were able to break every other code the military developed. The Navajo code was the only one never solved by the Japanese and is considered the key tool in winning that war. The code was declassified in 2001, and the code talkers medals of honor from President Bush. The new film 'Windtalkers' is based on the story of the codemakers. John Woo directed the film; Nicolas Cage and Christian Slater star. Hawthorne gives talks about the codemaking process to schoolchildren nationwide. (3.) Classical music critic Lloyd Schwartz introduces us to two new releases from Bridge, a small record label that specializes in both contemporary and historic classical music.

Description of show segment(s)

Actor NICOLAS CAGE. He's starring in the new film Windtalkers. A group of Navajo soldiers developed an unbreakable code based on their language for use during world War two. The film is set in the south Pacific. Cage plays Joe Enders, a Marine guard assigned to protect the Native American code talkers. Cage won an Academy award for his role in the film Leaving Las Vegas. He's starred in many other hit films, including Captain Corelli's Mandolin, Bringing Out the Dead, Face/Off and The Rock. He got his start in the film Birdy.
Interview with Denis Lehane; Interview with Phil Jackson; Interview with Larry Rivers; Review of the film "Windtalkers." June 14, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825713].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Crime novelist DENNIS LEHANE ("la-HAIN"). He's written five novels featuring the working-class Boston private detective team of Patrick Kenzie and Angela Gennaro. They include 'A Drink Before the War,' 'Darkness Take My Hand,' 'Sacred,' 'Gone, Baby, gone,' and 'Prayers for Rain.' LEHANE abandons the duo for his newest book about the affect of abduction on a group of boys. It's a thriller, 'Mystic River,' now out in paperback. A critic with The New York Times writes of the book, 'This one is terrific: soulful, atmospheric, suspenseful and propelled by deep, wrenching emotions.' (Original airdate: 3/14/01)(2.) Los Angeles Lakers coach, PHIL JACKSON. JACKSON has already won 9 NBA championship rings; He led the Lakers to the championship last year, and he also won 6 with the Chicago Bulls. He has coached NBA greats Michael Jordan, Shaquille O'Neal, and Kobe Bryant. JACKSON'S latest book is 'More than a Game,' written with Charley Rosen (Seven Stories Press).(Original airdate: 6/12/01)(3.) Painter LARRY RIVERS. The Corcoran Gallery in Washington DC is currently running the first major retrospective of Rivers' work. It's on display through August 19, 2002 and covers five decades of output. He's been called the father of Pop Art, and is considered one of the most important artists in the figurative tradition. Rivers was part of a loosely knit association of poets and painters who were young, poor and ambitious in New York in the 50's. RIVERS also was a jazz saxophonist, he appeared on camera and stage, did heavy drugs, and had an unashamed interest in sexuality that went from unconventional entanglements with both sexes to conventional participation in marriage and family life. (Original airdate: 10/27/92)(4.) Film critic Henry Sheehan reviews 'Windtalkers,' directed by John Woo and starring Nicolas Cage.

Interview with Jodie Foster; Commentary on Frisco records. June 17, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825715].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress JODIE FOSTER. She produced and acts in the new film 'The Dangerous Lives of Altar Boys.' Foster has won two Oscars for performances in 'The Silence of the Lambs' and 'The Accused.' She was also nominated for her work in 'Taxi Driver' and 'Nell.' She's also served as producer or director on

---

Interview with Douglas Starr; Review of Television shows on DVD. June 18, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825711].

Description of show segment(s)

Science writer DOUGLAS STARR. His book, 'Blood: An Epic History of Medicine and Commerce,' inspired the upcoming PBS series 'Red Gold: The Epic Story of Blood.' The four-part production premieres June 23, 2002. Starr is co-director of the Knight Center for Science and Medical Journalism at Boston University. Starr has contributed to many publications including Time, Sports Illustrated, The Los Angeles Times and Smithsonian magazine. TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI discusses the phenomenon of entire seasons of TV shows on DVD, including 'Friends,' 'The X-Files' and 'Sex and the City.'

---

Description of show segment(s)

Actor MATT DAMON. He's touring the country promoting his new film, 'The Bourne Identity,' a thriller about a man with amnesia flushed out of the Mediterranean sea, riddled with bullet holes. DAMON has been in many hit films, including 'The Talented Mr. Ripley,' 'Saving Private Ryan' and 'Good Will Hunting,' which he co-wrote with close friend Ben Affleck. Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Veni Vidi Vicious' from the Swedish rock group The Hives.
Interview with Ahmed Ahmed and Maz Jobrani; Interview with Sheema Kermani; Review of Cornershop's new "Handcream for a Generation." June 20, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973811211].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Stand up comics Ahmed Ahmed (AH-med AH-med) and Maz Jobrani (mazh joe-BRA-nee). Ahmed is Egyptian-American, and Jobrani is Iranian-American. They've changed their routines since September 11th, cracking jokes about attending flight school and the like. Both have had small parts as terrorists in action films. Jobrani was in a Chuck Norris film and Ahmed was Terrorist #4 in Executive Decision. They live in Los Angeles.(2.) Pakistani dancer Sheema Kermani (SHEE-muh Kuhr-MAH-nee). Her performances are rare in Pakistan, and tightly controlled by the government. She practices Indian classical dance, a sensual form of movement that goes against Islamic fundamentalist attitudes toward women and their bodies. Kermani graduated from Croydon College of Art in London and started dancing in Karachi with the Ghanshyan's Dance Troupe. She then went to India to train under several masters of Indian classical dance. She has performed all over the world. She's choreographed two major works. She appears on television and works with the politically oriented Mobile Theater group in Karachi.(3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews Cornershop's new 'Handcream for a Generation.' Cornershop is a British group led by Indian singer-songwriter-producer Tjinder Singh.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer BARRY HANNAH. A native of Mississippi, HANNAH has been writing short stories and novels set in the South for over thirty years. His writing is described as intensely personal, frenetic and comic. Truman Capote once called him 'the maddest writer in the U.S.A.' His first book, the autobiographical novel 'Geronimo Rex' (published in 1972) won the William Faulkner Prize for writing. He followed that with 'Airships' a collection of short stories now considered a classic. He continued to publish more short story collections and novels, though his 2001 novel 'Yonder Stands Your Orphan,' (Grove/Atlantic) now out in paperback, was his first in ten years. HANNAH teaches creative writing at the University of Mississippi. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(Original airdate 7/31/01)(2.) Rock historian ED WARD tells the story of Spark Records, run by the legendary team of Jerry Leiber and Mike Stoller.(3.) We remember poet and essayist JUNE JORDAN. She died on June 14 2002, at age 65, from breast cancer. She was one of the most widely published African-American writers. In her poems and political essays, she addressed issues of racism, oppression and dispossession. She was born in Harlem and grew up in the Bedford-Stuyvesant area of Brooklyn. She taught English at the University of California at Berkeley. (original airdate: 10/17/89)(4.) Film critic Jon Powers reviews 'Minority Report,' the new Steven Spielberg film starring Tom Cruise.

Interview with Laila Ali; Interview with Cherry Jones; Review of Andrea Lee's 'Interesting Women.' June 24, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825650].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Boxer Laila Ali ('LAY-luh ah-LEE'). She's the only one of heavyweight champ Mohammed Ali's nine children to choose a life in the ring. Her recent bout with Jacqui Frazier was the most highly publicized female boxing event ever. She's written an autobiography called 'REACH! Finding Strength, Spirit and Personal Power.' (Hyperion)(2.) Actress CHERRY JONES. She's currently appearing in 'Lysistrata' at the Prince Music Theater in Philadelphia. Jones is a founding member of the American Repertory Theatre and has appeared in 23 A.R.T. productions. She's won Tony, Drama Desk, Outer Critics Circle and Drama League awards. JONES has starred or appeared in many Broadway and Off-Broadway productions. Her film appearances include 'The Perfect Storm,' 'Cradle Will Rock' and the upcoming 'Signs,' directed by M. Night Shyamalan.(3.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'Interesting Women,' the new collection of short stories by Andrea Lee.

Interview with Michael Rezendes and Walter Robinson; Interview with Jeri Laber; Commentary on Fela Kuti. June 25, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825660].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Boston Globe reporters Walter Robinson and Mike Rezendes. They're part of the investigative staff that broke the story of sexual abuse in the Catholic Church. The staff has written a new book about the scandal called 'Betrayal: The Crisis in the Catholic Church.' In January of 2002, the Globe published a two-part series revealing the details of a decades-long cover-up by the Boston Archdiocese. They told how Father Geoghan, a pedophile priest, had been shuttled from parish to parish, and of the millions of dollars of hush money paid to victims to keep the story secret. Rezendes is a staff reporter and Robinson is the team editor.(2.) Human rights leader JERI LABER. She's one of the founders of Helsinki Watch, which eventually became Human Rights Watch. Her new book, The Courage of Strangers: Coming of Age with the Human Rights Movement' is a memoir that is part personal history and part history of the human rights movement. Laber was executive director of Helsinki Watch from 1979 to 1995. She's written many articles for newspapers and magazines. She's been awarded the Order of Merit by President Vaclav Havel on behalf of the Czech Republic, and she's also won the prestigious MacArthur Grant.(3.) Music critic Milo Miles talks about the musical legacy of the late African musician Fela Kuti.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Terrorism expert ROHAN GUNARATNA. His new book is 'Inside Al Qaeda: Global Network of Terror.' Gunaratna spent five years conducting interviews with Al Qaeda, doing field research and monitoring the group's infiltration in communities in North America and Europe. He is the author of six books on armed conflict, and walled to address the United Nations, the U-S Congress and the Australian Parliament after 9/11/01. He is a research fellow at the Centre for the Study of Terrorism and Political Violence, University of St. Andrew's, Scotland. He's lectured worldwide on terrorism and served as consultant to many governments.(2.) Writer JAMES GAVIN. He's written 'Deep in a Dream: The Long Night of Chet Baker.' It's a biography of the jazz trumpeter and vocalist. BAKER came from Oklahoma in the 1950s to become the 'prince of cool jazz' on the West Coast. His death in Amsterdam in 1988 seems to have been drug-related. Gavin provides some answers to the riddle of his death. Gavin is a frequent contributor to the New York Times and other publications.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Musician and actor STEVE VAN ZANDT. He is the guitarist for Bruce Springsteen and the E Street Band. He's also recorded solo and has produced a number of records for other bands. He's written songs for other musicians. He plays hitman Silvio Dante in the hit HBO series 'The Sopranos.' He's also now a radio DJ. His syndicated show, 'Hard Rock Cafe Presents Little Steven's Underground Garage' plays Sunday nights on a number of classic rock stations across the United States. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Columnist ROBERT WOLKE writes the syndicated column 'Food 101' for the Washington Post, which won the James Beard Foundation Award for best newspaper column. He is also the author of the new book, 'What Einstein Told His Cook: Kitchen Science Explained' (W.W. Norton). WOLKE is also professor emeritus of chemistry at the University of Pittsburgh.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Today marks the centennial of the birth of composer Richard Rodgers. He was born on June 28, 1902. Rodgers was one of America's most prolific and best-loved composers. He collaborated with Lorenz Hart on the songs 'My Funny Valentine,' 'The Lady is a Tramp,' 'Blue Moon,' and 'Bewitched.' Later he went on to collaborate with Oscar Hammerstein on the musicals, 'Oklahoma!,' 'Carousel,' 'South Pacific,' 'the King and I,' and 'The Sound of Music.' We'll hear a concert of Rodgers' songs performed by singer REBECCA KILGORE and pianist, singer, and composer DAVE FRISHBERG. (THE CONCERT CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW). (REBROADCAST FROM 5/13/2002)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) PETER HUCHTHAUSEN, (‘hoocht-HOW-zen’) author of the book 'K19: The Widowmaker: the Secret Story of the Soviet Nuclear Submarine.' The true story of a barely averted catastrophe aboard the nuclear powered submarine has been adapted into a film of the same name starring Harrison Ford. Huchthausen served as technical director on the film. On July 4, 1961, the sub was taking part in a military exercise in the North Atlantic. A pipeline in a reactor's cooling system ruptured. In a race against time, the crew worked to improvise a repair. Until now, the story has been kept secret. Huchthausen is a retired U-S Navy captain who served as naval attache? in Moscow from 1987 to 1990. The movie opens nationwide on July 19, 2002.(2.) Writer GARY SHTEYNGART (‘SHTINE-gart’). His debut novel, 'The Russian Debutante's Handbook,' is receiving critical acclaim. The main character of the book, like Shteyngart, is a Russian-American Jew who emigrated to the US as a child. In a New York Times Magazine cover article, Daniel Zalewski wrote,'Gary Shteyngart has rewritten the classic immigrant narrative ? starring a sarcastic slacker instead of a grateful striver. And after all his parents have done for him!'

Interview with Charles Granata and Didier Deutsch; Review of David Bowie's 'Heathen' and Bryan Ferry's 'Frantic.' July 3, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825808].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Record producers CHARLES GRANATA and DIDIER DEUTSCH have collaborated on the new CD box set, "Frank Sinatra In Hollywood (1940-1964)" (Reprise records/Turner Classic movies) which collects Sinatra's film recordings - many of them rare. In fact only ten percent of the 160 tracks included on the collection have been released before. GRANATA is a Sinatra historian and author of "Sessions with Sinatra: Frank Sinatra And the Art of Recording" (A Capella Books, 1999). He was Project Director for the box set: "Frank Sinatra: The Best of the Columbia Years 1943-1952." DEUTSCH is a music producer and historian and is author of "MusicHound's Soundtracks" (Visible Ink Press, 2000) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Rock critic Ken Tucker reviews new albums from David Bowie ('Heathen') and Bryan Ferry ('Frantic').

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Director of the Louis Armstrong House & Archives, MICHAEL COGSWELL. The archive contains 5000 photographs, 350 pages of autobiographical manuscripts, 270 sets of manuscripts band parts, 650 home-made tape recordings and more. We'll hear excerpts from the tapes. COGSWELL is in the process of converting the Louis Armstrong House in Queens, where Louis and his wife Lucille lived for almost thirty years, into a museum and educational center. The House is expected to open in 2002. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (original airdate: 8/2/01)(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews three re-releases from a massive CTI Records reissue.(3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Lovely Bones,' a debut novel by Alice Sebold.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We remember the great singer ROSEMARY CLOONEY, who died Saturday. We'll hear a concert and interview taped before a live audience in San Francisco on January 18th, 1997, as part of the City Arts & Lectures series. CLOONEY sings some of her best-known songs, accompanied by a quintet directed by John Oddo. She also talks with Terry about her life. (THIS CONCERT CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).(Original airdate: 2/11/97)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We remember film director JOHN FRANKENHEIMER. His films include "The Manchurian Candidate," "French Connection 2," and "The Birdman of Alcatraz." He died this past Saturday, at the age of 72. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 3/06/90) (2.) We remember poet KENNETH KOCH. He died this past Saturday at the age of 77. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 10/23/87) (2.) DJ and hip hop forefather GRAND MASTER FLASH. At the dawn of hip hop, he recorded with the Furious Five. Their hits included 'The Message' and 'White Lines (Don't Do it)'. Nearly 3 decades ago, Flash created the 'Quick Mix Theory,' the process of blending one music break with another. His chose the songs for the new CD, 'Essential Mix: Classic Edition.' It includes a collection of 70s and 80s dance songs.

Interview with Barry Sonnenfeld; Commentary on the Pledge of Allegiance. July 9, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825812].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director BARRY SONNENFELD. His latest movie is 'Men in Black 2,' the sequel to his film 'Men in Black.' Both films star Will Smith and Tommy Lee Jones. SONNENFELD's other films include 'Wild Wild West,' 'Get Shorty,' and 'The Addams Family.' Before directing, he worked as a cinematographer. He did three films with the Coen brothers? 'Blood Simple,' 'Raising Arizona,' and 'Miller's Crossing,' and he also shot 'Misery,' 'When Harry Met Sally...,' and 'Big.'(2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the Pledge of Allegiance.

Interview with David Zangen and Radgonde Amer; Interview with Alice Sebold. July 10, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825814].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. DAVID ZANGEN, senior pediatrician, and DR. RADGONDE AMER, an ophthalmologist at Hadassah Hospital in Jerusalem. They are part of the group of Arab and Jewish doctors who work side by side at the hospital treating victims of suicide bombings and of the Israeli military actions. (2.) Novelist ALICE SEBOLD. She's the author of the new book, 'The Lovely Bones' (Little, Brown and Company) which was reviewed last week on Fresh Air. She's also the author of the memoir, 'Lucky.' (Scribner)
Interview with Tony Shalhoub; Interview with Andy Breckman; Interview with Nicole Holofcener; Interview with Catherine Keener; Review of the Byrds' album "Preflyte." July 11, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825807].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer/Executive producer ANDY BRECKMAN of the new USA Network series, 'Monk' about a detective with an obsessive compulsive disorder. (Premieres Friday, July 12, 2002). It stars actor Tony Shalhoub. BRECKMAN was one of the original writers of 'Late Night with David Letterman.' He's also worked on and off with 'Saturday Night Live.' And he's written screenplays for 'I.Q.,' 'Sgt. Bilko,' and 'Rat Race.' (2.) Actor TONY SHALHOUB ('shaw-loob') plays the obsessive compulsive detective Adrian Monk in the USA Network series 'Monk.' His films include, 'The Man Who Wasn't There,' 'Spy Kids,' 'Searching for Bobby Fischer,' 'Men in Black,' and 'Men in Black Two,' 'Big Night,' 'Barton Fink,' and 'Honeymoon in Vegas.' He was a regular on the long running sitcom 'Wings.' (3.) Writer/director NICOLE HOLOFCENER. Her new film 'Lovely and Amazing' is a comedy about the insecurities that many women have about their appearance. It stars Catherine Keener, Brenda Blethyn, and Dermot Mulroney. HOLOFCENER also wrote the screenplay for the film 'Walking and Talking.' (4.) Actress CATHERINE KEENER was nominated for an Academy Award for her role in 'Being John Malkovich.' Recently she starred in 'Death to Smoochy.' She also starred in the independent films 'The Real Blonde,' 'Walking and Talking,' and 'Living in Oblivion.' She's currently starring in 'Lovely and Amazing.' (5.) Rock historian EDWARD reviews 'Preflyte' (Sundazed Records, 2-CD set) recordings of early rehearsals of The Byrds.

Interview with Stephen Sondheim; Interview with Paul Gemignani; Interview with Stephen Sondheim; Review of the film "Road to perdition." July 12, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825809].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The Kennedy Center in Washington D.C. is in the midst of a festival of STEPHEN SONDHEIM musicals (www.kennedy-center.org). 'Company,' 'Sweeney Todd,' and 'Sunday in the Park with George' have already been featured. Still to be staged are 'A Little Night Music,' 'Merrily We Roll Along,' and 'Passion.' We rebroadcast our interview with composer and lyricist STEPHEN SONDHEIM. He discusses his work on 'West Side Story' (for which he wrote lyrics), 'Gypsy' (lyrics), and his own musical 'Sweeney Todd.' SONDHEIM learned his craft from Oscar Hammerstein, who was a neighbor and surrogate father. to him. (REBROADCAST from 11/10/88).(2.) Broadway music director PAUL GEMIGNANI (gem-in-YAWN-knee). He's been the musical director of almost every Stephen Sondheim work over the last 30 years. His other productions include 'Kiss Me, Kate,' 'Crazy for You,' and 'High Society.' Last year he received a lifetime achievement award at the Tony Awards. (REBROADCAST from 5/30/01) (3.) Composer STEPHEN SONDHEIM from an interview recorded in 2000. (rebroadcast from 9/14/2000)(4.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews the new film 'Road to Perdition' directed by Sam Mendes, starring Tom Hanks, Paul Newman, Jude Law, and Jennifer Jason Leigh.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pioneering Bluegrass musician RALPH STANLEY. His 'high-lonesome' vocals and claw-hammer bango picking are considered cornerstones of American bluegrass music. He and his older brother Carter were the Stanley Brothers until Carter's death in 1966. Recently RALPH came to wider popular acclaim when his music was featured on the triple platinum soundtrack of the movie 'O Brother Where Art Thou?' He won two Grammys this year for his performance of 'O Death' on the O Brother record. At age 75, Stanley has a just released his first solo album, a self-titled CD and continues to tour. He's recorded over 170 albums in total, and has been performing continuously since 1946. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Why I Am a Catholic' (Houghton Mifflin) by Pulitzer prize-winning author Garry Wills.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Professor of Islamic law at the University of Southern California at Los Angeles KHALED ABOU EL FADL ('HAH-led ah-BOO ill FAHD-el') He's the author of a number of books including, 'Conference of the Books: The Search for Beauty in Islam' (University Press of America) a collection of essays about the problems and challenges that confront Muslims in the contemporary world. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) LEO LITWAK ('lit-WALK')is a retired
San Francisco State University Professor of English. He's the author of the new memoir, 'The Medic: Life and Death in the Last Days of World War II.' (Penguin books). LITWAK was a 19 year old medic. One reviewer writes '[A] book that should be given to every schoolboy in the country at the age of thirteen... the Medic teaches us so much, makes clear that sometimes the monsters in war are not only the enemy.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DAVID KERTZER is the author of 'The Popes Against the Jews: The Vatican's Role in the Rise of Modern Anti-Semitism' (Knopf). In the book he focuses on the time period from Napolean to Hitler, and how 'traditional' Catholic forms of dealing with Jews became transformed into modern anti-Semitism. KERTZER is Paul Dupee, Jr. University Professor of Social Studies and a professor of anthropology and Italian Studies at Brown University. He's also the author of 'The Kidnapping of Edgardo Mortara' about a six-year old Jewish boy in Italy who in 1858 was taken from his family, secretly baptized, and sent to live in a Catholic household. (2.) Journalist JON COHEN writes for Science Magazine. He just got back from the 16th International AIDS conference where he reported on the AIDS vaccine and anti-HIV drug therapies. His article 'Designer Bugs' in the July/August edition of The Atlantic Monthly is about how scientists have the ability to create synthetic viruses in the lab, like mousepox and just recently ? polio - and the controversies and dangers this presents.

Interview with Steve Erlanger; Interview with Marcelo Gleiser; Review of the television show "Donahue." July 18, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825653].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist STEVE ERLANGER is the Berlin Bureau Chief for the New York Times. He'll talk about European reaction to the Bush administration? its planned invasion of Iraq, and its position on the middle east, and its response to September 11th. And about how the European union is changing the lives of Europeans. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Brazilian physicist MARCELO GLEISER ('Mar-SELL-o GLY-sir') is the author of the new book, 'The Prophet and the Astronomer: A Scientific Journey to the End of Time' (WW Norton). In it he explores our relationship to the sky and how it has influenced religion and then in turn - science. He writes, 'one of my goals. . is to humanize science, to argue that our scientific ideas are very much a product of the cultural and emotional environment where they originate.' GLEISER is Professor of Natural Philosophy and professor of physics and astronomy at Dartmouth College. (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'Donahue' the new show on MSNBC weeknights hosted by Phil Donahue.

Interview with Sarah Jessica Parker; Interview with Michael Patrick King; Review of the film "K-19 July 19, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825503].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The HBO hit series 'Sex and the City,' begins a new season July 21st. We'll hear from two people involved with the show: Actress SARAH JESSICA PARKER. She was just nominated for an Emmy for Outstanding Lead Actress in a Comedy Series. She's been acting for most of her life, including playing Annie on Broadway, the young bimbo in "L.A. Story," and a fed-up fiancee in "Honeymoon in Vegas." This is her fifth season starring in "Sex and the City," as Carrie, a columnist who writes about the sexual mores of New Yorkers. Terry recorded this interview with PARKER live before an audience at Martha's Vineyard in July 2001. (REBROADCAST from 8/1/01).(2.) Writer and executive producer of 'Sex and the City,' MICHAEL PATRICK KING. The show was just nominated for ten Emmys including Outstanding Comedy Series, and Outstanding Casting for a Comedy Series. He has also written for the television series, 'Murphy Brown,' and acted as a consultant for the hit series, 'Will and Grace.' (REBROADCAST from 1/22/02)(3.) Film critic HENRY SHEEHAN reviews 'K-19' the new submarine movie starring Harrison Ford and Liam Neeson.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) British actor TERENCE STAMP. He's best known for his roles in the 1960s films 'Billy Budd,' and 'The Collector' in which he played a sociopathic entomologist. He also was in 'Far from the Madding Crowd.' After working with Fellini in Italy and with other Italian directors, he took a nine year hiatus. He returned to the screen in 'The Adventures of Priscilla, Queen of the Desert' and recently in 'The Limey.'
His latest film is 'My Wife Is an Actress' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Folklorist ALAN LOMAX. He died Friday, July 19th at the age of 87. He spent more than a half century recording the folk music and customs of the world. His efforts spurred folk revivals in the U.S. and across Europe. In the U.S. he was responsible for priceless recordings of Leadbelly (who Lomax first recorded in prison), Woody Guthrie, Jelly Roll Morton, and many others. A 1959 recording he made of Mississippi prisoner James Carter singing the work song 'Po'Lazarus' was the opening song for the soundtrack of the film 'O Brother, Where Art Thou?' Many of Lomax's recordings have been reissued on Rounder Record's 100-CD series, the Lomax Collection. (REBROADCAST from 7/9/90)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist CHAIM POTOK died today at the age of 73. He had cancer. POTOK was raised in the Orthodox Jewish tradition, was ordained as a rabbi, and later became a best-selling author of the novels, 'The Chosen,' 'The Promise,' and 'My Name is Asher Lev.' Much of his writing had to do with the conflict between spiritual and secular worlds, a subject that earned him readers from all faiths. (REBROADCAST from 1986)(2.) SHAWN LEVY is the author of the new book 'Ready Steady, Go!: The Smashing Rise and Giddy Fall of Swinging London' (Doubleday). It's about the time period in London 1961-1969. He writes, 'for those few evanescent years it all came together: youth, pop music, fashion, celebrity, satire, crime, fine art, sexuality, scandal, theater, cinema, drugs, media: the whole mad modern stew.' LEVY is also the author of "Rat Pack Confidential: Frank, Dean, Sammy, Peter, Joey & the Last Great Showbiz Party," and the biography, "King of Comedy: The Life and Art of Jerry Lewis." (3.) Songwriter MATT DENNIS. He died Sunday at the age of 88. He wrote the songs "Angel Eyes," "Everything Happens to Me," and "Let's Get Away From it All." In the 1940s he worked with Tommy Dorsey as an arranger and vocal coach when he wrote his biggest hits. (REBROADCAST from 12/12/95)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times investigative reporter KURT EICHENWALD ('EYE-kin-WALD'). He covered the Enron scandal for the paper as well as related scandals. He's written about white-collar crime and corporate corruption for the Times for more than a decade. Eichenwald is a two-time winner of the prestigious George Polk award for excellence in journalism. He's also the author of 'The Informant,' about the Archer Daniels Midland Corporation (Random House). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Adult World' the new solo album by Wayne Kramer.

---

Interview with Wes Anderson; Review of Wayne Shorter's "Footprints live!!" Interview with Robert Evans; Review of the film "Read my lips." July 26, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825504].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director WES ANDERSON. He co-wrote and produced the critically-acclaimed and popular film 'The Royal Tenenbaums,' which has just been released on video and DVD. The film stars Gene Hackman, Anjelica Huston, Billy Murray, Wyneth Paltrow and Ben Stiller. ANDERSON also co-wrote and directed 'Bottle Rocket' and 'Rushmore.' (REBROADCAST from 12/13/01)(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Footprints live!' (Verve) the new recording by saxophonist and composer Wayne Shorter.(3.) Legendary producer ROBERT EVANS. He ran Paramount Studios from 1966-1974 and brought to the screen the films: "The Odd Couple", "Love Story", "Chinatown," "Rosemary's Baby," "Harold and Maude, and "The Godfather." He was discovered poolside in 1956 when his good lucks and charm captured the eye of screen legend Norma Shearer. She offered him a film role and he acted for a few years before taking up producing. He published his memoir "The Kid Stays in the Picture" in 1994. There's now a new documentary based on his memoir. The documentary, "The Kid Stays in the Picture" was premiered at this year's Sundance Film Festival. It's now being released to theatres. (REBROADCAST from 9/7/94)(4.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews the new French thriller 'Read My Lips.'

Description of show segment(s)

1. Pianist and singer MICHAEL FEINSTEIN ('FINE-STINE'). His repertoire is American popular song. Early in his career he was an assistant to Ira Gershwin. He's also a collector of vintage recordings and musical memorabilia especially that of the 1920s thru the 1940s. In the Fall he plans to release a collection of radio duets by Bing Crosby and Rosemary Clooney, on his new record label Feinery. Recently Rhino records released an anthology of FEINSTEIN's recordings. FEINSTEIN will also be touring in the U.S. in August with the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra. They have a new CD 'Michael Feinstein and the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra' (Concord). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

1. Investigative reporter MICHAEL BERENS (BEAR-ins). He writes for the Chicago Tribune. His series of articles (July 21-23) is about the epidemic of life-threatening infections that occur in America's hospitals. He reports that infection rates are soaring and they are exacerbated by hospital cutbacks and carelessness by doctors and nurses. Deaths caused by hospital germs are now the fourth leading cause of mortality among Americans, and can largely be prevented. Plus the problem is often kept secret by hospitals and it persists because of a lack of government oversight. (2.) Veteran registered nurses KIM ARMSTRONG and AUDREY LUDMER ('Lud' as in 'dud'). ARMSTRONG is currently working in obstetrics with high risk labor and delivery in the Seattle-area. LUDMER works in the peri-op care center for endoscopy patients. She works in the Manhatten area. Both will talk about how the nursing shortage and hospital cutbacks have affected hospital health care. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Prague' (Random House) the debut novel by Arthur Phillips Interview with David Milch, Aaron Sorkin and Stephen; Interview with Peter Leschak; Review of Bruce Springsteen's new album "The Rising" Gaghan." July 31, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825752].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) In June the Writers Guild Foundation held its 2002 Film and Television Writers Forum, called 'Words into Pictures.' The forum focused on the role of the writer in film and television. We feature highlights from the forum. We hear a panel discussion moderated by Tavis Smiley, host of NPR's The Tavis Smiley Show. Participants include writers David Milch ('NYPD Blue'), Stephen Gaghan (the film 'Traffic') and Aaron Sorkin ('The West Wing'). (2.) Freelance firefighter PETER LESCHAK ('LESS-CHECK') has battled forest fires in the Northwoods and the West for over 20 years. He's written several works of nonfiction as well as a memoir, 'Hellroaring.' His new book is 'Ghost of the Fireground: Echoes of the Great Peshtigo Fire and the Calling of a Wildland Firefighter.' (HarperSanFrancisco). It's about the 1871 wildfire in Peshtigo, Wisconsin which was the deadliest fire in North American history. Coincidentally it started the very day and hour as the Great Chicago Fire.(3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'The Rising' (Sony) the new CD by Bruce Springsteen, inspired by the events of September 11th.

Interview with Max Allan Collins; Interview with Sam Mendes; Commentary on language. August 1, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825754].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer MAX ALLAN COLLINS. His graphic novel 'Road to Perdition' is the basis for the film of the same name. Mickey Spillane said of the novel, 'I know mysteries, and I know comics ? and Road to Perdition is one great ride!' COLLINS twice won the Private Eye Writers of America's Shamus award for his Nathaniel Heller historical thrillers, 'True Detective' and 'Stolen Away.' His comics credits include Dick Tracy, Batman, Ms. Tree and Mike Danger. (2.) Director SAM MENDES. He made his feature film debut in 1999 with 'American Beauty' which won an Academy Award for Best Picture. MENDES also won an Oscar for directing. Prior to that MENDES made his mark directing theatre productions in London (revival of 'Cabaret' and 'The Rise and Fall of Little Voice')and on Broadway ('The Blue Room'). He directed the new film 'Road to Perdition' starring Tom Hanks, Paul Newman and Jude Law.(3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG reflects on the words 'hero' and 'legend.'
Interview with Charlie Haden; Review of the film "Full frontal." August 2, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825720].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Next week (Aug 6) jazz bassist CHARLIE HADEN turns 65. As a child he sang with his family on their country music radio show. Later he worked with Ornette Coleman when Coleman's music created controversy and sometimes provoked a violent response by listeners. HADEN has also worked with Art Pepper and Paul Bley, and he's recorded with many artists including Abbey Lincoln, Bill Frisell, Joshua Redman, Ricki Lee Jones, and more. HADEN's own groups include the Liberation Music Orchestra and Quartet West, which he formed to play music of the 1940s and early 50s. He has many albums to his credit. His latest is 'Nocturne' (2001, Verve) with Gonzalo Rubalcaba. (REBROACASTS from 1985, 5/29/96, and 10/7/99)(WE CONTINUE WITH MORE CHARLIE HADEN IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Film critic Henry Sheehan reviews 'Full Frontal,' the new Steven Soderbergh film starring Julia Roberts, Blair Underwood and David Duchovny.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. ELAINE ABRAMS and DR. STEPHEN NICHOLAS are pediatricians who work with babies born with HIV. DR. ABRAMS is the Director of the Family Care Center at Harlem Hospital Center, and DR. NICHOLAS is the Director of Pediatrics there. They treated the first wave of babies infected with HIV at the height of the epidemic in Harlem in the 1980s. While many of the children have died, some have survived into adolescence. ABRAMS and NICHOLAS have studied the effects of the virus on these kids' physical and mental health as well as the toll on the community. Some of the children spent years in the hospital. They've been dubbed 'boarder babies.'(2.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews 'Downhome Sophisticate' the new CD by Corey Harris.
Interview with Robert Rodriguez; Review of the album set 'Elaine Stritch at Liberty'; Review of the television show 'The Anna Nicole Show.' August 6, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825756].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film maker ROBERT RODRIGUEZ. He's literally THE man behind the family adventure films 'Spy Kids' and 'Sky Kids 2.' His list of credits include: writer/director/producer/director of photography/production designer/editor/visual effects supervisor/sound designer/re-recording mixer/and composer. His first feature film was 'El Mariachi' which he made in 1993 for {dollar}7,000. It won the Audience Award for best dramatic film at the Sundance Film Festival and was the first American film released in Spanish. He wrote a book about making El Mariachi, 'Rebel Without a Crew.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the new 2-CD album set 'Elaine Stritch at Liberty' (DRG label) a live recording from Stritch's recent one-person show.(3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI on the desperate way the networks try to attract viewers, and 'The Anna Nicole Show,' E! cable channel's new reality show.

Interview with Thomas Ricks; Interview with Tom Reese. August 7, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825721].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist THOMAS RICKS covers the military for The Washington Post. Last week the Senate held hearings on a military action against Iraq. RICKS will discuss the possible scenarios for the U.S. toppling of Saddam Hussein, and the likelihood of such an action. RICKS has also reported on U.S. military activities in Somalia, Haiti, Korea, Kuwait, the Persian Gulf, and Afghanistan. Prior to joining the Post, RICKS wrote about the military for the Wall Street Journal. He's also the author of the novel, 'A Soldier's Duty' (Random House, June 2001) about a U.S. military intervention in Afghanistan. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) THOMAS REESE is a Jesuit scholar and Editor-in-Chief of 'America' the national Catholic weekly magazine. He's also the author of the book, 'Inside the Vatican: The Politics and Organization of the Catholic Church' (Harvard University Press). He'll discuss the Pope's recent tour, the Pontiff's health, his successor, and the divide between the church and its parishioners. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Thomas Von Essen; Interview with Dennis McNally; Interview with Joelle Fraser.
August 8, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825753].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Fire Commissioner of New York City, THOMAS VON ESSEN. He led the department thru the September 11th attacks, and during rescue and early recovery efforts. During the attacks, the department lost 343 men, many of them VON ESSEN's friends and colleagues. VON ESSEN stepped down as Fire Commissioner on December 31, 2001. He's written a new memoir (with Matt Murray), 'Strong of Heart: Life and Death in the Fire Department of New York' (Reganbooks)(2.) DENNIS MCNALLY is the band the Grateful Dead's publicist, and official historian. He's also the author of the new book, 'A Long Strange Trip: The Inside History of the Grateful Dead' (Broadway Books). He is also author of the book, 'Desolate Angel: Jack Kerouac, the Beat Generation.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES AFTER THE FLOATER)(3.) Writer JOELLE FRASER. She's written a new memoir about growing up in the mid-sixties San Francisco, the daughter of a flower child and a surfer: 'The Territory of Men' (Villard)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES AFTER THE FLOATER)

Interview with John Waters; Interview with Divine; Review of the film "Blood work." August 9, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825722].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker JOHN WATERS. His 1988 film 'Hairspray' (his first mainstream studio film) has been made into a musical. It stars Harvey Fierstein in the role originated by Divine. It's currently in previews and opens August 15th on Broadway. WATERS other films include 'Cecil B. Demented' about an underground filmmaker and his cult-following who declare war on bad cinema by kidnapping a starlet and forcing her to star in their own film; "Pecker" about a young amateur photographer who becomes the darling of the New York art world; "Cry Baby," a juvenile delinquent love story set in the 1950's. Before he went mainstream, WATERS made the independent, off-beat films "Pink Flamingos," "Female Trouble," and "Polyester." (REBROADCAST from 2/8/88) (2.) DIVINE, the late leading lady of John Waters' films. Born Harris Glen Milstead, the 300-pound transvestite passed away in March of 1988, shortly after starring in John Waters' first big budget studio film, "Hairspray." He was 42. Divine was an integral part of Waters' ensemble cast, appearing in all his earlier films except "Desperate Living." Divine and Waters knew each other from childhood. It was Waters' movie "Pink Flamingoes” that made Divine famous, because he ate dog feces (yes, real feces) at the end of the film. Divine also made two films independent of Waters, playing a male gangster in "Trouble in Mind," and Tab Hunter's love interest in "Lust in the Dust." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (REBROADCAST from 2/23/88). (3.) Another JOHN WATERS interview recorded in 2000 (8/1/00). (4.) DAVID EDELSTEIN is movie critic for the online magazine Slate. He reviews the new Clint Eastwood film, 'Blood Work.'

Interview with James Martin; Review of Mark Edmundson's new memoir, "Teacher August 12, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825755].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) FATHER JAMES MARTIN is associate editor of 'America' the national Catholic magazine. He's written a new memoir, 'Searching for God at Ground Zero,' (Sheed & Ward) about the days following the September 11th attacks when he abandoned his editing duties to go and be with the rescue workers at the site of the ruined World Trade Center. He's also the author of a memoir about his spiritual journey from the corporate world to the priesthood: 'In Good Company: The Fast Track from the Corporate World to Poverty, Chastity and Obedience' (paperback, Sheed & Ward). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the new memoir, 'Teacher: The One Who Made the Difference' (Random House) by Mark Edmundson.

Interview with Olivia Judson; Interview with Barry Clifford; Review of Illinois Jacquet's 'Jumpin' at the Apollo.' August 13, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825757].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Evolutionary biologist and journalist OLIVIA JUDSON. In her new guide to the evolutionary biology of sex, JUDSON, explores the sex lives of animals and insects. Posing as Dr. Tatiana, sex-advice columnist, she answers 'letters' posted by such creatures as the fairy wren, the stalk-eyed fly, and the African elephant. Her new book is 'Dr. Tatiana's Sex Advice to All Creation.' (Metropolitan books). JUDSON has also written for 'The Economist,' 'Nature,' and 'Science.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Writer, explorer, and deep-sea diver BARRY
CLIFFORD. His new book is 'The Lost Fleet: The Discovery of a Sunken Armada from the Golden Age of Piracy' (William Morrow). The lost fleet was a group of French ships which sank in 1678 on the reef of Las Aves island, one hundred miles off the Venezuelan coast. The fleet as well as a small pirate army was shipwrecked. The event launched 'the golden age of piracy' that plagued maritimers for fifty years. CLIFFORD researched the disaster, and was part of the team that located the armada. CLIFFORD's previous book is 'Expedition Whydah.' His explorations have been the subject of documentaries by the BBC, the National Geographic Society and PBS. (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the reissue 'Jumpin' at the Apollo' (Delmark) featuring saxophonist Illinois Jacquet.

Interview with Nick Cook; Interview with John W. Jones; Review of Raphael Saadiq's first solo album Instant Vintage. August 14, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825745].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Aerospace consultant NICK COOK, author of the new book, 'The Hunt for Zero Point: Inside the Classified World of Antigravity Technology.' (Broadway Books/Random House) In the book, Cook tracks down the secret history of anti-gravity research. It's technology that defies the laws of physics. Cook discovered that during WWII, the Nazis claimed to have been close to antigravity technology. The US government allegedly conducted antigravity research in the 1950s and 60s. Cook is former Aviation Editor for the military affairs journal, Jane's Defense Weekly.(2.) Artist JOHN W. JONES. While working at a blueprint shop in Charleston, South Carolina, a customer brought in some Confederate money to order a blowup. The imagery shocked Jones. The money showed slaves. Jones began to collect the brown and gray money with slaves picking cotton, corn and tobacco and loading barrels cheerfully. He then created large scale full color paintings based on the images. The art is now on display at America's Black Holocaust Museum in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.(3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Instant Vintage' the first solo album from Raphael Saadiq (ra-fye-EL sah-DEEK), formerly of the R & B group Tony Toni Tone.
Interview with Eric Klinenberg; Interview with Dave Attell; Commentary on Murco Records. August 15, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825744].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Professor ERIC KLINENBERG. His new book is 'Heat Wave: A Social Autopsy of Disaster in Chicago.' It's about a 1995 heat wave in that city which proved to be an insidious natural disaster. Streets buckled, electric power blew, and over 700 people died. Klinenberg is an associate professor of Sociology at New York University.(2.) Comedian DAVE ATTELL (ah-TELL). He's the host of Comedy Central's 'Insomniac with Dave Attell.' It airs Wednesday nights at 10:30 pm. Attell explores American after-hours culture, traveling to many cities to film his show.(3.) Rock historian ED WARD profiles Murco Records, an obscure label out of Shreveport, Louisiana.

Interview with Peter Guralnick; Interview with Sam Phillips; Interview with DJ Fontana; Interview with Scotty Moore; Review of the film "Blue Crush." August 16, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825740].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Music writer PETER GURALNICK on part one of his biography of Elvis Presley, retelling the story of the King's childhood "soberly, thoroughly and unsensationally" (says the ALA Booklist). "Last Train to Memphis: The Rise of Elvis Presley" (now in paperback) tells much of the story through quotes both from Elvis and people who knew him then. It attempts to portray Elvis' human side, rather than the mythical figure he has become. (REBROADCAST from 10/4/94)(2.) Sun Studios founder SAM PHILLIPS. He is revered as one of the leading catalysts in post WW II American music. As a record producer in the 1950s and 60s his recordings launched the careers of Elvis Presley, Carl Perkins, and Jerry Lee Lewis and that's just to name a few. (REBROADCAST from 3/16/94)(3.) D.J. FONTANA, a member of the band The Sun Rhythm Section. D.J. FONTANA was the drummer on Elvis Presley's early hits.(REBROADCAST from 6/26/87). (4.) Music writer PETER GURALNICK on volume two of his biography of Elvis Presley. "Careless Love: The Unmaking of Elvis Presley." (Little, Brown and Company). Part One of his biography is, "Last Train to Memphis." (REBROADCAST from 1/11/99) (5.) Guitarist and record producer SCOTTY MOORE, was Elvis Presley's first guitarist and manager and one of the early influences of the rock guitar sound. He co-wrote an account of his work with the King of Rock'n'Roll, entitled "That's Alright, Elvis." (Schirmer Books) (REBROADCAST from 7/29/97)(6.)
DAVID EDELSTEIN is movie critic for the online magazine Slate. He reviews the new film about women surfers, 'Blue Crush.'

---

Interview with Richard Russo; Obituary for Larry Rivers. August 19, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825746].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist RICHARD RUSSO. He won a Pulitzer Prize for his novel 'Empire Falls' which was also a national bestseller. His subject matter is working-class unpretentious people, but as one reviewer writes he transforms 'every day people and seemingly ordinary events - into the quintessential.' He's written five novels in all, including 'Mohawk,' 'The Risk Pool,' and 'Nobody's Fool' (which was made into a film starring Paul Newman). His latest book is a collection of stories, 'The Whore's Child and Other Stories.' (Knopf). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) We remember painter LARRY RIVERS. He died August 14th at the age of 78. The cause was cancer of the liver. The Corcoran Gallery in Washington DC recently ran the first major retrospective of Rivers' work, covering five decades of his output (it ends August 19th). RIVERS has been called the father of Pop Art, and is considered one of the most important artists in the figurative tradition. He was part of a loosely knit association of poets and painters who were young, poor and ambitious in New York in the 50's. RIVERS also was a jazz saxophonist, he appeared on camera and stage, did heavy drugs, and had an unashamed interest in sexuality that went from unconventional entanglements with both sexes to conventional participation in marriage and family life. (Original airdate: 10/27/92)

---

Interview with Wayne Kramer; Commentary on language. August 20, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825737].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Guitarist, singer, songwriter WAYNE KRAMER. In the late 1960s he founded the MC5, a Detroit band considered to be the prototype for punk rock. By 1972 the band had burned out. In between then and now, KRAMER did time in jail for drugs, teamed up with Don and David Was to found the group Was (Not Was), and began a solo career. His new solo album is 'Adult World' (Muscletone records).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ABC news correspondent JOHN MILLER. He is one of few western reporters to interview Osama bin Laden, which he did in 1998. He's collaborated on the new book, 'The Cell: Inside the 9/11 Plot, and Why the FBI and CIA Failed to Stop It.' (Hyperion). In the book they retrace the movements of al-Qaeda leading up to the September 11th attacks. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the new 13-CD collection of recordings by pianist Maurizio Pollini: 'Maurizio Pollini Edition' (Deutsche Grammophon).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Screenwriter MIKE WHITE. He wrote and starred in the independent film 'Chuck & Buck.' His latest film is 'The Good Girl' which stars Jennifer Aniston. WHITE also wrote for the TV shows 'Dawson's Creek,' and 'Freaks and Geeks.' (2.) Actress CYNTIA NIXON is one of the stars of HBO's 'Sex and the City.' She plays Miranda Hobbes, a corporate lawyer who is also a new mother in the current season of the show. NIXON recently starred in the Broadway production of the classic 1930 Clare Boothe Luce play, 'The Women.' She also appeared at the age of 18 in the broadway plays 'Hurlyburly,' and 'The Real Thing.' She's a founding member of the Drama Dept., an Off-Broadway theater company. Her film roles inclue, 'Amadeus,' 'Prince of the City,' 'The Pelican Brief,' and 'The Out-of-Towners.'(3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Artificial Silk Girl' (Other Press) the 1932 German novel written by Irmgard Keun which has just been newly translated and published.
Interview with Michael C. Hall; Commentary on language; Interview with James Earl Jones; Review of the film "Mostly Martha." August 23, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825738].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor MICHAEL C. HALL. He plays David Fisher, the gay brother who co-runs a funeral home on the HBO hit 'Six Feet Under.' It's is first TV role. Hall comes to TV from the stage. He's currently starring as Billy Flynn, an oily attorney in the Broadway revival of 'Chicago.' Recently, he was on Broadway as the emcee in 'Cabaret.' Prior to that role, he was in a number of off-Broadway productions.(2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the word 'greed.'(3.) Actor JAMES EARL JONES. His is one of the distinctive voices of our time, yet few people know he fights a stutter; JONES' stage work off-Broadway in Jean Genet's "The Blacks" and Athol Fugard's "The Blood Knot" lead to a Broadway success in "The Great White Way", for which JONES won a Tony. His work in August Wilson's "Fences" won him another. It took one day to record the voice track for Darth Vader in "Star Wars": a performance which lead to many other commercial voice-over projects. A new edition of his memoir "Voices and Silences" has just been published.(4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new foreign film 'Mostly Martha.'

Interview with Barry Mann and Cynthia Weil; Interview with Leslie Gore; Interview with Bobby Vee. August 26, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825741].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Husband and wife song writing team, BARRY MANN and CYNTHIA WEIL, the duo responsible for such songs as 'You've Lost that Loving Feeling,' 'On Broadway,' 'We Gotta Get Out of This Place,' 'Here You Come Again,' 'Don't Know Much,' and more. The two met when they were both working in the famous songwriting landmark, the Brill Building? MANN as a composer and WEIL as a lyricist. The two have been writing ever since. In edition to their many pop hits, MANN and WEIL have also written songs for films. (REBROADCAST from 7/18/00). (2.) Singer LESLIE GORE. In 1963, when she was only 16, Leslie Gore recorded one of the greatest songs in rock and roll history, "It's My Party, and I'll Cry If I Want To." Gore has stayed in the business since the 60s, and she's currently appearing at the New York City club, "Rainbow and Stars." Rhino records released a two record retrospective of her greatest hits in 1991. (REBROADCAST from 10/25/91)(3.) Pop singer BOBBY VEE. He was one of the big hitmakers of the 60's with such songs as "Devil or Angel, 'Take Good Care of my Baby,' 'The Night has a Thousand Eyes,' 'Rubber Ball,' 'Run to Him,' and 'Come Back When You Grow Up.' He got his start at the age of 15 when his band filled in for Buddy Holly at the concert Holly failed to appear at because of his death in a plane crash. VEE released a tribute recording to Holly in 1999. (REBROADCAST from 2/1/99)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer RONNIE SPECTOR. In the 1960s she was a member of the girl group, 'The Ronettes.' They were already making records with a different label when producer Phil Spector signed them and turned them into hit makers. Their songs include 'Be My Baby,' 'Baby, I Love You,' and 'Walking in the Rain.' RONNIE married Phil Spector, but the marriage ended in divorce. (REBROADCAST from 8/31/87)(2.) Studio drummer HAL BLAINE. His distinctive sound could be heard on thousands of recordings from the late 1950s and on for 25 years. He played on the hit records, 'Be My Baby' by The Ronettes, 'Good Vibrations' by the Beach Boys, 'I Got You Babe,' by Sony & Cher, 'Mr. Tambourine Man,' by The Byrds, 'Monday, Monday' by the Mamas and the Papas, 'Strangers in the Night' by Frank Sinatra, and many many more. BLAINE was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. (REBROADCAST from 5/9/01)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(3.) Legendary composer, producer, arranger and performer BRIAN WILSON, formerly of the Beach Boys. It was Wilson who was most responsible for the Beach Boys' unique sound that fused harmonious rock with the ethos of surfing. After the success of the Beach Boys, Wilson's had a much-publicized 20-year struggle with drugs and emotional problems. In 1988 he produced his first solo album, "Brian Wilson." Ten years later he recorded another solo album of new material "Imagination." (REBROADCAST from 8/24/88)
Interview with Ray Davies; Interview with Marianne Faithfull; Interview with Pete Townsend; Interview with Colin Blunstone. August 28, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825701].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Lead singer and songwriter for The Kinks, RAY DAVIES. He started The Kinks in 1964 with his brother. They are said to be the pioneers of the rowdy garage band genre of rock music. Their many hits included: "You Really Got Me," "Lola," "All Day and All of the Night," and "Tired of Waiting for you." In 1993 he wrote his - unauthorized autobiography - 'Ray Davies: X-Ray.' (REBROADCAST from 10/17/95)(2.) Singer MARIANNE FAITHFULL got her start in the English music scene of 1964, when she dated Mick Jagger and had the hit song, "As Tears Go By." In the following years she had a drug addiction that almost killed her, before recovering in 1985 and releasing new albums. Her memoir, "Faithfull: An Autobiography" published in 1994 tells her story of highs and lows with music and drugs. (REBROADCAST from 9/26/94)(3.) Guitarist PETE TOWNSEND. In the 1960's he made waves as the lead guitarist in the British rock group The Who. He was world famous for smashing guitars during concerts. "Tommy," the rock opera he wrote for The Who in 1969, became a Broadway musical. (REBROADCAST from 11/23/93)(4.) Former lead singer for the '60s British pop group "The Zombies" COLIN BLUNSTONE. The group's hits include "She's Not There," "You've Really Got a Hold On Me" and "Time of the Season." An anthology of the group's recordings "The Zombies: Zombie Heaven" (Big Beat label) was released in 1998. (REBROADCAST from 1/28/98)

Interview with Nancy Sinatra; Interview with Lenny Kaye; Interview with Nick Venet. August 29, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825696].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) NANCY SINATRA, daughter of Frank Sinatra. She recorded a few hits of her own including "These Boots are Made for Walking," and "Something Stupid," the duet she recorded with her father. NANCY SINATRA wrote a book about her father, 'Frank Sinatra: An American Legend. NANCY SINATRA released the album "One More Time." (Cougar records) in 1995. (REBROADCAST from 12/12/95) (2.) Patti Smith's guitarist LENNY KAYE talks about the four-CD collection called Nuggets. (Rhino) It showcases some of the most influential garage rock bands in the late 60's following the British Invasion. KAYE compiled the first volume which was released in 1972. He collaborated with Gary Stewart to expand the collection to a box-set. (REBROADCAST from 10/15/98)(3.) Record producer NICK VENET. He produced more than 300 albums in his career and collected numerous Grammy nominations and awards. He was co-producer of a Bobby Darin box set (Rhino). VENET was also Darin's producer and friend. VENET died in 1998. (REBROADCAST from 3/19/96)

Interview with Bill Graham; Interview with John Phillips; Interview with Neil Young. August 30, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825594].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rock impresario Bill Graham. We remember him with a 1989 interview recorded in San Francisco. He first made his mark as the rock promoter of the psychedelic scene. He came up with the idea of turning old theatres into rock venues... he had the Fillmore in San Francisco and the Fillmore East in New York. He eventually branched out into every aspect of rock promotion. He was a producer of several groundbreaking international benefits including Live Aid and the Amnesty International concert tours. Graham died in a 1991 helicopter crash at the age of 60. (Original airdate: 5/17/89)(2.) The founder of the Mamas and the Papas, JOHN PHILLIPS. He was the principal songwriter for the pop group that had a string of hits from 1966 to 1968 when the group broke up. Their hits included 'Monday, Monday,' 'California Dreamin',' 'I Saw Her Again Last Night' and others. He died of heart failure in March of 2001. He was 65. (REBROADCAST from 1986)(3.) Singer NEIL YOUNG. In 1966 he joined L.A. rock band Buffalo Springfield; they split up 3 albums later due to inter-band fighting and their lack of commercial success. YOUNG then meandered from band to band, including "Crosby, Stills, Nash, and Young," while doing a lot of solo work as well. He's been called the "Godfather of Grunge," and "The king of punk." (Original airdate: 11/5/92)

Interview with John Fogerty; Interview with Ray Manzarek. September 2, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825695].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and songwriter JOHN FOGERTY. We spoke with him on the occasion of an album release? the double CD concert album "Premonition." Featured on the recording is many of his biggest hits with Creedence Clearwater Revival: "Who'll Stop the Rain," "Down on the Corner," "Bad Moon Rising," and
"Proud Mary." Fogerty won a Grammy Award in 1997 for his album "Blue Moon, Swamp." (Original Airdate: 6/2/98)(2.) Keyboard player and record producer RAY MANZAREK talks about his experience playing in one of the most influential bands of the 1960s. The Doors disbanded after its lead singer Jim Morrison died in 1971. Since The Doors, MANZAREK has produced four albums for the punk rock band X and recorded several solo albums. He also performs with Beat poet Michael McClure at nightclubs and on college campuses. (original airdate: 7/6/98)

Interview with Chris Hedges; Commentary on Domino Records; Commentary on language. September 3, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825596].

Description of show segment(s)

(1). Former New York Times Balkans Bureau Chief and Middle East Bureau Chief CHRIS HEDGES. He's currently living in New York. He's covered war zones in Central America, the Middle East, and the Balkans for over 20 years and is the author of the new book, 'War Is a Force That Gives Us Meaning.' (Public Affairs)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Rock historian ED WARD remembers the Austin, Texas label Domino Records.(3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers recent claims about the relation between vocabulary size and social class.

Interview with David Bowie; Review of the television show "American Idol." September 4, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825595].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Musician and songwriter DAVID BOWIE. It's been 30 years since the legendary rock performer created the gender-bending Ziggy Stardust, and produced the now classic album, 'The Rise and Fall of Ziggy Stardust and the Spiders from Mars.' With it, BOWIE helped invent glam-rock. There's currently a 30th Anniversary reissue of the recording and the film of the same name. Over the years BOWIE has produced albums for Lou Reed and Iggy Pop, and collaborated with Brian Eno. BOWIE also starred in the films 'The Man Who Fell to Earth,' 'Merry Christmas, Mr. Lawrence,' and 'Basquiat.' BOWIE has recently been on tour, and has a new album, 'Heathen.' There's also a retrospective of his work at the Museum of Television and Radio (in both New York and Los Angeles, Jun 7-Sept 15). (THIS INTERVIEW
CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW. (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI on tonight's finale episode of the FOX series 'American Idol.' A winner will be chosen.

Interview with Thomas Friedman; Interview with James Glanz and Eric Lipton. September 5, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825699].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times journalist THOMAS L. FRIEDMAN. His new book, 'Longitudes and Attitudes: Exploring the World After September 11,' (FSG) is a collection of recent Times columns. They span the period from December 2000 to June 2002. Friedman was awarded the 2002 Pulitzer Prize for Distinguished Commentary for these columns. This is Friedman's third Pulitzer. His other books are 'From Beirut to Jerusalem' and 'The Lexus and the Olive Tree: Understanding Globalization.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) New York Times reporters JAMES GLANZ and ERIC LIPTON. The two have written extensively about the structure of the World Trade Center towers since September 11th. They've written an 'epic' biography of the towers, looking into the design decisions that unwittingly helped lead to their collapse. Their story appears in this Sunday's (8 Sept 2002) New York Times Magazine section.

Interview with Jonathan Franzen; Interview with Jeff Tweedy; Review of the film "City by the sea." September 6, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825697].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist JONATHAN FRANZEN. His critically acclaimed novel 'The Corrections' is now out in paperback. It's a saga about two generations of an American family, the parents and their children, and the family's response to the illness of the father. Fellow novelist Don DeLillo says, 'Franzen has built a powerful novel out of the swarming consciousness of a marriage, a family, a whole culture. And he has done it with a sympathy and expansiveness. . .' (REBROADCAST from 10/15/01) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Founder of the band Wilco, JEFF TWEEDY. He also sings, writes songs, plays guitar and banjo. The band got started as an alternative country band, but has recently left that sound behind. Their new recording is 'Yankee Hotel Foxtrot' (Nonesuch). The new music documentary 'I Am Trying to Break Your Heart' follows the band thru the troubled recording of 'Yankee Hotel Foxtrot.' (REBROADCAST from 5/2/02) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'City by the Sea' the new film starring Robert DeNiro and Frances McDormand.

Interview with Patsy Rodenburg; Interview with David Fitzpatrick; Commentary on language. September 9, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825700].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Voice and acting coach PATSY RODENBURG. ('ROW-den-burg') She's worked with some of the world's leading English-speaking actors, including Judi Dench, Daniel Day-Lewis, Maggie Smith and Nicole Kidman. Rodenburg is the Director of Voice at London's National Theatre and the Guildhall School of Music and Drama. She's the author of the new book, 'Speaking Shakespeare' (Palgrave Macmillan) and the previous book 'The Actor Speaks: Voice and the Performer.' (2.) New York City Police Detective DAVE FITZPATRICK. He took thousands of photographs on September 11th, many of them from a police helicopter high above the city. He started taking pictures shortly after the second plane hit. He also spent two months at Ground Zero photographing the rescue efforts. Many of his photographs and that of other police officers are featured in the book, 'Above Hallowed Ground: A Photographic Record of September 11, 2001' (Viking Studio).(3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the effect of 9/11 on our language.

Interview with Paul Auster; Interview with Michael Cunningham; Review of the September 11 anniversary coverage. September 10, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825698].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York based writer PAUL AUSTER is the author of ten novels. His latest is 'The Book of Illusions.' (HenryHolt). For a year beginning October 1999, AUSTER gathered up stories sent to him by men and women across the United States. The stories were all true, short, and personal. As part of NPR's 'National Story Project' AUSTER read them over the air. Those stories were collected in the book, 'I Thought My Father Was God.' AUSTER also wrote the screenplays for "Smoke," and 'Blue in the Face.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Novelist
MICHAEL CUNNINGHAM. He won a Pulitzer Prize for his recent novel 'The Hours.' It's also being made into a film. CUNNINGHAM's new book is about the town he fell in love with as a young man, has lived in and returned to, Provincetown, Massachusetts at the tip of Cape Cod. The book is 'Land's End: A Walk in Provincetown' (Crown Journeys). CUNNINGHAM is also the author of 'A Home At the End of the World.' (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI has some thoughts on the September 11th anniversary coverage.

Interview with Robert Jay Lifton; Interview with Sekou Sundiata; Interview with Richard Thompson; Interview with Greg and Lauren Manning; Interview with John Pizzarelli. September 11, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825785]

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ROBERT JAY LIFTON is Distinguished Professor of Psychiatry and Psychology at the Graduate School University Center and Director of The Center on Violence and Human Survival at John Jay College of Criminal Justice at The City University of New York. He's written books on many topics, including the Japanese cult which released poison gas in the Tokyo subways, Nazi doctors, Hiroshima survivors and Vietnam vets. (2.) Performance poet SEKOU SUNDIATA (SAY-coo SOON-dee-ah-tah). He is one of New York's notable spoken word artists, blending lyrics of urban dwelling with music. Born in Harlem, he is a professor of English Literature at The New School for Social Research. He's released several CDS of his work, including "The Blue Oneness of Dreams" and 'Urban Music.' He's published a new journal (in pamphlet form), 'Heart: Human Equity Through Art.' (3.) Singer/songwriter, guitarist RICHARD THOMPSON. He first became known for his work with "Fairport Convention." He's since gone solo and is known for his dark songs which blend elements of British folk ballads and the blues. He's released a number of solo albums, "Mirror Blue," and "Rumor and Sign". Rykodisc also compiled a retrospective of his work "Watching the Dark: The History of Richard Thompson." Currently, THOMPSON is performing a show he calls 'A thousand Years of Pop Music,' which includes British and American folk songs, jazz and pop. (4.) GREG & LAUREN MANNING. During the attacks on the World Trade Centers, LAUREN MANNING was badly burned. While she was in the hospital, her husband, Greg, sent daily e-mails to friends and family chronicling Lauren's progress. They've been collected in the new book, 'Love, Greg & Lauren: A Powerful True Story of Courage, Hope, and Survival.' (Bantam Books). (5.) Jazz singer and guitarist JOHN PIZZARELLI. He's played in cabarets and jazz clubs around Interview with Gordon Willis; Obituary for F.X. Toole. September 12, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825797].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Cinematographer GORDON WILLIS. He created the look of many of the most influential films of the 1970s: Klute, The Godfather I and II, The Parallax View, Annie Hall, and Manhattan. He's shot eight Woody Allen films, as well as the films Pennies from Heaven and Presumed Innocent. WILLIS is currently participating in the annual Master Class series at the American Museum of the Moving Image in New York City from Sept 14-29. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Writer F.X. TOOLE. He died September 2 at age 72 of complications from heart surgery. Two years ago, he published his first book. It's a collection of short stories about boxing called 'Rope Burns: Stories from the Corner.' For twenty years, Toole was a cut man, stopping the bleeding so fighters could go on to the next round. Toole wrote for over for 40 years, but it was the publication of his first story last year in a small literary magazine that caught the attention of a book agent. Writers James Ellroy and Joyce Carol Oates praised his book, the former calling it 'the best boxing fiction ever written.' Others compared his literary style to Frank McCourt's. Toole worked as a cabbie, bartender and bullfighter before entering the world of boxing. (Original airdate: 9/26/00)

Review of the television show "Sopranos;" Interview with Dominic Chianese; Interview with Edie Falco; Interview with Steve Van Zandt; Review of the film "Metropolis." September 13, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825783].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI on the upcoming fourth season of 'The Sopranos.'(2.) Actor DOMINIC CHIANESE ('KEY-ah-NAY-say'). He plays Uncle Junior on the hit H-B-O series 'The Sopranos.' He's had roles in TV shows such as 'Kojak,' 'Law and Order,' and films including 'Dog Day Afternoon,' and 'The Godfather Part II.' At the age of 70, he launched a singing career. His recent album is called 'Hits' (Madacy Entertainment Group). He brings his guitar to the studio. (Original airdate: 8/22/01)(3.) Actress EDIE (E-
Interview with Steven R. Weisman; Interview with Sarah Vowell; Review of Jason Moran's new album "Modernistic." September 16, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825791].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist STEVEN WEISMAN. He's covered politics, economics and international affairs for The New York Times for over 30 years. He now writes editorials for the paper. In his new book, 'The Great Tax Wars: Lincoln to Wilson ? The Fierce Battles over Money and Power That Transformed the Nation' (Simon & Schuster) he looks at the battles over 'wealth, power and fairness' that led to the establishment of the income tax. (2.) Writer SARAH VOWELL is a contributing editor for public radio's 'This American Life.' She's also the author of the book 'Take the Cannoli,' and the new book of her pieces, 'The Partly Cloudy Patriot' (Simon & Schuster). (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Modernistic' (Blue Note) the new CD by jazz pianist Jason Moran.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist M.J. AKBAR. He is founder and editor-in-chief of The Asian Age, an English language newspaper published in India. He's a Muslim. And he's the author of five books, including his latest 'The Interview with Christopher Dickey; Commentary on language. September 18, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825795].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist CHRISTOPHER DICKEY. He is the Paris bureau chief and Middle East regional editor for Newsweek magazine. He's co-author of the current edition's (Sept 23) cover story, 'How We Helped Create Saddam: And Can We Fix Iraq After He's Gone?' DICKEY is also a novelist, and author of 'Summer of Deliverance: A Memoir of Father and Son' about his relationship with his father, poet and novelist James Dickey. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the word 'ain't.'

Interview with Charles Heyman and Alex Standish; Interview with Martha McPhee; Review of Alvin Youngblood Hart's new album, "Down in the Alley." September 19, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825782].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Two editors from Jane's Information Group talk about the war on terrorism and the potential attack on Iraq. CHARLES HEYMAN is the editor of Jane's World Armies and the author of The Armed Forces of the United Kingdom. ALEX STANDISH is the editor of Jane's Intelligence Digest. Standish also produces television and radio documentaries for the BBC. (2.) Author MARTHA MCPHEE. Her new novel is called 'Gorgeous Lies' and it's a follow-up to her critically acclaimed first novel, 'Bright Angel Time.' Both books are about growing up in a communal blended household in the 70s run by a dictatorial patriarch. In Gorgeous Lies,' the patriarch is dying. The eight children try to make peace with their father and each other. McPhee currently teaches at Hofstra University. (3.) Rock critic Ken Tucker reviews 'Down in the Alley,' the new CD from Alvin Youngblood Hart.
Interview with John Lasseter; Interview with Jon Langford; Review of the new film "Secretary." September 20, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825789].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) John Lasseter, Executive Vice President of Creative for Pixar, Inc. Lasseter was one of the founding members of the computer animated filmmaking company. He served as Director and Animator of the feature films Toy Story, Toy Story 2 and A Bug's Life. He was also Executive Producer of Monsters, Inc. Toy Story was the first computer-animated feature film. Lasseter also directed a number of shorts for Pixar, including Tin Toy, Red's Dream and Luxo, Jr. Tin Toy won an Oscar in 1988 for Best Animated Short Film. Lasseter joined Lucasfilm's Computer Division in 1984, and then helped create Pixar in 1986. He previously worked as an animator for Walt Disney. (Original airdate: 2/27/02)(2.) Singer and guitarist JON LANGFORD. He is a co-founder the British punk group The Mekons, one of the few bands of the era that is still performing. They celebrate their 25th anniversary this year. Their latest CD is "Oooh." Langford lives in the states now, which is feeding his growing interest in country music. He plays in the country-inspired band the Waco brothers. Langford is also a visual artist. Under the pen name Chuck Death, Langford draws the comic Great Pop Things, which is published in the LA Weekly, and collected in the book, "Great Pop Things: The Real History of Rock n Roll from Elvis to Oasis." (Original airdate: 12/17/98) (3.) Film critic David Edelstein reviews 'Secretary,' starring James Spader and Maggie Gyllenhaal. The film is based on a short story by Mary Gaitskill.

Interview with Phil Patton; Review of the new Television season; Interview with Linda Thompson. September 23, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039183].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) PHIL PATTON, author of 'Bug: The Strange Mutations of the World's Most Famous Automobile.' (Simon & Schuster) It's a cultural history of the Volkswagen Beetle, the most produced and best known car of all time. PATTON writes for the New York Times, Esquire, Wired and ID. He also wrote 'Dreamland: Travels inside the Secret World of Roswell and Area 51.' (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI on the new TV season. (3.) Singer LINDA THOMPSON. She's back performing after a long hiatus. She was formerly part of a British folk-rock duo with her husband, Richard Thompson. In 1985, Linda Thompson left the stage, diagnosed with hysterical dysphonia, a form of stage fright. Her new CD is called 'Fashionably Late' and she collaborated with Richard and their son Teddy on the album's songs.

---

Interview with Jeffrey Eugenides; Interview with Sharon Olds; Review of Dixie Chicks new album "Home." September 24, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825793].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist JEFFREY EUGENIDES ('u-GEN-eh-dees') is the author of the novel 'The Virgin Suicides' which was made into a movie. His new novel 'Middlesex' (Farrar, Straus & Giroux) is about a contemporary hermaphrodite. EUGENIDES' fiction has appeared in The New Yorker, The Paris Review, The Yale Review, and Best American Short Stories. EUGENIDES currently lives in Berlin, Germany. (2.) Poet SHARON OLDS. Her new collection of poems is 'The Unswept Room' (Knopf). She has a number of previous collections including 'Satan Says,' and 'The Dead and the Living.' OLDS was the New York State Poet Laureate from 1998 to 2000. She teaches poetry workshops in the Graduate Creative Writing Program at New York University. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new Dixie Chicks CD.

---

Interview with Charles Tripp; Review of Steven Bernstein's new CD with the Sam Rivers Trio, "Diaspora Blues." September 25, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825787].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CHARLES TRIPP is Senior Lecturer in the Department of Political Studies, at the School of Oriental and African Studies at the University of London. He's the author of 'A History of Iraq' (updated new edition, Cambridge University Press)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews trumpeter Steven Bernstein's new CD with the Sam Rivers Trio, 'Diaspora Blues' (Tzadik label). He also mentions the reissue, 'Jewish Melodies in Jazztime' by Terry Gibbs (Mercury).
Interview with Keith Bradsher; Interview with Rohinton Mistry; Review of Mary Beth Norton's "In the Devil's Snare." September 26, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825829].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist KEITH BRADSHER is the former Detroit bureau chief of The New York Times and the author of the book, 'High and Mighty: SUVs: the World's Most Dangerous Vehicles and How They Got that Way' (PublicAffairs). BRADSHER finds that sport utility vehicles are dangerous not only for their occupants but for those who share the road with them. He finds that they block the road and vision for smaller vehicles, are more prone to roll over, and get poor gas mileage. BRADSHER is currently Hong Kong bureau chief for The New York Times. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Novelist ROHINTON MISTRY was born in Bombay and now lives in Canada. His new novel and his third, is 'Family Matters' One critic says of MISTRY, ' (he) is not just a fiction writer; he's a philosopher who finds meaning--indeed, perhaps a divine plan--in small human interactions.' 'Family Matters' is set in 1990s Bombay and is about an elderly professor with Parkinson's disease who is forced to move into the crowded apartment of his daughter and her family. MISTRY is also the author of 'A Fine Balance' and 'Such a Long Journey' which were both short listed for the Booker Prize.(3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'In The Devil's Snare' (Knopf) a new history of the 17th century Salem Witch Hunts by Mary Beth Norton.

Interview with Murray Perahia; Interview with Stanley Donan; Review of the film "Igby goes down." September 27, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825832].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Classical pianist and conductor MURRAY PERAHIA ('Per-EYE-ah'). He has a new CD: 'Chopin Etudes: Opus 10, Opus 26' (Sony). He also explores the music of J.S. Bach in recent recordings, including 'Bach's Keyboard Concertos vol. 1' which he recorded and conducted with the St. Martin in the Fields ensemble. And he recorded the 'Goldberg Variations' and Bach's complete English Suites. In 1994 PERAHIA suffered a thumb injury that left him unable to play regularly for a year. He took up his first conducting post as Principal Guest conductor of the Academy of St. Martin in the Fields. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(REBROADCAST from 4/11/01) (2.) Film director and choreographer STANLEY DONEN ('DAHN-in'). He and Gene Kelly co-directed and co-choreographed 'Singing in the Rain.' There's a new 50th anniversary DVD edition of 'Singing in the Rain.' DONEN also directed "On the Town," "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," "Funny Girl," and more. He collaborated with Gene Kelly as dance director on such films as "Cover Girl," and "Anchors Away." In 1998 he was given an honorary Oscar for what the Academy called "a body of work marked by grace, elegance, wit, and visual innovation." DONEN is the subject of the biography, "Dancing on the Ceiling: Stanley Donen and his Movies" written by Stephen M. Silverman. (REBROADCAST from 2/8/96)(3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Igby Goes Down.'

Interview with Christopher Reeve; Interview with Martin Donovan; Review of the music of The Vines, Spoon, and Apples. September 30, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825828].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor CHRISTOPHER REEVE. A 1995 horseback riding accident left him paralyzed from the neck down. Recently, with intensive physical therapy, Reeve announced that he has regained motion and feeling in his fingers and in other parts of his body. This is incredible news to scientists, who assumed he would never move again. REEVE was totally paralyzed for five years. Then, one morning two years ago, he found he could move one finger. Reeve is still dependent on a wheelchair and respirator. He's just written a book, "Nothing is Impossible: Reflections on a New Life." His other book is "Still Me." Reeve is most famous for starring in the "Superman" film series (I,II,III and IV). More info at www.christopherreeve.org.(2.) Actor MARTIN DONOVAN. His new film "Pipe Dream" opens in New York this week. Donovan has also co-starred in "The Opposite of Sex," "Insomnia," and many films with the independent director, Hal Hartley. (3.) Rock Critic KEN TUCKER reviews the music of The Vines, Spoon, and Apples in Stereo.
Interview with Joe Pantoliano; Commentary on language. October 1, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825616].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor JOE PANTOLIANO (PAN-tal-lee-AN-no). He plays Ralph Cifaretto on the HBO series "The Sopranos." He has also appeared in over 60 films, including "Memento," "The Matrix," and "The Fugitive." He has a new memoir called "Who's Sorry Now: The True Story of a Stand-Up Guy" (E. P. Dutton). PANTOLIANO will talk about growing up in Hoboken, New Jersey and about his acting career. (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG talks about presidents and language, and the pronunciation of nuclear as "nu-cular."

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Iraq expert, KENNETH POLLACK. His new book is called "The Threatening Storm: The Case for Invading Iraq" (Random House). He has studied Iraq and Saddam Hussein for some 15 years. During the Clinton Administration, POLLACK served as director for Gulf affairs at the National Security Council, where he was one of the people responsible for implementing US policy toward Iraq. Before that, he was a Persian Gulf military analyst in the CIA. In 1990, he was one of only 3 analysts to predict the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait. He is also the author of "Arabs at War: Military Effectiveness, 1948-1991." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Good Women of China: Hidden Voices' (Pantheon) a collection of stories of real women in China taken from a call-in talk show in China by journalist Xinran ('shin-ran'). Xinran was host of the talk show.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) PAUL FEIG ('feeg') is the creator of the now defunct TV comedy series 'Freaks and Geeks.' He's just written a new book 'Kick Me: Adventures in Adolescence' (paperback, Three Rivers Press). FEIG was an actor before moving on to writing for TV and film.(2.) Music journalist and film maker ROBERT GORDON. He's written a new biography of blues legend Muddy Waters who is credited with inventing electric blues and creating the template for the rock and roll band. The book is 'Can't Be Satisfied: The Life and Times of Muddy Waters.' (Little, Brown). GORDON also produced and directed an accompanying documentary of the same name which will be shown as part of the PBS American Masters series next year. GORDON's other books are 'It Came From Memphis,' and 'The King on the Road.' He also produced the Al Green box set, 'Anthology.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor BILL PAXTON made his directing debut earlier this year with the psychological thriller 'Frailty.' It's now out on video and DVD. He co-stars in the film, with Matthew McConaughey and Powers Boothe. Paxton previously starred in the films 'Twister,' 'A Simple Plan,' 'One False Move,' and 'Apollo 13.' (Original airdate: 4/29/02)(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Lost in the Stars' (Nagel heyer) by the Ken Peplowski Quartet. (3.) Late American artist ROY LICHTENSTEIN ('LICKED-in-stine'). He was one of the inventors of pop art in the 1960's, finding inspiration for his paintings in comic books and advertisments. LICHTENSTEIN's work often replicates the heavy black outlines, bright colors and dots of a color comic strip found in a newspaper. Called by one critic the "supreme virtuoso of pop," his work is filled with constant references to high and low arts as well as to his own work. Lichtenstein died 9/29/97. There's a new book about his work, 'Roy Lichtenstein: A Catalogue Raisonne 1948-1997 (Hudson Hills). (Original airdate: 11/08/93)(4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Red Dragon.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist RICHARD PRESTON is the author of the bestseller 'The Hot Zone' about the ebola virus. His new book 'The Demon in the Freezer' (Random House) is about the smallpox virus and the scientists at the CDC who are working with live smallpox in order to develop a drug that could fight it? should the virus be used in biological warfare. The smallpox virus was eradicated from the planet in 1979. Now it can be found? officially? in two high-security freezers: one at the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, and at Vector Institute in Siberia. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Rock critic Ken Tucker reviews 'It's all Relative: Tillis Sings Tillis,' an album of country classic songs written by Mel Tillis and performed by his daughter, Pam Tillis.

Interview with Daniel Yergin; Interview with Tom Shales and James Andrew Miller. October 8, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825831].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pulitzer Prize winning economist DANIEL YERGIN. He'll talk about the changing economy of oil in light of the possibility of war with Iraq. Yergin's 1991 classic book, "The Prize: The Epic Quest for Oil, Money and Power," is highly acclaimed. He is president of Cambridge Energy Research Associates. His new book is "The Commanding Heights: The Battle Between Government and the Marketplace that is remaking the Modern World," co-authored with Dr. Joseph A. Stanislaw. "The Prize" was adapted into an 8 hour PBS/BBC series.(2.) TOM SHALES and JAMES ANDREW MILLER, authors of the new book, "Live from New York: An Uncensored History of Saturday Night Live" (Little Brown and Company). The book is a history of the late night comedy mainstay, which first aired on TV in 1975. SHALES and MILLER interviewed the shows' producers, writers, cast members, and guest hosts, including Lorne Michaels, Chevy Chase, Dan Aykroyd, Al Franken, Will Farrell, Tom Hanks, and many more. TOM SHALES is the Pulitzer Prize-winning television critic of the Washington Post and a movie critic for NPR's Morning Edition. His books include "On the Air!" and "Legends." JAMES ANDREW MILLER is the author of "Running in Place." He has written for the New York Times, Life and Newsweek.
Interview with Jonathan Landay; Interview with Daniel Benjamin. October 9, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825615].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JONATHAN LANDAY (‘LAN-day’). He co-wrote an article called 'Officials' Private Doubts on Iraq War.' The piece appeared yesterday in newspapers owned by the Knight-Ridder-Tribune News Service, including the Philadelphia Inquirer. Landay and co-writers say that 'Intelligence professionals and diplomats...privately have deep misgivings about the administration's double-time march toward war.' Misinformation includes distortion of Saddam Hussein's ties with al-Qaeda, overstatement of international support, and understatement of repercussions of a Middle East war.(2.) Former White House Director of Counterterrorism, DANIEL BENJAMIN. He's co-authored the new book, 'The Age of Sacred Terror' with Steven Simon, the former Senior Director of Counterterrorism. Benjamin and Simon began writing the book more than a year before September 11, 2001. As Director and Co-Director at the National Security Council, they saw the rise of al-Qaeda. They warned about the new generation of terrorists. The book still sets out to accomplish its original goal: to understand the enemy. Additionally, the authors wish to explain how we let our defenses down and what to expect in the future. BENJAMIN is now senior fellow at the Center for Strategic and International Studies. Prior to entering the administration, he was a journalist.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Investigative journalist ROBERT BRYCE. His new book is 'Pipe Dreams: Greed, Ego and the Death of Enron.' It's a gossipy, irreverent analysis of the Enron scandal. Bryce has written about Enron since 1997.(2.) We remember ANTHONY MAZZOCHI (ma-ZAH-key), who died Saturday at the age of 76. He was a lifelong labor activist and a longtime union official who pioneered the occupational safety and health movement and was the founder of the 6-year-old Labor Party Movement in the U.S. (Original airdate: 7/26/95)(3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews two made-for-TV movies airing this Sunday:
'Gleason,' on CBS, about the life of comic Jackie Gleason, and Showtime's 'Bang, Bang, You're Dead,' a one-act play that recalls the dramatic programming of TV's early days.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Punch Drunk Love,' the new film from writer/director Paul Thomas Anderson. Anderson's previous films include 'Magnolia' and 'Boogie Nights.'

(2.) Actor PHILIP SEYMOUR HOFFMAN. He's one of the stars of Punch Drunk Love. HOFFMAN also had parts in the films 'Magnolia,' "Boogie Nights," "Happiness," and "Next Stop Wonderland." (Original airdate: 11/30/99)

(3.) Actor Nicolas Cage. His latest film, 'Windtalkers,' is just out on DVD and video. A group of Navajo soldiers developed an unbreakable code based on their language for use during world War two. The film is set in the south Pacific. Cage plays Joe Enders, a Marine guard assigned to protect the Native American code talkers. Cage won an Academy award for his role in the film Leaving Las Vegas. He's starred in many other hit films, including Captain Corelli's Mandolin, Bringing Out the Dead, Face/Off and The Rock. He got his start in the film Birdy. (Original airdate: 6/13/02)

(4.) Singer JIMMY SCOTT. There's a new biography called 'Faith in Time' by David Ritz. His album 'Falling in Love is Wonderful' has just been reissued on Rhino Records. He sang with Lionel Hampton's band in the late 1940s early 50s and influenced such singers as Nancy Wilson, Marvin Gaye, and Stevie Wonder. Quincy Jones who played with Hampton's band then said of Scott's singing, "It's a very emotional, soul-penetrating style. Jimmy used to tear my heart out every night." He became best known for his ballads. Despite his talent, SCOTT has had a sporadic singing career marked by long periods of obscurity. He returned to performing and recording in the early 1990s. (REBROADCAST from 7/23/92)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer/director PAUL SCHRADER. He directed the new film 'Autofocus,' about the life of actor Bob Crane. Schrader wrote the screenplays for a number of classic films, including Taxi Driver and Raging Bull (Martin Scorsese directed). Films he directed include Affliction, The Comfort of Strangers and American Gigolo. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) We remember historian STEPHEN AMBROSE who died Sunday at the age of 66. The cause was lung cancer. A college professor, AMBROSE became a best-selling author late in life with his book 'D-Day, June 6, 1944: The Climactic Battle of World War II.' He wrote several military history volumes including 'Citizen Soldiers.' He was consultant for the film 'Saving Private Ryan' and his book 'Band of Brothers' was the basis of the 2001 HBO mini-series. AMBROSE also wrote 'Undaunted Courage' about the Lewis and Clark exploration to the West. (REBROADCAST from 8/15/01).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Jazz bassist RON CARTER. He has more than two thousand recordings to his credit. From 1963-1968 he was part of the Miles Davis Quintet with Herbie Hancock, Tony Williams, and Wayne Shorter. Over the years he's played with Randy Weston, Herbie Mann, Betty Carter, Eric Dolphy, Sony Rollins, McCoy Tyner and others. CARTER has a new CD 'Stardust' (Somethin' Else Records). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Filmmaker BURR STEERS. He is making his feature film debut with 'Igby Goes Down' which he wrote and directed. It's about a disaffected teenager from a well-heeled but financially strapped family. The inspiration for the screenplay came from STEERS' own life. He's from an East coast aristocratic family. His father, Newton Steers, was a Republican congressman from Maryland. His mother's half-sister was Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis. His uncle is author Gore Vidal.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The Cuban Missile Crisis took place 40 years ago this week. We talk with historian and former Kennedy aide ARTHUR SCHLESINGER, JR. and PETER KORNBLUH who directs the National Security Archive's Cuba Project. The organization obtained newly declassified documents about the Crisis. They've published the information in the new book 'The Cuban Missile Crisis, 1962' (W.W. Norton). The National Security Archive also helped organize the historic 40th anniversary conference held in Cuba last week. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Quentins' (Dutton) the new novel by Maeve Binchy.

Interview with Bill Keller; Interview with Lupe Ontiveros; Interview with Bonnie Hunt; Review of Michael Hurley's 1965 debut album, ?First Songs.? October 17, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825472].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist BILL KELLER is a columnist for The New York Times and senior writer for the magazine section. He just returned from a trip to Russia. He'll discuss Russia's position on Iraq. (2.) Actress LUPE ONTIVEROS stars in the new film 'Real Women Have Curves' as a mother at odds with her two teenage daughters. She recently starred in the independent film 'Chuck and Buck.' Her other films include 'Todd Solontz's 'Storytelling' and James Brooks' 'As Good as it Gets.' In 1983 she had a major role in the movie 'El Norte.' ONTIVEROS is a founding member of LA's Latino Theatre Company.(3.) Comedian BONNIE HUNT. She's currently starring in the new sitcom 'Life with Bonnie' playing a TV morning show host, doctor's wife and harried mother. It airs on ABC, Tuesday nights at 9 PM. It's Hunt's third sitcom. HUNT came out of the Second City Comedy Troupe. (4.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews the reissue of Michael Hurley's 1965 debut album, 'First Songs.' It's been reissued under the title 'Blueberry Wine' (Locust Label).
Interview with Jodie Foster; Interview with Garrison Keillor; Review of the film "Autofocus."
October 18, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825562].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress JODIE FOSTER. Her film 'Panic Room' is now on video and DVD. Recently she produced and acted in the film 'The Dangerous Lives of Altar Boys.' FOSTER has won two Oscars for performances in 'The Silence of the Lambs' and 'The Accused.' She was also nominated for her work in 'Taxi Driver' and 'Nell.' She's also served as producer or director on numerous films. (REBROADCAST from 6/17/02)

(2.) Writer and radio personality GARRISON KEILLOR. He is host and writer of 'A Prairie Home Companion,' broadcast from Minnesota and heard weekly on public radio stations nationwide. KEILLOR's books, the semi-autobiographical novel, 'Lake Wobegon Summer 1956' (Penguin USA) has just been published in paperback. Keillor is the author of nine books and teaches at the University of Minnesota. (REBROADCAST from 9/5/01)

(3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Autofocus.'

Interview with Branford Marsalis; Review of DVD sets. October 21, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825474].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Saxophonist BRANFORD MARSALIS. He's just released 'Footsteps of Our Fathers,' the debut release on the artist's own Marsalis Music label. In the nearly two decades that he has released solo albums, he's won two Grammy Awards and was nominated for a third in 1995. He was the first band leader for Jay Leno's 'The Tonight Show' and appeared on the show from 1992-1995. In addition to the solo and ensemble records he's released, Marsalis has participated in various film scores as both composer and featured soloist. He is currently on tour for this album.

(2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews some new DVD collections of TV shows.
Interview with Pat Conroy; Commentary on the term "regime." October 22, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825476].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist PAT CONROY. He's the author of several books including 'The Great Santini,' and 'The Prince of Tides' which were both made into feature films. CONROY's new book 'My Losing Season' (Doubleday) is a memoir about how playing basketball for the Citadel Military College transformed his life. CONROY was point guard and captain of the Citadel Bulldogs. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the use of the word 'regime.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former NBA star CHARLES BARKLEY. The colorful, outspoken ex-player has a new book, 'I May Be Wrong, But I Doubt It' (Random House). BARKLEY is considered one of the greatest players of the game. He was on eleven All-Star teams, and with Wilt Chamberlain was one of the two players in NBA history with more than 23,000 points, 12,000 rebounds, and 4,000 assists. He played for the Philadelphia Seventy-Sixers, the Phoenix Suns, and the Houston Rockets. He is currently a studio analyst for TNT's Inside the NBA. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Professor RAYMOND MCNALLY, an expert on the many portrayals of vampires in folklore and film, died October 2nd at the age of 71. The cause was cancer. MCNALLY traced the origins of the Dracula story in Transylvania. He wrote the book 'In Search of Dracula' and taught at Boston College, specializing in Russian intellectual life. (REBROADCAST from 10/29/85)(3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Little Friend' (Knopf) the second novel by Donna Tartt.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) FATHER DONALD COZZENS (pronounced 'cousins'). He is the author of the new book 'Sacred Silence: Denial and the Crisis in the Church' (the Liturgical Press). Father Cozzens is president-rector and professor of pastoral theology at Saint Mary Seminary and Graduate School of Theology in Cleveland. He is also the editor of 'The Spirituality of the Diocesan Priest.' His previous book is 'The Changing Face of the Priesthood: A Reflection on the Priest's Crisis of Soul.' (2.) Singer/songwriter, guitarist RICHARD THOMPSON. He first became known for his work with "Fairport Convention." He's since gone solo and is known for his dark songs which blend elements of British folk ballads and the blues. He's released a number of solo albums, "Mirror Blue," and "Rumor and Sign". Rykodisc also compiled a retrospective of his work "Watching the Dark: The History of Richard Thompson." Currently, THOMPSON is performing a show he calls 'A thousand Years of Pop Music,' which includes British and American folk songs, jazz and pop.

Interview with Larry David; Interview with Bernie Mac; Review of the film "Bowling for Columbine;" Interview with Christopher Lloyd; Review of the music album ?Genius October 25, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825454].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Co-executive producer, star, and writer of the HBO show 'Curb Your Enthusiasm' - LARRY DAVID. The show just began it's third season. DAVID was also the co?creator, and former executive producer, and one of the writers of 'Seinfeld." DAVID was the basis for the character "George," Jerry Seinfeld's neurotic best friend. DAVID was a writer for Saturday Night Live and the short?lived ABC late night series, "Fridays." (rebroadcast from 1/2/91)(2.) Standup comic BERNIE MAC. His sitcom 'The Bernie Mac Show' on the FOX network is loosely based on his own experience when he took care of his drug-addicted sister's three children. It premieres a new season on October 30th. This year the show won the prestigious Peabody Award for Broadcast Excellence. MAC has had several HBO specials and was featured in Spike Lee's documentary, 'Kings of Comedy.' MAC is also the author of 'Bernie Mac on how Life is: I Ain't Scared of you' (rebroadcast from 11/27/01)(3.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Bowling for Columbine' the new documentary about gun violence by film maker Michael Moore. (4.)
Executive producer of the TV show "Frasier" CHRISTOPHER LLOYD. The show debuted in 1993 and since then has won many awards including the Peabody. The book, "The Frasier Scripts" collects 15 of the staff's favorite shows (rebroadcast from 2/24/00)(5.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Genius: The Best of Warren Zevon.' (Rhino)

---

Description of show segment(s)

1. Novelist TIM LAHAYE is the co-author of the phenomenally popular 'Left Behind' series. The books are apocalyptic Christian thrillers. The tenth and latest book is 'The Remnant,' which debuted at the top of the New York Times bestseller list. LAHAYE is also the former co-chairman of Jack Kemp's presidential campaign, was on the original board of directors of the Moral Majority and an organizer of the Council for National Policy which has been called 'the most powerful conservative organization in America you've never heard of.'

2. Journalist GERSHOM GORENBERG is an associate editor and columnist for The Jerusalem Report and a regular contributor to The New Republic. He's the author of 'The End of Days: Fundamentalism and the Struggle for the Temple Mount' (in paperback, Oxford University Press). (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Sleepless' the new solo album by Peter Wolf, the former lead singer for the J Geils Band.

---

Interview with Tavis Smiley; Review of Charlie Christian's new CD box set; Interview with Seema Samar; Review of the television program "24." October 29, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825718].

Description of show segment(s)

1. Host of NPR's The Tavis Smiley show, TAVIS SMILEY. He's the author of the new book 'Keeping the Faith: Stories of Love, Courage, Healing, and Hope from Black America' (Doubleday). The book is a collection of personal narratives by ordinary African Americans. SMILEY also provides commentary twice a week on ABC radio's Tom Joyner Morning Show. And he's a contributor for CNN and a contributing correspondent on ABC's PrimeTime.

2. Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new box set, 'Charlie Christian: The Genius of the Electric Guitar' (on Columbia) featuring Christian's work with Benny Goodman. (3.) Head of Afghanistan's Human Rights Commission, DR. SIMA SAMAR. She was appointed to the position in July. Previously she served as the country's first Minister for Women's Affairs appointed by the interim Afghan government. DR. SAMAR is an internationally-renowned feminist and human rights activist. SAMAR defied the Taliban and continued to operate schools for girls and health clinics in Afghanistan's provinces and refugee camps in Pakistan. SAMAR was born in Ghazani, Afghanistan and is a Hazara, one of the most persecuted of the ethnic minorities. (4.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews tonight's season premiere of the second season of '24' on FOX.

Interview with Michael Beschloss; Commentary on the Psychedelic rock festival in Boston. October 30, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825717].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Presidential historian MICHAEL BESCHLOSS. His new book is 'The Conquerors: Roosevelt, Truman and the Destruction of Hitler's Germany, 1941-1945' (Simon & Schuster). In the book he reveals new information on how the Allies won World War Two and the efforts behind the scenes of Franklin Roosevelt, later Harry Truman, and Churchill and Stalin to ensure that postwar Germany would never produce another Hitler. BESCHLOSS researched newly opened American, British and Soviet archives for the book. BESCHLOSS is the author of six books on the history of American Presidents and the first two volumes of a trilogy on the Lyndon Johnson tapes. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) World music critic MILO MILES on modern psychedelic music. He talks about such bands as Sonic Youth, Motorpsycho, and Acid Mother Temple.

Interview with Steven Shainberg; Interview with Susie Arioli; Review of horror films. October 31, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825452].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director STEVEN SHAINBERG. He's made his second feature film, 'Secretary,' a story of a young woman whose obsessive life is turned upside down when she enters a sadomasochistic relationship with her boss. The screenplay is based on a short story by Mary Gaitskill. The film stars Maggie Gyllenhaal and James Spader. SHAINBERG's first film was 'Hit Me,' based on a novel by Jim Thompson. Previously Shainberg directed over 20 TV commercials.(2.) Jazz vocalist and snare drummer SUSIE ARIOLI. The Suzy Arioli Swing Band featuring Jordan Officer first gained notice at the 1998 Montreal International Jazz Festival. The band's albums are the recent 'Pennies from Heaven' and the debut 'It's Wonderful.' Both are on the Justin Time label.(3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN on his favorite horror movies. It's Halloween!

Interview with Gary Giddibs; Review of the film "Frida;" Interview with Darryl McDaniels. November 1, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825456].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Jazz critic and writer GARY GIDDINS. His biography of Bing Crosby is 'Bing Crosby: A Pocketful of Dreams--the Early Years, 1903-1940.' It's now out in paperback. From 1930s to the 50s, Crosby was a pop culture icon, dominating American entertainment with his hit records and movies. In this first volume of the biography, Giddins chronicles the rise of Crosby's career. Giddins may be best known as a jazz columnist for the Village Voice. He won the 1998 National Book Critics Circle Award for his book 'Visions of Jazz.' He was one of the experts featured in Ken Burn's Jazz series on PBS. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (REBROADCAST from 1/24/01)(2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new film 'Frida' about Mexican painter Frida Kahlo. It stars Salma Hyek and Alfred Molina.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer WILLIAM LANGEWIESCHE ('LON-gah-VEE-shuh'). He is national correspondent for The Atlantic Monthly. He writes about the recovery effort and the deconstruction of the World Trade Center in his new book, 'American Ground: Unbuilding the World Trade Center' (North Point Press). LANGEWIESCHE arrived at the scene days after the collapse and had unrestricted, round-the-clock access to events there. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI. He reviews the political documentary, "Journeys with George," a behind-the-scenes look at the 2000 presidential race.

Interview with Gretchen Worden; Interview with Mary Louise Parker. November 5, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825453].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) GRETCHEN WORDEN, Director of the Mutter Museum. She's just put together a book of photographs of and from the museum's collection of human oddities and outdated medical models. The Mutter Museum is in Philadelphia, PA. It is one of the last medical museums from the nineteenth century. It originated with the collection of Dr. Thomas Dent Mutter who gathered unique specimens for teaching purposes. The museum displays many strange human artifacts, such as a slice of a face, amputated limbs, deformed fetuses and a plaster cast of the Siamese twins Chang and Eng Bunker. (2.) Actress MARY LOUISE PARKER. She's on stage, screen and TV. Parker stars in two films in theaters now: 'Pipe Dream' and 'Red Dragon.' She's part of the 'The West Wing' cast on TV. She starred in the Broadway hit 'Proof,' for which she received the 2001 Tony Award for Best Performance by a Leading Actress. Other Broadway productions include 'Prelude to a Kiss,' 'How I Learned to Drive,' and the revival of 'Bus Stop.' Her film credits include 'Fried Green Tomatoes,' 'Grand Canyon' and 'The Client.'

Interview with John Burns; Commentary on the rock group Rolling Stones. November 6, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825719].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JOHN BURNS. He is the New York Times Foreign Affairs Correspondent. He's just returned from three weeks in Iraq. In the past, Burns has been posted in China, Bosnia, South Africa and Russia. He has won two Pulitzer Prizes; one was for his reporting on the Taliban. (2.) It's the Rolling Stones' 40th anniversary. The Stones' entire early catalog has been re-released. Today rock historian Ed Ward presents the first of a two part series about the music of the Rolling Stones. He'll talk about their early years.
Interview with Bill Maher; Commentary on the rock group "Rolling Stones." November 7, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825759].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Political satirist BILL MAHER. (pronounced 'mar') He's just published 'When you ride ALONE you ride with bin Laden: What the Government Should Be Telling Us to Help Fight the War on Terrorism.' It's a coffee table book of post 9/11 political posters, with slogans such as 'Political Correctness is Dangerous...Demand Real Security,' and 'Put a Flag on Your Car...It's Literally the Least You Can Do/ Empty Gestures Don't Win Wars.' For nine years, Maher was the host of the TV talk show 'Politically Incorrect,' which aired first on Comedy Central and then on ABC. The network pulled the show in June of this year, citing declining ratings.(2.) Rock historian Ed Ward presents part two of his look at the 40-year career of the Rolling Stones.

Interview with Joss Whedon; Interview with Darryl McDaniels; Review of the film "8 mile." November 8, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825764].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JOSS WHEDON, the creator of the movie and TV series 'Buffy The Vampire Slayer.' He is executive producer of 'Buffy' and co-executive producer of the Buffy Spin-off 'Angel.' WHEDON also writes for both shows. Before working on Buffy, WHEDON wrote for the TV series 'Roseanne.' He also writes screenplays. He has worked on the scripts for such films as Alien Resurrection, Twister, Toy Story, Speed, and this summer's X-Men. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (Joss is pronounced like 'Floss,' Whedon is WE-den). (original airdate: 5/9/00)(2.) Rap vocalist DARRYL MCDANIELS of RUN-DMC, which is disbanding after the death of Jam Master Jay, the group's MC. McDaniels is the "DMC" of the group. RUN-DMC was the first rap group to earn gold, platinum and multi-platinum albums. The group is credited with bringing new fashions, new dances, and new language to popular culture. (original airdate: 5/19/97)(3.) Film critic Jon Powers reviews '8 Mile,' starring rap star Eminem.
Interview with Arnost Lustig; Interview with Mario Batali; Review of Virginia Woolf's essay, "On Being Ill." November 11, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825763].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Czech writer ARNOST LUSTIG. He is considered one of the country's most prominent writers. His new novel 'Lovely Green Eyes' is the story of a 15 year old girl in Auschwitz and the compromises she makes in order to stay alive. LUSTIG himself survived Thereisienstadt, Auschwitz, and Buchenwald camps. His family died in the gas chambers. LUSTIG teaches at American University in Washington D.C. He is also featured in the new documentary 'Fighter' in which he and long-time friend Jan Wiener retrace wartime memories. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Celebrity chef MARIO BATALI. ('bah-TAH-lee') He is the co-proprietor of three Manhattan restaurants ? Babbo, Lupa and Esca, and Italian Wine Merchants, devoted to the wines of Ital.Batali is also the host of TV Food Network's Molto Mario. His books are 'The Babbo Cookbook,' 'Simple Italian Food,' and 'Holiday Food.'(3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'On Being Ill' (The Paris Press) by Virginia Woolf. The essay first published in 1925 has been republished as an individual book.

Interview with Charles Kupchan; Interview with Ruby Wax; Review of Joe Venuti and Zoot Sims' "Joe and Zoot and More." November 12, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825765].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Professor CHARLES KUPCHAN (CUP-chan). In his new book, "The End of the American Era: US Foreign Policy and the Geopolitics of the Twenty-First Century," (Knopf) Kupchan argues that the era of American dominance may be coming to an end; this demise will not be brought on by the Islamic world or China but from an integrated Europe. He says that as Europe's political and strategic goals continue to divert from those of the US, Europe will rise as a new rival. Kupchan served on the National Security Council during the first Clinton administration. He is a professor of international relations at Georgetown University and senior fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations. (2.) TV host, performer, and writer RUBY WAX. Born and raised outside Chicago, Wax moved to England during her 20s, and found success as a performer, writer, and TV personality. Wax scripted the British TV comedy "Absolutely Fabulous" and has had many other hit TV series on the BBC. Her new memoir is called "How Do You Want Me?' (Ebury Press). (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Joe & Zoot & More' (Chiaroscuro label) the reissue of the 1973 recording of violinist Joe Venuti and saxophonist Zoot Sims.

Interview with Fred Rogers; Interview with Pascal Khoo Thwe. November 13, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825766].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Children's TV host FRED ROGERS. His popular show 'Mister Rogers' Neighborhood' was the longest-running program on public television. It ran 33 years and ended its run in 2001. ROGERS is the author of the new book, 'The Mister Rogers Parenting Book: Helping to Understand Your Young Child.' (Running Press). Earlier this year, ROGERS was awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the highest civilian honor the nation can bestow. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Burmese writer PASCAL KHOO THWE ('Pass-CAL COO THE-WE'). He's written his autobiography 'From the Land of Green Ghosts: A Burmese Odyssey.' (HarperCollins). THWE grew up part of a tiny remote tribe in Burma which practiced a combination of ancient animist and Buddhist customs mixed with Catholicism. He was the first member of his community to study English at University. When a brutal military dictatorship took over Burma, THWE became a guerrilla fighter in the movement for democracy.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comic book artist and writer FRANK MILLER. He transformed Batman into a brooding, tortured vigilante in his remakes of the classic Batman comic: 'The Dark Knight Returns' and 'The Dark Knight Strikes Again.' Both are now available in hard back edition (published by D.C. Comics). MILLER also wrote the screenplays for 'RoboCop 2' and 'RoboCop 3.' (2.) B-movie actor BRUCE CAMPBELL. He's starred in the mock-horror vomitorium comedies the 'The Evil Dead,' 'The Evil Dead Two' and 'Army of Darkness,' all directed by Sam Raimi. He also has had television roles in the popular series 'Xena: Warrior Princess' and 'Hercules,' which he also directed for five years. More recently Campbell appeared in 'Spiderman' and 'Serving Sarah.' Campbell's memoir, 'If Chins Could Kill: Confessions of a B Movie

- Page 2458 -
Interview with Stan Lee; Interview with Olivia Judson; Review of the television program ""Curb Your Enthusiasm." November 15, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825762].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comic book writer STAN LEE. He was the leading creative force behind the rise of Marvel Comics and is responsible for many of the best-known comic book heroes. 40 years ago, he co-created the character Spider-Man. He also helped create The X-Men, The Fantastic Four, and The Incredible Hulk. He is Chairman Emeritus of Marvel Enterprises, and was Executive Producer of the recent film, 'Spider-Man,' which is now out on video. LEE's new book is called 'Excelsior! The Amazing Life of Stan Lee.' (Fireside) (REBROADCAST from 6/4/02)(2.) Evolutionary biologist and journalist OLIVIA JUDSON. In her new guide to the evolutionary biology of sex, JUDSON, explores the sex lives of animals and insects. Posing as Dr. Tatiana, sex-advice columnist, she answers 'letters' posted by such creatures as the fairy wren, the stalk-eyed fly, and the African elephant. Her new book is 'Dr. Tatiana's Sex Advice to All Creation.' (Metropolitan books). JUDSON has also written for 'The Economist,' 'Nature,' and 'Science.' (REBROADCAST from 8/13/02).(3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'Curb Your Enthusiasm' the Larry David series on HBO which just concluded its second season.

Interview with Joe Hunter; Obituary for Abba Eban. November 18, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825582].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Musicians JOE HUNTER (keyboards) and JACK ASHFORD (vibes and tambourine). The two were part of the group of musicians known as the Funk Brothers whose sound defined Motown in the 1960s and 70s. They worked with such legendary performers as Diana Ross and the Supremes, the Temptations, Marvin Gaye, The Four Tops, Stevie Wonder, Smokey Robinson and The Miracles and more. The Funk Brothers are the subject of the new documentary 'Standing in the Shadows of Motown.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) We remember Israel's first ambassador to the United Nations and the United States ABBA EBAN (Pronounced AH-bah EEE-bon). He died yesterday in Israel at the age of 87. (REBROADCAST from 12/2/92).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Senator, Vice President, and presidential candidate AL GORE and his wife, TIPPER. In the two years since the presidential election the two have been working on the new book, 'Joined at the Heart: The Transformation of the American Family' (Henry Holt). In the book they take at a look at the changes that have taken place in families over the past few decades, using examples of families they've met along the way. TIPPER GORE is a former photojournalist and served as Advisor to the President on Mental Health Policy. Their other book is the collection of photographs 'The Spirit of Family' (Henry Holt). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Critic MILO MILES reviews the reissue of the Explorer Series featuring music from around the world that was originally released from 1967 to 1984. The Explorer series is now being re-released by region. The first is 13 CDs from Africa (on the Nonesuch label).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Performance poet SEKOU SUNDIATA (SAY-coo SOON-de-ah-ta). He's one of New York's notable spoken word artists. He blends lyrics of urban dwelling with music. Born in Harlem, SUNDIATA is a professor of English Literature at The New School for Social Research. He's released CDs of spoken word including, "The Blue Oneness of Dreams" and "Urban Music.' This week he premieres his new one-man show 'blessing the boats.' It's about the year his kidney failed, he went into dialysis, and then had a kidney transplant. (Later in the show we meet his friend and manager KATEA STITT who donated her kidney). That year ended with him crashing his car in a snowstorm on the way to his 'comeback' concert and breaking his neck. He is fully recovered now. (The show premieres at the Aaron Davis Hall on the City College Campus in NYC on November 22 to the 24th. For info call 646-602-9390). (2.) KATEA STITT ('Ka-TEA-ah STITT') is the manager and friend of SEKOU SUNDIATA. She'll discuss her decision to donate her kidney to him, and what it's been like to have done such a thing.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Veteran journalist BOB WOODWARD. He is assistant managing editor of The Washington Post. He's the author of eight nonfiction bestsellers including 'All the President's Men,' and 'The Final Days,' about the presidency and 'The Brethren' about the Supreme Court. For his newest book 'Bush at War' (Simon & Schuster) he had access to the behind the scenes of the Bush administration in the first 100 days after the September 11th attacks. (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Under Construction' (Warner) the fourth album by Missy Elliott.(3.) British actor JEREMY NORTHAM. He stars in the new CBS movie 'Martin & Lewis' about Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis (he plays Martin) which airs Sunday, November 24TH. NORTHAM recently starred in 'Gosford Park,' 'Possesion' and 'Enigma.' In 2003 he stars in the new film 'The Singing Detective.'

Interview with John Barry; Interview with Steven Bernstein; Review of the film "Die another day." November 22, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825604].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Composer JOHN BARRY. He's best known for his 11 James Bond scores including "Goldfinger," and "Thunderball." BARRY has won five Oscars: for the song and score of "Born Free," and for scores for "Lion in Winter," "Out of Africa," and "Dances with Wolves." His work has been compiled on the CD, "John Barry: The Hits & The Misses" (Play it Again label). (REBROADCAST FROM 3/23/99) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz trumpeter STEVEN BERNSTEIN. He's just released a new CD called 'Diaspora Blues' (Tzadik). Last year, his band Sex Mob released a CD which pays homage to the music of James Bond films. It's called 'Sex Mob Does Bond' (ropeadope records) and is the sextet's third album. BERNSTEIN also heads the band Diaspora Soul. which specializes in performing versions of ancient Jewish melodies and Millennial Territory Orchestra with which he explores jazz from the 1920s and 1930s. (REBROADCAST FROM 11/21/01)(3.) Movie critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new James Bond film 'Die Another Day.'

---

Interview with Tom Arnold; Interview with Ellen Ruppel Shell. November 25, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973811384].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV host TOM ARNOLD. He hosts FOX television's 'The Best Damn Sports Show Period.' ARNOLD is probably best known for his marriage to Roseanne Barr. He was a writer, actor and executive producer on 'Roseanne,' and starred in three tv shows of his own including 'The Jackie Thomas Show.' He has a new memoir, 'How I Lost 5 Pounds in 6 Years' (St. Martin's Press). TOM ARNOLD continues.(2.) Journalist ELLEN RUPPEL SHELL. ('ROO-pull') She's written a new book, 'The Hungry Gene: The Science of Fat and the Future of Thin.' Shell is a correspondent for The Atlantic Monthly and has written for The New York Times Magazine, Smithsonian, Discover and other publications. She's associate professor and co-director of Knight Center for Science Journalism at Boston University.

---

Interview with Robin Wright; Interview with Deborah Avant; Review of the television show "The Osbournes." November 26, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973811383].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Los Angeles Times journalist ROBIN WRIGHT. She's the chief diplomatic correspondent. Wright has just returned from Iran, Iraq and Kurdistan. She'll talk about the future of the Persian Gulf if the U-S goes to war with Iraq and ousts Saddam Hussein. ROBIN WRIGHT continues.(2.) Military expert DEBORAH AVANT. She's an associate professor of Professor of Political Science and International Affairs at the George Washington University. Her area of expertise is the privatization of security and military services. (3.) T-V critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'The Osbournes,' the MTV reality series about the family of rocker Ozzy Osbourne. The new season starts tonight.
Interview with Robert Mankoff; Interview with Carol Kolb and Rob Siegel; Review of the film "Solaris." November 27, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973811385].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ROBERT MANKOFF, cartoon editor of the New Yorker magazine. His new book is 'The Naked Cartoonist: A New Way to Enhance Creativity.' It's a how-to of cartooning and a collection of New Yorker cartoons, including many of Mankoff's own. MANKOFF continues.(2.) ROB SIEGEL and CAROL KOLB of The Onion. It's a weekly national newspaper and website. The satirical tabloid-style dispatch has headlines like 'Lowest Common Denominator Continues to Plummet' and 'U.S. Vows to Defeat Whoever It Is We're at War With.' Siegel is The Onion's Editor in chief and Kolb is the Senior Editor. The Onion began as an alternative weekly newspaper founded in 1988. In 1996, the Onion went online.(3.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Solaris,' starring George Clooney, directed by Steven Soderbergh.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian JERRY SEINFELD. This interview was recorded before his "Seinfeld" fame. 'Comedian,' a new documentary following Seinfeld on a recent stand up tour, is showing in theaters now. The hit TV show, 'Seinfeld' which catapulted the comedian to fame, won 6 Emmy Awards before ending its run in 1999. Seinfeld is also author of the bestselling book "SeinLanguage" and a new children book, 'Halloween.' (REBROADCAST FROM 9/2/87)(2.) Comedian and actor GARRY SHANDLING. He starred in HBO's parody of talk-shows, "The Larry Sanders Show." It featured SHANDLING as a veteran talk-show host. His guests included Robin Williams, Howard Stern, and, actual talk show host, David Letterman playing themselves. The show went off the air in 1998, but reruns of the show are currently airing on the network Bravo. Shandling also starred in "It's Garry Shandling's Show.' SHANDLING also appears in the new Seinfeld documentary, 'Comedian,' which shows in theaters now. (REBROADCAST FROM 10/1/93)(3.) Comedian and late night talk show host JAY LENO. Now the host of 'The Tonight Show,' LENO talks about his struggling years as a stand-up comic (with other comics like Robin Williams, Andy Kaufman, and Steve Martin). He also talks about taking over The Tonight Show. He is Interview with Michael Beschloss; Commentary on the folk-rock group "The youngbloods." November 29, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973811386].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Presidential historian MICHAEL BESCHLOSS. His book 'Reaching for Glory: The Secret Lyndon Johnson Tapes, 1964-1965 (Simon & Schuster)' is now out in paperback. It is Beschloss's second volume on the LBJ tapes. Beschloss will talk about the tapes, and we will hear excerpts, including some recordings of conversations about Vietnam, Civil Rights, and with Jackie Kennedy. Beschloss has written 5 previous books on American presidents. He is also a regular contributor to The News Hour with Jim Lehrer. (REBROADCAST FROM 11/27/01).(2.) ED WARD. He talks about 1960's folk-rock group, 'The Youngbloods.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film critic and historian DAVID THOMSON. His latest book is "The New Biographical Dictionary of Film." (Knopf) It is an updated version of his "Biographical Dictionary of Film," which was first published in 1975. Some of the entries from the Dictionary have been revised and new entries have been added. Thomson has taught film studies at Dartmouth College and has served on the selection committee for the New York Film Festival. He is a regular contributor to the New York Times, Film Comment, Movieline, The New Republic, and The Independent (London). (2.) Sleight of hand expert and actor RICKY JAY. His new book is 'Dice: Deception, Fate & Rotten Luck.' It's a collection of essays about the history of dice and the many ways of cheating at the game. Photographs by Rosamond Purcell accompany the text. The New York Times says of Jay, 'He's a master's master.' His other books include 'Learned Pigs & Fireproof Women' and 'Jay's Journal of Anomalies.' He's appeared in a number of David Mamet films and his one man shows include 'Ricky Jay & His 52 Assistants,' and 'Ricky Jay: On the Stem.' (3.) Rock critic Ken Ticker reviews rapper Paul Barman's new CD, 'Paullalujah.'

---

Interview with Elizabeth Neuffer; Review of the new box set "Sam Cooke & the Soul Stirrers."

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist ELIZABETH NEUFFER. She's the Foreign Affairs/UN Correspondent for the Boston Globe. She's recently went to a special training camp for journalists planning on covering a United States war with Iraq. She's also reported on the war on terrorism from Afghanistan. Her recent book, 'The Key to My Neighbor's House: Seeking Justice in Bosnia and Rwanda,' (Picador USA-in paperback) is about the war crimes tribunals and the efforts of victims to find justice. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews the new box set: 'Sam Cooke and the Soul Stirrers: The Complete Specialty Recordings' (Specialty label).

---

Interview with Bruce McEwen; Interview with Lewis Gould. December 4, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973811382].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. BRUCE MCEWEN is a pioneering expert on the ways in which the brain influences the body. He is the author of "The End of Stress As We Know It" (with Elizabeth Norton Lasley, published by Joseph Henry Press). The book examines the response of the body to stress, what happens when the body's stress response turns against us, and how to keep that from happening. DR. MCEWEN is head of the Harold and Margaret Milliken Hatch Laboratory of Neuroendocrinology at Rockefeller University in New York City. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) LEWIS GOULD is a professor of American History at the University of Texas at Austin. He's edited the new book, 'Watching Television Come of Age' (University of Texas Press) a collection of the New York Times reviews by his father, Jack Gould who covered TV for the Times from 1947 until 1972. Jack Gould died in 1993.
Interview with Ayesha Imam; Review of the docudrama "Live from Baghdad;" Interview with Buscemi; Commentary on the band ?The Lovin' Spoonful.? December 5, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825844].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Nigerian human rights activist AYESHA IMAM ('EYE-SHA E-MOM'). This year she received the John Humphrey Freedom Award for her 20 plus years in the field of human rights and democratic development in her country. In particular she was noted for her work to promote women's rights in Nigeria. She organized civil society organizations across the country to protest the planned adoption of a conservative and discriminatory form of law ? known as Sharia - which has been used to perpetuate violence against women. (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews the HBO docudrama 'Live from Baghdad' a the behind-the-scenes story about how CNN scooped its rivals in covering the first night of the Persian Gulf War 12 years ago. It premieres on Saturday. (3.) Actor STEVE BUSCEMI ('Boo-SEM-ee'). He's starring in the new film 'Love In the Time of Money' and recently starred in the movie 'The Grey Zone.' He directed and produced the movie 'Animal Factory,' a prison drama starring Wilhelm Defoe and Edward Furlong. He made his directorial debut with 'Tree's Lounge' in 1996. He's acted in over 60 movies in the past twenty years; winning praise for roles in cult favorites like 'Reservoir Dogs,' 'Pulp Fiction' and 'Fargo.' BUSCEMI is a former fireman. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES AFTER THE CUTAWAY). (4.) Rock historian ED WARD remembers the band 'The Lovin' Spoonful.'

Interview with Robert Weiner; Interview with Peter Arnett; Review of books for christmas; Interview with Peter Huchthausen; Review of the film "Adaptation." December 6, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825468].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) On Saturday night HBO premieres the docudrama 'Live From Baghdad' about how CNN covered the beginning of the Gulf War in 1990 and how it managed to scoop the other networks. We feature an interview with CNN producer ROBERT WIENER('WE-ner') who wrote the memoir the docudrama is based on. Wiener was executive producer in Baghdad for 5 months leading up to and including the beginning of the Gulf War. (REBROADCAST from 1/16/92)(2.) War correspondent and CNN's former international correspondent PETER ARNETT. He became best known for his reporting from Baghdad during the allied bombing raid which heralded the start of the Gulf War. ARNETT has over 30 years of experience reporting, mostly for the Associated Press. He won a Pulitzer for his coverage of the Vietnam war. Later he covered wars in Cyprus and Lebanon. In 1981 he made the switch to television, when he joined CNN. After learning the ropes, he was sent to El Salvador, Moscow, and then Iraq. ARNETT wrote the memoir, "Peter Arnett: Live From the Battlefield: From Vietnam to Baghdad - 35 Years in the World's War Zones." (REBROADCAST from 1/18/94)(3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN has some gift suggestions for the book lovers on your shopping list. (4.) Ret. Navy Captain PETER HUCHTHAUSEN ('hoocht-HOW-zen'). He's author of the book 'K19: The Widowmaker: the Secret Story of the Soviet Nuclear Submarine.' The true story of a barely averted catastrophe aboard the nuclear powered submarine was adapted into a film of the same name starring Harrison Ford. It's out on VHS and DVD on December 10th. Huchthausen served as technical director on the film. On July 4, 1961, the sub was taking part in a military exercise in the North Atlantic. A pipeline in a reactor's cooling system ruptured. In a race against time, the crew worked to improvise a repair. Until now, the story has been kept secret. Huchthausen is a retired U-S Navy captain who served as naval attache in Moscow from 1987 to 1990. (REBROADCAST FROM 7/2/02)(5.) Film

Interview with Marcia Angell and Quentin Young; Interview with Karen Davis; Review of Mike Skinner's music album 'Original Pirate Material.' December 9, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825842].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Doctors QUENTIN YOUNG and MARCIA ANGELL(ayn-jel) of Physicians for a National Health Care Program (PNHP). They advocate a single-payer health insurance plan, in which the government finances health care, but choice of provider remains mostly private. YOUNG is Senior Attending Physician at Michael Reese Hospital and serves as National coordinator of PNHP. ANGELL is head of the Physician Working Group and is a senior lecturer in social medicine at Harvard Medical School.(2.) Economist KAREN DAVIS, president of The Commonwealth Fund. She is a member of the Institute of Medicine's panel studying ways to improve health care. She supports building on existing plans like Medicare and employer coverage. She served as the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Health Policy in the Department of Health and Human Services from 1977-80 and was the first woman to head a U.S. Public Health Service Agency.(3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Original Pirate Material' the debut collection by white British rapper Mike Skinner otherwise known as The Streets.
Interview with Owen Bennett Jones; Interview with Caetano Veloso. December 10, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825845].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist OWEN BENNET JONES. He is the author of the new book, 'Pakistan: Eye of the Storm' (Yale University Press). In the book he examines the turbulent 55 year history of the country. He'll discuss the country's history and its current relationship with the United States. JONES is based in England. He has written for the 'Guardian,' 'Financial Times,' and 'Independent' newspapers and the London Review of Books. He has also broadcast for BBC Radio and BBC World Television. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Brazilian songwriter CAETANO VELOSO ('Kye-TAH-no Vuh-LOW-so') is a national icon in his country. Along with Joao Gilberto (who created the bossa nova movement), VELOSO created the provocative 'Tropicalismo' movement which combined the richness of Brazil's musical past with '60s rock 'n' roll, surrealism, and dada in reaction to the military junta in 1964. VELOSO and GILBERTO were jailed and exiled for their efforts. VELOSOS memoir 'Tropical Truth a story of music & revolution in Brazil' (first published in 1997) is now translated and published in the U.S. (Knopf).

Interview with Lisa Belkin; Commentary on language; Review of the music compilation ?When The Sun Goes Down December 11, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825846].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times reporter and columnist LISA BELKIN. She writes the 'Life's Work' column for the paper. Her recent article 'The Grief Payout' in the New York Times Magazine (Dec 8, 2002) is about the Victim Compensation Fund set up to benefit the families of victims from the 9-11 attacks and examines the controversies surrounding how the money is distributed. LISA BELKIN is also the author of the book, 'Life's Work: Confessions of an Unbalanced Mom' (Simon & Schuster). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW),(2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the way the words of courtship are showing up on the newspaper business pages. (3.) Rock historian EDWARD reviews 'When The Sun Goes Down: The Secret History of Rock & Roll' a four volume set on RCA of mostly African-American music from the late 1920s to the mid-50s.
Interview with John Searles; Interview with Marion Ettlinger; Commentary on Elizabeth Bishop. December 12, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825843].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist JOHN SEARLES. He's the author of the bestseller 'Boy Still Missing' (now in paperback, Perennial). He relates the saga of getting his photograph taken for a book jacket. (2.) Photographer MARION ETTLINGER. She is a leading portrait photographer specializing in writers. Her photos end up on many book jackets. Over the years her subjects have been Truman Capote, Tom Wolfe, William Styron, Raymond Carver, Joyce Carol Oates, Sue Miller, Sarah Vowell and many more. She is currently working on a book of her author portraits to be released next year (by Simon & Schuster).(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ on poet Elizabeth Bishop and how he saved a poem of hers from obscurity. It's called "Breakfast Song." LLOYD is the editor of "Elizabeth Bishop and Her Art" (University of Michigan Press). The poem will be published in the upcoming issue of The New Yorker. (REBROADCAST from 4/15/98)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former U.S. President JIMMY CARTER. He received the Nobel Peace Prize this week, and was only the third President to do so. We listen back to several of his interviews: in which he talks about his work as a mediator (REBROADCAST from 1/17/95), his life in the Whitehouse (REBROADCAST from 1/12/93), and his spiritual life (REBROADCAST FROM 1/25/96). (2.) Playwright, actor and director SAM SHEPARD. He has a new book of short stories, "Great Dream of Heaven" (Knopf). SHEPARD won a Pulitzer for his play "Buried Child" and was nominated for an Academy Award for his role as Chuck Yeager in "The Right Stuff." (REBROADCAST from 3/31/98)(3.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'About Schmidt' starring Jack Nicholson.
Interview with Donald L. Barlett and James B. Steele; Interview with Todd Haynes & Mark Friedberg. December 16, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825467].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalists DONALD L. BARLETT and JAMES B. STEELE. The two time Pulitzer Prize winning investigative reporters have written together since the 1970s for several major newspapers and magazines. Their latest piece covers Native American owned casinos and appears in this month's 'TIME' magazine. This September, they also published 'The Great American Tax Dodge: How Spiraling Fraud and Avoidance Are Killing Fairness, Destroying the Income Tax, and Costing You.' (University of California Press) The book is available in stores now.(2.) Director TODD HAYNES and designer MARK FRIEDBERG. Haynes is the writer and director of the new movie, 'Far From Heaven,' inspired by the 1950s Douglas Sirk movie, 'All that Heaven Allows.' FRIEDBERG, as the movie's production designer, worked with Haynes to bring a 1950s look to the film. HAYNES also directed the movies, 'Safe' and 'Velvet Goldmine.' 'Far From Heaven' shows in theaters now.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) A talk with film critic JOHN POWERS about the movies coming out this holiday season. They include: Martin Scorcese's 'Gangs of New York,' Steven Speilberg's 'Catch Me If You Can,' 'The Hours' based on the Michael Cunningham novel, 'Adaptation,' made by the team that made 'Being John Malkovich' and more. (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN lists her Best Books of 2002: 'The Lovely Bones' by Alice Sebold; 'The Dive from Clausen's Pier' by Ann Packer; 'Atonement' by Ian McEwan; 'Bad Blood' by Lorna Sage; 'In the Devil's Snare' by Mary Beth Norton; 'Teacher' by Mark Edmundson; 'The Good Women of China' by Xinran; 'Don't Tell Mama!' edited by Regina Barreca; and 'I Don't Knot How She Does It' by Allison Pearson.(3.) Writer JOHN SZWED is the author of the new biography, 'So What: The Life of Miles Davis' (Simon & Schuster) about the life of the influential and still popular jazz trumpeter. SZWED is the John M. Musser Professor of Anthropology, African American Studies, Music, and American Studies at Yale University. He is also the author of the biography, 'Space is the Place: The

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) A talk about the Pentagon's Total Information Awareness Program- which would allow federal agencies to share information about American citizens and aliens (thru the mining of databases from driver's licenses, bank statements, and telephone records, and more), and other post 9/11 security measures. We get two viewpoints: civil liberties lawyer DAVID COLE, who thinks these measures are violating the civil liberties of Americans. He's a professor of law at Georgetown University, legal affairs correspondent for The Nation, and the author of the new book, 'Terrorism and the Constitution: Sacrificing Civil Liberties in the Name of National Security.' (The New Press).(2.) Constitutional lawyer DOUGLAS KMEIC ('kah-MECK') supports the new security measures instituted since the September 11th attacks. He is Dean and St. Thomas More professor, the Catholic University of America. He also was head of the Office of Legal Counsel in the Reagan administration. He can often be seen on PBS's News Hour with Jim Lehrer. His most recent book is 'Individual Rights and the American Constitution.' (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews some classic Hollywood musicals now out on DVD: The 1946 film 'The Harvey Girls,' starring Judy Garland and Ray Bolger; the 1954 'A Star is Born' starring Judy Garland and James Mason; the 1930 film 'The Blue Angel' starring Marlene Dietrich; 'Singing in the Rain;'; the 1947 film 'New Orleans' (on Kino video) starring Louie Armstrong and Billie Holiday; the 1947 Edgar Ulmer's Carnegie Hall featuring Jascha Heifetz; 'The Big Broadcast of 1938' starring W.C. Fields and Bob Hope; '42nd Street' the Busby Berkeley film.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JAMES BENNET of the New York Times. He's the paper's Jerusalem Bureau Chief. He's been in the Middle East covering how the crisis there is affecting both Israelis and Palestinians. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Alice Sebold; Interview with James Foley; Interview with Alan Arkin. December 20, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825621].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist ALICE SEBOLD. She's the author of the book, 'The Lovely Bones' which will be coming out in paperback. Fresh Air book critic Maureen Corrigan listed 'The Lovely Bones' as one of the ten best books of 2002. Sebold is also the author of the memoir, 'Lucky.' Both books have been persistent bestsellers. (original airdate 7/10/02)(2.) Film director JAMES FOLEY. His film Glengarry Glen Ross is coming out on DVD. The movie stars Al Pacino, Jack Lemmon, Alan Arkin and Ed Harris. It's about a group of men working in a real estate office who, because of the bad economy, must work in cut-throat conditions in order to survive. Foley originally planned to attend medical school, but after taking film classes at New York University's film school, he decided to be a director. He made his directorial debut in 1984 with "Reckless." (original airdate 10/2/92)(3.) Actor ALAN ARKIN. He's one of the actors in the ensemble cast of Glengarry Glen Ross. Arkin began his career with Chicago's Second City improv group. He went on to win a Tony on Broadway, in Carl Reiner's play "Enter Laughing," and to star in "Glengarry Glen Ross," "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming," "The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter," "Wait Until Dark," "Catch-22," and "The In-Laws." (original airdate 9/29/95)
Interview with Bryan Ferry; Interview with Jeff Place. December 23, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825619].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer songwriter BRYAN FERRY. He got his start with the seventies rock group Roxy Music. He has a solo career now. His most recent album is 'Frantic.' This interview continues into the second half of the show. Sound archivist JEFF PLACE. He's the head archivist for the Ralph Rinzler folklife archives and collections of the Smithsonian Center for Folklife and Cultural Heritage. Place is featured on the upcoming History Channel special 'Save our History: Save Our Sounds.' It's a documentary about the great range of audio recordings made over the years and the changing audio technology.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN. He'll talk with Terry about his picks for the best films of 2002. The list includes 'Gangs of New York,' 'Far From Heaven,' 'Lovely and Amazing,' 'The Pianist,' and 'Igby Goes Down.' David Edelstein is a Fresh Air contributor as well as the film critic for the online magazine Slate.(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER. He'll give us his take on the best albums of the year, including new releases from Eminem, Missy Elliot and The Hives. Ken is a regular Fresh Air contributor and he also writes for Entertainment Weekly.

Interview with Charles Granata and Didier Deutsch; Interview with Michael Feinstein ; December 25, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825623].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Record producers CHARLES GRANATA and DIDIER DEUTSCH have collaborated on the CD box set, "Frank Sinatra In Hollywood (1940-1964)" (Reprise records/Turner Classic movies) which collects Sinatra's film recordings - many of them rare. In fact only ten percent of the 160 tracks included on the collection have been released before. GRANATA is a Sinatra historian and author of "Sessions with Sinatra: Frank Sinatra And the Art of Recording" (A Capella Books, 1999). He was Project Director for the box set: "Frank Sinatra: The Best of the Columbia Years 1943-1952."
DEUTSCH is a music producer and historian and is author of "MusicHound's Soundtracks" (Visible Ink Press, 2000) (REBROADCAST from 7/03/02) (2.) Pianist and singer MICHAEL FEINSTEIN ('FINE-STINE'). His repertoire is American popular song. Early in his career he was an assistant to Ira Gershwin. He's also a collector of vintage recordings and musical memorabilia especially that of the 1920s thru the 1940s. He plans to release a collection of radio duets by Bing Crosby and Rosemary Clooney, on his new record label Feinery. Recently Rhino records released an anthology of FEINSTEIN's recordings. FEINSTEIN has a new CD 'Michael Feinstein and the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra' (Concord). (REBROADCAST from 7/29/02).

---

Interview with Vicki Wickham; Interview with David Bowie; Interview with Grandmaster Flash.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Biographer VICKI WICKHAM. With writer Penny Valentine, Wickham recently published 'Dancing with Demons: The Authorized Biography of Dusty Springfield.' Wickham was Springfield's close friend and manager for over a decade of Springfield's career. (Original airdate: 1/2/02) (2.) Musician and songwriter DAVID BOWIE. It's been 30 years since the legendary rock performer created the gender-bending Ziggy Stardust, and produced the now classic album, 'The Rise and Fall of Ziggy Stardust and the Spiders from Mars.' BOWIE helped invent glam-rock. Over the years BOWIE has produced albums for Lou Reed and Iggy Pop, and collaborated with Brian Eno. BOWIE also starred in the films 'The Man Who Fell to Earth,' 'Merry Christmas, Mr. Lawrence,' and 'Basquiat.' BOWIE has recently been on tour, and has a new album, 'Heathen.' (Original airdate: 9/4/02) (This interview continues into the second half of the show) (3.) DJ and hip hop forefather GRAND MASTER FLASH. At the dawn of hip hop, he recorded with the Furious Five. Their hits included 'The Message' and 'White Lines (Don't Do it)'. Nearly 3 decades ago, Flash created the 'Quick Mix Theory,' the process of blending one music break with another. He chose the songs for the CD, 'Essential Mix: Classic Edition.' It includes a collection of 70s and 80s dance songs. (Original airdate: 7/8/02)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pioneering Bluegrass musician RALPH STANLEY. His 'high-lonesome' vocals and claw-hammer banjo picking are considered cornerstones of American bluegrass music. He and his older brother Carter were the Stanley Brothers until Carter's death in 1966. Recently RALPH came to wider popular acclaim when his music was featured on the triple platinum soundtrack of the movie 'O Brother Where Art Thou?' He won two Grammys this year for his performance of 'O Death' on the O Brother record. At age 75, Stanley has a just released his first solo album, a self-titled CD and continues to tour. He's recorded over 170 albums in total, and has been performing continuously since 1946. (Original airdate: 7/15/02)(2.) Music journalist and filmmaker ROBERT GORDON. He's written a new biography of blues legend Muddy Waters who is credited with inventing electric blues and creating the template for the rock and roll band. The book is 'Can't Be Satisfied: The Life and Times of Muddy Waters.' (Little, Brown). GORDON also produced and directed an accompanying documentary of the same name that will be shown as part of the PBS American Masters series next year. GORDON's other books are 'It Came From Memphis,' and 'The King on the Road.' He also produced the Al Green box set, 'Anthology.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Leader and bassist of the band KISS, GENE SIMMONS. We present our now infamous interview. The band rose to prominence and popularity in the mid 1970s. They were known for their Halloweenish face paint, black-leather outfits, eight-inch platform heels and grandiose stage shows where SIMMONS spit out blood, belched fire, and stuck out his seven-inch tongue. SIMMONS' autobiography is 'Kiss and Make-up' (Crown Publishers) which details his early years growing up in Israel and later in Brooklyn. (original airdate: 2/4/02)(2.) Guitarist, singer, songwriter WAYNE KRAMER. In the late 1960s he founded the MC5, a Detroit band considered to be the prototype for punk rock. By 1972 the band had burned out. In between then and now, KRAMER did time in jail for drugs, teamed up with Don and David Was to found the group Was (Not Was), and began a solo career. His recent solo album is 'Adult World' (Muscletone records). (Original airdate: 8/20/02)

Interview with Rebecca Kilgore and Dave Frishberg; Interview with Jeff Tweedy; Interview with Richard Thompson. December 31, 2002. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825624].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer REBECCA KILGORE and pianist, singer, and composer DAVE FRISHBERG. This year marks the centennial of the birth of composer Richard Rodgers. We'll hear a concert of Rodgers' songs performed by Kilgore and Frishberg. Rodgers was born on June 28, 1902. He was one of America's most prolific and best-loved composers. He collaborated with Lorenz Hart on the songs 'My Funny Valentine,' 'The Lady is a Tramp,' 'Blue Moon,' and 'Bewitched.' Later he went on to collaborate with Oscar Hammerstein on the musicals, 'Oklahoma!,' 'Carousel,' 'South Pacific,' 'the King and I,' and 'The Sound of Music.' (Original airdate: 5/13/02)(2.) Founder of the band Wilco, JEFF TWEEDY. He also sings, writes songs, plays guitar and banjo. The band got started as an alternative country band, but has recently left that sound behind. Their new recording is 'Yankee Hotel Foxtrot' (Nonesuch). Before forming Wilco in 1994, TWEEDY headed the band Uncle Tupelo. (Original airdate: 5/2/02)(3.) Singer, songwriter and guitarist RICHARD THOMPSON. He first became known for his work with Fairport Convention. He's since gone solo and is known for his dark songs that blend elements of British folk ballads and the blues. He's released a number of solo albums, "Mirror Blue," and "Rumor and Sign." Rykodisc also compiled a retrospective of his work "Watching the Dark: The History of Richard Thompson." Recently, THOMPSON performed a show he calls 'A thousand Years of Pop Music,' which includes British and American folk songs, jazz and pop. (Original airdate: 10/24/02)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer, songwriter, musician and arranger BARRY MANILOW. He made the pop charts over and over again during the 1970s and early 80s with his love ballads like 'Mandy,' 'Looks Like We Made It,' 'I Write the Songs,' and 'Copacabana (At the Copa).‛ Before becoming a singer he was Bette Midler's accompanist and arranger. He's currently on tour and has a new album of material 'Here at the Mayflower' (his first pop album since the 1980s). (Original airdate: 3/21/02) (2.) Singer and Songwriter TOM WAITS. Since the 1973 release of his first album, 'Closing Time,' Waits has won over fans with his original songwriting and distinctive, gravelly vocal style. One reviewer calls Waits 'the Ultimate hobo boho, a Jack-in-the-box cum storyteller.' Musicians including Johnny Cash, Bruce Springsteen, and Rod Stewart have recorded covers of his songs. He has also acted in films, including Sylvester Stallone's 'Paradise Alley,' Jim Jarmusch's 'Down By Law,' and Robert Altman's 'Short Cuts.' Waits has two recent CDs; 'Alice' and 'Blood Money,' a pair of very different sounding albums, were written and produced by Tom Waits and his wife and long-time collaborator, Kathleen Brennan. (Original airdate: 5/21/02)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Catholic priest Christopher Schiavone (skee-ah-VONE-ay). He talks about living as a closeted homosexual in the priesthood, finally having an affair with a man, going into therapy and then leaving the ministry. All this occurred by 1992, years before the sexual abuse scandal. Schiavone wrote about his experience in an article in the December 8, 2002 issue of the Boston Globe Magazine. (www.boston.com/globe/)(This interview continues into the second half of the show.)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer NEIL BALDWIN is author of the book, 'Henry Ford and the Jews: The Mass Production of Hate' It's out in paperback. Baldwin details Ford's early obsession with moralistic writings condemning Jews for not accepting Christ. Shortly before World War I and continuing into the 30s he wrote a series of venomous anti-semitic essays in the newspaper 'The Dearborn Independent' (which he owned). In 1928 he collected many of the essays published in 1920 under the title, 'The International Jew: The World's Foremost Problem.' He also published 'The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion.' BALDWIN is executive director of the National Book Foundation. He's also the author of 'Legends of the Plumed Serpent: Biography of a Mexican God,' 'Edison: Inventing the Century,' and 'Man Ray: American Artist.' (Original airdate: 1/14/02) (2.) We remember poet and essayist LUCY GREALY ("GRAY-lee"). She died last month at the age of 39. As a child, GREALY spent five years being treated for cancer, which left her face disfigured. She had over thirty reconstructive procedures and years of living with a distorted self-image. She wrote "Autobiography of a Face" in 1994, her memoir about coming to terms with looking less than perfect in a society that values female beauty. No cause of death was announced, but friends indicated she was despondent of late. Her last book was "As seen on TV," published in 2000. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN. She reviews 'Marriage: A Duet.' It's a book of two novellas by Anne Taylor Fleming.

Interview with Ray Harryhausen, Mark Caballero and Seamus Walsh; Interview with Susan Raymond and Alan Raymond. January 6, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885003].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RAY HARRYHAUSEN, master special effects artist. He created model-animation and composite cinematography techniques. His trademark Dynamation method made possible a whole genre of science fiction and fantasy filmmaking. His films include The Seventh Voyage of Sinbad, Jason and the Argonauts and Clash of the Titans. (2.) Filmmakers SUSAN and ALAN RAYMOND. They are the creators of the original TV reality show 'An American Family.' The 1973 PBS series chronicled the daily lives of the Loud Family. Tonight, the new film 'Lance Loud: A Death in an American Family' premieres on PBS(January 6 2003) at 9:00 pm. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist RICHARD PRICE is the author of the bestselling novels, Clockers about life in the inner city world of drug dealing (which was made into a film) and Freedomland which was inspired by the real life incident in which a woman alleged a black man carjacked her and took her two children. PRICE's new book Samaritan (Knopf) is about a man who returns to the New Jersey town where he was raised and to teaching, and the bad consequences of his good intentions. PRICE also is a screenwriter with such notable films: "Sea of Love," "Ransom," and "The Color of Money." (2.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews two new recordings that rely on new technology: DJ Shadow's 'The Private Press' (on MCA) and 'The Best Bootlegs in the World. Ever.'

Interview with David Frum; Commentary on the meaning of the word "plastics." January 8, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885004].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Political commentator DAVID FRUM. From January 2001 to February 2002 he was a special assistant to President Bush for economic speech-writing. He held the position during the 9-11 attacks and he is the man responsible for the oft-repeated Bush term 'axis of evil.' FRUM is the author of the new book, 'The Right Man: The Surprise Presidency of George W. Bush' (Random House) an inside account of the White House. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the evolution of the meaning of the word 'plastics.'

Description of show segment(s)

Interview with Chuck Barris; Interview with Queen Latifah; Review of the film "Pianist." January 10, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885042].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CHUCK BARRIS is the creator of 'The Dating Game,' 'The Newlywed Game,' and 'The Gong Show.' He also composed the themes for each show. The new film 'Confessions of a Dangerous Mind' is based on BARRIS' 1980 autobiography in which he claims - while he was creating game shows - he was also a CIA assassin. 'Confessions of a Dangerous Mind' is George Clooney's directorial debut. (REBROADCAST from 1/28/86) (2.) Actress and rapper QUEEN LATIFAH (La-TEE-fah). She's currently starring in the film adaptation of 'Chicago' as Mama, a no-nonsense prison warden. She also has a new CD, 'She's a Queen: A Collection of Hits' (Motown). At the age of 19, LATIFAH was the first female solo rapper to have a major record deal. She also had breakthrough roles in TV's "Living Single" and in Spike Lee's "Jungle Fever" and had a leading role in the film "Living Out Loud." LATIFAH is the author of the memoir "Ladies First: Revelations of a Strong Woman." (REBROADCAST from 3/15/99) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Pianist.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Congresswoman and lawyer ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON. In her forty years of public service she's championed for civil rights, helped write the guidelines that are now established in the Sexual Harrassment Act, worked for reform in South Africa, and has argued before the Supreme Court. Her titles have included Commissioner on Human rights in New York, the first woman appointed to chair the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and law professor. HOLMES NORTON is the subject of the new biography 'Fire in My Soul' (Simon Schuster) written by a long time friend, Joan Steinau Lester. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the 3rd album by singer-songwriter Joseph Arthur. It's called 'Redemption's Son.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director ROB MARSHALL. He directed and choreographed the new film adaptation of 'Chicago.' It stars Richard Gere, Catherine Zeta-Jones, Renee Zellweger, and Queen Latifah. Previously, MARSHALL won an Emmy for Best Choreography for his work on the movie musical 'Annie.' He also directed and choreographed the acclaimed revival of 'Cabaret.' His other choreography credits include the revival of 'A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum' and the revival of 'Damn Yankees.' (2.) PAUL BOGAEV ('Bo-GAVE') supervised and conducted the music for the film adaptation of 'Chicago.' His previous credits include the Broadway musicals 'Aida,' 'Sunset Boulevard,' and 'Aspects of Love.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist FLOYD NORRIS is chief financial correspondent for The New York Times. He'll discuss the Bush administration's economic plan including the tax break on stock dividends. (2.) Actor MICHAEL CHIKLIS. He stars as rouge cop Del Vik Mackey in the FX channel drama series, 'The Shield.' Last year, CHIKLIS, in the first year of the series, won an Emmy for Outstanding Lead Actor in a Drama Series. The series has just begun its second season (TUES nights at 10 PM). Previously, CHIKLIS starred in 'The Commish.' Over the years, he's also had guest appearances on 'Seinfeld,' 'L.A. Law,' 'Miami Vice,' and 'Wise Guy.' (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews two albums: 'Gong with wind suite' from Lee Konitz and Matt Wilson, and the newly remastered 'Theme and Variations' from John La Porta.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) SENATOR JOSEPH and HADASSAH LIEBERMAN. Senator Lieberman was Al Gore's running mate in the 2000 presidential election. He and his wife have just written a memoir of the campaign, entitled 'An Amazing Adventure: Joe and Hadassah's Personal Notes on the 2000 Campaign.' Joe Lieberman is a Democratic senator from Connecticut serving his third term. On Monday he announced he would be running as a Democratic candidate for President in 2004. (2.) PATRICIA STEPHENS DUE and TANANARIVE DUE have collaborated on the new book, 'Freedom in the Family: A Mother-Daughter Memoir of the Fight for Civil Rights.' (Ballintine Books). PATRICIA DUE was a civil rights activist with CORE (Congress of Racial Equality) and was part of the movement's landmark 'jail-in'? in which protestors served time instead of paid a fine for the so-called crime of sitting at a Woolworth lunch counter. She worked with many of the movements great figures during the sixties. TANANARIVE DUE is a former features writer for The Miami Herald, and has written the novels 'The Black Rose,' 'My Soul to Keep,' and 'The Living Blood.'

Interview with Matt Damon; Interview with John Ridley; Review of the new film "The Hours." January 17, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884613].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor MATT DAMON. His film "The Bourne Identity" is being released on DVD next week. "The Bourne Identity" is a thriller about a man with amnesia flushed out of the Mediterranean Sea, riddled with bullet holes. DAMON has been in many hit films, including "The Talented Mr. Ripley," "Saving Private Ryan" and "Good Will Hunting," which he co-wrote with close friend Ben Affleck. (Original broadcast: 6/19/02)(2.) Writer JOHN RIDLEY. He wrote the screenplay for the film "Undercover Brother," which began life as a web site animation. The film, now out on DVD, is an action comedy which pokes fun at black action films of the 70s and racial stereotypes. Ridley's latest novel is "A Conversation with the Mann," about a black comic in the civil rights era of the early sixties. (Original broadcast: 1/10/02).(3.) Film critic JOHN POWERS. He reviews the new film "The Hours."

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Psychologist PUMLA GOBODO-MADIKIZELA. ('POOM-la go-BO-doh mah-dee-kee-ZAY-la') Her new book is 'A Human Being Died That Night: A South African Story of Forgiveness.' It's about Eugene de Kock, the commanding officer of state-sanctioned apartheid death squads. GOBODO-MADIKIZELA served as psychologist on South Africa's Truth and Reconciliation Commission, and she spent many hours interviewing de Kock in prison, where he has been serving a 212 year sentence for crimes against humanity. The book raises questions about the nature of evil and the limits of forgiveness. (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'Clone High,' a new animated series on MTV.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor KEVIN SPACEY. He's a two-time Academy Award winner for his performances in 'The Usual Suspects' and 'American Beauty.' His other films include 'L.A. Confidential,' 'Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil,' 'The Negotiator,' and 'The Shipping News.' On television he was a regular in the series 'The Wiseguy.' In 1997 Spacey formed Trigger Street Productions which has produced plays on Broadway, as well as films. Recently SPACEY launched TriggerStreet.com, an interactive web site dedicated to nurturing and development of undiscovered talent. SPACEY's new film is 'The Life of David Gale.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Christian Bauman; Commentary on reality television shows; Review of Cody Chesnutt's new music album "The Headphone Masterpiece." January 22, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884151].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) First time novelist CHRISTIAN BAUMAN ('Bow-man'). His book 'The Ice Beneath You' (Scribner) is based on his experiences as a young army private in Somalia in 1993, and his difficult return to civilian life. Hubert Selby, Jr. the author of 'Last Exit to Brooklyn' said of Bauman's novel, 'Beautifully crafted, structured, and simple. . . . It is a pleasure to read the work of a real writer.' BAUMAN is also a folksinger and songwriter with a CD, 'Christian Bauman: roaddogs, assasins, and the queen of ohio' (Black Potatoe Records) (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI considers the glut of reality shows. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'The Headphone Masterpiece,' the new CD by singer/songwriter Cody Chesnutt.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) A talk about the new peace movement with several individuals: TODD GITLIN was a leader of the peace movement in the 1960s. He is a former president of SDS (Students for a Democratic Society), and author of a number of books including 'The Sixties: Years of Hope, Days of Rage,' and 'Media Unlimited.' GITLIN is also a professor or journalism and sociology at Columbia University. (2.) MARA VERHEYDEN HILLIARD is on the steering committee of the group International ANSWER (Act Now to Stop War & End Racism). The group organized last Saturday's peace rally in Washington D.C. (3.) BOB EDGAR is General Secretary of the National Council of Churches, and a United Methodist minister. He is also co-chair of the Win Without War coalition. Last year he led a delegation of clergy and lay leaders to visit Iraq.

Interview with Chris and Paul Weitz; Interview with Garth Fagan; Review of the film "City of god." January 24, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884608].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Directors CHRIS and PAUL WEITZ. Their film, 'About a Boy,' is based on the novel by Nick Hornby. It's just been released on DVD and video. The Weitz brothers, born to fashion designer John Weitz and Oscar nominated actress Susan Kohner, first became famous for directing the 1999 teen comedy, 'American Pie.' They also wrote the screenplay for the animated movie 'Antz' and directed the Chris Rock movie 'Down to Earth.' They live in New York. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (REBROADCAST from June 5, 2002.) (2.) Dancer GARTH FAGAN. He's the Tony Award winning choreographer of Broadway's 'The Lion King.' He is the founder and artistic director of the critically acclaimed group Garth Fagan Dance. Fagan is a Distinguished University Professor of the State University of New York. He's won many awards and fellowships, including a Guggenheim. His troupe is currently on tour. (REBROADCAST from 10/29/01) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'City of God.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director MARTIN SCORSESE discusses his new film 'Gangs of New York' set in pre-civil war New York city about the street warfare between immigrant groups. It's inspired by the book 'The Gangs of New York' published in 1927 by journalist Herbert Asbury. (2.) Historian TYLER ANBINDER has written about the Five Points neighborhood in Lower Manhattan which is the setting for Martin Scorsese's new film. ANBINDER's book is 'Five Points: The 19th-Century New York City Neighborhood that Invented Tap Dance, Stole Elections, and Became the World's Most Notorious Slum' (A Plum book). ANBINDER is an associate professor of history at George Washington University.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JOSEPH CIRINCIONE ('suh-RIN-see-OH-nee') specializes in defense and proliferation issues at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. He is Senior Associate and Director, Non-Proliferation Project. The Endowment has just published the new report 'Iraq: What Next?' which examines the weapons inspection process so far. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the phrase 'class-warfare.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ALEXANDER TSIARAS ('TEA-see-ARE-us') is a pioneer in the field of medical imaging technology. In the new book, 'From Conception to Birth: a Life Unfolds' (Doubleday) he collects the images of the fetus in every stage of its development. The three-dimensional color visualizations are culled from a variety of medical image techniques and then reconfigured on the computer. TSIARAS is also a photojournalist and an artist. His previous book is 'The Death Rituals of Rural Greece.' He is also president and CEO of Anatomical Travelogue, Inc. (2.) Book Critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'The Time of Our Singing' by Richard Powers.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer and director TERRY GILLIAM. (GILL-ie-um') His new film is 'Lost in La Mancha.' It's a documentary about Gilliam's failed attempt to adapt the story of Don Quixote to the screen. The film Gilliam was supposed to make was titled 'The Man Who Killed Don Quixote,' starring Johnny Depp, Vanessa Paradis and Jean Rochefort. Gilliam is a former member of the legendary Monty Python comedy troupe. Gilliam was responsible for the Monty Python TV show's quirky opening credit sequence. He went on to write and direct such classic films as 'Monty Python and the Holy Grail,' 'Brazil,' 'The Adventures of Baron Munchhausen,' '12 Monkeys' and the more recent 'Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas,' an adaptation of the Hunter S. Thompson novel. (2.) British actor SIMON RUSSELL BEALE. He's currently performing in the Brooklyn Academy of Music's concurrent productions of Twelfth Night and Uncle Vanya. Beale is a member of London's acclaimed Donmar Warehouse company. He plays Malvolio in Twelfth Night and Vanya in Uncle Vanya. The performances run through March 9, 2003. Beale has won a number of Olivier Awards (the most prestigious London theater honor) and has appeared in several films, including An Ideal Husband and The Temptation of Franz Schubert. (3.) Classical Music critic
Lloyd Schwartz reviews a new series of operetta re-issues on DRG and Ralph Bentazky's Bewitched Maiden on the Preiser label.

Commentary on Norman Mailer; Interview with Norman Mailer; Interview with Melle Mel; Review of two new television series ABC's 'Dragnet,' and NBC's 'Kingpin.' January 31, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884840].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reflects on the career of author Norman Mailer, who turns 80 today. (2.) Writer NORMAN MAILER. Mailer's books, including "The Naked and the Dead," "Armies of the Night," and "The Executioner's Song," have established him as one of America's most important authors. We'll talk about his career, and his work. His new book is 'The Spooky Art,' to be released today, on his 80th birthday. (original airdate: 10/8/91) (3.) Rapper MELLE MEL. (pronounced 'melly mel') When the hit rap song The Message, by Grandmaster Flash and the Furious Five, came out twenty years ago, many rappers regarded it as an inspiration as well as a political message. Now The Message has been selected as one of the greatest songs of all time by the Library of Congress. The L of C has added The Message to its National Recording Registry. MELLE MEL was the original vocalist on The Message. (original airdate: 8/4/92) (4.) TV critic David Bianculli reviews two new series: ABC's 'Dragnet,' and NBC's 'Kingpin.' Both premiere Sunday.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist ELIZABETH NEUFFER. She's the Foreign Affairs/UN Correspondent for the Boston Globe. She recently returned from Iraq, where she is reporting on the preparations for war. She's also reported on the war on terrorism from Afghanistan. Her recent book, 'The Key to My Neighbor's House: Seeking Justice in Bosnia and Rwanda,' (Picador USA-in paperback) is about the war crimes tribunals and the efforts of victims to find justice. Neuffer was on Fresh Air in December 2002, speaking about journalist's boot camp in preparation for war coverage. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Crazy: The Demo
Sessions' (Sugar Hill records) a collection of songs Willie Nelson wrote and recorded between 1960 and 1966, hoping to sell them to the big stars of the country era.

Interview with Jerry Linenger; Commentary on blues singer Wynonie Harris. February 4, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884472].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Retired U.S. Navy flight surgeon and NASA astronaut CAPT. JERRY LINENGER ("Lin-en-ger") talks about the awe and peril of space travel. He spent five months on the Russian Space station MIR and wrote about the account in his book, 'Off the Planet: Surviving Five Perilous Months Aboard the Space Station Mir." He described the Mir as "six school buses all hooked together." During his time there, they had numerous brushes with death, lacked adequate supplies, and battled constant system failures. LINENGER's new book is 'Letters from MIR: An Astronaut's Letters to His Son' (McGraw Hill). He wrote the letters to his then 14 month old son. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian EDWARD profiles blues singer Wynonie Harris who recorded between 1945 and 1952.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) PETER W. GALBRAITH is a former U.S. ambassador to Croatia, and is now professor of national-security studies at the National War College in Washington D.C. Since the late 1980s he's been tracking Iraqi war crimes. He has also worked closely with the Kurds - who govern a small territory in Iraq. He'll talk with Terry about what a post-Saddam Iraq might look like. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) ROBERT JAY LIFTON is Distinguished Professor of Psychiatry and Psychology at the Graduate School University Center and Director of The Center on Violence and Human Survival at John Jay College of Criminal Justice at The City University of New York. He's written books on many topics, including the Japanese cult which released poison gas in the Tokyo subways, Nazi doctors, Hiroshima survivors and Vietnam vets. He'll discuss the emotional impact of the Columbia shuttle disaster and the impact of an impending war in Iraq, and dangerous situation in North Korea.

Interview with Ahmir Questlove Thompson; Interview with David Cross. February 6, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884843].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Drummer AHMIR THOMPSON, otherwise known as 'Questlove' ('Questlove') of the hip-hop group The Roots. The Grammy award-winning sextet has six albums to its credit. Their latest CD is 'Phrenolog.' Their first single from the album is 'Break You Off.' One reviewer writes, 'To fully savor the sound, you've got to commit to spending time with the Roots, to wallow in both the music and the message. There's Chuck Berry-style rock-and-roll, jazz fusion, funk, poetry, shoutouts to hip-hop pioneers, lyrical slaps upside the heads of money-mad rappers, black nationalism and some groove-laden neo-soul musings.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Stand-up comic DAVID CROSS. He co-created the 1995 HBO cult hit 'Mr. Show' (an amalgam of live sketch video pieces and occasional animation). He also wrote for the short-lived 'Ben Stiller Show.' One reviewer writes of Cross' act, 'foul mouthed and razor sharp, doesn't shy away from vicious social criticism and outright political dissent.' He has a new double CD of live standup, 'Shut Up You Fucking Baby' (Sub Pop).

Interview with Raja Shehadeh; Interview with Yossi Klein Halevi. February 6, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884772].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RAJA SHEHADEH ('RAH-zha sheh-HA-day') is a Palestinian lawyer and writer whose latest book is 'Strangers in the House: coming of Age in Occupied Palestine.' (Steer Forth Press) He is a founder of the nonpartisan human rights organization Al-Haq, an affiliate of the International Commission of Jurists, and author of several books about international law, human rights and the Middle East. Shehadeh lives in Ramallah. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) YOSSI KLEIN HALEVI ("yo-SEE klein ha-LAY-vee") is the Israeli correspondent for the New Republic magazine. He was born and raised in New York City. He's lived in Jerusalem since 1982. His book "Memoirs of Jewish Extremist: An American Story" is about his years first as a follower and then as an opponent of Rabbi Meir Kahane. His latest book is 'A the Entrance to the Garden of Eden: A Jew's Search for God With Christians and Muslims in the Holy Land" (William Morrow).

Interview with Michael Caine; Review of the film "How to lose a guy in ten days." February 7, 2003.
[Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884471].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor MICHAEL CAINE. He's made over 70 films, from "Alfie" to "Sleuth" to "Dirty Rotten Scoundrels" and "Hannah and Her Sisters." Caine has worked with such esteemed directors as Brian DePalma, John Huston, and Woody Allen. His autobiography is, "What's It All About?" He's starring in the new film 'The Quiet American' based on the Graham Green murder mystery centered on a love triangle set during the French Indochina War in Vietnam around 1952. (REBROADCAST FROM 11/17/92) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'How to Lose a Guy in Ten Days.'

Interview with Dean Kamen; Interview with Bruce Lee Livingston; Review of Shania Twain's new album, "Up!" February 10, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884842].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) BRUCE LEE LIVINGSTON is Executive Director of Senior Action Network, a grassroots organization dedicated to improving the lives of seniors in the San Francisco area. San Francisco is the first city to ban the Segway from sidewalks. LIVINGSTON led the opposition to the Segway. (2.) Inventor DEAN KAMEN. He invented the Segway ('SEG-way' like 'segue') Human Transporter, a high-tech scooter. The scooter relies on sensors, solid-state gyroscopes, and software to produce a balanced ride even over rough terrain. The price tag is around {dollar}5,000. KAMEN's other inventions include a portable drug-infusion pump, a compact dialysis machine and a wheelchair that can climb stairs. KAMEN heads DEKA Research & Development Corporation in New Hampshire. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Up!' the new double CD by country star Shania Twain.

Interview with Alain de Botton; Interview with David Benioff; Review of Fred Hess' "Extended Family." February 11, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884823].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer ALAIN de BOTTON. He's the author of several books including 'How Proust Can Change Your Life,' and 'The Consolations of Philosophy.' His latest book 'The Art of Travel,' (Pantheon Books) is a reflection on travel: the anticipation versus the reality, how one often travels to escape the familiar and mundane - but can't escape oneself, and an examination of the art and literature of travel. (2.) Novelist DAVID BENIOFF ('BEN-ee-off') is the author of '25th Hour.' His book, about a former drug dealer in New York City out on the town on the eve of being sent to a penitentiary. It's the basis of the new Spike Lee film of the same name.

Description of show segment(s)

Interview with Nicholas Kristof; Commentary on the word "gallic." February 13, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884824].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Editorial columnist for The New York Times, NICHOLAS KRISTOF discusses the North Korea crisis. He's covered North and South Korea off and on since 1986. He's served as the Times bureau chief in Hong Kong, Beijing and Tokyo. He was co-recipient of the Pulitzer Prize for international reporting for his coverage of Tienamen Square. In a recent column for the Times (4 Feb 2003) he writes, 'The North Korean nuclear crisis is far more perilous than many people realize.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG comments on the increased usage of the adjective 'gallic.' He says it's like a shorthand for 'the French are at it again.'

Interview with Matt Matt Groening; Interview with Al Jean and Mike Reiss; Interview with Alf Clausen; Interview with Julie Kavner; Interview with Harry Shearer. February 14, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884818].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The creator of the Simpsons MATT GROENING (pronounced graining ). He talkswith DAVID BIANCULLI about the series. This Sunday (2/16/03), TV's longestrunning animated series will broadcast its 300th episode. The Simpsons werefirst featured during episodes of the Tracey Ullman Show. The Simpsons ownprime time series premiered in 1990. (Original airdate: 4/22/98) (2.) Simpsons producers AL JEAN and MIKE REISS. ("RICE") Both have been withthe show since it went on the air. They're part of the "Harvard Mafia," comedywriters from Harvard who have influenced the comedy business from "SaturdayNight Live" to "The Muppet Show." (Original airdate: 7/17/92) (3.) Composer ALF CLAUSEN. He's the man behind the music of "The Simpsons."(Original airdate: 5/14/97) (4.) Actress JULIE KAVNER. In her first professional role, she played BrendaMorgenstern, the insecure younger sister of the title character, in the television series "Rhoda." She landed an Emmy award for that role. Also on television, she co-starred in "The Tracey Ullman Show" and now can be heard as the unforgettable voice of Marge on the animated sitcom, "The Simpsons," forwhich she also won an Emmy. (Original airdate: 2/3/94) (5.) Satirist HARRY SHEARER. Shearer has an diverse career: he does many of the voices on the TV series "The Simpsons," he has a weekly program on manypublic radio stations called "Le Show," he often has character roles in movies, and he's one of the members of the classic heavy metal

---

Interview with Shirley glass; Interview with Randall Kennedy. February 17, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884834].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Psychotherapist DR. SHIRLEY GLASS discusses 'the new infidelity crisis.' She's studied extramarital affairs since the mid 1970's and has written a new book called 'NOT Just Friends: Protect Your Relationship from Infidelity and Heal the Trauma of Betrayal.' She says that the workplace has become the new breeding ground for extramarital affairs. GLASS is, by the way, the mother of Ira Glass, of public radio's 'This American Life.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Harvard law professor RANDALL KENNEDY. He'll talk about the fears and controversies surrounding interracial relationships in the United States which is he subject of his new book, 'Interracial Intimacies: Sex, Marriage, Identity and Adoption.' He is also author of the book 'Nigger: The Strange Career of a Troublesome Word.' KENNEDY is a Rhode Scholar and he served as a law clerk to Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall.

---

Interview with Scott Turow; Interview with Mike Waller. February 18, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884819].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Lawyer, former federal prosecutor and best-selling novelist SCOTT TUROW. Last month, before leaving office, Illinois Governor George Ryan commuted the sentences of all inmates on Illinois' Death Row. TUROW served on the Governor's commission to evaluate capital punishment. TUROW's latest book is 'Reversible Errors.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Lake County State's attorney MIKE WALLER who also served on former Illinois Governor George Ryan's commission to evaluate capital punishment.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalists THOMAS RICKS and VERNON LOEB. They cover the military for The Washington Post. They'll discuss military preparedness for the war with Iraq. They collaborated on the special report "Unrivaled Military Feels Strains of Unending War: For U.S. Forces, a Technological Revolution and a Constant Call to Do More" (Sunday, Feb 16th) In it they write, "The more capable the U.S. military has become, the more it has been asked to do, and now strains are beginning to show." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Alexander Payne; Interview with Alvin Youngblood Hart; Commentary on language. February 20, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884821].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film maker ALEXANDER PAYNE. He directed and co-wrote the satirical films 'Citizen Ruth' and 'Election.' His newest film 'About Schmidt' is also a social satire. It stars Jack Nicholson and Kathy Bates who have both been nominated for Academy Awards for their roles. 'About Schmidt' is loosely based on the novel of the same name by Louis Begley. PAYNE and co-writer Jim Taylor won the Golden Glove for best screenplay for 'About Schmidt.' (2.) Singer and musician ALVIN YOUNGBLOOD HART. His album 'Down in The Alley' (Memphis International) has been nominated for a Grammy as Best Traditional Blues Recording. He's been playing acoustic blues for nearly 20 years. Though he was raised in California, his roots musically and otherwise are in rural Mississippi. He was influenced by Charlie Patton, Leadbelly, Blind Willie McTell and others. Later he was also influenced by Jimi Hendrix and Taj Mahal. (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the word 'appeasement' which is being used in the debate about the war in Iraq. The word doesn't have favorable connotations.
Interview with Kevin Spacey; Review of 50 Cent's Get Rich or Die Tryin?. February 21, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884832]

Description of show segment(s)

1. Actor KEVIN SPACEY. He's a two-time Academy Award winner for his performances in The Usual Suspects and American Beauty. His other films include L.A. Confidential, Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil, The Negotiator, and The Shipping News. On television he was a regular in the series The Wiseguy. In 1997 Spacey formed Trigger Street Productions which has produced plays on Broadway, as well as films. Recently SPACEY launched TriggerStreet.com, an interactive website dedicated to nurturing and development of undiscovered talent. SPACEY's new film, The Life of David Gale, hits theatres this weekend. This interview first aired January 21, 2003 (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

2. Rock Critic Ken Tucker reviews 'Get Rich or Die Tryin'" (Interscope Records), the new CD from rapper 50 Cent.

---

Description of show segment(s)

1. STEPHEN LEWIS. He is the United Nations Special Envoy for HIV/AIDS in Africa talks about the current state of the AIDS crisis there. He recently returned from a tour of Lesotho, Zimbabwe, Malawi, and Zambia, where he was investigating links between hunger and AIDS. He is the former Deputy Executive Director of UNICEF and was the Canadian ambassador to the UN from 1984-1988. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)

---

Description of show segment(s)

1. New York Times columnist PAUL KRUGMAN. He is a professor of Economics and International Affairs at Princeton University. His research is mainly in the areas of international trade and finance. He is one of the founders of the "new trade theory." Krugman has also written and edited many books. His most recent book is "Fuzzy Math," on the Bush tax cut. (2.) Columnist BRUCE BARTLETT. He is a senior fellow at the National Center for Policy Analysis. His twice-weekly column on economic policy is published in The Washington Times and Detroit News and is nationally syndicated. He was Deputy Assistant Secretary for Economic Policy at the U.S. Treasury Department, from September 1988 to January 1993. In 1987 and 1988, Bartlett was a Senior Policy Analyst in the Office of Policy Development at the White House. Before that, he was a Senior Fellow at the Heritage Foundation in Washington, D.C.

---

Interview with Aminatta Forna; Interview with John Kander. February 26, 2003. Link to record with audio file.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer AMINATTA FORNA. (AM-me-na-ta FORE-na) When she was ten years old, her father, a doctor and advocate for democracy in Sierra Leone, was executed for treason. As an adult, FORNA returned to Sierra Leone to investigate the circumstances surrounding her father's death. Her memoir is called "The Devil That Danced on the Water: A Daughter's Quest" (Grove/Atlantic). FORNA is a broadcast journalist living in London. (2.) Composer JOHN KANDER. With his writing partner, Fred Ebb, Kander wrote the music for the original Broadway musical "Chicago." The movie version of "Chicago" is nominated for 13 Academy Awards this year. Kander and Ebb are nominated for their song "I Move On." Kander and Ebb also wrote the music for the shows "Cabaret," "The Act," "Woman of the Year," and "Flora the Red Meance, and the Martin Scorsese movie musical "New York, New York." Both Chicago and Caberet have recently been revived on Broadway.

---

Interview with Bernard Goldberg; Interview with Eric Alterman; Review of the film "Donnie Darko." February 27, 2003. Link to record with audio file.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former CBS reporter and producer BERNARD GOLDBERG. His bestselling book is 'BIAS: A CBS Insider Exposes How the Media Distort the News.' He claims that nearly all the media put a liberal spin on the news. Goldberg worked for CBS for nearly 30 years and won seven Emmy awards. He now works for HBO's Real Sports with Bryant Gumbel. (2.) Journalist ERIC ALTERMAN. His new book is 'What Liberal Media? The Truth about BIAS and the News.' While most critics of the media say reporters are too liberal, Alterman contends the opposite is true, and that the bulk of reporting is quite conservative. Alterman currently writes for the Nation and the Altercation weblog. He's been a contributing editor or writer for Worth, Rolling Stone, Elle, Mother Jones, World Policy Journal and The Sunday Express (London). (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN comments on the DVD release of 'Donnie Darko,' starring Jake Gyllenhaal.

---

Commentary on Fred Rogers; Obituary for Fred Rogers; Review of the film "All the real girls." February 28, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884754].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reflects on the career of the late FRED ROGERS. (2.) Children's TV host FRED ROGERS. He died February 27, 2003 at the age of 74. The cause was stomach cancer. His popular show 'Mister Rogers' Neighborhood' was the longest-running program on public television. It ran 33 years and ended its run in 2001. Last year, ROGERS was awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the highest civilian honor the nation can bestow. Barbara Bogaev conducted this interview. (Original airdate: 11/13/02) (3.) We present an earlier interview with FRED ROGERS. Terry Gross spoke with him in 1985, when Fresh Air was not yet a national show. (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'All the Real Girls.'

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) PAUL GOLDBERGER, architecture critic for The New Yorker Magazine. The design for the World Trade Center site has been chosen. Architect Daniel Libeskind ('LEE-biz-khind') created the winning proposal. GOLDBERGER will describe the selection process and comment on the winning design. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Critic MILO MILES

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Former soldier ANTHONY SWOFFORD. He served in a U.S. Marine Corps Surveillance and Target Acquisition/Scout-Sniper platoon during the Gulf War. As such, he was on the frontline. He's written the new memoir, 'Jarhead: A Marine's Chronicle of the Gulf War and Other Battles' (Scribner). Journalist Mark Bowden (author of 'Black Hawk Down') writes of the memoir, 'Jarhead is some kind of classic, a bracing memoir of the 1991 Persian Gulf War that will go down with the best books ever written about military life.' SWOFFORD attended the University of Iowa Writers' Workshop. He's currently a Michener-Copernicus Fellowship recipient. (2.) We remember singer/ songwriter HANK BALLARD. He wrote and recorded the song Chubby Checker later made famous, 'The Twist.' Ballard died Sunday after a bout with throat cancer. This interview was recorded in 1993. (3.) Violinist and conductor GIDON KREMER. He began studying violin at the age of four and later attended the Moscow Conservatory. Over the years he's been awarded the most prestigious violinist prizes including the Tchaikovsky competition in Moscow and the Paganini Competition in Genoa. His repertoire is extensive including the standard classical and Romantic violin works as well as works by Arvo Part, John Adams and Astor Piazzolla. He has more than one hundred recordings to his credit. His latest is 'Happy Birthday' (on Nonesuch). In 1996 KREMER founded the Kremerata Baltica, a chamber orchestra to foster outstanding musicians from the three Baltic States ? which has toured and recorded. In 1997 KREMER took over the leadership of the Musiksommer Gstaad in Switzerland.

Interview with Albert Mohler; Interview with Charles Kimball. March 5, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884845].

Description of show segment(s)
Christian missionaries ? mainline and evangelical ? want to go to Iraq to provide humanitarian aid. But their presence would be troubling for many Muslims who are suspicious that aid is just a cover for their true motive: converting Muslims to Christianity. We talk with two individuals with different views on the subject: (1.) ALBERT MOHLER is a minister and President of The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He's considered a leader among American evangelicals. Southern Baptists are pledging to go into Iraq to provide humanitarian aid. (2.) CHARLES KIMBALL is professor of religion, an ordained Baptist minister, and the author of the new book, 'When Religion Becomes Evil' (Harper). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former partner-in-charge of Ethics & Responsible Business Practices consulting services for Arthur Andersen, BARBARA LEY TOFFLER. She's the co-author of the new book, 'Final Accounting: Ambition, Greed, and the Fall of Arthur Andersen' (with Jennifer Reingold, Broadway Books). TOFFLER writes about life inside the firm. She left before it collapsed in the wake of the Enron scandal. TOFFLER now teaches at Columbia University's Business School. (2.) British filmmakers DAN GORDON and NICK BONNER. GORDON is a sports journalist and BONNER is a specialist on North Korea. They collaborated on the documentary 'The Game of Their Lives' about the most shocking upset in World Cup History: It was July 19, 1966, and the scrappy underdog North Korean team beat the favored Italians, whose players were some of the finest and well paid in the world. Later the Koreans lost in the quarterfinals to Portugal. Then the players returned home and disappeared from view. After years of effort, GORDON and BONNER were given permission to enter North Korea and to interview the seven surviving members of the North Korean team. The documentary has been on tour and can be seen in Chicago, March 5th, and at the San Francisco International Asian American film Festival (Mar 8, 10 and 15th). (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'A Ship Made of Paper' the new novel by Scott Spencer (Ecco).
Interview with Dan Briody; Interview with Christopher Ullman. March 6, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885102].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Business journalist DAN BREODY ('Bry-O-de'). He's the author of 'The Iron Triangle: Inside the Secret World of the Carlyle Group' (Wiley). The Carlyle Group is one of the most powerful and well-connected private equity firms in the world. Its investments - most notably - in timely defense and aerospace industries has made it highly profitable. The group's roster includes or has included former President George Bush Sr, (advisor), former secretary of defense Frank Carlucci (former chairman), Saudi Arabian prince Alwaleed Bin Talal (investor) and former secretary of state, James Baker III (managing director and senior counselor). BREODY writes, that it 'operates within the so-called iron triangle of industry, government, and the military' and that it 'leaves itself open to any number of conflicts of interest and stunning ironies.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Vice President for Corporate Communications and spokesman for The Carlyle Group, CHRISTOPHER ULLMAN.

Interview with Lawrence O'Donnell; Commentary on reality television; Review of Simon Nabatov's new album 'Perpetuum Immobile.' March 6, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884750].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) TV Producer LAWRENCE O'DONNELL. He's the creator and producer of NBC's new series 'Mr. Sterling' about a freshman senator on Capitol Hill. Previously O'DONNELL was a writer and producer for the first two seasons of NBC's 'The West Wing.' Before his television career, O'DONNELL was in politics himself. He was Democratic chief of staff of the United States Senate Committee on Finance from 1993 to 1995. Prior to that he was senior advisor to Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan from 1989 to 1992. Currently O'DONNELL is also senior political analyst for MSNBC. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI on some of the newer reality-TV shows like 'Married by America' and 'Joe Millionaire.' (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Perpetuum Immobile' (on the Leo label) by pianist Simon Nabatov.
Interview with Clint Eastwood; Interview with Robert Rodriguez; Review of the film "Tears of the sun." March 7, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884752].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor CLINT EASTWOOD. He'll receive the Lifetime Achievement Award Sunday at the Screen Actor's Guild Awards. EASTWOOD reached stardom in the spaghetti westerns such as "A Fistful of Dollars," and "The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly." Then he became known for his role in a number of films as police inspector Harry Callahan, otherwise known as "Dirty Harry." He was director and played the lead in "Play Misty for Me," and "Unforgiven." EASTWOOD is an avid jazz fan; he also directed "Bird" which starred Forest Whitaker as Charlie Parker, and he produced "Straight No Chaser" a documentary about Thelonious Monk. (REBROADCAST from 11/21/96) (2.) Film maker ROBERT RODRIGUEZ. He's literally THE man behind the family adventure films 'Spy Kids' and 'Spy Kids 2.' His list of credits include: writer/director/producer/director of photography/production designer/editor/visual effects supervisor/sound designer/re-recording mixer/and composer. His first feature film was 'El Mariachi' which he made in 1993 for $7,000. It won the Audience Award for best dramatic film at the Sundance Film Festival and was the first American film released in Spanish. He wrote a book about making El Mariachi, 'Rebel Without a Crew.' 'Spy Kids 2' is now out on video. (REBROADCAST from 8/6/02) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Tears of the Sun' the new action film starring Bruce Willis.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) WALON GREEN is one of the executive producers of 'Dragnet' ? the remake of the 1950s crime drama set in Los Angeles. The new show revives the characters Detectives Joe Friday and Frank Smith. GREEN is a veteran producer and writer of other police dramas including 'Hill Street Blues,' 'NYPD Blue,' as well as the dramas 'ER' and 'Law & Order.' GREEN also wrote the screenplay for the classic Warner Bros. western 'The Wild Bunch' directed by Sam Peckinpah. He also wrote the screenplay for 'The Hi-Lo Country.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Gordon' (Pantheon) the novel by Edith Templeton first published in 1966 and banned in Europe for indecency.
Interview with Robert D. Kaplan; Interview with Peter Galbraith; Commentary on the word 'protest.' March 11, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884998].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Correspondent for The Atlantic Monthly, ROBERT KAPLAN. His story in the April edition of magazine is 'A Tale of Two Colonies.' KAPLAN traveled to Yemen and Eritrea to investigate how the war on terrorism is forcing the U.S. to be involved with each. Yemen is believed to have the largest Al-Qaeda presence outside of the Afghanistan-Pakistan region. KAPLAN is the best known for his book 'Balkan Ghosts' which became the book that former President Clinton turned to before the U.S. involvement in the Bosnian crisis. His 1990 book, 'Soldiers of God: with Islamic Warriors in Afghanistan and Pakistan' has just been republished, updating the story. (2.) PETER W. GALBRAITH is a former U.S. ambassador to Croatia, and is now professor of national-security studies at the National War College in Washington D.C. Since the late 1980s he's been tracking Iraqi war crimes. He has also worked closely with the Kurds - who govern a small territory in Iraq. He'll talk about the effect of a war on the Kurdish people. (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG tracks the evolution of the word 'protest.'

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) James Bennett, Jerusalem Bureau Chief of the New York Times. He'll tell us about the current state of affairs between Israel and Palestine, and the impact war would have on the region. (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews new albums from The Buzzcocks and Paul Weller, the frontman from the band The Jam. The album titles are 'Buzzcocks' and 'Illumination.'
Interview with Philip Taubman; Commentary on the annual South By Southwest Music Conference. March 13, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885084].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist PHILIP TAUBMAN. His new book is 'Secret Empire: Eisenhower, the CIA, and the Hidden Story of America's Space Espionage.' During the Cold War, a small group of scientists, engineers, businessmen and government officials developed spy planes and spy satellites to collect information about Soviet arms. TAUBMAN is the deputy editorial page editor of the New York Times. He's reported on national security and intelligence issues for over twenty years. (2.) The annual South By Southwest Music Conference takes place in Austin, Texas from March 12-16 this year (www.sxsw.com). Rock Historian Ed Ward revisits the thriving Austin music scene of the late 1970s.

Interview with Quincy Jones; Review of the reissue of Clifford Jordan and John Gilmore's "Blowing in From Chicago." March 14, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885090].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Musician, producer, arranger, composer QUINCY JONES. He celebrates his 70th birthday today. In his fifty year career he's worked with just about anyone who is anybody in the music business. As a teenager he played backup for Billie Holiday, along with his 16 year old friend, Ray Charles. At 18 he began playing the trumpet in Lionel Hampton's band beside Clifford Brown. He went on to work with Count Basie, Frank Sinatra, Dinah Washington, Sarah Vaughn, Lesley Gore and many others. He wrote the theme songs for the TV shows 'Sanford & Son' and 'Ironside,' and music for the films 'In Cold Blood,' 'For the Love of Ivy,' and 'The Pawnbroker. His biggest commercial success was producing and arranging Michael Jackson's 1982 hit album 'Thriller.' (Original airdate: 11/5/01). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Blowin' in From Chicago,' a new reissue from tenor saxophonists Clifford Jordan and John Gilmore.

Description of show segment(s)

1. ROBERT DALLEK (DAL-lek) has written a new biography of John F. Kennedy called "An Unfinished Life" (Little, Brown & Co). He looked into medical records to reveal new information about Kennedy's health problems. He also discusses Kennedy's extramarital affairs and his life as a soldier. DALLEK is a professor of history at Boston University. He previously wrote the biography "Flawed Giant: Lyndon Johnson and His Times." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) 2. Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG looks at the new documentary "Spellbound" about eight contestants in the 1999 national spelling bee, and the history of the spelling bee. (3.) Music critic MILO MILES shares his thoughts on the New Orleans Jazz Fest.

Description of show segment(s)

1. Children's book author EOIN (pronounced 'Owen') COLFER. He's the creator of the Artemis Fowl series, featuring a twelve-year-old millionaire criminal mastermind. Two of the three books in the series have been on the New York Times best seller list. The books are a combination of science fiction, fantasy, fairy tale, and thriller. They are 'Artemis Fowl,' 'Artemis Fowl: The Arctic Incident' and 'Artemis Fowl: The Eternity Code.' COLFER lives in Ireland. (2.) British comedy duo SEAN FOLEY and HAMISH MCCOLL (together they are known as 'The Right Size') are the actor/ writers of the Broadway comedy, 'The Play What I Wrote.' One critic described it as 'full of music hall tricks, in jokes and surreal goonery.' It was a hit in London before coming to New York. The duo's work is heavily influenced by Vaudeville and the sight gags of Buster Keaton, Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd. Their plays 'Stop Calling Me Vernon' and 'Baldy Hopkins' were hits at the Edinburgh Festival. Their play 'Do You Come Here Often?' was a Olivier award winning comedy in England. FOLEY and MCCOLL met in Paris nearly 20 years ago... ago when they were learning to be clowns at the feet of Philippe Gaulier. (3.) Film critic David Edelstein reviews 'The Matrix Reloaded,' starring Keanu Reeves and Laurence Fishburne.

Interview with Kevin Conley; Interview with Andy Bellin; Obituary for June Carter Cash. March 16, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885099].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author KEVIN CONLEY. His book about breeding racehorses is now out in paperback. It's called 'STUD: Adventures in Breeding.' (Bloomsbury) STUD explores the process of creating champions, from the farms of Kentucky, where studs command a half million a pop, to the horse auctions, where the world's richest people compete for the top yearlings. CONLEY is an editor at The New Yorker. (Original airdate: 3/25/02) (2.) Writer ANDY BELLIN. His book 'Poker Nation: A High-Stakes, Low-Life Adventure into the Heart of a Gambling Country' is now out in paperback (HarperPerennial). Bellin is a graduate school dropout. He's an editor at the Paris Review and a semiprofessional poker player. (Original airdate: 3/28/02) (3.) We remember singer JUNE CARTER CASH, who died Thursday at the age of 73. She was a Grammy-award winning singer, a songwriter, musician, actress and author. She was married to the legendary Johnny Cash, and she came from the Carter Family, the country music pioneers. June Carter Cash died of complications from heart surgery. (Original airdate: 6/18/87)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pulitzer prize winning journalist THOMAS POWERS. His new book is 'Intelligence Wars: American Secret History from Hitler to Al-Qaeda' (New York Review Books). POWERS wrote about Iraq after the war in the New York Times article, 'The Man Who Would Be President' (Sunday, 3/16/03). He writes, 'What then happens to Iraq's 23 million people, its oil and its relations with its neighbors will remain the personal responsibility of Mr. Bush and his successors in the White House until one of them chooses to surrender it.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Humidity' (Palmetto label) the new CD by drummer Matt Wilson.
Interview with Michael Ignatieff; Interview with Chris Hedges; Review of the documentary film "Domestic violence;" Interview with Scott Spencer. March 18, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885088].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former New York Times Balkans Bureau Chief and Middle East Bureau Chief CHRIS HEDGES. He's currently living in New York. He's covered war zones in Central America, the Middle East, and the Balkans for over 20 years. He'll talk about the mindset of being at war. HEDGES is also the author of the book, 'War Is a Force That Gives Us Meaning.' (Public Affairs). (2.) MICHAEL IGNATIEFF is Professor of the Practice of Human Rights and the Director of the Carr Center of Human Rights Policy at Harvard University. He has traveled to Serbia, Croatia, Bosnia, Rwanda and Afghanistan. He discusses his reluctant support of a war on Iraq, and his concerns. (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Domestic Violence' the new two-part documentary by Frederick Wiseman which airs on PBS tonight. (4.) Novelist SCOTT SPENCER. His newest book is 'A Ship Made of Paper,' and it's receiving critical acclaim. Our book critic, Maureen Corrigan, describes Spencer as a brilliant storyteller. Spencer is the author of seven previous novels, including 'Endless Love' which sold over 2 million copies. He's also written for Rolling Stone, the New York Times and The New Yorker.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor CHRIS COOPER. He won an Academy Award for his performance as John Laroche in the film 'Adaptation.' His latest project is the HBO film 'My House in Umbria,' starring Maggie Smith. It debuts May 25, 2003. Cooper is also in the soon-to-be-released 'Seabiscuit,' and he had roles in 'American Beauty,' 'The Bourne Identity,' and 'The Horse Whisperer.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Beneath This Rough Exterior' the new album by John Hiatt. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews two new mysteries: 'Soul Circus' by George P. Pelecanos (Little, Brown), and 'The Dogs of Riga' by Henning Mankell (The new Press).
Interview with William Taubman; Interview with Michael Greenfeld and Mark Woollen; Commentary on movie scores. March 19, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885089].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) WILLIAM TAUBMAN (pronounced 'Tau' like 'cow') is a Political Science Professor at Amherst College and an expert on Russia. He has written many books on the Soviet Union. His latest is a biography of the Russian ruler Nikita Khrushchev who led the country after Stalin's death and attempted to de-Stalinize the country. It's called 'Khrushchev: The Man and His Era' (W.W. Norton). TAUBMAN will also discuss Russia's recent veto of the Security Council resolution on Iraq and Russia's relationship with Saddam Hussein. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) MARK WOOLEN and MICHAEL GREENFELD are both in the business of creating film trailers - the two-and-a half minute edited teasers that promote upcoming feature films. WOOLEN is the founder of Mark Woolen and Associates and their recent movie trailers include 'The Pianist,' 'Better Luck Tomorrow,' and 'American Splendor.' GREENFELD is partner and co-CEO of Antfarm. Their recent trailers include 'Chicago,' 'Lord of the Rings,' Adaptation,' and 'Confessions of a Dangerous Mind.' The Golden Trailers Awards were held last week. (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ considers the original Hollywood movie score from the Silent era to the present.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist ELIZABETH NEUFFER ('NEW-fur'). She's the Foreign Affairs/UN Correspondent for the Boston Globe. She recently returned from Iran. Earlier this year she was in Iraq. She's also reported on the war on terrorism from Afghanistan. She's also the author of the book, 'The Key to My Neighbor's House: Seeking Justice in Bosnia and Rwanda,' (Picador USA-in paperback) about the war crimes tribunals and the efforts of victims to find justice. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Staff writer for The New Yorker, PHILIP GOUREVITCH ('Gur-RAY-vitch'). He wrote a recent profile in the magazine about UN Secretary General Kofi Annan and the United Nations.
GOUREVITCH is the author of the book 'We Wish to Inform You That Tomorrow We Will Be Killed with Our Families: Stories from Rwanda' and his most recent book, 'A Cold Case.'

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Interview with Lynn Amowitz; Interview with James Warhola; Commentary on the early years of Velvet Underground. March 20, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884650].</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Description of show segment(s)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(1.) DR. LYNN AMOWITZ ('AM' as in 'ham') is a senior researcher for Physicians for Human Rights. She specializes in internal medicine, women's health and epidemiology. This week she returned from Iraq where she had been researching the condition of health care. AMOWITZ specializes in working in war torn communities. Over the years she's worked in Afghanistan, Kosovo, Sierra Leone, Zaire, and Nigeria. AMOWITZ also works at the Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Illustrator and writer JAMES WARHOLA. His new book is 'Uncle Andy's: A faabbbulous visit with Andy Warhol.' It's a children's story about going to visit Warhol in New York City. Warhola chronicles one of the many trips he took with his family from Pittsburgh to NYC. (3.) Rock Historian ED WARD on the formation of the Velvet Underground. This review is from our archives. (12/07/95)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Description of show segment(s)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| (1.) Canadian filmmaker GUY MADDIN. He's best known for his cult films 'Tales From the Gimli Hospital,' (1998) and 'Careful' (1992). In 1995 MADDIN was the youngest person to receive the Telluride Medal for Lifetime Achievement at the Telluride Film Festival. His short film 'The Heart of the World' made in 2000 won a special award from the National Society of Film Critics and was voted one of the ten best films of the year by J. Hoberman of the Village Voice and A.O. Scott of the New York Times. His new film 'Dracula: Pages From a Virgin's Diary' transforms the Royal Winnipeg Ballet's interpretation of Bram Stoker's classic story into a silent film. Reviewers describe it as 'quick-witted and dazzling,' and 'an erotic, gothic silent movie.' DRACULA is currently at the Film Forum in NYC May 14-27. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW. (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the series finale of 'Buffy the Vampire Slayer' and the season finale of '24.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) YOUSSEF M. IBRAHIM is an expert on energy and the Middle East. He is group editor at Energy Intelligence, a company that publishes news and provides data and analysis about international energy issues. IBRAHIM is also a Senior Fellow on the Council on Foreign Relations. Previously, IBRAHIM was a foreign correspondent for the New York Times, and Teheran Bureau Chief. He also covered energy for the Wall Street Journal. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Hampton Sides; Review of Smoking Popes' final album ?The party's over.? March 24, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885086].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian and journalist HAMPTON SIDES. He is reporting from Centcom in Qatar. Last week he wrote a piece in The New Yorker (March 24th edition) about his decision not to become 'embedded' with troops. SIDES is the author of the book, 'Ghost Soldiers: The Forgotten Epic Story of World War II's Most Dramatic Mission.' SIDES writes for Slate on-line magazine and is a contributing editor for Outside magazine. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'The Party's Over' by the Smoking Popes which they recorded in 1998 just before the band broke up. It's just been released.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pulitzer-prize winning journalist ROY GUTMAN. He is currently Senior Fellow at the U.S. Institute of Peace where he is on leave from his position as Newsweek Magazine's chief diplomatic correspondent. He is also director of American University's Crimes of War Project. GUTMAN won the Pulitzer prize in 1993 for his coverage of the war in Bosnia-Herzegovina, where he provided the first documented reports of concentration camps. He is co-editor of the book, 'Crimes of War: What the Public Should Know' (W.W. Norton, 1999) and is author of 'A Witness to Genocide: The 1993 Pulitzer Prize Winning Dispatches on Ethnic Cleansing of Bosnia' (Macmillan, 1993), and 'Banana Diplomacy: The Making of American Policy in Nicaragua, 1981-1987' (Simon and Schuster, 1988). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Joseph Galloway; Review of Kathy Dobie's memoir ?The Only Girl in the Car.? March 26, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884866].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JOSEPH GALLOWAY is Military Affairs Correspondent for Knight Ridder's Washington bureau. He's been a journalist for over four decades. He was a war correspondent in Vietnam and co-authored the national best-seller (with Lt. Gen (ret.) Hal G. Moore) 'We Were Soldiers Once. . . and Young: Ia Drang: The Battle That Changed the War in Vietnam.' He was the only civilian decorated with the medal of valor for his actions during the Vietnam war rescuing wounded soldiers under fire in the Ia Drang Valley. GALLOWAY also covered the first Gulf War. Recently GALLOWAY was special consultant to General Colin Powell at the State Department. GALLOWAY is also co-author of the book, 'Triumph Without Victory: The Unreported History of the Persian Gulf Conflict' (Times Books). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the new memoir, 'The Only Girl in the Car' by Kathy Dobie.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JON LANDAY is National Security Correspondent for the Knight Ridder Newspapers. At the time of the conversation he was about 30 miles from the city of Kirkuk in Northern Iraq. But he's not one of the embedded reporters. He's traveling as an independent journalist, with a driver and translator. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) JOHN BURNS is currently in Baghdad reporting for the New York Times. He is at the Palestine Hotel where there are about 100 other reporters. BURNS is the Islamabad Bureau Chief for the Times.

Interview with Christopher Dickey; Commentary on language. March 28, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884881].

Description of show segment(s)

(1) Journalist CHRISTOPHER DICKEY. He is Paris bureau chief and Middle East regional editor for Newsweek magazine. He's currently in Jordan. He'll discuss how Jordanians are reacting to the war and more. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the way politicians and journalists are pronouncing place names associated with the war on Iraq.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former fighter pilot KEITH ROSENKRANZ. During the first Gulf War, he flew thirty combat missions in his F-16. He wrote about the experience in his book, 'Vipers in the Storm: Diary of a Gulf War Fighter Pilot' (McGraw-Hill). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Poet SAM HAMILL. In January HAMILL was invited by First Lady Laura Bush to the White House for a symposium on poetry. Because of his opposition to the war it was not an invitation he welcomed. In response he created the website www.poetsagainstthewar.org inviting poets to submit their poems. Thousands of poets responded including Rita Dove, W.S. Merwin, Adrienne Rich, and Poet Laureate Billy Collins. When the White House heard about the site, the symposium was cancelled. A new anthology 'Poets Against The War' (Thunder's Mouth Press/nation Books) collects 13,000 of these anti-war poems. HAMILL helped edit it. HAMILL is the author of 13 volumes of poetry and is a Buddhist, pacifist and an ex-Marine. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES Interview with Joseph Cirincione; Interview with William Kristol. April 1, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884564].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JOSEPH CIRINCIONE ('suh-RIN-see-OH-nee') specializes in defense and proliferation issues at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. He is Senior Associate and Director, Non-Proliferation Project. He'll discuss the evolution of the Bush Administration's policy toward Iraq. Its origins begin with a small group of influential officials and experts in Washington who were calling for regime change in Iraq long before September 11th. CIRINCIONE put together the Carnegie Issue Brief, 'Origins of Regime Change in Iraq.' It can be found on their website, HYPERLINK "http://www.ceip.org" www.ceip.org. (2.) WILLIAM KRISTOL is editor of the conservative magazine, the Weekly Standard. He also chairs the neo-conservative think tank, Project for the New American Century. He is one of the architects of the blueprint for regime change found in the document 'Rebuilding America's Defences: Strategies, forces and Resources For A New Century.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CHARLES SENNOTT (sounds like 'senate') is foreign correspondent for The Boston Globe. He is currently in Northern Iraq where he is traveling independently with a group of journalists. In a report filed today for the Globe he writes about U.S. special forces finding 'preliminary evidence' that Islamic militants in the area were intending to develop chemical and biological weapons. He and other reporters witnessed the fight between special forces and Ansar Al-Islam militants. After the battle, SENNOTT and other journalists gained access to the Ansar Al-Islam camp where weapons were kept. In Afghanistan, in 2001
SENNOTT traveled with the Northern Alliance. He is also the author of the new book, 'The Body and The Blood: The Holy Land's Christians At the Turn of a New Millennium' (PublicAffairs). SENNOTT was the Globe's Middle East bureau chief. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Anthony Shadid; Interview with Harvey Shapiro; Commentary on US airlines; Review of Rosanne Cash's new album "Rules of Travel." April 3, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884864].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ANTHONY SHADID(sha-DEED) foreign correspondent for the Washington Post. Before working for the post, he was a correspondent at The Boston Globe's Washington bureau. He spent nine years with The Associated Press, five of them in Cairo. He is the author of "Legacy of the Prophet: Despots, Democrats, and the New Politics of Islam." In the spring of 2002, he was shot by Israeli troops in Ramallah while covering a story for the Globe. He's currently reporting for the Post from Baghdad. (2.) Editor and poet HARVEY SHAPIRO. He's put together a new anthology of poems: 'Poets of World War II' (American Poets Project). It includes 120 poems. The poets include Kenneth Koch, James Dickey, Richard Hugo, Marianne Moore, and Robert Lowell. Some of the poets experienced combat, others did not. SHAPIRO is a decorated veteran of World War II; he flew 35 missions as an Air Force radio gunner. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (3.) EDWARD WONG covers the aviation industry for The New York Times. Many airlines are in a precarious position: the war, fear of terrorism, and a weak economy, has left them with fewer travelers, facing cutbacks and bankruptcy. He'll discuss the state of the airline industry. (4.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Rules of Travel' ? the new album by Roseanne Cash.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Professor and writer AZAR NAFISI ('Ah-ZAR Nah-FEE-see'). She taught English literature at the University of Tehran and Free Islamic University and Allameh Tabatabai University in Iran. She was expelled from the University of Tehran for refusing to wear the veil. She left Iran in 1997. She now is a professor at Johns Hopkins University. Her new memoir, 'Reading Lolita in Tehran: A Memoir in Books' (Random House). It's about the book club she formed with seven of her former women students to read and discuss forbidden Western literature. They read 'Pride and Prejudice,' 'Washington Square,' 'Daisy Miller,' and 'Lolita.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'The Good Thief' the new crime caper by film maker Neil Jordan, starring Nick Nolte.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer JAMES TOBIN ('TOE-BIN'). He's the author of a biography of World War Two correspondent, Ernie Pyle who was beloved by the public, the G.I.'s and the Generals alike. He witnessed the great American campaigns of the war - North Africa, Sicily, Italy, D-Day, Normandy, the liberation of Paris, and Okinawa. Eleanor Roosevelt was a fan of his work. She said, 'I would not miss that column any day if I could possibly help it.' Pyle was killed in Okinawa just three weeks short of the war's end. TOBIN's book is 'Ernie Pyle's War: America's Eyewitness to World War II' (published in 1988). TOBIN's newest book is 'To Conquer the Air: The Wright Brothers and the Great Race for Flight' (Free Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Family History' (Knopf) the new novel by Dani Shapiro.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Retired army colonel JAMES A. MARTIN. He's an expert on the mental health issues of military personnel and their families. He was a senior social worker in the first Gulf war counseling soldiers before and after battle. MARTIN has written extensively on these matters. He teaches in the Graduate School of Social Work and Social Research at Bryn Mawr College outside of Philadelphia. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) ROBERT JAY LIFTON is Distinguished Professor of Psychiatry and Psychology at the Graduate School University Center and Director of The Center on Violence and Human Survival at John Jay College of Criminal Justice at The City University of New York. He's written books on many topics, including the Japanese cult which released poison gas in the Tokyo subways, Nazi doctors, Hiroshima survivors and Vietnam vets. He'll discuss the emotional impact of the Iraq war on the American people. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Elephant' the new album by the White Stripes.

Interview with BATHSHEBA CROCKER; Interview with Laurent de Brunhoff; Review of two music albums Albums "The colored section" and "A woman like me." April 9, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884591].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) BATHSHEBA CROCKER is co-director of the Post-Conflict Reconstruction Project at the Center for Strategic and International Studies. She'll discuss many of the questions surrounding reconstruction in Iraq: who will be in charge of reconstruction? What role will the United Nations have? Who will get the construction contracts? Who will step in and lead Iraq? And who will pay for construction? CROCKER is a resident of the Center for Strategic and International Studies International Security Program. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) We remember Cecile de Brunhoff (with a silent "h")who died April 7th at the age of 99. It was the bedtime story she made up and told her sons in 1930 that became the basis for the world-famous Babar the Elephant stories. Her husband Laurent de Brunhoff, an artist and illustrator, wrote down the story and provided the illustrations. Terry talked with their son, author and illustrator LAURENT de BRUNHOFF. He followed his father's footsteps, and for the past 40 years has written and drawn the continuing adventures of Babar the Elephant. (by the way, it's bah-BAHR, or BAA-bahr, but NEVER BAY-bahr!!!). (REBROADCAST from 2/28/90) (3.) Music critic MILO MILES on two singers: newcomer Donnie, his new album is 'The Colored Section,' and veteran Bettye Lavette. Her album is 'A Woman Like Me'

Description of show segment(s)

Interview with David Horsey; Commentary on the California band, Moby Grape. April 11, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884618].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Editorial cartoonist DAVID HORSEY of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. This week he won his second Pulitzer Prize (the first was in 1999). He was cited for his 'perceptive cartoons executed with a distinctive style and sense of humor.' Many of the cartoons that earned him this recent prize poked fun at Bush administration policies. (When he won the prize in 1999 many of his cartoons lampooned the Lewinsky-Clinton scandal). He's been the paper's editorial cartoonist since 1979. HORSEY has four collections of his cartoons, the most recent is 'One Man Show.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian ED WARD profiles the band Moby Grape.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DAVID FROMKIN is a professor of International Relations, International Law, and Middle Eastern Politics at Boston University. He's also the author of the best selling book, 'A Peace to End All Peace: Creating the Modern Middle East 1914-1922' (publ. 1989, now in paperback, Henry Holt). The book details how the geography and the politics of the Middle East were shaped by decisions by the Allies during and after World War I. Terry first talked with FROMKIN in 1991 after the publication of his book. We'll hear a portion of that interview here then we go to an interview recorded recently with FROMKIN. (REBROADCAST from 1/14/91) (2.) Recently recorded interview with DAVID FROMKIN. (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new Mosaic select mini-box 'Carmell Jones' featuring jazz trumpeter Carmell Jones.

Interview with Gabrielle Glaser; Commentary on James Carr; Interview with Tony Bennett and K.D. Lang. April 15, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884617].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist GABRIELLE GLASER. Her new book is 'The Nose: A Profile of Sex, Beauty, and Survival.' (Atria Books). The book is a history of the nose (and smell), its science, biology and cultural significance. Terry will talk with her primarily about how the nose and sinuses work (2.) Rock historian ED WARD profiles soul singer James Carr who died in 2001. (3.) Singers TONY BENNETT and K.D. LANG. They've collaborated on the new album 'A Wonderful World' (Columbia) a collection of Louis Armstrong songs which was produced by T. Bone Burnett. Last year the two completed a concert tour.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) FAREED ZAKARIA ('Fah-REED Zah-CAR-e-ah') is the editor of Newsweek International, and a political analyst for ABC News. His new book is, 'The Future of Freedom: Illiberal Democracy at Home and Abroad' (W.W.Norton). In the book he argues that the spread of democracy doesn't always produce a corresponding growth of liberty. He gives examples of democratic elections that resulted in the election of dictators and autocrats. And he argues for a restoration of balance between democracy and liberty. (2.) Novelist DIANA ABU-JABER. She's the author of the new book, 'Crescent' (W.W. Norton) about a single Arab-American woman chef in Los Angeles. Her previous novel 'Arabian Jazz' won the Oregon Book Award. ABU-JABER grew up in America in a traditional Jordanian household. Her father is Jordanian, her mother American. ABU-JABER is a writer in residence at Portland, State University.
Interview with Adrien Brody; Interview with Miriam Colon; Review of Carlos Guitarlos's new album "Straight from the Heart." April 17, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885052].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor ADRIEN BRODY. He won the Oscar this year for his role in Roman Polanski's 'The Pianist.' He played Wladyslaw Szpilman, the Polish Pianist and Holocaust survivor. His other films include 'Summer of Sam,' 'The Thin Red Line,' 'Restaurant,' and 'The Affair of the Necklace.' He's now starring in 'Dummy.' (2.) Actress MIRIAM COLON. She got her start acting in Westerns in the 50's and 60's, appearing in 'Gunsmoke' and Marlon Brando's 'One-Eyed Jack's.' Though she is from Puerto Rico, she was often cast as a Mexican. Her films include 'Scarface' and 'All the Pretty Horses.' She's now starring in 'The Blue Diner,' which will be shown on PBS. (3.) MILO MILES reviews the new album from Carlos Guitarlos, 'Straight from the Heart'(Nomad, 2003).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CHARLES SENNOTT (sounds like 'senate') is foreign correspondent for The Boston Globe. He was recently in Northern Iraq where he traveled independently with a group of journalists. He was in Kirkuk when Allied forces took the city from Baathist control. In Afghanistan, in 2001 SENNOTT traveled with the Northern Alliance. He is also the author of the new book, 'The Body and The Blood: The Holy Land's Christians At the Turn of a New Millennium' (PublicAffairs). SENNOTT was the Globe's Middle East bureau chief. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES TO THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) A new special edition DVD of the film 'West Side Story' has been released. We speak with cast members. The film is a screen adaptation of the hit Broadway musical about New York City gangs circa 1960. It won ten Oscars. First, GEORGE CHAKIRIS ('sha-KEER-iss'), who played Bernardo in the movie. He won an Oscar and a Golden Globe for the role. Chakiris was born in 1935 and made his acting debut at the age of 12. He's been in many films, TV shows and plays. He got the 'West Side Story' film role after playing the role of Biff in the London theater production of 'West Side Story.' (Original airdate 10/25/01) (2.) Actress RITA MORENO and vocalist MARNI NIXON. Moreno ('mo-RAIN-o') won an Oscar for her role as Anita in West Side Story. She's been in dozens of films and TV shows. Many baby boomers will remember her from the kids' PBS series 'The Electric Company.' She played a starlet in 'Singin' in the Rain.' According to Leonard Maltin, Moreno is listed in the Guinness Book of World Records for being the first performer to win an Oscar, a Tony, an Emmy, and a Grammy. However, Maltin goes on to say the entry is inaccurate. Barbra Streisand won all four by 1970. MARNI NIXON is the singing voice of Maria (played by Natalie Wood) in 'West Side Story.' She also did voiceovers for Deborah Kerr in 'An Affair to Remember' and Audrey Hepburn in 'My Fair Lady.' More recently, she did voiceover work for the animated film 'Mulan.' (Original airdate 10/25/01) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'A Mighty Wind,' the latest from the people who brought you 'This is Spinal Tap' and 'Best in Show.' It's a satiric look at folk music, starring Christopher Guest (who also directed), Eugene Levy and Michael McKean.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times Foreign Affairs columnist THOMAS FRIEDMAN. He'll discuss the post-Saddam Middle East. Friedman's best selling book is called 'Longitudes and Attitudes: Exploring the World After September 11.' He has won two Pulitzer Prizes for his coverage of the Middle East. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the new novel 'The Wife' (Scribner) by Meg Wolitzer.

Interview with Alex Berenson; Interview with Harry Shearer. April 22, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884909].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ALEX BERENSON is a financial investigative reporter for The New York Times. In his new book 'The Number: How the Drive for Quarterly Earnings Corrupted Wall Street and Corporate America' (Random House), examines the corporate scandals at Worldcom, Halliburton, Computer Associates, Tyco, and others looking at the practices that were common to all. (2.) Writer, actor, director, comedian and host of 'Le Show' HARRY SHEARER. He's starring in the new folk music mockumentary 'A Mighty Wind,' directed by Christopher Guest who also directed 'Best in Show' and 'Waiting for Guffman.' SHEARER also starred with Guest in the classic heavy metal parody 'This is Spinal Tap.' SHEARER'S public radio show is now in it's 19th year. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Jonathan Schell; Commentary on the international language of wars. April 23, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884844].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author JONATHAN SCHELL. In his new book, 'The Unconquerable World: Power, Nonviolence, and the Will of the People' (Metropolitan Books) he rethinks the relationship between war and political power. He writes that military power is not as effective as it once was, and that a more useful approach is one of cooperation with other nations. As you may imagine, SCHELL was against the war in Iraq. SCHELL is also the author of the 1982 classic 'The Fate of the Earth' (about the possibility of Nuclear holocaust). He's also written for The Nation, The New Yorker, Harper's Magazine and The Atlantic. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the language wars.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former U.S. Diplomat JOHN BRADY KIESLING. In February he made headlines when he publicly resigned in protest over the war in Iraq. At the time he was Political Counselor in the U.S. Embassy in Athens. KIESLING's career as a Foreign Service Officer of the U.S. Department of State began in April 1983. His postings included Morocco, Armenia, Israel and Greece. In 1994 KIESLING was one of a group of foreign service professionals presented with the Rivkin Award, given by the American Foreign Service Association for constructive dissent. KIESLING was also a member of the group of State Department officials that pushed for intervention in Bosnia. (2.) Music critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'American Life' the new CD by Madonna.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer, songwriter, guitarist and actor, WILLIE NELSON. He turns 70 years old next week. Earlier this year 'Crazy: The Demo Sessions' (Sugar Hill records) was released, a collection of songs Willie Nelson wrote and recorded between 1960 and 1966, hoping to sell them to the big stars of the country era. (REBROADCAST from 7/16/96) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'Better Luck Tomorrow' the controversial new independent film about a group of Asian American teenagers. It was made by MTV films.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian MARGARET MACMILLAN is professor of history at the University of Toronto. She's the author of the new book, 'Paris 1919: Six Months That Changed the World' (Random House). It's about the Peace Conference after World War I in which delegations from around the world convened to find an alternative to war. Woodrow Wilson's League of Nations was put forth then. During the six months of the conference, new boundaries were drawn up in the Middle East. Out of that conference Iraq was born, and was for a time under British control. MACMILLIAN's book, published under the title 'Peacemakers' in England, was the winner of the Samuel Johnson Prize. MACMILLIAN is also the great-granddaughter of David Lloyd George, who as British prime minister, attended the conference. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Critic MILO MILES. He reviews the new documentary and soundtrack "Amandla!" about protest music in black communities of South Africa during the Apartheid years.

Interview with Diane Ravitch; Commentary on stylistic differences between writers; Review of Pee Wee Russell's latest album. April 29, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884912].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DIANE RAVITCH ('a' like in 'apple') is the author of the new book, 'The Language Police: How Pressure Groups Restrict What Students Learn.' (Knopf). In her book she chronicles the efforts of school boards and bias and sensitivity committees to edit and shape the text books that end up in classrooms. Some examples of this include: omitted the mention of Jews in an Isaac Bashevis Singer story about prewar Poland, changing the expression 'My God!' to 'You Don't Mean it,' and recommendations that children not be shown as disobedient or in conflict with adults. RAVITCH writes that the process has evolved into a practice that excises 'words, images, passages, and ideas that no reasonable person would consider biased in the usual meaning of that term.' President Clinton appointed RAVITCH to the National Assessment Governing Board which overseas national testing. She is also a historian of education and Research Professor of Education at New York University and Nonresident Senior Fellow at the Brookings Institution. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the stylistic differences between writers on the political left and right. (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new reissue 'Ask Me Now!' (Impulse) featuring clarinetist Pee Wee Russell.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist PHILIP HILTS. He's a longtime correspondent on health and science policy for The New York Times. In his new book "Protecting America's Health: the FDA, Business, and One Hundred Years of Regulation" (Knopf) he chronicles the history of the Food and Drug Administration from its start in the administration of Teddy Roosevelt. Previously HILTS broke the now-famous story of the Brown and Williamson tobacco industry papers, and is the author of "Smoke Screen: The Truth Behind the Tobacco Industry Cover-Up." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Founder and owner of the Chicago-based jazz and blues label Delmark, BOB KOESTER ('KESTER'). The label celebrates its 50th anniversary this year. Artists Junior Wells, Little Walter, Big Joe Williams, Coleman Hawkings, Muhal Richard Abrams, and Sun Ra & The Arkestra have all recorded on the label. The label has issued a 50th Anniversary collection. KOESTER also owns the Jazz Record Mart, and Riverside Studios.

Interview with Morton Rostrup; Interview with Matthew Shipp; Review of the Betsy Blair's autobiography "The memory of all that." May 1, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884915].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. MORTON ROSTRUP is the international president of the medical relief organization Doctors Without Borders. He was the organization's medical coordinator in Baghdad. ROSTRUP just returned from five weeks in Baghdad. He was there before and during the war. (2.) Jazz pianist MATTHEW SHIPP. He's part of the free-jazz movement in New York City (along with saxophonist David S. Ware, bassist William Parker and violinist Mat Maneri). One of his influences has been avant-garde pianist Cecil Taylor and SHIPP's style has been described as 'a distinctive combination of Mr. Taylor's percussive attack and Chopin's languid rubatos.' He's been recording since the early 1990s, and has over 20 albums to his credit as leader and sideman. Since 1999, SHIPP has been artistic director the Thirsty Ear Records' Blue Series ? a series that captures jazz's new edge. His two new albums in the series are 'Equilibrium' and 'Antipop Consortium.' (TG INTERVIEW) (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Memory of All That' (Knopf) the new literary autobiography by Betsy Blair, the first wife of dancer Gene Kelly.

Obituary with Paul Moore; Interview with Maceo Parker; Interview with Bootsy Collins; Review of the film "X2 May 2, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884944].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We remember former Episcopal Bishop of New York PAUL MOORE. He died yesterday at the age of 83. He had been suffering from lung and brain cancer. MOORE was known for his activism and concern for human rights. He was part of the civil rights movement, and protests against the Vietnam War. As Bishop he brought the Church into dialogue with the poor and oppressed in New York. And he transformed the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine into a thriving place for the community. In 1997 he published his memoir, "Presences: A Bishop's Life in the City." (REBROADCAST from 12/15/97) (2.) Musician MACEO PARKER is best known as the saxophonist who played with James Brown. His on again off again association with Brown began in 1964. He's got several albums of his own, as well as collaborations with others. (REBROADCAST from 10/2/90) (3.) Musician BOOTSY COLLINS got his start with James Brown, where he "defined the finger-popping funk bass style" (Rolling Stone). He went on to work with George Clinton as part of the Parliament-Funkadelic tribe, before forming Bootsy's Rubber Band. On stage, he created alter egos, including Bootzilla, Boot-Tron, and King of the Geepies. He's put out more than 30 albums. (REBROADCAST from 10/10/94) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'X2: X-Men United'.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer SARAH WATERS is the author of three novels which she calls 'lesbo Victorian romps.' The lesbian themed books are: 'Tipping the Velvet' (about 'a sort of Moll Flanders in drag') 'Affinity' (a historical book set in a Victorian women's prison), and 'Fingersmith' (a gothic melodrama). 'Fingersmith' was shortlisted for the Booker Prize. 'Tipping the Velvet' was made into a BBC miniseries and it will be shown on the cable channel BBC America later this month. (It begins Friday, May 23 at 10:00 PM ET).

(2.) Actor JOHN MALKOVICH is making his directorial debut with the new film 'The Dancer Upstairs.' MALKOVICH has twice been nominated for an academy award for his work in the films 'In the Line of Fire' and 'Places in the Heart.' His other films include 'Heart of Darkness,' 'Being John Malkovich,' 'Shadow of the Vampire,' Woody Allen's 'Shadows and Fog,' and Steven Spielberg's 'Empire of the Sun.' MALKOVICH is also one of the founding members of Chicago's Steppenwolf Theatre Company. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews two new releases from two new bands 'Up The Bracket' by the British band The Libertines and 'Love and Distortion' by the San Francisco band The Stratford 4.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) SARAH CHAYES ('CHASE') is a former NPR reporter and is now field director of Afghans for Civil Society (of the Kandahar branch). It's a non-profit, non-governmental organization founded to promote a democratic alternative and to assist in the development of a civil society. ACS involves the community in reconstruction efforts: everything from physical reconstruction of a bombed-out village, to organizing a women's income generating project to launching an independent radio station. The new independent documentary 'Life After War' chronicles the group's efforts. While at NPR, CHAYES reported from Paris, Kosovo, and Afghanistan. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the new nature documentary miniseries by Sir David Attenborough. 'Life of Mammals' is in ten parts and begins tonight on the Discovery Channel. (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new DVD which features five Cole Porter musicals made between 1940 and 1957. Included are: 'Broadway Melody of 1940,' 'Kiss Me Kate,' 'High Society,' 'Silk Stockings,' and 'Les Girls.'
Interview with Martin Short; Interview with Burt Bacharach and Elvis Costello; Interview with Hal David. May 9, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885101].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and comedian MARTIN SHORT. His TV series on Comedy Central, 'Primetime Glick,' is a spoof of celebrity talk shows. SHORT plays Jiminy Glick, the self-absorbed host of the fictitious talk show. He interviews A-list celebrity guests, but often gets information about these guests wrong. The third season of 'Primetime Glick' premiered April 30th. MARTIN SHORT was a cast member on both Saturday Night Live and SCTV. SHORT is also starring in the L.A. production of 'The Producers.' His movies include Father of the Bride, The Three Amigos, and Innerspace. (REBROADCAST from 1/30/89 and 2/21/02) (2.) Composer BURT BACHARACH. He turns 75 years old on May 12th. BACHARACH is said to have revolutionized the sound of the sixties. Along with lyricist Hal David, he wrote dozens of hits during the 1960s including "What's New Pussycat," "Raindrops Keep Fallin' On My Head" and 'The Look of Love.' The songwriting team received every major music industry award in addition to 20 gold records, awards such as an Academy Award, a Grammy, and induction into the Songwriters' Hall of Fame. There's a new broadway musical "The Look of Love" based on their work. (REBROADCAST from 12/23/98) (3.) Lyricist HAL DAVID. For years he collaborated with music writer Burt Bacharach. Between them they've written such famous songs as "Raindrops Keep Falling on my Head," "Close to You," "What's New, Pussycat?," and "That's what Friends are For." (REBROADCAST from 10/22/97)

Interview with Brian Holland, Lamont Dozier and Edward Holland; Obituary for Elizabeth Neuffer. May 12, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885053].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The legendary songwriting trio, BRIAN HOLLAND, LAMONT DOZIER, and EDWARD HOLLAND. They wrote many early Motown hits, and helped turn the company into powerhouse. Their songs include 'You Can't Hurry Love,' 'Reach Out I'll Be There,' 'Baby, I Need Your Loving,' 'Heat Wave,' and 'Stop! In the Name of Love.' Their songs were recorded by Diana Ross & The Supremes, Marvin Gaye, the Four Tops, and Martha Reeves & The Vandellas. In 1990 they were inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. On May 13th they will be the recipients of the BMI ICON award, given to songwriters 'who have been unique and indelible influences on generations of music makers.' (2.) We remember journalist ELIZABETH NEUFFER of the Boston Globe. She died last week in Iraq from injuries sustained... in an automobile accident. She was reporting on the country's efforts to rid itself of the influence of Saddam Hussein's Baath Party. She was 46 years old. NEUFFER was the Globe's Foreign Affairs/UN Correspondent. She reported on the fall of the Soviet Union, as well as ethnic strife in Bosnia, Kosovo and Rwanda. She's also reported on the war on terrorism from Afghanistan. Her book, 'The Key to My Neighbor's House: Seeking Justice in Bosnia and Rwanda,' (Picador USA-in paperback) is about the war crimes tribunals and the efforts of victims to find justice. (REBROADCAST from 12/3/02)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) GEORGE CRILE ('CRY-el') is a veteran producer for CBS's 60 Minutes and 60 Minutes II. He's the author of the new book, 'Charlie Wilson's War: The Extraordinary Story of the Largest Covert Operation in History' (Atlantic Monthly Press). It's about the CIA's secret war in Afghanistan, and their support of the Afghan mujahideen against the Soviet Union. Ammunitions and weapons were smuggled across the border and at one point over 300,000 fundamentalist Afghan warriors carried weapons provided by the CIA. Charlie Wilson was a congressman from east Texas, who sat on the House Appropriations Committee. Along with Gust Avrakotos, a CIA operative, they armed the Mujahideen. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) CHARLIE WILSON is a retired congressman and the subject of the book, 'Charlie Wilson's War' about the secret CIA operation arming the Afghan Mujahideen against the Soviet Union. He left office in 1996 after 24 years in office. He is now a lobbyist. One of his main clients is Pakistan.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Executive producer and writer TOM FONTANA. He's responsible for HBO's "Oz," the realistic drama about life in an experimental unit of a maximum security prison. FONTANA also created "Homicide: Life on the Street" and the 1980s drama set in a city hospital, "St. Elsewhere." The new DVD box set 'Homicide: Life on the Street' collects the first two seasons of the show, and includes special features. (2.)
Psychology professor PAUL EKMAN. His new book is 'Emotions Revealed: Recognizing Faces And Feelings To Improve Communication And Emotional Life.' Ekman describes how facial expressions work. For example, he can tell the difference between a fake and a real smile by mapping the muscle movements of both. Ekman is professor of psychology in the department of psychiatry at the University of California Medical School, San Francisco. He frequently consults for government agencies like the FBI.

Interview with Ellen DeGeneres; Interview with Arthur Laurents; Interview with Angela Lansbury; Interview with Bernadette Peters. May 23, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884654].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress, writer, comedian ELLEN DEGENERES. She's got an upcoming HBO comedy special, 'Ellen DeGeneres: Here and Now,' premiering June 28th, 2003. It's a presentation of her recent live stand-up show of the same name. Her five-year sitcom "Ellen" won an Emmy for her much anticipated coming-out episode. She and her character came out at the same time. This was followed by a very public relationship with actress Anne Heche, which eventually ended. DEGENERES talks about coming out and why she resists becoming a lesbian role model. DEGENERES is the author of the book, "My Point. . . And I Do Have One." (Original airdate: 4/15/02) (2.) Writer, producer, and director ARTHUR LAURENTS. Laurents wrote the stories for the plays "Gypsy" and "West Side Story" and the screenplays for the movies "The Way We Were" and "The Turning Point." (Original airdate: 1/31/90) (3.) Veteran actress ANGELA LANSBURY. She starred in the London production of Gypsy. When she was 17 she debuted in 'Gaslight,' and was nominated for an Oscar for her portrayal of Ingrid Bergman's Cockney maid. LANSBURY also played opposite Judy Garland in 'The Harvey Girls,' was Elvis Presley's mother in 'Blue Hawaii,' and the manipulative mother in 'The Manchurian Candidate.' On stage she starred in 'Mame' and was the baker of the worst pies in London in 'Sweeney Todd.' For twelve years she starred in the TV series, 'Murder, She Wrote.' (original airdate: 11/28/00) (4.) Actress/singer BERNADETTE PETERS. She stars in the new Broadway production of "Gypsy," She made her theatrical debut at the age of 9. Since then she's been on Broadway with "Sunday in the Park with George," "Into the Woods" and others. Peters has won two Tony awards. The current production of Gypsy is nominated for a 2003 Tony. She's starred in 20 movies including, "Silent Movie," "The Jerk," "Pennies from Heaven" and "Impromptu." She's done a lot of work on TV movies and voiceovers for animated films. More info at www.bernadettepeters.com. (origi Interview with Steve Cropper; Interview with Isaac Hayes; Interview with Jerry Butler May 26, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884626].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Guitarist, songwriter, and producer STEVE CROPPER. He's best known for his playing with Booker T & the MGs. He co-wrote such hits as "In the Midnight Hour," "Soul Man," and Otis Redding's "(Sittin' on) The Dock of the Bay." (Original airdate: 9/18/90) (2.) ISAAC HAYES is a renowned soul musician. He rose to the top of the charts in the 1970's on the Stax label, a soul record label. He released his first solo album, "Presenting Isaac Hayes," in 1968. His next album, "Hot Buttered Soul," became a gold record in the 1970's. His 1972 soundtrack to the movie "Shaft," went platinum and won an Oscar for "Theme From Shaft." HAYES is also an actor, who has held roles in the movies "Robin Hood: Men in Tights," "I'm Gonna Git You Sucka," and "Posse." (Original airdate: 7/28/94) (3.) Singer JERRY BUTLER, aka The Iceman. His 1969 hit, 'Only the Strong Survive,' is a rhythm and blues classic, and also the title of his 2000 autobiography: 'Only the Strong Survive: Memoirs of a Soul Survivor.' Butler founded the vocal group The Impressions and also had a successful solo career. His awareness of civil rights led him to politics, and he is serving his fourth term on the Cook County Board of Commissioners in Chicago.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We celebrate the centennial of Bing Crosby's birth with jazz critic and writer GARY GIDDINS. His biography of Bing Crosby is called 'Bing Crosby: A Pocketful of Dreams--the Early Years, 1903-1940' (Little Brown and Company). From 1930s to the 50s, Crosby was a pop culture icon, dominating American entertainment with his hit records and movies. In this first volume of the biography, Giddins chronicles the rise of Crosby's career. Giddins is best known as a jazz columnist for the Village Voice. He won the 1998 National Book Critics Circle Award for his book 'Visions of Jazz.' He was one of the experts featured in Ken Burn's Jazz series on PBS. This interview first aired on January 24th, 2001. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES FOR THE ENTIRE SHOW)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer MICHAEL LEWIS. His new book is 'Moneyball: The Art of Winning an Unfair Game.' It's the story of how the Oakland A's turned their team around and made history, winning 20 games in a row to set a new American League record. Lewis goes behind the scenes and finds a new kind of baseball knowledge. Lewis is the author of the best selling books 'Liar's Poker' and 'The New New Thing.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Friendship,' the new recording of trumpeter Clark Terry and drummer Max Roach (Columbia). The 1977 album 'Streams of Consciousness' (Piadrum label) has also been reissued featuring Max Roach and Abdullah Ibrahim.

Interview with Chen Kaige; Commentary on language; Commentary on Bob Hope. May 29, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884628].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker CHEN KAIGE (KY-guh). Kaige is the director, writer, producer and acts in the new film 'Together,' a coming of age tale about a 13 year old Chinese boy who plays violin. The boy's father takes him from their provincial Chinese city to Beijing, seeking prominence. But plans change as the boy grows up and ultimately chooses his own path. KAIGE (AKA Kaige Chen) is best known for his film 'Farewell My Concubine,' which was nominated for an Oscar. His other films include 'Yellow Earth,' 'The Big Parade,' and 'Killing Me Softly.' (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on cultures that are missing words. The Oxford dictionary of quotations published its list of the top sayings of 2002. George W. Bush was quoted as saying to Tony Blair, 'The problem with the French is that they have no word for entrepreneur.' The British Prime minister denied that Bush said it, but the story is plausible because people are always saying similar things about other cultures. (3.) Film critic John Powers pays tribute to comedian Bob Hope, who is 100 years old today.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist DAVID BENIOFF ('BEN-ee-off') is the author of '25th Hour.' It's about a drug dealer who has one day left on the outside before beginning his seven-year prison sentence. It's the basis of the Spike Lee film of the same name. Edward Norton stars. 25th Hour is just out on video. (original broadcast date: 2/11/03.) (2.) Actor Edward Norton. His new film is The Italian Job. The film, '25th Hour,' in which he starred, is now out on DVD. Norton has played Larry Flynt's lawyer in The People Vs. Larry Flynt, and received an Academy Award nomination for his role as a skin head in 'American History X.' He also starred in 'Fight Club' and 'Keeping the Faith,' which he directed. (original broadcast date: 4/17/00.) (5.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Italian Job,' starring Edward Norton.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Illustrator MARJANE SATRAPI ('Mar-JEAN Sah-TRAH-pee') is the author of the memoir, 'Persepolis: The Story of a Childhood' (pantheon). The book is in the form of an illustrated comic. SATRAPI was born in 1969 in Iran, and grew up in Tehran during the Islamic Revolution. One reviewer writes, 'A triumph. . .Like Maus, Persepolis is one of those comic books capable of seducing even those most allergic to the genre.' (2.) Guitar legend JIMMY PAGE. He began his career with the Yardbirds in 1966. Two years later, PAGE formed Led Zeppelin. His powerful playing established the framework for classic tracks like "Whole Lotta Love", "Rock 'N' Roll", "Black Dog", "When The Levee Breaks" and "Achilles Last Stand." Remastered footage from several 1970's Led Zeppelin concerts has just been released on a 2-DVD set. (interview by Barbara Bogaev).(3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews two new short story collections: 'The Winter Without Milk' (Houghton Mifflin) by Jane Avrich, and 'The Laws of Evening' (Scribners) by Mary Yukari Waters.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Italian journalist RICCARDO ORIZIO ('Or-EE-zee-o'). He is the author of the book 'Talk of the Devil: Encounters with Seven Dictators' (Walker&Co.). He interviewed deposed dictators who haven't apologized for their crimes and weren't rehabilitated. They were Uganda's Idi Amin, Haiti's 'Baby Doc' Duvalier, and Ethiopia's Haile Mengistu and others. The interview is conducted by Fresh Air guest host Dave Davies.(2.) Journalist JOYCE DAVIS is deputy foreign editor at Knight Ridder newspapers and is the former Middle East editor at NPR. She's the author of the new book, 'Martyrs: Innocence, Vengeance and Despair in the Middle East' (Palgrave). DAVIS conducted interviews with Islamic scholars to try to understand the teachings about martyrdom and how those teachings had been twisted by extremists. She also conducted interviews in the Middle East with the families of martyrs and of victims.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Religious scholar ELAINE PAGELS (PAY-gels). Her latest book, "Beyond Belief: The Secret Gospel of Thomas," (Random House) is about a religious text that is little known-- the secret Gospel of Thomas, rediscovered in Egypt in 1945. She will explain why it was suppressed by the church and kept out of the cannon. Elaine Pagels has been called one of the world's most important writers and thinkers on religion and history. She won the National Book Award for her book, "The Gnostic Gospels." Pagels is a professor at Princeton University.(2.) YOUSSEF M. IBRAHIM (YOU-sef ee-bra-HEEM[like seem]). An expert on energy and the Middle East, he is a Senior Fellow on the Council on Foreign Relations. Previously, IBRAHIM was a foreign correspondent for the New York Times, and Teheran Bureau Chief. He also covered energy for the Wall Street Journal. He is currently working on a book about oil and war.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist ANDREW MELDRUM. He was recently abducted and expelled from Zimbabwe by government authorities. He had been the Guardian's Zimbabwe correspondent, and was the last foreign journalist allowed to file from the country. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.)Journalist, lecturer, human rights activist SAMANTHA POWER. She was the founding executive director of the Harvard University Carr Center for Human Rights Policy. She's written for US News and World Report, The Atlantic Monthly, The Economist, and The New Yorker. Her book, A Problem from Hell: America and the Age of Genocide, is winner of the Pulitzer Prize.

Interview with Questlove; Interview with Gary Shteyngart; Review of the film "Capturing the Friedmans." June 6, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885022].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Drummer AHMIR THOMPSON, otherwise known as '?uestlove' ('Questlove') of the hip-hop group The Roots. The Grammy award-winning sextet has six albums to its credit. Their latest CD is 'Phrenolog.' Their first single from the album is 'Break You Off.' One reviewer writes, 'To fully savor the sound, you've got to commit to spending time with the Roots, to wallow in both the music and the message. There's Chuck Berry-style rock-and-roll, jazz fusion, funk, poetry, shoutouts to hip-hop pioneers, lyrical slaps upside the heads of money-mad rappers, black nationalism and some groove-laden neo-soul musings.' The group is just beginning a nationwide tour. (REBROADCAST from 2/6/03)(2.) Writer GARY SHTEYNGART ('SHTINE-gart'). His debut novel, 'The Russian Debutante's Handbook,' received critical acclaim and is now out in paperback (Riverheadbooks). The main character of the book, like Shteyngart, is a Russian-American Jew who emigrated to the US as a child. In a New York Times Magazine cover article, Daniel Zalewski wrote,'Gary Shteyngart has rewritten the classic immigrant narrative ? starring a sarcastic slacker instead of a grateful striver. And after all his parents have done for him!' (REBROADCAST from 7/2/02)(3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Capturing the Friedmans' a new documentary by Andrew Jarecki about a family torn apart by charges of pedophilia and child molestation.
(1.) STEPHAN BOGNAR is a field agent for the San Francisco-based international non-profit wildlife conservation group, WildAid. BOGNAR just returned from two months in Baghdad, where he helped with the effort to rescue and rehabilitate the animals at the Baghdad Zoo. When he arrived, only 32 of the 600 animals remained, the rest were stolen or were roaming the streets. The ones left at the zoo were suffering from neglect, malnutrition, and dehydration. BOGNAR helped in the efforts to care for the animals, and to find the lost ones. He also was part of several black market sting operations to recover animals. BOGNAR as well took care of Uday Hussein's (Saddam's son) private collection of animals which had been abandoned and which included cheetahs, lions, and baby lion cubs. (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on acronyms. (3.) Jazz pianist and singer BARBARA CARROLL. The 78 year old singer is currently performing at Birdland in New York City. Previously she spent 25 years playing at Bemelmans Bar at the Carlyle Hotel. This year she received three lifetime achievement awards, one of them was the Kennedy Center's prestigious 'Mary Lou Williams Women in Jazz Lifetime Achievement Award.' She has a number of albums to her credit, her latest the new solo album, 'Morning in May' (Fynsworth Alley). (4.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Steel Guitar Jazz' (Mercury) the reissue of a 1963 album by Buddy Emmons.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor B.D. WONG. He's starred on Broadway in 'M. Butterfly,' and in the TV series 'Law & Order: SVU, and HBO's 'Oz.' He's the author of the new book: 'Following Foo (the electronic adventures of the Chestnut Man)' (HarperEntertainment). It's about the premature birth of his twin sons in August 2000. The babies were born three months early to a surrogate mother. WONG and his partner, Richie were the parents. The twins suffered a rare medical disorder. One of them died shortly after birth, and the other twin, Jackson Foo, weighing less than three pounds was in neonatal intensive care for three months. At the time WONG began an email correspondence with family and friends on Jackson Foo's progress. Those emails are collected in the new book. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Filmmaker JOHN WATERS. The Broadway musical 'Hairspray' was the big winner this week at the Tony Awards. It won awards for best direction, score, book and costume. 'Hairspray' is based on WATERS' 1988 film of the same name (his first mainstream studio film).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Senator and former First Lady, HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON. In her new memoir, 'Living History,' (Simon & Schuster) she writes about growing up in the 1950s, her life in the White House, the Senate, and the sexual scandal that almost ended her marriage and her husband's presidency. (2.) We remember veteran T-V newsman David Brinkley. He died last night at his home. He was 82. Brinkley began his T-V career in 1956 as half of the Huntley-Brinkley news anchor team on NBC. Brinkley was born in 1920 and raised in Wilmington, NC. He began writing for the local paper in high school. He soon graduated to the United Press and by WW II was working for NBC Radio in Washington, D.C. He moved into TV and was paired with Chet Huntley at the 1956 political conventions. Their immediate chemistry led to the top-rated Huntley-Brinkley Report on the NBC Network. He left NBC to join ABC and host This Week With David Brinkley. During his career, Brinkley won 10 Emmy awards and three Peabodys. In 1992, he was awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom. He stepped down as host of ABC's 'This Interview with Branford Marsalis; Interview with Chris Elliott and Bob Elliott; Interview with Ellery Eskelin; Interview with Andre Dubus; Interview with Ben Cheever; Interview with John Pizzarelli; Interview with Jon Lovitz. June 13, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885021].

Description of show segment(s)

A Father's Day show featuring dads and sons talking about their relationships. First, saxophonist BRANFORD MARSALIS on his father, jazz great ELLIS MARSALIS. (Original airdate: 10/21/02) (2.) CHRIS ELLIOTT and his father Bob ELLIOTT. Bob entertained generations as half of the legendary comedy team of Bob and Ray. Many of today's comics and television comedy programs find their roots of influence in the innovative works of Bob and Ray. His son Chris is an actor, director, producer and writer. He has appeared in the films 'There's Something About Mary,' 'Cabin Boy,' 'Kingpin' and others. He enjoyed long runs first on Late Night With David Letterman and then on Saturday Night Live. Together, Bob and Chris Elliott wrote a memoir, Daddy's Boy: A Son's Shocking Account of Life with a Famous Father. (Original airdate: 6/7/89) (3.) Tenor saxophonist and composer, ELLERY ESKELIN. He's been called the most inventive American tenor player in creative music. His father, Rodd Keith (also known as Rod Rodgers) was killed when he was struck by cars on the Hollywood Freeway after leaping or falling from the Santa Monica Boulevard overpass. ESKELIN only knew his father for the first eighteen months of his life. As he grew up he was inspired and intrigued by the continuous stories he heard about him and his musical talent. He has produced a collection of his father's recordings titled "I died Today - Music of Rodd Keith" (for the Tzadik label's "Lunatic Fringe" series). (Original airdate: 12/3/96) (4.) Writer ANDRE DUBUS III. He is the son of the celebrated writer Andre Dubus, who died in 1999. He's the author of the books, 'House of Sand And Fog,' 'Bluesman' and 'The Cage Keeper.' DUBUS teaches writing at Tufts University and Emerson College. (Original airdate: 5/4/99) (5.) Writer BENJAMIN CHEEVER. He's the son of the late novelist and short story master JOHN CHEEVER, and he edited a collection of his father's letters. The letters tracked the elder Cheever's secret bisexuality. Ben Cheev

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian COLIN QUINN. He was the Weekend Update anchor on Saturday Night Live from 1998 to 2000, and was known for his satirical coverage of the Clinton-Lewinsky scandal. He's now starring in Comedy Central's 'Tough Crowd with Colin Quinn.' (2.) Film critic David Edelstein reviews 'Manito,' a small budget film by first-time director Eric Eason. Manito won prizes at Sundance. It's being distributed in a novel way. It's getting a limited run in big cities and is also a part of a new DVD subscription service.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Investigative researcher CHARLES LEWIS. He's the founder and executive director of the Center for Public Integrity. It's a nonprofit, nonpartisan research organization in Washington DC, similar to an investigative journalism outfit but without time and space constraints. Its mission is to expose corruption and power abuse by governments, corporations and individuals. Lewis will talk about the ties between members of the Bush Administration and the defense industry, and questions of conflict of interest regarding lucrative contracts to rebuild Iraq. For eleven years, Lewis was an investigative reporter at ABC news, and also worked at CBS on '60 Minutes.' His work at the Center for Public Integrity has been widely praised.(2.) Army Corps of Engineers spokesperson LT. COL. GENE POLLACK. He responds to concerns about conflict of interest in awarding army contracts to private companies. POLLACK explains how the Army Corps of Engineers gave contracts to put out oil fires in Iraq to Kellogg Brown and Root (KBR), a subsidiary of Halliburton. Vice President Dick Cheney was the CEO of Halliburton after he left his job as Secretary of Defense and before he became VP.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Paleoanthropologist TIM WHITE. He was the co-leader of the team that discovered three very important skulls in Ethiopia. The human remains can be dated to 160,000 to 154,000 years old. They are evidence of the earliest ancestors of modern humans. They add evidence to the theory that modern humans emerged in Africa and are not related to Neanderthals, who lived in Europe. The discovery is considered quite significant. White is a Professor of Anthropology at the University of California at Berkeley.(2.) We remember the late actor HUME CRONYN. He died June 15 2003 of prostate cancer. He was 92 years old. His first film role was in Alfred Hitchcock's 'Shadow of a Doubt' (1943) and went on to star in several more Hitchcock films, later co-writing the screenplays for 'Rope' and 'Under Capricorn.' He also had starring roles in the films 'The Postman Always Rings Twice,' 'Brute Force' and 'Ziegfeld Follies.' In the 1950s and 60s, Cronyn went to Broadway, often co-starring with his wife, Jessica Tandy. He won a Tony award in 1964 for his role as Polonius in the Broadway production of Hamlet. He went back to Hollywood in the 70s. His later films include 'The World According to Garp' and 'The Pelican Brief.' He also directed and produced on stage, screen and TV. His 1992 autobiography was 'A Terrible Liar.' (Original airdate: 9/20/91)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer MARIJANE MEAKER. Her new book is about her 2-year affair with the great writer Patricia Highsmith. The two met in the 1950s at a Greenwich Village lesbian bar. Both were writing lesbian pulp novels under pseudonyms. Meaker wrote 'Spring Fire' (1952) under the pen name Vin Packer. It sold 1.5 million copies. She also wrote under the name Ann Aldrich. Meaker writes young adult novels under the name M.E. Kerr. Highsmith is known for her classic novels 'Strangers on a Train' and 'The Talented Mr. Ripley.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Mortals' by Norman Rush.
Interview with Adam Schlesinger and Chris Collingwood; Review of DVD re-releases of Bing Crosby films; Interview with Scott Spencer; Review of the film "Hulk." June 20, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884830].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ADAM SCHLESINGER and CHRIS COLLINGWOOD who are co-founders of the band "Fountains of Wayne". Their new album "Welcome Interstate Managers has just been released. (Virgin) Anchored by the song writing team of Chris and Adam, the New York-based band released its debut album "Radiation Vibe" in late 1996. (Original airdate 6/10/99)(2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new series of DVDs that are re-releases of movies starring Bing Crosby.(3.) Novelist SCOTT SPENCER. His newest book is 'A Ship Made of Paper,' and it's received critical acclaim. It's just out in paperback. Our book critic, Maureen Corrigan, describes Spencer as a brilliant storyteller. Spencer is the author of seven previous novels, including 'Endless Love' which sold over 2 million copies. He's also written for Rolling Stone, the New York Times and The New Yorker. (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews "Hulk," directed by Ang Lee.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. SAMUEL BARONDES ('BARON-dez') is Professor and Director of the Center for Neurobiology and Psychiatry at the University of California. He's also the author of the new book, 'Better than Prozac: Creating the Next Generation of Psychiatric Drugs' (Oxford Press). In the book he traces the history, analyses the effectiveness of the current crop of antidepressants and considers the drugs of the future. (2.) Singer ROSANNE CASH. In the summer of 1998 she began work on her new album 'Roads of Travel' (Capitol) but shortly after she learned she was pregnant and lost her voice, because of a polyp on her vocal chord. In 2000 she resumed work on the album and it was released in March. It includes a duet with her father, Johnny Cash. Other guest vocalists include Sheryl Crow and Steve Earle. Last month, CASH's stepmother June Cash died. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker ANDREW JARECKI. His new documentary is 'Capturing the Friedmans.' It's about a seemingly normal Long Island, New York family. At Thanksgiving dinner, police shatter the front door with a battering ram and arrest the father and son for allegations of pedophilia and child molestation. The film takes a look at the convoluted case and attempts to determine the true story. 'Capturing the Friedmans' won the Grand Jury Prize at the 2003 Sundance festival. This is JARECKI'S first feature film. He was also the founder and CEO of Moviefone, which was acquired by AOL in 1999 for nearly {dollar}400 million. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

(2.) SUSAN ORLEAN ('or-LEAN') is a staff writer at The New Yorker. In 1994 she wrote a profile of David Friedman, one of the Friedman sons. David was known as Silly Billy, a popular clown who was a favorite at many a children's birthday party in New York City. ORLEAN wrote the profile before the story came out surrounding David's father and brother. (ORLEAN is also the author of the bestselling book, 'The Orchid Thief' the basis of the film 'Adaptation.' We'll hear that part of her interview in a later Fresh Air.)

Interview with Nicholas Kristof; Review of Fountains of Wayne's new album "Welcome interstate managers." June 25, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884831].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Editorial columnist for The New York Times, NICHOLAS KRISTOF. In his recent columns he's been writing about the intelligence officers who disclosed to him that the Bush administration before the war exaggerated the claims of weapons of mass destruction in Iraq. KRISTOF recently returned from Iraq. He was also in Africa. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)

(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Welcome Interstate Managers' the new CD by Fountains of Wayne.
Interview with Susan Orlean; Interview with Mark Haddon; Review of Greg Osby's new album "St. Louis Shoes." June 26, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884826].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) SUSAN ORLEAN ('or-LEAN') is a staff writer at The New Yorker. In 1994 she wrote a profile of David Friedman who was known as Silly Billy, a popular children's party clown in New York City. ORLEAN wrote the piece before the story surfaced surrounding David's father and brother who both plead guilty to accusations of molestation of children, and sentenced to jail. They are the subject of the new documentary 'Capturing the Friedmans.' ORLEAN is also the author of the bestselling book, 'The Orchid Thief' the basis of the film 'Adaptation.' (2.) Children's book writer and illustrator MARK HADDON. He's written his first novel for grownups, 'the curious incident of the dog in the night-time' (Doubleday). The narrator of the story is an autistic teenager who is obsessed with Sherlock Holmes and who must prove his innocence when a neighborhood dog is killed. One reviewer described it as 'wonderful, simple, moving, and likely to be a smash.' HADDON teaches creative writing for the Arvon Foundation and for Oxford University. He lives in England. (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'St. Louis Shoes' (Blue Note) by composer and saxophonist Greg Osby.

Interview with Martin Scorsese; Interview with Paul Schrader; Review of the television series "Dead like me;" Review of the film "28 days later." June 27, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884854].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director MARTIN SCORSESE discusses his film 'Gangs of New York' set in pre-civil war New York city about the street warfare between immigrant groups. It's inspired by the book 'The Gangs of New York' published in 1927 by journalist Herbert Asbury. The film will be out on DVD and VHS next week. (REBROADCAST from 1/27/03)(2.) Writer/director PAUL SCHRADER. He directed the film 'Autofocus,' about the life of actor Bob Crane. It's now available on DVD, and will come out on VHS next week. Schrader wrote the screenplays for a number of classic films, including Taxi Driver and Raging Bull (Martin Scorsese directed). Films he directed include Affliction, The Comfort of Strangers and American Gigolo. (REBROADCAST from 10/14/02)(3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews 'Dead Like Me' the new series on Showtime Cable that begins Friday, June 27th. It's about a group of undead characters, who died with unresolved issues and have to work them out after life.(4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new film '28 Days Later' based on the bestselling novel 'The Beach' in which animal-rights activists break into a lab, setting free infected monkeys, and in turn letting lose a virus that puts people into a permanent state of murderous rage.

---

Interview with James Wood; Interview with Derek Bok. June 30, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884829].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JAMES WOOD is book critic for The New Republic. He's making his own literary debut with the new novel 'The Book Against God' (Farrar Straus & Giroux) about a young man, the son of a priest who becomes an atheist. WOOD is also the author of 'the Broken Estate: Essays on Literature and Belief' (Modern Library).(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Former longtime President of Harvard University DEREK BOK. His new book is, 'Universities in the Marketplace: The Commercialization of Higher Education' (Princeton University Press). Among the commercial activities at many universities and colleges these days are: drug companies giving money to medical schools, industry buying the rights to scientific discoveries, and industry-endowed faculty chairs. BOK is critical of such ventures.

---

Interview with Chris Albertson; Interview with Rhodessa Jones; Commentary on the word "slippery slope." July 1, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884916].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer and producer CHRIS ALBERTSON. He's considered an authority on blues singer Bessie Smith. His 1971 biography of Smith has been reissued in a new revised and expanded edition. It's called 'Bessie' (Yale University Press) and it contains new details on Smith's early years, new interview material, and a chapter devoted to responses to the original publication. (2.) Performance artist and writer RHODESSA JONES. She is Co-Artistic director of the San Francisco performance company Cultural Odyssey. She is also founder and director of the 'Medea Project: Theater for Incarcerated Women' a performance workshop for women in prison in which she helps them develop and stage works based on their own stories. JONES' solo performance works include 'Hot Flashes, Power Surges, and Private Summers,' and 'Big Butt Girls, Hard-Headed Women.' JONES is the subject of the book, 'Imagining Medea: Rhodessa Jones and Theater for Incarcerated Women' (by Rena Fraden). (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG. He discusses the origins of the term, "slippery slope."

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Veteran producer, pianist, singer, club owner GEORGE WEIN (pronounced like 'bean'). He's the founder of the New Port Jazz Festival, the Newport Folk Festival, and the New Orleans Jazz and Heritage Festival. In the early 1950s he founded the jazz clubs Storyville and Mahogany Hall in his hometown of Boston where jazz giants Art Tatum, Sidney Bechet, Charlie Parker, Stan Getz and Miles Davis played. In 1954 he launched the Newport Jazz Festival where he presented Ella Fitzgerald, Sarah Vaughn, Dave Brubeck and others. The other music greats he knew and worked with: Duke Ellington, Thelonious Monk, Charles Mingus, Louis Armstrong. Now 77 years old, WEIN has written a new autobiography (with Nate Chinen), 'Myself Among Others: A Life In Music: The struggles and triumphs of the extraordinary man behind the Newport Jazz and Folk Festivals, the New Orleans Jazz and Heritage Festival, and music festivals all over the world' (Da Capo Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Terminator 3: Rise of the Machines.'

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist and author WALTER ISAACSON. He's written the new biography 'Benjamin Franklin: An American Life' (Simon & Schuster). Reviewer and fellow Arthur Schlesinger, Jr. writes of the book, 'both an absorbing narrative biography and an acute assessment of the man and his impact on his time and on posterity.' ISAACSON is also the author of a biography of Kissinger, is president of the Aspen Institute, and was managing editor of Time magazine. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) TED CONOVER (CON-over) is a contributing writer to The New York Times Magazine. He went to Guantanamo Bay to report on the detention of suspected jihadists and terrorists there. He's written about it in the June 29th edition of The New York Times Magazine, 'In the Land of Guantanamo.' Previously CONOVER spent a year as a prison guard inside New York State's infamous Sing Sing prison to experience first hand the conditions within a prison. He wrote about it in his book, 'Newjack: Guarding Sing Sing.' CONOVER also chronicled his time spent with illegal aliens ('Coyotes') and railroad hoboies ('Rolling Nowhere').

Interview with Alan Shepard; Interview with Chris Kraft. July 4, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884921].

Description of show segment(s)

(1). The film 'The Right Stuff' about the early days of America's space program and based on the Tom Wolfe book is now out on a special edition DVD. We feature interviews with: General CHUCK YEAGER, test pilot, war hero, and the first man to break the sound barrier. Tom Wolfe called Yeager the 'the most righteous of all the possessors of the right stuff.' YEAGER's autobiography is 'Yeager' (Bantam paperback). (rebroadcast from 9/13/88)(2.) Retired Astronaut and former test pilot ALAN SHEPARD. He was America's first man in space in 1961; the voyage covered 302 miles and lasted 15 minutes. Ten years later with Apollo 14, he made it to the moon, playing golf on the moon's surface. (In 1969, the Apollo 11 landed on the moon, and Neil Armstrong was the first man to set foot on the moon). Early in his space career, SHEPARD was diagnosed with an inner ear syndrome which could have ended his career. SHEPARD grounded himself in 1963 and became Chief of the Astronaut Office. Later, after a risky operation took care of his ear problem, SHEPARD returned to flight status, becoming commader of the Apollo 14. SHEPARD's is the author of "Moon Shot: The Inside Story of America's Race to the Moon" (currently out of print).(MORE WITH SHEPARD IN THE LATER PART OF THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(3.) Former NASA flight director CHRIS KRAFT. He was NASA's first flight director, from the first forays into space in the 1960s to after Neil Armstrong landed on the moon in 1969. KRAFT also created Mission Control. He's the author of, 'Flight: My Life In Mission Control' (Penguin Putnam, paperback).ALAN SHEPARD continued (from first half of show).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Soul singer BARRY WHITE, the sweet-talking, deep-voiced performer who rhapsodized about love, died on July 4th. He was 58. The cause was kidney failure. His hits included "My First, My Last, My Everything," "Never Never Gonna Give Up," and "I'm Gonna Love You Just a Little More." Before he became a hit as a solo performer, WHITE put together the female vocal trio, Love Unlimited and founded the Love Unlimited Orchestra, a 40 piece ensemble to accompany himself and the trio. WHITE wrote his autobiography, "Barry White: Love Unlimited." (written with Marc Eliot, published by Broadway books in 1999). He also released a CD at that time, "Barry White: Staying Power" (Private music). (REBROADCAST from 10/27/99) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN considers the new trend in "pink" books - books by women featuring strong but girly heroines.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Our postponed interview with journalist JAMES BENNETT of the New York Times. He's been in the Middle East covering how the crisis there is affecting both Israelis and Palestinians. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER continues his look at the latest in pop rock. He reviews the CD 'Red Head' by the Boston-based musician known as Bleu (his real name is William McAuley).

Description of show segment(s)

the last decade, private companies have provided tactical support, advice, training, security, and even intelligence to the military. In the recent war against Iraq, private military employees handled everything from feeding and housing U.S. troops to maintaining sophisticated weapons like the B-2 stealth bomber. The practice raises troubling ethical questions. SINGER is an Olin Fellow in the Foreign Policy Studies Program at the Brookings Institution and Coordinator of the Brookings Project on U.S. Policy towards the Islamic World. (2.) Writer and doctor JOHN MURRAY. He's written a new collection of short stories, 'A Few Short Notes on Tropical Butterflies' (HarperCollins). Many of his stories are informed by his experiences as a doctor with the Center for Disease Control and Prevention's Epidemic Intelligence Service when he traveled to developing countries like Burundi, Ethiopia and Eritrea. MURRAY is also a graduate of the Iowa Writers' Workshop.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist EDMUND ANDREWS covers the economy for The New York Times. He recently returned from Iraq where he wrote about a number of things including the economy there. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Lead singer for the band the Jayhawks, GARY LOURIS. The Minneapolis band has seven albums to its credit. The latest is 'Rainy Day Music' (Los Highway records). The band is considered pioneers of the alternative-country movement, but have incorporated everything from pop to folk to rock and country. One reviewer in Rolling Stone writes of their new album, (it's) 'all lilting vocals and gentle acoustic fireworks: The slow waltzing guitars and sweet, wrenching vocals of the mortality-obsessed 'Will I See You in Heaven' might seem melodramatic on any other record, but not here, because time rolling slowly away from us is the Jayhawks' main subject matter.'
Interview with Todd Solondz; Review of film "Hell's Highway;" Interview with Robert Gordon.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director and writer TODD SOLONDZ ('so-LAHNZ'). His recent film 'Storytelling,' inflamed some critics more than his previous two features, 'Welcome to the Dollhouse' and 'Happiness.' Those films won prizes at Sundance and Cannes. 'Storytelling' is two separate stories set in high school and college. In one, we meet three college students and their writing professor. The other is about a filmmaker who wants to make a documentary about a high school senior and his family. 'Storytelling' is out on VHS and soon will be out on DVD. (Rebroadcast from 2/5/02)(2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new documentary 'Hell's Highway: The True Story of Highway Safety Films' by director Bred Wood. It's about the Highway Safety Foundation of Mansfield, Ohio which made a series of graphic driver's ed films in the 1960s to warn students about the dangers of driving reckless, sleepily, or drunk. (3.) Music journalist and film maker ROBERT GORDON. His biography of blues legend Muddy Waters 'Can't Be Statisfied: The Life and Times of Muddy Waters' is now out in paperback (Back Bay Books). Waters is credited with inventing electric blues and creating the template for the rock and roll band. GORDON also produced and directed an accompanying documentary of the same name which was broadcast on PBS in April as part of the American Masters series. GORDON's other books are 'It Came From Memphis,' and 'The King on the Road.' He also produced the Al Green box set, 'Anthology.' (REBROADCAST from 10/03/02)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer A. SCOTT BERG is the author of the new book, 'Kate Remembered' (Putnam) about actress Katherine Hepburn. BERG began a friendship with her twenty years ago, and during that time Hepburn disclosed confidences about her life. It was understood that if he wrote a book about her, he would wait until after her death to publish it. In 1999 he wrote that book but it was held in a vault until the time of Hepburn's death. She died on June 29th 2003 at the age of 96. BERG is also the author of 'Max Perkins: Editor of Genius,' 'Goldwyn: A Biography,' and 'Lindbergh,' for which he received the Pulitzer Prize. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Phantoms,' the new CD from tenor saxophonist Virginia Mayhew (Renma Records).

Description of show segment(s)

War photographer CHRISTOPHER MORRIS. His work is part of the new Time Magazine book, '21 Days to Baghdad: The Inside Story of How America Won the War Against Iraq.' Morris is a contract photographer for Time, and has documented over 18 foreign conflicts. He's documented drug related violence in Colombia, guerilla fighting in Afghanistan, and the Persian Gulf war. Morris has won many photojournalism awards during his career.(2.) Musician SALMAN AHMAD. He's the lead guitar player for Junoon, Pakistan's first and most famous rock band. The group is made up of one U.S. born Christian and two Pakistani Muslims. Junoon performs in Urdu, Punjab and English. Their lyrics blend Sufi mysticism with political activism. The band has been playing in the U.S. since 9/11, and they've recorded an anti-terrorism anthem, 'No More.' The band is the subject of a new PBS documentary called 'Junoon: the rock Star and the Mullahs.' It airs at 9 PM (ET) on July 17 2003.

Interview with Michael Lewis; Interview with James Warhola; Review of Mariza's new music album "Fado em mim." July 16, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884969].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer MICHAEL LEWIS. His recent book is 'Moneyball: The Art of Winning an Unfair Game.' It's the story of how the Oakland A's turned their team around and made history, winning 20 games in a row to set a new American League record. Lewis goes behind the scenes and finds a new kind of baseball knowledge. Lewis is the author of the best selling books 'Liar's Poker' and 'The New New Thing.' (ORIGINAL BROADCAST 5/28/03)(2.) Illustrator and writer JAMES WARHOLA. His recent book is 'Uncle Andy's: A faabbbulous visit with Andy Warhol.' It's a children's story about going to visit Warhol in New York City. Warhola chronicles one of the many trips he took with his family from Interview with Leslie Epstein; Review of New Pornographers' new CD "Electric Version;"

Description of show segment(s)

Writer LESLIE EPSTEIN. His father and uncle were the scriptwriting team responsible for 'Arsenic and Old Lace,' 'Casablanca,' and many other Hollywood classics. Epstein grew up in a glamorous and troubled household. His new book, 'San Remo Drive,' is described as a novel from memory, and it's based on his own childhood. Epstein directs the Creative Writing Program at Boston University, and is the author of 8 other novels, including 'King of the Jews' and 'Pandaemonium.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Rock critic Ken Tucker reviews 'Electric Version,' the new CD from The New Pornographers. (3.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'The Bug' by Ellen Ullman.

Obituary for Carol Shields; Commentary on the music recordings from the 1920s; Review of the film "Dirty Pretty Things." July 18, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884970].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist CAROL SHIELDS. She just died of breast cancer. She won a Pulitzer Prize for her best-selling novel 'The Stone Diaries.' Her books are often about middle class people leading quiet lives. Her other novels include 'Larry's Party' which won Britain's Orange Prize, 'The Republic of Love,' and 'Swann: A Mystery.' She also wrote a biography of Jane Austen as well as plays, poetry and story collections. In 1998 SHIELDS was diagnosed with breast cancer. At the time of Terry's interview, she was in stage 4, a late stage of the disease. Her most recent novel 'Unless' (Fourth Estate) was written after her diagnosis. (Original airdate: 5/1/02) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian Ed Ward tells us about the Richmond Sessions? music recorded in Richmond, Virginia in the 1920s, just as recording was getting off the ground.

Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Dirty Pretty Things,' directed by Stephen Frears.

---

Interview with Ricky Skaggs; Interview with Arn Chorn-Pond. July 21, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884965].

Description of show segment(s)

1. Country and bluegrass musician RICKY SKAGGS. He's got a new album out called 'The Three Pickers,' and it features Skaggs playing along with Earl Scruggs and Doc Watson (also available on DVD). Skaggs started performing as a young child. He was considered a prodigy. His first number one single was 'Crying My Heart Out Over You' in 1981, and he continued to have a string of hits throughout the eighties. But he fell out of favor for most of the next decade, coming back in 1997 with 'Bluegrass Rules!' recorded with his backup band Kentucky Thunder. Skaggs has won many Grammy and Country Music Association awards.

2. ARN CHORN-POND is the subject of the new documentary 'The Flute Player' (broadcast as part of the P.O.V. series, July 22nd on most PBS stations). As a child, CHORN-POND was held in a Khmer Rouge labor camp where many children starved to death, many others were murdered, and those who survived were forced to work from 5 am to midnight. He was taught to play the flute to play propaganda songs which helped assure his survival. Later at age 14, CHORN-POND was forced into the Khmer Rouge army to fight the invading Vietnamese. After seeing his friends die, he fled into the jungle and survived mimicking the eating habits of monkeys. After finding his way to a Thailand refugee camp he was adopted by an American relief worker, Peter Pond, and brought to the U.S. Now CHORN-POND spends half his time in Cambodia where he is searching for the masters of traditional Cambodian music, many of whom were murdered under the regime of Pol Pot. In the U.S. he also runs a program for Cambodian-American street kids.
Interview with Peter Stothard; Interview with Trinny Woodall and Susannah Constantine; Review of Yeah Yeah Yeahs' debut album "Fever to tell." July 22, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884966].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) British journalist PETER STOTHARD. He's the author of the new book, 'Thirty Days: Tony Blair and the Test of History' (HarperCollins). STOTHARD chronicles the thirty days between March 10 to April 10, 2003, in the days leading up to the Iraq war and the early days of the war. STOTHARD had unprecedented access to Blair during that time. STOTHARD is currently editor of the London Times Literary Supplement, and is former editor of the Times from 1992 to 2002. (2.) Fashion journalists TRINNY WOODALL & SUSANNAH CONSTANTINE (con-stan-TYNE) are hosts of the BBC show 'What Not to Wear' (broadcast here on BBC America Tuesday nights) which gives advice to women on what not to wear/what to wear if one has, for instance, big boobs, no boobs, big arms, flabby tummy, thick legs, etc. Their book, 'What Not To Wear' is available now in paperback (Riverhead Books). (There's also an American knockoff of the show also called What Not to Wear on the cable channel TLC). (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Fever to Tell' (Interscope label) the debut album by the rock trio Yeah Yeah Yeahs, led by singer Karen O.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist ERIC BOEHLERT ('BO-lert') writes for the online magazine Salon. He's been covering the story surrounding Clear Channel Communications Inc., a media conglomerate that owns 1,200 radio stations nationwide. Last January it was the subject of an inquiry by the Senate commerce committee because of claims that Clear Channel 'bullies artists, replaces local programming with automated formats and uses hard-nosed tactics against competitors.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) CEO of Clear Channel Radio, JOHN HOGAN. Radio is just a part of Clear Channel Worldwide, headquartered in San Antonio, Texas. It includes TV stations, outdoor advertising displays and live entertainment productions and venues throughout the US and in 65 countries around the world. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (3.)
Music critic MILO MILES has an appreciation of Celia Cruz, the Cuban singer who died last week at the age of 77.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Episcopal priest GENE ROBINSON of New Hampshire. He is on the brink of becoming the world's first openly gay bishop of the Episcopal Church. He was elected by the Diocese of New Hampshire, but the appointment must be approved at the Church's national general convention next week. His nomination has divided the church. ROBINSON who is 56 was married for 13 years. He continues to be close to his ex-wife and two daughters. For the last 15 years he's been in a relationship with another man. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI on the new Bravo cable makeover show, 'Queer Eye for the Straight Guy.' NBC will broadcast an episode of the show tonight.

Interview with Charlotte Rampling; Interview with Chris Cooper; Interview with Jeff Bridges; Review of the film "Seabiscuit." July 25, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884967].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) British actress Charlotte Rampling. She's known for her great beauty. She was a model before beginning her film career in the sixties with hits such as 'Georgy Girl' and 'The Damned.' She may be best known for 'The Night Porter,' a 1974 classic about a concentration camp survivor reunited with the Nazi guard who tortured her. In the 2001 film 'Under The Sand,' she played a woman whose husband mysteriously disappears during a seaside vacation. She's currently starring in the new French film, 'Swimming Pool.' (2.) Actor CHRIS COOPER. He stars as horse trainer Tom Smith in the new film 'Seabiscuit.' He won an Academy Award for his performance as John Laroche in the film 'Adaptation.' Recently he starred in the HBO film 'My House in Umbria,' with Maggie Smith. Cooper has had roles in 'American Beauty,' 'The Bourne Identity,' and 'The Horse Whisperer.' (3.) Actor JEFF BRIDGES. He stars in the new film 'Seabiscuit' based on the bestselling book about the famous unlikely champion

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times correspondent STEPHEN KINZER. He's the author of the new book, 'All The Shah's Men: An American Coup and the Roots of Middle East Terror' (John Wiley & Sons). It's about the 1953 CIA coup in Iran that put an end to democratic rule, and in turn led the way for the Islamic Revolution of 1979. He writes, 'It was the first time the United States overthrew a foreign government. It set a pattern for years to come and shaped the way millions of people view the United States.' KINZER is a veteran correspondent and has reported from more than fifty countries. He was the first Times bureau chief in Istanbul. He is also coauthor of 'Bitter Fruit: The Story of the American Coup in Guatemala.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'New Beginnings' (MaxJazz) the new CD by trumpeter Terell Stafford.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer LAURA HILLENBRAND. She's the author of the best selling book, "Seabiscuit: An American Legend," (Random House) about the horse who became a racetrack sensation in the 1930s. Her book is the basis of the new film starring Tobey Maguire, Jeff Bridges, and Chris Cooper. The New York Times called the book, "a captivating story? with the detail of good history, the blistering pace of Seabiscuit himself, and the charm of grand legend." Hillenbrand has chronic fatigue syndrome and during the writing of "Seabiscuit," she almost never left her home. She has been writing about Thoroughbred racing for 15 years.(2.) JONATHAN KARP of Random House. He was Laura Hillenbrand's editor on the book "Seabiscuit." He'll talk about working with Hillenbrand, who has Chronic Fatigue Syndrome, and had the illness while she was writing the best-selling book. KARP was also the editor of "The Orchid Thief," by Susan Orlean.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer JON KRAKAUER ('KRACK-hour') is the author of the book 'Into Thin Air' about the disastrous Mt Everest Climb in 1996 in which eight climbers were killed. His new book 'Under the Banner of Heaven: A Story of Violent Faith' (Doubleday) is about Mormon fundamentalism and the story of the two Lafferty brothers who murdered a woman and her infant daughter because - they insist - they had received a revelation from God to do so. KRAKAUER reports there are some 40,000 Mormon fundamentalists in the American West, Canada and Mexico. They practice polygamy and answer to 'prophets' who control their lives. The Mormon Church does not recognize fundamentalists as part of their faith. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) RICHARD TURLEY is managing director of the Family and Church History Dept. of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in Salt lake City. (3.) Nigerian-born actor CHIWETEL EJIOFOR.('CHIH-wuh-tell EDGE-ee-oh-for') stars in the new Stephen Frears's film 'Dirty Pretty Things.' (Frears also made 'My Beautiful Laundrette' and 'Prick Up Your Ears.') EJIOFOR plays an immigrant former doctor who now must make his living in London as a cab driver and hotel clerk. EJIOFOR graduated from the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Art. He won the Outstanding Newcomer award in the London Evening Standard Awards 2000. He recently completed a sell-out run at London's National Theatre as Christopher in 'Blue/Orange.' At the age of 19 he had a role in Steven Spielberg's film 'Amistad.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We put in a call to talk with music writer PETER GURALNICK about the death of Sun Studios founder Sam Phillips. GURALNICK is the author of a two volume biography of Elvis Presley: 'Last Train to Memphis' and "Careless Love.' (2.) Sun Studios founder SAM PHILLIPS has died yesterday in Memphis at the age of 80. He was revered as one of the leading catalysts in post WW II American music. As a record producer in the 1950s and 60s his recordings launched the careers of Elvis Presley, Carl Perkins, and Jerry Lee Lewis and that's just to name a few. (REBROADCAST from 9/15/97) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Peter Guralnick; Interview with Carl Perkins; Interview with Johnny Cash; Review of the film "The Magdalene Sisters." August 1, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884577].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Music writer PETER GURALNICK is the author of a two volume biography of Elvis Presley: 'Last Train to Memphis' and "Careless Love." (REBROADCAST from 10/04/94)(2.) Songwriter and singer CARL PERKINS. We continue our tribute to Sam Phillips, the founder of Sun Records who died Wednesday at the age of 80. PERKINS was one of the performers Phillips discovered and recorded in the 1950s. PERKINS wrote "Blue Suede Shoes," the hit song sung by Elvis Presley which became the first Sun label record to sell over a million copies. He also wrote the songs, "Matchbox," "Honey Don't," and "Everybody's Trying to Be My Baby" which have been recorded by the Beatles. PERKINS is the pioneer of a style of music called Rockabilly, which is described as "a country man's song with a black man's rythm." PERKINS, born in Tennessee, learned to play guitar from his uncle and formed a band with his two brothers before touring the South with Elvis Presley and Johnny Cash. It was Cash who gave Perkins the idea for the song, "Blue Suede Shoes." PERKINS wrote the book, "Go, Cat, Go!" about his career. (REBROADCAST from 10/29/96) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(3.) Music legend JOHNNY CASH. He is one of the performers Phillips discovered and recorded in the 1950s. CASH has been recording albums and performing since the 1950's. CASH has been inducted into the Songwriters, Country Music, and Rock and Roll Halls of Fame. He also wrote his autobiography 'Cash.' (REBROADCAST from 11/4/97)(4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Magdalene Sisters' by Scottish writer/director Peter Mullan. It's based on the Ireland's actual Magdalene Asylums where Catholic girls accused of 'moral crimes' (anything from getting pregnant, to being too attractive, to accusing a man of rape) were sent to work in laundries to atone for their sins. These virtual prisons finally closed their doors in 1996.

Interview with Harvey Pekar and Joyce Brabner; Interview with Shari Springer Berman and Robert Pulcini August 4, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884670].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Underground comic book writer HARVEY PEKAR ('PEE-car') and his wife JOYCE BRABNER. PEKAR has been described as 'working-class Everyman,' and 'first-class curmudgeon.' In 1976 he published the first in a series of comic books about his mundane life as a V.A. hospital clerk, and record collector in Cleveland. It was called 'American Splendor,' and he's continued to publish them since. In 1987 one of them earned him an American Book Award. (Pekar doesn't do the drawings himself; R. Crumb illustrated some). Now he's the subject of the new film 'American Splendor' which won the Grand Jury Prize at the 2003 Sundance Film Festival. He and his wife also appear in the film. (2.) Filmmakers SHARI SPRINGER BERMAN and ROBERT PULCINI are the team behind 'American Splendor' which is a hybrid of fiction and documentary. Their previous documentaries are 'Off the Menu: The Last Days of Chasen's' and 'The Young and the Dead.'

Interview with Noah Feldman; Review of Bob Hope's vocal recordings; Interview with Eitan Gorlin; Commentary on Vivian Gornick. August 5, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884720].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) NOAH FELDMAN is a professor of the New York University School of Law with a doctorate in Islamic thought from Oxford. Until recently he was head of the constitutional team with the Office of Reconstruction and Humanitarian Assistance in Iraq. He continues to advise the Iraqi government on writing their constitution. FELDMAN is also the author of the new book, 'After Jihad: America and the Struggle for Islamic Democracy' (Farrar, Straus & Giroux). In the book he argues that it is time for Islamic democracies. (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews a new compilation of Bob Hope's singing, 'Best of Bob Hope' (Capitol). (3.) Writer/director EITAN GORLIN ('A-tawn GOR-lin'). His latest film 'The Holy Land' won the Grand Jury Best Feature Film prize at the 2002 Slamdance film Festival. It's a love story, loosely based on his novella 'Mike's Place, A Jerusalem Diary' and his experiences as a bartender there. Mike's Place is a popular bar on the Tel Aviv waterfront where Jews, Muslims, internationals, atheists and devouts congregate. Since making the film, Mike's Place, was the site of a suicide bombing. 'The Holy Land' is currently touring the U.S. (4.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN comments on Vivian Gornick's recent admission (which she has since denied) that she had invented some scenes and conversations in her memoir.

Interview with Rebecca Smith and John Emshwiller; Interview with Bill Maher. August 6, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884579].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Wall Street Journal reporters REBECCA SMITH & JOHN R. EMSHWILLER. SMITH is a national energy reporter and EMSHWILLER is a senior national correspondent who covers white-collar crime. The two uncovered the Enron story: that the company engaged in shadowy partnerships in order to hide Enron's failings and inflate its value by billions of dollars. They've written an account of how they did it in the new book, '24 Days: How two Wall Street Journal reporters uncovered the lies that destroyed faith in corporate America.' (HarperBusiness). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Comic BILL MAHER ('Mar') host of the HBO show 'Real Time with Bill Maher.' The weekly show is broadcast on Friday nights at 11, with rebroadcasts through out the week. Like his previous show 'Politically Incorrect' he features a roundtable of guests who make jokes and talk politics. This week's guests are actress Janeane Garofolo and California Governor Gray Davis. MAHER is also the author of 'When You Ride Alone, You Ride with Bin Laden.'
Interview with Hope Davis; Commentary on the rock band "The high strung;" Commentary on dictionaries. August 7, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884667].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress HOPE DAVIS. Most recently she played the daughter of Jack Nicholson in the movie 'About Schmidt.' Her other roles include 'Mumford,' 'Next Stop Wonderland,' 'Flatliners,' and her first major role 'Daytrippers.' DAVIS is starring in the new film 'American Splendor' which took the 2003 Sundance Film Festival's Grand Jury Prize. She's also starring in 'The Secret Lives of Dentists.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER concludes his look at the current pop-rock bands, with a look at the Brooklyn-based quartet The High Strung. Their debut CD is 'These Are Good Times.'

(3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers dictionaries today and yesterday.

Interview with Denis Leary; Interview with Aljean Harmetz; Interview with Leslie Epstein; Review of the film "The secret lives of dentists." August 8, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884666].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and comedian DENIS LEARY. This Sunday he gets roasted by Comedy Central. He's also starring in the new film 'The Secret Lives of Dentists.' Last year he starred in the ABC comedy series, 'The Job.' He's also known for his work in films such as 'The Thomas Crown Affair' and 'The Ref.' Leary has completed over 20 feature films, several cable specials, a book, a CD, and he has an international hit song. He's got his own production company, Apostle. (REBROADCAST FROM 4/18/02)

(2.) Author ALJEAN HARMETZ. Her book, 'Round Up the Usual Suspects' tells the inside story of the making of the film 'Casablanca.' There's a new 2-disc special edition DVD of the film which includes commentary by film critic Roger Ebert. HARMETZ is also the author of 'The Making of the Wizard of Oz.' She was the Hollywood film correspondent for The New York Times for 12 years. (REBROADCAST from 12/16/92)

(3.) Writer LESLIE EPSTEIN. His father and uncle were the scriptwriting team responsible for 'Arsenic and Old Lace,' 'Casablanca,' and many other Hollywood classics. His new book, 'San Remo Drive,' is described as a novel from memory, and it's based on his own childhood. Epstein directs the Creative Writing Program at Boston University, and is the author of 8 other novels, including 'King of the Jews' and 'Pandaemonium.' (REBROADCAST from 7/17/03) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Secret Lives of Dentists.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Hall of Fame jockey GARY STEVENS. He's won three Kentucky Derbys, two Preakness Stakes and three Belmont Stakes. Now 40 years old, he's been riding professionally since he was sixteen years old. In 2000 he retired briefly because of chronic knee pain but then returned to racing. STEVENS is the author of the autobiography, 'The Perfect Ride' (paperback, Citadel Press). He also has a part in the new film 'Seabiscuit' as jockey George Woolf. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Dancer & actor GREGORY HINES. He died Saturday at the age of 57. He had cancer. He won a Tony Award as best actor in 1992 for his portrayal of Jelly Roll Morton. His film roles include Francis Ford Coppola's 'Cotton Club,' 'White Nights in which he danced with Mikhail Baryshnikov and 'Tap.' (REBROADCAST from 2/8/89)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Scottish writer/director/actor PETER MULLAN. His new feature film 'The Magdalene Sisters' is based on the real life laundries run by the Sisters of the Magdalene Order in Ireland which opened near the end of the 19th century. Girls that were considered wayward or unruly were sent there as punishment for their 'sins' and forced to do labor under sweat-shop conditions. The last of the laundries was shut down in 1996. MULLAN's film follows the lives of four young women and takes place from 1964 to 1969. This is MULLAN's second feature film. His first was the film 'Orphans.' Before writing and directing, MULLAN was best known for his acting. He starred in 'The Big Man,' 'Riff-Raff,' 'Shallow Grave,' and 'Trainspotting.' He won Best Actor at the Cannes Film Festival for his role in Ken Loach's film 'My Name is Joe.' (2.) Writer and director NIKI CARO. Her new film is 'Whale Rider' a re-telling of Maori legend in which a young girl must challenge her grandfather and a thousand years of tradition to fulfill her destiny. The Maoris are the native people of New Zealand. 'Whale Rider' won the Audience awards at the Sundance, Toronto and Rotterdam Film Festivals. CARO's previous film was 'Memory and Desire.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. JONATHAN EDLOW is the author of the new book 'Bull's Eye: Unraveling the Medical Mystery of Lyme Disease.' (Yale University Press). In the book he chronicles the emergence of the disease, how scattered clues led to the cause - bacterium Borelia burgdorferi, and then to the deer tick that spread it. The search for the cause began in the late 1970s when people around Lyme, Connecticut began suffering from unexplained arthritis, swelling, circular rashes, fatigue and other symptoms. EDLOW is vice chairman of the department of emergency medicine at the Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center and assistant professor of medicine at the Harvard Medical School. (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the long-awaited reissue of trombonist Rod Levitt's octet's first album.(3.) Chef JEREMIAH TOWER. He's considered one of the chefs behind modern California cuisine which emphasized the use of locally grown ingredients to elevate simple dishes to fine delicacies. That in turn launched a revolution in American regional cookery. TOWER began his career as chef and co-owner of Chez Panisse in Berkeley, California. He went on to run restaurants in San Francisco, Hong Kong, Singapore, and Seattle. In 1996 the James Beard Foundation named him 'Outstanding Chef in America.' Recently he hosted the PBS series 'America's Best Chefs.' He's written a new memoir, 'California Dish: What I Saw (and Cooked) at the American Culinary Revolution.' (Free Press)(4.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews Jacqueline Winspear's debut novel, 'Maisie Dobbs.'
Interview with Aiden Hartley; Review of cartoon series the complete first season of "Rocky & Bullwinkle & Friends;" Commentary on writing a memoir. August 14, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884994].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former war correspondent AIDAN HARTLEY. In the 1990s he covered Ethiopia, Somalia, Rwanda and the Congo for Reuters. Three of his colleagues were killed by a mob in Somolia rebelling against the presence of U.S. forces, and he witnessed the atrocities in Rwanda. HARTLEY grew up in Africa, the son of a British colonial officer. His family has a colonial legacy four generations old beginning with his great-great grandfather who defended British settlements in 19th century New Zealand. After the death of his father, AIDAN found in a chest his father had given him the diaries of his father's best friend who had died mysteriously fifty years earlier. HARTLEY set out to find out what happened. His new memoir is 'The Zanzibar Chest: A Story of Life, Love, and Death in Foreign Lands' (Atlantic Monthly Press).

(THE INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews two prime-time cartoon series now on DVD: the complete first season of 'Rocky & Bullwinkle & Friends' (Sony Wonder); and the third season of 'The Simpsons' (Fox Home Entertainment).

(3.) Writer VIVIAN GORNICK responds to a commentary we broadcast last week by book critic Maureen Corrigan about Gornick's admission that she had invented some scenes and conversations in her acclaimed memoir. (4.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN responds to Gornick.

Description of show segment(s)

(1). Animator MIKE JUDGE. He's the creator of, and voice behind, MTV's phenomena Beavis and Butthead. He also created the Fox series 'King of the Hill,' where he provides the voice for main character, Hank. The first season of 'King of the Hill' is now available on DVD. JUDGE is also the writer, director and producer of the cult movie 'Office Space.' JUDGE is a self-taught animator with a physics degree. (REBROADCAST from 2/26/01)(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews The Trouble With Being Myself, the new album from Macy Gray.(3.) Writer and director TERRY GILLIAM. (GILL-ee-um') His film 'Lost in La Mancha' is now out on video and DVD. It's a documentary about Gilliam's failed attempt to adapt the story of Don Quixote to the screen. The film Gilliam was supposed to make was titled 'The Man Who Killed Don Quixote,' starring Johnny Depp, Vanessa Paradis and Jean Rochefort. Gilliam is a former member of the legendary Monty Python comedy troupe. He was responsible for the Monty Python TV show's quirky opening credit sequence. He went on to write and direct such classic films as 'Monty Python and the Holy Grail,' 'Brazil,' 'The Adventures of Baron Munchhausen,' '12 Monkeys' and the more recent 'Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas,' an adaptation of the Hunter S. Thompson novel. (REBROADCAST from 1/30/03). (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new film 'American Splendor.'

Interview with Mike Stanton; Interview with Carlo Rotella. August 18, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884346].

Description of show segment(s)

(1). Journalist MIKE STANTON heads the investigative reporting team at The Providence Journal in Rhode Island. In 1994 he shared the Pulitzer Prize for his investigative reporting exposing widespread corruption at the Rhode Island Supreme Court. His new book is 'The Prince of Providence: The True Story of Buddy Cianci: America's Most Notorious Mayor, Some Wiseguys and the Feds.' (Random House). Cianci was a visionary mayor who presided over the city's renaissance, but he was also ruthless, corrupt, and a rogue. In 1990 he made a comeback as Mayor after being driven from office in 1984 when he was convicted of felony assault. In 2001 he was convicted of racketeering and is now in prison. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Writer CARLO ROTELLA takes a look at inside world of boxing in his new book, 'Cut Time: An Education at the Fights' (Houghton Mifflin). In a review by Pete Hamill he describes the book as 'charged on every page with intelligence, pity, surprise, and yes, a kind of wisdom.' ROTELLA is also the author of the book,'Good With Their Hands: Boxers, Bluesmen, and Other Characters from the Rust Belt.' ROTELLA is a professor at Boston College where he teaches American literature, American Studies, urban literatures and cultures, and creative and nonfiction writing.' His essays have appeared in Harper's, Washington Post Magazine and Best American Essays 2001.
Interview with Sheru Fink; Review of Stephen Goodwin's novel "Breaking her fall;" Interview with Doug Spreen; Commentary on Fox News' lawsuit against Al Franken. August 19, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884995].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Doctor SHERI FINK. Her new book is called "War Hospital: A True Story of Surgery and Survival" (Public Affairs). It's about the group of doctors who treated patients in Srebrenica, Bosnia, during wartime, under the most extreme conditions. They treated thousands of patients, often without electricity, water, or the proper medicine. Fink is a physician and writer based in New York. She works with the humanitarian organization International Medical Corps. She just returned from Iraq and has also worked in the Balkans, southern Africa, and Central Asia.(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN. She reviews "Breaking Her Fall," by Stephen Goodwin.(3.) Athletic trainer DOUG SPREEN. He is one of the official trainers for the ATP (Association of Tennis Professionals) and has worked with the world's top tennis players, including Pete Sampras, Andre Agassi, Andy Roddick, and Venus and Serena Williams. He is responsible for the health of all the players, and deals with their injuries before and after competition. He also has to tend to them while they are competing; he often has to run onto the court and check on athletes who are injured during play.(4.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG. He gives his thoughts on Fox News' case against Al Franken, over his use of the term "fair and balanced."

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer and damage control consultant ERIC DEZENHALL. He is President of the PR firm Nicholas-Dezenhall Communications Management Group based in Washington, D.C. He has in the past described his business as a response to 'the culture of the attack.' He appears regularly on 'Hardball' and 'The O'Reilly Factor.' DEZENHALL worked for the Reagan Administration. When he was an investigative writer, he uncovered the diaries of the late mobster Meyer Lansky, which were featured in an article he wrote for the Los Angeles Times Syndicate and the Baltimore Sun. He's written several books: 'Money Wanders' (a novel), and 'Nail Em! Confronting High-Profile Attacks on Celebrities and Business.' His new book is the novel 'Jackie Disaster' (St. Martin's Minotaur).(2.) Writer DANIEL GLICK. His new book is 'Monkey Dancing: A Father, Two Kids, and a Journey to the Ends of The Earth.' After Glick's wife left him for another woman, and his older brother died, he took his two children, ages 9 and 13, on a trip around the world, seeking out endangered places. Glick was a Newsweek correspondent for 12 years, and has written for many other publications including Rolling Stone and The New York Times.(3.) Rock critic Ken Tucker reviews the self-titled album from singer songwriter Liz Phair.

Interview with Ken Kaiser; Interview with Helen Stickler and Ken Park; Commentary on Jerome Moross. August 21, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884344].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former major league umpire KEN KAISER. His new book is 'Planet of the Umps: A Baseball Life from Behind the Plate' (written with David Fisher). Kaiser was called the most colorful umpire in the American League in a 1986 Sporting News poll. He left the major leagues in 2001, after calling balls, strikes and outs for more than three thousand games.(2.) Filmmaker HELEN STICKLER and former skateboarder KENNETH PARK. Stickler's new documentary is 'STOKED: The Rise and Fall of Gator.' It's about former skateboarding star Mark 'Gator' Rogowski, who is now serving 31 years to life in prison for the rape and murder of a former girlfriend. Ken Park is interviewed in the film. He's a former skateboarder and friend of Gator's. Park is now the President and CEO of John Galt Media. Stickler is an Emmy-nominated writer, producer and director of documentary films and commercials.(3.) LLOYD SCHWARTZ talks about composer Jerome Moross whose music included the popular theme music of Wagon Train and the song 'Lazy Afternoon.' He died in 1983. This month, he would have turned 100.

Interview with Ron Carter; Interview with Dean Kamen; Review of the film "Thirteen." August 22, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884345].

Description of show segment(s)

Jazz bassist RON CARTER. He has more than two thousand recordings to his credit. From 1963-1968 he was part of the Miles Davis Quintet with Herbie Hancock, Tony Williams, and Wayne Shorter. Over the years he's played with Randy Weston, Herbie Mann, Betty Carter, Eric Dolphy, Sony Rollins, McCoy Tyner and others. CARTER has a new CD 'The Golden Striker' (Blue Note Records). (Original airdate 10/15/02) (This interview continues into the second half of the show)(2.) Inventor DEAN KAMEN. He invented the Segway ('SEG-way' like 'segue') Human Transporter, a high-tech scooter. The scooter relies on sensors, sold-state gyroscopes, and softwear to produce a balanced ride even over rough terrain. The price tag is around $5,000. KAMEN's other inventions include a portable drug-infusion pump, a compact dialysis machine and a wheelchair that can climb stairs. KAMEN heads DEKA Research & Development Corporation in New Hampshire. (Original airdate: 2/10/03)(3.) Film critic David Edelstein reviews 'Thirteen,' Starring Holly Hunter and Evan Rachel Wood.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We kick off Word for Word Week at fresh air, featuring our favorite authors from the past year. First up: lesbian pulp fiction. Writer ANN BANNON (her pseudonym) has written a number of books of lesbian pulp fiction, including "Odd Girl Out," "I Am a Woman," and "Journey to a Woman." BANNON went on to become a college dean, and has kept her identity a secret. (original airdate 12/8/99)(2.) Writer MARIJANE MEAKER. Her new book is about her 2-year affair with the great writer Patricia Highsmith. The two met in the 1950s at a Greenwich Village lesbian bar. Both were writing lesbian pulp novels under pseudonyms. Meaker wrote 'Spring Fire' (1952) under the pen name Vin Packer. It sold 1.5 million copies. She also wrote under the name Ann Aldrich. Meaker writes young adult novels under the name M.E. Kerr. Highsmith is known for her classic novels 'Strangers on a Train' and 'The Talented Mr. Ripley.' (Original airdate: 6/19/03)(3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Rabbit Songs' by the group Hem.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist RICHARD RUSSO. He won a Pulitzer Prize for his novel 'Empire Falls' which was also a national bestseller. His subject matter is working-class unpretentious people, but as one reviewer writes he transforms 'every day people and seemingly ordinary events - into the quintessential.' He's written five novels in all, including 'Mohawk,' 'The Risk Pool,' and 'Nobody's Fool' (which was made into a film starring Paul Newman). His latest book is a collection of stories, 'The Whore's Child and
Other Stories.' (Original airdate: 8/19/02)(2.) Novelist RICHARD PRICE is the author of the bestselling novels, Clockers, about life in the inner city world of drug dealing (which was made into a film), and Freedomland, which was inspired by a real life incident in which a woman alleged a black man carjacked her and took her two children. PRICE's latest book, Samaritan, (Knopf) is about a man who returns to the New Jersey town where he was raised and to teaching, and the bad consequences of his good intentions. PRICE also is a screenwriter with such notable films: "Sea of Love," "Ransom," and "The Color of Money." (Original airdate: 1/7/03)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) GRETCHEN WORDEN, Director of the Mutter Museum. She's put together a book of photographs of and from the museum's collection of human oddities and outdated medical models. The Mutter Museum is in Philadelphia, PA. It is one of the last medical museums from the nineteenth century. It originated with the collection of Dr. Thomas Dent Mutter who gathered unique specimens for teaching purposes. The museum displays many strange human artifacts, such as a slice of a face, amputated limbs, deformed fetuses and a plaster cast of the Siamese twins Chang and Eng Bunker. (Original airdate: 11/5/02)

(2.) Sleight of hand expert and actor RICKY JAY. His recent book is 'Dice: Deception, Fate & Rotten Luck.' It's a collection of essays about the history of dice and the many ways of cheating at the game. Photographs by Rosamond Purcell accompany the text. The New York Times says of Jay, 'He's a master's master.' His other books include 'Learned Pigs & Fireproof Women' and 'Jay's Journal of Anomalies.' He's appeared in a number of David Mamet films and his one man shows include 'Ricky Jay & His 52 Assistants,' and 'Ricky Jay: On the Stem.' (Original airdate: 12/2/02)(3.) Jazz critic Kevin Whitehead reviews a new re-issue of Thelonious Monk's 'Criss-Cross.' It's one of four new volumes in Columbia Records' ongoing Monk re-issue series.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Voice and acting coach PATSY RODENBURG. (‘ROH-den-burg’) She's worked with some of the world's leading English-speaking actors, including Judi Dench, Daniel Day-Lewis, Maggie Smith and Nicole Kidman. Rodenburg is the Director of Voice at London's National Theatre and the Guildhall School of Music and Drama. She's the author of the books 'Speaking Shakespeare' (Palgrave Macmillan) and 'The Actor Speaks: Voice and the Performer.' (Original airdate: 9/9/02)(2.) Fashion journalists TRINNY WOODALL & SUSANNAH CONSTANTINE (con-stan-TYNE) are hosts of the BBC show 'What Not to Wear' (broadcast here on BBC America Tuesday nights) which gives advice to women on what not to wear/what to wear if one has, for instance, big boobs, no boobs, big arms, flabby tummy, thick legs, etc. Their book, 'What Not To Wear' is available now in paperback (Riverhead Books). (There's also an American version of the show also called What Not to Wear on the cable channel TLC). (Original airdate: 9/9/02)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) PAUL FEIG ('feeg') is the creator of the now defunct TV comedy series 'Freaks and Geeks.' He wrote a book 'Kick Me: Adventures in Adolescence' (paperback, Three Rivers Press). FEIG was an actor before moving on to writing for TV and film. (Original airdate: 10/3/02)(2.) LEWIS GOULD is a professor of American History at the University of Texas at Austin. He's edited the new book, 'Watching Television Come of Age' (University of Texas Press) a collection of the New York Times reviews by his father, Jack Gould who covered TV for the Times from 1947 until 1972. Jack Gould died in 1993. (Original Airdate: 12/4/02)(3.) Film critic and historian DAVID THOMSON. His latest book is "The New Biographical Dictionary of Film." (Knopf) It is an updated version of his "Biographical Dictionary of Film," which was first published in 1975. Some of the entries from the Dictionary have been revised and new entries have been added. Thomson has taught film studies at Dartmouth College and has served on the selection Interview with Dion. September 1, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884903].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer Songwriter DION. He's just released a CD of new songs, covers, and new versions of his old hits. It's called 'New Masters' (Collectables, 2003). In the late 1950s, Dion and his band the Belmonts topped the chart with several pop hits, earning him the status of 'teen idol.' His best known songs include 'I Wonder Why,' 'A Teenager in Love,' 'The Wanderer,' and 'Runaround Sue.' (ORIGINALLY AIRED 10/17/00) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES FOR THE ENTIRE SHOW)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Fifth Beatle PETE BEST. He was the drummer for the Beatles in their early days in Liverpool and Hamburg. His mother, Mona Best, was the owner of The Casbah Coffee Club in Liverpool. The various early incarnations of the Beatles played the Casbah over 90 times. Best has just co-written a large format book, 'The Beatles: The True Beginnings' (by Roag Best with Pete and Rory Best). Today he writes, records and tours with his own group, The Pete Best Band. (This interview continues into the second half of the show.) (2.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'Against Live: A Polemic' by Layra Kipnis (Pantheon).
Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian and political commentator AL FRANKEN. His new book is Lies and the Lying Liars who Tell Them: A Fair and Balanced Look at the Right.' Franken recently made headlines when the Fox News Channel tried to sue him over the phrase 'fair and balanced,' which Fox claimed as its own. Fox lost, and Franken got lots of publicity for the book, and it is now a bestseller. Al Franken is an alumnus of Saturday Night Live, where his most memorable character was the simpering self-help sap Stuart Smalley. His last book was 'Rush Limbaugh is a Big Fat Idiot.' (This interview continues into the second half of the show.)

(2.) Music critic Milo Miles looks at the career of reggae greats Toots and the Maytals. The band's recent re-issues are Time Tough, Funky Kingston (Island Records) and Monkey Man (Trojan Records).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer and radio host GARRISON KEILLOR. His new book is 'Love Me: A Novel.' It's about the ambitions of a frustrated writer who publishes a piece in the New Yorker, writes a disappointing debut novel, and ends up penning an advice column in the local newspaper. Keillor is the host of public radio's 'A Prairie Home Companion,' on the air since 1974. He's written thirteen books, including 'Lake Wobegon Summer 1956,' 'Wobegon Boy' and 'Wobegon Days.'

(2.) Writer JHUMPA LAHIRI. ('JOOMP-pah la-HEER-ee') Her new novel is 'The Namesake.' Lahiri won the 2000 Pulitzer Prize for 'Interpreter of Maladies,' her collection of short stories. Lahiri was born in London and raised in Rhode Island. She won a Guggenheim Fellowship in 2002. 'The Namesake' revisits themes of being an Indian immigrant in America. The Ganguli family leaves Calcutta and settles in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

(3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Extended Play ? Live at Birdland,' a new live double album from the Dave Holland Quintet.
Interview with Joe Pantoliano; Interview with Jeffrey Eugenides; Review of the film "Once Upon a Time in the Midlands." September 5, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884607].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor JOE PANTOLIANO (PAN-tal-lee-AN-no). He's got a new series on CBS called 'The Handler.' It will air Fridays at 10 PM, premiering September 26, 2003. Pantoliano plays an FBI agent. He is perhaps best known for his role as Ralph Cifaretto on the HBO series "The Sopranos." He has also appeared in over 60 films, including "Memento," "The Matrix," and "The Fugitive." His memoir is just out in paperback. It's called "Who's Sorry Now: The True Story of a Stand-Up Guy" (E. P. Dutton). (ORIGINAL AIRDATE: 10/1/02)

(2.) Novelist JEFFREY EUJENIDES. ('u-GEN-eh-dees') His novel 'Middlesex' is about a contemporary hermaphrodite. It won the Pulitzer Prize for fiction this year, and it's now out in paperback. Eugenides is the author of the novel 'The Virgin Suicides' which was made into a movie. EUGENIDES' fiction has appeared in The New Yorker, The Paris Review, The Yale Review, and Best American short Stories. (Original airdate: 9/24/02)

(3.) Film critic David Edelstein reviews 'Once Upon A Time In the Midlands,' starring Robert Carlyle.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Late night talk show host CONAN O'BRIEN. He celebrates ten years on the air Sunday September 14 2003 with a primetime special on N-B-C. In 1993, he moved into the 'Late Night' host slot when David Letterman went to C-B-S. Prior to Late Night, O'Brien was a writer for Saturday Night Live and writer/producer for The Simpsons. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Peter Kornbluh; Interview with Jack Devine; Commentary on Warren Zevon. September 9, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885018].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) PETER KORNBLUH is director of the National Security Archive's Chile Documentation Project. He led the campaign to declassify official documents of the secret history of the U.S. government support for the Pinochet dictatorship. That information has now been collected in the new book, 'The Pinochet File: A Declassified Dossier on Atrocity and Accountability' (The New Press). The book chronicles twenty years of policy in Chile from 1970 to 1990. This September 11th marks the 30th anniversary of the bloody coup that overthrew President Salvador Allende and led to the military dictatorship of General Augusto Pinochet. (2.) Former CIA agent JACK DEVINE. He was stationed in Chile during the coup as part of the agency's Chile task force. He is now a crisis management consultant in New York with the firm The Arkin Group. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER pays tribute to Warren Zevon who died Sunday at the age of 56. He had lung cancer.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Economist PAUL KRUGMAN ('KROOG-man'). He's collected the last three years of his New York Times Op-ed columns in the new book, 'The Great Unraveling: Losing Our Way in the New Century' (W.W. Norton). In the preface he writes that the book is 'a chronicle of the years when it all went wrong, again - when the heady optimism of the late 1990s gave way to renewed gloom. It's also an attempt to explain the how and why: how it was possible for a country with so much going for it to go downhill so fast, and why our leaders made such bad decisions.' KRUGMAN teaches at Princeton University. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Lucky Girls' (Ecco) the debut short story collection by Nell Freudenberger.
Interview with Vint Lawrence and Anne Garrels; Commentary on 9/11. September 11, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885103].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) NPR's senior foreign correspondent ANNE GARRELS. She was one of few journalists still in Baghdad during the invasion of Iraq. Often she reported from her room at the Palestine Hotel, as bombs flew overhead. In her new book 'Naked in Baghdad' (Farrar, Straus, & Giroux) she writes about the war and the aftermath. The book also contains the e-mails that her husband Vint Lawrence sent to friends keeping them informed of her daily life in Baghdad. Terry will also talk with VINT LAWRENCE. GARRELS has reported from the former Soviet republics, China, Saudi Arabia, Bosnia, Kosovo, and Israel. She is the recipient of the Alfred I. DuPont-Columbia University Award and the Overseas press Club award. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the term '911.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Musical legend JOHNNY CASH. He died today at the age of 71. We remember him with a rebroadcast of a 1997 interview with the singer and musician. CASH began recording albums and performing in the 1950's. Representing CASH'S varied musical styles, he was inducted into the Songwriters, Country Music, and Rock and Roll Halls of Fame. Cash recorded over 1,500 songs in his career. Some of the most famous were "I Walk the Line," "Ring of Fire," and "A Boy Named Sue." CASH died of complications from diabetes. His wife, singer June Carter Cash, died just four months ago. (original airdate: 11/4/97)(2.) Film critic David Edelstein reviews 'Lost in Translation,' starring Bill Murray and Scarlett Johansson. The film was directed by Sofia Coppola.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmakers RANDY BARBATO and FENTON BAILEY. Their new feature is 'Party Monster,' starring Seth Green and Macaulay Culkin. It's about a murder that took place in the drug saturated New York City club scene in the early 1990s. Michael Alig, a party promoter, was convicted of killing a young drug dealer known as Angel. This is Culkin's first film in nine years. He plays Michael Alig. Green plays author/celebutante James St. James. Barbato and Bailey also collaborated on a 1999 documentary of the same name and on the same topic. Their other projects include 'The Eyes of Tammy Faye' and 'Monica in Black and White,' a documentary about Monica Lewinsky. (This interview continues into the second half of the show.) (2.) Rock critic Ken Tucker reviews 'It Still Moves,' the new album from My Morning Jacket. (Ato Records/RCA Records 2003) (3.) TV Critic David Bianculli looks at the new HBO drama, 'K Street.' Produced by George Clooney and Steven Soderberg, it premiered last night.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former US Secretary of State MADELINE ALBRIGHT. Before being appointed by President Clinton in 1996, she served as the US Permanent Representative to the United Nations. She also served in Clinton's cabinet and on the National Security Council. ALBRIGHT has a new memoir, entitled 'Madam Secretary' (Miramax, 2003). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) IAN KATZ. He's the features editor at the Guardian in London. He traced and verified the identity of the Baghdad Blogger Salam Pax for the Guardian. (2.) The Baghdad blogger SALAM PAX. That's a pseudonym? a combination of the Arabic and Latin words for piece. He began an internet diary about life in Iraq a few months before the recent war began. It's still going on today. Peter Maass of the online magazine Slate said 'Salam Pax was the Anne Frank of this war?and its Elvis.' His blog entries have been collected in the forthcoming book, 'The Baghdad Blog' (Guardian). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Triangle: The Fire That Changed America' (Atlantic Monthly press) by David Von Drehle.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Musician and songwriter DAVID BOWIE. It's been over 30 years since the legendary rock performer created the gender-bending Ziggy Stardust, and produced the now classic album, 'The Rise and Fall of Ziggy Stardust and the Spiders from Mars.' With it, BOWIE helped invent glam-rock. Over the years BOWIE has produced albums for Lou Reed and Iggy Pop, and collaborated with Brian Eno. BOWIE also starred in the films 'The Man Who Fell to Earth,' 'Merry Christmas, Mr. Lawrence,' and 'Basquiat.' BOWIE has a new album, 'Reality.' (REBROADCAST from 9/4/02) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW). (2.) Writer, actor, director, comedian and host of 'Le Show' HARRY SHEARER. He's stars in the folk music mockumentary 'A Mighty Wind,' directed by Christopher Guest who also directed 'Best in Show' and 'Waiting for Guffman.' It comes out on DVD next week. And the cast of 'A Mighty Wind' is currently on tour, traveling to Philadelphia, New York, Washington D.C., and Boston. SHEARER also starred with Guest in the classic heavy metal parody 'This is Spinal Tap.' SHEARER'S public radio show is now in it's 19th year. (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews Woody Allen's new comedy 'Anything Else' starring Jason Biggs and Christina Ricci.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) British film director MICHAEL WINTERBOTTOM. His films include 'Welcome to Sarajevo,' '24 Hour Party People,' and 'Wonderland.' His new film 'In This World' follows the arduous 4,000 mile journey of two Afghani refugees from Pakistan to Britain. The film was shot in Pakistan, Iran and Turkey. The two actors were 'discovered' in Peshawar, Pakistan. Fifteen year old actor Jamal Udin Torabi has since applied for asylum in Britain. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Science writer DAVID QUAMMEN. His new book is 'Monster of God: The Man-Eating Predator in the Jungles of History and the Mind' (W.W. Norton). He's also the author of "The Song of the Dodo: Island Biogeography in an Age of Extinctions" which received the John Burroughs Medal for natural history writing. QUAMMAN is the author of five nonfiction books, and four books of fiction. He's been honored with the Academy Award in Literature from the American Academy of Arts and Letters. He has written for National Geographic, Outside and Harper's.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Founder and frontman of the group the Polyphonic Spree, TIM DELAUGHTER (de LAW ter). He founded the 23-member ensemble in 2000. It's members range in ages from 15 to 36, and they dress in white choir robes. Their music is alternative-rock, and has been described as 'choral symphonic pop'. One of their songs has been used as the background for a Volkswagen commercial. Their debut album is 'The Beginning Stages of...' DELAUGHTER is the former singer for the band Tripping Daisy. Polyphonic Spree is currently on a U.S. tour. Their website is HYPERLINK "http://www.thepolyphonicspree.com" www.thepolyphonicspree.com. (2.) Film director and screenwriter DON COSCARELLI. His latest film 'Bubba Ho-Tep' is based on the short story by cult author Joe R. Lansdale. In it Elvis Presley is an elderly resident in an East Texas rest home who switched identities with an Elvis impersonator years before his death and then missed the chance to switch back. He teams up with another resident who thinks he is President John F. Kennedy. The two old codgers battle an evil Egyptian entity. It stars, respectively
Bruce Campbell and Ossie Davis. COSCARELLI also wrote and directed the films 'Phantasm,' and 'The Beastmaster.' (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Chain Gang of Love' minor' the new album by the Danish musicians The Ravonettes.

Interview with Dr. Paul Farmer; Commentary on Money Records; Interview with Isaac Mizrahi; Review of the new fall TV season. September 25, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885029].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. PAUL FARMER is an infectious disease specialist, a medical anthropologist, and a recipient of the MacArthur 'genius' grant. He divides his time between Harvard Medical School where he is a professor, the Brigham & Women's Hospital in Boston where he is Chairman of the Division of Social Medicine, and Haiti where he founded the medical care organization, Partners in Health. FARMER is the subject of the new book 'Mountains Beyond Mountains: The Quest of Dr. Paul Farmer, a man who would cure the world.' (Random House, by Pulitzer prize winning author Tracy Kidder).(2.) Rock historian ED WARD remembers Money records, the imitation Motown label of the 60s.(3.) Fashion designer ISAAC MIZRAHI. He is part of a new Turner Classic Movie series 'Style in Motion' in which six fashion designers host an evening of classic Hollywood films which influenced their careers. MIZRAHI hosts the films 'The Women,' (1938), 'Darling' (1965), 'Roberta' (1935), and 'Blow-Up' (1966). (The series runs Monday nights in October. MIZRAHI's night is October 13th). (4.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI on the new TV season.

Interview with Pat Conroy; Interview with Shelby Lynn; Review of the film "Under the Tuscan Sun." September 26, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884957].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist PAT CONROY. He's the author of several books including 'The Great Santini,' and 'The Prince of Tides' which were both made into feature films. CONROY's book 'My Losing Season' is now out in paperback (Bantam). It's a memoir about how playing basketball for the Citadel Military College transformed his life. CONROY was point guard and captain of the Citadel Bulldogs. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (REBROADCAST from 10/22/02)(2.)
Singer-songwriter SHELBY LYNNE. Her new album is 'Identity Crisis' (Capital). It follows her 2000 album, CD, 'I Am Shelby Lynne' (Universal/Island) which was part country and part soul and the first album in which LYNNE wrote most of the songs. Her other albums were products of the Nashville country music scene. (REBROADCAST from 7/20/00)(3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Under the Tuscan Sun' based on the book of the same name.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor JACK BLACK. He's best known for his scene-stealing performance in 'High Fidelity' as a sarcastic record store clerk opposite John Cusack. He is also the lead singer of the rock-folk comedy group 'Tenacious D.' They appeared on HBO, went on tour, and recorded an album. BLACK's other roles include the films 'Shallow Hal,' 'Orange County,' and 'Saving Silverman.' He's currently starring in the film 'The School of Rock' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).
(2.) We remember influential theater and film director ELIA KAZAN. He died yesterday at his home in Manhattan. He was 94. KAZAN directed Marlon Brando in "On the Waterfront," and James Dean in "East of Eden." He was a member of the Group Theater and co-founded the Actors Studio with Lee Strasberg. (REBROADCAST from 5/5/88).

Description of show segment(s)

for "Best Actress in a Comedy or Musical," for her starring role in the film "Secretary." Her other films include "Adaptation," and "Confessions of a Dangerous Mind."

Interview with Mariane Pearl; Interview with Joshua Hammer. October 1, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885028].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist MARIANE PEARL. She is the widow of Wall Street Journal reporter Daniel Pearl, who was kidnapped then killed by militant Islamists in 2002. Before Daniel Pearl was abducted, the Pearls were both foreign correspondents, reporting from Pakistan. Pearl was working on a story when he disappeared while going to a meeting in Karachi. Mariane Pearl's new book, written with Sarah Crichton, is called "A Mighty Heart: The Brave Life and Death of My Husband, Danny Pearl" (Scribner). Mariane Pearl is an award-winning documentary film director who produced and hosted a daily radio show for Radio France International and has written for Telerama.(2.) Journalist JOSHUA HAMMER. He is Jerusalem Bureau Chief for Newsweek. His new book is called "A Season in Bethlehem: Unholy War in a Sacred Place." (Simon & Schuster) HAMMER lived in Bethlehem for two years and writes about the Israelis and Palestinians living there. The book includes Hammer's account of the 2002 siege of the Church of the Nativity by Palestinian militants. The standoff between the Palestinians and Israeli military forces lasted over a month.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) GROVER NORQUIST, president of Americans for Tax Reform. He's credited with helping George W. Bush formulate his administration's tax plan. He also helped the Heritage Foundation draft the 1994 Contract with America.(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Actor PAUL NEWMAN. His films include The Hustler, Hud, Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid, Cat on a Hot Tin Roof, and recently, Road to Perdition. He was nominated for a Tony last year for his role as the Stage Manager in a production of Our Town that originated at his own Connecticut theatre company. It'll soon be shown on PBS.

Interview with Bette Midler; Obituary for Paul Burlison; Review of the film "School of rock." October 3, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884955].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The Divine Miss M, otherwise known as BETTE MIDLER. She made a name for herself in the early 1970s at New York's Continental Baths, a club for gay men. Since then she's been nominated for two Academy Awards, and earned Emmy and Grammy awards. She has a new CD, "Bette Midler: Sings the Rosemary Clooney Songbook' (Columbia Records). It's produced by and features duets with Barry Manilow. (REBROADCAST from 11/18/98)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) We remember guitarist PAUL BURLISON. He died Saturday, September 27th at the age of 74. He had cancer. He was best known for his groundbreaking 1950s work in the Rock 'n' Roll Trio and recorded many rockabilly classics including: 'Tear It Up,' 'Honey Hush,' 'Lonesome Train (On a Lonesome Track),' and 'The Train Kept A-Rollin'.(REBROADCAST from 6/26/87)(3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new film 'School of Rock.'

Interview with Steve Martin; Commentary on the rhetoric of color blindness. October 6, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885030].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor/comedian/screenwriter/playwright and novelist STEVE MARTIN. His new novel 'The Pleasure of My Company' (Hyperion) follows his best selling novella 'Shopgirl' (which he is making into a new film). He wrote the play 'Picasso at The Lapin Agile' and is the author of a collection of short stories, "Cruel Shoes." MARTIN's screenwriting credits include "L.A. Story," and "Roxanne." He has also starred in such films as: "The Jerk," "Planes, Trains and Automobiles," "The Lonely Guy," "Parenthood," "Father of the Bride," "Housesitter," "Dead Men Don't Wear Plaid," "All of Me," "The Man with Two Brains," "Sgt Bilko," "Leap of Faith," "Little Shop of Horrors." He also won a Grammy Award for his album

- Page 2579 -
"Let's Get Small." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the terms we use in racial classification like 'caucasian.'

Interview with Molly Ivins; Interview with Dana Gioia. October 7, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884748].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Syndicated columnist MOLLY IVINS from Austin, Texas. Her new book (along with co-author Lou Dubose) is 'Bushwhacked: Life in George W. Bush's America' (Random House). She is the former co-editor of the Texas Observer. Her freelance work has appeared in Esquire, The Atlantic Monthly, The New York Times Magazine, and The Nation. Her other books include 'Shrub' about presidential candidate Bush, and 'Molly Ivins Can't Say That, Can She?' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Poet and chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts, DANA GIOA (JOY-ah). He's the author of several collections of poetry, including 'Interrogations at Noon' (Graywolf Press) and he has translated the poetry of Italian Nobel Prize winner Eugenio Montale. His article 'Can Poetry Matter' first published in the Atlantic Monthly in 1991 and later in book form, caused a debate in literary circles and earned him a reputation as provocateur among some people. Before he quit to become a poet, GIOA was a Vice president at General Foods.

Interview with Bill O'Reilly; Review of the film "Mystic River." October 8, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884731].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) BILL O'REILLY host of FOX network's 'The O'Reilly Factor.' He's the author of the bestselling books 'The O'Reilly Factor' and 'The No Spin Zone.' His new book is 'Who's Looking Out for You?' (Broadway Books). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Mystic River' the new film directed by Clint Eastwood based on the book by Dennis Lehane.
Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Crime novelist DENNIS LEHANE ('la-HAIN'). He's written five novels featuring the working-class Boston private detective team of Patrick Kenzie and Angela Gennaro. They include 'A Drink Before the War,' 'Darkness Take My Hand,' 'Sacred,' 'Gone, Baby, gone,' and 'Prayers for Rain.' LEHANE abandoned the duo for his book about the affect of an abduction on a group of boys. It's a thriller, 'Mystic River' (HarperTorch), and it's been made into a new film directed by Clint Eastwood. (REBROADCAST from 3/14/01) (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new double album by the band Outkast. Each album is separately titled: 'Speakerboxx,' and 'The Love Below.' (3.) TOM SHALES and JAMES ANDREW MILLER, authors of the book, "Live from New York: An Uncensored History of Saturday Night Live" (in paperback, Back Bay Books). The book is a history of the late night comedy mainstay, which first aired on TV in 1975. SHALES and MILLER interviewed the shows' producers, writers, cast members, and guest hosts, including Lorne Michaels, Chevy Chase, Dan Aykroyd, Al Franken, Will Farrell, Tom Hanks, and many more. TOM SHALES is the Pulitzer Prize-winning television critic of the Washington Post and a movie critic for NPR's Morning Edition. His books include "On the Air!" And "Legends." JAMES ANDREW MILLER is the author of "Running in Place." He has written for the New York Times, Life and Newsweek. (REBROADCAST from 10/8/02) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new Quentin Tarantino film, 'Kill Bill.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedienne CAROL BURNETT. She earned wide critical and popular acclaim and an Emmy for her work on The Garry Moore Show (from 1959-62). Her variety show The Carol Burnett Show debuted in 1967 and was popular until 1978, when she terminated the show. It won 22 Emmys. She's starred or appeared in a number of TV movies and specials. In 1981 she won a lawsuit against The National Enquirer tabloid which had slandered her in 1976 with an article suggesting she was drunk and rowdy at a party. BURNETT will be one of the Kennedy Center Honorees this year, and will be presented with the award on December 6-7. BURNETT'S memoir 'One More Time' (in paperback, Encore Books) has recently been re-published. There's also a DVD collection of The Carol Burnett Show (Paramount collection). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Fifth Book of Peace' by Maxine Hong Kingston.

Interview with Aaron McGruder; Interview with Larry Page and Sergey Brin; Interview with Shirley Glass. October 14, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884694].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Syndicated cartoonist AARON MCRUDER. His strip 'The Boondocks' follows the escapades of Huey and Riley two brothers from the inner city sent to live with their grandfather in a Chicago suburb, where most of their neighbors are white. The strip is read in over 35 newspapers nationwide. MCRUDER has been publishing it for four years and he hasn't been shy about controversy. In his strip he's taken on everyone from George W. Bush to rapper P. Diddy. MCRUDER has several collections of the strip: 'The Boondocks: Because I Know You don't Read the Newspaper,' 'Fresh For '01. . . You Suckas!' and the latest, 'The Right to be Hostile' (Three Rivers Press). MCRUDER is currently working on a feature film and a television series based on his characters. (2.) Co-founders of the search engine Google, SERGEY BRIN & LARRY PAGE. Google is the world's largest search engine. It's available in 36 languages. BRIN & PAGE founded the company in 1999 when they were graduate students in computer science.(3.) We remember psychotherapist DR. SHIRLEY GLASS. She was an expert on infidelity research. She was also the mother of Ira Glass, host of public radio's 'This American Life.' SHIRLEY GLASS died on October 8th of breast cancer. She was 67. She had been on Fresh Air to discuss her book, 'NOT Just Friends: Protect Your Relationship from Infidelity and Heal the Trauma of Betrayal.' (REBROADCAST from 2/17/03)

Description of show segment(s)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Bluegrass musician EARL SCRUGGS. He originated the staccato three-finger, five-string banjo technique that became known as the 'Scruggs style.' He got his start playing with Bill Monroe's band in the 1940s, and then teamed up with guitarist Lester Flatt (fronting The Foggy Mountain Boys). The two penned and recorded the tune 'Foggy Mountain Breakdown' which was used on the Bonnie and Clyde film soundtrack and was one of the first crossover hits of the genre. They also recorded 'The Ballad of Jed Clampett,' the theme song for the sitcom The Beverly Hillbillies. It topped the charts in 1962. SCRUGGS is 79 years old now. In 2001 he released his first album in 17 years, 'Earl Scruggs and Friends' featuring his work with Elton John, John Fogerty, Dwight Yoakum and others. SCRUGGS teamed up with Doc Watson and Ricky Skaggs for the new CD, 'The Three Pickers.' (Rounder). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Poet ELIZABETH GOLD. She's the author of the new memoir, 'Brief Intervals of Horrible Sanity: One Season in a Progressive School' (Penguin). It's about her brief stint as midyear replacement nine-grade English teacher in Queens. GOLD teaches writing at several branches of the City University of New York.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Far Side cartoonist GARY LARSON. "The Complete Far Side 1980-1994" hits stores this week. It's a two-volume hardcover set that includes every Far Side cartoon every syndicated. The Far Side thrived for 14 years and appeared in more than 1,900 newspapers worldwide. Larson has published more than 20 books featuring his cartoons. In 1994, Larson completed his first animated film, "Gary Larson's Tales from the Far Side." His second animated film "Gary Larson's Tales From the Far Side II" has appeared at the Telluride Film Festival. He lives in Seattle, Washington. (original airdate: 4/30/98)(2.) Food Editor for the Los Angeles Times, RUSS PARSONS. He examines the science of cooking in his book, 'How to Read a French Fry: and other Stories of Intriguing Kitchen Science.' It's just out in paperback. (Original airdate: 5/22/01). (3.) Film critic David Edelstein reviews 'The Station Agent,' an independent film written and directed by Tom McCarthy.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress LISA KUDROW. She stars in the new film 'Wonderland.' Set in 1980s Hollywood, it's about a mysterious mass murder that took place on Wonderland Avenue. Porn Star John Holmes was involved somehow, but the crime was never solved. Kudrow plays Holmes' wife in the film. Kudrow is best known for her role on the popular NBC sitcom 'Friends,' now in its tenth season. She was also in the films 'Romy and Michele's High School Reunion,' and 'Analyze This,' and notable TV guest appearances include voiceovers for 'The Simpsons' and 'Blue's Clues.'(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the new biography, 'Gellhorn: A Twentieth-Century Life' (Henry Holt) by Caroline Moorehead. It's about journalist Martha Gellhorn. She was a war correspondent during the Spanish Civil War, World War II, and the Vietnam war. She was also Ernest Hemingway's third wife.
Interview with Jon Katz; Commentary on the term "fascist." October 21, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885038].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer JON KATZ. He's the author of the new book, 'The New Work of Dogs: Tending to Life, Love, and Family' (Villard). It's about how attached many of us have become to our dogs, treating them more like family members and human surrogates than pets. KATZ is also the author of 'A Dog Year: Twelve Months, Four Dogs, and Me' and 'Running to the Mountain: A Midlife Adventure.' He is a member of the Association of Pet Dog Trainers. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews the new two-DVD set, 'The American Folk Blues Festival 1962-1966.' It features T-Bone Walker, Muddy Waters, Howlin' Wolf, Junior Wells, Memphis Slim, Sony Boy Williamson and more.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Creator of the TV series 'Law & Order' DICK WOLF. It's the longest running drama on network television. After more than 300 shows, and 13 years the 'ripped from the headlines' half cop/half law show is still going strong. It's also inspired two other series: 'Law & Order: Special Victims Unit' and 'Law & Order: Criminal Intent.' There's a new large photography book of the show's 'crime scenes.' It's called 'Law & Order: Crime Scenes' (by photographer Jessica Burstein). There's also a new DVD of the show's first season. (2.) Actor ROBERT DOWNEY JR. He's starring in the new film 'The Singing Detective' based on the Dennis Potter PBS mini-series. He received an Academy Award nomination and won the British Academy Award for best actor for his performance in the title role of 'Chaplin.' He also starred in 'Wonder Boys,' 'Two Girls and a Guy,' 'Natural Born Killers,' and 'The Pick-Up Artist.' He also made his primetime television debut on 'Ally McBeal.' Now in recovery, DOWNEY has struggled with drug addiction for years.
Interview with Charlie Louvin; Interview with Joe Frank; Review of the film "Elephant." October 24, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884236].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Country Music performer CHARLIE LOUVIN ('LEW-VIN'). In the 1950's, he and his brother Ira Louvin were regulars at the Grand Olde Opry. Their hits included, 'Cash On the Barrelhead,' 'If I Could Only Win Your Love,' 'I Love the Christian Life,' and 'When I Stop Dreaming.' The duo split up in the early 1960s and Charlie continued performing by himself. Ira was later killed in a car accident. There's a new tribute CD: 'Livin', Lovin', Losin': Songs of the Louvin Brothers.' (Universal) it features Emmylou Harris, James Taylor, vince Gill, Glen Campbell, Dolly Parton and others. (2.) Public radio pioneer JOE FRANK. He was honored last week with the Lifetime Achievement Award at the Third Coast Festival for his signature contributions to the field of radio.' He started in radio at WBAI, Pacifica's New York station, in 1977, and soon became co-host of NPR's 'All Things Considered.' He's produced several series for KCRW and NPR, including 'Somewhere Out There' and 'The Other Side.' He's also worked in live theatre, and much of his radio work has been adapted for stage and screen. (3.) Film Critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews Gus Van Sant's 'Elephant.' It's a fictional story based on the shootings at Columbine High School in 1999. It won the Palme d'Or at this year's Cannes Film Festival.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rhythm and Blues singer HOWARD TATE and producer JERRY RAGOVOY. TATE is making his comeback after nearly thirty years. His hits in the 60's - produced by RAGOVOY - included 'Get It While You Can,' 'Stop,' 'Ain't Nobody Home,' and 'Look at Granny Run.' But bad record deals, the demands of touring, and tragedy in his personal life took their toll on TATE. He developed a drug habit and disappeared from view. Eventually he kicked his drug habit and became a pastor. Back with his producer RAGOVOY, the two have collaborated on a new album 'Rediscovered' (RCA). It includes a track written for him by Elvis Costello, a longtime fan. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'American Woman' (harper collins) the new novel by Susan Choi.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Palestinian human rights lawyer RAJA SHEHADEH, author of the new memoir 'When the birds Stopped Singing: Life in Ramallah Under Siege' (Steerforth Press, paperback). His previous book is the memoir, 'Strangers in the House: Coming of Age in Occupied Palestine. SHEHADEH is a founder of Al-Haq, a pioneering, nonpartisan human rights organization. (2.) DAVID HOROVITZ is editor of The Jerusalem Report and author of the forthcoming book 'Still Life with Bombers: Israel in the Age of Terror.' (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews the season premiere of '24' on FOX TV.

Interview with Jeff Bridges; Interview with Joe Pernice; Review of Andrew Hill's music album "Passing ships." October 29, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885036].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor JEFF BRIDGES. He's starred in 'The Last Picture Show,' 'The Fabulous Baker Boys,' 'Tucker,' 'The Big Lebowski' 'Seabiscuit' and other films. On each of his movie sets he's photographed the action behind the scenes. Those photos have been collected in the new book, 'Jeff Bridges: Pictures.' (powerHouse Books).(2.) JOE PERNICE ('per-NIECE') is the singer and songwriter for The Pernice Brothers. Their album 'Yours, Mine & Ours' was one of the most acclaimed of 2003. His new book 'Meat is Murder' is part of a collection of short books inspired by music albums (a series by publisher 33 and 1/3 press). 'Meat is Murder' is inspired by the album of the same name by The Smiths. (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the CD 'Passing Ships' (Bluenote) by Andrew Hill which was recorded in 1969 but never released.
Interview with Maurice Sendak; Interview with Patricia Clarkson. October 30, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884234].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Artist, writer and designer MAURICE SENDAK. His new book 'Brundibar' is based on a Czech opera of the same name. It was set to music by Hans Krasa who was imprisoned in the Nazi concentration camp Terezin and later killed in Auschwitz. The opera was performed 55 times by the children of Terezin. Sendak has also written and illustrated the classic children's books "Where the Wild Things Are," "In The Night Kitchen," and "Inside Over There." Time magazine has said, "For Sendak, visiting the land of the very young is not something that requires a visa. He is a permanent citizen." 'Where the Wild Things Are' was adapted into an opera, and Sendak designed the sets and costumes for the premiere production. He's since designed several other operas and ballets. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Actress PATRICIA CLARKSON. Last year she played a supporting role in Todd Haynes' 'Far from Heaven.' Currently she's starring in two films in theatres now: 'The Station Agent' for which she won the Jury Prize for Outstanding Performance at the Sundance Film Festival, and 'Pieces of April.' CLARKSON was also in 'The Safety of Objects' and will be in the forthcoming films 'Miracle' and 'Dogville.' She won an Emmy for guest-starring appearance as quirky Aunt Sarah in HBO's 'Six Feet Under.' Her earlier films include 'The Untouchables,' 'Welcome to Collinwood,' 'The Green Mile,' and 'Joe Gould's Secret.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist PHILIP ROTH. His book 'The Human Stain' about a classics professor accused of racism, but he has a secret about his own ethnic identity. It's just been adapted into a new film starring Anthony Hopkins and Nichole Kidman. 'The Human Stain' won the PENN/Faulkner Award for Fiction. It is the third of a trilogy which includes his 'American Pastoral' and 'I Married a Communist'. (REBROADCAST from 5/8/2000) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.)
Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Shattered Glass' the story of journalist Stephen Glass who fabricated stories for The New Republic.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Documentary filmmaker NATHANIEL KAHN. His father was the great architect LOUIS KAHN. NATHANIEL has made a new film about his father, 'My Architect.' It is an account of NATHANIEL's encounter with his father's double life—he was married with a daughter, and had two other children by two different mistresses. It also explores his father's work, with interviews from his peers, including Frank Gehry and I.M. Pei. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)

(2.) Photographer JOEL MEYEROWITZ. With his wife, writer Maggie Barrett, he'd planned to begin work on a book about Tuscany in mid-September, 2001, but the project was interrupted by the terrorist attacks. He photographed the excavation of Ground Zero, culminating in an exhibition that is now on tour around the world. Several months later, they resumed work on the Tuscany project. The book, 'Tuscany,' is out now. (3.) Rock Critic KEN TUCKER reviews two new projects from Raul Malo: his band The Mavericks has put out its first new CD in 5 years, and he's co-written an album with country singer Rick Trevino.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) 'Queen of Disco' DONNA SUMMER. She grew up singing gospel in church choirs in Boston, and in her teens joined the German cast of 'Hair.' While abroad she recorded 'Love to Love You Baby,' which became a huge hit. She returned to the United States a disco star. Her other hits include 'Bad Girls' and 'Hot Stuff.' She's written a new memoir about life in the disco spotlight called 'Ordinary Girl' (Villard, 2003). (2.) Actor SEAN PENN. He became a star for his role as Jeff Spicoli in 'Fast Times at Ridgemont High.' He's been nominated for Academy Awards for his roles in 'I am Sam,' 'Sweet and Lowdown,' and 'Dead Man Walking.' His other films include 'The Thin Red Line,' 'Hurlyburly,' and 'At Close Range.' He's starring in 'Mystic River,' in theatres now. His new film, '21 Grams,' comes out later this month. He plays a mortally ill college professor awaiting a heart transplant.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rockabilly singer WANDA JACKSON. She had several hits in the late 50s and early 60s, including Mean Mean Man, Let's Have a Party, and Fujiyama Mama. In the 70s she kept recording music, mostly gospel. She's 65 now and still touring. She's just released her first studio recording in 15 years, Heart Trouble (CMH, 2003). Guest musicians, including Elvis Costello and The Cramps, join her for several tracks. (2.) ROBERT FORSTER. In the 1960s, he starred in films like "Medium Cool" and "Reflections in a Golden Eye." Then for the next 20 some years, he appeared in B movies and horror films. His career was resurrected with his role as a bail-bondsman in Quentin Tarantino's Jackie Brown. Recently, he's starred in Mulholland Drive, Me, Myself and Irene, and Charlie's Angels: Full Throttle. Now he plays Marshall Sisco in the new ABC series Karen Sisco.

Interview with Nouman Shubbar; Interview with Philip Baker Hall. November 6, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884899].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Philadelphia police sergeant NOUMAN H. SHUBBAR ('Na-MAN SHOO-bar'). From May of this year until September he was in Iraq helping with the reconstruction of the Iraqi police, forming a special enforcement/investigations team, developing informants, and arresting individuals on the coalition forces 'wanted' list (those whose faces showed up on the most wanted deck of cards). SHUBBAR was born and raised in Baghdad, and fled the country in 1981. (2.) Actor PHILIP BAKER HALL. He's starring in the new film 'Die Mommie Die!' directed by Mark Rucker and written by Charles Busch who also stars in the film. The film blends melodrama, mystery and comedy. HALL has also worked with director Paul Thomas Anderson's films 'Hard Eight,' 'Boogie Nights,' and 'Magnolia.' He also played a 'Joe Friday' type cop in an episode of 'Seinfeld' on the trail of overdue library books. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Boy George; Commentary on Uncle Tupelo; Interview with Marion Ettlinger; Review of the film "Love Actually." November 7, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884978].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pop star BOY GEORGE. In 1982, he and his band Culture Club first hit the charts with, "Do You Really Want to Hurt Me?" and that was the beginning of his rise to gender-bending pop icon. In 1995 he wrote his new autobiography 'Take It Like a Man: The Autobiography of Boy George.' On November 13th he opens on Broadway with the show 'Taboo' a musical about his rise to fame. Though he is not playing himself, he's playing Leigh Bowery, gay designer and denizen of London nightclubs who died of AIDS in 1994. 'Taboo' opened first in London. (REBROADCAST FROM 9/25/95) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.)Rock historian ED WARD listens to some Uncle Tupelo reissues. The group split up in 1994; its members formed Wilco and Son Volt. (3.)Photographer MARION ETTLINGER. She is a leading portrait photographer specializing in writers. Her photos end up on many book jackets. Over the years her subjects have been Truman Capote, Tom Wolfe, William Styron, Raymond Carver, Joyce Carol Oates, Sue Miller, Sarah Vowell and many more. A collection of her portraits, 'Author Photo: Portraits, 1983-2002'(Simon & Schuster) has just been published. (REBROADCAST FROM 12/12/2002)(4.)DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new romantic comedy 'Love Actually.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian HENRY WIENCEK (WIN-seck). His new book is 'An Imperfect God: George Washington, His Slaves, and the Creation of America' (Farrar Straus and Giroux, 2003) It explores Washington's moral struggle with the issue of slavery. WIENCEK won the National Book Critic's Circle Award for

(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Want One' the third album by Rufus Wainwright. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Magic Circles: The Beatles in Dream and History' (Harvard Univ. Press) by Devin McKinney.

---

Interview with Edward P. Jones; Interview with Mike Lazzo; Review of two new CDs by the Art Ensemble of Chicago. November 11, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885014].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer EDWARD P. JONES. His new novel - his first - 'The Known World' (Amistad/HarperCollins) is receiving critical acclaim and has been selected as a finalist for the National Book Award for fiction. It's about a black farmer and former slave who becomes a slave owner himself. JONES made his literary debut over ten years ago with 'Lost in the City' a collection of short stories about struggling black residents of Washington. It won the Lannan Literary Award and was also shortlisted for the National Book Award. Until recently JONES made his living as a proofreader for the trade magazine, Tax Notes. JONES grew up the son of an illiterate and impoverished mother. (2.) MIKE LAZZO is senior vice president for the Cartoon Network's 'Adult Swim' a three hour block of cartoons targeted to adults. It includes original and acquired animation. LAZZO co-created the network's first original series in 1995, 'Space Ghost Coast to Coast.' Another series is 'Harvey Birdman, Attorney at Law' which borrows from Hanna Barbera cartoon characters from the sixties, including the obscure Birdman, a masked crusader with wings who defends in court cartoon characters like Fred Flindstone and Scooby Doo. ('Adult Swim' is Sunday-Thursday nights from 11PM-2PM). (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews two new CDs by the Art Ensemble of Chicago, 'The Meeting' (PI records) and 'Tribute to Lester' (ECM).
Interview with Gary Milhollin; Interview with Lutz Kleveman; Commentary on language. November 12, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884976].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) GARY MILHOLLIN. He is director the Wisconsin Project on Nuclear Arms Control, a non-profit research group in Washington, DC that has been tracking the spread of weapons of mass destruction since 1986. He will talk about who has currently nuclear weapons, who is developing them, who has intelligence about them, and who poses the biggest threat. Milhollin is also professor Emeritus of the University of Wisconsin Law School. His Op Ed pieces about Nuclear Weapons have appeared in many publications, including the New York Times. (2.) Journalist LUTZ (Lutz rhymes with "foots") KLEVEMAN (CLAY-va-mon). His new book is called "The New Great Game" (Atlantic Monthly Press). The book is about the battle over the world's largest reserve of untapped oil and gas resources, located in the Caspian Sea and surrounding Central Asian republics. The oil alone is said to be worth 4 trillion dollars. Kleveman claims that the U.S., China, Russia and Iran are now engaged in a New Great Game, a power struggle for control of the region's vast reserves and pipeline routes. Lutz Kleveman was born in Germany and studied at the London School of Economics. He has reported from war zones in the Balkans, Asian, and the Middle East for the Daily Telegraph, Newsweek, CNN, The Independent, Der Spiegel, and Die Zeit. (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG. He talks about idiomatic expressions like "on the up and up." What does it mean when different people interpret these sayings differently?

Interview with Dr. Alan Rabinowitz; Interview with Jim Sheridan; Commentary on Lee Dorsey. November 13, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884900].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Scientist and conservationist DR. ALAN RABINOWITZ. He's been called the 'Indiana Jones' of wildlife science. He is Director of the Science and Exploration Program at the Wildlife Conservation Society, based at the Bronx Zoo in New York. In 1985 his research in Belize resulted in the world's first jaguar sanctuary. Since then he has spearheaded the preservation of vast tracts of wilderness land around the globe. The survival of the Jaguar is now in jeopardy. RABINOWITZ work to save nature's largest cat is featured in the new National Geographic special 'In Search of the Jaguar' (premiering on PBS, Wed. Nov 26, 8:00 PM ET). RABINOWITZ is the author of three books, 'Jaguar,' 'Chasing the Dragon's Tale,' and 'Beyond the Last Village.' Two years ago RABINOWITZ was diagnosed with a rare form of leukemia. (2.) Irish film director JIM SHERIDAN. His best known films 'My Left Foot' and 'In the Name of the Father' are the stories of respectively Christy Brown and Gerry Conlon. His new film 'In America' is based in part on his own experiences as an Irish emigre coming to the United States with a family of four. They arrived flat broke in the midst of the summer heat, and moved into New York City's Hell's Kitchen. (3.) Rock historian ED WARD tells us about Lee Dorsey, singer, boxer, and fender and body man.

---

Interview with Colin Firth; Review of Paul Westerberg's album "Come feel me tremble;" Review of the film "Master and Commander." November 14, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885015].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) British actor COLIN FIRTH. He's co-starring in the new romantic comedy/holiday feel-good film, 'Love Actually.' FIRTH is probably best known for his role as Mr. Darcy in the BBC/A&E production of 'Pride & Prejudice.' The film turned him into a heart-throb. He starred in the film 'Bridget Jones's Diary' based on the book of the same name which borrowed from the storyline of 'Pride & Prejudice.' He played hate/love-interest Mark Darcy. COLIN FIRTH the actor shows up in the book sequel to Bridge Jones's Diary. His other films include 'Valmont,' 'Another Country,' 'The English Patient,' 'Shakespeare in Love,' and 'Fever Pitch.' FIRTH also wrote a story for the book edited by Nick Hornby, 'Speaking with the Angel.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (REBROADCAST from 5/7/01)(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Come Feel Me Tremble' (Vagrant Records) the new solo album by Paul Westerberg formerly of the 80s band the Replacements.(3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new film 'Master and Commander: The Far Side of the World' directed by Peter Weir, starring Russell Crowe and based on the book by Patrick O'Brian.
Interview with Charles Lane; Interview with Peter Sarsgaard; Review of Johnny Griffin and Horace Parlan's new album 'Close Your Eyes.' November 17, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884973].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former editor of The New Republic, CHARLES LANE. He was the editor who fired journalist Stephen Glass in 1998 for making up a story that ran in the magazine under the headline 'Hack Heaven.' It was subsequently discovered that Glass fabricated other stories for The New Republic as other publications. Now the story of Stephen Glass is told in the new film, 'Shattered Glass.' LANE now covers the Supreme Court for The Washington Post. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Actor PETER SARSGAARD. He portrays editor Chuck Lane in the new film 'Shattered Glass.' Previously SARSGAARD played opposite Hilary Swank and Chloe Sevigny in the film 'Boys Don't Cry.' A longer version of Terry's interview with SARSGAARD will run in the coming weeks. (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new release by tenor sax player Johnny Griffin and pianist Horace Parlan, called 'Close Your Eyes' (Minor, 2003).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) London Bureau Chief for the Boston Globe CHARLES SENNOTT. He covered the war in Iraq, but not as an imbedded reporter. He traveled independently with a group of journalists. SENNOTT recently returned to Iraq. Terry will talk with him about that and about President Bush's visit to meet with Tony Blair in London this week. SENNOTT is also the author of the book, 'The Body and The Blood: The Holy Land's Christians At the Turn of a New Millennium' (PublicAffairs). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE REST OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Cam Simpson; Flynn McRoberts; Interview with Peter Sarsgaard; Review of TV specials on John F. Kennedy. November 19, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885130].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalists CAM SIMPSON and FLYNN McROBERTS. The two collaborated (along with journalist Liz Sly) on a three part special series in the Chicago Tribune. The series 'Tossed Out of America' is about the crackdown on Muslims who are illegal immigrants in the U.S. They were required to register with the government after the September 11th attacks. Now many of them are facing deportation or have already been deported. (The report ran November 16-18th, and is available on line at www.chicagotribune.com under 'special reports').

(2.) Actor PETER SARSGAARD. He portrays editor Chuck Lane in the new film 'Shattered Glass.' Previously SARSGAARD played the sweet-faced killer in the film 'Boys Don't Cry.' His other films include 'K-19: The Widowmaker' and 'The Man in the Iron Mask.'

(3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews some of the network specials marking the 40th Anniversary of the assassination of John F. Kennedy. They include the PBS documentary 'JFK: Breaking the News' about how local media covered the assassination, and Court TV's Forensic Files: The JFK Assassination: Investigation Reopened' (both on tonight). And ABC'S 'Peter Jennings Reporting: The Kennedy Assassination ? Beyond Conspiracy' (on tomorrow night).

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TRIUMPH the Insult Comic Dog who appears on 'Late Night with Conan O'Brien.' He's a puppet and the creation of ROBERT SMIGEL who also created the animated short 'TV Funhouse' on 'Saturday Night Live.' TRIUMPH has a new CD (no kidding!) 'Come Poop With Me' (Warner Bros) featuring such tracks as 'Underage Bichon' and 'Lick Myself.' TRIUMPH has also appeared on Hollywood Squares and on the MTV Video Music Awards, where one year he almost came to blows with Eminem. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Photographer ROBERT FREEMAN. He's the photographer who was closest to the Beatles and was considered their favorite. He shot the covers for five of their albums: 'With the Beatles,' 'A Hard Day's Night,' 'Beatles for Sale,' 'Help!' and 'Rubber Soul.' He has a new collection of photos, 'The Beatles: A Private View.' (Big Tent Entertainment).

Interview with Lee Maynard; Review of Britney Spears' new CD "In the Zone." November 24, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884519].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer LEE MAYNARD. His new novel is 'Screaming With the Cannibals.' Maynard has been an assignment writer for Reader's Digest for over a decade. He's also written for many other magazines and newspapers. His debut novel was the 1988 'Crum.' 'Screaming with the Cannibals' is a sequel to 'Crum.' (This interview continues into the second half of the show.)(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'In the Zone,' the new album from pop star Britney Spears.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times correspondent JOHN BURNS. We catch up with him about the latest news from Iraq. He's in the United States for just one day, and then he goes back to Baghdad. Burns has won several Pulitzer Prizes for his overseas war reports. He is chief foreign correspondent for the New York Times. (This interview continues into the second half of the show.)

Interview with John Linnell; Commentary on Bonzo Dog Doo-Dah Band; Review of the film "In America." November 26, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884520].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) They Might Be Giants band members JOHN LINNELL and JOHN FLANSBURGH. The wacky musical duo has just published a children's book (with companion CD) entitled "BED, BED BED."
Linnell and Flansburgh have known each other since childhood, and they started They Might Be Giants in Brooklyn, New York, where they still have a phone machine called Dial-a-Song. You can call up every day and hear a new, original tune. TMBG has released numerous albums, including "Bar None," "Factory Showroom," and a children's record entitled "No!" Their best-of CD is entitled "Dial-a-Song: 20 Years of They Might Be Giants." The band is currently on tour. (2.) Rock historian ED WARD talks about the Bonzo Dog Doo-Dah Band, a crazy, influential ensemble that reached its apex of popularity in Swinging Sixties London.(3.) Film critic David Edelstein reviews "In America," the new film from director Jim Sheridan.

---

Interview with Al Green; Review of Al Green's new album "I can't stop." November 27, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885127].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Musical legend AL GREEN. The R&B star has a new album of secular songs called "I Can't Stop." In the seventies, Al Green was born again. His 2000 biography called 'Down by the River' (Harper Entertainment) detailed the trip from R&B stardom to Reverend. Al Green's hits include "Let's Stay Together," "Tired of Being Alone," and "Here I am (Come and Take Me)." (Original airdate: 6/21/91) (2.) More with AL GREEN. We present a second Fresh Air interview with the soul singer, recorded in 2000 after the publication of his autobiography. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW. ORIGINAL AIRDATE: 10/16/00.) (3.) Rock critic Ken Tucker reviews Al Green's new album, "I Can't Stop." The disc marks Green's return to secular music, as well as to his old producer, Willie Mitchell.

---

Interview with Michael Cogswell; Interview with Blossom Dearie; Review of Blossom Dearie's 1959 album, "My Gentleman Friend." November 28, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885129].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Director of the Louis Armstrong House & Archives, MICHAEL COGSWELL. The archive contains 5000 photographs, 350 pages of autobiographical manuscripts, 270 sets of manuscripts band parts, 650 home-made tape recordings and more. We'll hear excerpts from the tapes. Cogswell has just opened a museum and educational center at the Louis Armstrong House in Queens, where Louis and his wife Lucille lived for almost thirty years. Cogswell's new book is "Louis Armstrong: The Offstage Story of Satchmo." (Original airdate: 8/2/01. THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Jazz singer and pianist BLOSSOM DEARIE. She's a great singer with the tiniest of voices. She has been called "One of the last of the great supper-club singers." She performs primarily in London and New York. (Original airdate: 3/31/98) (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new reissue of Blossom Dearie's 1959 album, "My Gentleman Friend," on Verve records.

Interview with Deirdre Bair; Review of several reprints of novels by women detective fiction writers. December 1, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885126].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer DEIRDRE BAIR. Her new book is "Jung: A Biography." Bair chronicles the life and work of the influential Swiss psychologist. Bair won the National Book Award for her biography of Samuel Beckett, and she's also written books about the lives of Anais Nin and Simone de Beauvoir. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN on the Queens of Pulp. She reviews several reprints of books by female detective fiction writers, including Anna Katherine Green's 'That Affair Next Door & Lost Man's Lane,' Metta Fuller Victor's 'The Dead Letter & The Figure Eight,' (both from Duke University Press) and re-issues from The Feminist Press (Skyscraper' by Faith Baldwin, 'In a Lonely Place' by Dorothy B. Hughes and 'The Girls in 3-B' by Valerie Taylor).

Interview with Chris Butler; Interview with Art Caplan and Sherry Glied; Review of the television show "The simple life." December 2, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884683].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CHRIS BUTLER, Chief Marketing Officer for Independence Blue Cross of Southeastern Pennsylvania. The insurer is set to raise its rates as much as 50%. Butler will give is a sense of the healthcare industry's viewpoint on rising costs and changes in policy. (2.) Medicare reform and changes in health care with ART CAPLAN and SHERRI GLIED ('gleed'). Caplan is the director of the Center for Bioethics, and chief of the Division of Bioethics, at the University of Pennsylvania Medical Center. Sherry Glied is the Chair Of The Department Of Health Policy And Management at Columbia University's Mailman School of Public Health. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

(3.) T-V critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'The Simple Life,' the Fox reality TV show starring heiress and general party girl Paris Hilton. 'The Simple Life' premieres tonight at 8:30 EST.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Biographer PHILIP FURIA. ('FEW-ree-uh') His new book is 'Skylark: The Life and Times of Johnny Mercer.' Furia documents the life of the legendary lyricist whose songs include 'Moon River,' 'Come Rain or Come Shine' and 'Skylark.' From the 1930s to the 1950s, Mercer dominated the popular song charts. Furia is a professor of creative writing at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington. He's also written biographies of Irving Berlin and Ira Gershwin. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE SHOW)

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Environmental attorney ROBERT F. KENNEDY, JR. He's senior counsel for the Natural Resources Defense Fund in Washington DC. He thinks Bush will go down as the worst environmental president in history, and Kennedy is concerned that Bush will dismantle 30 years of pro-environmental legislation. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

(2.) CHARLENE "CHARLI" COON, senior policy analyst for energy & environment at The Heritage Foundation. Coon researches and writes about energy and environmental policy, such as oil drilling in Alaska and the recent blackouts in California. The Heritage Foundation is a conservative think tank based in Washington DC.
Interview with Hugh Hefner; Review of the film "Bad Santa;" Interview with Edward Behr; Review of the miniseries "Angels in America." December 5, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884681].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The founder and editor-in-chief of Playboy magazine HUGH HEFNER. Playboy magazine is the best-selling men's magazine in the world. It was founded in Chicago in 1953, assembled at Hefner's kitchen table. The magazine turns 50 years old this month. There will be a special 50th anniversary issue in January 2004. (Original airdate: 11/29/03)(2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Bad Santa' starring Billy Bob Thorton. (3.) It's been 70 years since the repeal of prohibition in America. Journalist EDWARD BEHR is the author of "Prohibition: Thirteen Years That Changed America" (in paperback). Behr has written a number of other books including: "The Last Emperor," 'The Artful Eater: A Gourmet Investigates the Ingredients of Great Food' and "Hirohito: Behind the Myth" (Rebroadcast from 10/16/96) (4.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the HBO production of 'Angels in America.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor ALEC BALDWIN. He's starring in the new film 'The Cat in the Hat' with Mike Myers, and in the upcoming film 'The Cooler' with William H. Macy. BALDWIN's other films include 'State and Main,' 'GlenGarry Glen Ross,' and 'The Hunt for Red October.' He's appeared on Broadway in 'A Streetcar Named Desire,' and 'Loot.' He is also a board member of People for the American Way, and of the Carol M. Baldwin Breast Cancer Research Fund, sponsored by Stony Brook University in honor of his mother. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) AL ROKER of The Today Show. Throughout his life he struggled with a weight problem. Last year he underwent gastric bypass surgery — an operation that reduces the size of the stomach and helps the patient lose weight. ROKER lost 100 pounds. He'll talk with Terry about his operation and his new cookbook 'Al 'Roker's Hassle Free Holiday Cookbook' (Scribner).
Interview with Tony Kushner; Review of a new collection, Nat King Cole December 9, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884874].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Playwright TONY KUSHNER. He adapted his epic Tony award winning play 'Angels in America' into a screenplay for HBO (broadcast this month on HBO in two three-hour parts). The 1993/1994 play (performed in two parts) is set in New York in the mid 1980s in the midst of the AIDS epidemic. The HBO film is directed by Mike Nichols and stars Al Pacino, Meryl Streep and Emma Thompson. KUSHNER also has a new semi-autobiographical musical 'Caroline, or Change' at the Public Theater in New York. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on taboo words. (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new collection, 'Nat King Cole: The Classic Singles' (on Capiol).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) 82 year old historian and rabbi ARTHUR HERTZBERG has been at the center of events that shape American Jewish life for over 50 years. He is the former president of the American Jewish congress, and helped to found Peace Now in Israel. His 1959 book 'The Zionist Idea is considered a classic. Last year he wrote his memoir, 'A Jew in America: My Life and a People's Struggle for Identity' (Harper). His new book is 'The Fate of Zionism: A Secular Future for Israel and Palestine' (Harper)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) DR. ERIC GOEMAERE (GO-marr) is the head of Doctors without Borders (Medecins Sans Frontieres) in South Africa and a leading AIDS activist from South Africa's Treatment Action Campaign. He was recently featured on a Frontline report 'AIDS Treatment for Africa: The South African Struggle.' (on PBS). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Tom Jones; Review of Pink's new album "Try this." December 11, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884682].

Description of show segment(s)

(1). Singer TOM JONES. The pop icon first gained fame with the 1960s hits 'It's Not Unusual,' 'Delilah,' and 'What's New Pussycat.' In the last 40 years of his career, he has released over 30 hit singles and several gold and multi-platinum records. In his heyday he was famous for his live performances and for the frenzy he caused amongst his female fans ? many of whom threw their underwear onstage and rushed the stage. Jones' name today has come to connote hipness and romance. His newest release, 'Reloaded: Greatest Hits,' is made up of 19 new and re-mastered tunes.(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Try This' the third album by the singer Pink.

Interview with Colin Quinn; Review of the film "Stuck on you;" Review of Television shows on DVD. December 12, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884878].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian COLIN QUINN. He was the Weekend Update anchor on Saturday Night Live from 1998 to 2000, and was known for his satirical coverage of the Clinton-Lewinsky scandal. He's now starring in Comedy Central's 'Tough Crowd with Colin Quinn.' He appears in the documentary 'Comedian' about Jerry Seinfeld, out now on DVD and VHS (Miramax). This interview was first broadcast 6/16/03. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) Film Critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Stuck on You,' the new comedy from the Farrelly Brothers.(3.) DAVID BIANCULLI looks at some DVDs to keep in mind during the holiday gift-buying season.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist VERNON LOEB covers the military for The Washington Post. He just returned from five weeks in Iraq. He'll discuss the situation there and the capture of Saddam Hussein. (THIS INTERVIEW

Interview with Bobby and Peter Farrelly; Review of two new CD's "Randy Newman songbook" and "Let it Be Naked." December 16, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884988].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Filmmakers PETER & BOBBY FARRELLY. The two brothers have become practically the brand name for bad taste. Their movies "Dumb and Dumber," "Kingpin," "There's Something About Mary" and "Shallow Hall," plumbed new depths of tastelessness. But their fans love the films, and despite their gross out humor, the FARRELLYS seem to create characters that audiences care about. Their new film "Stuck on You" is about two brothers who are Siamese twins. It stars Matt Damon and Greg Kinnear. It's supposedly their most autobiographical film. (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new CD from Randy Newman and the recent re-release from the Beatles, "Let it Be Naked."

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Religion scholar BART D. EHRMAN. He's the Bowman and Gordon Gray Professor of Religious Studies at UNC-Chapel Hill. His new book, 'Lost Christianities: The Battle for Scripture and the Faiths We Never Knew' (Oxford 2003), chronicles the period before Christianity as we know it came to be, when conflicting ideas about the religion were fighting for prominence in the second and third centuries. EHRMAN has also edited a collection of the early non-canonical texts from the first centuries after Christ called 'Lost Scriptures: Books that Did Not Make It into the New Testament' (Oxford 2003).(2.) Film Critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the final film in the Lord of the Rings trilogy, 'The Return of the King' (New Line).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Cartoonist and writer MATT GROENING ('GRAY-ning'). He branches out from cartoons as the editor of 'Da Capo Best Music Writing 2003: The Year's Finest Writing on Rock, Pop, Jazz, Country & More.' Groening began his career as a rock critic before going on to create the much loved cartoon series 'The Simpsons.' He's also the creator of the TV series 'Futurama' and still draws the weekly comic strip 'Life in Hell,' seen in (mostly alternative) newspapers nationwide.(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD provides holiday gift suggestions. He reviews two CDs: Count Basie's 'America's #1 Band' (Columbia) and 'MJQ, The Complete Modern Jazz Quartet Prestige and Pablo Recordings,' and one combo CD/DVD, 'Monk in Paris: Live at the Olympia' (Thelonious).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer ANDRE DUBUS III ("duh-BEUSE"). He wrote the novel, "House of Sand And Fog." It's now a movie starring Ben Kingsley and Jennifer Connelly. The critically acclaimed book was a runaway bestseller after being chosen for Oprah's book club. DUBUS is the author of two previous books, and he teaches writing at Tufts University and Emerson College. He is the son of the celebrated writer Andre Dubus. (Original airdate: 5/4/1999)(2.) Actor SIR IAN MCKELLEN. Britain's highly acclaimed Shakespearean actor plays Gandalf in all three "Lord of the Rings" films, including the latest, "Return of the King." McKellen also starred in the recent films "X-Men" and "X-Men 2." His role in Peter Shafer's "Amadeus" earned him a Tony Award in 1981. (Original airdate: 6/20/1994)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JOHN SIFTON, Afghanistan researcher with Human Rights Watch. His articles have appeared in the New York Times Magazine and the International Herald Tribune. Since 2001, he has made nine trips to Afghanistan. Sifton is also an attorney.(2.) Writer TOBIAS WOLFF. His new ? and first ? novel is 'Old School.' Wolff is best known for his memoir, 'This Boy's Life,' and short stories, including 'The Barracks Thief.'

Description of show segment(s)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Fresh Air film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN. He and Terry talk about the year's top films. David Edelstein is a film critic for the online magazine Slate.(2.) Fresh Air music critic KEN TUCKER. He'll talk with Terry about the year in music. He'll reveal his favorite rock, pop and R&B albums of the year. Ken Tucker is now TV critic for Entertainment Weekly.
Fresh Air With Terry Gross

Interview with Burton Lane; Interview with Susannah McCorkle. December 25, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884991].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Songwriter BURTON LANE. He's written the scores for several Broadway shows, including "Finian's Rainbow" and "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever." Lane died in November of 1997. (Original airdate: 11/5/90)(2.) Singer Susannah McCorkle. We present two interviews from the archives: a 1987 concert featuring ballads and popular song, and a 1988 Christmas concert performed by the jazz vocalist. She considered Billie Holliday her main influence. McCorkle died in May of 2001, of an apparent suicide. (Original airdates: 7/17/87 and 12/23/88)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Lyricist SHELDON HARNICK. He co-wrote the songs for many Broadway hits, including Fiddler on the Roof, She Loves Me, and The Apple Tree. His collaborator on these projects was Jerry Bock. Their partnership broke up in the 1970s and Harnick worked on translating operettas into English. (Original airdate: 12/12/1988)(2.) Singer and actress BARBARA COOK. Since the 1950's COOK has been in countless Broadway musicals--"Oklahoma", "The King and I", and Leonard Bernstein's "Candide" to name a few. She's been called a "no nonsense singer...able to thrust with gentility of tone." She won a Tony Award for her part as "Marian the librarian" which she originated in "The Music Man." (Original airdate: 11/18/1993)

Interview with Jamie Hammerstein; Interview with Susan Loesser; Interview with Jim McHugh III. December 29, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884992].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) SUSAN LOESSER ("lesser"), daughter of composer Frank Loesser. LOESSER takes us behind the scenes during the golden age of the Broadway musical. Her father wrote the score for 'Guys and Dolls' as well as the classic songs "Heart and Soul" and "Baby It's Cold Outside.' LOESSER's 1993 memoir of her father is "A Most Happy Fella." (Original airdate: 6/18/1993) (2.) JAMIE HAMMERSTEIN, Broadway producer and director. He's the son of the great Broadway lyricist Oscar Hammerstein, whose many hits include The Sound of Music, The King and I, and Oklahoma! The younger Hammerstein was a producer, director and stage manager for many productions. He was also president of the Society of Stage Directors and Choreographers. Jamie Hammerstein died in January of 1999. (Original airdate: 3/14/1995)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (3.) Photographer JIMMY MCHUGH. The grandson of singer/ songwriter Jimmy McHugh, he and his family manage the estate of the legendary artist. Songwriter Jimmy McHugh was famous in the forties and fifties for songs like 'The Sunny Side of the Street.' McHugh talks about the resurgence of interest in his grandfather's jazz standards. (Original airdate: 7/16/2001)

Interview with Jeff Moss; Interview with Bob Dorough; Interview with Fred Rogers. December 30, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884719].

Description of show segment(s)

(1). Composer and writer JEFF MOSS, one of the original creators and writers of "Sesame Street." MOSS created Cookie Monster and Oscar the Grouch, and wrote such songs as "Rubber Ducky" and "People in Your Neighborhood." He won 14 Emmys, four Grammys, and an Academy Award nomination for his work on "Sesame Street" and with the Muppets. Moss was also the author of books for children, including "Hieronymus White: A Bird Who Believed That He Always Was Right" He died in 1998 at the age of 56. (REBROADCAST from 11/30/94) (2.) Jazz musician BOB DOROUGH, musical director of the 1970s educational TV series, "School House Rock" and composer of the popular song "Three is a Magic Number." The CD, "Schoolhouse Rock Rocks", was released with contemporary artists such as Blind Melon, Lemonheads and Pavement, playing the old songs. Also now available is "School House Rock: The Official Guide," (Hyperion Books) by the creators of the series, Tom Yohe and George Newall. (REBROADCAST from 5/9/96) (3.) Beloved children's TV host FRED ROGERS. His popular show 'Mister Rogers' Neighborhood' was the longest-running program on public television. It ran 33 years and ended its run in 2001. ROGERS was awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the highest civilian honor the nation can bestow in 2001. ROGERS died February 2003 at the age of 74. Barbara Bogaev conducted this interview. (Original airdate: 11/13/02)
Interview with Margaret Whiting; Interview with Sammy Cahn; Review of a new series of original Broadway cast albums. December 31, 2003. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884718].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer MARGARET WHITING. Her father, Richard Whiting, wrote many of her most popular songs, including "Too Marvelous for Words," "My Ideal," "She's Funny That Way," and "On The Good Ship Lollipop." Jerome Kern, Johnny Mercer and other great songwriters of the day were like uncles to her. (original broadcast: 1/22/88)(2.) Songwriter SAMMY CAHN. He wrote many of the songs that Frank Sinatra recorded, including "Come Fly With Me," "Teach Me Tonight" and "High Hopes." He also wrote the scores for many Broadway shows including "Walking Happy" and "Skyscraper," and for the movies "Come Blow Your Horn," "Robin and the Seven Hoods," and "A Pocketful of Miracles." Cahn died in 1993 at the age of 79. (Originally aired 1985)(3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new series of original Broadway cast albums from shows that didn't succeed but which contained numbers that shouldn't be forgotten. (on DECCA).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer-songwriter RANDY NEWMAN. He's best known for his hit songs 'Short People,' and 'I Love L-A.' He's written for a number of films including, 'Ragtime,' 'Avalon,' 'The Natural,' 'Toy Story,' 'Babe' and 'Seabiscuit.' He's received fourteen Oscar nominations and was given the Academy Award in 2002. Recently he released Volume One of The Randy Newman Songbook (Nonesuch Records). (REBROADCAST from 11/16/92) (2.) A concert in the Fresh Air Studio with Randy Newman. (REBROADCAST from 12/22/98) (THIS CONCERT CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (3.) Comedian and filmmaker MEL BROOKS. Nathan Lane and Matthew Broderick have just returned to Broadway and their starring roles in The Producers – the show based on Brooks' first feature film. They're doing a limited run through April 14th. The Producers won 12 Tony's in 2001, including best musical, best book of a musical, best original score, and best actor. The book, the music and lyrics were written by Mel Brooks. Brooks has made some of the funniest films in movie history, including "The Producers," "Young Frankenstein," and "Blazing Saddles." (REBROADCAST from 6/13/01)

Interview with Stephen Sondheim; Interview with Angela Lansbury; Interview with Donna Murphy. January 2, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825558].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Composer and lyricist STEPHEN SONDHEIM. There's a new DVD collection of his work: 'The Stephen Sondheim Collection: Into The Woods/Sunday in the Park with George/Follies in Concert/Passion/Sweeney Todd in Concert/A Celebration at Carnegie Hall.' He discusses his work on 'West Side Story' (for which he wrote lyrics), 'Gypsy' (lyrics), and his own musical 'Sweeney Todd.' His other works include, 'Company,' 'A Little Night Music,' 'Merrily We Roll Along,' and 'Passion.' (REBROADCAST from 11/10/88). (2.) Veteran actress ANGELA LANSBURY. She's spent over 50 years in the business on stage, and in film and television. When she was 17 she debuted in 'Gaslight,' and was nominated for an Oscar for her portrayal of Ingrid Bergman's Cockney maid. LANSBURY also played opposite Judy Garland in 'The Harvey Girls,' was Elvis Presley's mother in 'Blue Hawaii,' and the manipulative mother in 'The Manchurian Candidate.' On stage she starred in 'Mame' and was the baker of the worst pies in London in 'Sweeney Todd.' For twelve years she starred in the TV series, 'Murder, She Wrote.' (REBROADCAST from 11/28/00) (3.) Singer/Actress DONNA MURPHY played the lead in Stephen Sondheim's musical, 'Passion.' Of the role, which has her playing an ugly, hysterical woman obsessively pursuing a handsome army captain, MURPHY says, 'I love transformation of any kind...I want to look in the mirror and not see Donna looking back at me.' In 1986, Donna Murphy was a woman in drag in 'The Mystery of Edwin Drood.' In 1991, she was introduced as 'a girl who will steal your heart and then forget where she put it,' playing the amnesiac songstress in 'Song of Singapore.' (REBROADCAST from 7/11/94) (4.) STEPHEN SONDHEIM (REBROADCAST from 3/22/00)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker ERROL MORRIS. His new documentary, 'The Fog of War,' is a profile of the man many considered to be the architect of the Vietnam conflict, Robert McNamara. Taken from a series of interviews MORRIS conducted with McNamara, it yields new insights into the mind of the former Secretary of Defense. MORRIS' other films include 'The Thin Blue Line,' 'Vernon, Florida,' 'Gates of Heaven,' and 'Fast, Cheap, and Out of Control.' He's also done a number of commercials; his clients include Apple, Nike, Miller High Life, and PBS. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

(2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new series of 20th century classical music performances on DVD called Classic Archives.

Interview with Al Franken; Interview with Benicio Del Toro. January 6, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503471].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian and political satirist AL FRANKEN. In December he was part of a USO tour performing for troops in Iraq, Afghanistan, Uzbekistan and Kuwait. The tour lasted eight days, and he returned Christmas Day. He'll talk about the tour and do some of his routine from it. FRANKEN's books include 'Lies and the Lying Liars who Tell Them: A Fair and Balanced Look at the Right' and 'Rush Limbaugh is a Big Fat Idiot.' Franken is an alumnus of Saturday Night Live, where his most memorable character was the simpering self-help sap Stuart Smalley. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)

(2.) Actor BENICIO DEL TORO. The Puerto Rican born actor is currently starring in '21 Grams' opposite Sean Penn and Naomi Watts. His other films include 'Traffic,' 'The Usual Suspects,' and 'Snatch.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist DAVID CAY JOHNSTON. He won a Pulitzer Prize in 2001 for his investigative reporting in The New York Times. His new book is 'Perfectly Legal: The Covert Campaign to Rig Our Tax System to Benefit the Super Rich ? and Cheat Everybody Else' (Portfolio books). JOHNSTON was hired by the Times to cover taxes and he approached it like an ongoing investigation. In his new book he writes 'I was especially surprised to find that some of the biggest tax breaks for the rich are not even in the tax code and that the IRS was completely unaware of many widely used tax fraud schemes. But what surprised me more than anything was the realization that our tax system now levies the poor, the middle class and even the upper middle class to subsidize the rich. . .' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian ED WARD tells us about the East LA band from the '60s, The Midniters. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Gatekeeper' (St. Martin's Press) the new memoir by British academic superstar Terry Eagleton. Also his new book 'After Theory' (to be published this month in the U.S.) is a recant of his widely read 1983 book 'Literary Theory: An Introduction.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DAVID FRUM is former assistant to President Bush and a former White House speechwriter who helped coin the phrase 'axis of evil.' RICHARD PERLE is a former assistant secretary of defense under Reagan, and a member of President Bush's Defense Policy Board. The two have been influential in helping to shape foreign policy for the Bush administration. They have collaborated on the new book, 'An End to Evil: How to Win the War on Terror' (Random House). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER considers the life and art of Michael Jackson and reviews his new album of greatest hits, 'Number Ones.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Bluegrass musician EARL SCRUGGS. He turned 80 years old on January 6th. He originated the staccato three-finger, five-string banjo technique that became known as the 'Scruggs style.' He got his start playing with Bill Monroe's band in the 1940s, and then teamed up with guitarist Lester Flatt (fronting The Foggy Mountain Boys). The two penned and recorded the tune 'Foggy Mountain Breakdown' which was used on the Bonnie and Clyde film soundtrack and was one of the first crossover hits of the genre. They also recorded 'The Ballad of Jed Clampett,' the theme song for the sitcom The Beverly Hillbillies. It topped the charts in 1962. In 2001 he released his first album in 17 years, 'Earl Scruggs and Friends' featuring his work with Elton John, John Fogerty, Dwight Yoakum and others. SCRUGGS teamed up with Doc Watson and Ricky Skaggs for the new CD, 'The Three Pickers.' (Rounder). (REBROADCAST from 10/16/03) (2.) Actor ADRIEN BRODY. He won the Oscar last year for his role in Roman Polanski's 'The Pianist.' He played Wladyslaw Szpileman, the Polish Pianist and Holocaust survivor. 'The Pianist' is now out on DVD (and earlier on VHS). BRODY's other films include 'Summer of Sam,' 'The Thin Red Line,' 'Restaurant,' and 'The Affair of the Necklace.' He's now starring in 'Dummy.' (REBROADCAST from 9/17/03) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new film 'Monster.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) South African actor and playwright JOHN KANI ('Con-NEE'). He's best known for his apartheid-era politically-charged collaborations with playwright Athol Fugard. His new play ? and his first as a solo playwright is 'Nothing But the Truth.' It's a post-apartheid family drama inspired by the death of his brother, a poet who was killed by the South African police in 1985. 'Nothing But the Truth' is currently playing at the Mitzi Newhouse Theatre at Lincoln Center in New York City. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new 6-DVD set of fully-staged and concert performances of Stephen Sondheim musicals.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist PETER MAASS. In this week's New York Times Magazine cover story (Sunday, Jan 11th) he writes about Major John Nagl, a professor at West Point and a counterinsurgency expert who is putting his theories about counterinsurgency into practice for the first time. He is in Iraq with a tank battalion in the Sunni Triangle. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new CD by German Pianist and free jazz pioneer Alexander von Schlippenbach (SHLIP-en-bach). His quartet's new CD is called "Broomriding" (P-S-I Label).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former U.S. treasury secretary PAUL O'NEILL and Pulitzer prize winning writer RON SUSKIND ('Sus-KIND'). The two have collaborated on the new book, 'The Price of Loyalty: George W. Bush, the White House, and the Education of Paul O'Neill.' The book chronicles his nearly two years with the Bush administration. O'NEILL was the administration's top economic official and a principal of the National Security Council. The book has created a firestorm because of O'NEILL's assertion that President Bush was intent on invading Iraq as soon as he took office, nine months before 911. O'NEILL also criticizes Bush for his 'disengagement' at important cabinet meetings. The book draws on O'NEILL's account as well as other high-level officials, and relies on thousands of internal documents. RON SUSKIND was The Wall Street Journal's senior national affairs reporter and won the Pulitzer Prize for Feature Writing while there. He is also the author of the bestselling book, 'A Hope in the Unseen.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TAMMY FAYE MESSNER. Along with her ex-husband Jim Bakker she built the Praise the Lord televangelist network. She gained a reputation for crying often on television and smearing her abundant mascara. Their empire crumbled when Jim Bakker was convicted of bilking followers out of millions of dollars. She survived the scandal, the divorce, as well as cancer and drug addiction and wrote about it in her memoir 'I Will Survive: And You Will, Too!' (paperback, Penguin). She is also starring in the new reality show on the WB network, 'Surreal Life 2.' (2.) Record executive SIMON COWELL is one of the judges on the talent show, American Idol, a spin-off of the show he co-created in Britain, Pop Idol. The show has made him famous for his brutally frank criticism. COWELL has spent 25 years in the music industry, and currently with BMG. His new book is 'Simon Cowell: I don't mean to be Rude, but. . .' (Broadway Books).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We remember stage actress and acting teacher UTA HAGEN (00-ta HOG-en). She died on Wednesday at the age of 84. She taught acting for more than 40 years, teaching such actors as Jack Lemmon, Sigourney Weaver, Matthew Broderick and the late Geraldine Page. Her first book about acting, "Respect for Acting" was published in 1973. "A Challenge for the Actor." She and her late husband Herbert Berghof founded the HB Studio in New York. This interview first November 4th, 1998. (2.) Playwright NEIL SIMON. SIMON's plays and movies include, "Barefoot in the Park," "The Odd Couple," "The Out-of-Towners," "The Sunshine Boys," "Brighton Beach Memoirs," and "Biloxi Blues." He won a Pulitzer Prize for his play "Lost in Yonkers." A remake of his film 'The Goodbye Girl,' starring Jeff Daniels, airs this weekend on TNT. Terry talked with him after his 1996 memoir, "Rewrites" was published. (REBROADCAST from 10/17/96). (3.) Film Critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new film, "Along Came Polly."

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CLAYBORNE CARSON is founding director of the King Papers Project, a long-term project to edit and publish the writings of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.. He's a professor of history at Stanford University, where the project is based. His books include Malcolm X: The FBI File (Carrol and Graf, 1991), and In Struggle: SNCC and the Black Awakening of the 1960's (Harvard, 1981). (2.) SHIRLEY ANN BARNHART. She's a staff member and tour guide at the Ebenezer Baptist Church in Atlanta, GA, where Martin Luther King Jr. was once co-pastor with his father. She has been a member of the church since she was a child and King was still preaching there. (3.) JAMES FARMER, co-founder of CORE, the Congress On Racial Equality. He served as its National Director from 1961-1966. CORE was one of the Civil Rights groups of the 1960's which followed Gandhi's principles of non-violent resistance. CORE also helped organize the Freedom Rides -- multi-racial busloads of people traveling through the southern states making sure the Supreme Court's decisions on desegregation were being enforced. FARMER's long life as an advocate of civil rights was detailed in his autobiography, "Lay Bare the Heart" (Dutton). Farmer died in 1999. This interview was originally broadcast in 1985.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author PAUL AUSTER. His new book is "Oracle Night" (Henry Holt and Company). Auster is the author of 11 novels, 3 screenplays, 5 books of poetry and 7 works of nonfiction. His recent works include the best selling novels, "The Book of Illusions" and "Timbuktu," and he also edited the NPR National Story Project anthology, "I Thought My Father Was God." (This interview continues in the second half of the show.) (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews "The Amateur Marriage," the new book by Anne Tyler. (Knopf)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Political activist WILLIAM GREENE. He is a founder of the conservative group rightmarch.com. According to the group's website, rightmarch.com "is an umbrella website for many conservative organizations." The group has launched media and e-mail campaigns, some of them against Moveon.org. They are planning on sponsoring TV ads criticizing the liberal group. One of the group's members recently released a country song entitled "Hey Hollywood." The song pokes fun at so-called "liberal" actors and country musicians, like Willie Nelson and The Dixie Chicks, who speak out against the war in Iraq. (2.) WES BOYD and ELI Pariser (PARIS-er) of the liberal group Moveon.org. The group was founded by BOYD and Joan Blades, two Silicon Valley entrepreneurs, in the late 90s as a liberal political force. MoveOn recently sponsored the "Bush in 30 Seconds" ad contest. Some 1500 contestants submitted ads and over 100,000 people voted for them online. Moveon.org is raising money to air the winning ad on TV this week. The organization is even trying to get the ad aired during the Superbowl. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new DVD on the life of bluegrass cult figure Jimmy Martin.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former lead singer of the band Led Zeppelin, ROBERT PLANT. He has a new solo CD that includes tracks he recorded before Zeppelin and after. It's called 'Sixty six to Timbuktu' (Atlantic). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Husband and wife song writing team, BARRY MANN and CYNTHIA WEIL, the duo responsible for such songs as 'You've Lost that Loving Feeling,' 'On Broadway,' 'We Gotta Get Out of This Place,' 'Here You Come Again,' 'Don't Know Much,' and more. The two met when they were both working in the famous songwriting landmark, the Brill Building? MANN as a composer and WEIL as a lyricist. The two have been writing ever since. In edition to their many pop hits, MANN and WEIL have also written songs for films. In the new musical 'They Wrote That?' the songwriting team perform many of their songs and tell stories about their career. It's now in previews off-Broadway (@ the McGinn/Cazale Theatre in preview thru Feb 4th. It opens February 5th). (REBROADCAST from 7/18/00). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews Robert Altman's new film 'The Company.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) PETER LANDESMAN is a contributing writer to The New York Times Magazine. He investigated the sex slave industry for this week's cover story (Sunday, Jan 25, 2004), 'The Girls Next Door.' He found that tens of thousands of women, girls, and boys are smuggled into the United States from Eastern Europe and held captive as sex slaves in American cities like New York, Los Angeles, Atlanta and Chicago. LANDESMAN reports that the U.S. government has done little to pursue the traffickers. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Charles Lewis; Interview with Joe Simpson; Review of Jane Dunn's new biography, "Elizabeth and Mary." January 27, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503542].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CHARLES LEWIS & a team of researchers at the Center for Public Integrity have investigated the financing of all of this year's presidential contenders in the new book 'The Buying of the President 2004: Who's Really Bankrolling Bush and His Democratic Challengers-and What They Expect in Return.' (Perennial). (2.) Climber and author JOE SIMPSON. He wrote the book 'Touching the Void' about his ill-fated climb of Siula Grande mountain in Peru with his climbing partner Simon Yates. Now there's a movie adaptation of the book. During the climb, SIMPSON fell and broke several bones in his leg, crippling him. His friend, determined to find a way to get SIMPSON home, tied their two lengths of rope together (each was 150 feet) and lowered his friend down the mountain 300 feet at a time. When SIMPSON failed to respond to Yate's signal to retie the rope, YATES made the agonizing decision to cut the rope. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the new biography 'Elizabeth & Mary: Cousins, Rivals, Queens' (Knopf) by Jane Dunn. It's about the rivalry between Queen Elizabeth the First and her cousin, Mary, Queen of Scots.

Interview with Pete Rose; Review of Bobby Patterson's "Soul is my music January 28, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825288].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Baseball legend PETE ROSE. He is the all-time hits leader with 4,256 hits. He played in over 500 games at five different positions. But he was banned from baseball thirteen years ago when he was accused of gambling on the game. He spent five months in prison for tax charges. In his new book 'Peter Rose: My Prison Without Bars' (w/ Rick Hill ? published by Rodale) ROSE admits ? for the first time ? that he gambled on baseball. ROSE still hopes ? and so do many of his supporters ? that one day he will be inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Rock Historian ED WARD. He reviews the career of almost unknown soul singer Bobby Patterson.
Interview with Kevin Phillips; Interview with Siddiq Barmak; Commentary on the early days of the Neon Boys who became the band Television. January 29, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503539].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) KEVIN PHILLIPS is a political commentator and former Republican strategist. He is a regular contributor to the Los Angeles Times and National Public Radio. And he's the author of nine books including 'The Politics of Rich and Poor.' In his new book he takes a good look at the Bush family legacy, 'American Dynasty: Aristocracy, Fortune, and the Politics of Deceit in the House of Bush.' (Viking). In the introduction of the book he writes 'I found a greater basis for dismay and disillusionment than I had imagined.' He goes on to write, 'Four generations of building toward dynasty... have infused the Bush family's hunger for power and practices of crony capitalism with a moral arrogance and backstage disregard of the democratic and republican traditions of the U.S. government.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Afghani filmmaker SIDDIQ BARMAK ('Seh-DEEK Bar-MACK'). He just won a Golden globe for the film 'Osama' which he wrote and directed. It was shot in post-Taliban Afghanistan. It's based on a true story and it's about a mother who disguises her 12-year old daughter as a boy so that she can work and earn an income under the Taliban regime. BARMAK also runs the Afghan film organization and is director of the Afghan Children Education Movement, an association that promotes literacy, culture and the arts. (3.) Rock historian ED WARD on the early days of the Neon Boys who became the band Television. The 'lost' third album by Television has just come out on CD? a 25-year old live broadcast, and their first two albums have just been remastered (on Rhino).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Musician AL KOOPER. He turns 60 years old on February 5th. A benefit concert celebrating the event is set for the Berklee Performance Center in Boston on Jan 31. KOOPER helped popularize the Hammond B3 organ as part of rock music, performing on recordings of Bob Dylan, Jimi Hendrix, The Rolling Stones, and The Who. He was a member of the legendary Blues Project, and later founded the group Blood Sweat & Tears. He wrote his autobiography, "Backstage Passes & Backstabbing Bastards: Memoirs of a Rock 'n Roll Survivor" (Billboard Books, republished in 1998). (REBROADCAST from 12/8/98) (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Finding Nemo' and 'The Triplets of Belleville' ? both nominated for an Academy Award for best animated feature film. (3.) Film composer HOWARD SHORE. He just won a Golden Globe for his score for the film, 'The Lord of the Rings: The Return of the King' and the score has also been nominated for an Academy Award. SHORE has over sixty film scores to his credit including the recent 'The Lord of the Rings,' also 'The Fly,' 'Dead Ringers,' 'Naked Lunch,' 'The Silence of the Lambs,' 'Ed Wood,' and 'Philadelphia.' SHORE was also one of the original creators of Saturday Night Live, serving as Musical Director from 1975 to 1980. His chamber music is featured on the CD 'Reel Life ? The Private Music of Film Composers Vol. 1' (arabesque). (REBROADCAST from 3/18/02) (4.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI pays tribute to the original late night talk show host, Jack Paar, who died earlier this week.

Interview with David Denby; Interview with Rosemond Purcell. February 2, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503100].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Staff writer and film critic for The New Yorker DAVID DENBY. His new book 'American Sucker' (Little, Brown & Co.) is a memoir about his brief obsession with the stock market ? during the height of irrational exuberance in 2000-2001. It started with his wife's announcement that she was leaving him. DENBY began an attempt to make a million dollars so that he could buy out his wife's share of their New York apartment. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Artist, photographer and writer ROSEMOND PURCELL. She's been called the 'doymenn of decay' by sleight-of-hand artist Ricky Jay. PURCELL photograhed the decaying dice in his recent collection 'Dice: Deception, Fate, And Rotten Luck.' PURCELL's new book 'Owls Head' is about her 20 year friendship with William Buckminster an eccentric collector whose dilapidated antiques shop and 11-acre junkyard in Maine became something of a tourist attraction. Buckminster sold many of his items to PURCELL who took them home and photographed them in large-format Polaroids. She's also collaborated three times on books with the late palentologist and science historian Stephen Jay Gould.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. JEROME GROOPMAN is a Harvard Medical School Chair, and is the chief of experimental medicine at the Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center in Boston. He is also a staff writer in medicine and biology for The New Yorker. His new book is 'The Anatomy of Hope: How People Prevail in the Face of Illness.' (Random House). GROOPMAN's previous books 'Second Opinions: Stories Of Intuition And Choice In A Changing World Of Medicine' and 'The Measure of Our Days.' (2.) Saudi Arabian-born journalist FAIZA SALEH AMBAH. She is currently participated in the five-day Muslim pilgrimage (known as the 'hajj') to Mina, Saudi Arabia. It began on Jan 30th. She is traveling with her two sisters. Over the weekend 244 people were crushed to death in a stampede. AMBAH is writing about her journey for The Christian Science Monitor. She now makes her home in Arlington, VA. (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'Tanner '88' ? the fake documentary series about a fictional candidate for president rubbing elbows with actual candidates. It was created 16 years ago for HBO by director Robert Altman and Garry Trudeau the creator of 'Doonesbury.' The 11-part series will be rebroadcast on Tuesday nights, beginning today, on the Sundance Channel.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress and novelist CARRIE FISHER. As an actress, she's best-known for her portrayal of Princess Leia in the Star Wars movies. She's also the author of the bestsellers 'Postcards from the Edge' (which she adapted into a screenplay for the film of the same name), and 'Surrender the Pink.' Like 'Postcards from the Edge,' FISHER'S new book 'The Best Awful' (Simon & Schuster) is based on her own life. In it Hollywood actress Suzanne Vale's husband leaves her for another man, and then she is diagnosed with bipolar illness. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) HISHAM KASSEM (HI-shahm KAH-sim) is an Egyptian human rights activist and the publisher of Cairo Times, Egypt's only independent English-language news magazine.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist RAPHAEL LEWIS. He is the Boston Globe's State House reporter. He'll discuss the ruling by the Massachusetts high court yesterday that gay couples in Massachusetts will be accorded full equal marriage rights rather than civil unions. The ruling is a clarification of the court's November decision that same-sex couples have a constitutional right to marry. The state Senate asked for clarification on the decision because they felt it was worded vaguely. (2.) Pulitzer prize winning journalist DAVID MOATS. He is the editorial page editor of the Rutland Herald in Vermont where he won that paper's first Pulitzer for his series of editorials in support of same-sex unions. He's the author of the new book, 'Civil Wars: A Battle for Gay Marriage' (Harcourt). Vermont became the first state in the country to make civil unions legal for gay and lesbian couples. In 1999 the State Supreme court ruled that gay couples were due the legal rights of marriage, and told the state Legislature to decide how best to do that. The Legislature then came up with the concept of 'civil union' providing gay partners inheritance and hospital-visitation rights, but stopped short of recognizing the partnerships as equivalents of marriage.

Commentary on Beatles first appearance on the Ed Sullivan show; Interview with Ringo Starr; Interview with Pete Best; Interview with Paul McCartney; Review of the film "Dreamers." February 6, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502725].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Saturday, Feb 7th marks the 40th anniversary of the Beatles arrival in the U.S. We celebrate on the show: TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI remembers their first appearance on the Ed Sullivan show, 40 years ago. (2.) Drummer RINGO STARR talks with Terry about the early days of the Beatles. (REBROADCAST from 6/14/95) (3.) Fifth Beatle PETE BEST. He was the drummer for the Beatles in their early days in Liverpool and Hamburg. His mother, Mona Best, was the owner of The Casbah Coffee Club in Liverpool. The various early incarnations of the Beatles played the Casbah over 90 times. Best has co-written a large format book, 'The Beatles: The True Beginnings' (by Roag Best with Pete and Rory Best). Today he writes, records and tours with his own group, The Pete Best Band. (REBROADCAST from 9/2/03) (4.) PAUL MCCARTNEY. He collected many of his song lyrics as well as poems in the book 'Blackbird Singing: Poems and Lyrics 1965-1999.' (REBROADCAST from 4/30/01) (5.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Dreamers,' the new film by Bernardo Bertolucci.

Interview with Carl Zimmer; Interview with Joseph Scheer and Marc Epstein; Review of Harry Nilsson's album 'Nilsson Schmilsson.' February 9, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502372].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Health & Science writer CARL ZIMMER. His new book is 'Soul Made Flesh: The Discovery of the Brain-and How it Changed the World' (Free Press). It's about Thomas Willis, the scientist whose research on the workings of the brain during the 17th century became the basis of modern neurology. ZIMMER's work appears regularly in The New York times, National Geographic, Newsweek, Discover, Natural History, and Science. He is also a John S. Guggenheim Fellow and received the Pan-American Health Organization Award for Excellence in International Health Reporting. (2.) Artist and photographer JOSEPH SCHEER ('Shear'). He is a professor of Print Media and Co-Director of the Institute of Electronic Art at Alfred University in New York. Over the last few years he's collected over 20,000 specimen of moths. He then photographed them upclose, capturing their varied colors and patterns not visible to the naked eye. He's collected them in the new over-sized book, 'Night Visions: The Secret Designs of Moths' (Prestel books). It includes an introduction by MARC EPSTEIN ('Epsteen') a Lepidopterist (moth expert) at the National Museum of Natural History of the Smithsonian Institute. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the reissue of the 1971 album 'Nilsson Schmilsson' by Harry Nilsson.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Songwriter JIMMY WEBB. His songs include 'By The Time I Get to Phoenix,' 'Up Up and Away,' 'Whichita Lineman,' 'MacArthur Park,' 'Galveston,' 'Didn't We,' 'The Moon is a Harsh Mistress,' and 'All I Know.' His songs have been recorded by Glenn Campbell, Johnny Cash, Joe Cocker, Linda Ronstadt Art Garfunkle, and the Fifth Dimension. At one point in the 1960s he had five top ten hits within a 20-month period. WEBB has a lifetime achievement award from the Songwriters Hall of Fame, he's also been inducted into the Nashville Hall of Fame. There's a new album that pays tribute to him by singer Michael Feinstein, 'One Life' (Concord Records). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Harriet Tubman: The Road to Freedom' (Little, Brown & Co.) by Catherine Clinton. (3.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews the collection 'The Rough Guide to the Music of Morocco' (world music network label).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Founder, conductor and artistic director of the EOS Orchestra, JONATHAN SHEFFER. The orchestration, based in New York city, is known for the diversity of it's musical program, as well as rediscovering neglected works. They've performed works by Wagner, George Gershwin, Franz Schubert, Philip Glass, and Paul Bowles. The Orchestra has released a number of CDS. In March the orchestra will perform the U.S. Premiere of Jonathan Dove's adaptation of Wagner's The Valkyrie. (2.) Pulitzer-prize winning journalist DAVID SHIPLER. His new book is 'The Working Poor: Invisible in America.' SHIPLER is a former reporter for the New York Times. He's also written for The New Yorker, the Washington Post, and the Los Angeles Times. He's the author of the three books. One of them 'Arab and Jews: Wounded Spirits in a Promised Land' won the Pulitzer Prize.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist RICHARD COHEN. He's a former senior producer for CBS News and CNN with three Emmys to his credit. For the past thirty years he's lived with multiple sclerosis, even continuing to work in a war zone shortly after the diagnosis and with failing eye sight. He's written a new memoir, 'Blindsided: Lifting a Life Above Illness/A Reluctant Memoir.' (HarperCollins).COHEN is the wife of Meredith Vieira (host of ABC's The View and the syndicated Who Wants To Be a Millionaire). They have three children. (2.) Journalist JOHN DINGES. His new book investigates Operation Condor, the secret alliance between six Latin American Military Dictatorships in the 1970's. It was formed to track down the regimes' enemies and assassinate them. DINGES is former managing editor of NPR News, and has written for the Washington Post and Time. He teaches journalism at Columbia University. His book is called 'The Condor Years: How Pinochet and his Allies Brought Terrorism to Three Continents.'

Interview with Harvey Pekar; Interview with Paul Giamatti; Commentary on Valentine's Day; Review of the film "50 first dates." February 13, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825685].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Underground comic book writer HARVEY PEKAR ('PEE-car') and his wife JOYCE BRABNER. PEKAR has been described as 'working-class Everyman,' and 'first-class curmudgeon.' In 1976 he published the first in a series of comic books about his mundane life as a V.A. hospital clerk, and record collector in Cleveland. It was called 'American Splendor,' and he's continued to publish them since. In 1987 one of them earned him an American Book Award. (Pekar doesn't do the drawings himself; R. Crumb illustrated some). Last year's acclaimed film 'American Splendor' is based on PEKAR's life; he and his wife also appear in the film, out now on DVD. It's been nominated for an Oscar for Best Screenplay. This interview was first broadcast August 4, 2003. (2.) Actor PAUL GIAMATTI ('jah-MAH-tee'). He plays Harvey Pekar in 'American Splendor,' out now on DVD. Giamatti's film credits include 'Planet of the Apes,' 'Big Momma's House,' 'Saving Private Ryan,' and 'The Truman Show,' among many others. He has also appeared in numerous TV shows. This interview was first broadcast February 5, 2003. (3.) A commentary about Valentine's Day by HARVEY PEKAR. This was originally broadcast on WKSU in Kent, Ohio. (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews '50 First Dates,' the new romantic comedy starring Adam Sandler and Drew Barrymore.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Record producer RICK RUBIN. He worked with Johnny Cash for the last ten years of Cash's life, collaborating on four critically acclaimed, and Grammy award winning albums ('American Recordings,' 'Unchained,' 'American III: Solitary Man,' and 'American IV: The Man Comes Around.') At the time of Cash's death they were collaborating on a fifth album which collects many unreleased tracks from those previous sessions, as well as a best of CD. It comprises the 5 CD box set 'Unearthed.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE ENTIRE SHOW).

Interview with Gregory Boyle; Review of Dan Reeder's new album "Dan Reeder." February 17, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502582].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) FATHER GREG BOYLE. He is a Jesuit Priest who has worked with gangs in East Los Angeles since 1986. He was originally supposed to work with the Dolores Mission there for a six-year term, but when the time came to leave, the community revolted and he was allowed to stay. He's received national acclaim for his work helping the people he works with to find jobs and quality schooling.(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new CD by newcomer Dan Reeder. It's called 'Dan Reeder' (on the Ohboy Records label).

Interview with Dana Milbank; Interview with Mark Katz. February 18, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502826].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) White House Correspondent for the Washington Post, DANA MILBANK. He covered the last presidential campaign and the aftermath, and wrote the book, 'Smashmouth: Two years in the Gutter with Al Gore and George W. Bush.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Speechwriter and humorist MARK KATZ. He was the in-house humor writer of the Clinton White House. He's written the new memoir, 'Clinton & Me: A Real Life Political Comedy' (Miramax books).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JANE MAYER is a staff writer for The New Yorker. She'll discuss Vice President Dick Cheney and Halliburton, where he was chief executive for five years. Halliburton is the world's largest oil-and-gas-services company, and is now the biggest private contractor for American forces in Iraq. MAYER's article 'Contract Sport: What Did the Vice-President do for Halliburton?' is in the current issue of the magazine. (Feb 16 and 23rd issue). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews Norah Jones's second album 'Feels Like Home' on the jazz label Blue Note.

---

Interview with Errol Morris; Commentary on the origins of the word 'thug' and 'assassin;' Interview with Nathaniel Kahn; Review of the last episode of "Sex and the city." February 20, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502825].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker ERROL MORRIS. His new documentary, 'The Fog of War,' is a profile of the man many considered to be the architect of the Vietnam conflict, Robert McNamara. It's been nominated for an Oscar for Best Documentary Feature. Taken from a series of interviews MORRIS conducted with McNamara, it yields new insights into the mind of the former Secretary of Defense. MORRIS' other films include 'The Thin Blue Line,' 'Vernon, Florida,' 'Gates of Heaven,' and 'Fast, Cheap, and Out of Control.' He's also done a number of commercials; his clients include Apple, Nike, Miller High Life, and PBS. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (REBROADCAST from 1/5/04) (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the phrase 'thugs and assassins' often used by President Bush. (3.)Documentary filmmaker NATHANIEL KAHN. His documentary 'My Architect' about his father the great architect Louis Kahn, has been nominated for an Academy Award. It's an account of NATHANIEL's encounter with his father's double life? Louis Kahn was married with a daughter, and had two other children by two different mistresses. It also explores his father's work, with interviews from his peers, including Frank Gehry and I.M. Pei. (4.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews the final episode of HBO's 'Sex and the City.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pulitzer Prize winning journalist STEVE COLL. He is managing editor of The Washington Post. He's the author of the new book, 'Ghost Wars: The Secret History of the CIA, Afghanistan, and Bin Laden, from the Soviet Invasion to September 10, 2001.' (Penguin) COLL previously covered Afghanistan for the Post and was the paper's South Asia bureau chief between 1989 and 1992. He won the Pulitzer in 1990 for explanatory journalism. (2.) Filmmaker SOFIA COPPOLA. She wrote and directed the film 'Lost in Translation.' It's up for four Academy awards, including Best Director and Best Picture. The film stars Bill Murray and Scarlett Johansson as two Americans visiting Tokyo. Sofia Coppola is the daughter of filmmaker Francis Ford Coppola.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Television correspondent RICHARD ENGEL. His new book is 'A Fist in the Hornet's Nest: On the Ground in Baghdad Before, During and After the War.' Engel is a correspondent for NBC news and works out of the Baghdad bureau. He has worked for Public Radio International, the BBC, and ABC, and Voice of America. (2.) Religion historian MARTIN MARTY is one of the foremost authorities on religion and society. He is the Fairfax M. Cone Distinguished Service Professor Emeritus at the University of Chicago, where he taught for over thirty-five years. His new book is a biography of Martin Luther one of the leading figures of the Protestant Reformation. The book is 'Martin Luther' (Penguin Lives). MARTY is also the author of a five volume work on religion in the 20th century. (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new DVD of the film 'My Fair Lady.'

Description of show segment(s)

(2.) Filmmaker JOHN WATERS. He was once crowned the 'The Pope of Trash' by William Burroughs. His 1988 film 'Hairspray' was made into a Tony award-winning Broadway musical. WATERS started photographing video stills off his television screen that became the raw material for his artwork. Many of those are collected in his new book 'John Waters: Change of Life' (Harry Abrams Inc.) He also has his first major museum exhibit of the same name at the New Museum of Contemporary Art in New York City (Feb 8-April 18, 2004) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews Mel Gibson's 'the Passion of the Christ.'

Interview with Steven Johnson; Review of Jefferson Airplane's first four albums; Review of the television show ?The Apprentice.? February 26, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503740].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist STEVEN JOHNSON. He's the author of the new book, 'Mind Wide Open: Your Brain and the Neuroscience of Everyday Life' (Scribner). He writes the monthly 'Emerging Technology' column for Discover and is contributing editor at Wired. His work as appeared in The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, The Nation, The New Yorker, Harper's, and The Guardian. JOHNSON is also the author 'Emergence: The Connected Lives of Ants, Brains, Cities, and Software' which was named as a finalist for the 2002 Helen Bernstein Award for Excellence in Journalism. (2.) Rock historian ED WARD looks back at the Jefferson Airplane. Their first four albums have just been re-mastered and re-released. (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI looks at 'The Apprentice,' the NBC reality show. After all other contestants are eliminated, the winner gets to work as a corporate president for Donald Trump.
Interview with Diane Keaton; Interview with Bill Murray February 27, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503743].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress DIANE KEATON. She's been nominated for an Academy Award in the category of Leading Actress in the film 'Something's Gotta Give.' She's probably best known for her work in many Woody Allen films, including 'Annie Hall,' for which she won an Oscar. She was also in the Godfather films. She's behind the camera, too, as a film director, producer and writer.(Original airdate: 1/2/97) (2.) Actor BILL MURRAY. He's Oscar nominated for Best Actor in the film 'Lost in Translation.' Murray, originally a Second City alum, got his start as an original cast member on Saturday Night Live. Notable film appearances include 'The Royal Tenenbaums,' 'Kingpin,' 'Groundhog Day,' 'Ghostbusters' and 'Caddyshack.' We replay two interviews. (Original airdates: 5/13/91 and 2/3/99)

Interview with Stephen Quinn; Interview with Larry Campbell; Interview with Fiona Gold. March 1, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884298].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Reporter STEPHEN QUINN. He'll us about Vancouver, Canada's new program to provide clean needles and a safe injection site for heroin addicts. The idea is to prevent HIV, hepatitis and other bloodborne disease transmission. The program is controversial, since people say providing a place to shoot up encourages drug use. He'll also talk about the politics surrounding the program. Quinn works for the CBC, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. (2.) Vancouver Mayor LARRY CAMPBELL. He'll explain how the site was set up in an area known for its addicts, and the program's success is consistent with similar operations in Europe. (3.) Vancouver nurse FIONA GOLD. She works on the streets near the safe injection site assisting addicts. From her perspective, preventing HIV and STDs is such an important task that it overshadows addiction issues. Two days a week, Gold walks the streets of Vancouver, handing out clean needles to addicts shooting up in alleyways. She also treats infections related to needle use.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer and director DAVID CHASE. He created the HBO hit series "The Sopranos." The show begins its fifth season this Sunday and picks up where it left off with the separation of Tony Soprano and his wife Carmela. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews "The Complete Verve Roy Eldridge Sessions" on the mail-order Mosaic label. The Box set includes seven CDs. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the new novel "The Birth of Venus" (Random House) by Sarah Dunant ("Do-nant").

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker GREG PAK. He's an award-winning writer and director who has made his first feature film, 'Robot Stories.' It tells four stories of love between humans and robots. It has won over 23 awards. Previously PAK made a number of very short films including, 'Asian Pride Porn,' 'Cat Fight Tonight,' 'Fighting Grandpa,' and 'Mr. Lee.' (2.) DANIEL MATT is a writer and professor of Jewish mysticism at the Center for Jewish Studies, Graduate Theological Union in Berkely, CA. He taught at the Graduate Theological Union for nearly 20 years.? He's translated the new book 'The Zohar: Pritzker, Vol. 1' (Stanford University Press). His other published works include 'God and the Big Bang' and "Varieties of Mystical Nothingness: Jewish, Christian, and Buddhist." (3.) Critic MILO MILES reviews 'Punk Rock' (Quarterstick label) the new record by the Mekons, recorded during their 2002 tour.
Interview with Kathie Klarreich; Interview with Amy Wilentz. March 4, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825680].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) KATHIE KLARREICH ('Clare-RICH') is a freelance writer who has covered Haiti for over 15 years. She worked as a freelance writer in Haiti from 1988 to 1998. She is a Christian Science Monitor stringer and op-ed writer - and is currently reporting for Time Magazine. She'll talk to us from Port au Prince. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Journalist AMY WILENTZ ('WILL-entz'). She has reported on Haiti for a number of years and is the author of the book 'The Rainy Season: Haiti Since Duvalier' (1990, paperback). She also edited and translated the book 'In the Parish of the Poor: Writings from Haiti' by deposed president Jean-Bertrand Aristide. WILENTZ is a contributing editor for The Nation, and a former associate professor of journalism at Columbia University.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Artist CHUCK CLOSE. He's been called "the most methodical artist that has ever lived in America" and the "reigning portraitist of the Information Age." He creates jumbo size faces on canvas (8 or 9 feet high), copying them from photographs. They are painted in a dotted faux pointillist style. In 1989 CLOSE suffered a stroke which left him paralyzed from the neck down, gaining partial use of his hand with a brace, he learned to paint all over again. There's currently a retrospective of his print work exhibited at The Museum of Modern Art in New York: "Chuck Close Prints: Process and Collaboration" (Jan 13-April 18, 2004). It collects some of his work from 1972-2002. (REBROADCAST from 4/14/98) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Starsky & Hutch.' (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'The Sopranos' which begins its fifth season on Sunday.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer JAMES MANN. His new book is 'The Rise of the Vulcans: The History of Bush's War Cabinet.' Mann traces the relationships between Donald Rumsfeld, Dick Cheney, Colin Powell, Paul Wolfowitz and Condoleezza Rice. The group calls itself 'The Vulcans.' Some of its members have known each other 30 years. MANN is a former correspondent for the Los Angeles Times. (2.) ROBERT WEIDE ('WHY-dee'), executive producer and writer of HBO's 'Curb Your Enthusiasm.' The show stars Larry David as himself. David is the co-creator of 'Seinfeld.' One reviewer calls Curb Your Enthusiasm 'a comedy of hostility, resentment, paranoia and obsessiveness.' The show is currently in its fourth season.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Religion Scholar KAREN ARMSTRONG. When she decided to leave the Roman Catholic Convent where she was a nun in 1969, she entered a world vastly different than the one she had been isolated from for seven years. She had no idea what was going on in Vietnam and had little idea who The Beatles were. She's written a new memoir, 'The Spiral Staircase: My Climb Out of Darkness' (Knopf, 2004), about her life in the convent and the spiritual quest that followed. Her other books include 'The Battle for God' (Knopf, 2000) and 'A History of God' (Gramercy, 2004). (This interview continues into the second half of the show.) (2.) Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS comments on the verdict handed down on the Martha Stewart securities case.

Interview with Thomas Reed; Review of three books on New York. March 10, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503254].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Secretary of the Air Force THOMAS REED. His new book is 'At the Abyss: An Insider's History of the Cold War.' Reed recounts America's fight against communism at the height of the cold war. Reed was Director of National Reconnaissance, a Special Assistant to President Reagan for National Security Policy, and a consultant to the Director of Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory, a well-known center for nuclear weapons research. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews three books about life in New York City: Love Monkey by Kyle Smith (Morrow), Work and Other Sins: Life in New York City and Thereabouts by Charlie LeDuff (Penguin Press), and Waterfront: A Journey Around Manhattan by Phillip Lopate (Crown).

Interview with Dick Waterman; Interview with Mark Vargas. March 11, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884869].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Blues historian DICK WATERMAN. His new book is 'Between Midnight and Day: The Last Unpublished Blues Archive.' (Thunders Mouth Press) It is a large format book with photos and text by Waterman. In the early 1960s, Waterman became interested in traditional blues music. He rediscovered blues legend Son House living in Rochester, NY. Waterman then formed Avalon Productions, the first agency dedicated to promoting blue artists. Waterman managed many acts, including Bonnie Raitt. He's been representing and photographing blues artists for over 40 years. He is the only non-performer to be indicted into the Blues Hall of Fame. (2.) Former Green Beret MARK VARGAS. He's now the Area Security Manager for KBR, a division of Halliburton, a private military firm. VARGAS has been stationed in Tikrit, Iraq for the past year. He'll tell us about the capture of Saddam Hussein, which took place in Tikrit. Vargas is a retired Command Sergeant Major of the U.S. Special Forces. He's written the foreword to the new book 'Hunting Down Saddam: the Inside Story of the Search and Capture,' by Robin Moore.

Interview with Tim LaHaye; Interview with Gershom Gorenberg; Interview with Paul Winfield; Review of the film "Spartan." March 12, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503252].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist TIM LAHAYE. The Left Behind series of books is a publishing phenomenon. Lahaye is the co-author of the extremely popular series. On March 30, the 12th and final book in the series, "The Glorious Appearing,' goes on sale. The entire initial print run of nearly 2 million copies has already been snapped up by bookstores in anticipation of demand. LAHAYE is also the former co-chairman of Jack Kemp's presidential campaign, was on the original board of directors of the Moral Majority and an organizer of the Council for National Policy which has been called 'the most powerful conservative organization in America you've never heard of.' (Original airdate: 10/28/02) (2.) Journalist GERSHOM GORENBERG is an associate editor and columnist for The Jerusalem Report and a regular contributor to The New Republic. He's the author of 'The End of Days: Fundamentalism and the Struggle for the Temple Mount' (in paperback, Oxford University Press) (Original airdate: 10/28/02) (3.) We remember actor PAUL WINFIELD. He was nominated for an Academy Award for Best Actor for his role in "Sounder." He appeared in many television shows, and was a voice on The Simpsons. He died at age 62 of a heart attack. (Original airdate: 4/26/89) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews Spartan, the new thriller written and directed by David Mamet.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer SAM KASHNER. His new memoir is called 'When I was Cool: My Life at the Jack Kerouac School.' (Harper Collins) As a teenager, Kashner left his comfortable suburban life on Long Island, New York and became the first student to attend the Jack Kerouac School of Disembodied Poetics in Boulder, Colorado. Kasher's teachers were the great beat writers William Burroughs, Allan Ginsberg, Gregory Corso and Kerouac. Kashner is also the author of a novel, 'Sinatraland,' as well as three non-fiction books. He is a regular contributor to Vanity Fair. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Physicist BRIAN GREENE. With his book 'The Elegant Universe' he developed a reputation for explaining complex scientific theories with insight and clarity. The book was the basis of a PBS series.
His new book is, 'The Fabric of the Cosmos: Space, Time, and the Texture of Reality' (Knopf) GREENE is a professor of physics and mathematics at Columbia University. He received his undergraduate degree from Harvard and his doctorate from Oxford, where he was a Rhodes Scholar. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews some silent musical scores by the Alloy Orchestra. They write and perform new music for silent films. LLOYD looks at their scores for the Buster Keaton films, 'The General,' and 'Steamboat Bill, Jr.' (on DVD, Image Entertainment).

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former director of the UN Inspection Commission HANS BLIX. In his new book, 'Disarming Iraq' (Pantheon Books), BLIX writes about what happened in the months leading up to the war in Iraq last year. BLIX has been named chairman of the newly formed International Commission on Weapons of Mass Destruction, which began its work in January 2004. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the use of profanity. (3.) Rock historian ED WARD remembers Dimension Records that showcased the demos of such songwriters as Gerry Goffin and Carole King.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) OLIVIA HARRISON is the widow of George Harrison, the former Beatle. The two were married for 24 years. Harrison died in December 2001. Before his death, he began working on his Dark Horse catalogue (1976-1992), his entire body of work, plus unreleased demos. The box set (on Capitol Records) includes six albums as well as a DVD of seven restored music videos. Just this week Harrison was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) MARIN ALSOP is the principal conductor of the Bournemouth Symphony Orchestra.
Orchestra in Britain. She was the first woman ever to be named principal conductor of a major British orchestra. Since 1993, Alsop has also been music director of the Colorado Symphony, where her programming won several national awards. She has had guest appearances with many orchestras including the Los Angeles Philharmonic, Philadelphia Orchestra, San Francisco Symphony and the symphony orchestras of Toronto, Atlanta, Houston, Cincinnati and Indianapolis. She was a protégé of Leonard Bernstein. Her newest recording with the Bournemouth Symphony Orchestra is Bernstein: Chichester Psalms, etc.

Interview with Mercedes McCambridge; Review of the television series "Deadwood;" Interview with Thomas Keneally; Review of the film "Eternal sunshine of the spotless mind.? March 19, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825801].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We remember actress MERCEDES MCCAMBRIDGE. She died March 2nd at the age of 87. MCCAMBRIDGE chilled audiences in the 1970's as the voice of the Devil in "The Exorcist". She won an Academy Award for her first film role -- in 1949 for "All the King's Men". She also starred with Joan Crawford in Nicholas Ray's western, 'Johnny Guitar.' (REBROADCAST from 1981). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'Deadwood' the new TV series ? a Western -- on HBO by writer David Milch who brought us 'NYPD Blue' and 'Hill Street Blues.' (3.) Australian writer THOMAS KENEALLY. His 1982 novel "Schindler's List" was adapted into a film by Steven Speilberg in 1993. Now there's a special edition of Speilberg's "Schindler's List" on DVD. His new book is 'The Tyrant's Novel.' (4.) Film critic DAVID EDLESTEIN reviews 'Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind' starring Jim Carrey and Kate Winslet.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We begin a two-day tribute to writer, actor and monologist Spalding Gray. On March 7th he was found dead in the East River in New York after a two month disappearance. Gray was 62. He was best known for his autobiographical monologues including 'Swimming to Cambodia,' 'Monster in a Box,' and
'It's a Slippery Slope.' Over the last ten years he was a frequent guest on Fresh Air. We talk about Spalding with his widow KATHIE RUSSO and with his friend, ROBBY STEIN. We begin first with ROBBY STEIN. (2.) KATHIE RUSSO, widow of Spalding Gray. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).
Iraq.' CLARKE also worked for the Reagan Administration and the first Bush administration. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and songwriter NEIL YOUNG. He calls his latest project a musical novel. It comprises a new CD 'Greendale,' (Reprise) a 10 song cycle with his band Crazy Horse, set in a fictional California seaside town. YOUNG also shot a feature film version of the CD on Super 8, which made the film festival circuit and goes into wider distribution in April. As well, there is a DVD, 'Inside Greendale,' which includes in-studio footage of the band and scenes from the film. Over the years, YOUNG has made excursions into country, blues, electro, rockabilly, and soul. Early in his career, he formed the Buffalo Springfield with Stephen Stills. He was then part of Crosby Stills Nash and Young, which eventually morphed into Crosby, Stills and Nash when YOUNG embarked a solo career. (2.) TV producer and writer DAVID MILCH. (rhymes with 'filch') He is the creator, executive producer and head writer of the new H-B-O series 'Deadwood,' a Western drama set in the Black Hills of South Dakota. Milch left a teaching job at Yale University to go to Hollywood and work on the show Hill Street Blues. He also worked on NYPD Blue, for which he won two Emmys. Milch is a former heroin addict and alcoholic.

Interview with Paul Feig; Interview with Judd Apatow; Interview with George Pelecanos; Review of the film "Dogville." March 26, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503500].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) PAUL FEIG ('feeg') is the creator of the now defunct TV comedy series 'Freaks and Geeks.' He's also the author of the book 'Kick Me: Adventures in Adolescence' (paperback, Three Rivers Press). FEIG was an actor before moving on to writing for TV and film. (Original broadcast: 10/3/02) (2.) Writer/producer JUDD APATOW (pronounced AAH-puh-tao). He's worked on the shows 'Life on Parole' and 'Undeclared.' Apatow also worked on the Emmy award winners 'Freaks and Geeks' and 'The Ben Stiller Show.' He was a writer for 'The Larry Sanders Show.' He began as a stand-up comic and wrote jokes for Roseanne, Jim Carrey and Garry Shandling. 'Freaks and Geeks' was on the air for less than a year, but it developed a cult following and is coming out on DVD on April 6, 2004. (Original airdate: 11/19/01) (3.) Crime novelist GEORGE PELECANOS. His new novel is "Hard Revolution." It's set in Washington DC in 1968, during the riots sparked by Martin Luther King's assassination. PELECANOS is also the author of "Right as Rain," "Soul Circus," "Hell to Pay," "Sweet Forever," "King Suckerman," "The Big Blowdown," "Down By the River Where Dead Men Go," "Shoedog," "Nick's Trip," and "A Firing Offense." (Original airdate: 8/25/98) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Dogville' by director Lars Von Trier.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) NASA Astronomer STEVEN SQUYRES ('Squires'). He's the principal scientific investigator for the twin rovers Spirit and Opportunity on Mars. The two landed on the surface of Mars in January, and are helping astronomers to determine whether or not there was life on the planet. SQUYRES will talk about the many gadgets they created to work on Mars, and what it's like working on 'Mars time.' SQUYRES is also a professor of astronomy at Cornell University. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new solo album by Graham Parker, 'Your Country.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Part two of our interview with singer and songwriter NEIL YOUNG. He calls his latest project a musical novel. It comprises a new CD 'Greendale,' (Reprise) a 10 song cycle with his band Crazy Horse, set in a fictional California seaside town. YOUNG also shot a feature film version of the CD on Super 8, which made the film festival circuit and goes into wider distribution in April. As well, there is a DVD, 'Inside Greendale,' which includes in-studio footage of the band and scenes from the film. Over the years, YOUNG has made excursions into country, blues, electro, rockabilly, and soul. Early in his career, he formed the Buffalo Springfield with Stephen Stills. He was then part of Crosby Stills Nash and Young, which eventually morphed into Crosby, Stills and Nash when YOUNG embarked on a solo career. (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the new updated versions of classic Nancy Drew novels (by Simon & Schuster).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) KAREN HUGHES was counselor to President George W. Bush until she stepped down to spend more time with her family. She also ran his presidential campaign and was his communications director during his stint as governor of Texas. Now she's back advising the President on his re-election campaign. HUGHES has written the new memoir, 'Ten Minutes from Normal' (Viking Press). (2.) Rock historian ED WARD on the history of African-American musicians in Nashville. He plays music from 'Night Train to Nashville' a double CD put out by the Country Music Hall of Fame (in conjunction with a Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum Show).

Interview with John Dominic Crossan; Commentary on the word "infoganda." April 1, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503340].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Professor Emeritus of biblical studies at DePaul University in Chicago JOHN DOMINIC CROSSAN (CROSS-in). A native of Ireland, and ordained as a priest in the U.S., he left the Priesthood in 1969. CROSSAN is a founding member of the Jesus Seminar, a group of scholars who meet to determine the authenticity of Jesus' sayings in the Gospels. CROSSAN wrote the books, "Jesus: A Revolutionary Biography," "The Historical Jesus," "Who Killed Jesus: Exposing the Roots of Anti-Semitism in the Gospel Story of The Death of Jesus." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on 'infoganda.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Composer HENRY MANCINI who's famous for his movie scores for "The Pink Panther," "Breakfast at Tiffany's," and "The Days of Wine and Roses".....and for his tv themes for "Peter Gunn," "Newhart" and "Remington Steele." Mancini has won four Academy awards and 20 Grammys. (REBROADCAST from 1994). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Hellboy' the new action film based on the Dark Horse comic books by Mike Mignola. (3.) The legendary songwriting trio, BRIAN HOLLAND, LAMONT DOZIER, and EDWARD HOLLAND. They wrote many early Motown hits, and helped turn the company into powerhouse. Their songs include 'You Can't Hurry Love,' 'Reach Out I'll Be There,' 'Baby, I Need Your Loving,' 'Heat Wave,' and 'Stop! In the Name of Love.' Their songs were recorded by Diana Ross & The Supremes, Marvin Gaye, the Four Tops, and Martha Reeves & The Vandellas. In 1990 they were inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. LAMONT DOZIER has a new CD, 'Lamont Dozier Reflections of. . .' (Jamright) (REBROADCAST FROM 5/12/03) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE NEXT HALF OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ROBERT SULLIVAN is the author of the critically acclaimed books, 'The Meadowlands' and 'A Whale Hunt.' His new book is 'Rats: Observations on the History & Habitat of the City's Most Unwanted Inhabitants' (Bloomsbury). It's about what he learned when he set out to observe the life of New York's rats. One reviewer writes, 'in prose worthy of Joseph Mitchell, a. . .skittering, scurrying, terrific natural history.' SULLIVAN is a contributing editor to Vogue and a frequent contributor to the New Yorker. His work has also appeared in Conde Nast Traveler and The New Yorker Magazine. (2.) JOHN BARRY has written the new book 'The Great Influenza: The Epic Story of the Deadliest Plague in History' (Viking). In 1918 the influenza virus emerged and in the next year killed millions of people. He writes 'before that world wide pandemic faded away in 1920, it would kill more people than any other outbreak of disease in human history.' Scientists are still trying to figure out why the virus spread so rapidly and killed so efficiently. The story has relevance today as scientists believe we are due for another flu pandemic. BARRY is the author of four other books including 'Rising Tide: The Great Mississippi Flood of 1927 and How It Changed America.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor DON CHEADLE. He's starring in the new film 'The United States of Leland.' His other films include 'Boogie Nights,' 'Ocean's Eleven,' and 'Traffic.' (2.) From Showtime's drama 'The L-Word,' actor JENNIFER BEALS and creator ILENE CHAIKEN (CHAY-kin). BEALS became a star for her role in the 80's dance classic, 'Flashdance.' She's also starred in 'Devil in a Blue Dress,' 'The Last Days of Disco,' and 'The Anniversary Party.' On 'The L-Word,' she plays Bette Porter, a gay art curator. CHAIKEN's previous TV work includes writing 'Damaged Care' and 'Dirty Pictures.' 'The L-Word' wraps up its first season this weekend. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'A Chance Meeting: Intertwined Lives of American Writers and Artists 1854-67' (Random House) by Rachel Cohen. It's a book about friendships between American writers and artists and photographers.

Interview with Paul Roberts; Interview with Paco Underhill; Commentary on Peter Pan as a cultural symbol. April 6, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503374].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) PAUL ROBERTS is the author of the new book, 'The End of Oil: On the Edge of a Perilous New World' (Houghton Mifflin). The demand for oil increases each year, but the supply is not inexhaustible. Experts predict that within thirty years our oil energy sources will be depleted. In his book ROBERTS looks at the implications for the world in terms of the economy, politics, and the environment, and what would be the alternative to oil. ROBERTS writes about the energy industry for Harper's Magazine and for other national publications. (2.) Retail anthropologist PACO UNDERHILL. He studies and tracks the habits of shoppers in order to learn the best way to lead them to make purchases. His retail consulting firm, Envirosell, has helped big-name companies such as McDonald's, Levi Strauss, and Blockbuster to study their customers' browsing and buying habits. He's the author of the book 'Why We Buy,' and the new book 'Call of the Mall' (Simon & Schuster). (3.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS considers the 100th birthday of Peter Pan and our cultural obsession with youth.

Interview with Johanna McGeary; Review of Dave Brubeck's "Time Out" sessions; Commentary on religion and media. April 7, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503522].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Chief foreign correspondent for Time Magazine, JOHANNA MCGEARY. Her article ('Inside Hamas') about the Palestinian group Hamas, appears in the current edition of the magazine. Last week, the Israel military assassinated the group's spiritual leader. (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews a new box set of Dave Brubeck's 'Time Out' albums. (3.) Critic-at-Large JOHN POWERS looks at religion and the media in the wake of public reaction to Mel Gibson's 'The Passion of the Christ.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times Middle East correspondent JAMES BENNET. He'll discuss the situation in the Middle East and the aftermath of the assassination of the founder and spiritual leader of the militant Palestinian group Hamas on March 22nd by the Israeli military. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).
Interview with William Taubman; Interview with Jack Miles; Review of the film 'Alamo;' Commentary on William Argo. April 9, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503343].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) WILLIAM TAUBMAN (pronounced 'Tau' like 'cow') is a Political Science Professor at Amherst College and an expert on Russia. This week he received a Pulitzer Prize for his biography of the Russian ruler Nikita Khrushchev, 'Khrushchev: The Man and His Era' (W.W. Norton). (REBROADCAST from 3/19/03). (2.) Former Jesuit seminarian and literary critic JACK MILES. In 1996 he won a Pulitzer prize for his book, "God: A Biography." (paperback, Vintage). In the book he examines God as a character -- the protagonist -- of the Old Testament. He is currently a contributing editor at The Atlantic Monthly, a director of Trinity Press, and a senior adviser to the president of the J. Paul Getty Trust in Los Angeles. (REBROADCAST from 4/18/96) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Alamo.'

Interview with Ricky Gervais; Interview with Tom Perotta. April 12, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503523].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer, director, and actor RICKY GERVAIS ('GER-vase') of the hit BBC sitcom, 'The Office.' (It can be seen in the U.S. on the BBC America) GERVAIS stars as the self-obsessed middle manager David Brent. The satirical 'The Office' is shot in documentary style and follows the goings-on at a suburban paper company where 'life is stationary.' It was just awarded the prestigious Peabody Award here in the U.S. The second season of 'The Office' is available on DVD this month. (2.) Novelist TOM PERROTTA. His new book 'Little Children' (St. martin's Press) is a satirical take on parenthood and suburbia. One reviewer writes of the book 'it represents a sterling comic contribution to the growing literature of the Bad Mommy and Bad Daddy.' PERROTTA is also the author of the novels 'Joe College' and 'Election' which was made into the 1999 movie of the same name. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Juan Cole; Review of Nellie McKay's new album "Get away from me." April 13, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502898].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JUAN COLE is an authority on modern Islamic movements. He is Professor of Modern Middle East and South Asia History at the University of Michigan. His most recent book is 'Sacred Space and Holy War: The Politics, Culture and History of Shi`ite Islam' (paperback, I.B. Taurus Publishers). The book collects some of his work on the history of the Shiite branch of Islam in Modern Iraq, Iran and the Gulf. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Get Away From Me' the debut album by singer-songwriter Nellie McKay (Mc-EYE).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) NYPD detective EDWARD CONLON. He is the author of the memoir, 'Blue Blood' (Riverhead Books) that begins with his first days on the street as a cop and goes back three generations. His great-grandfather was a an 'officer of dubious integrity: during the Tammany era NYPD. CONLON also wrote the 'Cop Diary' columns in The New Yorker, and is a graduate of Harvard. One reviewer writes, 'No one has written a book that grabs readers by the scruff of the neck and tells them what the life of a cop is really like as well as Edward Conlon. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) KYLE SMITH is book and music review editor at People Magazine. He's making his debut as a novelist with the new book 'Love Monkey' (William Morrow). It's about a 32 year old New Yorker who dares to be 'average' and whose credo is to 'think and act like a thirteen year old boy at all times.' One reviewer writes, 'Love Monkey is laugh-out-loud funny and wildly entertaining.' SMITH is also a Yale graduate and a Gulf War veteran.
Interview with Nancy Cott; Interview with John Witte April 15, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503051].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) NANCY COTT is a Professor of History at Harvard University. She testified before Vermont's judiciary committee. Vermont became the first state in the country to make civil unions legal for gay & lesbian couples. COTT is the author of "Public Vows: A History of Marriage and the Nation" (Harvard University). Vermont became the first state in the country to make civil unions legal for gay couples. (2.) JOHN WITTE, JR. (pronounced "WITTY") is Jonas Robitscher Professor of Law and Ethics, and Director of the Law and Religion Program at Emory University in Atlanta. He is the author of "From Sacrament to Contract: Marriage, Religion, and Law in the Western Tradition" (Westminster John Knox Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) They Might Be Giants band members JOHN LINNELL and JOHN FLANSBURGH. Linnell and Flansburgh have known each other since childhood, and they started They Might Be Giants in Brooklyn, New York. TMBG has released numerous albums, including "Bar None," "Factory Showroom," and a children's record entitled "No!" Their best-of CD is entitled "Dial-a-Song: 20 Years of They Might Be Giants." They have a new EP CD 'Indestructible Object' (Barsuk Records) The band is currently on tour. (REBROADCAST from 11/26/03) (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the final episode of 'The Apprentice.' (3.) Horror film director GEORGE ROMERO. He made his first film, "Night of the Living Dead," on a shoestring budget on the weekends. The film, about a cadre of flesh eating zombies, became a cult classic and a copy is now in the archives of the New York Museum of Modern Art. Romero's subsequent successes included "Dawn of the Dead," "Day of the Dead," "Martin""Creepshow," and "Monkey Shines." Four of his movies have been reissued on video. There's a new remake of 'Dawn of the Dead.' (REBROADCAST from 7/18/88). (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Kill Bill Vol. 2'
Interview with Michael Sokolove; Review of Ian Rankin's "A question of blood" and Andrew Taylor's "An unpardonable crime." Review of debut album by the Eagles of Death Metal called 'Peace love death metal.' April 19, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825816].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MICHAEL SOKOLOVE ('SO-ko-lov') is a contributing writer for the New York Times Magazine. His new book 'The Ticket Out: Darryl Strawberry and the Boys of Crenshaw' (Simon & Schuster) is about the former baseball star whose drug addiction ended his career and the high school team in South Central L.A. that he was once part of. SOKOLOVE calls it 'the greatest assemblage of talent in the whole history of high school baseball.' (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews two new mystery novels: 'An Unpardonable Crime' (Hyperion) by Andrew Taylor, and 'A Question of Blood' (Little, Brown) by Ian Rankin. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the debut album by the Eagles of Death Metal called 'Peace Love Death Metal.' The group's drummer is Josh Homme of the hard-rock band Queens of the Stone Age.

Interview with Shane Sellers; Interview with Ian Johnson; Review of new DVDs ''Kill Bill April 20, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502827].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Thoroughbred racing jockey SHANE SELLERS. He is one of the top jockey's in his profession. His winnings top {dollar}100 million dollars. He's ridden two Breeder's cup winners, and has ridden in fourteen Kentucky Derbys. He is planning to ride in the upcoming Kentucky Derby aboard Cliff's Edge. SHANE SELLERS appears in the upcoming HBO Undercover documentary 'Jockey.' The film delves into the aspects of jockey's lives that are not widely known: the punishing regime of sweating, and purging to make weight minimums, many of them work without contracts, and without health insurance. ('Jockey' debuts on HBO Monday, April 26th at 8:00 PM ET). (2.) Journalist IAN JOHNSON. He is the author of "Wild Grass: Three Stories of Change in Modern China" (Pantheon). In the book, he chronicles the stories of three ordinary Chinese citizens who fought government oppression. They each fought locally but brought about national change. Johnson says economic reforms have created a space for dissent in Chinese culture. Johnson is the Berlin bureau chief for the Wall Street Journal. In 2001, he won the Pulitzer Prize for his reporting on the Falun Gong. (3.) Fresh Air critic-at-large, JOHN POWERS. He reviews two recent DVDs, "Lost in Translation," and "Kill Bill Volume 1."

---

Interview with Bob Woodward; Commentary on blogs. April 21, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502977].

Description of show segment(s)

1. Journalist BOB WOODWARD is a reporter and editor at The Washington Post where he has been for 33 years. His new book 'Plan of Attack' (Simon & Schuster) is a behind the scenes look at how and why the Bush administration decided to wage war in Iraq. WOODWARD interviewed over 70 government officials for the book, including the President and Colin Powell. WOODWARD is the author of a number of bestselling books including his last book, 'Bush at War' and his first, 'All the President's Men' written in 1974 with Carl Bernstein about Watergate. (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on blogging.

---

Interview with David Klinger; Review of the film "Point;" Interview with Tareque Masud; Review of Bill Charlap's new CD titled "Somewhere April 22, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502979].

Description of show segment(s)

1. Criminologist DAVID KLINGER. Four months after he became a Los Angeles police officer, he shot and killed a suspect. Now he's a professor at the University of Missouri. He's just written a book about deadly force?how and why it is used, how cops train to avoid using it, and how it effects the policeman who uses it. It's called 'Into the Kill Zone: A Cop's Eye View of Deadly Force' (Jossey-Bass, 2004). (2.) Music critic MILO MILES looks the 1971 animated feature 'The Point.' Pop musician Harry Nilsson wrote the story and the songs. It's just been released on DVD (BMG). (3.) Filmmaker TAREQUE MASUD. His new film, 'The Clay Bird,' is set in 1960s Pakistan, before Bangladesh gained its independence in 1971. It tells the story of Anu, a student torn between Muslim and Hindu worlds. MASUD spent much of his youth in an Islamic seminary school in Bangladesh before the war for independence. He is a founding member of the Short Film Forum, the main organization for alternative filmmakers in Bangladesh. (4.) Jazz Critic
KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new CD from pianist Bill Charlap?'Somewhere: Songs of Leonard Bernstein' (Blue Note).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer, songwriter, musician and arranger BARRY MANILOW. He made the pop charts over and over again during the 1970s and early 80s with his love ballads like 'Mandy,' 'Looks Like We Made It,' 'I Write the Songs,' and 'Copacabana (At the Copa).' Before becoming a singer he was Bette Midler's accompanist and arranger. He has a new CD, 'Barry Manilow: 2 Nights Live' and a DVD, 'Ultimate Manilow.' (REBROADCAST from 3/21/02) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN on the new film 'Man on Fire' starring Denzel Washington, and on revenge films in general.

Interview with Guy Maddin; Commentary on George Balanchine. April 26, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503138].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Canadian filmmaker GUY MADDIN. He's best known for his cult films 'Tales From the Gimli Hospital,' (1998) and 'Careful' (1992). His short film 'The Heart of the World' (2000) won a special award from the National Society of Film Critics and was voted one of the ten best films of the year by J. Hoberman of the Village Voice and A.O. Scott of the New York Times. His new film 'The Saddest Music in The World' stars Isabella Rossellini as a beer baroness in search of the saddest music in the world. It also stars Mark Kinney, best known for his work with the Kids in the Hall. The film is a Depression era musical shot mostly in black and white. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the material of choreographer George Balanchine available on DVD and CD. This year marks the 100th anniversary of Balanchine's birth.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ANTHONY SHADID (sha-DEED) is Islamic affairs correspondent for the Washington Post. For over a year now he has reported from Baghdad and has just returned to the U.S. SHADID also just received the Pulitzer Prize for international reporting. Before working for the Post, he was a correspondent at The Boston Globe's Washington bureau. He spent nine years with The Associated Press, five of them in Cairo. He is the author of "Legacy of the Prophet: Despots, Democrats, and the New Politics of Islam." In the spring of 2002, he was shot by Israeli troops in Ramallah while covering a story for the Globe. (2.) Book Critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'A Song I Knew By Heart' (Random House, 2004), the new novel by Bret Lott.

Interview with Tina Fey; Obituary for Hubert Selby. April 28, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503052].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian, writer and actress TINA FEY. She wrote the screenplay for the new movie "Mean Girls." Its based on the book, "Queen Bees and Wannabes," by Rosalind Wiseman. Fey also co-stars in the film, along with Lindsay Lohan, Tim Meadows, Amy Poehler, and Ana Gasteyer. Fey is co-head writer and writing supervisor for "Saturday Night Live." She is the show's first female head writer. She also co-hosts SNL's Weekend Update. She and the writing staff won an Emmy Award for their work in 2002. Before SNL, Fey wrote and performed for the Famed Second City in Chicago. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Writer HUBERT SELBY, Jr. He died Monday at the age of 75. In 1964, his book "Last Exit To Brooklyn," (Grove Press) shocked readers with its salty language and explicit portrayal of prostitutes, thugs, ex-cons, and striking dock workers along the Brooklyn waterfront in the 1950's. Selby's other books included "The Room," "Requiem for a Dream," "The Willow Tree" and "Waiting Period." (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 5/4/90)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RANEY ARONSON is the producer, writer and director of the new PBS Frontline documentary, 'The Jesus Factor' (April 29th, at 9 PM on many stations). It examines President Bush's evangelical Christian faith, how he became a born-again Christian and the impact it has on his politics. And WAYNE SLATER, Austin bureau chief of the Dallas Morning News. He's followed Bush's political career, and appears in the documentary. He is also the author of the book, 'Bush's Brain: How Karl Rove Made George W. Bush President.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) DR. RICHARD LAND is president of the Southern Baptist Convention’s Ethics & Religious Liberty Commission. He and President Bush share the same evangelical faith.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress LISA KUDROW is best known for her role on the popular NBC sitcom 'Friends,' now down to it's final episode. She was also in the films 'Romy and Michele's High School Reunion,' 'Wonderland,' and 'Analyze This,' and notable TV guest appearances include voiceovers for 'The Simpsons' and 'Blue's Clues.' The final episode of 'Friends' airs on Thursday, May 6th. (REBROADCAST from 10/20/03)LISA KUDROW cont’d. (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Musicology' (Columbia) the new recording by Prince. (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Mean Girls.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist DOUGLAS FARAH (FAIR-a). While the Washington Post's bureau chief in West Africa in 2001, Douglas Farah discovered al-Qaeda's diamond smuggling operations there. His coverage for the Post angered his hosts in West Africa and embarrassed US intelligence officials. Forced to leave Africa and to defend his findings back in the US, Farah continued his investigation. He's just published a book, "Blood from Stones: The Secret Financial Network of Terror," that details his findings. (2.) Writer, Journalist, and former editor LYNNE TRUSS. Her book "Eats, Shoots, and Leaves"(Gotham Books), a best seller in the UK, is a narrative history of punctuation. Truss claims that with the advent of e-mail and text messaging, proper punctuation is an endangered species. Truss is also the author of three novels and numerous radio comedy dramas. She has been a television critic and sports columnist for the Times (London). She also won Columnist of the Year award for her work for Women's Journal. She now reviews books for the Sunday Times London.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) BOB EDWARDS, former host of NPR's 'Morning Edition.' He stepped down from the position just last week and is now a Senior Correspondent for NPR. He's the author of the new book, 'Edward R. Murrow: and the Birth of Broadcast Journalism' (Turning Points). EDWARDS also is the author of 'Fridays with Red about his radio friendship with legendary sportscaster Red Barber. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the new DVD collection The Best of Abbott and Costello (on Universal) which collects eight of their films.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Child psychiatrist FRED VOLKMAR, M.D.. He is a leading researcher in Asperger's Syndrome. Asperger's Syndrome is generally considered to be a form of autism characterized primarily by deficits in social interaction and non-verbal communication. In the early 1990's, VOLKMAR led the team that helped develop the definition of autism used by the American Psychiatric Association. He is the Irving B. Harris Professor of Child Psychiatry, Pediatrics, and Psychology at the Yale University Child
Study Center. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.)

MICHAEL JOHN CARLEY. CARLEY is the executive director of GRASP, The Global and Regional Asperger Syndrome Partnership. In 2000, he and his then 4-year-old son were diagnosed with Asperger's Syndrome. GRASP works to educate the public about the disorder.

Review of the television series "Friends;" Interview with Kelsey Grammer; Interview with David Pierce; Interview with Christopher Lloyd; Review of the film "Super Size me." May 7, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973811372].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Television critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews last night's series finale of the hit NBC sitcom
'Friends,' and looks at the history of series finales. (2.) Actor KELSEY GRAMMER. He plays the title character of NBC's 'Frasier,' which has its season finale on Thursday. The character originated on another hit show, 'Cheers.' GRAMMER got his start in classical theatre, but he's now best known for his comic gifts. (3.) Actor DAVID HYDE PIERCE. He plays Niles Krane on 'Frasier,' a role for which he won an Emmy. Pierce has also appeared in many films, including "Bright Lights, Big City," "Little Man Tate,"
"The Fisher King," "Crossing Delancy," "Sleepless in Seattle, and "Nixon." He was recently the voice of Abe Sapien in 'Hellboy.' (4.) 'Frasier' executive producer CHRISTOPHER LLOYD. The show made its debut in 1993. It won many awards, including a Peabody. (5.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new documentary 'Super Size Me.'

Interview with James T. Patterson; Interview with Jack Greenberg. May 10, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825885].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian JAMES T. PATTERTSON. His book 'Brown v. Board of Education: A Civil Rights Milestone and its Trouble Legacy' (Oxford, 2002) looks at the historic Supreme Court case and its aftermath. He also wrote 'Grand Expectations: The United States 1945-1974' (Oxford, 1996). (2.) Civil Rights Lawyer JACK GREENBERG. In 1949, when he was 24, GREENBERG joined the Inc. Fund, as the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund was then known. He worked on some of the most important civil rights cases, including representing Martin Luther King Jr. and winning him the right to march from Selma to Montgomery. He also led the Fund's campaigns to help integrate the University of Alabama and the University of Mississippi. With others, he tried the Delaware and Topeka cases Brown v. Board of Education. His memoir and history of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund is called 'Crusaders in the Courts: Legal Battles of the Civil Rights Movement' (Twelve Tables, 2004). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) PETER SINGER is a security analyst at The Brookings Institution. He's the author of the book, 'Corporate Warriors: The Rise of the Privatized Military Industry' (Cornell University Press). He'll discuss the use of private military contractors in Iraq, especially in light of the abuses at the Abu Ghraib prison where civilian military contractors were involved in interrogations. SINGER is an Olin Fellow in the Foreign Policy Studies Program at the Brookings Institution and Coordinator of the Brookings Project on U.S. Policy towards the Islamic World. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JOE WILSON is a former career diplomat. He served from 1976 to 1998. He had diplomatic posts throughout Africa and was ambassador to Gabon. Wilson was the acting ambassador to Baghdad when Iraq invaded Kuwait in 1990. President Bush, in his 2003 State of the Union address, justified the invasion of Iraq by stating that 'Saddam Hussein recently sought significant quantities of uranium from Africa.' But in February 2002 WILSON investigated reports of Iraq's attempt to buy uranium from Niger, and found no evidence of that attempt. When WILSON went public with his information contradicting the administration's claims, the White House retaliated by disclosing that Wilson's wife was a CIA operative. WILSON's new book is 'The Politics of Truth: Inside the Lies that Led to War and Betrayed My Wife's
CIA Identity: A Diplomat's Memoir.' (Carroll & Graf)[THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW]

Interview with Bill Moyers; Commentary on the word "torture." May 13, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503547].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist BILL MOYERS. His new book, 'Moyers on America' (The New Press) is a first-ever collection of his essays and speeches. Moyers is the host of 'Now with Bill Moyers' on PBS. He was one of the organizers of the Peace Corps, spokesperson for President Lyndon Johnson, a senior correspondent for CBS News, and producer of many public TV series. Moyers has won 30 Emmy Awards. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the word 'torture.'

Interview with Graham Chapman; Interview with John Cleese; Interview with Michael Palin; Interview with Eric Idle; Review of the film "Troy;" Review of the final episode of "Frasier." May 14, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825886].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Monty Python's 'Life of Brian' ? a biblical satire is being re-released in theatres, 25 years after it's first release. We feature archive interviews with four of the players: Comic GRAHMAN CHAPMAN. He was the straight man in the Monty Python troupe who would come in and break up the skits. A physician by training, he was a writer and activist for gay rights. He died in 1989. (REBROADCAST FROM 7/2/87) (2.) Actor, writer and Monthy Python member JOHN CLEESE. Post-Python, CLEESE is best known for "Fawlty Towers," and a number of movies, including his 1988 comedy, "A Fish Called Wanda." He's also written a book called "Families and How to Survive Them" with therapist Robyn Skinner, and he makes training films for corporations. (REBROADCAST FROM 6/22/90) (3.) Actor, comedian, filmmaker, and author MICHAEL PALIN. He recreated the journey Jules Verne described in "Around the World in 80 Days." PALIN turned his journey into a very successful eight-part TV BBC series. He is of course also known for his tenure as a member of Monthy Python's Flying Circus and his appearances in "The Missionary" and "A Fish Called Wanda." (REBROADCAST FROM 4/17/90) (4.) ERIC IDLE was one of the six original members of Monty Python's Flying Circus. IDLE wrote many of the songs from the show including "Always Look on the Bright Side of Life." He has a CD, 'Eric Idle Sings Monty Python, Live in concert.' (Big Monkey Records). IDLE has also written a number of books, including a comic science-fiction thriller, "The Road to Mars: A Post-Modem Novel." (REBROADCAST from 10/06/99) (5.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Troy.' (6.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the final episode of 'Fraiser.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) GENERAL ROMEO DALLAIRE ('Dah-LARE') was commander of the United Nations Peacekeeping forces in Rwanda 10 years ago during one of the worst massacres in modern history. Some 800,000 Rwandans were killed in 100 days. Most of them were Tutsi and moderate Hutu civilians. During that time DALLAIRE and his troops were denied authority to intervene. The experience changed him, tormented him, and filled him with guilt. He suffered from Post Traumatic Stress Syndrome, was suicidal and depressed. He's written a new account, 'Shake Hands with the Devil: The failure of Humanity in Rwanda' (Random House). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Give' (Columbia) the latest by the trio 'The Bad Plus.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) WILLIAM KRISTOL is editor of the conservative magazine the Weekly Standard, and he chairs the neo-conservative group called Project for the New American Century. KRISTOL is also one of the architects of the blueprint for regime change found in the document 'Rebuilding America's Defenses: Strategies, forces and Resources For A New Century.' He advocated regime change in Iraq before 9/11. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Book Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Jane Austen Book Club,' by Karen Joy Fowler (Putnam).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Guitarist and singer MARTY GROSZ (pronounced 'gross'), and cornet player RANDY REINHART. They join us for a special in-studio performance in honor of the 100th birthday of Thomas 'Fats' Waller. He would have been 100 on May 21st. Grosz and Reinhart will perform songs composed by the great pianist and vocalist. Waller wrote many hit songs, appeared in films in the 1930s and 1940s, and wrote Broadway musicals. Some of his best-loved songs include 'Ain't Misbehavin',' 'Honeysuckle Rose' and 'The Joint is Jumpin'. There's a new CD/DVD set called Fats Waller: The Centennial Collection' on Bluebird Records. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

(2.) Our concert continues and we hear from AL CASEY, Fats Waller's original guitarist.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Documentary filmmaker JEHANE NOUJAIM ('Je-hahn Noo-jay-mee') She co-directed the new film 'Control Room' which is a behind-the-scenes look at Al Jezeera the popular and controversial Arab news channel. The footage was shot before and during the Iraq war last year. Also Al Jezeera producer SAMIR KHADER ('Sa-mir Kha-Deer') The critically acclaimed film has been making the film festival circuit. It opens at the film forum in New York City on Friday, May 21st. (2.) Our linguist GEOFF NUNBERG. His new collection of commentary (originally written for broadcast and print) is 'Going Nucular: Language, Politics, and Culture in Confrontational Times' (PublicAffairs). NUNBERG is senior researcher at the Center for the Study of Language and Information at Stanford University and Consulting Full Professor of Linguistics at Stanford University. He also writes for the Sunday 'New York Times' Week in Review. (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the new DVD of Stephen Sondheim's 'Sweeney Todd' (Warner Home Video) a version that was shown on TV in 1982 with Angela Landsbury. This year marks the 25th anniversary of the show.
Obituary for Elvin Jones; Review of the film "Shrek 2;" Interview with Charles Schultz; Review of the CD "Fats Waller May 21, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503677].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We remember ELVIN JONES, considered one of the most influential drummers in jazz history. He died Tuesday at the age of 76. He's best known for his work with John Coltrane. He also toured with bassist Charles Mingus and pianist Bud Powell. JONES had been a bandleader for over 30 years. His brother Hank Williams is a respected jazz pianist and his brother Thad Jones was a composer, arranger and bandleader who died in 1986. (originally broadcast 1/7/98) (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Shrek 2.' (3.) The first of a 25-volume series reprinting the entire Peanuts comic strip has just been published. We feature an interview with the creator CHARLES SCHULTZ (who died in 2000) just before his final strip ran in the Sunday papers. The first of the books is 'The Complete Peanuts: 1950-1952' (Fantagraphics Books). (REBROADCAST from 12/18/90) (4.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD pays tribute to Fats Waller on the Centennial of his birth, and reviews 'Fats Waller: The Centennial Collection' (Bluebird) a CD and DVD.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pet detective KATHY ('KAT') ALBRECHT is a former police officer who used to work with search and rescue dogs. She now searches for lost pets using her specially trained bloodhounds, and a Weimeraner. Along the way she is developing data about how lost animals behave, and how to best find them. Her new book is 'The Lost Pet Chronicles: Adventures of a K-9 Cop Turned Pet Detective' (Bloomsbury). ALBRECHT also founded and is executive director of the non-profit National Center for Missing Pets in San Jose, CA. Their website is HYPERLINK "http://www.pethunters.com" http://www.pethunters.com. (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews "Now Here Is Nowhere" the first major-label release by the trio Secret Machines. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews "The Bone Woman" (Random House) by forensic anthropologist Clea Koff.
Interview with Peter Daszak; Interview with John Powers; Commentary on soul music inspired by the Vietnam War. May 25, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503283].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) PETER DASZAK ('DASH-ak') is the Executive Director of the Consortium for Conservation Medicine. The program is designed to study the environmental changes brought on by humans and the links between animal, human and ecosystem health. The program is a collaboration between the Harvard Medical School's Center for Health & the Global Environment, Tufts University School of Veterinary Medicine Center for Conservation Medicine, the USGS National Wildlife Health Center and Wildlife Trust. One thing they are looking at is how infectious diseases like West Nile virus, malaria and other emerging diseases move between populations, or depend on environmental conditions. (2.) Our critic-at-large JOHN POWERS just back from the Cannes Film Festival talks with Terry about the films he saw there and the buzz. Michael Moore's documentary 'Fahrenheit 9/11' won Festival's highest prize, the Palme d'Or. It was the first documentary to win since 1956. (3.) Rock historian ED WARD on soul music that came out of the Vietnam war.

Interview with Steve Ryfle; Interview with Zaha Hadid; Review of Fred Anderson and Hamid Drake's new recordings 'Back together again.' May 26, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503282].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) STEVE RYFLE is a former Los Angeles Times reporter. Fifty years ago Godzilla, Japan's giant radioactive reptile made his first film appearance. The original Godzilla movie was made in 1954 by Japanese director Ishiro Honda. The film is coming back to theatres in a new uncut version. RYFLE's book about Godzilla is 'Japan's Favorite Mon-Star: The Unauthorized Biography of 'The Big G'' (ECW books, paperback). (2.) Architect ZAHA HADID ('ZA-HA Ha-DEED') is the first woman to be awarded the Pritzker Prize, architecture's coveted award. HADID lives in London, but was born in Iraq. Her buildings include a fire station in Germany, a housing project in Berlin, a Tram station and car park in Strasbourg, a ski jump in Austria, and the Richard and Lois Rosenthal Center for Contemporary Art in...
Cincinnati, Ohio. (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new recording by tenor saxophonist Fred Anderson and drummer Hamid Drake. It's 'Back Together Again' (Thrill Jockey)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer and aviator WILLIAM LANGEWIESCHE ("LONG-a-VEE-sha"). He is a national correspondent for The Atlantic Monthly, and is the author of a number of books including "Inside the Sky: A Meditation on Flight." His new book "The Outlaw Sea: A World of Freedom, Chaos, and Crime" (North Point Press). It's about the unregulated world of the open sea where some 40 thousand ships travel carrying raw materials and products. Their crews are often poorly trained and poorly paid. The ships are vulnerable to accidents, piracy and terrorists. (2.) MARC SAGEMAN ("SAGE-man") is a forensic psychiatrist and a former foreign service officer who worked with Islamic fundamentalists daily during the Afghan-Soviet war. He's the author of the new book "Understanding Terror Networks" (University of Pennsylvania Press)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ARTHEL "DOC" WATSON, one of America's premier acoustic folk guitarists. We'll hear two of Watson's Fresh Air appearances?an interview from 1988 and a live convert from 1989. Watson's flat-pick style of playing traditional folk and bluegrass has made his sound one of the most distinctive of any folk artist. In the folk music community, Watson is best known for his part in preserving the traditional ballads and melodies of southern Appalachia. His latest CD 'Sittin Here Pickin the Blues' (Rounder) features him and slide guitarist Merle Watson. It's a previously issued recording with new tracks and remastered. (REBROADCAST from 3/24/88 and 11/13/89) [THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.] (2.) DAVID DELLINGER ('DELL-in-jher'), long-time peace activist, editor and author. He died on Tuesday at the age of 88. Dellinger was jailed for civil disobedience a generation before Daniel and Philip Berrigan. He was part of the "Chicago Seven," the group of seven anti-war demonstrators at the 1968 Democratic National Convention which erupted into violence between demonstrators and police. DELLINGER was the author of several books including an account of his spiritual journey, "From Yale to Jail." (REBROADCAST from 4/9/93) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Day After Tomorrow,' starring Dennis Quaid and Jake Gyllenhaal.

---

Interview with James Tobin; Commentary on language. May 31, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825803].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer JAMES TOBIN ('TOE-bin'). He's the author of a biography of World War Two correspondent, Ernie Pyle who was beloved by the public, the G.I.'s and the Generals alike. He witnessed the great American campaigns of the war - North Africa, Sicily, Italy, D-Day, Normandy, the liberation of Paris, and Okinawa. Eleanor Roosevelt was a fan of his work. She said, 'I would not miss that column any day if I could possibly help it.' Pyle was killed in Okinawa just three weeks short of the war's end. TOBIN's book is 'Ernie Pyle's War: America's Eyewitness to World War II' (published in 1988). TOBIN's newest book, 'To Conquer the Air: The Wright Brothers and the Great Race for Flight,' has just been released in paperback. (Original airdate: 4/07/03) [THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.] (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the language of the Vietnam War and how it's being used today.

---

Interview with Peter- Durk Uys; Review of the music from the film ?The Triplets of Belleville.? June 1, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458028].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) South African comedian PIETER DIRK-UYS (pronounced 'Peter Dirk Ace'). His performances are politically charged, touching on the topics of AIDS and apartheid. He's described himself as a middle aged, fat, bald Afrikaner Jewish drag queen from Cape Town. Writing in the New Yorker, Calvin Trillin called UYS South Africa's leading satirist. He's just won an Obie Award for his one-man show 'Foreign AIDS,' performed at the LA Mama Theater in Manhattan last year. UYS' present show is 'Elections & Erections,' now in London at the Soho Theater. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW. (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the music from the film 'The Triplets of Belleville' now on DVD (Sony).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Political strategist and former campaign manager for Gore-Lieberman 2000, DONNA BRAZILE. She's written a new memoir about her years in politics, 'Cooking With Grease: Stirring the Pots in American Politics' (Simon & Schuster). BRAZILE is currently chair of the Democratic National Committee's Voting Rights Institute and an adjunct professor at Georgetown University. She is also a political commentator on CNN's 'Inside Politics.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Playwright, poet and actor SARAH JONES. She's starring in her one-woman show, 'bridge & tunnel' (in NYC at 45 Bleecker Street Theatre). The play about the immigrant experience in America has been critically acclaimed. Margo Jefferson of the New York Times writes, 'Humor, compassion and daring have more often found a place in solo performance. This free form frees gifted artists to change sex, race, age, body type and personality in an instant. It takes great craft and generosity. Sarah Jones has both.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times Foreign Affairs columnist THOMAS FRIEDMAN. He is the reporter/narrator of the Discovery channel documentary, 'The Other Side of Outsourcing' about jobs going to India. (Thursday, June 3 @ 10 PM ET). Friedman has written about outsourcing and globalization in his columns. He is the author of the best selling book 'Longitudes and Attitudes: Exploring the World After September 11.' He has won two Pulitzer Prizes for his coverage of the Middle East. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Truth

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor CHRISTOPHER WALKEN. He got his start in the business as a tap-dancing kid and went on to play some of the most menacingly evil characters around. His films include 'At Close Range,' 'The Comfort of Strangers,' 'King of New York,' 'The Dead Zone,' and 'Annie Hall' (in which he played Annie's creepy brother who had an impulse to drive his car into oncoming traffic.) His new film is the comedy 'The Stepford Wives.' He also has a part in the film 'Man on Fire.' (REBROADCAST from 8/3/00) (2.) Novelist RICHARD PRICE is the author of the bestselling novels, Clockers about life in the inner city world of drug dealing (which was made into a film) and Freedomland which was inspired by the real life incident in which a woman alleged a black man carjacked her and took her two children. PRICE's book Samaritan (in paperback) is about a man who returns to the New Jersey town where he was raised and to teaching, and the bad consequences of his good intentions. PRICE also is a screenwriter with such notable films: "Sea of Love," "Ransom," and "The Color of Money." (REBROADCAST from 1/7/03) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new Harry Potter film, 'Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor MACAULAY CULKIN. He's been acting since he was a child. He first attracted attention as John Candy's inquisitive nephew in the John Hughes film, "Uncle Buck." The film "Home Alone" turned him into a star. He also made the films "Home Alone II," "Jacob's Ladder," and most recently "Party Monster." Recently he returned to acting after a six-year hiatus. His latest film is "Saved!" playing a highschool student in a wheelchair who attends a evangelical Christian High School and whose friends are a group of outsiders. The film has been described as part religious satire, and part teenage rite of passage film. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film director BRIAN DANNELLY. He is making his writing/directing debut with the new film "Saved!" (He co-wrote the script with Michael Urban). The film has been described as part religious satire, and part teenage rite of passage film.

Description of show segment(s)

Interview with Steven Seagle; Interview with Joey Burns; Commentary on Robert Quine. June 9, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458700].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comic book writer STEVEN SEAGLE. He's written for 'Superman' and 'Uncanny X-Men' as well the large format Vertigo books including 'House of Secrets: Foundation,' a supernatural court drama comic. SEAGLE has teamed up with artist Teddy Kristiansen for the new graphic novel, 'It's a Bird. . .' (Vertigo) In this semi-autographical book SEAGLE deconstructs the classic Superman myth and reflects on power and powerlessness. One reviewer writes 'Who would ever suspect that this Superman book isn't really about Superman at all, that it's very much grounded in the human, the vulnerable, the self-doubting, the weak? And yet therein lies its considerable strength.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Singer/guitarist JOEY BURNS of the duo Calexico. (Along with drummer John Convertino). The Tucson, Arizona band is known for music that is inspired by southwest
The great singer and pianist RAY CHARLES. He died Thursday, June 10th at the age of 73. He was about to go back on tour, but died of complications of liver disease. CHARLES shaped American music since the 1950s, at first copying the styles of black vocalists like Nat King Cole and Charles Brown. But he soon developed a style all his own. His career grew along with Atlantic records which signed him as a fledgling label. CHARLES' first hit was 'I've Got a Woman' in 1955. He went on to record more bluesy, gospel-charged hits, country, jazz, and rock. Terry spoke with him after the release of his four CD box-set "Ray Charles: The Complete Country and Western Recordings 1959-1986. (Rhino) (REBROADCAST from 10/19/98) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Musician, producer, arranger, composer QUINCY JONES As a teenager he played backup for Billie Holiday, along with his 16 year old friend, Ray Charles. (REBROADCAST from 11/05/01) (3.) Memphis-born saxophonist HANK CRAWFORD. Before going out on his own, he backed B.B. King and played with Ray Charles. He eventually became musical director for Charles' band and he credits what he learned about playing soulful music from Charles. His CD "Hank Crawford: Memphis Ray and a Touch of Moody" (32 Jazz) collects music from his previous recordings: "More Soul," "From the Heart," "Soul of the Ballad," and "Dig These Blues." (REBROADCAST from 5/20/98)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TONY HENDRA is a satirist who was editor in chief of Spy magazine, an original editor of National Lampoon, and he played Ian Faith in the mockumentary, 'This is Spinal Tap.' He has written an unlikely new memoir about his lifelong friendship with a Benedictine monk he was brought to when he was 14 years old, after getting caught in an affair with a married woman. HENDRA writes in his new memoir 'Father Joe' (Random House), 'His was the wisdom I craved?though it was never what I expected; his judgment alone I feared?though never once did he pass judgment on me.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Stepford Wives.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Humorist and NPR commentator DAVID SEDARIS. He's the author of the bestselling collections 'Barrel Fever,' 'Naked,' and 'Me Talk Pretty One Day.' His new collection is 'Dress Your Family in Corduroy and Denim' (Little, Brown). SEDARIS' essays appear regularly in Esquire, GQ and The New Yorker. His radio pieces can be heard on This American Life. In 2001 he became the third recipient of the Thurber Prize for American Humor.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist ROBERT BRYCE. In his new book, 'Cronies: Oil, the Bushes, and the Rise of Texas, America's Superstate' (Public Affairs, 2004), he charts the history of the relationship between the powerful Texas oil industry and politics. His last book, 'Pipe Dreams,' documented the infamous rise and fall of Enron. BRYCE's work has appeared in The New York Times, The Washington Post, and Guardian. (2.) BRUCE ERIC KAPLAN. If you know him by his full name, you probably watch Six Feet Under on HBO, of which he's Co-Executive Producer. If you know him by his initials, B.E.K., you probably read The New Yorker, where his single-panel cartoons are regularly featured. A new collection of his cartoons, 'This is a Bad Time,' has just been published by Simon and Schuster. (3.) Book Critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews some new summer reads.

Interview with Yossi Beilin; Review of Loretta Lynn's music album "Van Lear Rose." June 17, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458685].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) YOSSI BEILIN, the leader of Israel's social democratic party. He's a member of the Knesset and a former government minister. He was an initiator of the 1993 Oslo Accords, and 10 years later, was an architect of the Geneva Accord, a framework for peace between Israel and Palestine. He's written a new book, 'The Path to Geneva: The Quest For a Permanent Agreement, 1996-2004' (Akashic, 2004). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Rock Critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new Loretta Lynn Album, 'Van Lear Rose' (Interscope, 2004).
Interview with Steve Lacy; Interview with Jon Katz; Review of the film "The Terminal." June 18, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458162].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We remember soprano saxophonist STEVE LACY. He died earlier this month. LACY was considered "the foremost interpreter of Thelonius Monk" and in fact trained and performed with Monk when he was in his mid-20's. LACY was also known as the "father of the modern soprano saxophone." This interview first aired November 20, 1997. (2.) Writer JON KATZ. He's the author of 'The New Work of Dogs: Tending to Life, Love, and Family' (Villard). It's about how attached many of us have become to our dogs, treating them more like family members and human surrogates than pets. KATZ is also the author of 'A Dog Year: Twelve Months, Four Dogs, and Me' and 'Running to the Mountain: A Midlife Adventure.' He is a member of the Association of Pet Dog Trainers. This interview first aired October 21, 2003. (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new Steven Spielberg film, 'The Terminal.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Composer JERRY BOCK & lyricist SHELDON HARNICK. One of their most beloved musicals is back on Broadway: 'Fiddler on the Roof' (at the Minskoff Theatre). It stars Alfred Molina as Tevye and includes a new song they wrote. There's also a new cast recording of the show. BOCK & HARNICK also collaborated on Fiorello (which won a Pulitzer Prize), 'She Loves Me,' and 'The Rothschilds.' (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers swearing and how certain words at certain eras have had the power to offend.
Interview with James McPherson; Interview with Pamela Constable; Review of Mary Lou Williams' music album "Black Christ of the Andes." June 22, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458425].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pulitzer-prize winning historian JAMES MCPHERSON. His new book is 'The Most Fearful Ordeal: Original Coverage of The Civil War by Writers and Reporters of The New York Times' (St. martin's press). MCPHERSON is a professor of history at Princeton University. He is the author of many books on the Civil War era including 'Battle Cry of Freedom.' (2.) Journalist PAMELA CONSTABLE. She is Kabul Bureau chief for The Washington Post. She has covered south Asia for the Post since 1999: India, Pakistan, Afghanistan. She has a new memoir, 'Fragments of Grace: My Search for Meaning in the Strife of South Asia.' (Brassey's Inc.). (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new reissue 'Black Christ of the Andes' (Smithsonian label) by pianist Mary Lou Williams.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CHARLES L. 'JACK' PRITCHARD is a retired U.S. Army colonel and the former point man on North Korea for Colin Powell. He worked on North Korea issues in both the Clinton and Bush administrations. JACK PRITCHARD resigned from the Bush administration in August 2003 and has criticized the administration for lacking an effective strategy. This week the U.S. is participating in six party talks to freeze North Korea's nuclear programs and restart inspections. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Sayin Hello to the Folks,' a new album from Jules Shear. It's a collection of cover tunes by artists ranging from Bob Dylan to the Dave Clark Five.
Interview with Bill Clinton; Commentary on the magnetism of former presidents. June 24, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458718].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former President BILL CLINTON. He's just published his autobiography entitled 'My Life.' He'll tell us what he knew about Osama Bin Laden during his administration and how he tried to strike a balance between telling and terrifying Americans. He talks about culture wars and being a lightning rod for the right wing, and he'll tell us how it feels to watch the economic surplus he created disappear due to tax cuts designed to benefit the wealthiest. Clinton currently lives in Chappaqua, New York and works in Harlem. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Critic JOHN POWERS reflects upon recent media attention on former presidents Bill Clinton and Ronald Reagan.

Interview with Clint Eastwood; Interview with Eli Wallach; Review of the documentary film 'Fahrenheit 9/11.' June 25, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458514].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor CLINT EASTWOOD. The 1966 classic western film, 'The Good, The Bad and The Ugly,' has been fully restored and is now out on a special edition DVD. Sergio Leone, who invented the genre of spaghetti western, directed the film. Clint Eastwood went on to star in other classic westerns of the sixties, including 'Hang 'Em High' and 'Paint Your Wagon,' and then went on to make the 'Dirty Harry' series, and went on to both star in and direct over two dozen films, including 'Unforgiven,' for which he won an Oscar, 'The Bridges of Madison County,' and 'Mystic River.' Eastwood is now at work on the film 'Rope Burns,' to be released in 2005. (original airdate: 11/21/96) (2.) Actor ELI WALLACH. He also stars in 'The Good, The Bad and The Ugly,' now out on special edition DVD. Wallach has had a long career on stage and screen, starring in many spaghetti westerns in the 1960s, as well as in the Godfather trilogy. He won a Tony award for his role in Tennessee Williams' 'The Rose Tattoo.' He will appear in the upcoming film, 'King of the Corner,' to be released later this year. (original airdate: 11/13/90) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Fahrenheit 9/11,' the new film by Michael Moore.
Interview with Bobby Short; Commentary on the annual Banff Television Festival. June 28, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458722].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer BOBBY SHORT. He's been playing piano and singing at the Carlyle Hotel in New York City since 1968. He's considered one of the great cabaret singers of our time. The 79-year-old song stylist was slated to retire from the Cafe Carlyle this coming New Year's Eve, but he's extended his schedule, and is not going anywhere for the time being. Short was born in Danville, Illinois. Short has been named a Living Landmark by New York's Landmark Conservancy and a National Living Legend by the Library of Congress. (2.) T-V critic DAVID BIANCULLI has a report from the 25th Anniversary of the Banff Television Festival. Around 1300 television professionals from around the world came together from June 13-17 2004 to award prizes to the best in international TV programming.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JENNIFER GONNERMAN and ex-con ELAINE BARTLETT. Gonnerman just wrote a book entitled 'Life on the Outside: The Prison Odyssey of Elaine Bartlett.' It's an account of Bartlett's struggle to get out and stay out of jail. Bartlett spent 16 years in prison for a single sale of cocaine. Gonnerman follows Bartlett as she is released from prison at age 42. Governor George Pataki granted Bartlett clemency in 1999. Gonnerman is a staff writer for the Village Voice. She's also written for The New York Times magazine. (2.) Albany County District Attorney PAUL CLYNE. He'll address the strict drug regulations that put Elaine Bartlett in jail...they're known as the Rockefeller Drug Laws. Clyne is the son of Albany County judge John Clyne, who handed Bartlett a sentence of 20 years to life in state prison. (3.) Historian SIMON SEBAG MONTEFIORE (mon-tee-FYOR-ee). His new book is 'Stalin: The Court of the Red Tsar.' It's a biography of the former Soviet leader. Stalin was often described as an enigma. This exhaustive account of his life seeks to banish the mystery. Montefiore has traveled extensively through the former Soviet Union, and has written for many publications, including the New

---

Interview with Tom Roberts and Israel Goldvicht; Interview with Larry Tye; Review of Mr. Airplane Man's new album, "C'mon D.J." June 30, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458347].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Documentary filmmakers TOM ROBERTS and ISRAEL GOLDVICHT. Their new production is part of the PBS series Wide Angle, entitled 'Suicide Bombers.' The filmmakers went inside Israeli prisons to examine the minds of suicide bombers. They spoke with three failed bombers, one bomb builder and one recruiter. The show premieres Thursday July 1, 2004 on PBS. (2.) Journalist LARRY TYE. His new book is 'Rising from the Rails: Pullman Porters and the Making of the Black Middle Class.' He examines the social history of the Pullman porter. Tye says that the job was one of the best for African Americans at the time, and that it was a foothold in the American workplace. Tye reports for the Boston Globe.

---

Interview with Mario Van Peebles; Review of the film "Spider-Man 2." July 1, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458659].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director and actor MARIO ('MAH-ree-oh') VAN PEEBLES. His new film is 'BAADASSSSSS!' It's the story of the making of 1971 classic 'Sweet Sweetback's Baadasssss Song.' In the film, Mario Van Peebles plays his father, director Melvin Van Peebles. Mario got his start directing and starring in the film 'New Jack City.' Other acting credits include the role of Malcolm X in the film 'ALI,' and a role in 'Ten Thousand Black Men Named George,' about the unionization of Pullman train porters. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Spiderman 2.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ERIC BURDON was the lead singer for the British band, 'The Animals' - the 1960s group that gave us, 'House of the Rising Sun' 'Don't Let Me Be Misunderstood,' and 'We gotta Get Out of This Place.' In 2002 BURDON published his autobiography, 'Don't Let Me Be Misunderstood.' His new in studio CD is 'My Secret Life.' (Original airdate: 1/3/02)  (2.) ROBERT WEIDE ('WHY-dee'), executive producer and writer of HBO's 'Curb Your Enthusiasm.' The show stars Larry David as himself. David is the co-creator of 'Seinfeld.' One reviewer calls Curb Your Enthusiasm 'a comedy of hostility, resentment, paranoia and obsessiveness.' The show completed its fourth season this spring. The second season is now out on DVD. (Original airdate: 3/9/04)  (3.) Co-executive producer, star, and writer of the HBO show 'Curb Your Enthusiasm' - LARRY DAVID. He was also the co-creator, and former executive producer, and one of the writers of 'Seinfeld.' DAVID was the basis for the character of George, Jerry Seinfeld's neurotic best friend. DAVID was a writer for Saturday Night Live and the short-lived ABC late night series, "Fridays." (Original airdate: 1/2/92)  (4.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG. He comments on the speaking styles of 2004 presidential candidates John Kerry and George Bush.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Veteran producer, pianist, singer, club owner GEORGE WEIN (pronounced like 'bean'). He's the founder of the Newport Jazz Festival, the Newport Folk Festival, and the New Orleans Jazz and Heritage Festival. This year marks the 50th anniversary of the Newport Jazz Festival, and there's a new 3 CD set to celebrate: 'Happy Birthday Newport: 50 Swinging Years.' (Columbia/Legacy). In the early 1950s WEIN founded the jazz clubs Storyville and Mahogany Hall in his hometown of Boston where jazz giants Art Tatum, Sidney Bechet, Charlie Parker, Stan Getz and Miles Davis played. In 1954 he launched the Newport Jazz Festival where he presented Ella Fitzgerald, Sarah Vaughan, Dave Brubeck and others. The other music greats he knew and worked with: Duke Ellington, Thelonious Monk, Charles Mingus, Louis Armstrong. Last year WEIN has published his autobiography (with Nate Chinen), 'Myself Among Others: A Life In Music: The struggles and triumphs of the extraordinary man behind the Newport Jazz and

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Political and technology consultant JOE TRIPPI was campaign manager for Howard Dean during his bid to be the democratic presidential nominee. Using the internet, TRIPPI turned a little known candidate into a front-runner. TRIPPI's new book is 'The Revolution Will Not be Televised: Democracy, the Internet, and the Overthrow of Everything.' (Reganbooks). TRIPPI worked on his first presidential campaign for Senator Edward M. Kennedy in 1980. He also worked with the presidential campaigns of Walter Mondale, Gary Hart and Richard Gephardt. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) RODNEY DANGERFIELD, the comic who has made a career out of his phrase I 'don't get no respect.' DANGERFIELD is now 82 years old. He has a new book 'Rodney Dangerfield: It's Not Easy Bein' Me' (HarperEntertainment).

Interview with Andrew Exum; Interview with Larry Diamond. July 7, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969457523].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) U.S. Army lieutenant ANDREW EXUM has written a new memoir of his experiences fighting in Afghanistan. It is 'This Man's Army: A Soldier's Story from the Front Lines of the War on Terrorism' (Gotham). EXUM fought with the 10th Mountain Division in Afghanistan in 2002 where soldiers were often fighting a brutal guerilla war against the Taliban and Al Qaeda. (This interview continues into the second half of the show.) (2.) LARRY DIAMOND is a professor of political science and sociology at Stanford University and an expert on democratic development and regime change. He is the coordinator of the Democracy Program of the new Center for Democracy, Development, and the rule of Law at Stanford's Institute for International Studies. DIAMOND spent three months earlier this year advising the Coalition Provisional Authority in Iraq. (This interview continues to the end of the show.)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director ADAM MCKAY. He directed the new movie 'Anchorman,' starring Will Ferrell. It's about a news anchor from the 1970s and his wacky adventures when a female anchor joins the staff. McKay was the head writer for the T-V show Saturday Night Live from 1997 to 2001. During that time, McKay made a number of short film segments. 'Anchorman' is his first feature length work. McKay was one of the founding members of the Upright Citizens Brigade comedy troupe. He's an alum of the Second City Improv in Chicago, and he's also had many bit parts on SNL. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) T-V producer JAMAL DAJANI (zha-Mahl da-ZHAH-nee) He's a co-producer of the show 'Mosaic' on the satellite network Link TV. Dajani is a Palestinian-American. The show's mission is to bring world perspectives to American viewers. They translate Arab programming from Abu Dhabi, Beirut and Damascus into English, bringing viewers news rarely seen on American airwaves. The idea is to improve relations between countries with cultural exchange. The network is available to Dish and DirecTV network subscribers only. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'An Unfinished Season,' by Ward Just.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Religious scholar ELAINE PAGELS (PAY-gels). Her latest book, "Beyond Belief: The Secret Gospel of Thomas," is just out in paperback. It's about a religious text that is little known-- the secret Gospel of Thomas, rediscovered in Egypt in 1945. She will explain why it was suppressed by the church and kept out of the cannon. Elaine Pagels has been called one of the world's most important writers and thinkers on religion and history. She won the National Book Award for her book, "The Gnostic Gospels." Pagels is a professor at Princeton University. (Original airdate: 6/4/03) (2.) Religious scholar BART EHRMAN. He's the Bowman and Gordon Gray Professor of Religious Studies at UNC-Chapel Hill. His newest book is 'Lost Christianities: The Battle for Scripture and the Faiths We Never Knew'(Oxford 2003). It chronicles the period before Christianity as we know it came to be, when people with conflicting ideas about the religion were fighting for prominence in the second and third centuries. EHRMAN also edited a collection of the early non-canonical texts from the first centuries after Christ called 'Lost Scriptures: Books that Did Not Make It into the New Testament.' (Original airdate: 12/17/03) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Anchorman: The Legend of Ron Burgundy,' starring Will Ferrell.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor CLIVE OWEN. His new film is 'I'll Sleep When I'm Dead,' directed by Mike Hodges. Owen and Hodges first worked together on the film 'Croupier.' You can also see Clive Owen in the new film 'King Arthur,' in which he plays Arthur. He was in the films 'The Bourne Identity' and 'Gosford Park.' (2.) Rock band ONE RING ZERO members MICHAEL HEARST and JOSHUA CAMP. Their new C-D, 'As Smart as We Are,' is a blend of literature and music. Each track is written by a different author, including Paul Auster, Daniel Handler (AKA Lemony Snicket), Margaret Atwood and A.M. Homes. Their work has been described as "gypsy-klezmer circus-flea-cartoon-music you mainly hear in your dreams." (The Forward)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES TO THE END OF THE SHOW.)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author DANIEL PINKWATER. His new book is 'Looking for Bobowicz.' In addition to his duties as an NPR commentator, he's written more than 60 books for children and the young at heart, including 'Irving and Muktuk: Bad Bears in the Big City,' and 'The Picture of Morty and Ray.' Pinkwater lives in upstate New York with his wife Jill, who illustrated 'Looking for Bobowicz.' (2.) Classical music critic
LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews 'The Art of Joseph Szigeti'('sa-GEH-tee') on DVD. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the debut C-D from country music singer Gretchen Wilson, entitled 'Here for the Party.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist HENDRIK HERTZBERG. His new book is 'Politics: Observations and Arguments, 1966-2004.' He's a writer and editor for the New Yorker magazine and frequently contributes to its Talk of the Town section. Hertzberg was on the staff of the New Republic magazine for much of the 1980s. Hertzberg also spent time in the White House from 1979 to 1981 as Jimmy Carter's speechwriter. In the introduction to this book, The New Yorker's David Remnick says 'as a writer he has tone control the way Billie Holliday had tone control.' (2.) Music critic MILO MILES tells us about a New York group of hip-hop DJs known as the X-Ecutioners. Their new CD is called 'Revolutions.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) STEPHEN MOORE, conservative journalist. He's the president of the Club for Growth and contributing editor for the National Review. The Club for Growth has a political action committee dedicated to elected conservative politicians who carry on the Reagan vision of 'limited government and lowered taxes.' Moore was the Cato Institute's Director of Fiscal Policy Studies, and is now a Cato Senior Fellow. Moore is on the economic board of advisors for Time magazine. He's a regular contributor to The Wall Street Journal and Reader's Digest. Moore has been on CNN's Inside Politics, Crossfire, NBC News, Fox News, and The McLaughlin Group. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews a new collection of jazz recorded before 1920 by the Original Dixieland Jazz Band and the Earl Fuller Orchestra. The album is 'Pioneer Recording Bands 1917-1920' on the Retrieval label.
Interview with Jeff Bridges; Commentary on Ray Charles studio rehearsal tape; Interview with Isaac Asimov; Review of the documentary film Metallica July 16, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969457522].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor JEFF BRIDGES. His new movie is 'A Door in the Floor,' based on the best selling John Irving novel 'A Widow for One Year.' Bridges has starred in 'The Last Picture Show,' 'The Fabulous Baker Boys,' 'Tucker,' 'The Big Lebowski,' 'Seabiscuit,' and other films. Bridges has been nominated for Academy Awards four times. (Original airdate: 10/29/03) (2.) In memory of the late, great R&B singer, rock historian EDWARD gives us a guided tour of a famous Ray Charles studio rehearsal tape, circa 1953. (3.) Sci-fi writer ISAAC ASIMOV. The new film, 'I, Robot,' starring Will Smith, is loosely based on the author's short stories. Asimov died April 6 1992. (Original airdate: 9/25/87) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Metallica: Some Kind of Monster,' a documentary that explores the psychological drama of the heavy metal band.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Vatican correspondent JOHN L. ALLEN. He writes for the National Catholic Reporter. He's a Vatican analyst for CNN and NPR, and he writes a weekly Internet column called 'The Word from Rome.' His new book is called, 'All the Pope's Men: The Inside Story of How the Vatican Really Thinks.' (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG talks about values, a term that's overused by the presidential candidates these days.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) LA Times journalist GREG MILLER and military interrogation supervisor CHRIS MACKEY. They've written a new book called 'The Interrogators: Inside the Secret War Against Al Qaeda.' Chris Mackey is a pseudonym. Mackey joined the army at 17, was assigned to the intelligence corps, then became part of Task Force 500 and eventually sent to Kandahar, Afghanistan. Greg Miller is a national correspondent for the Los Angeles Times. They provide an inside look at the interrogation methods used at the detention facility at Bagram airfield in Afghanistan, and Mackey comments on the Abu Gharib prison scandal. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Uh Huh Her,' the new album from PJ Harvey.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) National security expert STEPHEN FLYNN. His new book is America the Vulnerable: How our Government is Failing to Protect us From Terrorism. Flynn is a senior Fellow in National Security Studies at the Council on Foreign Relations. He was a commissioned officer in the U.S. Coast Guard, and served in the White House Military office during the senior Bush administration. He also was director for Global Issues on the National Security Council staff during the Clinton administration. (2.) Writer JERRY STAHL. His new book, "I, Fatty" (Bloomsbury) tells the story of vaudeville and early film actor Fatty Arbuckle. In the early 1900s, he was more popular than Charlie Chaplin and became the first screen actor to make a million dollars a year. But in 1921, Arbuckle was accused of the rape and murder of a young actress. Many have called the crime, Arbuckle's presumed guilt, the subsequent trial, and his eventual acquittal Hollywood's first celebrity scandal. STAHL is also the author of the best selling memoir "Permanent Midnight" which was adapted into a film by the same name. He has also written for film and television. His other books include "Perv- A Love Story" and "Plainclothes Naked."

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RON REAGAN JR. the son of the late president Ronald Reagan. He's been invited to speak at the Democratic convention next week. He and his mother have become outspoken proponents of stem cell research, which puts them at odds with President Bush and much of the Republican party. REAGAN has edited the book, 'If You Had Five Minutes with the President.' (HarperCollins). (THIS INTERVIEW...
CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS considers the programming on HBO.

Interview with Matt Damon; Obituary for Jerry Goldsmith; Obituary for Illinois Jacquet; Review of the film ?The Bourne Supremacy.? July 23, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969457995].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor MATT DAMON. His new film is 'The Bourne Supremacy' the sequel to his 2002 thriller 'The Bourne Identity,' about a CIA assassin with amnesia. DAMON has been in many hit films, including 'The Talented Mr. Ripley,' 'Saving Private Ryan' and 'Good Will Hunting,' which he co-wrote with close friend Ben Affleck. (REBROADCAST from 6/19/02) (2.) We remember composer JERRY GOLDSMITH. He died July 21st at the age of 75. Since the 1950s he had composed scores for film and TV. He won an Academy Award in 1976 for his music for 'The Omen.' His film scores include: 'Star Trek: The Motion Picture,' 'The Sand Pebbles,' 'Chinatown,' and 'A Patch of Blue.' His TV credits include: 'The Man from U.N.C.L.E.,' 'Dr. Kildare,' 'The Waltons,' and 'Barnaby Jones.' The CD collecting his music is, 'The Film Music of Jerry Goldsmith' (Telarc). (REBROADCAST from 1/7/02) (3.) Tenor saxophonist and big band leader ILLINOIS JACQUET ('ja-KETT'). He died yesterday at the age of 81 at his Queens home. The cause was a heart attack. He played saxophone with some of the great big bands, including Lionel Hampton's, Cab Calloway's, and Count Basie's. (REBROADCAST from 10/13/88). (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Bourne Supremacy.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian PATTON OSWALT. Listeners may know him as the neighbor on CBS's 'The King of Queens.' He is also a regular on Late Night with Conan O'Brien. OSWALT has had the distinction of being booed off the stage by both liberal and conservative minded audiences. He has a debut CD of comedy, 'Feelin' Kinda Patton.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews new DVDS of Judy Garland musicals (Warner Bros & MGM). They include 'Meet me in St. Louis,' 'Ziegfeld Girl,' and 'In The Good Old Summertime.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ROBERT BYRD, Democratic Senator from West Virginia. He has served in the US Congress for 51 years, 45 of them as a senator. He is ranking member of the Senate Appropriations Committee and has twice been president pro tempore of the Senate. He is also a former majority leader. Byrd is author of a new book called "Losing America: Confronting a Reckless and Arrogant Presidency" (W. W. Norton). Byrd is a vocal opponent of the Iraq war and has criticized the most of the Bush Administration's post 9-11 policies. He is also author of a 4 volume history of the Senate. (2.) Architect FRANK GEHRY. (rhymes with 'Terry') Time Magazine calls Gehry the world's most famous architect. GEHRY just designed a new outdoor music pavillion for Chicago's new Millennium Park, a former rail yard that's been transformed into a destination for the arts. Gehry's building will serve as the new home for the Grant Park Music Festival. Gehry is a deconstructionist architect, creating buildings that bulge, swerve, and pop. He designed the Walt Disney Concert Hall in Los Angeles, and the Guggenheim Museum in Bilbao.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Critic JOHN POWERS. Our own Fresh Air critic has written a new book, 'Sore Winners (And The Rest of Us) in George Bush's America.' He'll talk with Terry about how George W. Bush has changed America and what qualities in our culture made it possible for him to take office. Powers is critic-at-large for Fresh Air, and deuty editor for L.A. Weekly, where he writes a media/culture column called 'On.' He's also an international correspondent for Gourmet magazine. (2.) Rock and Roll photographer MICK ROCK. He's photographed many great pop, punk and rock stars. His new book is 'Picture This: Debby Harry and Blondie.' Mick Rock photographed many musicians before they were famous. The British-born Rock took pictures of Lou Reed, Brian Eno and Ziggy Stardust (AKA David Bowie) when he was just a cult figure in London. His book, 'Blood and Glitter,' is about the Glam Rock era.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Curator DAVID SCHWARTZ. His new show at The American Museum of the Moving Image is called 'The Living Room Candidate: Presidential Campaign Commercials 1952-2004.' Schwartz is the Chief Curator of film at the AMMI He'll talk about the history of political commercials from their inception in 1952 to the present. (2.) Political watchdog BROOKS JACKSON. He's director of the Annenberg Political Fact Check (http://www.factcheck.org), an organization that 'aims to reduce the deception and confusion in U.S. politics.' Jackson will talk about present day political ads. Jackson reported on Washington and national politics for The Associated Press, the Wall Street Journal and CNN. He is the author of Honest Graft: Big Money and the American Political Process and Broken Promise: Why the Federal Election Commission Failed.

Commentary on the coverage of the Democratic National Convention; Interview with John Frankenheimer; Interview with Angela Lansbury; Interview with Liev Schrieber; Review of the film ?The Manchurian Candidate." July 30, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969457813].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the coverage of the Democratic National Convention, or lack of it. (2.) Director JOHN FRANKENHEIMER. The Manchurian Candidate opens this weekend, a remake of FRANKENHEIMER's 1962 thriller of the same name. His other films include, 'French Connection 2,' and 'The Birdman of Alcatraz.' FRANKENHEIMER died in July 2002. His last feature film was 'Reindeer Games.' (REBROADCAST FROM 3/6/90) (3.) Actress ANGELA LANSBURY. She starred in the original version of 'The Manchurian Candidate,' a role played by Meryl Streep in the new remake. She's spent over 50 years in the business on stage, film and television. (REBROADCAST from 11/28/2000) (4.) Actor LIEV SCHREIBER. ("LEE-EV"). He stars in the new remake of 'The Manchurian Candidate,' in the (5.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Manchurian Candidate,' starring Denzel Washington, Meryl Streep and Liev Schreiber. Jonathan Demme directed the remake of the 1962 classic thriller.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ROBERT LOPEZ & JEFF MARX are the songwriting team behind the 2004 Tony award-winning Broadway musical, 'Avenue Q.' (Best Musical, Best Original Score, Best Book of a Musical). Their subversive show features people and puppets and is about a group of aimless, 30-somethings with low expectations and active libidos. It includes such songs as 'It Sucks to be Me,' 'Everyone's A Little Bit Racist,' 'If You Were Gay,' and 'I Wish I could Go Back to College.' (2.) Artist RED GROOMS. His colorful, chaotic, bold, vibrant and often comic paintings of New York city feature the spectrum of life from the prostitutes, thieves and gamblers to the tourists, shoppers, and moms and dads. Nearly 50 years ago GROOMS moved to New York City from Nashville at the age of 20, and his visceral reaction to the city has informed his paintings since. There's a new book of his work (the first major book on Grooms in twenty years), 'Red Grooms' (Rizzoli). (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Hatchet Jobs' (The New Press) a collection of criticism by Dale Peck, book reviewer for The New Republic.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comic BILL MAHER ('Mar') host of the HBO show 'Real Time with Bill Maher.' The weekly show just began a new season; it is broadcast on Friday nights at 11, with rebroadcasts through out the week. Like his previous show 'Politically Incorrect' he features a roundtable of guests who make jokes and talk politics. MAHER is also the author of 'When You Ride Alone, You Ride with Bin Laden.' (2.) Comedian COLIN QUINN. He was the Weekend Update anchor on Saturday Night Live from 1998 to 2000, and was known for his satirical coverage of the Clinton-Lewinsky scandal. He's now starring in Comedy Central's 'Tough Crowd with Colin Quinn.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Retired Army General TOMMY FRANKS. He was the Commander in Chief of the United States Central Command (July 2000-July 2003) and led the American forces in Afghanistan and Iraq. He's written a new memoir, 'American Soldier' (Regan Books). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) CARMEN BIN LADEN is the sister-in-law of Osama Bin Laden. In 1974 she married Yeslam bin Laden; they separated fourteen years later. They have three daughters. CARMEN only met her brother-in-law a few times. CARMEN is the granddaugher of Persian aristocrats who was raised in Switzerland and Iran. She's written a new memoir 'Inside the Kingdom: My Life in Saudi Arabia' (Warner Books).

Interview with Maureen Dowd; Review of J.J. Cale's new album "To Tulsa and back" and Ray Bonneville's album "Roll it down." August 5, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458109].

Description of show segment(s)

Obituary for Gretchen Worden; Interview with Mark Hochberg; Review of the film "Collateral." August 6, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969457519].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) GRETCHEN WORDEN ("WORD-en"), Director of the Mutter Museum in Philadelphia. She died on August 2nd at the age of 57, from a brief illness. She turned the little-known medical museum into a museum with a worldwide reputation. The museum was founded in the nineteenth century. It originated with the collection of Dr. Thomas Dent Mutter who gathered unique specimens for teaching purposes. It exhibits medical deformities, pathologies and medical anomalies, like the horned woman, the man with the giant colon, deformed fetuses and a plaster cast of the Siamese twins Chang and Eng Bunker. WORDEN put together a book of photographs from the museum's collection of human oddities and outdated medical models. (REBROADCAST from 11/5/02) (2.) DR. MARK HOCHBERG ("HOTCH-berg") is the CEO of the College of Physicians in Philadelphia a private medical society that was founded in 1787 which includes the fourth largest medical historical library in the country, and the Mutter Museum. He'll talk about his colleague Gretchen Worden. (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Collateral,' starring Tom Cruise and directed by Michael Mann.

Interview with Josh Marston and Orlando Tobon; Review of two music albums "The Royal Sessions" and "Van Hunt;"Interview with Lisa Scottoline; Review of Alan Furst's new novel "Dark Voyage." August 9, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458143].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmakers JOSH MARSTON and ORLANDO TOBON. Their film is 'Maria Full of Grace,' about a young Colombian girl who becomes a drug mole. She swallows pellets of narcotics and travels on a plane to New York city, with the promise of lots of money for the job. If the pellets break, the mole will die from an overdose. This is director Josh Marston's first feature film. In real life, associate producer and actor Orlando Tobon lives in New York and runs a small travel agency. He arranges for the bodies of dead drug moles to be repatriated to Colombia. (2.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews soul recordings by The Bo-Keys, 'Royal Sessions' (on Yellow Dog Records) and 'Van Hunt' (Capitol) the debut album by Van Hunt. (3.) Best selling-crime novelist LISA SCOTTOLINE. Her new book 'Killer Smile' (HarperCollins) was inspired by a secret in her family's past: that her immigrant-Italian grandparents were listed as 'enemy aliens' during WW2, and the FBI raided their house. But her grandparents did nothing wrong and were never accused of anything. SCOTTOLINE has won the highest prize in crime fiction, the Edgar Award.

(4.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the novel 'Dark Voyage' (Random House) by Alan Furst about the hunting of merchant ships by German U-boats during WW2.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) GRAHAM ALLISON is an expert on nuclear weapons and national security. His new book is 'Nuclear Terrorism: The Ultimate Preventable Catastrophe' (Times Books). ALLISON served as Assistant Secretary of Defense for Policy and Plans. He is director of the Belfer Center for Science and International Affairs and is former founding dean of Harvard's John F. Kennedy School of Government. (2.) Filmmakers CHRIS KENTIS & LAURA LAU. Their new film 'Open Water' is based on the true story of an Australian couple who went scuba diving and then were left stranded by their charter boat. The low-budget film was shot on hand-held digital cameras, without a crew, and with real sharks. In fact the film makers placed the two actors in the water along with the sharks, with the help of a shark wrangler. (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Anglo-American,' a new retrospective of the late Gary Windo, an English-born Tenor saxophonist. (Cuneiform Records)

Interview with Jon Cohen; Interview with Brenwon Hughes; Review of a new box set by the band Faces, ?Five Guys Walk into a Bar.? August 11, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969457517].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JON COHEN recently finished a four-part series on HIV/AIDS in Asia for the journal Science. In researching the series, he traveled to six countries, talking to doctors, patients, public health officials, sex workers, and drug users. COHEN has been writing on the AIDS epidemic for 15 years, and he's written a book on the search for a vaccine called 'Shots in the Dark.' (2.) Film director BRONWEN HUGHES. Her new film 'Stander' is based on the true story of Andre Stander, a young white policeman in Johannesburg, South Africa in the 1970s who becomes a notorious bank robber. To South Africans, Stander became a sort of Butch Cassidy type figure. Stander's friends believe his rebellion began in reaction to the Tembisa student uprisings in 1976. Stander served on Riot Duty then to quell political protests against the Apartheid system. What he witnessed and did there affected him deeply and turned him against the system he'd upheld. HUGHES' previous film is 'Forces of Nature' and 'Harriet the Spy.' (3.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews a new box set by the 1970s band Faces, 'Five Guys Walk into a Bar' (Rhino).

---

Interview with Barack Obama; Interview with Alan Keyes. August 12, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458113].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Lawyer and Illinois Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate BARAK OBAMA. He's considered the party's rising star. His keynote address at the Democratic National Convention brought him to the attention of many Americans. OBAMA is the product of a white American woman and a black Kenyan student. He grew up to be the first black president of the Harvard Law Review. He's written his memoir 'Dreams From My Father: A Story of Race and Inheritance' (Three Rivers press) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Republican candidate for the Illinois U.S. Senate seat, ALAN KEYES. He accepted the party's offer earlier this week. KEYES is a resident of Maryland and has failed in two earlier bids to run for the U.S. Senate in that state. KEYES has held a number of governmental positions including U.S. State Department staff (1978-1983); U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Economic and Social Council (1983-1985); Assistant Secretary of State for International Organization Affairs (1985-1987). He was also the host of his own radio show as well.

---

Interview with Steven Van Zandt; Commentary on the upcoming coverage of the Olympics; Obituary for Julia Child. August 13, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458145].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Musician and actor STEVEN VAN ZANDT. The guitarist for Bruce Springsteen's E Street Band, has created the Little Steven's International Underground Garage Festival which takes place Saturday, August 14th at Randall's Island in New York City. It's part of his personal mission to revive interest in garage band rock, which he also does in his syndicated radio show 'Hard Rock Cafe Presents Little Steven's Underground Garage' Sunday nights on classic rock stations across country. VAN ZANDT can also be seen on HBO's 'The Sopranos' playing hitman Silvio Dante. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(REBROADCAST from 6/27/02) (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI on the upcoming coverage of the Olympics. (3.) World renown master chef JULIA CHILD died yesterday at the age of 91. She spent three decades explaining the mysteries of classic French cuisine to modern American audiences. CHILD hosted several cooking shows on Public Television, earning Peabody and Emmy Awards in the process, and written several cookbooks. (REBROADCAST from 11/14/90)

---

Interview with Ian McLagan; Review of the film "Open water." August 16, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458556].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Keyboardist IAN MCLAGAN. He played with the first generation of British rockers, with the band Small Faces and Faces. The group Faces included vocalist Rod Stewart and guitarist Ron Wood who went on to join the Rolling Stones. After the group broke up MCLAGAN toured with the Stones, Bob Dylan, and recorded with Bonnie Rait, Carly Simon, Jackson Browne and others. MCLAGAN produced the new 4 CD box set of Faces Recordings, "Five Guys Walk Into a Bar. . ." (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Open Water.'

---

Interview with James Bennet. August 17, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458560].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former New York Times Jerusalem bureau chief JAMES BENNET. He has just completed his three year stint as bureau chief. His story 'A Nation Unto Himself: Where is Ariel Sharon Leading Isreal?' is on the cover of this Sunday's New York Times magazine (August 15th issue). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. JERRY AVORN is a Harvard Medical school researcher and clinician. He is author of the new book 'Powerful Medicines' (Knopf). Using patient vignettes, scientific critique and statistics AVORN takes a look at the risks and benefits of prescription drugs. One reviewer says of the book: 'In this pragmatic volume, Avorn sets out an impressive plan for the American health care system to get helpful drugs to those who need them, protect patients from dangerous side effects and keep costs within reasonable limits.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Documentary filmmaker ROSS McELWEE. He's made seven feature-length documentaries. His best known is 'Sherman's March.' His other films include 'Time Indefinite,' 'Something to Do with the Wall,' and 'Six O'Clock News.' His latest film is 'Bright Leaves' about his family's connection to the tobacco industry. His great-grandfather created the brand of tobacco known as 'Bull Durham.' McELWEE is a Visiting Lecturer at Harvard University's Department of Visual and Environmental Studies.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. ROWAN GILLIES is the International President of Médecins Sans Frontières /Doctors Without Borders (MSF). He is a medical doctor and surgeon from Sydney, Australia. Dr. GILLES began working with MSF in 1998 as a field doctor in Afghanistan. Since then he has worked with MSF in Sierra Leone, South Sudan and Liberia. He recently returned from the Sudan.(MORE OF THIS INTERVIEW LATER IN THE SHOW).

(2.) JOHN PRENDERGAST is the co-director of the Africa Program for the International Crisis Group. He's the author of the book, "God, Oil, and Country: Changing the Logic of War in Sudan." Before joining ICG, he was a special advisor to the U.S. State Department, where he worked on a number of issues, including Sudan policy. Before that, PRENDERGAST was executive fellow of the United States Institute of Peace, and before that, director of Africa Affairs at the National Security Council where he provided support to the President, the National Security Advisor, and successive senior directors on overall Africa policy. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Elmer Bernstein; Interview with Peter Sarsgaard; Review of the film "We don't live here anymore." August 20, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458414].

Description of show segment(s)

1. Film composer ELMER BERNSTEIN. He died Wednesday at the age of 82. He was nominated for 14 Academy Awards, but won only one - for his music for the film 'Thoroughly Modern Millie.' His best known film score was for 'The Magnificent Seven' (which was later used for a Marlboro cigarette commercial). His other film scores include 'The Man With the Golden Arm,' 'To Kill a Mockingbird,' 'The Great Escape,' 'Sweet Smell of Success,' and 'The Ten Commandments.' (REBROADCAST from 1/10/91)
2. Actor PETER SARSGAARD. He portrayed editor Chuck Lane in the film 'Shattered Glass.' Previously SARSGAARD played opposite Hilary Swank and Chloe Sevigny in the film 'Boys Don't Cry.' He's currently starring in the new film 'Garden State.' (REBROADCAST from 11/17/03)
3. Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'We Don't Live Here Anymore.'

Interview with Rudy Behlmer; Interview with Steve Ryfle; Interview with Harryhausen. August 23, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825358].

Description of show segment(s)

1. Film historian RUDY BEHLMER on the making of "King Kong." The original movie soundtrack for the 1933 classic film has been reissued on CD. (Rhino) The film was directed by documentarians Merian C. Cooper and Ernest Schoedsack who also worked together on the groundbreaking documentaries, "Grass" and "Chang." The score was by Max Steiner. BEHLMER wrote the liner notes for the new CD. He's also the author of "Behind the Scenes." (REBROADCAST from 12/13/99)
2. STEVE RYFLE is a former Los Angeles Times reporter. Fifty years ago Godzilla, Japan's giant radioactive reptile made his first film appearance. The original Godzilla movie was made in 1954 by Japanese director Ishiro Honda. The film is coming back to theatres in a new uncut version. RYFLE's book about Godzilla is "Japan's Favorite Mon-Star: The Unauthorized Biography of "The Big G"" (ECW books, paperback). (REBROADCAST..."
from 5/26/04) (3.) RAY HARRYHAUSEN, master special effects artist. He created model-animation and composite cinematography techniques. His trademark Dynamation method made possible a whole genre of science fiction and fantasy filmmaking. His films include "The Seventh Voyage of Sinbad," "Jason and the Argonauts" and "Clash of the Titans." (REBROADCAST from 1/06/03)

Interview with Jimmy Webb; Interview with Robert Plant; Interview with Steven Tyler and Joe Perry; Interview with William Shatner. August 24, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825424].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Songwriter JIMMY WEBB. His songs include "MacArthur Park," "By The Time I Get to Phoenix," "Up Up and Away," "Whichita Lineman," "Galveston," and "All I Know." His songs have been recorded by Glenn Campbell, Johnny Cash, Joe Cocker, Linda Ronstadt, Art Garfunkle, and Donna Summer. At one point in the 1960s he had five top ten hits within a 20-month period. WEBB has a lifetime achievement award from the Songwriters Hall of Fame, and he's also been inducted into the Nashville Hall of Fame. (REBROADCAST from 2/10/04) (2.) Former lead singer of the band Led Zeppelin, ROBERT PLANT. Some of their classic rock hits include "Whole Lotta Love", "Rock 'n' Roll", "Black Dog", "When The Levee Breaks" and "Stairway to Heaven." Plant's latest CD, a solo album called "Sixty six to Timbuktu" (Atlantic), includes tracks he recorded before Zeppelin and after. (REBROADCAST FROM 1/22/04) (3.) STEVEN TYLER and JOE PERRY. They are two of the founding members of the band Aerosmith. Aerosmith's hits include "Dream On," "Walk This Way," and "Sweet Emotion." They collaborated with other band members for the book "Walk This Way" (Avon) which traces the bands rise from the music scene in New England to become one of the most successful rock bands in America. The band was inducted into the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame in 2001. (REBROADCAST from 9/10/97) (4.) Actor WILLIAM SHATNER. He's best known for playing Captain James T. Kirk in the Star Trek television series and films. He's starred in a number of films including, recently, 'Miss Congeniality' and 'Dodgeball: A True Underdog Story.' (REBROADCAST FROM 11/1/93)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Composer JOHN BARRY. He's best known for his 11 James Bond scores, including "Goldfinger," and "Thunderball." BARRY has won five Oscars: for the song and score of "Born Free," and for scores for "Lion in Winter," "Out of Africa," and "Dances with Wolves." (REBROADCAST FROM 3/23/99) (2.) Singer TOM JONES. The pop icon first gained fame with the 1960s hits 'It's Not Unusual,' 'Delilah,' and 'What's New Pussycat.' In the last 40 years of his career, he has released over 30 hit singles and several gold and multi-platinum records. In his heyday he was famous for his live performances and for the frenzy he caused amongst his female fans? many of whom threw their underwear onstage and rushed the stage. Jones' name today has come to connote hipness and romance. (REBROADCAST FROM 12/10/03)

Interview with Roger Corman; Interview with Peter Fonda; Interview with Dick Miller; Interview with Victoria Price. August 26, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825891].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker ROGER CORMAN is known as the King of the B-movies, having made hundreds of B-movies, including classics such as "The Little Shop of Horrors," "The Saint Valentine's Day Massacre," and "The Wild Angels." Many actors got their start acting in his films including Peter Fonda and Jack Nicholson. He wrote a memoir "How I Made a Hundred Movies in Hollywood and Never Lost a Dime." (REBROADCAST from 8/2/90) (MORE OF THIS INTERVIEW LATER IN THE SHOW). (2.) Actor PETER FONDA. He's was nominated for an Oscar for his performance in "Ulee's Gold" in 1998. The son of actor Henry Fonda, he's best known for his role in the cult classic "Easy Rider." He's written his memoir, "Don't Tell Dad" (REBROADCAST from 3/19/98) (3.) Actor DICK MILLER. During his first five years in Hollywood he appeared in 35 Roger Corman films, including "Bucket of Blood" and the original "Little Shop of Horrors." While working with Corman he hooked up with director Joe Dante, and has appeared in many of his films. (REBROADCAST from 7/26/90) (4.) VICTORIA PRICE is the daughter of actor Vincent Price, who was best known as the "king of horror" for his performances in horror films. He starred in a number of Roger Corman's films including "House of Usher," "The Pit and

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker JOHN WATERS. He was once crowned the 'The Pope of Trash' by William Burroughs. His 1988 film 'Hairspray' was made into a Tony award-winning Broadway musical. WATERS started photographing video stills off his television screen that became the raw material for his artwork. Many of those are collected in his book 'John Waters: Change of Life' (Harry Abrams Inc.) His film 'A Dirty Shame' opens next month. (REBROADCAST from 2/25/04) (2.) Writer DAVID RAKOFF ('Rack-OFF'). He's a regular contributor to 'Outside,' the 'New York Times Magazine,' and public radio's 'This American Life.' One of his peers, writer Paul Rudnick says of him, 'Rakoff is a comic saint. . . an ideal mix of the crabby and the debonair.' RAKOFF has a collection of essays, 'Fraud.' He's also appearing in an off-broadway show by Amy & David Sedaris. (REBROADCAST from 5/14/01) (3.) TRIUMPH the Insult Comic Dog who appears on 'Late Night with Conan O'Brien.' He's a puppet and the creation of ROBERT SMIGEL who also created the animated short 'TV Funhouse' on 'Saturday Night Live.' TRIUMPH has a CD (no kidding!) 'Come Poop With Me' (Warner Bros) featuring such tracks as 'Underage Bichon' and 'Lick Myself.' TRIUMPH has also appeared on Hollywood Squares and on the MTV Video Music Awards, where one year he almost came to blows with Eminem. (REBROADCAST from 11/20/03)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) U.S. Senator RICK SANTORUM from Pennsylvania. He is now the third ranking Republican in the Senate. He has assignments on the Armed Services Committee; the Agriculture Committee, the Rules Committee, and the Select committee on Aging. He is one of the leading foes of abortion. SANTORUM sponsored the legislation that led to the partial-birth abortion ban. (2.) President of Planned Parenthood

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist DAVID KIRKPATRICK writes for the New York Times. He covers the conservative movement's issues and leaders. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE 2ND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Expansion' the new CD by pianist Dave Burrell (High two label).

Interview with Matthew Brzezinski; Interview with Norman Podhoretz; Commentary on language. September 1, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458327].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist MATTHEW BRZEZINSKI. He has covered the nation's homeland security since 9/11. He's written the new book, 'Fortress America: An Inside Look at the Coming Surveillance State' (out later this fall, Bantam Dell). His article 'Red Alert: how homeland security fell victim to Bush's obsession with Iraq' is the cover story for current edition of Mother Jones magazine. (2.) Former editor of the monthly magazine Commentary, NORMAN PODHORETZ. He is considered the grandfather of the neoconservative movement, which had its birth in the 1970s. PODHORETZ subscribes to the so-called Bush Doctrine of foreign policy, favoring pre-emptive action against those considered a threat. PODHORETZ wrote a 37-page defense of the Bush administration's foreign policy, published in Commentary. It is 'World War IV: How it Started, What It Means, and Why We Have to Win.' (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the differences in the language used to describe Republicans and Democrats.
Interview with Dave Chappelle; Interview with Brad Stine. September 2, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458244].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian DAVE CHAPPELLE. His self-titled variety show on Comedy Central has just been renewed for two more seasons. He's been called the funniest man on television, and Richard Pryor calls Chappelle his favorite comedian. Chappelle himself claims he's 'America's No. 1 source for offensive comedy.' 'Chappelle's Show' is Comedy Central's top ranked broadcast. Season one is now out on DVD, and it is uncensored. Dave Chappelle's movie roles include parts in 'Half-Baked,' 'Robin Hood: Men in Tights,' and 'Con Air.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Christian comedian BRAD STINE. He was having limited success in the secular world, decided to pray for help, and landed on his feet in the evangelical church circuit. He has since moved back to playing for larger audiences as well as churchgoers. His DVDs are the new 'A Conservative Unleashed' and last year's 'Put A Helmet On.'

Interview with John Fogerty; Interview with Chris Stamey; Interview with Kris Kristofferson; Review of the film "Vanity Fair." September 3, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458419].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and songwriter JOHN FOGERTY. He has a new CD,'Deja Vu All Over Again.' (Geffen). His early work with the Creedence Clearwater Revival: "Who'll Stop the Rain," "Down on the Corner," "Bad Moon Rising," and "Proud Mary." FOGERTY is currently participating in the Vote for Change tour along with Bruce Springsteen. (REBROADCAST from 6/2/98) (2.) rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Travels in the South,' the new album from Chris Stamey ('STAY-mee') (3.) Singer and actor KRIS KRISTOFFERSON. His hit songs "Me and Bobby McGee," and "Help Me Make it Through the Night," earned him acclaim as a country singer. His musical success led him to films, and he went on to act in westerns ("Pat Garrett and Billy the Kid"), comedies ("Semi-Tough"), and musicals ("A Star is Born"). He was recently selected to be inducted into the Country Hall of Fame. (REBROADCAST from 3/23/88) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Vanity Fair,' starring Reese Witherspoon and Gabriel Byrne.
Interview with Ricky Gervais; Peter and Bobby Farrelly. September 6, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458137].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer, director, and actor RICKY GERVAIS ('GER-vase') of the hit BBC sitcom, 'The Office.' (It can be seen in the U.S. on the BBC America) GERVAIS stars as the self-obsessed middle manager David Brent. The satirical 'The Office' is shot in documentary style and follows the goings-on at a suburban paper company where 'life is stationary.' It was awarded the prestigious Peabody Award and two Golden Globes here in the U.S. The second season of 'The Office' is available on DVD. (Original airdate: 4/12/04) (2.) Filmmakers PETER & BOBBY FARRELLY. The two brothers have become practically the brand name for bad taste. Their movies "Dumb and Dumber," "Kingpin," "There's Something About Mary" and "Shallow Hall," plumbed new depths of tastelessness. But their fans love the films, and despite their gross out humor, the FARRELLYS seem to create characters that audiences care about. Their recent film "Stuck on You" is now out on DVD. It's about two brothers who are Siamese twins. It stars Matt Damon and Greg Kinnear. It's supposedly their most autobiographical film. (Original airdate: 12/9/98)

Interview with David Goldberger; Interview with Richard Kelly; Commentary on brand names. September 7, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458170].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Architecture critic PAUL GOLDBERGER. We discuss the plans for rebuilding Ground Zero in Lower Manhattan, and the debates surrounding those plans. Goldberger says idealism met cynicism at ground zero, and so far they have battled to a draw. Goldberger is the architecture critic for the New Yorker. He joined the New Yorker in 1997, following 25 years writing for The New York Times, where he won a Pulitzer Prize in 1984 for architecture criticism. His new book is 'Up from Zero: Politics, Architecture, and the Rebuilding of New York.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Writer/director RICHARD KELLY. His 2001 cult film 'Donnie Darko' has been released in a new director's cut version. The film stars Jake Gyllenhaal, Drew Barrymore, and Maggie Gyllenhaal. The film mixes time-travel, coming-of age drama, sci-fi, and surreal suburban angst. (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on brand names.
Interview with Wayne Slater; Review of Gillian Gill's "Nightingales." September 8, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458186].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist WAYNE SLATER. He is the co-author of the book, 'Bush's Brain: How Karl Rove Made George W. Bush Presidential' (with co-author James Moore-published now in paperback). It's about the influence of White House Senior Advisor Karl Rove on President Bush. Rove has been involved with the Bush family for nearly 30 years and has worked with George W. bush on every one of his campaigns. SLATER has covered Bush for years and is the Austin bureau chief of the Dallas Morning News. There's now a new documentary based on the book. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Nightingales: The Extraordinary Upbringing and Curious Life of Miss Florence Nightingale' by Gillian Gill (Ballantine).

---

Interview with Michael Klare; Interview with Laura Dern; Review of Fiery Furnaces' new album, "Blueberry Boat." September 9, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458139].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author MICHAEL KLARE. With the world's economy increasingly dependent on oil, and the old standby reserves being rapidly depleted, the world's powers are jockeying to control global oil supplies. In his new book, 'Blood and Oil: The Dangers and Consequences of America's Growing Petroleum Dependency' (Metropolitan, 2004) notes that many oil reserves lie in unstable areas in Central Asia, South America, and Africa. This means that countries like the US end up using their armed forces to control these resources. KLARE is director of the Five College Program in Peace and World Security Studies at Hampshire College in Amherst. His previous books include 'Resource Wars' (Metropolitan, 2001) and 'Rogue States and Nuclear Outlaws' (Farrar Straus & Giroux, 1995). (2.) Actress LAURA DERN. She stars in the new film 'We Don't Live Here Anymore,' based on a pair of short stories by Andre Dubus. She's appeared in a number of films, including 'Focus,' 'I Am Sam,' 'October Sky,' the Jurassic Park movies, 'Wild at Heart,' and 'Blue Velvet.' She also appeared in the famous 'coming out' episode of the sitcom 'Ellen.' Her father is actor Bruce Dern. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Blueberry Boat,' the new album from rocking brother and sister duo Fiery Furnaces.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) FATHER GREG BOYLE. He is a Jesuit Priest who has worked with gangs in East Los Angeles since 1986. He was originally supposed to work with the Dolores Mission there for a six-year term, but when the time came to leave, the community revolted and he was allowed to stay. He's received national acclaim for his work helping the people he works with to find jobs and quality schooling. The 1995 book about Father Boyle will be released in paperback on 9/15/04 under the title, 'G-Dog and the Honeboys,' by Celeste Fremon. (Original airdate: 2/17/04. THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) We speak with Father Boyle by phone for an update. (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Cellular,' a thriller starring Kim Basinger.

Interview with Donovan Leitch; Interview with Kristin Gore. September 13, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458191].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer DONOVAN LEITCH. He's known best by his first name alone. Donovan's got a new album called "Beat Cafe?." It's his first album in 8 years. Donovan's best known for his hits of the psychedelic era, such as "Mellow Yellow," "Sunshine Superman" and "Catch the Wind." Donovan who is now 58 years old, grew up in Glasgow, and was a big part of the groovy San Francisco scene in the late 1960s. He dropped out of the music business for most of the 1990s, although he recorded an album in 1994 produced by Rick Rubin. Donovan has been attributed with coining the phrase Flower Power, but he says he owes it all to beat poet Allan Ginsberg. (2.) Writer KRISTIN GORE. The daughter of former presidential candidate, Vice President Al Gore has just written her first novel, "Sammy's Hill" (Miramax Books). It's about a young health care analyst who is trying to balance her personal life with her work for a US Senator. Gore has been a TV writer since she graduated from Harvard, where she wrote for the "Harvard Lampoon." She has written for "Saturday Night Live" and "Futurama."

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Investigative reporter SEYMOUR M. HERSH. 35 years ago, Hersh won a Pulizer Prize when he broke the news of the massacre at My Lai in Vietnam. Earlier this year, his reporting in "The New Yorker" broke the story about abuse and torture in Abu Ghraib. His new book called "Chain of Command: The Road from 9/11 to Abu Ghraib" (Harper Collins), includes the reporting he has done for The New Yorker over the 3 years since September 11th, plus some new findings. Besides the Pulitzer Prize, Hersh has also received 4 George Polk awards, as well as a National Magazine Award for Public Interest for his work on intelligence and the Iraq War. He has also written for The New York Times. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews new re-issues of Duke Ellington recordings between 1950 and 1961: 'Blues in Orbit,' 'Masterpieces By Ellington,' 'Piano in the Background,' and 'Piano in the Foreground.'

Interview with Christopher Dickey; Review of composer Paul Hindemith's 3-CD box set. September 15, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458141].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CHRISTOPHER DICKEY is Paris bureau chief and Middle East regional editor for Newsweek magazine. He's the author of the new novel, 'The Sleeper.' It's a thriller about a former terrorist living the U.S. who goes to hunt down his former Al Queda comrades after September 11th. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new 3-CD box set or recordings of composer Paul Hindemith conducting his own works. (Deutsche Grammophon)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Cartoonist ART SPIEGELMAN. He won a Pulitzer prize for his two part graphic novels about his father in Nazi Germany and the holocaust 'Maus: A Survivor's Tale: My Father Bleeds' and 'Maus: A Survivor's Tale: Here My Troubles Began.' His new graphic nonfiction novel is about his family's experience on September 11th, 'In the Shadow of No Towers.' (Pantheon). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Remembering lyricist Fred Ebb. He died on Saturday of a heart attack. We'll hear from his longtime collaborator, JOHN KANDER. They wrote the scores for 11 Broadway musicals, winning Tony Awards for 'Cabaret,' 'Woman of the Year,' and 'Kiss of the Spider Woman.' They also wrote 'Chicago,' a film adaptation of which won an Academy Award in 2002. (INTERVIEWS WITH JOHN KANDER FIRST AIRED May 7, 1991 and February 26, 2003). (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Love Wife' by Gish Jen.

Interview with Branford Marsalis; Interview with Wynton Marsalis; Interview with Branford Marsalis; Review of two new films "Mr. 3000" and "Wimbledon." September 17, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458166].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Saxophonist BRANFORD MARSALIS. He was born into one of the great jazz families?his father is pianist Ellis and his brother is trumpet player Wynton Marsalis. In the nearly two decades that he has released solo albums, he's won two Grammy Awards and was nominated for a third in 1995. He was the first band leader for Jay Leno's 'The Tonight Show' and appeared on the show from 1992-1995. In addition to the solo and ensemble records he's released, Marsalis has participated in various film scores as both composer and featured soloist. He has a new album, 'Eternal,' on Rounder Records. (THIS INTERVIEW FIRST AIRED OCTOBER 21, 2002) (2.) Grammy Award winning jazz musician WYNTON MARASLIS. He's the brother of Branford Marsalis. Wynton has been playing the trumpet since he was six, and won his first Grammy at 20. He's won a total of nine Grammys. He's also the first jazz musician to win the Pulitzer Prize. His latest album is 'The Magic Hour.' MARSALIS is the cofounder and artistic director of Jazz at Lincoln Center. (Original airdate: 12/7/94) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews two new films, 'Wimbledon' and 'Mr. 3000.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JASON DEPARLE ('de-PAH-rl'). He is the New York Times welfare policy reporter. His new book is 'American Dream: Three Women, Ten Kids and a Nation's Drive to End Welfare.' DeParle tracks the lives of three families in Milwaukee affected by welfare reform laws. (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'The Great Divide,' the new CD by saxophonist Von Freeman (Premonition). (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI has some thoughts about the fall season, which begins tonight. He'll give us his picks for the two best new shows.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JON LEE ANDERSON. His new book is 'The Fall of Baghdad.' Anderson writes the 'Letters from Baghdad' column for the New Yorker magazine, and became the go-to guy for CNN, NPR and others in search of a first hand account of the conflict in Iraq. Anderson's conversations with citizens, including an artist, a driver and a plastic surgeon, as well as his travels around the country, formed the basis of his new book. His other books include 'The Lions Grave: Dispatches from Afghanistan,' and 'Che Guevara: A Revolutionary Life.' (2.) Bail bondsman and bounty hunter TOM EVANGELISTA. The new reality TV series, 'Family Bonds,' is now airing on HBO Sundays at 10:00 PM ET. Evangelista lives on Long Island, NY. His business is to lend people money to post bond, and if they don't pay up, he becomes a bounty hunter on the trail of a fugitive. Evangelista was formerly an insurance underwriter who had a mid-life crisis and decided to go for a more colorful job. His company is All City Bail Bonds, with more than 1,500 clients.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RICHARD A. CLARKE, former member of the National Security Council. His controversial Bush-bashing book, 'Against All Enemies: America's War on Terror,' is now out in paperback. He'll tell us how he thinks the Bush administration missed opportunities to avert the 9/11 crisis. He served on the National Security Council beginning in 1998. During the George W. Bush presidency, Clarke was Special Adviser for Cyberspace Security. Clarke began government service in 1973 in the Office of the Secretary of Defense. He served under Reagan, the senior Bush, Clinton and finally George W. Bush. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'End of the Century,' a new documentary film about the Ramones. All members except the drummer have passed away; Johnny Ramone, the lead guitarist, died last Wednesday (9/15/04).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The Wire's DAVID SIMON and GEORGE PELECANOS. The acclaimed H-B-O series just began its third season. David Simon is the show's creator and executive producer who also writes. Simon was a police reporter for the Baltimore Sun who moved to television and wrote for the show 'Homicide: Life on the Street.' George Pelecanos is a D.C. crime novelist who now writes for T-V and film. Esquire magazine calls him 'the poet laureate of the D.C. crime world.' (2.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews 'Beautiful Dreamer: the Songs of Stephen Foster,' featuring performances by many contemporary artists, including John Prine, Yo Yo Ma and Mavis Staples. (3.) Poker expert PHIL GORDON. He's the co-host of Bravo's 'World Series of Poker.' Gordon made big bucks in the world of hi-tech before winning over a million dollars in poker tournaments. He's a two-time World Poker Tour champion. Gordon worked for Lockheed and then Netsys, which was subsequently sold for {dollar}95 million to Cisco Systems. After that, Gordon went on the road to play poker. His new book is called 'Poker: The Real Deal.' Gordon plays online at www.fulltiltpoker.com. (3.) Critic JON POWERS comments on the power of political blogs.
Interview with Drew Pinsky; Interview with Anne Nivat; Commentary on Erich Kleiber. September 24, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884953].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. DREW PINSKY is the cohost of the syndicated sex advice talk show, 'Lovelife.' Before that he cohosted a show of the same name on MTV. His new book, 'Cracked: Putting Broken Lives Together Again: A Doctor's Story' (ReganBooks, with Todd Gold) is about his work as medical director of an addiction rehab clinic in Southern California. (2.) Freelance journalist ANNE NIVAT ('NEE-VA'). She is based in Moscow and has covered Chechnya since 1996. She is also the author of a memoir about her experiences reporting from Chechnya 'Chienne de Gueere.' (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ considers the recordings by the Viennese conductor Erich Kleiber.

Interview with Pete Rose; Interview with Bernie Mac; Review of the film "Shaun of the dead." September 24, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885168].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Baseball legend PETE ROSE. He is the all-time hits leader with 4,256 hits. He played in over 500 games at five different positions. But he was banned from baseball thirteen years ago when he was accused of gambling on the game. He spent five months in prison for tax charges. In his book 'Peter Rose: My Prison Without Bars' (w/ Rick Hill ? published by Rodale) ROSE admits ? for the first time ? that he gambled on baseball. ROSE still hopes ? and so do many of his supporters ? that one day he will be inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame. There is a new TV movie about the fall of Pete Rose, premiering this weekend on ESPN, called 'Hustle.' (Original airdate: 1/28/04.) (2.) Actor and comedian BERNIE MAC. His new film is 'Mr.3000.' It's about an aging baseball star who returns to the diamond. He's the star of 'The Bernie Mac Show,' a sitcom on Fox. He's also had roles in the film 'Bad Santa,' 'Ocean's Eleven,' 'Booty Call' and 'Mo' Money.' Mac has been a stand up comedian for many years. He's had HBO specials and was featured in the Spike Lee film 'Kings of Comedy.' (Original airdate: 11/27/01) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Shaun of the Dead,' an English comedy about zombies.
Interview with Sebastian Mallaby; Interview with Mike Bonanno; Review of Bryher's reissued book 'Visa for Avalon.' September 27, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885192].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Washington Post columnist SEBASTIAN MALLABY (MAL-uh-bee). His new book is 'The World's Banker: A Story of Failed States, Financial Crises, and the Wealth and Poverty of Nations.' Mallaby profiles World Bank leader James Wolfensohn, who came to the organization on 1995 determined to transform it. (2.) Prankster MIKE BONANNO (buh-NAH-no). Bonanno and his friend Andy Bichlbaum decided to go around the world posing as World Trade Organization representatives giving bogus talks to groups of experts. It was a prank dreamed up by a group of anti-corporate activists, after creating a fake World Trade Organization website. They began receiving invitations for real WTO events that they attended. They fooled everyone. For their last fake WTO gathering, they rolled the camera, and made 'The Yes Men,' a documentary film that has received critical acclaim. It's open in NYC and LA and will open with a wide release on October 1, 2004. There is also a companion book to the film, entitled, 'The Yes Men: The True Story of the End of the World Trade Organization.' (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews a reissued book called 'Visa for Avalon' by Bryher, the pen name of an Englishwoman named Annie Winifred Ellerman. 'Visa for Avalon' is a political allegory first published in 1965.

Interview with James Fallows; Commentary on German countertenor Andreas Scholl. September 28, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972883897].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JAMES FALLOWS. His latest article in the Atlantic Monthly Magazine is 'Bush's Lost Year,' and it's 'an inventory of opportunities lost.' JAMES FALLOWS is the National Correspondent for The Atlantic Monthly. He has written seven books, including 'Breaking the News: How the Media Undermine American Democracy,' and is a commentator on National Public Radio. His articles have appeared in the Industry Standard, Slate, the New York Times Magazine and other publications. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ profiles German countertenor Andreas Scholl.
Interview with Lou Dubose; Commentary on the music scene in Austin, Texas, in the 1980s. September 29, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885193].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Texas journalist LOU DUBOSE. He is co-author (with Jan Reid) of a new book about House Majority leader Tom DeLay, 'The Hammer' (PublicAffairs). Delay's nickname is 'the hammer.' He rose from a small-town Texas exterminator to the most powerful man in congress. DUBOSE was the editor of the Texas Observer for eleven years. He is also co-author, with Molly Ivins of 'Bushwhacked' and 'Shrub.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian ED WARD remembers the rock scene in Austin Texas during the 1980s.

Interview with Jon Stewart; Commentary on the word "Internet." September 30, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885189].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JON STEWART is the host of 'The Daily Show' on Comedy Central. The show is a fake news program that has won an Emmy, the coveted Peabody Award, and most recently the Television Critics Association award. He has a new book, 'The Daily Show with Jon Stewart Presents America (The Book): A Citizen's Guide to Democracy Inaction' (Warner Books). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers how we think about the internet and how that is reflected in the language we use to describe it.

Interview with Steve Martin; Review of the new television show "Desperate housewives;" Interview with James Earl Jones; Review of the new film, "The motorcycle diaries." October 1, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972883896].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor/comedian/screenwriter/playwright and novelist STEVE MARTIN. His latest novel 'The Pleasure of My Company' is now out in paperback and follows his best selling novella 'Shopgirl.' He wrote the play 'Picasso at The Lapin Agile' and is the author of a collection of short stories, "Cruel Shoes." MARTIN's screenwriting credits include "L.A. Story," and "Roxanne." He has also starred in such films... as: "The Jerk," "Planes, Trains and Automobiles," "The Lonely Guy," "Parenthood," "Father of the Bride," "Housesitter," "Dead Men Don't Wear Plaid," "All of Me," "The Man with Two Brains," "Sgt Bilko," "Leap of Faith," "Little Shop of Horrors." He also won a Grammy Award for his album "Let's Get Small." (REBROADCAST from 10/6/03) (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'Desperate Housewives.' (3.) Actor JAMES EARL JONES. His is one of the distinctive voices of our time, yet few people know he fights a stutter; JONES' stage work off-Broadway in Jean Genet's "The Blacks" and Athol Fugard's "The Blood Knot" lead to a Broadway success in "The Great White Way", for which JONES won a Tony. His work in August Wilson's "Fences" won him another. It took one day to record the voice track for Darth Vader in "Star Wars": a performance which lead to many other commercial voice-over projects. There's a new Star Wars Trilogy on DVD. (REBROADCAST from 9/15/93) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Motorcycle Diaries.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) From the NBC surreal comedy "Scrubs," actor ZACH BRAFF and Executive/producer/creator BILL LAWRENCE. BRAFF plays medical resident John "J.D." Dorian. LAWRENCE previously worked on "Spin City." BRAFF made his feature film writing and directing debut with "Garden State" which opened in theatres over the summer to critical acclaim. (2.) We remember actress JANET LEIGH. She became famous for her role in the Alfred Hitchcock film "Psycho." She starred as Marion Crane, the young woman who was killed in the shower by Norman Bates. Leigh wrote about the film in the 1995 book "Psycho: Janet Leigh Behind the Scenes of The Classic Thriller." She died yesterday. (Original Broadcast: 3/10/99)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Editor-in-Chief of Gourmet Magazine RUTH REICHL ('RYE-shal'). She's just edited a new cookbook that includes over 1,200 recipes culled from 60 years of the magazine's back issues. It's called 'The
Fresh Air With Terry Gross

Gourmet Cookbook' (Houghton Mifflin). REICHL is the author of two best-selling memoirs, 'Tender at the Bone' and 'Comfort Me with Apples.' Before becoming editor of Gourmet, she was restaurant critic of the New York Times, and before that food editor of the Los Angeles Times. (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI. He reviews the new political mock documentary series, "Tanner on Tanner." It will air Tuesdays in October on the Sundance Channel.

Interview with Donald Bartlett and James Steele; Obituary for Rodney Dangerfield. October 6, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972883899].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Investigative reporters DONALD BARLETT and JAMES STEELE. Their new book is called "Critical Condition: How Health Care in America Became Big Business, and Bad Medicine" (Doubleday). Bartlett and Steel have worked together for 30 years. They are currently editors-at-large at Time Magazine. They have won two Pulitzer Prizes and two National Magazine Awards, and their other books include "The Great American Tax Dodge," "America: Who Stole The Dream," and "America: What Went Wrong?" which spent 8 months on the New York Times bestseller list. (2.) Comic and actor RODNEY DANGERFIELD. He died yesterday at the age of 82. He made a career out of his phrase "I don't get no respect." His movies include "Caddy Shack," "Back to School," "Ladybugs," and "Natural Born Killers." He recently published a book about his life, "Rodney Dangerfield: It's Not Easy Bein' Me" (HarperEntertainment). (original broadcast: 07/06/04)

Interview with Peter Jennings, Tom Brokaw, and Dan Rather at the New Yorker festival. October 7, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972883900].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We broadcast excerpts from a recent panel presented by The New Yorker magazine. On the panel were network news anchors: PETER JENNINGS (ABC), TOM BROKAW (NBC) and DAN RATHER (CBS). They discuss the presidential campaign and network news. The panel was moderated by Ken Auletta, a contributor to The New Yorker who writes the Annals of Communications column for the magazine. He's the author of several books including, 'Three Blind Mice: How the TV Networks Lost Their Way.' The panel was part of The New Yorker's fifth annual festival, a weekend celebration of Arts Interview with Tom Waits; Commentary on Presidential debates. October 8, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972883898].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and Songwriter TOM WAITS. Since the 1973 release of his first album, 'Closing Time,' Waits has won over fans with his original songwriting and distinctive, gravely vocal style. One reviewer calls Waits 'the Ultimate hobo boho, a Jack-in-the-box cum storyteller.' Musicians including Johnny Cash, Bruce Springsteen, and Rod Stewart have recorded covers of his songs. He has also acted in films, including Sylvester Stallone's 'Paradise Alley,' Jim Jarmusch's 'Down By Law,' and Robert Altman's 'Short Cuts.' In 2002 he released two albums; 'Alice' and 'Blood Money,' a pair of very different sounding albums, were written and produced by Tom Waits and his wife and long-time collaborator, Kathleen Brennan. His newest CD is 'Real Gone' (Epitaph). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (REBROADCAST from 9/28/88, 5/21/02) (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the presidential debates.

Interview with Martin Smith; Interview with Sarah Polley. October 9, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884696].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Frontline correspondent MARTIN SMITH. He produced the new documentary 'Truth, War and Consequences' (on most PBS stations Thursday, October 9th @ 9PM). It's about the infighting between the Pentagon, State Department, and White House before the Iraq war over the intelligence information about weapons of mass destruction. Over the years SMITH has produced many documentaries for Frontline including 'Kim's Nuclear Gamble,' 'Saudi Time Bomb?' 'In Search of Al Qaeda,' 'Dot Con' and 'Drug Wars.' SMITH'S work has been honored with three George Polk Awards, two Peabody Awards, and the duPont-Columbia Gold Baton. (2.) Actress SARAH POLLEY. She's 24 years old and has been acting professionally since the age of six. She starred the Atom Egoyan films 'Exotica' and 'The Sweet Hereafter.' She's currently starring in the film 'My Life Without Me' based on a story ('Pretending the Bed is a Raft') by Nanci Kincaid. It's about a young working single mother who learns she is going to die, but keeps it a secret, and the changes she makes give her a new sense of liberation. POLLEY also will appear in the upcoming film 'The I Inside' and a remake of the cult horror film 'Dawn of the Dead.'

Interview with Philip Roth; Obituary for Christopher Reeve. October 11, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884961].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pulitzer prize winning novelist PHILIP ROTH. His new book "The Plot Against America" (Houghton Mifflin) imagines a world in which Franklin D. Roosevelt loses the presidency to America's biggest hero and celebrity Charles Lindberg who forms alliances with Germany and Japan. His book "The Human Stain" won the PENN/Faulkner Award for Fiction and was made into a film. It was the third of a trilogy which includes his "American Pastoral" and "I Married a Communist". (2.) We remember actor CHRISTOPHER REEVE. He died yesterday of heart failure at the age of 52. Reeve is known for starring in the "Superman" film series (I,II,III and IV). A 1995 horseback riding accident left him paralyzed from the neck down. After the accident, he became a worldwide advocate for spinal cord research. In 2000, Reeve was able to move his index finger, and a specialized workout regimen made his legs and arms stronger. He also regained sensation in other parts of his body. His books include, "Nothing is Impossible: Reflections on a New Life," and "Still Me." (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 9/30/02)

Interview with David Boies; Interview with Ted Olson. October 12, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884492].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Attorney DAVID BOIES (Pronounced 'BOYS'). His new memoir is called "Courting Justice: From New York Yankees v. Major League Baseball to Bush v. Gore" (Miramax Books). He has been dubbed 'the Michael Jordan of the courtroom." The New York Times once called him "the lawyer everybody wants." Some of his high profile cases include Bush v. Gore and the anti-trust case against Microsoft. His other clients have included George Steinbrenner, DuPont, and Calvin Klein. He is the founding partner of the firm Boies, Schiller, & Felxner. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Attorney TED OLSON. He represented George W. Bush in Bush v. Gore and Bush
v. Palm Beach County Canvassing Board. He then served as Solicitor General for the United States. He's returned to private practice; he's a partner at Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher's Washington, D.C. office.

Interview with Howard Dean; Interview with Pat Buchanan. October 13, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884493].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) HOWARD DEAN. The former Vermont Governor rose to national prominence as a democratic presidential candidate during the 2004 primaries. He has a new book called 'You Have the Power: How to Take Back Our Country and Restore Democracy in America' (Simon & Schuster, 2004). (2.) Pundit and politician PAT BUCHANAN. He's run for president three times, twice as a Republican and most recently, in 2000, as the Reform Party candidate. His new book is called 'How the Right Went Wrong: How Neoconservatives Subverted the Reagan Revolution and Hijacked the Bush Presidency' (Thomas Dunne, 2004). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MATT STONE is co-executive producer and co-creator of the popular satirical animated series 'SouthPark' now in its eight year on Comedy Central (along with TREY PARKER). The two have collaborated on 'Team America: World Police' ('Putting the 'F' Back in Freedom') a satire of action films featuring a cast of puppets in which a rising Broadway star infiltrates a terrorist network. It opens in theatres later this month. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) J.J. ABRAMS is the executive producer and creator of the ABC series 'Lost' about a group of survivors from an airplane crash marooned on an island. ABRAMS is also the creator and executive producer of the series 'Alias.' And he wrote the screenplays for the films 'Armageddon,' 'Forever Young,' and 'Regarding Henry.' (THIS INTERVIEW WAS CONDUCTED BY FRESH AIR TV CRITIC DAVID BIANCULLI)
Interview with Billy Bob Thornton; Interview with Nancy Sinatra; Review of the film New film "Team America October 15, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884491].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor, director, screenwriter BILLY BOB THORNTON. He is starring in the new film "Friday Night Lights" based on bestselling book about the 1988 season of the Permian High Panthers of Odessa, Texas. THORTON plays coach Gary Gaines. The 1996 film 'Sling Blade' which he wrote, directed and starred in put him on the map and earned him an Academy Award for Best Adapted screenplay. He was nominated for an Academy Award for his role in the 1998 film 'A Simple Plan.' He directed the film 'All the Pretty Horses.' He also starred in the Coen Brothers 'The Man Who Wasn't There,' 'Bandits' with Bruce Willis, and 'Monster's Ball.' Before he got into acting, he was interested in a music career.

(REBROADCAST from 1/9/02) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) NANCY SINATRA, daughter of Frank Sinatra. She's recorded a few hits of her own including "These Boots are Made for Walking," and "Something Stupid," the duet she recorded with her father. NANCY SINATRA wrote a book about her father, "Frank Sinatra: An American Legend." Her recent albums include "One More Time" (1995) and her new one, "Nancy Sinatra" (Sanctuary Records).

(REBROADCAST from 12/12/95) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Team America' the new spoof of action adventure films starring marionette puppets. It's by the makers of Comedy Central's 'South Park.'

Interview with Michael Moore; Review of the documentary film "Tarnation." October 18, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884960].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Documentary filmmaker MICHAEL MOORE. His controversial film 'Fahrenheit 9/11' won best picture at Cannes and broke box office records for a documentary. It's now out on DVD and video. MOORE's other films are "Roger & Me" and "Bowling for Columbine." His books include "Stupid White Men," and "Will They Ever Trust Us Again?" He also directed and hosted the TV series "TV Nation" and "The Awful Truth." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Tarnation' ? a documentary written and directed by Jonathan Caouette about his turbulent childhood, growing up with a mentally ill mother. He made the film on his home computer.

Interview with David Balsiger; Interview with John Lind; Review of two novels ?Toast October 19, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884958].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Documentary producer DAVID BALSIGER. His film 'George W. Bush: Faith in the White House' has been released as an 'alternative' to Michael Moore's 'Fahrenheit 911.' Interviewees in the documentary share their experiences on how President Bush demonstrates his faith. The film was introduced at the Republican National Convention, and is now on DVD. It was produced by Grizzly Adams Productions. (2.) JOHN LIND is President and CEO of 'The Presidential Prayer Team' (PPT) which is urging voters to pray each day for the President and the nation, to hold prayer parties and become members of the non-profit non-denominational organization. The PPT was founded in response to the 911 attacks. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Toast: the Story of a Boy's Hunger' (Gotham Books) by Nigel Slater, and 'Lilla's Feat: A Story of Food, Love, and War in the Orient.' (Ballantine Books) by Frances Osbourne.

Interview with Joni Mitchell; Review of 2-DVD versions of Federico Fellini's 'La Dolce Vita.' October 20, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884495].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer-songwriter JONI MITCHELL reflects on her life and 30 years in music. She has two new anthologies, one of well known recordings, 'Dreamland' and another of lesser known recordings, 'The Beginning of Survival' (both on Rhino). (2.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS reviews a new 2-DVD version of Federico Fellini's 'La Dolce Vita' (on Koch Lorber).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former U.S. President JIMMY CARTER. He has 18 books to his credit - including memoirs and non fiction, reflecting on his work as a mediator, his life in the Whitehouse, his childhood, and his spiritual life. His first book of fiction 'The Hornet's Nest' is now out in paperback. He received the Nobel Peace Prize almost two years ago. (2.) TV Critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews a two-hour 'The Office' special, airing tonight on BBC America.

Interview with Robert Mankoff; Interview with Roz Chast; Interview with Gahan Wilson; Interview with Bruce Eric Kaplan; Review of the film "Sideways." October 22, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884494].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ROBERT MANKOFF, cartoon editor of the New Yorker magazine. He also runs The Cartoon Bank. A new 80th anniversary collection, 'The Complete Cartoons of the New Yorker' (Black Dog & Leventhal, 2004), has just been published. Mankoff wrote 'The Naked Cartoonist: A New Way to Enhance Creativity.' It's a how-to of cartooning and a collection of New Yorker cartoons, including many of Mankoff's own. (REBROADCAST from 11/27/02) (2.) Cartoonist Roz Chast, whose quirky pen-and-ink drawings have appeared in The New Yorker since 1978 and has published over six hundred cartoons in the magazine. Her most recent book is 'The Party After You Left: Collected Cartoons 1995-2003.' One reviewer writes, 'Her wit, humor and style are distinctive and sharp, poking fun at fads, fears and foibles with a gentle walking stick rather than a barbecue skewer.' (3.) Cartoonist GAHAN WILSON. His cartoons are dark and twisted and have appeared in The New Yorker for decades. His new collection will be published in December, 'The Best of Gahan Wilson' (Underwood Books). His cartoons have been published in 'Playboy,' 'Esquire,' and 'National Lampoon.' (REBROADCAST from 1986) (4.) BRUCE ERIC KAPLAN. If you know him by his full name, you probably watch Six Feet Under on HBO, of which he's Co-Executive Producer. If you know him by his initials, B.E.K., you probably read The New Yorker, where his single-panel cartoons are regularly featured. A collection of his cartoons, 'This is a Bad
Time,' came out this summer from Simon and Schuster. (REBROADCAST from 6/16/04) (5.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Sideways.'

Interview with Matt Groening; Interview with Elizabeth Sifton; Commentary on the film "The singing detectives." October 23, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885039].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The creator of the Simpsons MATT GROENING (pronounced graining ). Earlier this year the Simpsons celebrated its 300th episode, making it the longest running animated series on TV. (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the new FILM 'The Singing Detective' starring Robert Downey Jr. David was a big fan of the BBC mini series it was based on. (3.) ELISABETH SIFTON is the daughter of American theologian Reinhold Niebuhr, who wrote the prayer known as the Serenity Prayer. The prayer appeals for grace, courage and wisdom. It has become a mantra of Alcoholic Anonymous, but has appealed to and been quoted by many people all over the world. Niebuhr wrote it in 1943. SIFTON's new book about her father and the circumstances that led to the prayer is, 'The Serenity Prayer: Faith and Politics in Times of Peace and War.' (Farrar, Straus, & Giroux). SIFTON is senior vice president of Farrar, Straus, and Giroux and has been an editor and book publisher for forty years.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Music writer and musician LENNY KAYE. He is Patty Smith's guitarist. KAYE's writing has appeared in Rolling Stone, The Village Voice, and Creem. His new book is 'You Call it Madness: The Sensuous Song of the Croon' (Villard). It's about the male singers in the 1930s known for their suave, and sophistication and romantic interpretations of song. They were the crooners: Bing Crosby, Rudy Vallee, and Russ Columbo. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Novelist RUSSELL BANKS is the author of many works of fiction including 'Continental Drift,' Interview with Chris Satullo and John Timpane; Interview with Bruce Dold and Dodie Hofstetter; Review of Stephen Greenblatt's "Will in the World." October 26, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884837].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) From the major metropolitan newspaper The Philadelphia Inquirer: editorial page editor CHRIS SATULLO, and commentary page editor JOHN TIMPANE. The paper is running a 21 day endorsement of John Kerry, outlining 21 reasons why voters should elect him President. Then on the Op-Ed page, they've invited guest commentators (many of them prominent Republicans) to write about the reasons why voters should elect Bush instead. (2.) From the major metropolitan newspaper The Chicago Tribune: editorial page editor BRUCE DOLD, and letters editor DODIE HOFSTETTER. Chicago is considered to be a Democratic city. The paper has endorsed President Bush. They received thousands of letters and emails in response, much more than usual. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Will in the World: How Shakespeare Became Shakespeare' (W.W. norton) by Stephen Greenblatt.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Contributing editor at Vanity Fair magazine, DAVID MARGOLICK. He co-authored the investigative article in the October issue of the magazine, 'The Path to Florida: What Really Happened in the 2000 Election. And What's Going On Right now!' For the article, MARGOLICK talked to some of the supreme court law clerks who were there at the time of the decision in the 2000 presidential election.(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) DAN SELIGSON is an editor at the Election Reform Information Project (electionline.org), a nonpartisan organization. He'll discuss their recent report, 'Election Preview 2004: What's Changed, What Hasn't and Why.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Host of ABC'S "Nightline" TED KOPPEL. He talks with Terry about covering the election. KOPPEL is the author of the book "Nightline: History in the Making and the Making of Television" (published in 1996). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the word 'entrepreneur.' (3.) Rock & Roll historian ED WARD reviews 'Smile' (Nonesuch) the album Brian Wilson of the Beach Boys began working on after 'Pet Sounds' that hasn't been released until now.

Description of show segment(s)

(2.) Former Marine captain JOSH RUSHING. Last year he was a press officer stationed at Centcom (United States Central command) presenting the American military point of view on the war to the world press. He was featured in the documentary 'Control Room' which was filmed inside the Arab network Al Jazeera (it's now out on DVD). RUSHING was noticed for his open-mindedness and sincerity. He decided to leave the military after the Pentagon ordered him to stop commenting on the documentary. RUSHING has said, 'the big thing for my generation is for these two perspectives ? my perspective, the Western perspective, and the Arab perspective ? to understand each other better...because, truly, the two worlds are colliding at a rapid rate.' Before he was sent to The Middle East, RUSHING worked in Hollywood negotiating script content with big budget studios on behalf of the US military. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS reviews 'The Battle of Algiers' about the Algerian struggle for independence from the French in the 1950s and 60s. The film was made nearly forty years ago, and has a score by Ennio Morricone. It's just come out on DVD.

Description of show segment(s)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Political commentator DAVID FRUM. From January 2001 to February 2002 he was a special assistant to President Bush for economic speech-writing. He held the position during the 9-11 attacks and he is the man responsible for the oft-repeated Bush term 'axis of evil.' FRUM is the author of the book, 'The Right Man: The Surprise Presidency of George W. Bush' an inside account of the White House. (2.) Senior Editor at The New Yorker HENDRIK HERTZBERG. Last week The New Yorker endorsed John Kerry for president. HERTZBERG frequently contributes to the magazine's Talk of the Town section. He is also the author of 'Politics: Observations and Arguments, 1966-2004.' Hertzberg was on the staff of the New Republic magazine for much of the 1980s. He also spent time in the White House from 1979 to 1981 as Jimmy Carter's speechwriter. (3.) Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS talks with Terry about last night's election coverage.
Interview with Mark Bowden; Interview with Phil Jackson. November 4, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884838].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MARK BOWDEN is a national correspondent for The Atlantic Monthly. His article about the 25th anniversary of the Iranian Hostage crisis will be featured in the December issue. On November 4, 1979 a group of Iranian students stormed the U.S. Embassy in Tehran and took hostage the entire American diplomatic team - which resulted in a 15-month international crisis that still has reverberations today. BOWDEN interviewed the former hostage-takers for his article. BOWDEN is also the author of the books 'Black Hawk Down,' and 'Killing Pablo.' His new book is 'Road Work: Among Tyrants, Heroes, Rogues, and Beasts' (Atlantic Monthly Press) which collects his nonfiction writing.(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Former NBA coach PHIL JACKSON. In his last season with the Los Angeles Lakers, he was as much a diplomat as a basketball coach. His two superstars, Shaquille O'Neal and Kobe Bryant, were feuding, and Bryant was in the midst of a sexual assault trial. JACKSON resigned at the end of the season, and O'Neal departed to play for the Miami Heat. JACKSON has a new book, called 'The Last Season: A Team in Search of Its Soul' (Penguin, 2004). He is one of the winningest coaches in the history of the NBA, winning 6 championships with the Chicago Bulls and 3 with the Lakers.

Interview with Steve Schneider; Interview with Chuck Jones; Review of the film "The Incredibles." November 5, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885175].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) STEVE SCHNEIDER is the owner of one of the largest private collections of Warner Bros. cartoon art. There's a new DVD collection of Warner Brother's Looney Tunes, "Looney Tunes - Golden Collection, Vol. 2" SCHNEIDER was the guest curator of a 1985 exhibition saluting the Warner animation studio. His book is called 'That's All Folks! The Art of Warner Bros. Animation.' (REBROADCAST from 12/19/88) (2.) Animator CHUCK JONES. He was the animation director responsible for many of Warner Brothers greatest cartoons: Bugs Bunny, Daffy Duck, Porky Pig, and Road Runner. There's a new DVD collection of Warner Brother's Looney Tunes, "Looney Tunes
- Golden Collection, Vol. 2" JONES died in 2002. (REBROADCAST from 10/18/89) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new Pixar animation film, 'The Incredibles.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) L.A's theatre improv group The Groudlings celebrated its 30th anniversary last month. The Groudlings launched the careers of the actors and/or comics Phil Hartman, Lisa Kudrow, Julia Sweeney, Jon Lovitz, Will Ferrell, Chris Kattan, and Paul Reubens. We talk with the group's founder GARY AUSTIN who went on to work with the Deaf West Theatre in North Hollywood, where he conducts workshops of deaf and hearing actors. And we hear from former member, CHERYL HINES who now co-stars in HBO's 'Curb Your Enthusiasm' as Larry David's wife. (CONTINUED IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Snakebite: Blacktop Ballads and Fugitive Songs' the new CD by Stan Ridgway.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Founding guitarist and vocalist JAMES HETFIELD of the metal band, 'Metallica.' HETFIELD also co-writes many of the songs for the group which has been around since the 1980s. The new documentary 'Metallica: Some Kind of Monster' (by filmmakers Joe Berlinger and Bruce Sinofsky) catches the band at a time of crisis, when their bass player quits and the group hires a 'therapist and performance-enhancement coach' to help them sort things out. Also during the filming, HETFIELD storms out and enters rehab. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews new collections of Bollywood film music: Bollywood for Beginners (Nascente label); The Best of Bollywood: 15 Classic Hits from the Indian Cinema (Hip-O records); and The Very Best of Bollywood Songs II (Outcast label).
Interview with Edmund White; Interview with Mike Leigh; Review of the DVD version of the show "Mary Martin and Ethel Merman November 10, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884883].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) EDMUND WHITE has been writing about gay culture in fiction and nonfiction since the 1970s. He is the author of 17 books including a trilogy of autobiographical novels: 'A Boy's Own Story,' 'The Beautiful Room Is Empty,' and 'The Farewell Symphony.' He won the National Book Critics Circle Award for 'Genet: A Biography.' His new book is a collection of his essays, 'Arts and Letters' (Cleis Press). WHITE is director of the creative writing program at Princeton University. (2.) British film and theatrical director MIKE LEIGH (pronounced "Lee"). In the U.S. he's best known for his films "Life is Sweet" "High Hopes" and "Naked." Though he's been making films for British television and theatre for 30 years. His social-realist comedies depict British working class life. He begins work on his films without a script, piecing them together from improvisations with his cast. His latest film is 'Vera Drake' about a working class woman in Britian in the 1950s who secretly performs abortions. (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new DVD, 'Mary Martin and Ethel Merman: Their Ford 50th Anniversary Show Appearance' (on the VAI label).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) GEORGE CARLIN - the comic whose seven dirty words routine was the center of a famous obscenity case in the 1970s. He has a new book, "When Will Jesus Bring the Pork Chops?" (Hyperion). His other books include "Napalm & Silly Putty," and "Brain Droppings." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Critic MILO MILES reviews the documentary about the influential recording engineer Tom Dowd, who for three decades worked with performers from John Coltrane, Ray Charles, Aretha Franklin and Eric Clapton. The documentary is now on DVD. It's called 'Tom Dowd & The Language of Music.'
Interview with John Micklethwait and Adrian Wooldridge; Review of Tab Smith's 'Crazy Walk.' November 11, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884923].

Description of show segment(s)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Critic JOHN POWERS reviews a new DVD of John Cassavetes films (on Criterion). It includes Shadows/Faces/A Woman Under the Influence/The Killing of a Chinese Bookie/Opening Night. (2.) Actress GENA ROWLANDS collaborated with her late husband, actor/screenwriter/and director, John Cassavetes for thirty years. She won acclaim for her performance in "A Woman Under the Influence" and "Gloria." (REBROADCAST from 12/2/96) (3.) Actor PETER FALK (like 'TALK'). He co-starred in the Cassavetes films, "Husbands," and "A Woman Under the Influence." FALK is best known for his role as a rumpled L.A. detective in the TV series "Columbo," where he garnered three Emmy awards. There's also a new DVD "Columbo-The Complete First Season" (REBROADCAST from 3/15/95) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Kinsey' the new film starring Liam Neeson as the famous Dr. Alfred Kinsey who conducted the first scientific studies on human sexual behavior.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist REX PICKETT. His novel 'Sideways' (St. Martin's Griffin, in paper) has been made into a critically acclaimed film by director Alexander Payne (who made "About Schmidt" and "Election"). It's about two ex-college roommates, now middle-aged who set off on a week's trip thru California wine country. One is a divorced neurotic wine snob; the other is a soon-to-be-wed philanderer. One reviewer writes of the book, "A raucous and surprising novel filled with wonderful details about wine, "Sideways" is a thought provoking and funny book about men, women, and human relationships." (2.) 31 year-old JONATHAN CAOUETTE (Co-ET) has made his film making debut with the autobiographical documentary 'Tarnation.' He made it on his home computer for only {dollar}218. It includes snapshots, super-8 home movies, answering machine messages, and dramatic reenactments from his chaotic upbringing in a dysfunctional Texas family. CAOUETTE's mother was mentally-ill. CAOUETTE suffered abuse and neglect. He began documenting his life when he was eleven. 'Tarnation' caused a sensation at the Sundance Film Festival this year. The film's executive producers were Gus Van Sant and John Cameron Mitchell. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Arc of Justice: A Saga of Race, Civil rights, And Murder in the Jazz Age' by Kevin Boyle (Henry Holt)

Interview with Tom Kenny; Review of Rod Stewart's "Stardust November 16, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884059].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former standup comic TOM KENNY is the voice of SpongeBob SquarePants the star of his own cartoon show on Nickelodeon cable. SpongeBob lives under the sea in the city of Bikini Bottom where he works as a fry cook at a greasy spoon called the Krusty Krab. He is incurably optimistic and naive. The show premiered in July 1999 and now is a huge hit with children as well as adults, spawning a merchandizing bonanza. There's now a new feature film, 'The SpongeBob SquarePants Movie' which opens nationwide on Nov 19th and a record 'The SpongeBob SquarePants Movie: Music From the Movie and More.' KENNY'S other voices include the narrator and the mayor on Cartoon Network's 'Powerpuff Girls,' Dog in Nickelodeon's 'CatDog,' and Boo Boo on 'Yogi Bear.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JAMES BENNET former Jerusalem Bureau chief for The New York Times. He recently returned to the Middle East to cover the death of Arafat and the jockeying for power among the Palestinian factions. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new CD 'Universal United House of Prayer' by Buddy Miller.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer AUGUSTEN BURROUGHS is the author of two best selling, often funny memoirs. In his first 'Running With Scissors,' he writes about his mentally ill mother who gave him away to her equally mentally ill shrink who then adopted him. BURROUGHS writes, 'I then lived a life of squalor, pedophiles, no schools and free pills.' His second memoir 'Dry' was about getting sober in a 28-day stay at a gay alcoholism-rehab center. BURROUGHS new book is a collection of stories, 'Magical Thinking.' (St. Martin's Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) We feature an excerpt from the radio program, 'LEONARD BERNSTEIN: AN AMERICAN LIFE.' The 11-part documentary series is about the life and work of the preeminent American composer/conductor. It's produced by Steve Rowland, narrated by Susan Sarandon, and distributed by WFMT, Chicago. For info call 1-800-USA-WFMT. (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews two new recent DVD releases of children's TV shows from the 1980s: 'Pee-Wee's Playhouse' and 'Shelley Duvall's Faerie Tale Theatre.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor ROBERT DOWNEY JR. He has a new CD, 'The Futurist' (SonyClassical) which includes songs that he wrote and performs. He starred 'The Singing Detective' based on the Dennis Potter PBS mini-series. He received an Academy Award nomination and won the British Academy Award for best actor for his performance in the title role of 'Chaplin.' He also starred in 'Wonder Boys,' 'Two Girls and a Guy,' 'Natural Born Killers,' and 'The Pick-Up Artist.' He also made his primetime television debut on 'Ally McBeal.' Now in recovery, DOWNEY has struggled with drug addiction for years. (REBROADCAST from 10/22/03) (2.) Canadian filmmaker GUY MADDIN. He's best known for his cult films 'Tales From the Gimli Hospital,' (1998) and 'Careful' (1992). His short film 'The Heart of the World' (2000) won a special award from the National Society of Film Critics and was voted one of the ten best films of the year by J. Hoberman of the Village Voice and A.O. Scott of the New York Times. His most recent film 'The Saddest Music in The World' is now out on DVD. It stars Isabella Rossellini as a beer baroness in search of the saddest music in the world. It also stars Mark Kinney, best known for his work with the Kids in the Hall. The film is a Depression era musical shot mostly in black and white. (REBROADCAST from 4/26/04). (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The SpongeBob SquarePants Movie.'

Interview with Stephen King; Commentary on language; Review of the film "Cat in the hat." November 21, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884523].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer STEPHEN KING. He's just received the Medal for Distinguished Contribution to American Letters at this year's National Book Award ceremony. Author of several best-sellers he is credited with ushering in a whole new era of horror with his first novel, 'Carrie,' published in 1974. His newest novel is The Dark Towers of V: Wolves of the Calla. (ORIG. BROADCAST DATE: 7/22/92, 10/10/00).(2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the differences between American and British English.(3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Cat in the Hat,' starring Mike Myers and Alec Baldwin.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DAN AYKROYD. As one of the original Not Ready for Prime Time Players on Saturday Night Live, he brought to life several classic sketches: the Coneheads, the Wild and Crazy Guys, and the Blues Brothers. He went on to star in a number of films, including 'Trading Places,' 'The Blues Brothers,' and 'Grosse Pointe Blank,' and he received a Supporting Actor Academy Award nomination for his role in 'Driving Miss Daisy.' He co-founded the 'House of Blues' restaurant and concert venue franchise, and he serves on their board. He has a new book in which his Blues Brothers alter-ego, Elwood, interviews blues greats. It's called 'Elwood's Blues: interviews with the Blues Legends and Stars' (Backbeat, 2004). He also appears in the upcoming movie 'Christmas with the Kranks.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Hidden Vagenda,' by Kimya Dawson.

Interview with Madonna; Interview with Sandra Oh. November 23, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884946].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pop icon MADONNA. After a chart topping and occasionally controversial music career, she's now turning out children's books?publishing four in just over a year. The newest is 'The Adventures of Abdi.' The others are 'The English Roses,' 'Mr. Peabody's Apples' and 'Yakov and the Seven Thieves.' A fifth, 'LOTSA de CASHA,' is due out in April 2005. MADONNA CICCONE RITCHIE is from Bay City, Michigan, moved to New York City to pursue a dance career, and signed with Sire Records as a singer in 1982. She's sold close to two hundred million albums worldwide with over 25 top ten singles including 'Material Girl,' 'Vogue,' and 'Like a Virgin.' Her latest Album is 'American Life,' released in 2003. Madonna has won three Grammys. She's starred in several films and has appeared on Broadway. Her role in 'Evita' won her a Golden Globe. (2.) Actress SANDRA OH. She stars in the new film Sideways. Sandra Oh began her career on Canadian TV before coming to America. You may know her work on the H-B-O T-V series Arliss, for which she won a Cable Ace award. Her films include 'Under the Tuscan Sun,' 'Bean,' and 'The Red Violin.' She's appeared on the TV shows 'Six Feet Under' and 'Judging Amy.'
Interview with John Dominic Crossan; Obituary for Cy Coleman; Review of the new movie "Alexander." November 24, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885073].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) FATHER JOHN DOMINIC CROSSAN. His new book is 'In Search of Paul: How Jesus' Apostle Opposed Rome's Empire with God's Kingdom.' (written with Jonathan L. Reed) Crossan was an extremely popular Fresh Air Guest when Terry interviewed him about his book 'The Historical Jesus,' an alternative and fact-based look at the life of Christ. Now Crossan looks at the life of Paul, and describes how the most important Christian value is justice, a lesson as important for the people of today as it was in ancient times. Crossan is professor emeritus of De Paul University, and is regarded as the foremost scholar of historical Jesus. (2.) Composer and pianist CY COLEMAN. We remember the great Broadway songwriter. Coleman died last Thursday at age 75 of heart failure. Coleman wrote some of popular music's most memorable songs, such as "Hey, Look Me Over," "If They Could See Me Now," "Big Spender," and "Witchcraft." He's written the scores for Broadway hits like "Barnum," "Sweet Charity," and "On the Twentieth Century." (Original airdate: 8/17/87) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews Alexander, starring Colin Farrell and Angelina Jolie.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Biographer PHILIP FURIA. ('FEW-ree-uh')His book, 'Skylark: The Life and Times of Johnny Mercer,' comes out in paperback December 9th. Furia documents the life of the legendary lyricist whose songs include 'Moon River,' 'Come Rain or Come Shine' and 'Skylark.' From the 1930s to the 1950s, Mercer dominated the popular song charts. Furia is a professor of creative writing at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington. He's also written biographies of Irving Berlin and Ira Gershwin. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.)Some of classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ's favorite movie themes just happen to belong to films just released on DVD. He reviews four of them?"Gone with the Wind," 'Freaks,' 'I Vitelloni,' and 'The Golden Coach.'
Interview with Dave Thomas; Interview with Catherine O'Hare; Interview with Eugene Levy; Interview with Martin Short. November 26, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885070].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) actor DAVE THOMAS. He first hit it big on Second City TV with a sketch called 'The Great White North.' These days he is doing acting and voiceover work, as well as producing and directing. There is a new SCTV DVD out; it's the second volume of shows. (Original airdate: 6/12/90) (2.) Actress CATHERINE O'HARA. She got her start at SCTV with characters like Lola Heatherton and Dusty Towne, and went on to star in films including the 'Home Alone' series, 'A Mighty Wind,' 'Best in Show,' and 'Waiting for Guffman.' She's also in the upcoming film 'Lemony Snicket's A Series of Unfortunate Events,' opening 12/17/04. (Original airdate: 11/12/92) (3.) Actor EUGENE LEVY. He was one of the founding members of Second City. He played Earl Camembert and Stan Schmenge, among others, on SCTV. He went on to a film career that includes 'Father of the Bride,' the American Pie series and 'Best in Show.' His upcoming film is 'The Man.' (Original airdate: 4/14/88) (4.) Actor MARTIN SHORT. Another SCTV alum, Short went on to Saturday Night Live, bringing his character Ed Grimley along with him. He had his own TV shows, 'The Martin Short Show,' and 'Prime Time Glick.' His film career includes 'Father of the Bride,' 'Captain Ron,' and voiceovers for films such as 'The Prince of Egypt.' (Original airdate: 1/30/89)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor PAUL REUBENS, AKA Pee-Wee Herman. The complete 45 episode series of the TV show "Pee-Wee's Playhouse" is now out on DVD. Reubens originally created the Pee-Wee character at the Los Angeles improv group called The Groundlings. An HBO special followed. In 1985, Reubens made the feature film "Pee-Wee's Big Adventure." "Pee-Wee's Playhouse" went on the air in 1986. It ran on CBS for 5 years, garnering 22 Emmys. In 1991, Reubens was arrested for indecent exposure at a Sarasota, Florida movie theater. Reubens went on to act in films such as "Mystery Men" and "Blow," and had guest appearances on TV shows including "Ally McBeal" and "Everybody Loves Raymond." (2.) We remember fireman turned writer LARRY BROWN. He died last week. He was 53. At the age of 29, Brown decided to become an author, and taught himself fiction writing. He moved from short stories for motorcycling magazines to critically acclaimed works in literary journals to a novel, "Dirty Work." His other works include, the short story "Big Bad Love," (1990), the novels "Joe" (1991), "Father and Son" (1996) and "Fay" (2000), and two works of nonfiction, "On Fire" (1994) and "Billy Ray's Farm" (2001). A final novel, "The Rabbit Factory," was published last year.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Screenwriter and director BILL CONDON. His new film, "Kinsey," stars Liam Neeson, Laura Linney, Peter Sarsgaard, and John Lithgow. It's about the scientist Alfred Kinsey. In the 1940s and 1950s, he pioneered research in human sexuality. Condon interviewed many of Dr. Kinsey's colleagues before writing the script. Condon wrote the screenplay for the 2003 Academy Award winning film "Chicago." Condon also directed the 1998 film, "Gods and Monsters," about filmmaker James Whale. The film was named Best Picture by the National Board of Review and earned Condon the Oscar for Best Adapted Screenplay. (2.) Newspaperman LEROY AARONS. We remember the gay journalist who was the founder and first president of the National Lesbian and Gay Journalists Association. He died Sunday at age 70. He worked at the Washington Post for 14 years, with posts as bureau chief in New York and Los Angeles. (Original airdate 6/25/92)

Interview with Amoz Oz; Commentary on Little Richard's career; Commentary on language. December 1, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884949].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer AMOS OZ. His new book, 'A Tale Of Love And Darkness,' is a memoir of growing up in Jerusalem in the turbulent 1940s and 1950s, when a war-torn Israel was achieving statehood. His home life was as intense as the world outside. In his family, many languages were spoken. His mother committed suicide when Oz was 12. We follow the author as he grows up, joins a kibbutz, becomes a writer and turns politically active. He was born Amos Klausner, but changed his name to Oz, the Hebrew word for strength. Oz has written many works of fiction and non-fiction, including 'A Perfect Peace' and 'To Know a Woman.' He is a professor of literature at Israel's Ben-Gurion University. He has been honored with the French Prix Femina and the 1992 Frankfurt Peace Prize. (2.) Rock historian ED WARD tells us about the middle years of Little Richard's career, when he left pop music for a while, sang gospel, and then returned to rock 'n' roll. (4.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG. He'll talk about the history of the phrase "I'd rather curl up with a good book," and what it says about the way we read.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmakers CALVIN SKAGGS and DAVID VAN TAYLOR. Their new documentary is about the emergence of evangelical Christianity as a powerful political force. 'With God on Our Side: George W. Bush and the Rise of the Religious Right' is being broadcast on the Sundance Channel in the U.S. Van Taylor and Skaggs run the documentary company Lumiere Productions. (2.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'Wodehouse: A Life,' by Robert McCrum.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor ALAN ALDA. His claim to fame is co-starring in the long-running and popular T-V series 'M*A*S*H' as 'Hawkeye' Pierce. This week Alda joins the T-V series 'The West Wing' as a senator. He's also in the new Martin Scorsese film 'The Aviator,' opening later this month. Alda has starred in several Woody Allen films, including 'Manhattan Murder Mystery' and 'Crimes and Misdemeanors.' He also starred in a rash of quintessential 70s movies, including 'Same Time Next Year' and '6 Rms Riv Vu.' Alda wrote and directed many episodes of 'M*A*S*H,' and won 4 Emmys for acting, writing and directing on the show. (Original airdate: 2/18/97) (2.) Comedian and actor PATTON OSWALT. Listeners may know him as the neighbor on CBS's 'The King of Queens.' He is also a regular on Late Night with Conan O'Brien. OSWALT has had the distinction of being booed off the stage by both liberal and conservative minded audiences. He has a debut CD of comedy, 'Feelin' Kinda Patton.' It came out summer 2004. He can be seen performing live these days in Los Angeles, at Mbar and The Largo. He's appeared on the T-V show 'Reno 911.' He's had his own cable comedy specials. He was in the films 'Magnolia,' 'Zoolander' and 'Taxi.' (Original airdate: 7/26/04) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Closer,' starring Jude Law and Natalie Portman, and directed by Mike Nichols.

Interview with Hank Azaria; Interview with Suketu Mehta. December 6, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885183].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor HANK AZARIA. He stars in the new Showtime series 'Huff,' about an urban psychiatrist with troubles of his own. Azaria does the voices of Apu the convenience store owner, Moe the bartender and Clancy the police chief, among others, on 'The Simpsons.' He directed and starred in the film 'Nobody's Perfect,' and has acted in many other movies, including 'The Birdcage,' 'Eulogy,' and 'Shattered Glass.' (2.) Writer SUKETU MEHTA ('soo-KAY-too MAY-tah'). His new book is 'Maximum City: Bombay Lost and Found.' It's an exploration of Mehta's hometown. He returned to his birthplace after a 21-year absence, and his book is an exploration of what he calls the city of the future. Bombay is the world's largest city. Mehta now lives in New York. His work has appeared in the New York Times magazine, Harper's, Conde Nast Traveler and The Village Voice. He co-wrote a Bollywood movie called 'Mission Kashmir.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer DAVID JOHANSEN. He was a member of the early seventies glam-punk band, The New York Dolls. They dressed in drag and played grunge, paving the way for a generation of rough riding rock bands like the Ramones and the Sex Pistols. This year, Morrissey, the singer, asked the New York Dolls to reunite for his UK Meltdown festival. A CD and DVD came of this performance, called 'The Return of the New York Dolls: Live from Royal Festival Hall 2004.' Following the breakup of the New York Dolls, David Johansen took on the persona of Buster Poindexter, a Vegas style lounge singer. In 1987 he had the hit single 'Hot,Hot,Hot.' He went on to an acting career, performing in the films 'Candy Mountain,' 'Married to the Mob,' and 'Scrooged.' (2.) Mystery writer JOSEPH HANSEN. He died Nov 24th at the age of 81. He created the genre's first gay private eye, Dave Brandstetter. He also wrote many other books including mainstream novels and semi-autobiographical works. (REBROADCAST from 12/15/88).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Cardinal THEODORE MCCARRICK. He is Archbishop of Washington and he chairs the Task force on Catholic Bishops and Catholic Politicians. He was installed as Archbishop of Washington on January 3, 2001. He is also chancellor of the Catholic University of America and president of the Board of Trustees of the Basilica of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception. (2.) Rock Historian ED WARD. He reviews the New Bob Dylan autobiography, "Chronicles: Volume One." (3.) Musician and actor STEVE VAN ZANDT. He is the guitarist for Bruce Springsteen and the E Street Band. He plays mob guy Silvio Dante in the hit HBO series "The Sopranos." He's also now a radio DJ. His syndicated show, "Hard Rock Cafe Presents Little Steven's Underground Garage" plays Sunday nights on a number of classic rock stations across the United States. He was the soundtrack executive producer on the new film "Christmas with the Kranks." (4.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG talks about the phrase "curling up with a good book," and what it says about the way we read.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Bishop GENE ROBINSON. He's the world's first openly gay Episcopal bishop. He was elected by the Diocese of New Hampshire. His appointment and confirmation have caused some division in the Episcopal church. ROBINSON was married for 13 years. He continues to be close to his ex-wife and two daughters. For over 16 years, he's been in a relationship with a man. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW), (2.) Bishop ROBERT DUNCAN. He is the moderator of a group formed in opposition to the ordination of Bishop Robinson. Its called the Network of Anglican Communion Diocese and Parishes. Their stated mission is to allow "Episcopalians to remain in communion with the vast majority of the worldwide Anglican Communion who have declared either impaired or broken communion with the Episcopal Church USA (ECUSA). For many Episcopalians, the ACN has come to represent the hope for a return to the historic faith and order of Anglicanism." He is Episcopal Bishop of Pittsburgh.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer DANIEL HANDLER (aka Lemony Snicket) is the author of the children's books "A Series of Unfortunate Events" featuring the orphans Violet, Klaus, and Sunny Baudelaire. The new film 'A Series of Unfortunate Events' based on his books opens on December 17th. In each of the eight books, the orphans face increasing misfortune, from being pursued by an evil Count out to get their inheritance, to undergoing unnecessary surgery. HANDLER's books are filled with literary references and in-jokes that only adults would get. (REBROADCAST from 12/10/01) (2.) Writer MARIO PUZO was best known for the novel "The Godfather" (1969) which spawned three Godfather films (which he also wrote the screenplays for). PUZO died in 1999. There's a new novel based on the characters he created. It's called 'The Godfather Returns' by Mark Winegardner. (REBROADCAST from 7/25/96) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'A Very Long Engagement,' and 'House of Flying Daggers.'

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ARTHUR GREEN is a historian of Jewish religion and a theologian. He is the Dean of the Rabbinical School of Hebrew College. He is also the Philip W. Lown Professor of Jewish Thought at Brandeis University. He has written many books. His latest is 'A Guide to the Zohar' (Stanford University Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'I Am Charlotte Simmons' (Farrar, Strauss & Giroux) by Tom Wolfe.
Interview with John Waters; Review of Albert Ayler's box set, 'Albert Ayler December 14, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885182].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker JOHN WATERS. He has a new CD for the season, 'A John Waters Christmas' (newline records). It includes such songs as 'Here Comes Fatty Claus,' 'Little Mary Christmas,' and 'Santa Claus is a Black Man.' WATERS was once crowned the 'The Pope of Trash' by William Burroughs. His 1988 film 'Hairspray' was made into a Tony award-winning Broadway musical. WATERS started photographing video stills off his television screen that became the raw material for his artwork. Many of those are collected in his recent book 'John Waters: Change of Life' (Harry Abrams Inc.) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new box set, 'Albert Ayler: Holy Ghost' (on Revenant).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RICHARD VIGUIRE ('VIG-ur-ee') is considered the funding father of the the conservative movement. In the 1970s and 80s he pioneered direct mail political fundraising. He is co-author of the book 'America's Right Turn: How Conservatives Used New and Alternative Media to Take Power.' (Bonus Books). He now heads the organization American Target Advertising Inc. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new solo CD by singer-songwriter John Davis, formerly with the punk-pop group Superdrag. It's called 'John Davis' (Rambler records).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DAVID BROCK is the author of the bestselling memoir, 'Blinded by the Right: the Conscience of an Ex-Conservative' (now in paperback). BROCK defected from the Republican Party in the latter half of

Interview with Bill Moyers. December 17, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885197].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist BILL MOYERS. We celebrate his career as he ends his 33-year stint on TV. The last episode of the PBS series 'Now with Bill Moyers' airs Friday December 17th at 8:30 PM ET. We listen back to a trio of interviews recorded with Terry over the last decade. His other shows include 'Healing and the Mind,' 'Joseph Campbell and The Power of Myth,' and 'Creativity.' He's won two Emmys for his work as well as a Peabody Award.(Original airdates: 10/9/96, 9/6/00, 5/13/04)

Interview with Ken Tucker; Interview with David Edelstein; Review of the Season one of 'The wire.' December 20, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885142].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER gives us his top picks in pop for 2004. He runs down his ten best albums, and then talks about some trends of 2004, such as the return of punk, the year of the hip-hop producer, crunk music, and the potential end of an era as iPods and single song downloads replace album purchases. Ken Tucker is also a film critic for New York magazine. (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN tells us his top movies of 2004, and recommends current holiday releases. He'll tell us which movies in 2004 were winners and which were losers. He says there were some great performances in some not-so-great movies. This was a year of documentaries, some of which proved politically divisive. Edelstein is also a film critic for slate.com. (3.) The first season of the H-B-O T-V series 'The Wire' is now out on D-V-D. Critic JOHN POWERS has a review.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times reporter DEXTER FILKINS. He recently accompanied the Marines of Bravo Company of the 1st Battalion, 8th Marines for 8 days in November as they took over Fallujah. Filkins filed over a dozen stories from this extreme close-up perspective. He followed the Marines from the outskirts of the city into the maze of streets, dodging suicide bombers, waking at 1:30 AM to a rebel attack, and even sustaining the threat of friendly fire when the company was mistaken for rebels by U-S troops. Filkins has been with the New York Times since 2000, after reporting for the L.A. Times and the Miami Herald. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THROUGH THE ENTIRE SHOW.)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rapper and actor MOS DEF ('mohz deff'). He plays a cop in the new indie film 'The Woodsman,' also starring Kevin Bacon and Kyra Sedgwick, about a pedophile who moves into the neighborhood. MOS DEF also has a new rap album, called 'The New Danger.' DEF has appeared in the films 'Bamboozled,' 'Monster's Ball,' and 'Brown Sugar.' He made his Broadway debut with the play Topdog/Underdog, and won an Obie for his performance in the off Broadway play 'Fucking A.' MOS DEF will be in the upcoming films 'A Confederacy of Dunces' and 'A Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy.' (2.) Jazz writer DAN MORGENSTERN. His new book, 'Living With Jazz: A Reader,' is the first collection of Morgenstern's writing, including liner notes, record and concert reviews, critical essays and other writings. Morgenstern has been on the jazz scene for more than 40 years, early on as the editor of the jazz magazine Down Beat, and since 1976, he's been the director of the Institute of Jazz Studies at Rutgers University in Newark, NJ. The Institute is billed as the largest collection of jazz related materials anywhere. Morgenstern has won four Grammys for liner notes.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Food scientist HAROLD MCGEE. His book, 'On Food and Cooking: The Science and Lore of the Kitchen,' has been revised and updated. The book is an exposition of food and cooking techniques, technology and history. He diagrams the stages of making mayonnaise under a microscope, explains why peppers are hot, and why seafood gets mushy if you cook it improperly. McGee is a world-renowned authority on the chemistry of cooking. (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews two Christmas albums: 'The OC' has released 'Have a Very Merry Christmukah,' and Dwight Twilly has a new album called 'Have a Twilly Christmas.' (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD talks with Terry about the new jazz releases that are perfect for the music lover on your last minute shopping list. He says there is something for every budget. (4.) We remember reporter JACK NEWFIELD. He died at age 66 in New York. He was known as a muckraker and columnist. He wrote books on Robert F. Kennedy, Rudolph Giuliani and Don King. He wrote for the Village Voice, the Daily News, the New York Post and the New York Sun. In the sixties, he was drawn to the civil rights movement. He traveled with Kennedy during the 1968 presidential campaign and was present at his assassination. (Original airdate: 12/22/88)

Interview with Kevin Spacey; Interview with Nick Venet. December 24, 2004. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885131].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor KEVIN SPACEY. He stars as Bobby Darin in "Beyond the Sea," the new film about the singer, songwriter, and performer. He also produced and directed the film, and he sings Darin's songs in it. Spacey is a two-time Academy Award winner for his performances in "The Usual Suspects" and "American Beauty." His other films include "L.A. Confidential," "Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil," "The Negotiator," and "The Shipping News." Spacey is also performing Darin's songs in a nightclub act. He plays in Las Vegas on December 26th and 27th. (2.) Record producer NICK VENET (ven-NAY). He produced more than 300 albums in his career and collected numerous Grammy nominations and awards.
He was co-producer of a Bobby Darin box set (Rhino). VENET was also Darin's producer and friend. VENET died in 1998. (REBROADCAST from 3/19/96)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former standup comic TOM KENNY is the voice of SpongeBob SquarePants, the star of his own cartoon show on Nickelodeon cable. SpongeBob lives under the sea in the city of Bikini Bottom where he works as a fry cook at a greasy spoon called the Krusty Krab. He is incurably optimistic and naive. The show premiered in July 1999 and now is a huge hit with children as well as adults, spawning a merchandizing bonanza. Kenny is in the feature film 'The SpongeBob SquarePants Movie', and is also on the soundtrack 'The SpongeBob SquarePants Movie: Music From the Movie and More.' KENNY'S other voices include the narrator and the mayor on Cartoon Network's 'Powerpuff Girls,' Dog in Nickelodeon's 'CatDog,' and Boo Boo on 'Yogi Bear.' (Original airdate: 11/16/04) (2.) Actor PAUL REUBENS, AKA Pee-Wee Herman. The complete 45 episode series of the TV show "Pee-Wee's Playhouse" is now out on DVD. Reubens originally created the Pee-Wee character at the Los Angeles improv group called The Groundlings. An HBO special followed. In 1985, Reubens made the feature film "Pee-Wee's Big Adventure." "Pee-Wee's Playhouse" went on the air in 1986. It ran on CBS for 5 years, garnering 22 Emmys. In 1991, Reubens was arrested for indecent exposure at a Sarasota, Florida movie theater. Reubens went on to act in films such as "Mystery Men" and "Blow," and had guest appearances on TV shows including "Ally McBeal" and "Everybody Loves Raymond." (Original airdate: 11/29/04)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Cartoonist MATT GROENING ('GRAY-ning'). He's the creator of the highly acclaimed animated FOX sitcom "The Simpsons." He'll tell us about the evolution of the show, its characters, and his role in production over the course of 300 episodes. Last year he branched out from cartoons as the editor of 'Da Capo Best Music Writing 2003: The Year's Finest Writing on Rock, Pop, Jazz, Country & More.'
Groening began his career as a rock critic before going on to create 'The Simpsons.' He's also the creator of the TV series 'Futurama' and still draws the weekly comic strip 'Life in Hell,' seen in (mostly alternative) newspapers nationwide. (Original airdate: 12/18/03) (2.) Writer SUSAN SONTAG. She died yesterday at age 71. We'll listen back to two interviews. First, a 1993 interview with Sontag conducted by Fresh Air guest host Marty Moss-Coane. Sontag was just back from Sarajevo, where she directed a performance of Beckett's "Waiting For Godot" in Serbo-Croatian. Then, we hear a 1989 interview on the occasion of her book AIDS and Its Metaphors, which examines the way we talk and think about the disease. AIDS and Its Metaphors extends the premise Sontag introduced in her classic essay Illness as Metaphor. Sontag's books include "On Photography," "The Volcano Lover," "Notes on Camp," and "I, Etcetera." (Original airdates: 2/10/89 and 8/25/93) (3.) Actor JERRY ORBACH. He died last night at age 69. He's best remembered at Detective Lonnie Briscoe on the T-V series "Law and Order," but Orbach also had a long and storied career on Broadway, winning a Tony for his role in "Promises, Promises," and appearing in many hit shows including "The Fantastiks," "Guys and Dolls," and "Chicago." He was in many films, including "Crimes and Misdemeanors" "Prince of the City" and "Dirty Dancing." (Original airdate: 11/21/89)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian MORT SAHL. Before The Onion, Weekend Update and The Daily Show, Sahl's shtick satirized the news of the day. Terry spoke to Sahl in December 2003, on the 50th anniversary of his first appearance at The Hungry I Nightclub in San Francisco. Sahl revolutionized stand-up comedy. Before Sahl, tuxedo-clad borscht belt comedians made tame jokes about your mother in law. After Sahl came the dark, satirical wit of comedians like Lenny Bruce, Woody Allen and Bill Cosby. (Original airdate: 12/23/03) (2.) Comedian DAVE CHAPPELLE. He has a self-titled variety show on Comedy Central. He's been called the funniest man on television, and Richard Pryor calls Chappelle his favorite comedian. Chappelle himself claims he's 'America's No. 1 source for offensive comedy.' 'Chappelle's Show' is Comedy Central's top ranked broadcast. Season one is now out on DVD, and it is uncensored. Dave Chappelle's movie roles include parts in 'Half-Baked,' 'Robin Hood: Men in Tights,' and 'Con Air.' (Original airdate: 9/2/04)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DAN AYKROYD. As one of the original Not Ready for Prime Time Players on Saturday Night Live, he brought to life several classic sketches: the Coneheads, the Wild and Crazy Guys, and the Blues Brothers. He went on to star in a number of films, including 'Trading Places,' 'The Blues Brothers,' and 'Grosse Pointe Blank,' and he received a Supporting Actor Academy Award nomination for his role in 'Driving Miss Daisy.' He co-founded the 'House of Blues' restaurant and concert venue franchise, and he serves on their board. He has a new book in which his Blues Brothers alter-ego, Elwood, interviews blues greats. It's called 'Elwood's Blues: interviews with the Blues Legends and Stars' (Backbeat, 2004). He also appears in the movie 'Christmas with the Kranks.' (Original airdate: 11/22/04) (2.) Guitarist and singer MARTY GROSZ (pronounced 'gross'), and cornet player RANDY REINHART. They join us for a special in-studio performance in honor of the 100th birthday of Thomas 'Fats' Waller. He would have been 100 on May 21st. Grosz and Reinhart will perform songs composed by the great pianist and vocalist. Waller wrote many hit songs, appeared in films in the 1930s and 1940s, and wrote Broadway musicals. Some of his best-loved songs include 'Ain't Misbehavin',' 'Honeysuckle Rose' and 'The Joint is Jumpin'. The CD/DVD set released earlier this year is called Fats Waller: The Centennial Collection on Bluebird Records. (Original airdate: 5/19/04)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker ROBERT STONE and reporter TIM FINDLEY. They talk about the new documentary 'Guerrilla: The Taking of Patty Hearst,' which tells the story of the Symbionese Liberation Army. The radical group kidnapped heiress Patty Hearst in 1974. ROBERT STONE tells us about the making of the first feature-length documentary about the SLA and Patty Hearst. Stone's other documentaries include "Radio Bikini," "The Satellite Sky," and "Theremin: An Electronic Odyssey." Journalist TIM FINDLEY tells us about covering the SLA and the kidnapping for the Hearst newspaper The San Francisco Chronicle. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) We remember band leader and clarinetist ARTIE SHAW. He died December 29th at the age of 94, apparently of natural causes. In the 1930s and 40s his band ranked with the Goodman, Dorsie, and Miller bands in popularity. But he rejected many of the pop tunes and stuck with music by composers like Porter, Gershwin, and Berlin. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST - 1985).

Interview with Jared Bernstein; Interview with Dade Hayes and Jonathon Bing. January 4, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/959924934].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Labor economist JARED BERNSTEIN ('Burn-steen'). He is Senior economist and directs the Living Standards Program at the Economic Policy Institute. He co-authored the new report 'The State of Working America 2004-05' (to be published later this month by Cornell University Press). (2.) DAVID HAYES is managing editor of special reports at Variety and JONATHAN BING is deputy managing editor at Variety. The two have collaborated on the new book, 'Open Wide: How Hollywood Box Office Became a National Obsession' (Miramax books/Hyperion). (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the new 3-DVD set 'More Treasures from American Film Archives' (distributed by The National Film Preservation Foundation) a collection of 50 American films made between 1894 and 1931.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Food scientist HAROLD MCGEE. This is the second part of an interview we recorded earlier last month. (The first part was broadcast on 12/22). His book, 'On Food and Cooking: The Science and Lore of the Kitchen,' (Scribner) has been revised and updated. The book is an exposition of food and cooking techniques, technology and history. He diagrams the stages of making mayonnaise under a microscope, explains why peppers are hot, and why seafood gets mushy if you cook it improperly. McGee is a world-renowned authority on the chemistry of cooking. His website is HYPERLINK "http://www.curiouscook.com" www.curiouscook.com. (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Rammer Jammer Yellowhammer: A Journey into the Heart of Mania' (Crown) by Warren St. John, a reporter for The New York Times. The book is about sports mania and the mania surrounding The University of Alabama's football team, The Crimson Tide. (3.) Novelist MIRIAM TOEWS ('TAVES').
She's written her third book, 'A Complicated Kindness' (Basic Books). One reviewer called it 'a kind of Catcher in the Rye for Mennonite girls.' (4.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews two high-action drama series that return to TV this week, 'Alias' on NBC and '24' on FOX.

Interview with Michael Dobbs; Interview with Geoffrey Dobbs; Interview with Sharad Devarajan. January 6, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/959924629].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist MICHAEL DOBBS. He is a staff writer for The Washington Post. When the tsunami hit he and his brother GEOFFREY DOBBS were swimming near the small island Taprobane off the southernmost tip of the island of Sri Lanka. GEOFFREY DOBBS owns the small island where the two brothers and their families had gathered for the Christmas holiday. Michael and Geoffrey survived by hanging on to a catamaran which had been jammed against the shore. The rest of their family survived as well. MICHAEL DOBBS has since returned to the U.S. (2.) Businessman GEOFFREY DOBBS. He is the owner of the small Taprobane island off the southern coast of Sri Lanka. He and his brother MICHAEL DOBBS, a staff writer for the Washington Post, were swimming near the island when the tsunami hit. GEOFFREY DOBBS talks with us from Sri Lanka where he is now involved with relief efforts. (3.) CEO of Gotham Entertainment Group, SHARAD DEVARAJAN ('Sha-ROD Day-va-RAH-ji-in'). His group has licensed the Marvel comics characters to be distributed in South Asia. Their first publication is the 'Spider-Man India' comic featuring Pavitr Prabhakar as Peter Parker.

Interview with Adam McKay; Interview with Jeremy Irons; Review of Michael Radford's film, "The Merchant of Venice." January 7, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/959924671].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director ADAM MCKAY. He directed the movie 'Anchorman,' starring Will Ferrell. It's now out on DVD. It's a spoof of local TV news shows. McKay was the head writer for the T-V show Saturday Night Live from 1997 to 2001. During that time, McKay made a number of short film segments. 'Anchorman' is his first feature length work. McKay was one of the founding members of the Upright Citizens Brigade comedy troupe. He's an alum of the Second City Improv in Chicago, and he's also had many bit parts on SNL. (REBROADCAST from 7/8/04) (2.) Oscar winning British actor JEREMY IRONS talks about his life and career. His newest film is 'Merchant of Venice.' IRONS has appeared in numerous films, television programs and stage productions. His films include: "Reversal of Fortune," "Dead Ringers," "The French Lieutenant's Woman," "Nijinski," and "Die Hard with a Vengeance," "Man in the Iron Mask' and 'Lolita.' (REBROADCAST from 3/30/98) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Merchant of Venice' starring Jeremy Irons and Al Pacino.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Hip-Hop artist, actor, producer ICE CUBE. His new film is 'Are We There Yet?' He stars as a man so eager to get close to a woman that he offers to travel many miles to reunite her children with their mother. The film was made by his production company Cube Vision, where he also made the cult film 'Friday,' and its sequels as well as 'Barbershop' and 'Barbershop 2.' His other film credits are 'Three Kings,' 'Anaconda' and his feature film debut 'Boyz N the Hood.' ICE CUBE's original name is O'Shea Jackson. He first came on the scene with the revolutionary group N.W.A. in the late 1982 known for it's gangsta' rap. Their first album was 'Straight Outta Compton.' As a solo artist ICE CUBE's albums include 'AmeriKKKa's Most Wanted,' 'Death Certificate,' and his albums 'War,' and 'Peace.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TEMPLE GRANDIN is one of the nation's top designers of livestock facilities. She is also autistic. In her 1995 book, Thinking in Pictures she described how her inner-autistic world has led her to develop animal empathy. She is currently an assistant professor of animal sciences at Colorado State University in Fort Collins. Her new book is 'Animals in Translation: Using the Mysteries of Autism to Decode Animal Behavior' (Scribner). (2.) Before he played guitar for Led Zeppelin, Jimmy Page was a session musician in London studios. Rock historian ED WARD will look back at Page's early career. Led Zeppelin will be honored with a Lifetime Achievement Grammy next month.
compulsive disorder known as 'scrupulosity.' TRAIG is a frequent contributor to McSweeney's Internet Tendency and the Forward.

Interview with F.X. Toole; Interview with Elizabeth Sifton; Review of the film "In good company." January 14, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/959924673].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The late writer and former boxing cutman FX TOOLE. At age 70, he published his first book, a collection of short stories about boxing called 'Rope Burns: Stories from the Corner.' The stories became the basis for the new film 'Million dollar Baby.' For twenty years, he was a cut man, stopping the bleeding so fighters could go on to the next round. Toole wrote for 44 years, but it was the publication of his first story in 1999 in a small literary magazine that caught the attention of a book agent. Writers James Ellroy and Joyce Carol Oates praised his book, the former calling it 'the best boxing fiction ever written.' Others compared his literary style to Frank McCourt's. Toole worked as a cabbie, bartender and bullfighter before entering the world of boxing. His real name was Jerry Boyle. (Original airdate: 9/26/00) (2.) Writer ELISABETH SIFTON. She is the daughter of American theologian Reinhold Niebuhr, who wrote the Serenity Prayer. The prayer appeals for grace, courage and wisdom. It has become a mantra of meetings of Alcoholics Anonymous, but has appealed to and been quoted by many people all over the world. Niebuhr wrote it in 1943. Sifton's book about her father and the circumstances that led to the prayer, 'The Serenity Prayer: Faith and Politics in Times of Peace and War,' is now out in paperback. SIFTON is senior vice president of Farrar, Straus, and Giroux and has been an editor and book publisher for forty years. (Original airdate: 10/13/03) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'In Good Company,' starring Dennis Quaid.

Interview with Mavis Staples; Interview with Jelly Roll Morton; Review of the new box set of sacred music "Goodbye Babylon." January 17, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/959924674].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer MAVIS STAPLES. She's best known for her part in The Staple Singers, who will be receiving a Lifetime Achievement Award at this year's Grammys. Her most recent album is 'Have Little Faith.' The Staple Singers' hits include "Respect Yourself," and "I'll Take You There." Mavis Staples began making solo albums in the 1970s. (Original airdate: 6/2/89) (2.) Actor and playwright VERNEL BAGNERIS (ver-NEL BAHN-er-eese) and pianist MORTEN GUNNAR LARSEN. They perform from their show, "Jelly Roll Morton: A Me-morial," with music written by Morton, and a script taken from Library of Congress tapes of Morton from 1938. Jelly Roll Morton will receive a Lifetime Achievement Award at this year's Grammys. The New Yorker called the Jelly Roll Morton show "an experimental study, done within a traditional Broadway-musical framework, of the life and death of a black misanthrope. . . a psychomusical." BAGNERIS also wrote, directed, and performed in the 1979 hit, "One Mo'Time," and it's sequel, "Further Mo'." He is featured on the new album, 'Orange Kellins Blues Serenaders.' He is credited as the choreographer on the recent film 'Ray.' (Original airdate: 11/12/92) (3.) Rock critic ED WARD reviews 'Goodbye Babylon,' a new anthology of early 20th century sacred music from the company dust to Digital.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor KEVIN BACON. He stars in the new film, "The Woodsman." He plays a sex offender just released from prison. Bacon was first recognized in the 1982 film "Diner," and went on to roles in "Mystic River," "A Few Good Men," "Flatliners," and "Footloose." He's made over 50 films and inspired the 6 degrees of Kevin Bacon game, in which players try to link another actor with Bacon in as few steps as possible. He is married to the actress Kyra Sedgwick, who also co-stars in "The Woodsman." (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews "Downtown: My Manhattan," by Pete Hamill.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor, comic, writer, director ALBERT BROOKS. In his new film 'Looking for Comedy in the Muslim World' he plays a comic named Albert Brooks who's sent to India and Pakistan by the State Department, to see what makes Muslims laugh? so to better understand their culture. BROOKS' other films "Real Life," "Modern Romance," "Lost in America," and "Defending Your Life' and 'Mother.' And he's acted in the films "Taxi Driver," "Broadcast News," and "I'll Do Anything." (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) JACK KENNY is the creator and executive producer of the new TV show, 'The Book of Daniel.' He describes it as a story about a priest, 'an essentially good man, trying to do the best he can while under the intense spotlight of having to be perfect.' Actor Adian Quinn plays Rev. Daniel Webster who must navigate a chaotic dysfunctional family life and complicated church politics. In the series, Webster talks to Jesus, who appears in robe and sandals. The conservative group the American Family Association has condemned the show as anti-Christian and in turn, advertisers have shied away from the show. 'The Book of Daniel' premiered on Jan 6th. Five NBC affiliates refused to air it.

Interview with Sidney Jones; Interview with Christopher Chiames; Commentary on language.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) South East Asia analyst SIDNEY JONES. She's director of the International Crisis Group's South East Asia Project. She has examined separatist conflicts, ethnic conflict, and terrorism in the region. Jones has focused a lot of her work in Indonesia. She was deported from that country when one of her reports about terrorism there was published in June of 2004. She'll discuss how the Tsunami has effected the already politically unstable Indonesia, and what the disaster has done to the efforts of rebel and militant Islamic groups there. Jones was Asia Director at the Human Rights Watch from 1989 to 2002. She has also worked for Amnesty Internation and the Ford Foundation. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Senior Vice President of Corporate Affairs for U.S. Airways, CHRISTOPHER CHIAMES. He responds to comments made last week on the show by Scott McCartney who writes about the Airline industry for the Wall Street Journal. (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on political language and the word democrat with a small 'd.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. RICHARD LAND is president of the Southern Baptist Convention's Ethics & Religious Liberty Commission. He and President Bush share the same evangelical faith. (2.) REV. JIM WALLIS is the founder of the organization Sojourners - Christians for justice and peace, and is editor in chief of the Sojourners magazine. His new book is 'God's Politics: Why the Right Gets It Wrong and the Left Doesn't Get It.' (HarperSanFrancisco).

Interview with Don Cheadle; Interview with Romeo Dallaire; Review of the film "Mikey and Nicky." January 21, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/959924931].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor DON CHEADLE. He's starring in the new film 'Hotel Rwanda' playing a hotel manager who shelters over a thousand refugees in order to save them from genocide. It's based on the story of real-life hero Paul Rusesabagina. CHEADLE's other films include 'Devil in a Blue Dress,' 'Boogie Nights,' 'Ocean's Eleven,' and 'Traffic.' (REBROADCAST from 4/6/04) (2.) GENERAL ROMEO DALLAIRE ('Dah-LARE') was commander of the United Nations Peacekeeping forces in Rwanda 10 years ago during one of the worst massacres in modern history. Some 800,000 Rwandans were killed in 100 days. Most of them were Tutsi and moderate Hutu civilians. During that time DALLAIRE and his troops were denied authority to intervene. The experience changed him, tormented him, and filled him with guilt. He suffered from Post Traumatic Stress Syndrome, was suicidal and depressed. His account, 'Shake Hands with the Devil: The failure of Humanity in Rwanda' is now in paperback (Carroll & Graff). (REBROADCAST from 5/17/04) (3.) Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS reviews 'Mikey & Nicky' a film first released in 1976 written and directed by Elaine May starring John Cassavettes and Peter Falk. It's now out on DVD.
Interview with Stephen Colbert; Interview with Fred de Cordova. January 24, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/959924862].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comic and journalist STEPHEN COLBERT ('Col-BEAR') is the fake senior correspondent on Comedy Central's The Daily Show with John Stewart. He'll talk about his reports from Rathergate to This Week in God. COLBERT started his comic career with Second City in Chicago. He helped create the HBO sketch comedy series 'Exit 57' which won five Cable ACE awards in 1995. He also wrote and performed sketches on 'The Dana Carvey Show.' He is also the voice of Ace for Saturday Night Lives's animated shorts 'Ace & Gary: The Ambiguously Gay Duo.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Former executive producer of The Tonight Show with Johnny Carson, FRED De CORDOVA. We listen back to a 1988 interview with him (3/21/88). JOHNNY CARSON who was the host of The Tonight Show for 30 years died yesterday at the age of 79. The cause was emphysema.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) KAREN J. GREENBERG and JOSHUA L. DRATEL (DRAY-tell) are the editors of the new book 'The Torture Papers: The Road to Abu Ghraib (Cambridge University Press).' It collects the memos and reports which U.S. government officials wrote to determine how detainees could be treated in Afghanistan, Guantanamo, and Abu Ghraib and what interrogation techniques would be permissible. It includes documents written by President Bush, Legal Counsel to the President Alberto Gonzales, Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld, Secretary of State Colin Powell and others. The editors write, "Ultimately, what the reader is left with after reading these documents is a clear sense of the systematic decision to alter the use of methods of coercion and torture that lay outside of accepted and legal norms. . .' (2.) JOHN YOO is a former deputy assistant attorney general in the office of legal counsel of the Dept. of Justice. He wrote some of the memos in the book 'The Torture Papers' including the one's pertaining to the Geneva Conventions and the definition of torture. He signed off on the memo which denied prisoner-of-war status under the Geneva Conventions to al Qaeda and Taliban fighters in Afghanistan. YOO is currently a professor of law at the University of California at Berkeley. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (3.) KENNETH ROTH is the executive director of Human Rights Watch. He says that the Justice Department's decision to not have the Geneva Conventions apply to Taliban and al Qaeda detainees has opened the door to the abuse of prisoners elsewhere. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Governor of New Jersey, and former head of the EPA for the Bush administration, CHRISTINE TODD WHITMAN. She is a moderate Republican and in her new book argues against the hijacking of her party by zealous 'social fundamentalists.' Her new book is 'It's My Party, Too: The Battle for the Heart of the GOP and the Future of America.' (Penguin Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Get Lifted' the first solo album by R&B singer, piano player John Legend.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Founding guitarist and vocalist JAMES HETFIELD of the metal band, 'Metallica.' HETFIELD also co-writes many of the songs for the group which has been around since the 1980s. The documentary 'Metallica: Some Kind of Monster' (by filmmakers Joe Berlinger and Bruce Sinofsky- now out on DVD) catches the band at a time of crisis, when their bass player quits and the group hires a 'therapist and performance-enhancement coach' to help them sort things out. Also during the filming, HETFIELD storms out and enters rehab. (REBROADCAST from 11/9/04) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews Clint Eastwood's new film 'Million Dollar Baby.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist MARY GORDON. Her new book 'Pearl' (Pantheon) is about a mother struggling to understand her daughter's public act of martyrdom. GORDON is the author of seven novels (including 'Final Payments' and 'The Company of Women'), and four nonfiction works (including 'The Shadow Man.') (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS on the Sundance Film festival that just wrapped up this weekend.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ESSIE MAE WASHINGTON-WILLIAMS is the daughter of the late Senator Strom Thurmond. She is the product of an affair between him and his family's 15-year old black maid. Thurmond was a long time Senator from South Carolina and an opponent of integration. It wasn't until after Thurmond's death at 100 a little over a year ago, that his 78 year-old daughter revealed her identity. She's written a new memoir, 'Dear Senator: A Memoir by the Daughter of Strom Thurmond' (Regan Books). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG reflects on the popularity of grammarian Lynne Truss's book 'Eats, Shoots, & Leaves.' (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews 'The Callas Conversations' on DVD and 'Maria Callas: Legend' (a CD and DVD). Both releases are on the EMI label.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JAMES BROWN. He's been called 'the Godfather of Soul,' 'the Sex Machine,' 'the Hardest Working Man in Show Business,' and 'Soul Brother #1.' The 71 year singer underwent prostate surgery in December, and is still touring. He's written a new memoir, 'James Brown: I Feel Good.' (New American Library). In the studio with JAMES BROWN is his wife TOMI RAE BROWN. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Bury the Chains: Prophets and Rebels in the Fight to Free an Empire's Slaves' (Houghton Mifflin) by Adam Hochschild. It's about the 18th century anti-slavery movement in the British empire.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Reporter ROBERT O'HARROW, JR. of the Washington Post and an associate of the Center for Investigative Reporting. His new book is about how the government is creating a national intelligence infrastructure with the help of private companies as part of homeland security. Huge data-mining operations are contracted by the government to gather information on our daily lives. Information technology has enabled retailers, marketers, and financial institutions to gather and store data about us. O'HARROW's new book about this security-industrial complex is, 'No Place to Hide: Behind the Scenes of Our Emerging Surveillance Society.' (Free Press). (2.) Singer, guitarist and songwriter JOHN McCREA of the band 'Cake.' They have five albums to their credit. The band includes trumpeter Vincent DiFiore, bassist Gabriel Nelson, and guitarist Xan McCurdy. The popular alt-rock group combines caustic lyrics with pulsing guitar music and is influenced by many different styles: rock, funk, synth-pop, mariachi and cuban. Sometimes they shoot for a 'cheap, crappy sound' says McCREA. Their new CD is 'Pressure Chief' (Columbia). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Zach Braff and Bill Lawrence; Interview with Tom Perotta; Review of the movie "Head on." February 4, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503274].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) From the NBC surreal comedy "Scrubs," actor ZACH BRAFF and Executive/producer/creator BILL LAWRENCE. BRAFF plays medical resident John "J.D." Dorian. LAWRENCE previously worked on "Spin City." BRAFF made his feature film writing and directing debut with "Garden State" which opened last fall. It's now out on DVD. (REBROADCAST from 10/4/05) (2.) Novelist TOM PERROTTA. His book 'Little Children' has just come out in paperback (St. Martin's Griffin). It's a satirical take on parenthood and suburbia. One reviewer writes of the book 'it represents a sterling comic contribution to the growing literature of the Bad Mommy and Bad Daddy.' PERROTTA is also the author of the novels 'Joe College' and 'Election' which was made into the 1999 movie of the same name. (REBROADCAST from 4/12/04). (3.)Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new German film 'Head-On' about a marriage of convenience in Hamburg between two troubled Turks. It won the Golden Bear award at the Berlin International Film Festival.

Interview with Tommy Chong; Interview with Mary Beth Buchanan. February 7, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825302].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Comedian TOMMY CHONG - one half of the comedy duo 'Cheech & Chong' who made a career out of making jokes about being stoned. They recorded six gold comedy albums and starred in seven films. CHONG currently has a reoccurring role on FOX TV's 'That 70's Show.' He recently spent nine months in prison after pleading guilty to conspiring to sell drug paraphernalia. His arrest was part of the U.S. Justice Department's Operation Pipe Dreams investigation into the Internet distribution of drug paraphernalia like bongs and marijuana pipes. CHONG says he pleaded guilty to protect his son whose company was targeted. CHONG is now on his first tour since leaving prison performing in the play 'The Marijuana-Logues.' An upcoming reunion will take place between CHONG and his former partner Cheech Martin. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) U.S. Attorney MARY BETH BUCHANAN prosecuted Tommy Chong. She'll discuss Operation Pipe Dreams and how it applied to Chong, as well as the investigation that led to the charges against him.

Interview with Bill Maher; Interview with Marilynn Robinson. February 8, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884400].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Political humorist BILL MAHER. His HBO program 'Real Time With Bill Maher' begins its new season February 18th. He created and hosted the funny late night political round table show 'Politically Incorrect.' (2.) Writer MARILYNNE ROBINSON. Her first novel, 'Housekeeping,' won a PEN/Hemingway Award. Now, 23 years later, she's written a second novel, 'Gilead.' She's written non-fiction in the interim, including 'Mother Country' and 'The Death of Adam.' 'Gilead' is written as a letter from a 76 year old Congregationalist Preacher to his seven year old son. ROBINSON is a Congregationalist, and has served as a deacon in the church.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Democratic U.S. Senator BARBARA BOXER of California. She recently made headlines with her tough questioning of Condoleezza Rice during her confirmation hearings for Secretary of State. BOXER also was the only Senator to object to the certification of Ohio's Electoral votes, which according to the rules, led to a two hour halt of the electoral vote count while the matter was debated in the House and Senate. BOXER became a Senator in January 1993 after ten years as a Representative in the House. BOXER has also written a novel based on her 12 years in the Senate. It will be published later this year. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic
KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'And now... The Revolutionary Ensemble' (on the Pi label). (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the term 'love-child' and other euphemisms.

---

interview with Brian Greene; Review of the film "Inside deep throat;" Obituary for Arthur Miller. February 11, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503499].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Physicist BRIAN GREENE. With his book 'The Elegant Universe' he developed a reputation for explaining complex scientific theories with insight and clarity. The book was the basis of a PBS series. His new book is, 'The Fabric of the Cosmos: Space, Time, and the Texture of Reality' (Vintage Book, paperback). GREENE is a professor of physics and mathematics at Columbia University. He received his undergraduate degree from Harvard and his doctorate from Oxford, where he was a Rhodes Scholar. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.ORIGINAL AIRDATE: 3/16/04). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Inside Deep Throat,' a new documentary that explores the 1972 adult film considered the most profitable of all time. (3.) We remember playwright ARTHUR MILLER. He died last night at the age of 89 at his home in Roxbury, Connecticut. Miller was the author of many plays, including the legendary 'Death of a Salesman,' for which he won a Pulitzer. He was married briefly to Marilyn Monroe. (Original airdate: 1/12/99)

---

Interview with Ken Tucker; Commentary on the French composer and conductor Pierre Boulez. February 14, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503495].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Fresh air critic KEN TUCKER. His new book is "Kissing Bill O'Reilly, Roasting Miss Piggy: 100 Things to Love and Hate About TV." Aside from his duties as a music and at-large critic for Fresh Air, he's the film critic for New York Magazine, and until late last year, was the television critic for Entertainment Weekly. He's been awarded two National Magazine Awards and two ASCAP-Deems Taylor Awards for his criticism. (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ on the work of French composer and conductor Pierre Boulez. He turns 80-yrs-old next month. In celebration of his 80th birthday next month, the record label Deutsche Grammophon is issuing five new recordings of Boulez's work.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RALPH NEAS (pronounced "niece") is president of People for the American Way a national social justice organization. He was Executive director of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights when he led the successful effort to block the nomination of Robert Bork to the U.S. Supreme Court in 1987. This is the first of a two part look at the upcoming battle over judicial nominees. On Wednesday we'll hear from C. Boyden Gray, founder of the conservative group The Committee for Justice. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews recently released DVD compilations of TV series. He reviews the first seasons of "Miami Vice" from the 1980s, "Murder One" from the 90s, and "Deadwood," which premiered last year.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) BOYDEN GRAY is chairman and founder of the conservative group The Committee for Justice, which was formed to promote constitutionalist judicial nominees. He supports President Bush's nominees. GRAY served as Director of the Office of Transition Counsel for the Bush transition team, and was Counsel to President G.H. Bush from 1989-1993. GRAY was instrumental in getting Clarence Thomas appointed to the Supreme Court. This is the second of two interviews on judicial nominees. Yesterday we heard from Ralph Neas of the liberal group People for the American Way. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new solo 'Happiness in Magazines' by Graham Coxon who was the lead guitarist for the British band Blur.
Interview with Michael Tanner; Interview with Paul Krugman. February 17, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503496].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MICHAEL TANNER is director of Health and Welfare Studies at the conservative think-tank The Cato Institute. He launched the Project on Social Security Choice at the Cato Institute, which first looked at the possibility of turning the system into a private savings program. He supports Bush's social security plan. (2.) Economist and New York Times columnist PAUL KRUGMAN ('KROOG-MAN'). He is a professor of Economics and International Affairs at Princeton University. He opposes Bush's Social Security plan, and has written about it in his columns. He's also the author of "Fuzzy Math," on the Bush tax cut.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and rapper WILL SMITH. He's starring in the new film "Hitch." SMITH also starred in the films 'Ali,' "The Legend of Bagger Vance," "Men In Black," "Independence Day," and "Six Degrees of Separation." SMITH got his start as a rapper, making his first record in high school. Known as the Fresh Prince he and his friend DJ Jazzy Jeff went on to make several albums and won two Grammys and three American Music Awards. His classic TV sitcom, 'The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air,' is just out on DVD. (THIS INTERVIEW FIRST AIRED 12/17/01). (2.) ERIC IDLE's Beatles-parody mockumentary The Rutles 2: Can't Buy Me Lunch comes out on DVD next month. He's also written the book for the Monty Python farce Spamanot on Broadway. (REBROADCAST from 1999) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new Japanese film Nobody Knows.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Clarinetist, composer, bandleader DON BYRON. With his latest CD 'Ivey Divey' (Blue Note) he pays homage to saxophonist Lester Young. BYRON is a prolific musician who gets inspiration from all kinds of music. Classically trained, he's performed and recorded music by Henry Mancini, Stevie Wonder, Leonard Bernstein, Stephen Sondheim, Ornette Coleman, Frederic Chopin, Duke Ellington, William C. Handy, Raymond Scott and klezmer music by Mickey Katz. One of his most played recordings is 'Bug Music' (1996, Nonesuch) (used on NPR, as well as commercials). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews two new books: the short story collection 'Nice Big American Baby' by Judy Budnitz and the novel 'Baker Towers' by Jennifer Haigh.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress ANNETTE BENING. She's nominated for an Academy Award this year as Best Actress in the film 'Being Julia.' She already won a Best Actress Golden Globe for the role. Her other films include 'American Beauty,' 'Bugsy' and 'The Grifters.' She is married to actor Warren Beatty and has four children. (2.) We remember singer JOHN RAITT. He died over the weekend at age 88. He was a legend on Broadway, starring in the original 1945 production of 'Carousel.' He starred in both the stage and screen versions of 'The Pajama Game.' His daughter is singer Bonnie Raitt. (REBROADCAST from 1995).

Interview with Seth Green; Interview with Archbishop Njongonkulu Ndungane. February 23, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503494].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor SETH GREEN. He directs and provides voices for the new series 'Robot Chicken' on Cartoon Network, which he describes as 'SNL meets The Nightmare Before Christmas.' It's a fast-paced, irreverent stop-action animated variety show. Green got his start at age 8 in the film 'The Hotel New Hampshire.' He went on to Woody Allen's 'Radio Days,' and later played the son of Doctor Evil in the Austin Powers movies. He was in the art-house film 'Party Monster.'

(2.) THE MOST REVEREND ARCHBISHOP NJONGONKULU NDUGANE ('en-JON-gon-GOO-loo doon-GAH-nay'). He succeeds Desmond Tutu as the Anglican Bishop of Capetown, South Africa. He is an outspoken leader against poverty, third-world debt, and HIV/AIDS. In his youth, NDUGANE was an anti-apartheid activist who was jailed for three years on Robben Island. During his imprisonment, he became religious and entered the priesthood after his release. NDUGANE lived in London for a time and became a fellow at King's College. He's published many theological works on the Christian view of human rights.

---

Interview with Judith Miller, Matt Cooper and Floyd Abrams; Interview with Steve Chapman.
February 24, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825684].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Reporters MATT COOPER of Time Magazine and JUDITH MILLER of the New York Times, and attorney FLOYD ABRAMS. COOPER and MILLER may face jail time for refusing to reveal their sources in a story about the leak of a CIA officer's name. On February 15, 2005, a federal appeals court upheld a ruling against the two reporters. COOPER is the White House Correspondent for Time, and has also worked for US News and World Report as well as Newsweek Magazine. MILLER is a Pulitzer prize winning investigative reporter. ABRAMS, the attorney on the case, is a professor of First Amendment Law at Columbia University. (2.) Reporter STEVE CHAPMAN of the Chicago Tribune. His twice-weekly column is syndicated in about 50 newspapers across the country. His February 20, 2005 column concerns the Miller and Cooper case. He sides with the court, stating 'in this case, principle should yield to the need to protect agents who are serving their country.'
Interview with David Milch; Interview with James McDaniel; Interview with Bill Clark and David Milch; Interview with Chris Rock; Review of the film "Diary of a mad black woman." February 25, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885225].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV producer and writer DAVID MILCH. (rhymes with 'filch') He co-created 'NYPD Blue,' for which he won two Emmys. He is the creator, executive producer and head writer of the new H-B-O series 'Deadwood,' a Western drama set in the Black Hills of South Dakota. Milch left a teaching job at Yale University to go to Hollywood and work on the show 'Hill Street Blues.' Milch is a former heroin addict and alcoholic. (Original airdate: 3/25/04) (2.) Actor JAMES MCDANIEL. He played Lt. James Fancy, Andy Sipowicz (Dennis Franz) boss, on 'NYPD Blue.' MCDANIEL has been in many films, including 'Malcolm X' and 'Sunshine State,' and has appeared on a number of TV shows, including 'Stargate SG-1,' 'All My Children' and 'Hill Street Blues.' (Original airdate: 12/10/96) (3.) Actor DENNIS FRANZ. He's played the role of Detective Andy Sipowicz for twelve seasons on the show 'NYPD Blue.' The last episode of 'NYPD Blue' airs March 1st 2005. He was also on the TV show 'Hill Street Blues.' (Original airdate: 08/05/87) (4.) DAVID MILCH with Detective BILL CLARK, who is a consultant to the "NYPD Blue." CLARK is a former New York City homicide detective. Many of the story lines for the show, come from the cases he worked on. In 1995, the two collaborated on a book, True Blue: The Real Stories Behind NYPD Blue. (Original airdate: 11/1/95) (5.) Comedian CHRIS ROCK. He will be hosting the 2005 Academy Awards, airing this Sunday, February 27 at 7:00 PM ET. Rock got his start as a stand up comedian, and was a member of the cast of Saturday Night Live for three seasons. He was also on the TV show 'In Living Color.' His films include 'Head of State'(which he also produced, wrote and directed), 'Osmosis Jones' and 'Pootie Tang.' He's had several stand-up comedy specials on TV, including last year's 'Chris Rock: Never Scared' and 'Chris Rock: Bigger and Blacker.' In 2000, he won an American Comedy Award for Funniest Male Performer in a TV Special. (Original airdate: 2/6/97) (6.) Film critic DAVI stars as Adolf Hitler. He's made over 80 films mostly in German, and was in the recent remake of 'The Manchurian Candidate.' 'Downfall' is HIRSCHBIEGEL'S third film, and his most popular to date. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Baseball player BILL 'SPACEMAN' LEE. His new memoir is 'Have Glove, Will Travel: The Adventures of a Baseball Vagabond.' In the 1970s, Lee played for the Montreal Expos and the Boston Red Sox before getting kicked off the team for his unorthodox views, such as encouraging pot smoking as a way for pitchers to concentrate. He then went on to play for whatever team would have him, and he traveled all over the world. He became the 1988 presidential candidate for the Rhinoceros Party. This book picks up where Lee's previous memoir, 'The Wrong Stuff,' left off in 1984.

Interview with Lorne Michaels; Interview with Ed Levine; Review of the television shows "NYPD blue" and "Deadwood." March 2, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458577].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) LORNE MICHAELS is the creator and long-time executive producer of Saturday Night Live which celebrates its 30th anniversary this year. Last Fall MICHAELS was awarded the Kennedy Center's Mark Twain Prize for American Humor. The tribute was taped and will be broadcast on Wednesday March 2nd on PBS. It includes comic performances by Dan Aykroyd, Candice Bergin, Darrell Hammond, Tina Fey, Steve Martin, Conan O'Brien and others. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Food writer ED LEVINE. He is a regular contributor to the Dining pages of the New York Times, and is author of 'New York Eats' and 'New York Eats More.' His new book is 'Pizza: A Slice of Heaven: The Ultimate Guide and Companion' (Universe) (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the final episode of 'NYPD Blue' and previews 'Deadwood' the HBO western which begins a second season this weekend. Both shows were created by David Milch.
Interview with Barbara Newman and Tom Diaz; Commentary on the pop group "Chairman of the Board." March 3, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825514].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Law-enforcement expert TOM DIAZ and journalist BARBARA NEWMAN. In their new book, 'Lightning Out of Lebanon: Hezbollah Terrorists on American Soil' (Ballantine books) they warn of the presence in the U.S. of Hezbollah cells that could potentially be more dangerous than al Qaeda. The authors estimate Hezbollah has cells in 14 cities. DIAZ served as the lead Democratic counsel on counterterrorism issues and helped write key antiterrorism legislation. He was also a consultant to the U.S. Department of Justice on the use of high technology by terrorists and as law-enforcement investigative tools. NEWMAN is a senior fellow with the Foundation for the Defense of Democracies and author of 'The Covenant: Love and Death in Beirut.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian ED WARD tells us the story of the pop group The Chairman of the Board.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) EDWARD BERKOWITZ is professor of history and public administration and Director of the Program in History and Public Policy at George Washington University. He is an expert on the history of social security. His books include 'America's Welfare State: From Roosevelt to Reagan,' and 'Social Security and Medicare: A Policy Primer.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'The Great Destroyer' the new CD by Low, the trio from Duluth, Minn.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor JOHN TRAVOLTA. He's reprising his role as Chili Palmer, in the new film 'Be Cool.' He first played Chili in the film 'Get Shorty.' Both were based on novels by Elmore Leonard. His other films include "Saturday Night Fever," "Pulp Fiction," "Basic," "Face Off," and "A Civil Action." (REBROADCAST from 4/10/03)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Novelist ELMORE LEONARD. He's been called "the greatest living writer of crime fiction" (New York Times). Though he'd been writing for decades, critics didn't take notice of him until the 1980s. Now his work is known for it tight prose, "ear-perfect" dialogue and depiction of lower class life. LEONARD's written over thirty-two novels, including the bestsellers 'Pronto,' 'Maximum Bob,' and 'Get Shorty' which was made into a film starring John Travolta and Gene Hackman. LEONARD's 1999 novel "Be Cool" is the sequel to "Get Shorty." It's just been made into a film also starring John Travolta with Vince Vaughn. (REBROADCAST from 2/24/99) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Best of Youth' - a six hour drama first shown on Italian television.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rapper, producer, composer, The RZA (the RIZZ-uh). He's one of the founding members of the kung-fu-meets-hip-hop group the Wu Tang Clan. He's also written film scores, including 'Kill Bill' and 'Ghost Dog.' He's written a new book, 'The Wu Tang Manual' (Riverhead books). (One of the group's other members Ol' Dirty Bastard died last year.) The RZA is also known as the Abbot, Bobby Digital, Prince Dynamite and more. His birth name is Robert F. Diggs.
Interview with Ari Fleischer; Commentary on Dan Rather. March 8, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458289].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former White House Press Secretary ARI FLEISCHER. He was press secretary and gave daily briefings to the press from 2001 to 2003. He acted as the Bush administration's primary spokesperson during September 11th, and the beginning of the Iraq War. Previously, he served as senior communications advisor and spokesman for the Bush-Cheney presidential campaign. He also worked for Elizabeth Dole's presidential campaign, and the House Committee on Ways and Means. His new memoir is called, "Taking Heat: The President, the Press, and My Years in the White House" (William Morrow). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS on CBS anchorman Dan Rather whose last broadcast as anchor is tomorrow, March 9th.

Interview with Dexter Filkins; Interview with Fred Hersch. March 9, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969457575].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times reporter DEXTER FILKINS. In April he will receive the George Polk Award for War Reporting for 'his riveting, first-hand account of an eight-day attack on Iraqi insurgents in Falluja.' He had accompanied the Marines of Bravo Company of the 1st Battalion, 8th Marines for 8 days in November as they took over Fallujah. Filkins filed over a dozen stories from this extreme close-up perspective. He followed the Marines from the outskirts of the city into the maze of streets, dodging suicide bombers, waking at 1:30 AM to a rebel attack, and even sustaining the threat of friendly fire when the company was mistaken for rebels by U-S troops. He has just returned from Iraq where he was covering the elections there. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Pianist and composer FRED HERSCH. In his 30 year career he's performed in solo, duo, trio and quintet settings. In 2003 he received the prestigious Guggenheim Memorial Fellowship which he used to work on his latest project: 'Leaves of Grass' (Palmetto) in which he leads a 10-piece ensemble which includes vocalists singing the words of Walt Whitman set to compositions by Hersch. He is touring the ensemble this month. For information: fredhersch.com/palmetto-records.com

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmakers FENTON BAILEY and RANDY BARBATO. Their new documentary 'Inside Deep Throat' is about the 1972 porn classic 'Deep Throat.' The porn film got nationwide attention, transformed the porn industry, turned Linda Lovelace into a porn star, and resulted in a crackdown on obscenity. BAILEY and BARBATO are the also the team behind the documentaries 'The Eyes of Tammy Faye,' and 'Monica in Black and White.' (2.) Journalist JACK EL-HAI ('EL-HYE') is the author of 'The Lobotomist: a maverick medical genius and his tragic quest to rid the world of mental illness' (John Wiley & Sons). EL-HAI is the Executive Vice President of the American Society of Journalists and Authors and a winner of the June Roth Memorial Award for Medical Journalism. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'A Changed Man' (HarperCollins) the new novel by Francine Prose.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Creator of the TV series 'Law & Order' DICK WOLF. It's the longest running drama on network television. After more than 300 shows, and 13 years the 'ripped from the headlines' half cop/half law show is still going strong. It's also inspired 'Law & Order: Special Victims Unit' and 'Law & Order: Criminal Intent.' The latest spin off is 'Law & Order: Trial by Jury.' (2.) TV producer and writer DAVID MILCH. (rhymes with 'filch') He is the creator, executive producer and head writer of the H-B-O series 'Deadwood,' a Western drama set in the Black Hills of South Dakota. 'Deadwood' began its second season this week. (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews two new box set releases from the mail order house Mosaic: 'The Complete Argo/Mercury Art Farmer/Benny Golson/Jazztet Sessions' and 'The Complete Roulette Dinah Washington Sessions.' (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Upside of Anger' starring Joan Allen and Kevin Costner. MARCH 21-25, 2005
Interview with Hugh Miles; Interview with Patrick Radden Keefe; Review of the anthology "I have been here before March 14, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502479].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist HUGH MILES. He is the author of the new book 'Al-Jazeera: The Inside of the Arab News Channel That is Challenging the West' (Grove Press). Al-Jazeera is the premier news channel in the Islamic world. It plans to launch an English version of its news channel sometime in the next few months. MILES speaks Arabic (son of a diplomat, he was born in Saudia Arabia and studied Arabic in Oxford and Yemen). (2.) PATRICK RADDEN KEEFE is the author of 'Chatter: Dispatches from the Secret world of Global Eavesdropping' (Random House). For his book KEEFE researched the possibility that the U.S. has a planet-spanning surveillance network, known as Echelon. KEEFE is a third-year student at Yale Law School and was a Marshall scholar and a 2003 fellow at the Dorothy and Lewis B. Cullman Center for Scholars and Writers at the New York Public Library. (3.) Rock historian ED WARD has a retrospective on Roky Erickson the front-man for the Texas band the 13th Floor Elevators ? the first band to be called psychedelic.

Interview with Tim Curry; Review of the new season of "The shield." March 15, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502481].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) British actor TIM CURRY. His first movie, the film that made him famous, was the 1975 cult classic "The Rocky Horror Picture Show." He played Dr. Fran-N-Furter a transvestite mad scientist dressed in a black corset, stockings and garters. In his "signature" song he sings "I'm a sweet transvestite from Tran Sexual, Transylvania. . ." He originated the role on stage in London. Since then he's been in numerous stage, film and TV productions. He was on Broadway in "Travesties," "My Favorite Year" and created the role of Mozart in "Amadeus." He also starred in the British production of "The Pirates of Penzance." Recently he's had roles in the films " Lemony Snicket's: A Series of Unfortunate Events" and "Kinsey." This week he opens on Broadway in "Spamalot" the musical version of "Monty Python and the Holy Grail." He plays King Arthur. (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the new season of "The Shield." The critically acclaimed show is adding actress Glen Close to the cast.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor GENE WILDER. His birth name was Jerome Silberman. He made his film debut as a kidnap victim in 'Bonnie and Clyde' (1967). He's best known for his work with Mel Brooks in the films 'Young Frankenstein,' 'Blazing Saddles,' and 'The Producers.' He also was in Woody Allen's 'Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Sex' and starred in the children's film 'Willy Wonka & the Chocolate Factory.' He also teamed up with Richard Pryor in the films 'Silver Streak' 'Stir Crazy' and 'See No Evil, Hear No Evil.' He was married to Gilda Radner for five years until her death of ovarian cancer in 1989. After he formed the support group 'Gilda's Club to raise awareness of the disease. WILDER has written a new memoir, 'Kiss Me Like a Stranger: My Search for Love and Art' (St. Martin's Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

Interview with Brian Steidle; Interview with John Prendergast. March 17, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503514].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Marine captain BRIAN STEIDLE ('STYE-dle'). He has been in the Dafur region of Western Sudan monitoring the humanitarian crisis there for the African Union. In the past eighteen months, 180,000 people have died from hunger, disease. An unknown number have died as a result of violence and at the hands of the militia group the Janjaweed which has carried out a scorched earth campaign of killing, raping and driving people from their homes. The Janjaweed targets non-Arab villages. There are at least two million refugees as a result. STEIDLE says he has no doubt that what is going on there is genocide.

(2.) JOHN PRENDERGAST is Special Adviser to the President of the International Crisis Group. He has twenty years of experience resolving conflict in Africa, and shaping U.S. foreign policy toward the region. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

1. Religion Scholar KAREN ARMSTRONG. When she decided to leave the Roman Catholic Convent where she was a nun in 1969, she entered a world vastly different from the one she left seven years earlier. She had no idea what was going on in Vietnam and had little idea who The Beatles were. Her memoir, 'The Spiral Staircase: My Climb Out of Darkness' about her life in the convent and the spiritual quest that followed has just been published in paperback (Anchor books). Her other books include 'The Battle for God' (Knopf, 2000) and 'A History of God' (Gramercy, 2004). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

2. Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the latest project by Russian conductor Valery Gergiev (va-LAIR-ee GAIR-gyev). He reviewed recordings of Shostakovich's Fourth, Fifth, Seventh, and Ninth Symphonies conducted by Valery Gergiev (on the Philips label).

3. Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Melinda and Melinda' the new Woody Allen film.

Interview with Bobby Short; Review of Anne Lamott's "Plan B March 21, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503842].

Description of show segment(s)

1. Singer BOBBY SHORT. He died this morning at age 80. The cause was leukemia, according to his publicist. He was a fixture on the New York cabaret scene. He performed at the Carlyle Hotel for more than 36 years. This was to be his final year at the Carlyle. Short was born in Danville, Illinois. He began his career at age 9, and was soon performing under the nickname 'The Miniature King of Swing.' Short was named a Living Landmark by New York's Landmark Conservancy and a National Living Legend by the Library of Congress. (Original airdate: 6/28/04)

2. Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'Plan B: Further Thoughts on Faith,' by Anne Lamott.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JUDITH WARNER is the author of the new book 'Perfect Madness: Motherhood in the Age of Anxiety' (Riverhead Books). In it she writes about the 'choking cocktail of guilt and anxiety and resentment and regret' that is poisoning motherhood for American women. WARNER is a former special correspondent for Newsweek in Paris, and has written about politics and women's issues for 'The New Republic' and 'Elle.' She is also the author of 'You Have the Power: How to Take Back Our Country and Restore Democracy.' She is married and the mother of two young daughters. (2.) Hollywood raconteur BRUCE WAGNER. He hangs with the rich and famous, and then writes satirical novels based on L.A. life. His new book is called 'The Chrysanthemum Palace: A Novel.' The three main characters are actors who are the children of wealthy, successful parents. Wagner is known for his dark wit and nasty portrayals of show business elite. His other books include 'Force Majeur,' 'I'm Losing You,' 'I'll Let You Go' and 'Still Holding.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer JAMES ATLAS. His new book is a collection of essays called 'My Life in the Middle Ages: A Survivor's Tale.' James Atlas is the founding editor of the Lipper/Viking Penguin Lives Series. He writes for The New Yorker. He was also an editor at The New York Times Magazine. His work has appeared in many publications, including The New Review of Books, The London Review of Books, and Vanity Fair. He is the author of Delmore Schwartz: The Life of an American Poet, which was nominated for the National Book Award. (2.) Writer REZA ASLAN ('REH-zuh AHZ-lahn'). His new book is 'No god but God: The Origins, Evolution and Future of Islam.' The book is a call to reform, and a proposal to end the religious battle between East and West. Aslan was born in Iran and lives in the United States. He was a visiting assistant professor of Islamic and Middle Eastern Studies at the University of Iowa, where he got an MFA in fiction at the Writer's Workshop. Aslan has written for The Nation, Slate and The New York
Interview with Rebecca Miller; Review of the new jazz album 'I have the room above her'; ?
Interview with Paul Haggis; Review of the television show 'The office.' March 24, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503286].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker REBECCA MILLER. Her new movie, which she wrote and directed, is 'The Ballad of Jack and Rose,' starring Miller's husband Daniel Day-Lewis, Camilla Belle and Catherine Keener. It's about an aging hippie father and his daughter who are living on an abandoned commune but come face-to-face with the contemporary world. Miller is the daughter of the legendary playwright Arthur Miller. She began her career as a painter, and then moved on to a brief stint in acting in the early 1990s, appearing in films including 'Regarding Henry' and 'Mrs. Parker and the Vicious Circle.' She went on to writing and directing films, including 'Angela' and 'Personal Velocity.' (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'I Have The Room Above Her' by the Paul Motian/Bill Frisell/Joe Lovano trio. (Motian is pronounced 'motion') (3.) Producer, writer and director PAUL HAGGIS. Several years ago, he optioned the FX Toole book that was to become the Academy Award winning film 'Million Dollar Baby,' for which he wrote the screenplay and produced. Now, his film 'Crash' will be released in May 2005. Haggis directed the ensemble cast, which includes Sandra Bullock, Ludacris and Matt Dillon. It's about racial tension in Los Angeles. Haggis has won many awards, including two Emmys for his writing on the T-V series 'thirtysomething.' He also worked on the T-V shows 'facts of Life,' 'Family Law,' 'Due South' and 'EZ Streets.' (4.) T-V critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'The Office,' a new sitcom that debuts tonight on N-B-C at 9:30/8:30, following 'The Apprentice.' 'The Office' is based on the popular UK series of the same name, and it's shot in the style of a documentary set in a paper supply company.
Interview with Sekou Sundiata; Interview with Marlynn Robinson; Review of the film "Oldboy." March 25, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503838].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Performance poet SEKOU SUNDIATA (SAY-koo SOON-de-ah-ta). He's one of New York's notable spoken word artists. He blends lyrics of urban dwelling with music. Born in Harlem, SUNDIATA is a professor of English Literature at The New School for Social Research. He's released CDs of spoken word including "The Blue Oneness of Dreams" and "Urban Music." He's currently performing his one-man show 'blessing the boats' at the Apollo Theater in New York City. The show runs until April 10, 2005. It's about the year his kidney failed, he went into dialysis, and then had a kidney transplant. That year ended with him crashing his car in a snowstorm on the way to his 'comeback' concert and breaking his neck. He is fully recovered now. Apollo Theater box office: 212-531-5305 and website: HYPERLINK "http://www.apollotheater.com" www.apollotheater.com. (Original airdate: 11/20/02) (2.) Writer MARILYNNE ROBINSON. Her first novel, 'Housekeeping,' won a PEN/Hemingway Award. Now, 23 years later, she's written a second novel, 'Gilead.' She just won the National Book Critics Circle Award for the novel. She's also been named a finalist for the PEN/Faulkner Award for Fiction this year. She wrote non-fiction in the interim, including 'Mother Country' and 'The Death of Adam.' 'Gilead' is written as a letter from a 76-year-old Congregationalist Preacher to his seven year old son. ROBINSON is a Congregationalist, and has served as a deacon in the church. (Original airdate: 2/8/05) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Old Boy,' a South Korean film that won the Grand Jury Prize at last year's Cannes Film Festival.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer MARIANNE FAITHFULL. In the past several months, she released two CDs: 'The Collection' is a two-disc set of her hits, and 'Before the Poison' includes tracks written by singer PJ Harvey. FAITHFULL got her start in the English music scene of 1964, when she dated Mick Jagger and had the hit song, "As Tears Go By" before the Rolling Stones cut their version. In the following years she had a drug addiction that almost killed her, before recovering in 1985 and releasing new albums. (2.) MARIANNE FAITHFULL continues as we present an excerpt of our 1994 interview with the singer (Original airdate:
9/26/94). (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Couple Next Door' by Margaret Millar, edited by Tom Nolan. It is part of The Lost Classics Series.

Interview with Samuel Freedman; Interview with Donald Kroodsma and Don Stap. March 29, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503510].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer SAMUEL G. FREEDMAN. His new book is "Who She Was: My Search for My Mother's Life" (Simon and Schuster). Freedman's mother died many years ago, when he was just 18, and as he approached his mother's age when she died, he decided to find out all about her life. The result is a narrative fueled by facts. Freedman is a former reporter for The New York Times; he continues to write for the Times and other publications. He is author of 4 other books, including, "Jew Vs. Jew: The Struggle for the Soul of American Jewry." He is also a professor of journalism at Columbia University. His website is "http://www.samuelfreedman.com" www.samuelfreedman.com. (2.) Writers DONALD KROODSMA and DON STAP. KROODSMA is a renowned specialist in the interpretation of bird songs. His new book is "The Singing Life of Birds: The Art and Science of Listening to Birdsong." He describes how birds communicate and why. STAP's new book is "Birdsong," and it's about people who analyze the sounds of birds. Stap followed Kroodsma from the lab into the field and them wrote his account.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DJ KOOL HERC. He's the father of the DJ breakbeat, isolating and repeating 'breaks,' the most danceable portions of songs, part of the foundation of modern hip-hop. He wrote the introduction to the new book, 'Can't Stop, Won't Stop: A History of the Hip Hop Generation' (St. Martins, 2005) by Jeff Chang. (2.) Rock critic ED WARD finds a forgotten chapter of American pop history: the 1940s sound of East Los Angeles. We'll hear music from the CD 'Pachuco Boogie,' from Arhoolie Records. (3.) The late criminal defense attorney JOHNNIE COCHRAN JR. He died yesterday at age 67 of cancer, after having been diagnosed in 2003 with an inoperable brain tumor. In 1995, Cochran won O-J Simpson a not-guilty verdict in the slayings of his wife Nicole Brown Simpson and Ron Goldman. Over the years, Cochran defended celebrities as well as lesser known individuals. He represented football great Jim Brown, as well as rappers Tupac Shakur, Snoop Dogg and Sean 'P Diddy' Combs. (Originial airdate: 10/10/96)

---

Interview with Flynt Leverett; Interview with Elizabeth Dibble; Interview with Rami Khouri.
March 31, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825517].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) FLYNT LEVERETT. He's a Senior Fellow at the Saban Center for Middle East Policy at the Brookings Institution. He worked on Middle East Policy at the National Security Council, the State Department, and the CIA. He's written a new book called 'Inheriting Syria: Bashar's Trial By Fire' (Brookings, 2005), about Bashar al Assad's rule of Syria. (2.) State Department representative ELIZABETH DIBBLE. She is the Deputy Assistant Secretary in the Bureau of Near Eastern Affairs. She'll address the question of the U-S State Department policy toward Syria and Lebanon. (3.) Journalist RAMI KHOURI. He is Palestinian-Jordanian, with a U-S citizenship. He is an internationally syndicated political columnist and the host of Encounter, a weekly current affairs talk show on Jordan Television. He also hosts a weekly radio program, and he spent the 2001 academic year at Harvard University as a Nieman Fellow. He was editor-in-chief for the Jordan Times newspaper for seven years. He often comments on Middle East issues for BBC, NPR and CNN.

---

Interview with Edward Conlon; Interview with Robert Sullivan; Review of the film "Sin city." April 1, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825515].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) NYPD detective EDWARD CONLON. He is the author of the memoir, 'Blue Blood' (now out in paperback) that begins with his first days on the street as a cop and goes back three generations. His great-grandfather was a an 'officer of dubious integrity' during the Tammany era NYPD. CONLON also wrote the 'Cop Diary' columns in The New Yorker, and is a graduate of Harvard. One reviewer writes, 'No one has written a book that grabs readers by the scruff of the neck and tells them what the life of a cop is really like as well as Edward Conlon.' (Original airdate: 4/14/04) (2.) ROBERT SULLIVAN is the author of the book 'Rats: Observations on the History & Habitat of the City's Most Unwanted Inhabitants' (now out in paperback). It's about what he learned when he set out to observe the life of New York's rats. One reviewer writes, 'in prose worthy of Joseph Mitchell, a . . . skittering, scurrying, terrific natural history.'

SULLIVAN is the author of the critically acclaimed books, 'The Meadowlands' and 'A Whale Hunt.' He is a contributing editor to Vogue and a frequent contributor to the New Yorker. His work has also appeared in Conde Nast Traveler and The New Yorker Magazine. (Original airdate: 4/5/04) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Sin City,' starring Bruce Willis and directed by Robert Rodriguez.

---

Interview with Ted Kooser; Commentary on March madness. April 4, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458283].

Description of show segment(s)

1. Poet Laureate TED KOOSER ('KOO-zer'). He's created 'American Life In Poetry,' a free weekly column for newspapers and websites that provides a brief poem and description as a way to bring verse to the masses. His poems are about the simple details of everyday life. For 25 years, Kooser worked in the insurance business, waking up early to write verse. He retired from insurance work in 1999. He is now a professor in the English department of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. His many awards for writing include two NEA fellowships, the Pushcart Prize and Columbia University's Stanley Kunitz Prize. He's published many books of poetry. His new book is 'Flying at Night.' You can read his work and access the weekly column at http://www.americanlifeinpoetry.org.

2. Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS considers March Madness and the NCAA tournament.

---

Interview with Jane Fonda. April 5, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884542].

Description of show segment(s)

1. Actress, activist, and former fitness guru JANE FONDA. She's written a candid new memoir, 'My Life So Far,' (Random House) in which she writes about her childhood, her relationship with her father, her three ex-husbands (Roger Vadim, Tom Hayden, and Ted Turner), her film career, and her role in the anti-war movement in the 1960s. FONDA received two Academy awards for her roles in 'Klute' (1971) and 'Coming Home' (1978). In 1995 she founded the Georgia Campaign for Adolescent Pregnancy Prevention, which she chairs. And in 2002 she opened the Jane Fonda Center for Adolescent Reproductive Health at
Fresh Air With Terry Gross

Emory University's School of Medicine. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Brad Bird; Review of Neville Brothers' 'Walkin' in the shadow of life' and a new Sonny Landreth's 'Grant Street.' April 6, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458284].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) BRAD BIRD is the writer and director of the Academy Award winning computer-animated Pixar film 'The Incredibles' about a family of super heroes who had to stop from using their superpowers. Actors Craig T. Nelson, Holly Hunter, and Samuel Jackson provided the voices, as well as Sarah Vowell who most of us know from This American Life. A new Collector's Edition DVD of 'The Incredibles' is now available. BIRD also directed the animated film 'The Iron Giant.' Before that he worked on 'The Simpsons' and 'King of the Hill.' (2.) Music critic MILO MILES checks out the New Orleans sound via a recent Neville Brothers recording, 'Walkin' in the Shadow of Life' (EMI/Back Porch) and a new Sonny Landreth CD, 'Grant Street' (Sugar Hill).

Obituary for Saul Bellow; Commentary on language; Interview with Lewis Black; Obituary for Frank Conroy. April 7, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458288].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer and Nobel laureate SAUL BELLOWS. He died April 5th at the age of 89. His short stories and novels garnered him three National Book Awards, a Pulitzer prize a Presidential award and a Nobel prize. His books included 'The Adventures of Augie March,' 'Henderson the Rain King,' 'Herzog' and 'Humbolt's Gift.' (REBROADCAST from 10/4/89) (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the adjectives pro and con used to describe the President's social security proposal. (3.) LEWIS BLACK is a stand-up comic, actor, and a commentator on The Daily Show with Jon Stewart. He's been described as having 'the mouth of a shock-jock and the heart of a liberal.' But his comic rants are targeted to anyone he finds deserving. BLACK has a new book, 'Nothing's Sacred' (Simon Spotlight Entertainment). He has several comic CDs. And there's also a new DVD of his HBO special 'Black on Broadway.' (4.) Novelist FRANK CONROY.
He died April 6th at the age of 69. He had colon cancer. He was the longtime director of the prestigious Iowa Writers Workshop. His 1967 memoir, 'Stop-Time' became a classic. Later in 1993 he published his first and only novel, "Body & Soul." His other books were a collection of short-stories, 'Midair,' and his last book the nonfiction, 'Time and Tide: A Walk Through Nantucket.' Conroy also worked as a jazz pianist in Greenwich Village and Nantucket for many years. (REBROADCAST FROM 9/29/93)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Stephen Colbert; Review of the french film "Look at me." April 8, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885260].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comic and journalist STEPHEN COLBERT ('Col-BEAR') is the fake senior correspondent on Comedy Central's The Daily Show with John Stewart. COLBERT started his comic career with Second City in Chicago. He helped create the HBO sketch comedy series 'Exit 57' which won five Cable ACE awards in 1995. He also wrote and performed sketches on 'The Dana Carvey Show.' He is also the voice of Ace for Saturday Night Lives's animated shorts 'Ace & Gary: The Ambiguously Gay Duo.' (REBROADCAST from 1/24/05)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the French film 'Look at Me' It won a Best Screenplay prize at the Cannes Film Festival.

Interview with Frank Miller and Robert Rodriguez; Interview with Ian McEwan. April 11, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458285].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film directors FRANK MILLER and ROBERT RODRIGUEZ are the team behind the new film 'Sin City.' It's based on MILLER's graphic novel series of the same name. MILLER's Sin City series garnered numerous awards including the Harvey and the Eisner Awards. This is MILLER's film directing debut. RODRIGUEZ made his film debut in 1993 with the low budget 'El Mariachi' which was honored at numerous film festivals. He directed two sequels 'Desperado' and 'Once Upon a Time in Mexico.' He also directed the 'Spy Kids' films. 'Sin City' stars Benicio Del Toro, Bruce Willis, Clive Owen, and Elijah Wood. (2.) British writer IAN MCEWAN. He's the author of the bestselling novel 'Atonement.' His other novels include 'The Comfort of Strangers,' 'Enduring Love,' and 'Amsterdam' which received the Booker Award. MCEWAN's newest novel 'Saturday' (Doubleday) takes place during one single day of a neurosurgeon and is set in a post 9/11 world. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Senator and Republican leader BOB DOLE. He's written a new memoir about his experience in World War II when he was a member of the 10th Mountain Division. Late in the war in Italy he was injured; he nearly died, was for a while paralyzed, and spent years in recovery. He was left with a paralyzed right arm. His new book is 'One Soldier's Story' (HarperCollins). DOLE was also the Chairman of the National World War II Memorial. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian ED WARD tells us the story of the Rock and Roll Trio a combo made up of the brothers Johnny and Dorsey Burnette and electric guitarist Paul Burlison. There's a new reissue of their works on the Hip-O Select label. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Position' (Scribner) the new novel by Meg Wolitzer.

Interview with Gareth Cook; Interview with Musa Mayer. April 13, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825423].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist GARETH COOK covers science for the Boston Globe. Last week he won the 2005 Pulitzer Prize for explanatory journalism for his yearlong series of stories on stem cell research. The judges praised COOK's work for 'explaining, with clarity and humanity, the complex scientific and ethical dimensions of stem cell research.' (2.) Writer and patient advocate MUSA MAYER (MOO-sa MAY-er). She is a breast cancer survivor and is the author of several books about breast cancer, including; 'Advanced Breast Cancer: A Guide to Living with Metastatic Disease' (2nd edition, O'Reilly, 1998-this book is easier to get now than the others); 'After Breast Cancer: Answers to the Questions You're Afraid to Ask' (O'Reilly, 2003); 'Examining Myself: One Woman's Story of Breast Cancer Treatment and Recovery' (Faber & Faber). MAYER also has a website where some of the books may be available: advancedbc.org. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Thomas Friedman; Obituary for Johnnie Johnson. April 14, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458088].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times Foreign Affairs columnist THOMAS FRIEDMAN. He's written about outsourcing and globalization in his columns. His new book, 'The World is Flat: A Brief History of the Twenty-first Century' (Farrar, Straus and Giroux) covers the same topics. FRIEDMAN is also the author of the best selling book 'Longitudes and Attitudes: Exploring the World After September 11.' He has won two Pulitzer Prizes for his coverage of the Middle East. (2.) Pianist JOHNNIE JOHNSON. He died yesterday. He was 80 years old. For over 20 years, Johnson was Chuck Berry's pianist. He played on all of Chuck's great hits, and he gained rock'n'roll immortality when Chuck Barry wrote the song "Johnnie B. Goode" about him. (REBROADCAST from 7/31/91)

Interview with Daniel Pinkwater; Interview with Sarah Vowell; Review of the new film "Palindromes." April 15, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969457973].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author DANIEL PINKWATER. Next month his book 'The Artsy Smartsy Club' (HarperCollins) will be published. It's the third installment of his Hoboken Chicken stories. His book 'Looking for Bobowicz' (2004) was the second in the series. In addition to his duties as an NPR commentator, he's written more than 60 books for children and the young at heart, including 'Irving and Muktk: Bad Bears in the Big City,' and 'The Picture of Morty and Ray.' Pinkwater lives in upstate New York with his wife Jill, who illustrated 'Looking for Bobowicz.' (REBROADCAST from 7/13/04) (2.) Writer SARAH VOWELL is a contributing editor for public radio's 'This American Life.' She's also the author of the book 'Take the Cannoli,' and, 'The Partly Cloudy Patriot.' Her new book 'Assassination Vacation' is about her visits to the gravesites and monuments honoring Presidents Lincoln, Garfield, and McKinley.' (REBROADCAST from 4/20/2000 and 9/16/02) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new film by director Todd Solondz, 'Palindromes.'

Interview with Gary Leffew; Interview with Ruth Leitman and Lillian Ellison. April 18, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885261].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former bull riding champ, actor, stunt coordinator, and consultant to HBO's "Deadwood" GARY LEFFEW ("Le-FEW"). He punches up scripts for David Milch's "Deadwood," making sure the cowboys talk like real cowboys do. In 1970 he won the world championship bull riding competition. After that LEFFEW took up acting and appeared in commercials for Coca-Cola, Busch beer, Nissan trucks, Right Guard deodorant, and Timex watches. Now he teaches bull riding at his California Ranch. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Director RUTH LEITMAN (LIGHT-man) and Wrestler LILLIAN "The fabulous Moolah (MOO-la)," ELLISON. The new documentary "Lipstick and Dynamite" takes a look at the world of lady wrestling, a phenomenon that started in the 1930s as a form of entertainment and sport. The wrestlers wrestled other women, men, and sometime animals like alligators. The fabulous Moolah is now in her 80s and still wrestling. Leitman's other documentaries include, "Wildwood, New Jersey," "Alma," and "Welcome to Anatevka."

Interview with Laurence Rees; Review of the film "Mondovino." April 19, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885263].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) LAURENCE REES (pronounced like 'grease') is the creative director of history programs for the BBC. His new book is 'Auschwitz: A New History' (PublicAffairs). REES compiled the book thru interviews with the survivors and the Nazi perpetrators. Their testimony provides details about the inner workings of the camp: techniques of mass murder, the politics, the gossip mill between guards and prisoners, and the camp brothel. This book is a companion to the PBS series of the same name that was broadcast earlier this year. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE (2.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS has some thoughts on wine, and globalization after watching the documentary 'Mondovino' by Jonathan Nossiter.

---

Interview with David Reynolds; Interview with David Duchovny. April 20, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885259].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer DAVID REYNOLDS is the author of the new biography 'John Brown: Abolitionist: The Man who Killed Slavery, Sparked the Civil War, and Seeded Civil Rights' (Knopf). Reynold's book is considered to be a sympathetic look at the man who he says framed the issue of slavery in stark, uncompromising terms. (2.) Actor DAVID DUCHOVNY ('Do-CUV-knee'). He starred as Agent Fox Mulder in the popular tv show 'The X-Files.' He's making his directorial debut with the new film 'House of D' about the Greenwich Village Women's House of Detention which frequently housed prostitutes. DUCHOVNY earned an undergraduate degree from Princeton University and an a graduate degree in English Lit at Yale University. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

---

Interview with Bill Crawford; Review of John Doe's new album "Forever has never happened yet." April 21, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885262].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer BILL CRAWFORD is the co-author of the book, 'Border Radio: Quacks, Yodelers, Pitchmen, Psychics, and other Amazing Broadcasters of the American Airwaves' (U of Texas Press). It's about the 'border blaster' stations that set up across the Mexican border to evade U.S. regulations, and beamed their broadcasting into the states. It covers the period from the 1930s thru the 1960s and included such colorful characters as Wolfman Jack, Reverend Ike, 'Dr' J.R. Brinkley, and Pappy O'Daniel. These pitchmen used the airwaves to play music, sell products, spread the gospel, and promote a political agenda. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Forever Hasn't Happened Yet' the new CD by John Doe formerly of the punk-rock band X.
Interview with Tom Evangelista; Interview with Kathy Albrecht; Review of the film "The interpreter." April 22, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885264].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Bail bondsman and bounty hunter TOM EVANGELISTA. He starred in the now defunct reality TV series, 'Family Bonds,' on HBO. Evangelista lives on Long Island, NY. His business is to lend people money to post bond, and if they don't pay up, he becomes a bounty hunter on the trail of a fugitive. Evangelista was formerly an insurance underwriter who had a mid-life crisis and decided to go for a more colorful job. His company is All City Bail Bonds, with more than 1,500 clients. (REBROADCAST from 9/21/04) (2.) Pet detective KAT ('CAT') ALBRECHT is a former police officer who used to work with search and rescue dogs. She now searches for lost pets using her specially trained bloodhounds, and a Weimeraner. Along the way she is developing data about how lost animals behave, and how to best find them. Her new book is 'The Lost Pet Chronicles: Adventures of a K-9 Cop Turned Pet Detective' (Bloomsbury, paperback). ALBRECHT also founded and is executive director of the non-profit National Center for Missing Pets in San Jose, CA. (REBROADCAST from 5/24/04) Their website is HYPERLINK "http://www.pethunters.com" http://www.pethunters.com. (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Interpreter' starring Sean Penn and Nicole Kidman.

Interview with William Queen; Interview with Anthony LaPaglia. April 25, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885152].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former special agent with the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, WILLIAM QUEEN. His new book 'Under and Alone: The True Story of the Undercover Agent who Infiltrated America's Most Violent Outlaw Motorcycle Gang' (Random House). From 1998-2000 he went undercover in the Mongols, a southern California gang known for stealing, drug dealing, murder, and rape. QUEEN so immersed himself in the culture his own sense of himself became blurry. He left after 28 months, testifying against the gang. For this work QUEEN received a number of awards including the 2001 Federal Bar Association's Medal of Valor and the Distinguished Service Award from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms. (2.) Actor ANTHONY La PAGLIA (La Pah-lio). He currently stars on the drama series, 'Without a Trace' as the head of the FBI division that focuses on missing persons. Before that he won an Emmy Award for his guest-starring role as Simon, Daphne's drunken brother on 'Frasier.' LA PAGLIA is currently starring in the film 'Winter Solstice' about a widowed father raising his sons.

Interview with Mirta Ojito; Review of Kazuo Ishiguro's novel "Never let me go;" Review of Bruce Springsteen's new album "Devils & dust." April 26, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458087].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MIRTA OJITO ('Meer-ta O-HEE-toe') is a Pulitzer-prize winning journalist for The New York Times. Twenty-five years ago, when she was a teenager, she and her family were part of the Mariel boatlift out of Cuba. Her new memoir is 'Finding Manana: A Memoir of a Cuban Exodus' (Penguin Press). OJITO also interviewed members of the Carter administration and Castro himself to understand what led to the boatlift. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Never Let Me Go' (Knopf) the new novel by Kazu Ishiguro, the author of the best seller 'The Remains of the Day.' (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Devils & Dust' the new album by Bruce Springsteen which is a mostly solo recording without the E-Street Band.

Interview with Chester Buckenmaier; Interview with Nick Anderson; Review of the music album "Come see me April 27, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885153].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. CHESTER ('TRIP') BUCKENMAIER is Chief of the Regional Anesthesia and Pain Management Initiative at Walter Reed Army Medical Center. He is developing a procedure known as regional anesthesia used to manage the severe pain that many wounded soldiers from Iraq experience. He spent time in Iraq working in a battlefield hospital where he pioneered the technique, and is using it at Walter Reed. (2.) NICK ANDERSON is a syndicated editorial cartoonist with the Louisville Courier-Journal. He received the Pulitzer Prize this year for his editorial cartoons. His cartoons have been published in Newsweek, The New York Times, The Washington Post, USA Today, and the Chicago Tribune. (3.) Rock historian ED WARD tells us about the British band The Pretty Things, a band which was a spin off of the early Rolling Stones. Last year they released the reissue, 'Come See Me: The Very Best of the Pretty Things' (ShoutFactory).

Interview with David Albright; Interview with Ernie Harburg and Deena Rosenber; Review of the new documentary "Enron April 28, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458157].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Physicist DAVID ALBRIGHT is President of the Institute for Science and International Security (ISIS) in Washington D.C.. He's the co-author of a new report on A.Q. Khan, the father of Pakistan's nuclear weapons program (published in the Spring 2005 edition of The Washington Quarterly). Khan sold nuclear technology and information to Iran, Libya and North Korea. He was able to do this for the last 20 years while eluding authorities and intelligence agencies. ALBRIGHT will discuss how Khan's actions impact nuclear proliferation. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) The U.S. Postal service has just issued a commemorative stamp honoring lyricist Yip Harburg. In addition to writing lyrics for the songs in The Wizard of Oz, Harburg wrote the lyrics for Brother Can You Spare a Dime, It's Only a Paper Moon, Old Devil Moon, April in Paris, and Last Night When We Were Young. His long time collaborator was Harold Arlen. We hear from his son ERNIE HARBURG who co-wrote a book about his father, and music theatre scholar DEENA ROSENBERG who worked closely with Yip Harburg in the decade before his death in 1981. Ernie Harburg and Deena Rosenberg have been married for 17 years. (REBROADCAST from 6/17/99) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new documentary 'Enron: The Smartest Guys in the Room.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Bassist PERCY HEATH died yesterday at the age of 81. The cause was bone cancer. HEATH was the bass player for the Modern Jazz Quartet for four decades and was a charter member of the group whose musical director was pianist John Lewis. Over the years HEATH played with Charlie Parker, Miles Davis, Thelonious Monk, John Coltrane and Ornette Coleman. (REBROADCAST from 1986) (2.)
Standup-comic BOB NEHWART. He has been a part of the American comedy landscape since 1961 when his debut comedy album "The Button-Down Mind of Bob Newhart" became a surprise hit. (Now available on CD, on the Warner label) Since then he's starred in three TV shows, including the Peabody award winning original "The Bob Newhart Show" which premiered in 1972 and ran for six seasons. And he has appeared in numerous films. The first season of "The Bob Newhart Show" is now out on DVD. (REBROADCAST from 6/9/98) (3.) DAVID BIANCULLI, usually Fresh Air's small screen critic, takes a look at the long-awaited big screen adaptation of Douglas Adams' 'The Hitchhiker's Guide to the GalaxY' (TOUCHSTONE PICTURES).

---

Interview with Robert Crumb. May 2, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885151].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Underground comic book artist ROBERT CRUMB. He began drawing comics over forty years ago. He created ZAP COMIX and he's the artist behind such 60s and 70s icons as Mr. Natural, Fritz the Cat, and Keep-on-Truckin. CRUMB was the subject of an award-winning documentary by director Terry Zwigoff. The new 'The R. Crumb Handbook' (co-written with Peter Poplaski, MQ Publications) is a visual biography of Crumb's life. It also includes a CD of his musical performances with various groups. (THIS INTERVIEW RUNS THE ENTIRE LENGTH OF THE SHOW.)

---

Interview with Scott Simon; Interview with Linda Greenhouse. May 3, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885147].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) NPR journalist SCOTT SIMON. In the early 1990s, Simon reported from war torn Sarajevo, and those stories formed the basis for his debut novel, 'Pretty Birds.' Its main character is a sixteen year old girl who must deal with the dramatically changing city. SIMON is the host of NPR's Weekend Edition. He's covered ten wars, and has won every major broadcasting award, including the Peabody and the Emmy. His other books include a bestselling memoir called 'Home and Away,' as well as a biography of baseball legend Jackie Robinson. (2.) Pulitzer prize winning journalist LINDA GREENHOUSE. She has covered the Supreme Court for The New York Times since 1978. She won the Pulitzer in 1998 for her Interview with Terry McDermott; Interview with Mimi Parker and Alan Sparhawk. May 4, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885148].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Journalist TERRY MCDERMOTT of the Los Angeles Times. He was skeptical of the way the September 11th hijackers were portrayed. So he traveled to twenty-two countries to research their identities, motives, and life circumstances. He found that they weren't deeply disturbed. They came from intact families, most were middle-class, few were deeply religious, and none were abused or estranged. His new book is 'Perfect Soldiers: The Hijackers: Who They Were, Why They Did It' (HarperCollins).
(2.) From the trio Low, drummer MIMI PARKER and singer-guitarist ALAN SPARHAWK. The two are husband and wife. The band also includes bassist John Nichols. Low is considered a so-called 'slowcore' band known for it's delicate, slow, moody tunes. One reviewer writes 'Low is one of those rare bands who have created such a distinct musical world for themselves that even major changes can't distract them from it. . . listening to any Low recording involves revisiting a wonderful sound that can't be found anywhere else.' The group from Duluth Minnesota made its debut in 1994 with the album 'I Could Live on Hope.' Their most recent album 'The Great Destroyer' (Sub Pop) is their seventh.

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Former Army sergeant ERIK SAAR and journalist VIVECA NOVAK, a correspondent for Time magazine. The two have collaborated on the new book, 'Inside the Wire: A Military Intelligence Soldier's Eyewitness Account of Life at Guantanamo' (Penguin Press). SAAR spent six months at the terrorist detention center at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba from December 2002 to June 2003. He was a military intelligence linguist, translating Arabic for guards and interrogators. During that time he saw female guards use sexual interrogation tactics on detainees as well as other disturbing practices. (2.) AMY
SHERMAN PALLADINO is the creator and executive producer of 'Gilmore Girls' a TV show on the WB network. The show is about a single mother and her daughter who are best friends. The mother was a teenager when she got pregnant with her daughter. The show is now in its fifth season. Season three is now out on DVD. (3.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS tells us about the Japanese TV animated series 'Paranoia Agent' by Satoshi Kon. It's now out on DVD.

Interview with Martin Short; Review of the film "Crash;" Interview with Keith Jarrett; Obituary for Col. David H. Hackworth. May 6, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885149].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and comedian MARTIN SHORT. His TV series, 'Primetime Glick,' spoofed celebrity talk shows. Short played Jiminy Glick, the obese, self-absorbed, misinformed host of the fictitious talk show. Glick is now the star of a new film, 'Jiminy Glick in Lalawood.' MARTIN SHORT was a cast member on both Saturday Night Live and SCTV. His movies include Father of the Bride, The Three Amigos, and Innerspace. (REBROADCAST from 2/21/02) (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Crash.' (3.) Jazz pianist KEITH JARRETT. Called one of the greatest improvisers in the history of jazz, Jarrett was famous for his wildly passionate solo recitals. Beginning in 1996 and continuing for about four years he stopped performing and recording because of chronic fatigue syndrome. He is now recovered. On May 8th, JARRETT celebrates his 60th birthday. His new album 'Radiance' (EDM) is his solo improvised concert. (REBROADCAST from 9/11/00) (4.) Col. DAVID H. HACKWORTH. He died on Wednesday at the age of 74 from bladder cancer. He's been described as a warrior's warrior and perhaps the finest soldier of his generation. He was a highly decorated Army soldier. His heroism earned him a battlefield commission in the Korean War when he was 20. He was the youngest full colonel in the Vietnam War, and was reputed to the model for the Col. Kurtz character played by Marlan Brando in the movie "Apocalypse Now." After appearing on the news show "Issues and Answers" to decry the misguided American military effort in Vietnam, he left the Army and moved to Australia where he was active in the peace and disarmament movements. Hackworth recounted his experiences in the Army and his subsequent change of philosophy in his autobiography, About Face, The Odyssey of an American Warrior. (REBROADCAST from 4/26/89)
Interview with Dave Burell; Interview with Goldie Hawn. May 9, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885106].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Jazz pianist and composer DAVE BURRELL. He was an important part of the free jazz scene of the 1960s, recording with Pharoah Sanders, Marion Brown, Archie Shepp and others. He now performs with his Full-Blown Trio, made up of drummer Andrew Cyrille and bassist William Parker. His latest album with the trio is 'Expansion' (High Two label). It's his first recording for a U.S. label in almost 40 years. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Actress GOLDIE HAWN. The 60's show 'Rowan & Martin's Laugh-In' turned her into a star. Later she starred in the films 'Cactus Flower,' 'Swing Shift,' and 'Private Benjamin.' She is the mother of actress Kate Hudson. HAWN's autobiography (written with Wendy Holden) is 'Goldie: A Lotus Grows in the Mud' (G.P. Putnam).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist MEG WOLITZER ('WAHL-it-zer'). She's the author of the novel 'The Wife' which was A New York Times Notable Book. Her new novel 'The Position' is about a 1970s era couple who write a Joy of Sex style book, complete with illustrations of them making love; then their teenage children get a hold of it. Our book critic describes it as a 'smart, wry novel... that turns out to be a poignant elegy to the fleeting health and pleasures of the body, as well as to the fleeting emotional and physical togetherness of the family.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Them: A Memoir of Parents' (Penguin) by Francine du Plessix Gray (du Ples-sey Gray).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress BROOKE SHIELDS. She's written a new memoir about what she experienced following the birth of her daughter. It's called 'Down Came the Rain: My Journey Through Postpartum Depression' (Hyperion). SHIELDS has been an actress since she was a child. Her films include 'Pretty Baby,' 'Blue Lagoon,' and 'Black and White.' She also starred in her own TV show, 'Suddenly Susan.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the debut album by British 25 year old Nic Armstrong and his band the Thieves. It's called 'The Greatest White Liar.'

Interview with Sam Kashner; Interview with Ruth Reichl; Review of the film "Kings and Queen." May 13, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885066].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer SAM KASHNER. His new memoir is called 'When I was Cool: My Life at the Jack Kerouac School.' (Harper Collins) As a teenager, Kashner left his comfortable suburban life on Long Island, New York and became the first student to attend the Jack Kerouac School of Disembodied Poetics in Boulder, Colorado. Kashner's teachers were the great beat writers William Burroughs, Allan Ginsberg, Gregory Corso and Kerouac. Kashner is also the author of a novel, 'Sinatraland,' as well as three non-fiction books. He is a regular contributor to Vanity Fair. (REBROADCAST from 3/15/04) (2.) Food critic and editor-in-chief of Gourmet Magazine RUTH REICHL ('RYE-shal'). REICHL is the author of two best-selling memoirs, 'Tender at the Bone' and 'Comfort Me with Apples.' She's just completed her third memoir, 'Garlic and Sapphires: the Secret Life of a Critic in Disguise' (Penguin). Last year REICHL edited 'The Gourmet Cookbook' that culled from 60 years of Gourmet magazine's back issues. Before becoming editor of Gourmet, she was restaurant critic of the New York Times, and before that food editor of the Los Angeles Times. She ran her own restaurant in Berkeley, California in the 1970s. (REBROADCAST from 10/5/04) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new French film 'Kings & Queen,' directed by Arnaud Desplechin.
Interview with William H. Macy and Felicity Huffman; Commentary on Charlie Poole. May 16, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885107].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Husband and wife actors FELICITY HUFFMAN and WILLIAM H. MACY. They've collaborated on the new offbeat independent feature 'Transamerica.' Macy is the executive producer. Huffman stars as a male-to-female transsexual who receives a phone call from the son she never knew she fathered. MACY has had roles in many films and TV shows. He's done numerous movies with David Mamet and Paul Thomas Anderson. His big screen credits include 'Seabiscuit,' 'Magnolia,' 'Pleasantville,' 'The Cooler' and 'Oleanna.' He was nominated for an Oscar for his part in 'Fargo.' He won an Emmy for his work on the TV movie 'Door to Door,' and he had Emmy nominated guest roles on the T-V shows 'E.R.' and 'Sports Night.' FELICITY HUFFMAN is best known as Lynette, one of the 'Desperate Housewives' on the ABC TV series, for which she won a Screen Actors Guild Award. She was also in 'The Cooler,' 'Door to Door,' 'Magnolia' and on 'Sports Night' with Macy. Huffman has been a regular guest on several TV shows including 'Frasier.' (2.) Rock historian ED WARD reviews a three-disc release of a Charlie Poole recording from the 1930s. It's on Columbia Legacy and it's called 'You Ain't Talkin' To Me.' Poole was a banjo playing pioneer of country music.

Interview with Peter Kramer; Interview with David Shore and David Foster. May 17, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885065].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author PETER D. KRAMER. His new book is 'Against Depression.' He's also the author of the best-seller 'Listening to Prozac.' In his new work, KRAMER tries to understand depression. He argues that we should think of depression as a disease and it should be uncompromisingly treated as such. KRAMER is a clinical professor of psychiatry at Brown University. He also hosts the public radio program, 'The Infinite Mind.' (This interview continues into the second half of the show.) (2.) DAVID SHORE and DAVID FOSTER, MD, from the FOX T-V series 'HOUSE.' SHORE is the executive producer. FOSTER is the medical consultant and writes for the series. 'HOUSE,' which airs Tuesday at 9:00 PM, casts a medical malady as the villain. The hero is an irreverent and controversial doctor who trusts no one. He and his team must solve the medical case each week. DAVID SHORE'S other TV producing credits include 'Hack,' 'Family Law' and 'Law and Order.' FOSTER is an instructor in medicine at Harvard Medical School, and has consulted on many T-V shows, including 'Law and Order: SVU,' 'Ozzie and Drix,' and 'Gideon's Crossing.' The season finale of 'HOUSE' is coming up on May 24, 2005.

Interview with D. James Kennedy; Interview with Frederick Clarkson; Commentary on language. May 18, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885063].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Evangelist minister D. JAMES KENNEDY, PhD. He preaches from the Coral Ridge Presbyterian Church in Coral Ridge, Florida, and has radio and TV shows which are broadcast around the world. Coral Ridge is considered a megachurch, with 10,000 members. KENNEDY states that one of his goals is to 'reclaim America for Christ,' closing the gap between church and state that is written into the constitution. KENNEDY is founder and president of Evangelism Explosion International. He runs the Statesmanship Institute, designed to give holders of public office tools for integrating biblical principles into lawmaking. He holds nine degrees from schools including Columbia Theological Seminary and Southwest Baptist University. (2.) Journalist FREDERICK CLARKSON specializes in covering the radical Right. He's the author of 'Eternal Hostility: The Struggle Between Theocracy And Democracy.' He provides some background on the growing religious movement of which Kennedy is a leader. CLARKSON has written articles on the Religious Right's plans to take over the Republican Party, and how elements of the Right encouraged citizen militias. He's also an expert on the Reverend Sun Myung Moon. (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the 'color wars.'

Interview with Ryan Murphy; Commentary on Frank Werber. May 18, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885248].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer, director and producer RYAN MURPHY. His upcoming comedy series Glee premieres on Fox Tuesday May 19th at 9:00 PM, following American Idol. It's about a high school choir director and his ragtag group of singers. While the show airs its first episode on Tuesday, the series is not scheduled for a regular run until this fall. Murphy also created the hit TV series Nip/Tuck, and has written film screenplays including Running With Scissors and the adaptation of the best selling memoir Eat, Pray Love, now in pre-production. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Rock historian ED WARD looks at the work of mid 1960s record producer Frank Werber and his Trident Productions label.

Interview with Nick Hornby; Interview with Pete Seeger; Review of the film "Da Vinci Code." May 19, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503702].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author NICK HORNBY. His most recent book, 'A Long Way Down,' is now out in paperback. Many of Hornby's novels have been made into films, including 'About a Boy' and 'High Fidelity.' His novel 'Fever Pitch,' about a soccer obsessed English teacher, was adapted to the silver screen, then readapted for American audiences, with a Boston Red Sox fanatic as the protagonist. 'A Long Way Down' is about a group of suicidal people who accidentally meet atop a tall building. He also writes 'Stuff I've Been Reading,' a column for McSweeney's The Believer Magazine. (Rebroadcast. Original airdate: 6/15/05) (2.) Folk legend PETE SEEGER. We listen back to a vintage 1984 interview with the folk singer and political activist. Seeger wrote or co-wrote 'If I Had A Hammer,' 'Where Have All the Flowers Gone' and 'Turn, Turn, Turn.' He also made popular dozens of other folk songs, many of which appear on the latest Bruce Springsteen album, 'We Shall Overcome: The Seeger Sessions.' (Original airdate: 1/25/84) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The DaVinci Code,' directed by Ron Howard and starring Tom Hanks.

Interview with Philip Caputo; Review of the music album "Billie Holiday May 19, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885067].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist and novelist PHILIP CAPUTO (Cah-POO-toe). He is best known for his Vietnam memoir, 'A Rumor of War.' His new novel 'Acts of Faith' (Knopf) is set in Sudan during that country's civil war and is about the unintended consequences of the aid workers and missionaries involved in relief work. One reviewer writes, 'This is a big novel, old fashioned in the best way, full of intrigue and a large cast of sharply drawn characters.' CAPUTO is also the author of the novel 'The Voyage: A Novel,' and 'Means of Escape: A War Correspondent's Memoir of Life and Death in Afghanistan, the Middle East, and Vietnam.' CAPUTO shared a Pulitzer Prize in 1972 for reporting on election fraud in Chicago for the Chicago Tribune. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Billie Holiday: The Ultimate Collection' (Hippo/Decca/Verve) a two CD/one DVD collection of Holiday performances, which includes some rarely seen appearances of Holiday on three 1950s TV shows. (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Star Wars: Episode III ? Revenge of the Sith' ? the sixth and final Star Wars film.

Interview with Elli Wallach; Interview with Jeanne Moreau; Review of Lyrics Born's new CD "Same !@#{dollar} different day." May 20, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885068].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor ELI WALLACH. His new memoir is 'The Good, the Bad, and Me: In My Anecdotage' (Harcourt). He starred in the film 'The Good, The Bad and The Ugly,' out on special edition DVD. Wallach has had a long career on stage and screen, starring in many spaghetti westerns in the 1960s, as well as in the Godfather trilogy. He won a Tony award for his role in Tennessee Williams' 'The Rose Tattoo.' (REBROADCAST FROM 11/13/90) (2.) French film legend JEANNE MOREAU. She's best known for her work in the French New Wave films (between 1958 and 1962), working with such directors as Francois Truffaut, Louis Malle, and Jean-Luc Godard. Perhaps MOREAU's most famous role was in Truffaut's "Jules et Jim," as the woman in a complicated menage a trois. 'Jules and Jim' is now out on DVD (Criterion Collection). MOREAU has led an admittedly unconventional life, from her choice of movie roles, to her succession of love affairs. (REBROADCAST from 12/23/93). (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new CD by hiphop artist Lyrics Born. It's called 'Same !&#{dollar} Different Day' (Quannum)

Interview with David Kirkpatrick; Matt Bennett and Rachel Blair; Interview with Thomas Breidenthal. May 23, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885105].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist DAVID KIRKPATRICK covers Congress for the New York Times. As part of a series on class issues for the Times he's co-authored the story on the increase of evangelical Christians on Ivy League campuses (published in the Sunday, May 22nd edition). (2.) MATT BENNETT is the founder of Christian Union, an organization of evangelicals at Ivy league colleges whose goal is to 'shape the hearts and minds of many thousands who graduate from these schools and who become the elites in other American cultural institutions.' RACHEL BLAIR is a student at Princeton and is a member of Christian Union. The Union has ministry centers at Brown, Cornell and Princeton. BENNETT founded the organization in 2002. He is a graduate of Cornell. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (3.) REV. THOMAS BREIDENTHAL is Dean of religious life at Princeton University. BREIDENTHAL is a scholar, teacher and Episcopal priest. He is the author of the book 'Christian Households: The Sanctification of Nearness.' (publ. 1997).

Interview with David Bianculli; Review of the Cannes Film Festival. May 24, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885239].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI talks with Terry about the season finales of several TV shows and gives us a preview of what's coming up for the new Fall TV season. (2.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS talks with Terry about the Cannes Film Festival which wrapped up over the weekend. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Ira Rutkow; Interview with Gregg Araki; Review of Martha Cooley's "Thirty-three swoons." May 25, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885241].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Surgeon and medical historian IRA RUTKOW ('RUT-ko'). He's the author of 'Surgery: An Illustrated History,' which was a New York Times Notable Book of the Year. His new book is 'Bleeding Blue and Gray: Civil War Surgery and the Evolution of American Medicine' (Random House). RUTKOW is also a clinical professor of surgery at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey. (2.) Director GREGG ARAKI ('Ah-ROCK-ee') and novelist SCOTT HEIM. ARAKI's new film 'Mysterious Skin' is based on Heim's novel of the same name. It's the story of what becomes of two young men who were sexually molested as boys, and the different ways the two deal with the trauma. 'Mysterious Skin' premiered at the Toronto International Film Festival and the Sundance Film Festival. ARAKI's previous films include 'The Doom Generation,' 'Totally Fed Up' and 'The Living End.' HEIM's previous novel is 'In Awe' (1997). His fiction and nonfiction have appeared in The Village Voice, Nerve.com, the Advocate, Paper, and many anthologies. (3.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'Thirty-Three Swoons' by Martha Cooley.

---

Interview with Jonathan Oberlander; Obituary for Ismail Merchant. May 26, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885238].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Political scientist JONATHAN OBERLANDER is an expert on health politics and policy. He is Associate Professor of Social Medicine at the University of North Carolina. He is the author of the book 'The Political Life of Medicare' (University of Chicago Press, 2003). His articles and opinion pieces have appeared in Health Affairs, Journal of Health Politics, Policy and Law, The Washington Post and Los Angeles Times. (2.) Film producer ISMAIL MERCHANT. He died yesterday at age 68. In conjunction with James Ivory, he produced "Maurice" (1987), "A Room With a View" (1985), "Howards End" (1992) and "The Remains of the Day" (1993). Merchant Ivory Productions made more than 40 films, and many of those works were nominated for Academy awards. Merchant Ivory's newest film, 'Heights,' is scheduled for release June 17 2005. (Original airdate: 9/10/87)

---

Interview with Neil Diamond; Interview with Angie Dickinson; Review of the film "Army of shadows." May 26, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503619].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and songwriter NEIL DIAMOND. The new album 'Forever Neil Diamond' features the best-known covers of Neil Diamond songs, including 'Red Red Wine' by UB40, 'A Little Bit Me, A Little Bit You' by the Monkees, 'Girl, You'll Be A Woman Soon' by Urge Overkill. For his most recent album, '12 Songs' he teamed up with producer Rick Rubin, who has worked with big time hip-hop artists and metal bands, and who collaborated extensively with Johnny Cash at the end of his life. It's a departure from the work DIAMOND is known for: sing-a-long-able hits like 'Sweet Caroline,' 'Cracklin' Rosie,' and 'Cherry Cherry.' (Original airdate: 12/13/05) (2.) Actress ANGIE DICKINSON. She played an undercover cop in the TV series 'Police Woman' from 1974-78. There's now a DVD collection of 'Police Woman.' Her film roles include 'Dressed to Kill,' 'Even Cowgirls Get the Blues,' 'Pretty Maids all in a Row,' and the original 'Ocean's Eleven' which she made in 1960 with the rat pack: Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, and Sammy Davis
Jr. (REBROADCAST from 12/4/01) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Army of Shadows' the French film made in 1969 by Jean-Pierre Melville about the French Resistance. It's being released in the U.S. for the first time.

Interview with Richard Russo; Interview with Stacy Peralta; Review of the documentary "Mad hot ballroom." May 27, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885243].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author RICHARD RUSSO. His Pulitzer prize winning novel, 'Empire Falls,' has been made into an HBO miniseries airing this weekend at 9:00 PM Saturday and Sunday. as one reviewer writes he transforms 'every day people and seemingly ordinary events - into the quintessential.' He's written five novels in all, including 'Mohawk,' 'The Risk Pool,' and 'Nobody's Fool' (which was made into a film starring Paul Newman). He also wrote a collection of stories entitled 'The Whore's Child and Other Stories.' (Original airdate: 8/19/02) (2.) Extreme skateboarding pioneer STACY PERALTA. He wrote and acts in the new movie 'Lords of Dogtown.' The feature evolved from Peralta's 2002 documentary 'Dogtown and Z-Boys.' Both films are about the community of skateboarders in California in the 1970s who originated extreme skateboarding in a rundown urban beach neighborhood near Santa Monica and Venice called Dogtown. The skateboarders became international stars. PERALTA was one of the Z-boys and is considered one of the founding fathers of modern skateboarding. (Original airdate: 5/16/02) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Mad Hot Ballroom,' a new documentary about 11-year-old kids who compete in a New York city ballroom dance competition.

Interview with Tom Kenny; Interview with Donald Kroodsma and Don Stap. May 30, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885242].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former standup comic TOM KENNY is the voice of SpongeBob SquarePants the star of his own cartoon show on Nickelodeon cable. SpongeBob lives under the sea in the city of Bikini Bottom where he works as a fry cook at a greasy spoon called the Krusty Krab. He is incurably optimistic and naive. The show premiered in July 1999 and now is a huge hit with children as well as adults, spawning a merchandizing bonanza. The feature film, 'The SpongeBob SquarePants Movie' is now out on DVD.
KENNY’S other voices include the narrator and the mayor on Cartoon Network's 'Powerpuff Girls,' Dog in Nickelodeon's 'CatDog,' and Boo Boo on 'Yogi Bear.' (Original airdate: 11/16/04. THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Writers DONALD KROODSMA and DON STAP. KROODSMA is a renowned specialist in the interpretation of bird songs. His new book is "The Singing Life of Birds: The Art and Science of Listening to Birdsong." He describes how birds communicate and why. STAP's new book is "Birdsong," and it's about people who analyze the sounds of birds. Stap followed Kroodsma from the lab into the field and then wrote his account. (Original airdate: 3/29/05)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Academy award winning film editor THELMA SCHOONMAKER ('SKOON-may-ker'). She's edited every one of Martin Scorsese's movies, from 'Raging Bull' to 'The Aviator.' She'll talk about how film editing has changed over the past 30 years, and how she got her first big break editing Scorsese's student film at NYU. She was also married to the late film director Michael Powell. She won Oscars for her work on 'The Aviator' and 'Raging Bull,' and was nominated for her editing on 'Gangs of New York' and 'Goodfellas.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Frank Rich; Interview with Tim Winter. June 1, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885214].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) FRANK RICH is an op-ed columnist for The New York Times. In his weekly column he covers the intersection between popular culture, politics and the news. His column appears in the Sunday Week in Review. RICH previously was the theatre critic for the paper. (2.) TIM WINTER is Executive Director of the Parents Television Council, a watchdog group which opposes sex, violence, and profanity in the media.
Interview with Stephanie Coontz; Interview with Mother Antonia. June 2, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885216].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Social historian STEPHANIE COONTZ. She is Director of Research and Public Education at the Council on Contemporary Families and teaches at The Evergreen State College in Washington state. Her new book is 'Marriage, a History: from Obedience to Intimacy or How Love Conquered Marriage' (Viking). Her previous book is 'The Way We Never Were: American Families and the Nostalgia Trap.' (2.) MOTHER ANTONIA lives and works in one of Mexico's most notorious prisons, the La Mesa State Penitentiary in Tijuana. Twenty-eight years ago she began work there, giving up her life as a wealthy divorced mother of seven in Beverly Hills. Church rules banned her as an older, divorced woman from joining any religious order, so she went about her work on her own. She began the order, Servants of the Eleventh Hour. The Church has since blessed her mission. MOTHER ANTONIA is the subject of the new book, 'The Prison Angel: Mother Antonia's Journey From Beverly Hills to a Life of Service in a Mexican Jail' (The Penguin Press) by Pulitzer prize winning authors Mary Jordan and Kevin Sullivan. They won the 2003 Pulitzer for international reporting for their coverage of Mexico's criminal system. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Tim Curry; Interview with Hank Azaria; Review of the film "Cinderella man." June 3, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885240].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) British actor TIM CURRY. He is currently starring in the Broadway production of 'Spamalot' the musical of Monty Python and the Holy Grail. He plays King Arthur. The show has been nominated for 14 Tony awards, including one for Best Performance by a Leading Actor in a Musical for CURRY. The Tony awards take place Sunday, June 5th. CURRY's first movie, the film that made him famous, was the 1975 cult classic "The Rocky Horror Picture Show." He played Dr. Fran-N-Furter a transvestite mad scientist dressed in a black corset, stockings and garters. In his "signature" song he sings "I'm a sweet transvestite from Tran Sexual, Transylvania. . ." He originated the role on stage in London. Since then he's been in numerous stage, film and TV productions. He was on Broadway in "Travesties," "My Favorite Year" and created the role of Mozart in "Amadeus." He also starred in the British production of "The Pirates of Penzance." Recently he's had roles in the films " Lemony Snicket's: A Series of Unfortunate Events" and "Kinsey." (REBROADCAST from 3/15/05) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Actor HANK AZARIA. He is also currently starring in the Broadway production of 'Spamalot' the musical version of 'Monty Python and the Holy Grail.' He along with Tim Curry has been nominated for a Tony award for Best Performance by a Leading Actor in a Musical. He also stars in the Showtime series 'Huff,' about an urban psychiatrist with troubles of his own. Azaria does the voices of Apu the convenience store owner, Moe the bartender and Clancy the police chief, among others, on 'The Simpsons.' He directed and starred in the film 'Nobody's Perfect,' and has acted in many other movies, including 'The Birdcage,' 'Eulogy,' and 'Shattered Glass.' (REBROADCAST from 12/6/04) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Cinderella Man' starring Russell Crowe, directed by Ron Howard.

Description of show segment(s)

Interview with Sandra Horning and David Johnson; Review of the film "Rock school." June 6, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885244].

(1.) DR. SANDRA HORNING and DR. DAVID JOHNSON are both oncologists. HORNING is the current President of the American Society of Clinical Oncology, the largest group of cancer-treatment specialists. JOHNSON was president before her. Both of them are cancer survivors. They are the first cancer survivors to lead the 41-year-old society. They'll discuss their diagnosis, treatment, and recovery, and how having cancer has affected their work with their patients. HORNING practices and does research on lymphomas at Stanford. She is also co-chairman of the oncology society's task force on cancer survivorship. JOHNSON is deputy director of the Vanderbilt-Ingram Cancer Center in Nashville. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new documentary 'Rock School' about the real life school of rock in Philadelphia.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JOHN ALLEN covers the Vatican for The National Catholic Reporter. He is also the author of the new book about the new pope, 'The Rise of Benedict XVI: The Inside Story of How the Pope was

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalists PETER BAKER & SUSAN GLASSER are with the Washington Post. They are the previous Moscow bureau chiefs for the Post (from 2001-2004). The two have collaborated on the new book, 'Kremlin Rising: Vladimir Putin's Russia and the End of Revolution' (Scribner). It's about Putin's shift away from democracy toward authoritarianism. BAKER & GLASSER are married. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Guitarist and vocalist JACK WHITE and drummer MEG WHITE of the band the White Stripes. The duo are a divorced couple, and they hail from Detroit. There long anticipated new album is 'Get Behind Me Satan' (V2). The first track 'Blue Orchid' was a hit before the album was even released. This is their fifth album. One reviewer writes, 'The White Stripes are grounded in punk and blues, but the undercurrent to all of their work has been. . .striving for simplicity, a love of American folk music, and a careful approach to intriguing, emotional and evocative lyrics. . .' The band debuted in 1999. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Dave Chappelle; Review of the series "Entourage"; Interview with Les Paul; Review of Hayao Miyazaki's film "Howl's moving castle." June 10, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885292].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian DAVE CHAPPELLE. He has a self-titled variety show on Comedy Central. He's been called the funniest man on television, and Richard Pryor calls Chappelle his favorite comedian. Chappelle himself claims he's 'America's No. 1 source for offensive comedy.' 'Chappelle's Show' is Comedy Central's top ranked broadcast. Season two is just out on DVD. Dave Chappelle's movie roles include parts in 'Half-Baked,' 'Robin Hood: Men in Tights,' and 'Con Air.' (Original airdate: 9/2/04) (2.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS has been watching the HBO show 'Entourage' - about a handsome young movie star and his buddies and has some thoughts on the way the rich and powerful are often protected from reality. (3.) Musician and inventor LES PAUL. He turned 90 years old on June 8th, and he is still performing and recording. He's collaborated with the likes of Eric Clapton, Jeff Beck, and Sting on a new album to be released later this summer. Later this month he will be saluted at a birthday celebration concert at Carnegie Hall. PAUL shaped much of the sound of rock and roll. He invented the electric pickup, the device that made the electric guitar possible, he made the first multi-track recorder, and his innovations established the recording studio itself as a legitimate musical instrument. Gibson has sold guitars designed by LES PAUL since the early 50s, vintage models are now worth thousands of dollars. Paul also had many top 40 hits in the 50s and his own T?V show with his late wife singer Mary Ford. (REBROADCAST from 61/17/92) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Howl's Moving Castle' the new Disney film made by Hayao Miyazaki who made the Academy-Award winning animated film 'Spirited Away.'

Interview with Kenneth Feinberg; Interview with Christian Bale; June 13, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885289].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Attorney KENNETH FEINBERG. He was the Special Master of the Federal September 11th Victim Compensation Fund. In this role, he decided how much families of the victims of the terrorist attacks would receive, and what family members were eligible for compensation. Feinberg was on a team tasked with determining the fair market value of the Zapruder film of the Kennedy assassination. Feinberg has a new book about his work on the September 11th Fund. It's called 'What is Life Worth? The Unprecedented
Effort to Compensate the Victims of 9/11' (PublicAffairs 2005). (2.) Actor CHRISTIAN BALE. He plays Bruce Wayne, and of course his alter ego Batman, in the new film 'Batman Begins.' Bale's other films include 'American Psycho,' 'Laurel Canyon,' 'Captain Corelli's Mandolin,' and 'The Machinist.' He's also the voice of Howl in the new Japanese animated film 'Howl's Moving Castle.'

Interview with Delbert McClinton; Commentary on language. June 14, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885291].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Musician, composer, singer DELBERT MCLINTON from Lubbock, Texas. He's considered a legend among Texas roots music aficionados. He's been making music since the 1950s in a style that seamlessly blends country, blues, soul, and rock and roll. Before he became known as a singer, he was a harmonica player with the Straightjackets, playing behind such blues legends as Howlin' Wolf, Jimmy Reed, and Sonny Boy Williamson. His harmonica was featured on the 1962 hit 'Hey! Baby.' On tour in England that year, MCLINTON, gave harmonica lessons to a young John Lennon. Soon after MCLINTON founded the group the Rondells. Over the years he's released a number of solo albums, and has written music for Emmylou Harris, Wynonna, and Vince Gill. In 1991 he won his first Grammy for his duet with Bonnie Raitt, 'Good Man, Good Woman.' In 2001 he released 'Nothing Personal' which ended up one of the year's biggest hits on Billboard's blues charts and also won him another Grammy for Best Contemporary Blues Album. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the 'etymythologies' of words, including the some of the words used as racial epithets.

Interview with Nick Hornby; Commentary on Michael Jackson; Review of the film "Batman begins." June 15, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885287].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.)Author NICK HORNBY. Many of his novels have been made into films, including 'About a Boy' and 'High Fidelity.' His novel 'Fever Pitch,' about a soccer obsessed English teacher, was adapted to the silver screen, then readapted for American audiences, with a Boston Red Sox fanatic as the protagonist. Hornby's new book is 'A Long Way Down' (Riverhead, 2005). It's about a group of suicidal people who accidentally meet atop a tall building. He also writes 'Stuff I've Been Reading,' a column for McSweeney's The Believer Magazine. (2.) Critic John Powers reflects on the end of the Michael Jackson child molestation trial. (3.) Film critic David Edelstein reviews 'Batman Begins,' starring Christian Bale, Katie Holmes and Michael Caine.

Interview with Brian Riedl; Interview with Jack Coughlin. June 16, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885288].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Economists ISABEL SAWHILL and BRIAN RIEDL ('REED-ul'). They will talk about the federal deficit: how we got there, and how we might get back into the black. Sawhill is a Senior Fellow and Vice President and Director of Economic Studies at the Brookings Institution. Brookings is a nonpartisan think tank located in Washington, DC. Brian Riedl is The Heritage Foundation's lead budget analyst. He is the Grover M. Hermann Fellow in Federal Budgetary Affairs at the Heritage Foundation, a conservative think tank also based in Washington. (2.) Sniper JACK COUGHLIN. His new book is 'Shooter: The Autobiography of the Top-Ranked Marine Sniper.' Coughlin is a gunnery Sergeant in the Marines. He grew up in a wealthy Boston suburb, and joined the Marines at age 19, spending the next 20 years behind the scope of a long-range rifle as a sniper. He has over sixty confirmed kills, 38 of which took place during Operation Iraqi Freedom.

Interview with Mark Haddon; Interview with Bob Kane; Review of Stephen Sondheim's private demo recordings. June 17, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884872].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author MARK HADDON. His novel, 'the curious incident of the dog in the night-time' (Doubleday), is on many bestseller and book club lists, and Haddon won the UK's prestigious Commonwealth Writers Prize. The narrator of the story is an autistic teenager who is obsessed with Sherlock Holmes and who must prove his innocence when a neighborhood dog is killed. One reviewer described it as 'wonderful, simple, moving, and likely to be a smash.' HADDON teaches creative writing for the Arvon Foundation and for Oxford University. He lives in England. (Original airdate: 6/26/03) (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews two CDs: 'Pork Chop Blue Around the Rind' from Fast and Bulbous, and 'The Hills Have Jazz' from Eugene Chadbourne. (3.) Batman creator BOB KANE. In his autobiography, Batman & Me, KANE tells how he came up with the idea for the caped crusader, and what influence he had on the TV series and previous Batman movies. Kane drew Batman from its inception in 1939 to the late 60s. DC Comic still publishes Batman. The new movie "Batman Begins" has just hit theaters nationwide. (REBROADCAST FROM 3/23/90) (4.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new CD of Stephen Sondheim's private demo recordings. Proceeds from the album go to raise money for a fund to help young playwrights.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Jazz pianist HANK JONES. The legendary jazzman turns 87 on July 31, 2005. He's just released the CD 'For My Father,' (Justin Time Records) with his own working trio, and he joins John Patitucci and Jack DeJohnette for The Great Jazz Trio's upcoming CD 'S'Wonderful' (Columbia). These two CDs are some of the half-dozen releases in the first half of 2005 that feature Jones as leader, co-leader or sideman. Jones has influenced several generations of pianists, and he continues to perform live. He has outlived his younger brothers, drummer Elvin Jones (1927-2004) and trumpeter Thad Jones (1923-1986). He was born in Vicksburg, Mississippi and raised in Pontiac, Michigan. Jones arrived in New York in 1944, and quickly became a key figure in be-bop, working with all the jazz greats, including Coleman Hawkins, Charlie Parker, Ella Fitzgerald and John Coltrane. (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews two new novels set in Cuba: 'Dirty Blonde and Half-Cuban' (Harper Collins) the debut novel by Lisa Wixon, and 'Adios Hemingway' (Cannongate) by Cuban writer Leonardo Padura Fuentes, translated by John King, one in a series of his award-winning Inspector Mario Conde mysteries.
Interview with Bob Halford; Commentary on poetry memorization. June 21, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885156].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Judas Priest lead singer ROB HALFORD. Their new album is 'Angel of Retribution.' The band is on tour this summer. The band, originally from Birmingham, England, was most popular in the 1970s and 80s, and pioneered the heavy metal sound. Their name comes from the title of the Bob Dylan song, 'The Ballad of Frankie Lee and Judas Priest.' HALFORD left the band in 1991, citing internal tension. In 1998, HALFORD came out of the closet during an interview on MTV. HALFORD, whose nickname is the Metal God, returned to Judas Priest in 2003. The band's most popular songs include 'Breaking the Law,' 'Hell Bent for Leather,' and 'Livin' After Midnight.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) The publishers of Poetry Magazine have been using the proceeds of a large bequest to encourage the practice of memorizing poetry. Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG comments.

Interview with Lisa Kudrow and Michael Patrick King; Review of Coldplay's "X&Y" and Dressy Bessy's "Electrified." June 22, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885158].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress LISA KUDROW and executive producer MICHAEL PATRICK KING. KUDROW stars and KING created the new HBO comedy series 'The Comeback.' It's a mock reality show that follows the career of a celebrity desperate to return to the spotlight. KUDROW, who starred in the hit TV series 'Friends' in real life, plays Valerie Cherish, who starred in the fictional sitcom 'I'm It!' Cherish gets a chance to star in a new network sitcom only if she agrees to do a reality series about her comeback. KUDROW won an Emmy for her role on 'Friends;' her other credits include the feature films 'Analyze This,' 'Romy and Michelle's High School Reunion' and the upcoming 'Happy Endings.' KING was a writer, director and co-executive producer for the HBO series 'Sex and The City,' for which he won two Emmys and three Golden Globes. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews two new releases: Coldplay's 'X&Y,' and Dressy
Fresh Air With Terry Gross

Bessy's 'Electrified.' (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Vindication: A Life of Mary Wollstonecraft.' (Harper/Collins)

Interview with Mark Zupan and Dana Adam Shapiro; Interview with Daniel Clowes. June 23, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885157].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker DANA ADAM SHAPIRO and murderball player MARK ZUPAN. SHAPIRO is one of the directors of the new documentary 'Murderball.' ZUPAN is a murderball (AKA quad rugby) player. The game is played by quadriplegics in specially outfitted wheelchairs on a basketball court with four eight-minute quarters. The film begins at the 2002 World Championship in Sweden. SHAPIRO coproduced and codirected the film. He is a former senior editor for SPIN Magazine and founder of Icon magazine. He has an upcoming debut novel called 'The Every Boy.' ZUPAN is a top rated player and the spokesman for the USA team. 'Murderball' won the audience award at the 2005 Sundance Film Festival. (2.) Comic strip novelist DANIEL CLOWES (sounds like 'clouds' without a d). His new book is called 'Ice Haven.' It's the story of a small midwestern town populated by characters including Random Wilder, the poet laureate, Julie Patheticstein and Blue Bunny. 'Ice Haven' is ultimately based on the story of Leopold and Loeb. Clowes is best known for the comic book turned movie 'Ghost World.' He also wrote the comic book series Eightball. He wrote the book 'David Boring,' which grew out of a character that originally appeared in Eightball. His next movie, 'Art School Confidential,' will be released in fall 2005.

Interview with Jerry Stahl; Interview with Barbara Carroll; Review of the film "Me and you and everyone we know." June 24, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885159].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer JERRY STAHL. His book, "I, Fatty" (Bloomsbury) tells the story of vaudeville and early film actor Fatty Arbuckle. It's about to be released in paperback. In the early 1900s, Arbuckle was more popular than Charlie Chaplin and became the first screen actor to make a million dollars a year. But in 1921, Arbuckle was accused of the rape and murder of a young actress. Many have called the crime, Arbuckle's presumed guilt, the subsequent trial, and his eventual acquittal Hollywood's first celebrity scandal. STAHL is also the author of the best selling memoir "Permanent Midnight" which was adapted into a film by the same name. He has also written for film and television. His other books include "Perv-A Love Story" and "Plainclothes Naked." (Original airdate: 7/21/04) (2.) Jazz vocalist and pianist BARBARA CARROLL. At age 80, she is still performing. She is based in New York City. She will be at the Algonquin Hotel's Oak Room this Sunday and next. She's released a number of CDs this year. Her latest is 'Live At Birdland.' For many years, Carroll performed at Bemelman's Bar at the Carlyle Hotel in Manhattan. She's received many awards and honors. (Original airdate: 6/9/03) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Me and You and Everyone We Know,' starring performance artist Miranda July.

---

Interview with Jason Moran; Review of Spoon's new album "Gimme Fiction." June 27, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885155].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Jazz pianist JASON MORAN. He's been awarded the 2005 Pianist of the Year award by the Jazz Journalist's Association, and he also received the first ever 2005 Playboy Magazine Jazz Artist of the Year. His new album is called 'Same Mother,' which reflects Moran's current interest in the blues. The 30-year-old musician is also known for is taking the hip-hop standards of his generation and making them jazz classics; he took Afrika Bambaata's 'Planet Rock' to a whole new level, and he has a Gangsterism album series. Moran is collaborating with performance artist Joan Jonas on a piece called 'The Shape, the Scent, the Feel of Things,' which will premiere at Dia Beacon in New York this fall. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the newest album from Spoon, 'Gimme Fiction' (Merge Records).

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RICHARD J. ELLIS is the author of the book 'To the Flag: the Unlikely History of the Pledge of Allegiance' (University Press of Kansas). In 2002 a federal judge ruled that the 'under god' part of the Pledge of Allegiance were unconstitutional because it violated the separation of church and state. An uproar ensued. But as ELLIS points out in his book, those words were not included in the Pledge when it was written in 1892. It wasn't until 1950 that 'under god' was added. ELLIS is the Mark O. Hatfield Professor of Politics at Willamette University in Salem, Oregon. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) JOHN COSKI is the author of 'The Confederate Battle Flag: America's Most Embattled Emblem' (Belknap Press) about the history of the flag and the various meanings attached to it. Some people view it as a symbol of white supremacy and racial injustice; others think it represents a rich Southern heritage. COSKI is Historian and Library Director at The Museum of the Confederacy in Richmond, Virginia.

Interview with John Danforth; Obituary for Shelby Foote; Review of Steven Spielberg's film "War of the worlds." June 29, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885154].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Republican Senator JOHN DANFORTH from Missouri. He was in the Senate for 18 years. He is also the former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and is a retired Episcopal priest. DANFORTH has recently been outspoken about the Christian conservative bent of the Republican party. In an OpEd piece for the New York Times (30 March 2005) he writes, 'By a series of recent initiatives, Republicans have transformed our party into the political arm of conservative Christians.' In another OpEd (17 June 2005) he writes, 'It is important for those of us who are sometimes called moderates to make the case that we, too, have strongly held Christian convictions, that we speak from the depths of our beliefs, and that our approach to politics is at least as faithful as that of those who are more conservative.' (2.) Writer SHELBY FOOTE. He died Monday night at age 88. Foote created a niche for himself as a civil war historian. He is best known for his three volume, 3,000 page history of the Civil War, called "The Civil War: A Narrative." He was also the narrator of Ken Burns' eleven-hour PBS series "The Civil War," which first aired in 1990. FOOTE was the author of six novels. (Original airdate: 7/27/94) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'War of the Worlds,' directed by Steven Spielberg and starring tom Cruise.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rock historian ED WARD has a retrospective on the Australian group the Go Betweens. The band has a new album 'Oceans Apart' and is currently on tour. (2.) ROBERT FORSTER and GRANT MCLENNAN of the Go-Betweens. The 80s cult band from Australia has a new CD called Oceans Apart. The band was formed in 1978 when McLennan and Forster met and decided to 'do the Factory in Brisbane.' They moved to London and continued to record and perform throughout the 1980s. Their 1982 debut album was 'Send Me a Lullaby.' Their other albums include Before Hollywood, Spring Hill Fair, and 16 Lovers Lane. They broke up in 1990 and re-united in 2000 for the critically acclaimed album The Friends of Rachel Worth. Forster and McLennan are back in Brisbane. This summer they are on tour internationally. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (3.) PAUL FEIG ('feeg') is the creator of the cult classic TV series 'Freaks and Geeks.' His new book 'Superstud: Or How I Became a 24-Year-Old Virgin' (Three Rivers Press) is the follow-up to his 2002 book 'Kick Me: Adventures in Adolescence.' FEIG was an actor before moving on to writing for TV and film.

Interview with Kevin Bacon; Review of the ?The complete Motown singles.? July 1, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458089].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor KEVIN BACON. He stars in the film, "The Woodsman" which is now out on DVD. He plays a sex offender just released from prison. Bacon was first recognized in the 1982 film "Diner," and went on to roles in "Mystic River," "A Few Good Men," "Flatliners," and "Footloose." He's made over 50 films and inspired the 6 degrees of Kevin Bacon game, in which players try to link another actor with Bacon in as few steps as possible. He is married to the actress Kyra Sedgwick, who also co-stars in "The Woodsman." (REBROADCAST from 1/18/05) (2.) Rock Historian ED WARD takes us back to the early days of Motown. The first volume of 'The Complete Motown Singles' has just been released on Hip-O Select, with eleven volumes to come.
Interview with Ted Kooser; Review of Neal Caine's new album "Backstabber's Ball." July 4, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884982].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Poet Laureate TED KOOSER ('KOO-zer'). He won the 2005 Pulitzer prize for poetry. He publishes 'American Life In Poetry,' a free weekly column for newspapers and websites that provides a brief poem and description as a way to bring verse to the masses. His poems are about the simple details of everyday life. For 25 years, Kooser worked in the insurance business, waking up early to write verse. He retired from insurance work in 1999. He is now a professor in the English department of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. His many other awards for writing include two NEA fellowships, the Pushcart Prize and Columbia University's Stanley Kunitz Prize. He's published many books of poetry. His new book is 'Flying at Night.' (Original airdate: 4/4/05) (2.) Jazz critic Kevin Whitehead reviews 'Backstabber's Ball,' the new album from bassist Neal Caine.

Interview with Martin Meredith; Interview with Michela Wrong; Review of Elizabeth Kostova's new novel "The Historian." July 5, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885083].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist and historian MARTIN MEREDITH. He has written extensively on Africa and its recent history. His new book is 'The Fate of Africa: From the Hopes of Freedom to the Heart of Despair: A History of 50 Years of Independence' (PublicAffairs). (2.) Journalist MICHAELA WRONG. Her new book is 'I Didn't Do It For You/ How the World Betrayed a Small African Nation.' She presents a case study of the nation of Eritrea, but the problems she writes about, including colonialism and border wars, are prevalent on the entire continent. WRONG is also the author of the PEN award winning book, 'In the Footsteps of Mr. Kurtz: Living on the Brink of Disaster in Mobutu's Congo.' WRONG has been a correspondent for Reuters news agency, the BBC, and the Financial Times of London. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Historian' (Little, Brown & Co.) the debut novel by Elizabeth Kostova? the latest book about the Dracula myth.
Interview with Michael Smith; Interview with Lauren Ambrose; Review of Dwight Yoakam's new album "Blame the vain." July 6, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885079].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) British journalist MICHAEL SMITH writes about defense issues for the Sunday Times of London. He's the journalist to whom the so-called Downing street memo was leaked. The memo at the minutes of a July 23, 2002 meeting of the Blair war Cabinet reveal that Bush and Blair began the war on the Iraq before Bush received congressional approval and two months before the UN vote. Britian and the US carried out secret bombing campaigns in an effort to provoke Iraq into action so that a war on Iraq would be justified. SMITH also was leaked a memo from March 2002 to Blair from his foreign secretary Jack Straw stating there was no evidence that Saddam Hussein had any weapons of mass destruction and that because of lack of US preparation, post-war Iraq would be very nasty. This memo that SMITH received was written just before the summit between Bush and Blair in Crawford Texas April 2002, a meeting at which Blair pledged that Britain would back regime change in Iraq. (2.) Actress LAUREN AMBROSE plays daughter Claire Fisher on the HBO drama series 'Six Feet Under.' Her other roles include a guest role on 'Law and Order' as a mildly retarded girl who is raped by a group of high school students, a teen introvert turned popular surfer chick with multiple personality disorder in the film 'Psycho Beach Party,' and one of Kevin Kline's best students in the film 'In and Out.' AMBROSE is also a classically trained opera singer. Last year she appeared on stage in the Sam Shepard play 'Buried Child' at London's National Theatre. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Blame the Vain' the new album by Dwight Yoakam, it's his 18th.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist BOB WOODWARD is a reporter and editor at The Washington Post where he has been for 34 years. His new book about their confidential source in the Watergate story is 'The Secret Man: The Story of Watergate's Deep Throat' (Simon & Schuster). His other books include 'Plan of Attack' about how and why the Bush administration decided to wage war in Iraq. He is also the author of a number of bestselling books including his book, 'Bush at War' and his first, 'All the President's Men' written in 1974 with Carl Bernstein about Watergate.

Obituary for Evan Hunter; Interview with Bill Condon; Commentary on Smokey Robinson and the Miracles. July 8, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885077].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer EVAN HUNTER died Wednesday at the age of 78. Under the pen name Ed McBain he was best known for his finely detailed "87th Precinct" novels. Mystery fans call McBain's books "procedurals" for their close attention to police procedures. Under his own name HUNTER, he wrote the semi-autobiographical novel 'The Blackboard Jungle.' And he wrote a number of screenplays including 'The Birds' which he and Alfred Hitchcock adapted from a story by Daphne du Maurier. As Ed McBain he was awarded Grand Master Award for lifetime achievement in 1986 from the Mystery Writers of America. HUNTER died from cancer of the larynx. (REBROADCAST from 10/20/87 and 1/25/90) (2.) Screenwriter and director BILL CONDON. His new film, "Kinsey," stars Liam Neeson, Laura Linney, Peter Sarsgaard, and John Lithgow. It's currently out on DVD. It's about the scientist Alfred Kinsey. In the 1940s and 1950s, he pioneered research in human sexuality. Condon interviewed many of Dr. Kinsey's colleagues before writing the script. Condon wrote the screenplay for the 2003 Academy Award winning film "Chicago." Condon also directed the 1998 film, "Gods and Monsters," about filmmaker James Whale. The film was named Best Picture by the National Board of Review and earned Condon the Oscar for Best Adapted Screenplay. (REBROADCAST from 11/30/04) (3.) Rock historian ED WARD on the first year of Smokey Robinson and the Miracles.

Interview with Dr. Francis Dufrayne; Review of Nicole Mitchell's new album "Hope, future and destiny." July 11, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885078].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. FRANCIS DUFRAyne is a gastroenterologist in his 50s at the Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia, PA. He is also a captain in the U.S. Naval Reserve. Recently he returned from Iraq where he was called up to treat wounded soldiers. DUFRAyne spent six months there. While he was in Iraq his son was also serving there in the Marines. (2.) FRANCES DUFRAyne, Jr. is a captain in the Marine Corps reserve. He is the son of Francis DuFrayne, MD. Father and son were stationed in Iraq at the same time earlier this year. DuFrayne Jr. is now a research associate at the Center for Strategic and International Studies in Washington, DC. 3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD REVIEWS 'Hope, Future and Destiny,' (Dreamtime records) the latest CD from flute player Nicole Mitchell.

Interview with Charles Sennott; Interview with Don Roos. July 12, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885081].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CHARLES SENNOTT is the London bureau chief for the Boston Globe. He was in London during the tube and bus bombings on July 7, 2005. He'll tell us about the British reaction to the events and compare it to the American reaction to 9/11/01. Sennott is the Globe's former Jerusalem Bureau Chief. Sennott has also covered the Gulf War, civil conflict in Northern Ireland, wars in Latin America and Afghanistan and the standoff at Waco. His books include 'Cradle and Crucible: History and Faith in the Middle East' and 'The Body and the Blood: The Middle East's Vanishing Christians and the Possibility for Peace.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Filmmaker DON ROOS (rhymes with 'Bruce'). He wrote and directed the new film 'Happy Endings,' starring Tom Arnold, Maggie Gyllenhaal, Lisa Kudrow and Laura Dern. Roos, who also directed 'The Opposite of Sex' and 'Bounce,' is known for creating dysfunctional characters who bump into one another in unpredictable ways. Roos also wrote the screenplays for the films 'Love Field,' 'Single White Female,' and 'Boys on the Side.'

Interview with Billy Joe Shaver; Review of Judy Henske's new CD "She sang California;"

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer songwriter BILLY JOE SHAVER. His life has been a rough road. Shaver became famous in the 1970s as the songwriter for the so called country music outlaws including Waylon Jennings. Many of Shaver's recent songs are heartbreaking, reflecting the loss of his mother, wife and son within a single year. He's just written a memoir, entitled 'Honky Tonk Hero.' There's a new DVD documentary about his life called 'The Portrait of Billy Joe.' And recently, a tribute album to Shaver was released and includes live performances by Joe Ely, Dale Watson, and Jimmie Dale Gilmore. It's called 'A Tribute to Billy Joe Shaver.' His recent albums include 'Freedom's Child,' 'Electric Shaver' and 'Victory.' He'll perform some of his songs during the interview. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Rock critic MILO MILES reviews 'She Sang California,' a new CD from singer songwriter JUDY HENSKE (pronounced 'HEN-skee'). She was popular in the 1960s, but it's been 28 years since she released an album. (3.) Linguist Geoff Nunberg reflects on the use of the phrase 'stiff upper lip' when referring to the British, especially in reports of the 7/7/05 London bombings.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer IGGY POP. He was punk before punk existed. His work has been collected in the new CD 'A Million in Prizes: The Iggy Pop Anthology' (available 7/19/05). His career began in the late 1960s when he was the frontman for the band The Stooges. He then went solo. He was born James Jewell Osterburg, Jr., but took the name Iggy while in a high school band. The Stooges put out two influential albums that were not great sellers, and the band eventually broke up when heavy drug use got in the way of performing. David Bowie was a big fan of Iggy Pop, and continued to support him despite Pop's heroin addiction. Pop kicked the habit in the 80s. He's influenced countless rock, pop, heavy metal and garage bands. His albums include 'Fun House,' 'Raw Power,' 'Sister Midnight' and 'Avenue B.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES UNTIL THE END OF THE SHOW.)

Interview with Carl Zimmer; Review of two films "Batman begins" and "War of the worlds;" Interview with Vince Vaughn; Review of the film "Wedding Crashers." July 15, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885114].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Health & Science writer CARL ZIMMER. His book, 'Soul Made Flesh: The Discovery of the Brain-and How it Changed the World' (Free Press) is now out in paperback. It's about Thomas Willis, the scientist whose research on the workings of the brain during the 17th century became the basis of modern neurology. Zimmer's work appears regularly in The New York Times, National Geographic, Newsweek, Discover, Natural History, and Science. He is also a John S. Guggenheim Fellow and received the Pan-American Health Organization Award for Excellence in International Health Reporting. (Original airdate: 2/9/04) (2.) Critic-at-large John Powers says that two current blockbusters, 'Batman Begins' and 'The War of The Worlds,' are influenced by America's obsession with terrorism. (3.) Actor Vince Vaughn. He co-stars with Owen Wilson in the new film 'Wedding Crashers.' They play a pair of guys who scam their way into weddings in order to meet women. Vaughn got his first big break in the 1996 movie 'Swingers.' He's also been in the movies 'The Lost World: Jurassic Park,' 'Starsky and Hutch,' and 'Anchorman: The Legend of Ron Burgundy.' (Original airdate: 7/16/01) (4.) Film critic David Edelstein reviews 'Wedding Crashers,' starring Vince Vaughn and Owen Wilson.

Interview with John Leguizamo; Commentary on Motown record label. July 18, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569059].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and comedian John Leguizamo ('leg-we-ZAH-mo'). He stars in the new Spanish language film 'Cronicas' (KROH-nee-kas). Leguizamo plays a tabloid reporter from Miami who travels to Ecuador to track down a serial killer. Leguizamo got his start as a stand up comedian. His two early 90s HBO specials, 'Spic-O-Rama' and 'Mambo Mouth,' were critically acclaimed. He went on to roles in a many films including 'Carlito's Way,' 'Super Mario Brothers' and 'Ice Age.' You can see him in George Romero's new film 'Land of the Dead,' in theaters now. (2.) Rock historian Ed Ward talks about the early days of the Motown record label, and salutes some of the label's first artists who never quite made it.

Interview with Karl Fleming; Review of Michael Cunningham's new novel 'Specimen days;' Review of Breau Brummels new album called 'Magic hollow.' July 19, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885112].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Civil rights reporter Karl Fleming. His new book is 'Son of the Rough South: An Uncivil Memoir.' Fleming was born in the south and raised in an orphanage during the Depression. He became Newsweek's lead civil rights reporter at the height of the movement in the mid-1960s. Fleming's stories reflected the turbulence of the era. He wrote about major events such as the Birmingham church bombing, the assassination of Martin Luther King, Jr., and the murders of the three civil rights workers in Philadelphia, Mississippi. While at the 1966 riots in the Watts section of Los Angeles, Fleming was severely beaten. (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Specimen Days' by Michael Cunningham, the author of the bestseller 'The Hours.' (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Magic Hollow,' a new 4 CD retrospective of the band The Beau Brummels, a 60s British Invasion-era pop group from California. Their biggest (and only top 10) hit was 'Laugh, Laugh.'

Interview with Cass Sunstein; Interview with Steven Johnson. July 20, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885211].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Law Professor CASS SUNSTEIN (‘SUN-steen’). He’ll comment on last night’s Supreme Court nomination of John G. Roberts. Sunstein is the Karl N. Llewellyn Distinguished Service Professor of Jurisprudence in the Law School at the University of Chicago. Early in his career, Sunstein clerked for Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall. He’s been a visiting professor of law at Columbia and Harvard universities. His website is http://home.uchicago.edu/~csunstei/. (2.) Author STEVEN JOHNSON. His book is 'Everything Bad is Good for You: How Today's Popular Culture is Actually Making Us Smarter.' Johnson argues that rather than turning our brains to mush, entertainment options like video games are now so complex that our brains rise to the challenge. He writes the 'Emerging Technology' column for Discover magazine and writes for Wired, Slate and The New York Times Magazine.

Interview with Howard Bryant; Review of Dr. Dog's new album "Easy beat." July 21, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885125].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Sports writer HOWARD BRYANT. He's a columnist for the Boston Herald. His new book is 'Juicing the Game: Drugs, Power and the Fight for the Soul of Major League Baseball.' In 1994, a 232-day player's strike threatened the institution of baseball in this country, and many thought the game would never return to its former glory. But it's back and more popular than ever. The decade since the strike has come to be known as 'The Juiced Era,' with greater profit and more record breakers than ever before. But the dark side to the success has been the use of steroids and other performance enhancing drugs. Bryant is also the author of 'Shut Out: A Story of Race and Baseball in Boston.' (2.) First Lady of the Press HELEN THOMAS. She's been covering the White House for 62 years. Until 2000, she was White House Bureau Chief for United Press International. She resigned when the company was bought by News World Communications. She is now a reporter for the Hearst News Service. Thomas has covered every president since John F Kennedy. She traveled to China with Richard Nixon. She'll give us an inside look at the White House Press Room, and comment of the recent scandals surrounding the Valerie Plame name leak and the possible involvement of White House deputy chief of staff Karl Rove. (3.) We'll listen to the music of the band Dr. Dog with rock critic Ken Tucker. They're a 5-piece rock band from the suburbs of Philadelphia. They've cut three albums in their home studio. Their latest is 'Easy Beat.' Their website is http://homepage.mac.com/sonofsheepdog/.

Interview with Jon Stewart; Review of the film "Hustle & flow." July 22, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885124].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JON STEWART, host of 'The Daily Show' on Comedy Central. The show is a fake news program that has won an Emmy, the coveted Peabody Award, and most recently the Television Critics Association award. There's a new DVD set of Indecision 2004, the Daily Show's coverage of last year's presidential elections. (ORIGINAL AIRDATE: 9/30/04. THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Singer and songwriter CAROLE KING. In the 1960s, she wrote hit songs like "Up on the Roof" and "Will You Still Love Me Tomorrow?" In the 70s, she achieved lasting fame with songs like "Natural Woman" and her album "Tapestry," which was the best-selling album of the decade. Carole King's new album is titled 'The Living Room Tour.' It was recorded live in Chicago, Los Angeles, and Hyannis, MA. More at HYPERLINK http://www.caroleking.com www.caroleking.com. (Original airdate: 6/19/89) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Hustle & Flow,' about a Memphis rapper trying to make it to the big time.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Chemist JOHN EMSLEY. His new book is called The Elements of Murder: A History of Poison.' He finds cases of accidental and intentional use of lethal substances throughout the ages. Some say Beethoven and Mozart were poisoned to death. EMSLEY won the UK's Science Book Prize for his 1995 'Consumer's Good Chemical Guide.' He was a researcher and lecturer in chemistry at London University for 20 years before becoming a popular science writer. (2.) Rock historian ED WARD tells us about Philadelphia's Cameo and Parkway record labels. From the late 1950s to the late 1960s, their hits included The Twist, South Street and Bristol Stomp. ABKCO Records has just released a Cameo-Parkway 4 disc retrospective.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Reporter and investigator WILLIAM BRITTAIN-CATLIN. His new book is 'Offshore: The Dark Side of the Global Economy.' Catlin finds that a third of the world's wealth is held offshore, and 80% of international banking transactions take place in the shadowy offices of banks in the Cayman Islands or the Islamic financial center of Labuan, Malaysia. Giant corporations such as Wal-Mart, BP and Citigroup hide their profits in these institutions, away from the eyes of investors and regulators. It's been estimated that as much as {dollar}7 trillion is parked offshore. (2.) Author and actor MARTIN MORAN. His new memoir is 'The Tricky Part: One Boy's Fall from Trespass into Grace.' Between the ages of 12 and 15, Moran was sexually abused by a male counselor at a Catholic boys' camp. Nearly thirty years later, Moran went to see the man again at a convalescent home. Moran also wrote a one-man play based on his experiences, also called The Tricky Part. It won a 2004 Obie Award. Moran performs the play all over the country.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI REVIEWS 'Over There,' the new Stephen Bochco series about a U.S. Army unit arriving in Iraq for its first tour of duty. It premieres tonight on the FX network.(2.) TV producer STEPHEN BOCHCO. He is co-creator and executive producer of 'Over There.' Bochco has won ten Emmy awards for creating and producing Hill Street Blues, L.A. Law and NYPD Blue. His other shows include Doogie Howser, M.D., Cop Rock and Murder One.(3.) Writer EDWARD BUNKER. He died Tuesday at age 71 of complications from diabetes. Bunker went to San Quentin prison at age 17. He was their youngest inmate. While incarcerated, Bunker wrote the crime fiction classic "No Beast So Fierce," which first came out in 1973, about a former criminal trying to go straight. It was the basis of the film Straight Time, starring Dustin Hoffman. Bunker had over two dozen acting roles. Notably, he played Mr. Blue in the Quentin Tarantino film 'Reservoir Dogs.' His last published book was the 2000 memoir 'Education of a Felon,' and his last onscreen appearance was as a convict in the remake of 'The Longest Yard.' Bunker was born in Hollywood, and spent his childhood in foster homes and reform school.(4.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Triplicity,' from tenor saxophone player Bob Feldman.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker WERNER HERZOG. His new documentary is 'Grizzly Man.' It's about Timothy Treadwell, who lived for 13 years among grizzly bears. One day, the remains of Treadwell and his girlfriend were found. The bears had eaten them. Herzog used video footage shot by Treadwell, and also interviewed friends, family and experts to get the full story on Treadwell. Herzog is associated with the German New Wave film movement. He's produced, written and directed more than 40 films, including 'Wings of Hope,' 'Aguirre, Wrath of God,' and 'Fitzcarraldo.' (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Simulated Progress,' from the co-operative trio Fieldwork (Pi records). (3.) Critic JOHN POWERS comments on the Harry Potter phenomenon. While Harry Potter has become a marketing event, it is still a literary event. Powers considers kids today lucky to have that experience. He compares it to his experiences purchasing and reading the Hardy Boys mysteries as a child.

Interview with Robbie Fulks; Review of summer books; Review of the documentary "March of the penguins." July 29, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885210].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer, songwriter and guitar player ROBBIE FULKS. His newest CD is called 'Georgia Hard.' Fulks is currently on tour across the country, with upcoming dates in California, Texas and Chicago. Check his website, http://www.robbiefulks.com, for details. Fulks also has an XM Satellite Radio show called Secret Country on Channel 12. (Original airdate: 12/2/98) (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN offers three mid-summer reading recommendations: '1776,' by David McCullough, 'Making an Exit' by Elinor Fuchs, and 'Lost in the Forest' by Sue Miller. (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'March of the Penguins.' It's about a year in the life of an Emperor penguin flock in Antarctica. Morgan Freeman narrates.

Interview with Christopher Frayling; Review of 101ers album ?Elgin avenue breakdown revisited.? August 1, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969457974].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Cultural historian CHRISTOPHER FRAYLING. His new book is 'Once Upon A Time in Italy: The Westerns of Sergio Leone.' It's a large format, beautifully illustrated book that chronicles the history of the spaghetti western through researched text and interviews with Clint Eastwood, Martin Scorcese and Eli Wallach. Frayling is Rector at London's Royal College of Art and a Professor of Cultural History. He's the Chair of the Arts Council of England. He's known for his broadcast work on the BBC, and has written over a dozen books on arts and culture. (2.) Music critic MILO MILES tells us about Joe Strummer's pre-Clash band, The 101ers (pronounced 'one-oh-one-ers'). Strummer went on to fame as the lead singer of the band The Clash. 'Elgin Avenue Breakdown Revisited' is the name of the reissued 101ers album in stores now.
Interview with Anne Marie Squeo and Adam Liptak; Review of the soundtrack of the film 'Unfaithfully yours.' August 2, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458037].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times reporter ADAM LIPTAK (rhymes with 'black') and Wall Street Journal reporter ANNE MARIE SQUEO ('SQUAY-o'). They address issues surrounding the leak of the name of CIA agent Valerie Plame and subsequent jailing of Judith Miller of the New York Times for refusing to reveal her sources. LIPTAK is the Times' National Legal Corespondent. He was Senior Counsel in the legal department of the New York Times prior to becoming a reporter. SQUEO is a reporter in the Washington bureau of the Wall Street Journal, covering media and telecommunications policy. She was a member of the team of journalists that won the Pulitzer Prize for the WSJ's series 'The Price of Power,' about the future of the U.S. military. (This interview continues into the second half of the show.) (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ tells why he likes the soundtrack for the Preston Sturges film 'Unfaithfully Yours,' now out on DVD.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former U.S. soldier JOHN CRAWFORD. With just two credits to go before graduating, Crawford was called to active duty and sent to the front lines in Iraq. Crawford had joined the Florida National Guard in order to pay his college tuition, and did not expect to have to fight. His new memoir, 'The Last True Story I'll Ever Tell: An Accidental Soldier's Account of the War in Iraq,' was written partly while on active duty and partly back in the U.S. after he returned. (2.) CARRIE BROWNSTEIN and CORIN TUCKER of the band SLEATER-KINNEY ('SLAY-ter KIN-nee') Their latest album is called 'The Woods.' Their sound is loud, fast, aggressive grrl rock. The band is from the Pacific Northwest. They got their name from an exit sign on Interstate 5 between Seattle and Portland. Their other albums are 'Dig Me Out,' 'Call the Doctor' and 'The Hot Rock.' (Janet Weiss, the third member of the band, is not present for this interview).
Interview with Craig Brewer and Terrence Dashon Howard. August 4, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458630].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Director and writer CRAIG BREWER and star TERRENCE DASHON HOWARD of the film 'Hustle & Flow.' It's about a Memphis pimp who wants to be a rapper. The film won the 2005 Audience Award at Sundance. Prior to 'Hustle & Flow,' Brewer was a relative unknown. His earlier film 'The Poor & Hungry' was made using a $20,000 inheritance. 'Hustle & Flow' was completed with the backing of filmmaker John Singleton, who mortgaged his house to get financing. Terrence Howard has been in many films, including 'Crash,' 'Ray,' 'Dead Presidents' and the upcoming 'Four Brothers.' Howard's first acting part was on 'The Cosby Show.' He went on to roles in other TV shows and the first film that got him notice was 'Mr. Holland's Opus.' Howard is also an accomplished musician, and plays a song he wrote during the show. (This interview continues through the entire show.)

Interview with Brian Holland, Lamond Dozier, and Edward Holland; Commentary on language; Review of the film 'Broken Flowers.' August 5, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458631].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) The legendary songwriting trio, BRIAN HOLLAND, LAMONT DOZIER, and EDWARD HOLLAND. They wrote many early Motown hits, and helped turn the company into a powerhouse. Their songs include 'You Can't Hurry Love,' 'Reach Out I'll Be There,' 'Baby, I Need Your Loving,' 'Heat Wave,' and 'Stop! In the Name of Love.' Diana Ross & The Supremes, Marvin Gaye, the Four Tops, and Martha Reeves & The Vandellas recorded their songs. In 1990 they were inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. They have a new 3-CD box set called 'Heaven Must Have Sent You?the Holland/Dozier/Holland Story' on Hip-O Records. (Original airdate: 5/12/03) (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the increasingly catchy terminology used to package government missions and policies like 'war on terror' and 'no child left behind.' (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Broken Flowers,' directed by Jim Jarmusch and starring Bill Murray.
Obituary for Peter Jennings; Interview with Paul Anka; Interview with Ry Cooder. August 8, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458435].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We listen back to an interview with ABC News anchor PETER JENNINGS. He died yesterday at the age of 67 after a four month battle with lung cancer. He led the broadcast of 'World News Tonight since 1983. JENNINGS was born and raised in Canada, began his broadcasting career there, and in 1964 moved to the U.S. where he began his long association with ABC news. In 2003 JENNINGS became a U.S. citizen. (REBROADCAST from 11/17/98) (2.) Singer PAUL ANKA. His new album is called 'Rock Swings.' It's a collection of covers from the 80s and 90s, with the added benefit of a swing beat. Songs include 'Smells Like Teen Spirit,' 'Eye of the Tiger,' and 'Jump.' It's been described as 'music to drink cocktails to.' The Canadian-American singer-songwriter began his career at age 14 and skyrocketed to fame at the age of 16 with the hit single 'Diana,' one of the best selling 45s in music history. He also wrote some of the greatest songs in American popular music, including Frank Sinatra's 'My Way,' and Tom Jones 'She's A Lady.' He also had an acting career and was one of the first pop singers to perform in Las Vegas. (THIS IS PART ONE OF A TWO PART INTERVIEW WITH ANKA). (3.) We remember Cuban singer Ibrahim Ferrer who died Saturday in Havana. He was 78. The cause was multiple organ failure. We listen back to in interview with RY COODER who produced the Grammy-winning 1997 album 'Buena Vista Social Club' of which Ferrer was part. The album brought Ferrer out of retirement and made him and his fellow musicians at the Buena Vista Social club stars.(REBROADCAST FROM 6/23/99)

Interview with Bill Maher; Interview with Dr. Muzammil Siddiqi; Review of Punk albums "Beachhead" and "OC Confidential." August 9, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885268].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Political humorist BILL MAHER ('Mar'). His HBO program is 'Real Time With Bill Maher.' He also created and hosted the funny late night political round table show 'Politically Incorrect.' His new book 'New Rules: Polite Musings of a Timid Observer' compiles his satiric bits from his 'New Rules' segment on 'Real Time' in which he takes aim at everything from cellphones to fast food to politics.(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) DR. MUZAMMIL SIDDIQI ('Moo-ZAH-mill Sih-DEE-key') is chairman of the Fiqh ('Firk') Council of North America, an association of Islamic legal scholars that interprets Muslim religious law. On July 28th the group issued a fatwa, or religious ruling condemning all acts of terrorism and religious extremism as fundamentally un-Islamic. Over 100 Muslim organizations in the U.S. have endorsed the fatwa. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews silver anniversary albums by two 80's punk bands: The Fleshtones and The Adolescents.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Vietnam vet and former marine pilot RUSTY SACHS. In 1971 he was part of a group of Vietnam vets who opposed the war and held a three-day gathering in which former soldiers told of the atrocities they had participated in or witnessed during the war. It got little notice in the press. The anti-war documentary 'Winter Soldier' was made of that gathering. It was shown at film festivals at the time of its release 34 years ago but never reached a wider audience. 'Winter Soldier' is now having its first major theatrical release, beginning August 12th at the Film Society of Lincoln Center in New York City, with wider distribution to follow. SACHS who is in the film, is currently the Executive Director of the National Association of Flight Instructors. (Information about the film and its release can be found at http://www.wintersoldierfilm.com). (2.) Part Two of our interview with singer PAUL ANKA. His new album is called 'Rock Swings.' It's a collection of covers from the 80s and 90s, with the added benefit of a swing beat. Songs include 'Smells Like Teen Spirit,' 'Eye of the Tiger,' and 'Jump.' It's been described as 'music to drink cocktails to.' The Canadian-American singer-songwriter began his career at age 14 and skyrocketed to fame at the age of 16 with the hit single 'Diana,' one of the best selling 45s in music history. He also wrote some of the greatest songs in American popular music, including Frank Sinatra's 'My Way,' and Tom Jones 'She's A Lady.' He also had an acting career and was one of the first pop singers to perform in Las Vegas. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES TO THE END OF THE SHOW) (THIS IS THE SECOND PART OF THE INTERVIEW. PART ONE WAS BROADCAST ON MONDAY).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Afghani-born physician and author KHALED HOSSEINI. His debut novel, 'The Kite Runner' about a young man who returns to Afghanistan after a long absence has been on the bestseller list for 47 weeks and is on many book club readers' lists as well. Fellow novelist Isabel Allende says of the book, 'This is one of those unforgettable stories that stays with you for years.' HOSSEINI, like the protagonist in his novel, left Afghanistan when he was boy and didn't return for decades. HOSSEINI was 11 when his family left, before the Soviet invasion. His father was a diplomat, and the family was granted political asylum in America. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Incendiary' (Knopf) the debut novel by British writer Chris Cleave. (3.) Rock historian ED WARD takes a look at the career of producer and arranger Jack Nitzsche ('KNIT-shee') who worked with a wide spectrum of people: Phil Spector, Bobby Darin, Doris Day, Little Stevie Wonder, Neil Young, and Marianne Faithful. The new CD 'Hearing is Believing' collects his work.

Interview with Dan Aykroyd; Review of the film 'Junebug.' August 12, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458260].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and comedian DAN AYKROYD. As one of the original Not Ready for Prime Time Players on Saturday Night Live, he brought to life several classic sketches: the Coneheads, the Wild and Crazy Guys, and the Blues Brothers. He and John Belushi were Jake and Elwood Blues and they went to star in the now classic film 'The Blues Brothers.' The film is now out in a special 25th Anniversary Edition. AYKROYD co-founded the 'House of Blues' restaurant and concert venue franchise, and he serves on their board. Last year he published a book in which his Blues Brothers alter-ego, Elwood, interviews blues greats. It's called 'Elwood's Blues: interviews with the Blues Legends and Stars' (Backbeat, 2004). (REBROADCAST from 11/22/04) (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new film Junebug.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JODY ARLINGTON. 21 years ago, she was in the house when her brother killed their parents and younger sister. He said he did it to protect her. He was convicted and sent to prison. Arlington changed her name, went to live with guardians, and had to learn how to live with the traumatic events and without her family. In June of this year, Arlington wrote an Op-Ed piece for the Washington Post about her experience. She was moved to do so after hearing the news of an 18-year-old Ohio boy who shot and killed members of his family and then himself. Only his sister survived. Arlington is a former vice president of the public relations firm, Fleishman-Hillard, and the former chief of staff for President Clinton's National Campaign Against Youth Violence. She is now a communications consultant in the arts. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.)

(2.) Rock historian ED WARD reviews a new history of gospel music, 'People Get Ready' by Robert Darden.

Interview with Neil Clark Warren; Interview with Yaacov and Sue Deyo; Review of summer books; Interview with Scott Yoho. August 17, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825357].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) NEIL CLARK WARREN. He's the founder of the online dating service e-Harmony. The company performs extensive personality profiling and then introduces couples who match up well. WARREN is an Evangelical Christian with strong ties to the Conservative Christian community. He's written several books about dating and relationships, including 'Date?or Soul Mate? How to Know if Someone is Worth Pursuing in Two Dates or Less' (Nelson, 2002). (2.) YAACOV and SUE DEYO. It might surprise you to learn that Speed Dating—a rapid fire courtship concept in which singles spend just a few minutes getting to know each other—was invented by a Los Angeles Rabbi, YAACOV DEYO. It started as a way to help Jewish singles meet each other, but it's spread beyond the Jewish community. YAACOV's wife SUE is a dating coach who teaches the Speed Dating method. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN offers three mid-summer reading recommendations: '1776,' by David McCullough, 'Making an Exit' by Elinor Fuchs, and 'Lost in the Forest' by Sue Miller. (REBROADCAST FROM 7/29/05) (4.) SCOTT YOHO. His band
The Auto Body Experience has a new album, 'Forgotten Lots.' One particular song jumped out at us here at Fresh Air; it's called 'Terry Gross.'

Review of the television show "Six feet under;"Interview with Alan Ball; Interview with Michael C. Hall. August 19, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458432].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Fresh Air TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the HBO series "Six Feet Under." The series finale will air this Sunday. Bianculli will talk about the show, which premiered on the cable network in 2001. (2.) ALAN BALL, creator of "Six Feet Under." Ball won an Academy Award for writing the screenplay for "American Beauty." He also has production credits on the TV shows "Cybill" and "Oh Grow Up." Ball has served as producer, writer and director on Six Feet Under. (ORIGINAL BROADCAST: 6/25/01) (3.) Actor MICHAEL C. HALL. He plays David Fisher, the gay brother who co-runs a funeral home on the HBO hit "Six Feet Under." It's his first TV role. Hall comes to TV from the stage. He has starred as Billy Flynn, an oily attorney in the Broadway revival of "Chicago." He was also on Broadway as the emcee in "Cabaret." Prior to that role, he was in a number of off-Broadway productions. (Original broadcast: 3/26/02) (4.) Actress LAUREN AMBROSE plays daughter Claire Fisher on the HBO drama series "Six Feet Under." She starred in the teen film, "Can't Hardly Wait." Her other roles include a guest role on "Law and Order" as a mildly retarded girl who is raped by a group of high school students, a teen introvert turned popular surfer chick with multiple personality disorder in the film "Psycho Beach Party," and one of Kevin Kline's best students in the film "In and Out." AMBROSE is also a classically trained opera singer. Last year she appeared on stage in the Sam Shepard play "Buried Child" at London's National Theatre. (Original Broadcast: 7/06/02) (5.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new films "Red Eye" and "The 40-Year-Old Virgin."

interview with Peter Maass; Commentary on Mott The Hoople. August 22, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502246].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist PETER MAASS (pronounced 'mahss'). His article "The Breaking Point" is the cover story of this past Sunday New York Times magazine (August 21, 2005). Maass traveled to Saudi Arabia, the world's largest oil exporter, to examine the country's oil reserves. The Saudi government claims it can keep up with the demand for oil for at least the next 30 to 50 years. But experts say there is no way they can continue to supply that much oil, especially since demand continues to grow in the US and China. He will talk about the problems we may face, politically, financially, and environmentally. MAASS is a contributing writer for the New York Times magazine, and is currently working on a book about how oil shapes global politics and the world economy. (2.) Automobile critic MARC PHELAN. He writes for the Detroit Free Press. He'll tell us what's in store for future car models. He says the market for SUVs may be drying up. He'll talk about hybrid cars, and he'll tell us the best time to buy a new car. (3.) Rock historian ED WARD profiles the band Mott The Hoople.

Interview with Alan Ball; Interview with Robert Moog; Review of the album ?Song X August 23, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458484].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer, producer and director ALAN BALL. He is the creator and executive producer of the HBO series 'Six Feet Under,' which aired its final episode last Sunday. We'll do a postmortem with Ball on his show about death. 'Six Feet Under' ran for five seasons, following the Fisher family and its funeral home business. The show received two Golden Globe awards and six Emmys. BALL also wrote and produced the film 'American Beauty,' starring Kevin Spacey. For that film, Ball won an Academy Award for Best Original Screenplay. His TV credits include 'Cybill' and 'Grace Under Fire.' (2.) Inventor ROBERT MOOG (rhymes with 'vogue'). He died Sunday in his home in Asheville, NC, at age 71. He had an inoperable brain tumor. Moog was the inventor of the Moog synthesizer, an electronic keyboard that makes unworldly sounding electronic music. He invented it in 1965, and his product went on to usher in a new era of rock and electronic music. The Beatles used a Moog synthesizer on their 1969 Abbey Road album. Moog also had a lifelong interest in the Theremin, a Russian musical instrument that also makes eerie sounds. (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Song X: Twentieth Anniversary,' a reissue and remix of a 1985 collaboration between guitarist Pat Metheny and saxophonist Ornette Coleman (Nonesuch records).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) U.S. Senator TREN'T LOTT. The Republican from Mississippi has a new memoir called 'Herding Cats: A Life in Politics.' Lott was the senate majority leader from June 1996 to January 2001. In 2002, he made controversial remarks at Strom Thurmond's 100th birthday party, and was attacked for what appeared to be a pro-segregation viewpoint. Lott went from being a high profile member of Congress to relative silence. Lott's homepage is http://lott.senate.gov/. (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews a new DVD box set of 'The Dick Cavett Show: Rock Icons.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former U.S. Army soldier KAYLA WILLIAMS. Her account of her recent service in the Middle East is called 'Love My Rifle More Than You: Young and Female in the U.S. Army.' Williams was a sergeant in a military intelligence company of the 101st Airborne Division. She enlisted and learned Arabic. She served as an interpreter. (2.) Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS comments on the history of roles for offbeat women in Hollywood. Powers just saw the hit film '40 Year Old Virgin' and got to thinking about the actress Katherine Keener, who co-stars.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author JOHN LE CARRE (pronounced 'leh-kah-RAY'). His thriller, 'The Constant Gardener,' was made into a film of the same name and is now in theaters. Le Carre is the pen name of David John Moore Cornwell. He's the author of 19 books, including several cold war spy classics, including 'Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy,' 'The Spy who Came in From The Cold' and 'Smiley's People.' Le Carre, who was born and resides in England, was a member of the British Foreign Service before his name was given up to the Russians by a notorious double agent. (Original airdate: 5/30/89)

(2.) Jazz singer ANNIE ROSS. She was originally part of the legendary team of Lambert, Hendricks and Ross. She celebrated her 75th birthday last month. Ross originated the style known as vocalese. She wrote "Twisted," which was recorded by both Joni Mitchell and Bette Midler. Ross made her acting debut in the 1974 play "Kennedy's Children," and appeared in such films as 'The Homecoming,' 'Yanks,' and 'Superman III.' She's currently performing in Manhattan at Danny's Skylight Room on Wednesday nights for the next five weeks. (Original airdate: 3/2/90)

(3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'A Necessary Spectacle: Billie Jean King, Bobby Riggs, and the Tennis Match that Leveled the Game.' It's about the 1973 Battle of the Sexes match that inspired great bravado and even greater publicity.

---

Interview with DJ Cool Herc; Interview with Melle Mel; Interview with Grandmaster Flash. August 29, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974038935].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DJ KOOL HERC. He's the father of the DJ breakbeat, isolating and repeating breaks, the most danceable portions of songs, part of the foundation of modern hip-hop. He wrote the introduction to the book, 'Can't Stop, Won't Stop: A History of the Hip Hop Generation' (St. Martins, March 2005) by Jeff Chang. Kool Herc kicks off Fresh Air's Hip Hop Week, featuring interviews with the greatest names in rap. (Original airdate: 3/30/05)

(2.) Rapper MELLE MEL. (pronounced 'melly mel') When the hit rap song The Message, by Grandmaster Flash and the Furious Five, came out in the early 80s, many rappers regarded it as an inspiration as well as a political message. MELLE MEL was the original vocalist on The Message. (Original airdate: 8/4/92)

(3.) DJ and hip hop forefather GRAND MASTER FLASH. At the dawn of hip hop, he recorded with the Furious Five. Their hits included 'The Message' and 'White Lines (Don't Do it)'. Nearly 3 decades ago, Flash created the 'Quick Mix Theory,' the process of blending one music break with another. (Original airdate: 7/8/02)
Interview with Russell Simmons; Interview with Darryl McDaniels; Interview with L.L.Cool J; Interview with Chuck D. August 30, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885094].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Hip-hop entrepreneur RUSSELL SIMMONS. Called the 'godfather of hip-hop,' he's been credited with bringing rap to the mainstream. In the early 1980s, he founded Def Jam Records with Rick Rubin. The label launched legendary hip-hop acts like Run DMC, the Beastie Boys and LL Cool J. SIMMONS' corporation is called Rush Communications, and includes Def Comedy Jam, which introduced comedians Chris Rock and Martin Lawrence. His hip-hop empire grew with the addition of the Phat Farm clothing line. Simmons sold his stake in Def Jam to Universal Music Group in 1999 and he sold Phat Farm in 2004. He owns the Simmons Jewelry Company, which is expected to produce a $35,000 Sony PSP game system case for this Christmas season. It will be made from a pound of gold, black diamonds and alligator skin. (Original airdate: 11/27/01)(2.) Rap vocalist DARRYL MCDANIELS of RUN D.M.C. McDaniels is the "DMC" of the group. Their self-titled first album was the first rap record to go gold. RUN D.M.C. was the first rap group to earn gold, platinum and multi-platinum albums. The group is credited with bringing new fashions, new dances, and new language to popular culture. Run D.M.C. lost member Jam Master Jay in 2002, when he was shot and killed in a recording studio in Queens. The other surviving member of Run D.M.C. is Reverend 'Run' Simmons, brother of rap impresario Russell Simmons. The group officially retired after the death of Jam Master Jay. (Original airdate: 5/19/97) (3.) Rapper LL COOL J. Born James Todd Smith, he was fascinated with rhyme and rap in high school, an obsession that made him Def Jam records' first recording artist at age 15. His first hit, in 1984, was 'I Need A Beat.' All 11 of his albums have gone either gold, platinum, or double platinum. Mostly recognized throughout his recording career as the one with the gold chains and floppy hat, LL is also a two-time Grammy winner, actor, husband, father of three, and role model for youth. He helped launch the FUBU clothing

Interview with Ice T; Interview with Ice Cube; Review of the film "The constant gardener." August 31, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458601].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rapper and actor ICE T. Born Tracy Marrow, he's one of the original gangsta rappers. Greg Knot of The Chicago Tribune has written that "ICE-T is that rare gangster rapper who leads with his brain instead..."
of his gun or his crotch." ICE-T's 1992 song 'Cop Killer,' performed with his heavy-metal band Body Count, landed him at the center of a controversy about gangsta rap as a legitimate form of expression or incendiary hate-mongering. ICE-T continues to perform as a musician. He has a successful acting career. He plays a policeman on the T-V show 'Law and Order Special Victims Unit.' He has also starred in the films "New Jack City," "Trespass," and "Ricochet." (Original airdate: 5/16/94) (2.) Hip-hop artist, actor, producer ICE CUBE. His latest film is 'Are We There Yet?' He stars as a man so eager to get close to a woman that he offers to travel many miles to reunite her children with their mother. The film was made by his production company Cube Vision, where he also made the cult film 'Friday' and its sequels, as well as 'Barbershop' and 'Barbershop 2.' His other film credits are 'Three Kings,' 'Anaconda' and his feature film debut 'Boyz N the Hood.' ICE CUBE was born O'Shea Jackson. He first came on the scene with the revolutionary group N.W.A. in the late 1982 ? known for its gangsta rap. Their first album was 'Straight Outta Compton.' As a solo artist, ICE CUBE's albums include 'AmeriKKKa's Most Wanted,' 'Death Certificate,' as well as his albums 'War' and 'Peace.' His website is http://www.icecupemusic.com. (Original airdate: 1/10/05) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'the Constant Gardener,' the new thriller based on the John Le Carre novel.

Interview with Dave and Mase; Interview with Will Smith; Interview with Queen Latifah.
September 1, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458291].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.)Jazz rap group DE LA SOUL. Formed in 1985, De La Soul was dubbed 'the hippies of hip hop.' Their debut album 'Three Feet High and Rising' was a critical success. De La Soul continues to pen songs without gangsta rap influence, focusing instead on the use of samples, jazz vamps, and wordplay. Consisting of KELVIN MERCER, AKA Pos, Posdnuos and Plug One; DAVID JUDE JOLICOEUR, AKA Trugoy, Trugoy the Dove and Plug Two; and VINCENT MASON, AKA Pasemaster Mase, Maseo and Plug Three, the male trio began recording at the same time as Queen Latifah, Monie Love, and A Tribe Called Quest. De La Soul hails from Long Island, New York. This year, they were featured on the new Gorillaz single 'Feel Good Inc.' Their latest album is 2004's 'The Grind Date.' (Original airdate: 10/5/00) (2.) Rapper and actor WILL SMITH. The Grammy award winner has had success in music, movies and television. He began his career as The Fresh Prince with DJ Jazzy Jeff. The rap duo won two Grammys for the songs 'Summertime' and 'Parents Just Don't Understand.' When Smith went solo, he won more Grammy awards for the songs 'Men in Black' and 'Getting Jiggy Wit It.' Smith has won a number of MTV, BET and VH1 awards, and was nominated for an Oscar for his performance in the film 'Ali.' Smith started his acting career with the lead role in the TV series 'The Fresh Prince of Bel Air.' He's been in many films including 'Hitch,' 'I, Robot,' 'Men In Black,' 'Men in Black 2,' 'Bad Boys' and 'Bad Boys 2.' (Original airdate: 12/17/01) (3.) Rapper and actress QUEEN LATIFAH. Born Dana Owens, Latifah is a Grammy Award winner and was nominated for an Oscar for her role in the film 'Chicago.' She won a Grammy for the song 'U.N.I.T.Y.' Her debut album, released in 1989, is 'All Hail The Queen.' It was critically acclaimed and considered one of the best rap albums of all time. Latifah starred in the Fox sitcom 'Living Single' from 1993 to 1998. In addition to her performance as Matron Mama Morton in 'Chicago,' she's also Commentary on Hurricane Katrina news coverage; Interview with RZA; Interview with Mos Def; Interview with Ahmir Thompson; Interview with Vernel Bagniers. September 2, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458376].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Host and fresh air T-V critic DAVID BIANCULLI comments on television programming in the aftermath of hurricane Katrina. (2.) Rapper, producer, composer, The RZA (the RIZZ-uh). He's one of the founding members of the kung-fu-meets-hip-hop group the Wu Tang Clan. He's also written film scores, including 'Kill Bill' and 'Ghost Dog.' He's written a book called 'The Wu Tang Manual.' The RZA is also known as the Abbot, Bobby Digital, Prince Dynamite and more. Born in Brooklyn, his birth name is Robert F. Diggs. (Original airdate: 3/7/05) (3.) Rapper and actor MOS DEF ('mohz deff'). Born Dante Terrell Smith, he has a successful acting career, appearing in the movies 'A Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy,' 'The Woodsman,' 'Bamboozled,' 'Monster's Ball,' and 'Brown Sugar.' MOS DEF's most recent rap album is 'The New Danger.' He made his Broadway debut with the play Topdog/Underdog,' and won an Obie for his performance in the off Broadway play 'Fking A.' He's the host of the TV series 'Def Poetry Jam.' (Original airdate: 12/22/04) (4.) Drummer AHMIR THOMPSON, AKA 'Questlove' ('Questlove') of the hip-hop group The Roots. The Grammy award-winning sextet has seven albums to its credit. Their latest CD is 'The Game Theory.' One reviewer writes, 'To fully savor the sound, you've got to commit to spending time with the Roots, to wallow in both the music and the message. There's Chuck Berry-style rock-and-roll, jazz fusion, funk, poetry, shoutouts to hip-hop pioneers, lyrical slaps upside the heads of money-mad rappers, black nationalism and some groove-laden neo-soul musings.' Their website is http://www.theroots.com. (Original airdate: 2/6/03) (5.) Singer VERNEL BAGNERIS (pronounced 'ver-NELL Interview with Nick Spitzer; Interview with Dr. John; Interview with Harry Connick Jr.; Interview with Allen Toussaint. September 5, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974039335].

Description of show segment(s)

(1). Folklorist, radio host, and producer, NICK SPITZER (SPIT-zer). He hosts "American Routes," a public radio program about the roots of popular music and popular roots music. It covers blues, jazz, soul, rock and roll, Zydeco, Cajun and Country. American Routes was based in New Orleans. Spitzer was able to leave the city before Hurricane Katrina and is now in Lafayette, Louisiana. He will talk to Terry about the cultural and musical history of New Orleans, Louisiana. He'll also talk about the musicians we are featuring on today's archive show. Parts of this interview will be featured throughout the show. (THIS IS A NEW INTERVIEW)(2.) Songwriter, pianist and singer DR. JOHN. Known in his native New Orleans as Malcolm "Mac" Rebennack, his music has evolved from the psychedelic voodoo-rock he played in the 1960's to the classic piano he plays today. He's probably best known for his 1973 hit single "Right Place, Wrong Time." (Rebroadcast from 1986 and 1988)(3.) Singer, pianist and actor HARRY CONNICK, JR. He began performing in New Orleans at age 5 and made his first record when he was 9. He's done soundtracks and songs for a number of films, including "Godfather III" and "When Harry Met Sally." He's released seventeen albums, many of which have gone platinum. The most recent is last year's "Only You." He's also had roles in many movies and TV shows. His film credits include "Hope Floats," "Basic" and "Little Man Tate." Since Hurricane Katrina, Connick has returned to New Orleans to lend a helping hand. (rebroadcast from 7/21/88)(3.) Songwriter and musician ALLEN TOUSSAINT. He's written hits for The Meters, Dr. John, Patti LaBelle and many others. He's probably best known for his hit 'Working in the Coalmine.' He was inducted into the Rock 'n' Roll Hall of Fame in 1998. He is currently missing, reportedly living in the Louisiana Superdome along with thousands of refugees from hurricane Katrina. (Original airdate: 1/6/88)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) City Planner KRISTINA FORD. For 7 years, she was director of city planning for the City of New Orleans. After she left that position, she was executive director of the New Orleans Business Corp., an agency created to develop city-owned property through public-private partnerships. Ford is currently an adjunct professor of environmental studies at Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Maine. She has also written three textbooks on community planning issues. She will talk about architecture and planning of New Orleans and the prospects for rebuilding. (2.) Actor and comic Eugene Levy. He stars in the new comedy "The Man." The film also stars Samuel L. Jackson. He was part of the original cast of "Second City TV" or SCTV. This Canadian series launched the careers of Levy, Martin Short, Catherine O'Hara, and the late John Candy. Levy's other memorable film roles include "Splash," "Bringing Down the House," "Best in Show," and "A Mighty Wind." Younger audiences became familiar with Levy when he starred in the "American Pie" Movies. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews two new country CDs, "Time Well Wasted," by Brad Paisley, and "Hillbilly Deluxe" by Brooks and Dunn.

---

Interview with Cass Sunstein; Review of Sonny Rollin's new music album "Without a song" September 7, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885162].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Law Professor CASS SUNSTEIN (‘SUN-steen’). He'll discuss the death of Supreme Court Chief Justice William Rehnquist and President Bush's nomination of John G. Roberts to replace him. Sunstein is the Karl N. Llewellyn Distinguished Service Professor of Jurisprudence in the Law School at the University of Chicago. Early in his career, Sunstein clerked for Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall. He's been a visiting professor of law at Columbia and Harvard universities. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Without a Song :The 9/11 Concert' (Milestone label) by tenor saxophonist Sonny Rollins. Today is Rollins' 75th birthday.
Interview with Robert Schaler; Commentary on language; Interview with Dick Polman; Review of J.R. Moehringer's memoir "The tender bar." September 8, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458296].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DR. ROBERT SHALER is former director forensic biology at the new York City office of the Chief Medical Examiner. He led the effort to identify remains at the World Trade Center attacks. He'll discuss the efforts to identify the bodies of those who died in Hurricane Katrina. He's the author of the forthcoming book, 'Who They Were: Inside the world Trade Center DNA Story ? The Unprecedented Effort to Identify the Missing' (Simon & Schuster). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the language that's been used to describe the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina. (3.) DICK POLMAN is Political Analyst for the Philadelphia Inquirer. He'll discuss the response of FEMA to Hurricane Katrina. (4.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the new memoir, 'The Tender Bar' (Hyperion) by Los Angeles Times reporter J.R. Moehringer.

Interview with Jim Amoss; Interview with Delbert McClinton; Review of the new film "The exorcism of Emily Rose." September 9, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458380].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JIM AMOSS (pronounced 'Amos') is editor of the New Orleans paper, The Times-Picayune. The newspaper's staff evacuated their offices in New Orleans when the water started to rise last week. They've been publishing online from Baton Rouge. The paper has been critical of the federal government's response to the hurricane, and published an open letter to President Bush calling for every official at the Federal Emergency Management Agency to be fired, especially director Michael Brown. In yesterday's edition, the paper detailed the step-by-step turn of events Monday, August 29th when the hurricane turned into a catastrophe. They write, 'Top officials continued to operate for a full day under the mistaken belief that the danger had passed.' (2.) Musician, composer, singer DELBERT MCLINTON from Lubbock, Texas. He has a new CD, 'Cost of Living.' He's considered a legend among Texas roots music aficionados. He's been making music since the 1950s in a style that seamlessly blends country, blues, soul, and rock and roll. Before he became known as a singer, he was a harmonica player with the Straightjackets, playing behind such blues legends as Howlin' Wolf, Jimmy Reed, and Sonny Boy Williamson. His harmonica was featured on the 1962 hit 'Hey! Baby.' On tour in England that year, MCLINTON, gave harmonica lessons to a young John Lennon. Soon after MCLINTON founded the group the Rondells. Over the years he's released a number of solo albums, and has written music for Emmylou Harris, Wynonna, and Vince Gill. In 1991 he won his first Grammy for his duet with Bonnie Raitt, 'Good Man, Good Woman.' In 2001 he released 'Nothing Personal' which ended up one of the year's biggest hits on Billboard's blues charts and also won him another Grammy for Best Contemporary Blues Album. (REBROADCAST from 6/14/05).

(3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Exorcism of Emily Rose' loosely based on a true story from the 1970s about a priest on trial for the death of a young woman from an ex

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Our book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN. She has a new book about her lifelong love of reading, 'Leave Me Alone, I'm Reading: Finding and Losing Myself in Books (Random House). CORRIGAN is also mystery columnist for the Washington Post and teaches at Georgetown University. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) The great tenor saxophonist SONNY ROLLINS. Last week he celebrated his 75th birthday, September 7th. His latest CD 'Without a Song: The 9/11 Concert' was recorded four days after the 9/11 attacks. It's the first live album ROLLINS has released in 18 years. ROLLINS lived a few blocks from the site of the attacks and was there as they happened.

---

Interview with Christopher Drew; Interview with Eric Lipton; Obituary for Al Casey. September 13, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458188].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Investigative reporter CHRISTOPHER DREW. He writes for the New York Times. He has been on the ground in New Orleans, and provides a first hand account of the awful situation that he witnessed in the Superdome and the streets of the flooded city. In Sunday's paper he co-authored an article on the timeline of the flawed response to Hurricane Katrina. The article is titled 'Breakdowns Marked Path From Hurricane to Anarchy' (Sunday, 11 Sept 2005). Drew's latest book is "Blind Man's Bluff: The Untold Story of American Submarine Espionage." (2.) Journalist ERIC LIPTON. He writes for The New York Times. He's been reporting from Louisiana on the hurricane and its aftermath. Lipton co-authored with Christopher Drew the Sunday NYT article 'Breakdowns Marked Path From Hurricane to Anarchy' (Sunday, 11 Sept 2005). LIPTON previously was on Fresh Air to talk about the World Trade towers, and how the design decisions unwittingly helped lead to their collapse. (3.) Guitarist AL CASEY. He died Sunday of colon cancer at age 89, just days short of his 90th birthday on September 15th. Casey's distinctive style helped to define the sound of Fats Waller's band in the 1930s and 1940s. Casey also played with Louis Armstrong, Teddy Wilson and Billie Holliday.(Original airdate: 5/19/04)

Interview with Margaret McLaughlin; Interview with Mark Cotta Vaz; September 14, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458185].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MARGARET MCLAUGHLIN, director of Bergh Memorial Animal Hospital's veterinary technicians in New York City. She is part of an ASPCA rescue team that is finding and treating lost animals in the wake of Hurricane Katrina. She'll tell us about the plight of animals in the battered Gulf Coast states. (2.) Writer MARK COTTA VAZ (rhymes with 'has'). His new book is 'Living Dangerously: The Adventures of Merian C. Cooper, Creator of King Kong.' Merian Cooper was an explorer, war hero, filmmaker and cinema pioneer who created King Kong for the silver screen. This new biography of Cooper tells of a larger than life personality who created a larger than life gorilla. MARK VAZ has written several other books about Hollywood productions, including 'The Art of Star Wars: Episode II Attack of the Clones' and 'Behind the Mask of Spider-Man.'

Interview with Chris Mooney; Interview with Robert Walker. September 15, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458167].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist CHRIS MOONEY specializes in the relation of science and politics. His new book is 'The Republican War on Science' (Basic Books). Mooney contends that the Bush administration has distorted information and misinformed the public on issues ranging from stem cell research to global warming. Mooney says the motivation is political power. He says more and more federal science agencies are being run by political appointees and fringe theorists. Mooney is a former editor with The American Prospect. He's written for Mother Jones, Wired, the Boston Globe and Slate. His website is http://www.chriscmooney.com. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Republican lobbyist BOB WALKER. He's the Chairman of Wexler & Walker Public Policy Associates, a Washington DC lobbying firm. Walker is a retired Congressman from Pennsylvania who served as Chairman of the Science Committee, Chief Deputy Republican Whip, and Chairman of the Republican leadership. He considers himself an expert in science, space, technology and energy. He'll provide a response to Mooney's allegations about the Bush administration's mishandling of scientific issues. His firm's website is http://www.wexlerwalker.com/.

Interview with Douglas Brinkley; Interview with Reverend Willie Walker; Interview with Lieutenant Kevin Judice; Interview with Father Anthony DeConciliiis; Interview with Alice Sebold; Interview with Gregory September 16, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885146].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian DOUGLAS BRINKLEY is one of the residents of New Orleans displaced in the hurricane. He left the city just after the hurricane hit but returned to help with rescue efforts. He has begun documenting the catastrophe, and is collecting oral histories (he hopes to collect as many as 20,000). He plans to write a book, tentatively titled 'The Great Deluge.' BRINKLEY will donate all proceeds to the Historic New Orleans collection a museum and research center in the city's French Quarter. BRINKLEY teaches at Tulane University. (2.) Reverend WILLIE WALKER of Noah's Ark Church in New Orleans. He helped with rescue efforts. (3.) Father ANTHONY DE CONCILIIS (Dee Cahn SILL eaze), a Catholic priest, was inaugurated president of Our Lady of Holy Cross College in New Orleans on Aug. 26, 2005. He spent two days and a night in the Superdome after the hurricane. (4.) KEVIN JUDICE (ju-DEECE) is a Lieutenant in the Narcotics Division of the New Iberia, Louisiana police dept. He spent 8 days rescuing people in New Orleans. (5.) Novelist ALICE SEBOLD ('SEE-bold'). Her commentary 'Living with the Dead' appeared in the September 11, 2005 edition of The New York Times. She's the author of the novel, 'The Lovely Bones' and the memoir, 'Lucky.' (6.) Trumpeter GREGORY DAVIS of the Dirty Dozen Brass Band. He's been with the group since its inception in 1977. The Dirty Dozen is known for revitalizing the New Orleans brass band sound by incorporating funk, jazz, gospel and rock. The Dirty Dozen will be playing at the upcoming "Big Apple to the Big Easy" Benefit Concert at Madison Square Garden Tuesday 9/20/05.

Interview with Selwyn Raab; Obituary for Robert Wise; Review of the television program "Lost." September 19, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458136].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former New York Times crime reporter SELWYN RAAB (like 'cab'). His new book is "Five Families: The Rise, Decline, and Resurgence of America's Most Powerful Mafia Empires." He provides a history of New York city's organized crime, and describes how the mafia experienced a resurgence in the aftermath of 9/11. (2.) We remember director ROBERT WISE. He won Oscars for West Side Story and The Sound of Music, and he was editor of Orson Welles's Citizen Kane. He died last week at 91. (THIS INTERVIEW FIRST AIRED 3/7/89) (3.) TV Critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the premier of the new season of 'Lost' on ABC.

Interview with Anthony Shadid; Interview with Mariska Hargitay; Review of the television show "My name is Earl" and "Everybody hates Chris." September 20, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458169].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ANTHONY SHADID (sha-DEED). In 2004, Shadid won the Pulitzer Prize for International Reporting. He is Baghdad correspondent for the Washington Post, and before then reported for the Associated Press and The Boston Globe. His new book is called "Night Draws Near: Iraq's People in the Shadow of America's War" (Henry Holt). It's based on his many visits to Iraq over the last 8 years. An Arab-American of Lebanese descent, Shadid was born and raised in Oklahoma, but now lives in Washington, DC and Baghdad. (2.) Actress MARISKA HARGITAY (ma-RISH-ka HAR-git-AY). Since 1999, she has played a police detective specializing in sex crimes on the NBC drama, "Law and Order: Special Victims Unit." Earlier this year, she won the Golden Globe for Best Performance by an Actress in a Television Series ? Drama. Also, for the last two years, she was nominated for the Emmy for Best Actress in a Drama Series. Hargitay's mother was the actress Jayne Mansfield, who died in a car accident when Hargitay was only 3. Her father is the muscleman/actor Mickey Hargitay. (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews two new TV shows, "My Name is Earl," on NBC, and "Everybody Hates Chris," on the UPN.

Interview with Alan Alda; Review of the film "Boudu saved from drowning;" Review of Amy Rigby's "Little fugitive." September 21, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969457882].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor ALAN ALDA. He's best known for his role on the TV series M*A*S*H, but he's amassed a number of varied roles on stage and screen throughout his career. His film appearances include 'The Aviator,' 'What Women Want,' and 'Crimes and Misdemeanors.' He's just finished up starring in the revival of Glengarry Glen Ross on Broadway, and he's currently starring in 'The West Wing' on NBC. He's just written an autobiography, called 'Never Have Your Dog Stuffed' (Random House, 2005). (2.) Critic at Large JOHN POWERS looks at a new Criterion edition DVD of the 1932 Jean Renoir film 'Boudu Saved From Drowning.' (3.) KEN TUCKER reviews 'Little Fugitive,' the new CD from Amy Rigby.

Interview with John Madden; Interview with Tom Wilkinson; Review of the film reviews ?Everything is illuminated.? September 22, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458138].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director JOHN MADDEN. His new film 'Proof' is based on the stage play of the same name by David Auburn. It stars Anthony Hopkins and Gwyneth Paltrow. MADDEN's previous films include 'Shakespeare in Love' (which garnered seven Academy Awards), 'Mrs. Brown,' 'Captain Corelli's Mandolin,' and 'Ethan Fromme.' He has also directed a number of BBC television productions including 'Prime Suspect.' And he directed the NPR radio adaptations of 'Star Wars' and 'The Empire Strikes Back.' (2.) British actor TOM WILKINSON. He's starring in two new films: 'Separate Lies' opposite Emily Watson, and 'The Exorcism of Emily Rose.' WILKINSON played a steel mill manager out of a job in the popular British film 'The Full Monty,' and was nominated for an Academy Award for best actor in 'In the Bedroom.' He played a father - opposite Sissy Spacek - coping with the death of his son. His other film roles include 'Sense & Sensibility,' 'Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind,' and 'The Girl with the Pearl Earring.' He's also starring in the upcoming film 'Mr. Ripley's Return.' (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Everything Is Illuminated,' the adaptation of the best selling book by Jonathan Safran Foer. The film is directed by Liev Schreiber and stars Elijah Wood.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Blues singer and guitarist B. B. KING. He celebrated his 80th birthday on September 16th, 2005, and also released the new album '80,' featuring blues duets with musicians including Elton John and Eric Clapton. He's known as The King of The Blues. B.B. KING was born on a cotton plantation in Mississippi before moving to Memphis where he began his career. Since then, among numerous other awards, he's received seven Grammies, an MTV award, and a Presidential Medal of the Arts. He is also a member of the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. (REBROADCAST from 10/22/96) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new David Cronenberg film 'The History of Violence.' (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the new HBO comedy 'Extras' starring and co-created by Ricky Gervais, best known for starring and co-creating the original British version of 'The Office.'

Interview with Mike Mills; Interview with Paul Reiser and Peter Falk; Review of the film ''No direction home." September 26, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885116].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Graphic designer, and commercial and music video director MIKE MILLS. He's making his feature film debut with 'Thumbsucker.' The film is based on a novel by Walter Kirn. It stars Vincent D'Onofrio, Tilda Swinton, and Vince Vaughn and it debuted at the 2005 Sundance Film Festival. MILLS has made a few short documentaries and commercials for Levis, Gap, Volkswagen, Mastercard and Nike. He produced music videos for the bands Everything But the Girl, Moby, and Yoko Ono. He created graphics for the clothing label X-Girl and the bands Sonic Youth and the Beastie Boys. (2.) Actors PETER FALK and PAUL REISER. The two are starring as father and son in the new film 'The Thing About My Folks.' REISER also wrote the screenplay. It's based partly on conversations he'd had with his own father. FALK is best known for his role as the rumpled detective Columbo. REISER wrote and starred in the sitcom 'Mad about You.' (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the new three and a half-hour documentary about Bob Dylan called 'No Direction Home' by director Martin Scorsese. It's available on a two disc DVD and will be shown on PBS' as part of the 'American Masters' series.

Interview with Philip Roth. September 27, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458213].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pulitzer prize winning novelist PHILIP ROTH. The Library of America has just released two volumes of a projected eight volumes of Roth's work. The two volumes include 'Goodbye Columbus,' 'Portnoy's Complaint,' and 'When She was Good.' The Library of America is a nonprofit publisher whose mission is to preserve America's most significant writing in authoritative editions. This is only the third time a living author's work has been reissued by the Library. ROTH has been the recipient of numerous awards: The National Book Award (for 'Goodbye Columbus,' and 'Sabbath's Theatre'); the Pulitzer Prize for 'American Pastoral' in 1997; the PEN/Faulkner Awards (for 'Operation Shylock' and 'The Human Stain'); and the American Academy of Arts and Letters' prestigious Gold Medal for Fiction in 2001. His most recent book "The Plot Against America" (Houghton Mifflin) imagines a world in which Franklin D. Roosevelt loses the presidency to America's biggest hero and celebrity Charles Lindberg who forms alliances with Germany and Japan. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist MIKE ALLEN is a White House correspondent for Time magazine. He's co-authored a new investigative piece for the magazine into how the Bush Administration appoints the officials who run our vital government agencies. The article grew out of concern over Mike Brown, the former head of FEMA, who was removed from his position because of widespread criticism about how Hurricane Katrina was handled by the agency. Brown was a political appointee, with little experience in disaster management. The article in this week's issue is 'How Many More Mike Browns Are Out There?' (2.) Writer DAVID RAKOFF ('Rack-OFF'). He's a regular contributor to public radio's 'This American Life,' and the magazines 'Outside,' and 'GQ.' One of his peers, writer Paul Rudnick says of him, 'Rakoff is a comic saint... an ideal mix of the crabby and the debonair.' RAKOFF has a new collection of essays, 'Now, Don't Get Too Comfortable: The Indignities of Coach Class, the Torments of Low Thread Count, the Never-ending Quest for Artisanal Olive Oil, and Other First World Problems.' (Doubleday). His previous collection is 'Fraud.' RAKOFF also worked in theatre with David & Amy Sedaris. He can be seen in the films 'Strangers with Candy' starring Amy Sedaris and in the new film 'Capote' starring Philip Seymour Hoffman. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The March' the new novel by E.L. Doctorow (Random House).

Interview with Dexter Filkins; Review of Kanye West's new album "Late registration." September 29, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458254].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times reporter DEXTER FILKINS who has been covering Iraq. In April he received the George Polk Award for War Reporting for 'his riveting, first-hand account of an eight-day attack on Iraqi insurgents in Falluja.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Late Registration' the new album by hip-hop artist Kanye West.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rock musician NEIL YOUNG. In 1966 he joined L.A. rock band Buffalo Springfield; they split up 3 albums later due to inter-band fighting and their lack of commercial success. YOUNG then meandered from band to band, including "Crosby, Stills, Nash, and Young," while doing a lot of solo work as well. He's been called the "Godfather of Grunge," and "The king of punk." His new acoustic-based album is 'Praire Wind' (Reprise). It's being considered a follow-up to his 'Harvest' (1972) and 'Harvest
Moon' (1992) albums. (REBROADCAST from 11/5/92)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Capote' the new film about writer Truman Capote and the research and writing of his breakthrough book, 'In Cold Blood.' It was about the murder of a well-known Holcomb, Kansas family by two young men who were caught and eventually executed. 'In Cold Blood' took Capote six years to write. The book was breakthrough for CAPOTE's use of fiction techniques to write non-fiction.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Law Professor CASS SUNSTEIN on the nomination of Harriet Miers to the Supreme Court. President Bush has nominated Miers, White House Counsel, to replace Sandra Day O'Connor. Sunstein is the Karl N. Llewellyn Distinguished Service Professor of Jurisprudence in the Law School at the University of Chicago. Early in his career, Sunstein clerked for Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall. He has also been a visiting professor of law at Columbia and Harvard universities. (2.) Writer and director DAVID CRONENBERG. He's been called the King of Venereal Horror. He directed the films "M. Butterfly," "The Fly," "Dead Ringers," and "Naked Lunch," all of which tell a story of sexually deviant behavior. In the film "Crash" he continued the theme, combining sex and car wrecks. His new film 'A History of Violence' is a psychological thriller about one man's potential for violence. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES TO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Edward J. Larson; Review of Paul McCartney's 'Chaos and creation in the backyard' and Rolling Stones' 'A bigger bang.' October 4, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458250].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian EDWARD LARSON. He's written extensively on the intersection of science, politics and religion. In 2004 he wrote 'Evolution: The Remarkable History of A Scientific Theory,' about the contentious history of the theory evolution from before Darwin to the battles today. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) KEN TUCKER reviews new albums, one from The Rolling Stones, 'A Bigger Bang' and one from Paul McCartney's 'Chaos and Creation in the Backyard.'

Interview with an anonymous Priest; Interview with Joseph Fessio. October 5, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885245].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) A gay priest (who will go unnamed). His superiors have asked him not to give his name, though he has been given permission to speak about his work. He is in active ministry and works in a parish. In a few weeks the Vatican is expected to issue a ruling banning gay men from entering the seminary. (2.) Father JOSEPH FESSIO. He is Provost of Ave Marie University and Editor-in-Chief of Ignatius Press. He is a longtime personal friend and former student of the Cardinal Ratzinger, now Pope Benedict.

Interview with Paul Krugman and Stuart Butler; Review of the film "Masculine Feminine." October 6, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458253].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) PAUL KRUGMAN and STUART BUTLER. KRUGMAN is a columnist for the New York Times and a professor of Economics and International Affairs at Princeton University; BUTLER is a Vice President of the conservative think tank, The Heritage Foundation, focusing on Domestic and Economic Policy. They'll debate Bush's Economic Policy as the country prepares to deal with the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina. Bush has said he won't raise taxes to fund the reconstruction; rather, he's recommended that Congress make cuts in other programs. KRUGMAN has written extensively, and often critically, about the economic policy of the current administration. In a recent memo on the rebuilding of the Gulf Coast, BUTLER and other Heritage Foundation members advised that 'private investment, direct assistance to individuals, and sound economics are the basis of recovery.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS has some thoughts on the one of the influential films of the 60s: Jean Luc Godard's "Masculine Feminine." It's now out on DVD.
Interview with Donovan Leitch; Review of the Jazz album "Thelonious Monk Quartet with John Coltrane at Carnegie Hall;" Interview with Suketu Mehta; Review of the film "Good night, and good luck." October 7, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458248].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer DONOVAN LEITCH. He's known best by his first name alone. He has a new box set, 'Try for the Sun: The Journey of Donovan' It's a remastered three-CD, one-DVD set which covers his work from 1964 - 2004. It includes 60 tracks, 15 of them previously unreleased. Donovan's best known for his hits of the psychedelic era, such as "Mellow Yellow," "Sunshine Superman" and "Catch the Wind." Donovan who is now 58 years old, grew up in Glasgow, and was a big part of the groovy San Francisco scene in the late 1960s. He dropped out of the music business for most of the 1990s, although he recorded an album in 1994 produced by Rick Rubin. Donovan has been attributed with coining the phrase Flower Power, but he says he owes it all to beat poet Allan Ginsberg. Last year when Terry talked to him, Donovan's released his first album in 8 years, 'Beat Cafe?.' (REBROADCAST from 9/13/04.) (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Thelonious Monk Quartet with John Coltrane at Carnegie Hall' (Blue Note). It's a long forgotten recording of a 1957 benefit concert which has never been released until now. (3.) Writer SUKETU MEHTA ('soo-KAY-too MAY-tah'). His book, 'Maximum City: Bombay Lost and Found' (Vintage Books), is now out in paperback. It's an exploration of Mehta's hometown. He returned to his birthplace after a 21-year absence, and his book is an exploration of what he calls the city of the future. Bombay is the world's largest city. Mehta is now based in New York. His work has appeared in the New York Times magazine, Harper's, Conde Nast Traveler and The Village Voice. He co-wrote a Bollywood movie called 'Mission Kashmir.' (Rebroadcast from 12/06/04.) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Good Night and Good Luck' the new film about Edward R. Murrow directed by George Clooney.

Interview with Emmanuel Jal; Review of recordings from the Pablo Casals Festival. October 10, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458551].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rapper EMMANUEL JAL ('Jawl'). This international star, has an unlikely background. Born in Sudan, he was orphaned and displaced during the civil war and became one of the so-called lost boys. By the age of 8 he was carrying a gun as a conscripted soldier in the Sudan People's Liberation Army.
After four years in the army, he was smuggled into Kenya with the help of a British aid worker. He's lived in Kenya since. Now he sings about peacemaking. On his new CD 'Ceasefire' (Riverboat), he raps in four languages: Arabic, English, Swahili, and Nuer. On the album, JAL, who is Christian, performs with musician Abdel Gadir Salim, who is Muslim. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews recordings from the Pablo Casals Festival at Prades (on the Pearl and Music & Arts labels).

Interview with Jason Christopher Hartley; Interview with Noah Baumbach. October 11, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458252].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Army National Guardsman JASON CHRISTOPHER HARTLEY. While serving in Iraq, HARTLEY kept a blog of his experiences until his commanders forced him to shut it down. He's now back from Iraq, and has a new memoir, 'Just Another Soldier: A Year on the Ground in Iraq' (HarperCollins). (2.) Filmmaker NOAH BAUMBACH. His new film is 'The Squid and the Whale.' He established himself as a director with the 1995 post-college angst film 'Kicking and Screaming,' and collaborated with Wes Anderson on last year's 'The Life Aquatic with Steve Zissou.'

Interview with Harry Connick Jr. and Branford Marsalis; Interview with Ruth Rendell; Review of the album ?One kiss can lead to another." October 12, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/974038952].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Jazz musician and actor HARRY CONNICK JR. and jazz saxophonist BRANFORD MARSALIS. They perform and record together. MARSALIS is, of course, part of the legendary MARSALIS family of jazz, and as a child, CONNICK Jr. learned a thing or two from the MARSALIS patriarch Ellis. MARSALIS and CONNICK Jr. both grew up in New Orleans. CONNICK JR. has a new CD, Occasion, on Marsalis' label. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Mystery writer RUTH RENDELL (REN-dul). At three books every two years, she's written 62 novels and sold 20 million worldwide. She's known both for her more traditional Chief Inspector Reginald Wexford mysteries and for dark psychological thrillers. Her new book, '13 Steps Down' (Crown) falls into the latter category. In 1997 she became Baroness Rendell of Babergh and sits in the House of Lords. (3.) ED WARD reviews 'One Kiss Can Lead to Another: Girl Group Sounds, Lost & Found' (Rhino).

Interview with Joan Didion; Interview with Martha Stewart. October 13, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458251].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Author JOAN DIDION. Her new book "The Year of Magical Thinking" (Knopf, 2005) is a memoir about the death of her husband, John Gregory Dunne, and the grief that followed. He died of a heart attack in 2003. Their daughter Quintana was hospitalized in a coma with septic shock and pneumonia, and died shortly after. Loss and bereavement have been a theme in much of DIDION's writing, but "The Year of Magical Thinking" has been called her most personal work. DIDION's other works include "Slouching Toward Bethlehem" and "Play it as it Lays." (2.) MARTHA STEWART. Stewart turned her lifestyle advice into a billion dollar business: Martha Stewart Living Omnimedia. In addition to her magazines, she has a new book called, "The Martha Rules: 10 Essentials for Achieving Success as You Start, Grow, or Manage a Business" (Rodale Press). She also has two new shows on television this fall: "The Apprentice: Martha Stewart" and a daytime how-to show called "Martha," as well as a radio program on Sirius Satellite radio. This all comes after she served 5 months in prison, as well as living under house arrest, for lying to investigators about her sale of ImClone stock. As a younger woman, before becoming a life style guru, Stewart other jobs included being a model, young mother, and stock broker.

Interview with Bob Edwards; Interview with Nick Parker; Review of the film "Wallace & Gromit October 14, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458232].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Radio host BOB EDWARDS. He has his own show on the XM Radio network. He is the former host of NPR's 'Morning Edition.' He's the author of the book, 'Edward R. Murrow: and the Birth of Broadcast Journalism' (Turning Points). The new feature film, "Good Night and Good Luck" chronicles Murrow's conflict with Senator Joseph McCarthy. George Clooney is director and co-star of the film. David Stathairn stars as Murrow. BOB EDWARDS also is the author of 'Fridays with Red,' about his radio friendship with legendary sportscaster Red Barber. (2.) Director/producer NICK PARK. He is the three-time Academy Award winning creator of the much-loved animated British characters Wallace & Gromit. His newest film is 'Wallace & Gromit in The Curse of the Were-Rabbit,' in theaters now. Park won his first Oscar for the animated short 'Creature Comforts.' He went on to make 'The Wrong Trousers,' 'A Close Shave' and the full length feature 'Chicken Run.' We'll also hear from PETER LORD, chairman and co-founder of the Aardman clay animation studios, where PARK created his short films featuring Wallace & Gromit (Original airdate: 6/19/00) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the animated feature 'Wallace & Gromit in The Curse of the Were-Rabbit,' created by Nick Park.

Interview with Zadie Smith; Review of Fiona Apple's music album, "Extraordinary Machine."
October 17, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458262].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author ZADIE SMITH. Her new novel is 'On Beauty.' Smith gained critical acclaim for her debut novel, 'White Teeth,' penned when she was just 24. Her second novel was 'The Autograph Man.' 'On Beauty,' her third book, is already garnering praise from critics. Smith says it is a homage to E.M. Forster's 'Howard's End.' 'On Beauty' is set in the fictional New England town of Wellington, which is based on the real town of Boston, Massachusetts. Smith grew up in London, the child of an English Father and a Jamaican mother. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews Fiona Apple's third album, 'Extraordinary Machine.'

Interview with George Clooney. October 18, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458227].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor, producer, writer, director GEORGE CLOONEY. He directed and co-wrote the new film 'Good Night, and Good Luck' about the showdown between legendary journalist Edward R. Murrow and Senator Joseph McCarthy that took place in 1954. CLOONEY also has a role in the film portraying Murrow's producer Fred Friendly. The film is receiving much critical acclaim. CLOONEY made his directing debut with the film 'Confessions of a Dangerous Mind.' His acting/producing credits include 'Ocean's Eleven,' 'Ocean's Twelve,' 'The Jacket,' 'Full Frontal,' and 'Welcome to Collinwood.' He also starred in the Coen brothers' 'O Brother, Where Art Thou?' CLOONEY became a household face and name with his role on NBC's 'ER.' CLOONEY is also the nephew of the late singer Rosemary Clooney. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Walter Kirn; Review of Kim Ponders' 'The art of uncontrolled flight?' and Nicole Lea Helget's 'The summer of ordinary ways.' October 19, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458230].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Editor and writer WALTER KIRN lives in Montana. His latest novel 'Mission to America' (Doubleday) is about a fictional quasi-religious cult known as the Aboriginal fulfilled Apostles that is dying out and a young man who sets out to find new converts. KIRN's novel 'Thumbsucker' was made into a recent film. He is also the author of the novels, 'She Needed Me' and 'Up in the Air.' KIRN is the literary editor for GQ and a contributing editor to Time and Vanity Fair. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews two new debut books: the novel 'The Art of Uncontrolled Flight' (Harper Collins) by Kim Ponders, and the memoir 'The Summer of Ordinary Ways' (Borealis Books) by Nicole Lea Helget.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Supreme Court Justice STEPHEN BREYER. He has a new book, 'Active Liberty: Interpreting Our Democratic Constitution.' (Knopf). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS considers the films of Alfred Hitchcock. There's a new DVD collection of his work, 'Alfred Hitchcock: The Masterpiece Collection' (Universal Studios home entertainment). It collects 14 of his films including: 'Shadow of a Doubt,' 'Rope,' 'Rear Window,' 'Psycho,' 'The Birds,' and 'Frenzy.'
Interview with George Carlin; Interview with Steve Martin. October 21, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458228].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) GEORGE CARLIN - the comic whose seven dirty words routine was the center of a famous obscenity case in the 1970s. He has a new HBO special 'Life is Worth Living' a parody on life, death and suicide. It's his 13th HBO special and will broadcast on November 5th. His most recent book is "When Will Jesus Bring the Pork Chops?" (Hyperion). His other books include "Napalm & Silly Putty," and "Brain Droppings." (REBROADCAST from 11/1/04) (2.) Actor/comedian/screenwriter/playwright and novelist STEVE MARTIN. His novella 'Shopgirl' is now a new film. He wrote the screenplay and stars in it as well. He is also the author of a collection of short stories, "Cruel Shoes." MARTIN's screenwriting credits include "L.A. Story," and "Roxanne." He has also starred in such films as: "The Jerk," "Planes, Trains and Automobiles," "The Lonely Guy," "Parenthood," "Father of the Bride," "Housesitter," "Dead Men Don't Wear Plaid," "All of Me," "The Man with Two Brains," "Sgt Bilko," "Leap of Faith," "Little Shop of Horrors." He also won a Grammy Award for his album "Let's Get Small." (REBROADCAST from 10/6/03)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Bill Manseau and Mary Manseau; Interview with Peter Manseau; Interview with Barbara Ehrenreich; Review of remastered set of Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers films. October 24, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458231].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) BILL and MARY MANSEAU. BILL is a priest in the Catholic Church. He believes he was called to be a married priest, and refused to renounce his vows when he married MARY, a former nun. He is now considered a 'priest under penalty of censure. In the second half of the show, we'll hear from their son, PETER. (2.)PETER MANSEAU, Bill and Mary's son. He has written a new memoir, 'Vows: The Story of a Priest, a Nun, and Their Son' (Free Press). It's about the lives of his parents, and what it was like to grow up the son of a 'married priest.' PETER MANSEAU is also the co-author of 'Killing the Buddha' and founding editor of the online magazine of the same name. The magazine is about religion for people who aren't religious. (3.)BARBARA EHRENРИCH. Her latest book is 'Bait and Switch: The (Futile) Pursuit of the American Dream' (Metropolitan, 2005). It's about white collar unemployment and the industry that sells unemployed resume assistance, job fairs, and networking events. (4.)LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new collection of Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers DVDs from Warner Home Video called 'Astaire and Rogers Collection, Volume 1.' It includes 'Top Hat' and 'Swing Time.'

Interview with Jerry Lewis. October 25, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458233].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comic JERRY LEWIS. He's written a new memoir about his 10-year partnership with Dean Martin. It's called 'Dean and Me: A Love Story' (coauthored by James Kaplan published by Doubleday). The two made 16 films together; in fact they were the number one box office earners from 1950 to 1956. They also performed in nightclubs, theaters, and television. Martin was straight man to Lewis. The book chronicles their tumultuous relationship. By the end the two weren't speaking to each other. LEWIS is now 79. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Richard Clarke; Interview with Claire Danes. October 26, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458064].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RICHARD CLARKE was counter-terrorism expert for President Clinton and continued for President Bush until he resigned in March 2003. In his now well-known book 'Against All Enemies: Inside America's War on Terror' he criticized the Bush administration for failing to heed warnings about al Qaeda before 911, and for invading Iraq although it had no connection to al Qaeda. He has a new novel, a thriller, 'The Scorpion's Gate' (Putnam) set five years in the future about a coup in Saudia Arabia and the global consequences. (2.) Actress CLAIRE DANES. She's starring in the new film 'Shopgirl' opposite Steve Martin, who wrote the screenplay for the film and the novel it's based on. DANES first received critical acclaim for her part in the TV series 'My So-Called Life.' Her films include 'Stage Beauty,' 'The Hours,' 'Igby Goes Down,' 'Little Women,' and 'William Shakespeare's Romeo & Juliet' playing Juliet opposite Leonardo DiCaprio's Romeo.
Interview with Cam Simpson; Interview with Adam Goldberg. October 27, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885118].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Correspondent for the Chicago Tribune CAM SIMPSON. He recently wrote about how U.S. contractors in Iraq are bringing in foreign workers thru an illicit pipeline (October 9 and 10th). Some subcontractors and brokers hired by them lure workers with promises of lucrative jobs in the Middle East. Not until later do the workers find out their real destination is Iraq. For his articles, SIMPSON retraced the journey of 12 men from Nepal who were lured to the Middle East by promises of lucrative jobs in Jordan. Once in Iraq the group was kidnapped by terrorists and executed. (2.) Actor ADAM GOLDBERG. He wrote and directed the new movie 'I Love Your Work' a meditation on the culture of celebrity. GOLDBERG has appeared in a number of films, including 'How to Lose a Guy in 10 Days,' and in the parody 'Hebrew Hammer'; in 'Saving Private Ryan' he played Pvt. Stanley Mellish whose memorable death scene took place in the belltower in the last battle of the film, and in 'Dazed and Confused' he played a socially backward nerd. Recently he stared in the short lived FOX TV series 'Head Cases.' He made his film debut in 1991 as Billy Crystal's younger brother-in-law in 'Mr. Saturday Night.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and pianist SHIRLEY HORN died last week on October 21st at the age of 71. We will replay a 1992 concert and interview with SHIRLEY HORN. Playing with her was her long time drummer Steve Williams and bassist Charles Ables (who died in 2002). HORN recorded with Miles Davis and Quincy Jones in the 1960s and sang on the movie soundtrack of "For Love of Ivy." After a hiatus in which she stayed home and raised her daughter, she returned to performing and recording in 1988. Her 1991 album, "You Won't Forget Me," brought together Toots Thielemans, Buck Hill, Wynton and Branford Marsalis, and Miles Davis. The album was nominated for a Grammy. There's a new anthology of her work 'But Beautiful: The Best of Shirley Horn' (on the Verve label, released his month). (REBROADCAST from 6/29/92) (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ is also a horror movie fan. He reviews a new DVD collection of the horror films of producer Val Lewton. The films include 'The Leopard Man,' 'Curse of the Cat People,' and 'I Walked with a Zombie.' (9 films are collected on Warner Brothers). (3.) Actor CHRISTIAN BALE. He plays Bruce Wayne, and of course his alter ego Batman, in the film 'Batman Begins' now out on DVD. Bale's other films include 'American Psycho,' 'Laurel Canyon,' 'Captain Corelli's Mandolin,' and 'The Machinist.' He's also the voice of Howl in the new Japanese animated film 'Howl's Moving Castle.' (REBROADCAST from 6/13/05) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN the new film 'The Weatherman' starring Nicholas Cage and Michael Caine.

Interview with Peter Guralnick; Commentary on "Infotainment". October 31, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458448].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Biographer PETER GURALNICK ('guh-RAHL-nick'). His new book is 'Dream Boogie: The Triumph of Sam Cooke.' GURALNICK follows the life of rhythm and blues legend Sam Cooke from his roots in gospel music through his legendary career and a singer and songwriter whose hits include 'You Send Me,' 'Bring it on Home to Me,' 'Only Sixteen' and many others. PETER GURALNICK has written extensively about American music. His other work includes a two-part biography on Elvis Presley as well as a trilogy on American roots music. This week, the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in Cleveland is celebrating the legacy of Sam Cooke with panels, films, a day-long conference and two tribute concerts featuring Aretha Franklin and Elvis Costello. (2.) Critic JOHN POWERS comments on how the age of TV news infotainment is foretold in the film 'Good Night and Good Luck.' It's the story of newsman Edward Murrow's fight against the Communist hunting Senator Joe McCarthy. But we also see how Murrow's hard-hitting news show is not as popular as his interviews with celebrities, and Powers makes the point that the film's 'real theme is the inherent debasement of mass news in a commercial culture.'

Interview with Cass Sunstein; Interview with William Kristol; Interview with Daniel Benjamin and Steven Simon. November 1, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458445].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Law Professor CASS SUNSTEIN ('SUN-steen'). He'll discuss the nomination of Judge Samuel Alito to replace retiring Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor. Sunstein is the Karl N. Llewellyn Distinguished Service Professor of Jurisprudence in the Law School at the University of Chicago. Early in his career, Sunstein clerked for Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall. He's been a visiting professor of law at Columbia and Harvard universities. (2.) Editor WILLIAM 'BILL' KRISTOL. He's the founder and editor of 'The Weekly Standard.' His new book, 'The Weekly Standard: A Reader: 1995-2005,' has just been published. It's an anthology of writing published over the past ten years. KRISTOL also wrote is 'The War Over Iraq: America's Mission and Saddam's Tyranny.' KRISTOL also led the Project for the Republican Future to help win Republican congressional seats. He was chief of staff to Dan Quayle during the elder Bush administration. (3.) Writers DANIEL BENJAMIN and STEVEN SIMON. They've co-authored 'The Next Attack: The Failure Of The War On Terror and a Strategy For Getting it Right.' It's about the Bush Administration's responses to the September 11th attacks. DANIEL BENJAMIN is a senior fellow at the Center for Strategic and International Studies. He was also director for counterterrorism on the National Security Council staff, and foreign policy speechwriter for President Clinton. He is a former Berlin bureau chief for The Wall Street Journal and foreign correspondent for Time. STEVEN SIMON teaches at Georgetown University. He was assistant director of the International Institute for Strategic Studies in London. He served on the National Security Council staff and worked for the U.S. Department of State in Middle Eastern security affairs.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former President JIMMY CARTER. His new book is called 'Our Endangered Values: America's Moral Crisis.' Carter argues that the increasing entwinement between church and state in this country is eroding our civil liberties and personal privacy. Jimmy Carter was 39th President of the United States. He founded The Carter Center, a conflict resolution organization. He won a Nobel Peace Prize for his mediation work. He's written a number of bestselling books, including 'An Hour Before Daylight,' 'Christmas in Plains,' 'Keeping Faith: Memoirs of a President' and 'Talking Peace: A Vision for the Next Generation.' (2.) STUART BOWEN, Special Inspector General for Iraq Reconstruction. His office has just released its seventh Quarterly Report to congress. The report documents the disbursement of {dollar}30 billion set aside for Iraqi reconstruction, and Bowen will tell us about uncovering and preventing waste and fraud. Bowen has served in this post since October 2004. Formerly, Bowen served in the White House under George W. Bush, and was a partner at the Washington DC law firm of Patton Boggs LLP. Bowen's ties to Bush go back to the early 1990s, when he worked in the Texas Governor's office in various legal offices. Bowen was also an intelligence officer in the U.S. Air Force, where he achieved the rank of Captain.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV producer MITCHELL HURWITZ. He created and is executive producer of the Fox TV series 'Arrested Development,' now in its third season. It airs Sunday nights at 9:30. Hurwitz is also credited as a writer on the series. The show is about the dysfunctional Bluth family. It's critically acclaimed and has won two Emmys, but has a sort of cult following. Hurwitz was also a writer and producer on the TV sitcoms 'The Golden Girls' and 'The Ellen Show.' (2.) Actor HENRY WINKLER. He plays a doctor in the new CBS sitcom 'Out of Practice,' which premiered last month and can be seen Mondays at 9:30 PM. Winkler also spent two seasons playing a lawyer on the TV series 'Arrested Development.' Most people know Winkler as The Fonz (AKA Arthur Fonzie) from the classic TV sitcom 'Happy Days.' Winkler has been involved in dozens of TV and film projects over the years as an actor, producer and director. His films include 'Holes,' 'The Waterboy,' and 'I Shaved My Legs for This.' He'll be appearing in the upcoming film 'Click' starring Adam Sandler and Christopher Walken. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Tulip and the Pope' by Deborah Larsen.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Composer JERRY BOCK & lyricist SHELDON HARNICK. One of their most beloved musicals is back on Broadway: 'Fiddler on the Roof' (at the Minskoff Theatre). It stars Harvey Fierstein as Tevye and now Rosie O'Donnell as Golde. The show includes a new song Bock and Harnick wrote. BOCK & HARNICK also collaborated on Fiorello (which won a Pulitzer Prize), 'She Loves Me,' and 'The Rothschilds.’ (Original airdate: 6/21/04) (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Jarhead,' starring Peter Sarsgaard as a Marine sniper. (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews the upcoming live episode of NBC's 'The West Wing,' in which Congressman Matt Santos (Jimmy Smits) and Senator Arnold Vinick (Alan Alda) stage a one-hour presidential debate.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and singer TAB HUNTER. His new book, 'Tab Hunter Confidential: The Making of a Movie Star,' reveals his secret status as a homosexual in Hollywood. Hunter was a teen heartthrob in the 1950s and 1960s, starring in over 50 films including 'Damn Yankees,' 'That Kind of Woman,' and more recently, John Waters' 'Polyester.' You can visit Hunter's website at http://www.tabhunter.com. (2.) Writer ROBERT HOFLER. His new book is 'The Man Who Invented Rock Hudson: The Pretty Boys and Dirty Deals of Henry Willson.' Hofler profiles the gay Hollywood agent who was responsible for making the careers of Rock Hudson and Tab Hunter. Willson also discovered Lana Turner and turned Natalie Wood into an adult star. Hofler is a reporter for Variety.

Interview with Doris Kearns Goodwin; Interview with Mike Wallace. November 8, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969457980].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian DORIS KEARNS GOODWIN. Her new book is 'Team of Rivals: The Political Genius of Abraham Lincoln.' Goodwin, who won the Pulitzer Prize for her previous book 'No Ordinary Time,' recounts the life and work of our 16th president, as well as the work of the principal characters of his administration. (2.) TV news reporter MIKE WALLACE. He's been with the CBS news show '60 Minutes' since its inception in 1968. At age 87, he is beginning to take a more limited role on the show. He's just published a collection of reminiscences of his favorite interviews called 'Between You and Me: A Memoir' (with Gary Paul Gates). He recalls encounters with politicians, celebrities and criminals, adding behind-the-scenes detail. Wallace has won many awards for his work, including 20 Emmys and three Peabodys, and he's been inducted into the Television Hall of Fame.

Interview with Maureen Dowd; Interview with Sarah Silverman. November 9, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969457981].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times Op-Ed columnist MAUREEN DOWD. Her new book is called 'Are Men Necessary? When Sexes Collide.' It's part memoir, part critique of feminism in America today. Dowd won the Pulitzer Prize in 1999 for Distinguished Commentary. She's been with the New York Times since 1983. She began as a metropolitan reporter, then went to the Times Washington bureau in 1986 and served as a correspondent, covering four presidential campaigns. She began her career as an Op-Ed writer in 1995. She's also the author of the book 'Bushworld: Enter at Your Own Risk.' (2.) Comedian and actress SARAH SILVERMAN. Her new film is called 'Jesus is Magic.' It's the screen version of her one-woman off-Broadway stage show, with scenes performed before a live audience interwoven with musical numbers and backstage shots. Silverman's act is irreverent, with jokes about September 11th, AIDS and the Holocaust. Silverman has also appeared in a number of films including 'The Aristocrats,' 'School of Rock' and 'There's Something About Mary.' She was a cast member of Saturday Night Live for the 1993-4 season. She's in the upcoming film 'Rent.' A pilot for her own show on Comedy Central is in the works.

Interview with Harvey Pekar; Interview with Moises Naim; Review of My Morning Jackets' new album "Z." November 10, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458450].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer HARVEY PEKAR ('PEE-car'). His new book length comic-style memoir is called 'Quitter' (with art by Dean Haspiel). It's an autobiographical account of his upbringing as the son of Jewish immigrants. Pekar began writing comic book stories in 1972, encouraged by his friend Robert Crumb, who has illustrated many of his pieces. The first collection of Pekar's work was American Splendor. An award winning film of the same name was released in 2003. Pekar also wrote the book 'Our Cancer Year' in collaboration with his wife, Joyce Brabner. (2.) Moises Naim ('MOY-saice nye-EEM'), editor and publisher of FOREIGN POLICY magazine. His new book is called 'Illicit: How Smugglers, Traffickers and Copycats Are Hijacking the Global Economy.' He'll talk about the international black market in which illegal arms, drugs and knockoff goods trade across the globe. Naim served as Venezuela's minister of trade and industry and has worked for the World Bank. (3.) Rock critic Ken Tucker reviews 'Z,' the new album from the band My Morning Jacket.

Interview with David Yalof; Commentary on the folk singer, Sandy Denny. November 14, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458662].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Political science professor DAVID YALOF (pronounced 'YELL-love'). He'll tell us about the history and evolution of the Supreme Court nomination process in light of the current hearings to confirm Samuel Alito, President Bush's choice to replace retiring justice Sandra Day O'Connor. Yalof is a professor at the University of Connecticut. He wrote the book 'Pursuit of Justices: Presidential Politics and the Selection of Supreme Court Nominees.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian ED WARD profiles Sandy Denny who was part of the folk-revolution in the 1960s.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer, songwriter, musician, bandleader BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN. This week Columbia Records releases the 'Born to Run 30th Anniversary Edition' box set. The 3 CD set includes a remastering of Springsteen's 'Born to Run' album. After the album was released in 1975 it became a hit and is now considered one of the greatest albums in rock and roll history. The box set also includes a concert DVD of a never-before-seen 1975 concert from London and a documentary about the making of Born to Run. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE REST OF THE SHOW).
Interview with James Fallows; Interview with Nikki Silva and Davia Nelson. November 16, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885108].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Reporter JAMES FALLOWS. 'Why Iraq Has No Army' is the title of his cover article for the December 2005 Atlantic Monthly magazine. He says that there is no easy way out of Iraq for American forces. There is growing pressure to withdraw troops, but the move would surely leave Iraq in chaos. On the other hand, it will take years to train an Iraqi security force. FALLOWS says the Bush administration does not take the problem seriously, and it never has. FALLOWS is the Atlantic Monthly's National Correspondent. He's been with the magazine for 20 years. He's written seven books including 'Breaking the News: How the Media Undermine American Democracy' and 'Looking at the Sun.' His website is www.jamesfallows.com. (2.) NIKKI SILVA and DAVIA NELSON, AKA The Kitchen Sisters. Silva and Nelson produce the 'Hidden Kitchens' series on NPR's Morning Edition. The two-time Peabody Award winning producers now have a book called 'Hidden Kitchens: Stories, Recipes and More From NPR's Kitchen Sisters.' They say hidden kitchens are everywhere, from a midnight cab yard kitchen to the hills of Kentucky. Some are hidden by place; others by time. The Kitchen Sisters have been producing radio stories together since 1979. Their Peabody awards went to their NPR series 'Lost and Found Sound' and 'The Sonic Memorial Project.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) News anchor TED KOPPEL. After 25 years as the host of ABC's 'Nightline,' Koppel is retiring. 'Nightline' started out in March 1980 as extended news coverage of the hostage crisis in Iran. The show went on to cover a wide range of hard hitting news topics. Koppel has been awarded 37 Emmys and 6 Peabody awards, as well as many other honors. Koppel joined ABC News in 1963. He was a foreign and domestic correspondent, bureau chief, and anchor prior to his post on Nightline. The trio of Martin Bashir, Cynthia McFadden, and Terry Moran will replace Koppel as co-anchors of "Nightline." (2.) Actor NEIL PATRICK HARRIS, AKA DOOGIE HOWSER, MD. He's starring in the new CBS sitcom 'How I Met Your Mother,' but most people know him as a teenage doctor in the early 1990s TV series 'Doogie Howser, MD,' which is now available on DVD. Harris also played a parody of himself in the film 'Harold and Kumar Go to White Castle.' Harris made his film debut in two 1988 films: 'Purple People Eater' and 'Clara's Heart.' He is also a singer, and performed in the musicals 'Sweeney Todd' and 'Rent.' 'How I Met Your Mother' airs Mondays at 8:30 PM.

---

Interview with Joan Didion; Interview with Roswell Rudd; Review of the film "Walk the line." November 18, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458319].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author JOAN DIDION. This week she was awarded the National Book Award for nonfiction for her newest book "The Year of Magical Thinking" (Knopf, 2005). It's a memoir about the death of her husband, John Gregory Dunne, and the grief that followed. He died of a heart attack in 2003. Their daughter Quintana was hospitalized in a coma with septic shock and pneumonia, and died shortly after. Loss and bereavement have been a theme in much of DIDION's writing, but "The Year of Magical Thinking" has been called her most personal work. DIDION's other works include "Slouching Toward Bethlehem" and "Play it as it Lays." (REBROADCAST from 10/13/05) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz trombonist and composer ROSWELL RUDD. He celebrated his 70th birthday November 17, 2005. He has a new CD called 'Blue Mongol.' He collaborates with The Mongolian Buryat Band, a group of throat singers. Rudd is known for his work with groundbreaking groups and musicians like Herbie Nichols, the New York Art Quartet, Cecil Taylor, Archie Shepp, and Carla Bley. He is equally comfortable with traditional and avant-garde work. (Original airdate: 2/12/02) (3. ) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Walk The Line,' the new biopic about Johnny Cash, starring Joaquin Phoenix.

---

Interview with Harold Ramis; Review of Mary Gaitskill's novel "Veronica." November 21, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969457638].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer and director HAROLD RAMIS. His new film is 'The Ice Harvest.' It stars John Cusack, Billy Bob Thornton, and Randy Quaid. It's an irreverent Christmas-time film. RAMIS is behind some of the comedy classics of the past twenty-five. They include 'Caddyshack,' 'Animal House,' 'Ghostbusters,' and 'National Lampoon's Vacation.' Before his film work, RAMIS edited jokes for Playboy, and was a part of Chicago's Second City improvisational theatre troupe. (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the novel 'Veronica' by Mary Gaitskill.

Interview with Jerry Mitchell; Interview with Dianne Reeves. November 22, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969457637].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Investigative reporter JERRY MITCHELL. Next week he will be awarded the John Chancellor Award for Excellence in Journalism. Mitchell, who writes for The Clarion-Ledger in Jackson, Mississippi, specializes in unearthing new evidence that leads to the conviction of murderers from the civil rights era of the early 1960s. His coverage has led to the convictions of four Ku Klux Klan members, starting with Byron De La Beckwith for the assassination of Medgar Evers, and recently, Edgar Ray Killen, who was found guilty of orchestrating the murders of civil rights workers Andrew Goodman, James Chaney and Michael Schwerner. David Halberstam, who was part of the Chancellor Award selection panel, said Mitchell 'pursued these stories after most people believed they belonged to history, and not to journalism.' (2.) Jazz singer DIANNE REEVES. You can see her singing throughout the current film 'Good Night and Good Luck.' Reeves won Best Jazz Vocal Performance Grammys for each of her last three recordings. She is about to go on national tour with her 'Christmas Time is Here' show, with stops in many cities including Los Angeles, Milwaukee, Philadelphia and Toronto.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer songwriter JIMMIE DALE GILMORE. His new album is called 'Come on Back.' It's a memorial to his late father, who died of ALS in 2000. The album includes version of his dad's favorite songs like 'Pick Me Up on Your Way Down' and 'Walkin' The Floor Over You.' His other albums include 'Now Again' and 'Wheels of Fortune.' Gilmore was born, raised and lives in Texas. In the early 1970's, Gilmore founded the band The Flatlanders with Joe Ely and Butch Hancock. The band released an album in 1973 but it did not sell well. Gilmore spent the rest of the decade living in an ashram in Denver, not performing. But his songs became well known through singer Joe Ely, and in 1988, Gilmore released his first solo album, 'Fair and Square.' 'Come on Back' is Gilmore's seventh album. For more information, visit http://www.jimmiedalegilmore.com. (2.) Guitarist LINK WRAY. We remember the late musician with an archive interview from 1997. Wray died November 5 at the age of 76. He's credited with inventing the power chord in the 1950s. His first big recording hit was the 1958 instrumental "Rumble." When he went to record the song, he wasn't happy with the sound on the amp, so he pierced holes in the speaker cone to create additional distortion. Guitarists including Pete Townshend and John Lennon were influenced by his work. WRAY'S other hits include "Rawhide" and the Batman Theme. (Original airdate: 7/16/97)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer JOHNNY CASH. The new film 'Walk The Line' is based on the singer's life. We listen back to a 1997 interview with CASH. The singer, songwriter and guitarist wrote over a thousand songs, recorded many albums and performed from the 1950's until just before his death at age 71 in September 2003. He was awarded 14 Grammys and was inducted into the Songwriters, Country Music, and Rock and Roll Halls of Fame. His hits include 'I Walk the Line,' 'Ring of Fire,' and 'A Boy Named Sue.' In the 1990s, he collaborated with producer Rick Rubin, who is better known for his rap and rock records. His final album was the 2002 'American IV: The Man Comes Around.' Cash was married to June Carter Cash, and his daughter is Roseanne Cash. (Original airdate: 11/4/97) (2.) Singer JUNE CARTER CASH. She was a Grammy-award winning singer, a songwriter, musician, actress and author. She was married to Johnny Cash, and she came from the Carter Family, the country music pioneers. Her mother was Maybelle Carter and her sisters were Helen and Anita. June Carter Cash died of complications from heart surgery at age 73, just 4 months before Johnny Cash died. (Original airdate: 6/18/87)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer ROSANNE CASH. We continue our two-day tribute to the life and family of Johnny Cash with an interview with his daughter, Roseanne. Her mother was Vivian Liberto, and her stepmother was
June Carter Cash. She began her career touring with her father, and released her first single in 1979. She's a Grammy award winning country music artist with over 40 hit singles. She will be releasing the album 'Black Cadillac' in January of 2006. Her last album was the 2003 'Rules of Travel,' with guest appearances by Sheryl Crow and Steve Earle. Columbia/Legacy has just reissued her albums 'Seven Year Ache' (1981), 'King's Record Shop' (1987), and 'Interiors' (1990), plus a new collection spanning 1979-2003, 'The Very Best Of Rosanne Cash.' She'll be performing 12/16/05 in Montclair, New Jersey. (Original airdate: 6/23/03)

(2.) Record producer RICK RUBIN. He worked with Johnny Cash for the last ten years of Cash's life, collaborating on four critically acclaimed, and Grammy award winning albums ('American Recordings,' 'Unchained,' 'American III: Solitary Man,' and 'American IV: The Man Comes Around.') At the time of Cash's death they were collaborating on a fifth album. Rubin co-founded the Def Jam label with Russell Simmons in 1984, and recorded acts including The Beastie Boys, Run DMC, Public Enemy and the heavy metal band Slayer. In 1988, Rubin and Simmons split. Rubin then founded the Def American label, which became American Recordings. Rubin is currently producing both rock and rap albums with artists including System of a Down, Weezer, the Red Hot Chili Peppers and Lil Jon.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Vatican reporter JOHN ALLEN. He writes for the National Catholic Reporter and is a Vatican analyst for CNN and NPR. His new book is 'Opus Dei: An Objective Look Behind the Myths and Reality of the Most Controversial Force in the Catholic Church.' The book is billed as the first serious journalistic investigation of the highly secretive organization Opus Dei, an international association of Catholics. Opus Dei was founded in Spain in 1928 and has 84,000 members in eighty countries. The best selling novel 'The Da Vinci Code' brought Opus Dei to public attention. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Baby' the new album by the group 'The Detroit Cobras' who specializes in raucous covers of other people's songs. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Woman at the Washington Zoo: Writings on Politics, Family, and Fate' (PublicAffairs Press), by Marjorie Williams who died last year of cancer. interview with Bob Spitz; Interview with Dennis Quaid; Commentary on language. November 29, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458320].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rock journalist BOB SPITZ. His new biography of the Beatles is decidedly not prettified: venereal disease, drugs, and bad business are all part of the story of the Fab Four. It's called 'The Beatles: The Biography' (Little, Brown 2005). He's also the author of 'Dylan: A Biography.' (2.) Actor DENNIS QUAIID. His new film is a family comedy called 'Yours, Mine, and Ours.' He first became famous for 'Breaking Away' in 1979, and has starred in a smack of hit films since then. His resume includes 'The Right Stuff,' 'The Big Easy,' 'Innerspace,' 'Great Balls Of Fire,' 'Any Given Sunday,' 'The Day After Tomorrow,' and 'Far From Heaven.' (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG looks at the use of dictionaries in the world of jurisprudence.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist PHILIP SHENON of The New York Times. He's been covering the grand jury investigation of Jack Abramoff, the former Republican lobbyist who has been accused of defrauding Indian tribes of millions of dollars in lobbying fees. The tribes paid Abramoff and his former business partner Michael Scanlon {dollar}80 million in fees. Last week Scanlon ? who is also a former top aide to Representative Tom DeLay ? pleaded guilty to conspiring to bribe a member of Congress and other public officials, and he agreed to repay {dollar}19.6 million to his former Indian tribe lobbying clients. The investigation has broadened into Abramoff's ties with public officials, including congressmen, and a White House budget official. Court papers filed earlier this month alleged that Scanlon and Abramoff had sought to 'corruptly offer and provide things of value, including money, meals, trips and entertainment to public officials in return for agreements to perform official acts.' (2.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews a reissue of a solo album by record producer John Simon who worked with The Band, Blood, Sweat & Tears' and other groups from the late 1960s and early 70s. The solo album is called 'John Simon's Album.' (water label).
Interview with Jacob Hacker and Paul Pierson; Interview with Trent Lott. December 1, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458195].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Political scientists JACOB HACKER and PAUL PIERSON are the authors of the new book, 'Off Center: The Republican Revolution and the Erosion of American Democracy' (Yale University Press). The authors examine the tactics of the far-right Republicans and how they've changed the system for years to come. HACKER is an associate professor of political science at Yale University. PIERSON is professor of political science at the University of California at Berkeley. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Republican Senator from the state of Mississippi TRENT LOTT. Lott was the senate majority leader from June 1996 to January 2001. He is the author of the memoir 'Herdng Cats: A Life in Politics.'

Interview with Felicity Huffman & William H. Macy; Review of the film "Syriana;" Interview with David Brubeck; Review of the television miniseries "Sleeper cell." December 2, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885265].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Husband and wife actors FELICITY HUFFMAN and WILLIAM H. MACY. They've collaborated on the new offbeat independent feature 'Transamerica.' Macy is the executive producer. Huffman stars as a male-to-female transsexual who receives a phone call from the son he never knew he fathered. MACY has had roles in many films and TV shows. He's done numerous movies with David Mamet and Paul Thomas Anderson. His big screen credits include 'Seabiscuit,' 'Magnolia,' 'Pleasantville,' 'The Cooler' and 'Oleanna.' He was nominated for an Oscar for his part in 'Fargo.' He won an Emmy for his work on the TV movie 'Door to Door,' and he had Emmy nominated guest roles on the T-V shows 'E.R.' and 'Sports Night.' FELICITY HUFFMAN is best known as Lynette, one of the 'Desperate Housewives' on the ABC TV series, for which she won An Emmy and a Screen Actors Guild Award. She was also in 'The Cooler,' 'Door to Door,' 'Magnolia' and on 'Sports Night' with Macy. Huffman has been a regular guest on several TV shows including 'Frasier.' (REBROADCAST from 5/16/05) (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new film 'Syriana.' (3.) Jazz pianist/composer DAVE BRUBECK. He turns 85 years on Dec 6th and has been recording for 50 years. Brubeck celebrates his birthday with a concert in London where he will be joined by the London Symphony. There are several recent collections of his work: "The Dave Brubeck Collection" (Columbia/Legacy) which reissues five of his classic out-of-print LPs, and "Dave Brubeck: Time Signature: A Career Retrospective" (Columbia/Legacy). (REBROADCAST FROM 5/6/99) (4.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the new Showtime cable miniseries, a controversial thriller called 'Sleeper Cell' about Muslim terrorists in America. It premiers on Sunday night.

---

Interview with Teri Garr; Review of "Jelly Roll Morton December 5, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458146].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress TERI GARR. She's probably best known for her role in Mel Brooks' 'Young Frankenstein.' But she's worked with other well known directors and has made many films. Her first movie role was in Francis Coppola's 'The Conversation.' She was in Stephen Spielberg's 'Close Encounters of the Third Kind,' and Sydney Pollack's 'Tootsie.' Before becoming an actress she was a dancer, following in the footsteps of her mother who was a Rockette. GARR danced in a number of Elvis Presley films, on the Sony and Cher Comedy Hour, and on the show Shivaree. GARR was diagnosed with MS in 2002 after being plagued by symptoms for twenty years. Her new memoir is 'Speedbumps: Flooring It Through Hollywood.' (w/ Henriette Mantel, Hudson Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Jelly Roll Morton: The Complete Library of Congress Recordings by Alan Lomax' (on the Rounder Label).

---

Interview with John McCain; Review of Madonna's album "Confessions on a dance floor."
December 6, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458112].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Republican Senator from Arizona JOHN MCCAIN. His new book is 'Character is Destiny: Inspiring Stories Every Young Person Should Know and Every Adult Should Remember' (with Mark Salter - Random House). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Confessions on a Dance Floor' the new CD by Madonna.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comic and journalist STEPHEN COLBERT (‘Col-BEAR’) is the former fake senior correspondent on Comedy Central's The Daily Show with John Stewart. He now has his own fake news show on Comedy Central. It's called The Colbert Report (pronounced 'Re-pore') . It's broadcast at 11:30 Monday thru Friday following The Daily Show. The show is modeled to parody The Bill O'Reilly show. In fact in a New Yorker review, Nancy Franklin writes, 'Colbert resembles nobody more than he does Bill O'Reilly, and like O'Reilly, he conveys fake humility and easy rage toward inappropriate targets.' COLBERT started his comic career with Second City in Chicago. He helped create the HBO sketch comedy series 'Exit 57' which won five Cable ACE awards in 1995. He also wrote and performed sketches on 'The Dana Carvey Show.' He is also the voice of Ace for Saturday Night Lives's animated shorts 'Ace & Gary: The Ambiguously Gay Duo.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews two DVDs of classic editions of Cinderella: Walt Disney's 'Cinderella' (on Buena Vista Home Entertainment), and the 1956 TV production of Rodgers and Hammerstein's 'Cinderella' (on Image Entertainment).

Interview with Alex Knott; Interview with Melissa Cross; Commentary on Nico. December 8, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885280].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ALEX KNOTT is political editor at the nonprofit, nonpartisan organization The Center for Public Integrity. The group does research and reporting on public policy issues. KNOTT covers politics and lobbying. One of his recent reports is on the federal contractors, lobbying companies and outside groups that spend almost (dollar)1.5 million to sponsor trips for White House employees. (2.) Vocal coach MELISSA CROSS. She's otherwise known as the 'Scream Queen' for her work teaching metal, punk and hardcore performers how to use their voice without ruining their vocal chords. She teaches them how to growl, bark, bellow and scream. CROSS is classically trained. She has a new instructional DVD, 'The Zen of Screaming: Vocal Instruction for a New Breed.' 3.) Rock historian ED WARD remembers the singer Nico who recorded in the 1960s.
Interview with Rudy Behlmer; Interview with Patti Smith; Review of the film "Brokeback mountain." December 9, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458193].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film historian RUDY BEHLMER on the making of "King Kong." The original movie soundtrack for the 1933 classic film has been reissued on CD. (Rhino) The film was directed by documentarians Merian C. Cooper and Ernest Schoedsack who also worked together on the groundbreaking documentaries, "Grass" and "Chang." The score was by Max Steiner. BEHLMER wrote the liner notes for the CD. The new film version of King Kong by director Peter Jackson opens in theatres December 14th. (REBROADCAST from 12/13/99) (2.) Poet, performer, and punk rocker PATTI SMITH. This November marked the 30th anniversary of her debut album 'Horses,' a groundbreaking rock and roll masterpiece. There's a new 2-disc special edition of that album out now (Legacy). Disc one is the original album. Disc two showcases Patti with her band and featuring Flea from the Red Hot Chilli performing the complete Horses album live at a concert in London on June 25, 2005. (REBROADCAST from 4/24/96). (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new film 'Brokeback Mountain' directed by Ang Lee, co-starring Jake Gyllenhaal and based on a short story by Annie Proulx.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author MICHAEL WEX. In his new book 'Born to Kvetch: Yiddish Language and Culture in All of Its Moods' (St. Martin's Press), WEX explores the history and culture of Yiddish: its complaints, curses and codes. WEX is a novelist, lecturer and translator (his translations include a Yiddish version of The Threepenny Opera). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) We remember RICHARD PRYOR. The legendary foul-mouthed comedian died of a heart attack on Saturday. Terry interviewed PRYOR in 1995, when he was living with multiple sclerosis.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer, songwriter and musician NEIL DIAMOND. For his new album, '12 Songs' (Sony) he's teamed up with producer Rick Rubin, who has worked with big time hip-hop artists and metal bands, and who collaborated extensively with Johnny Cash at the end of his life. It's a departure from the work DIAMOND is known for: sing-a-long-able hits like 'Sweet Caroline,' 'Cracklin' Rosie,' and 'Cherry Cherry.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) ROGER BENNETT, JULES SHELL, and NICK KROLL. They're the authors of 'Bar Mitzvah Disco: The Music May Have Stopped, but the Party's Never Over' (Crown, 2005). It's a collection of essays about and photos of bar and bat mitzvahs from the 70's and 80's, from contributors like Sarah Silverman and Jonathan Safran Foer.

Interview with Bart Ehrman; Review of the film "King Kong." December 14, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458192].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Religion scholar BART D. EHRMAN (pronounced 'ERR' as in 'BURR'). He's chairs the Department of Religious Studies at UNC-Chapel Hill. His new book is 'Misquoting Jesus: The Story Behind Who Changed the Bible and Why' (HarperSanFrancisco) EHRMAN studied the ancient texts in their original languages. In his book he looks at the mistakes and intentional alterations that were made by early scribes and the impact they have on the bible today. EHRMAN writes in the intro that this knowledge (which he first came to understand 30 years ago) shifted his way of thinking about the bible . (He was raised an Evangelical Christian). EHRMAN is also the author of 'Lost Christianities: The Battle for Scripture and the Faiths We Never Knew'(Oxford 2003) which chronicles the period before Christianity as we know it came to be, when conflicting ideas about the religion were fighting for prominence in the second and third centuries. And he edited a collection of the early non-canonical texts from the first centuries after Christ called 'Lost Scriptures: Books that Did Not Make It into the New Testament' (Oxford 2003). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new film version of 'King Kong' directed by Peter Jackson who was behind the Lord of the Ring films.

Description of show segment(s)

Since its national debut in 1987, Fresh Air with Terry Gross has been a highly acclaimed and much adored weekday magazine among public radio listeners. Each week, nearly 4.8 million people turn to Peabody Award-winning host Terry Gross for insightful conversations with the leading voices in contemporary arts and issues. The renowned program reaches a global audience, with over 620 public radio stations broadcasting Fresh Air, and 3 million podcast downloads each week. Fresh Air has broken the mold of 'talk show' by weaving together superior journalism and intimate storytelling from modern-day intellectuals, politicians and artists alike. Through probing questions and careful research, Gross's interviews are lauded for revealing a fresh perspective on cultural icons and trends. Her thorough conversations are often complemented by commentary from well-known contributors. Fresh Air is produced at WHYY-FM in Philadelphia and broadcast nationally by NPR.

Review of the film "Once upon a Mattress;" Interview with Carol Burnett; Review of three books "The ice harvest" "The history of love" and "The beggar king and the secret of happiness;" Review of two document December 16, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825483].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the new TV version of 'Once Upon A Mattress' which will be broadcast Sunday night on ABC. (2.) Comedienne CAROL BURNETT. This Sunday night on ABC you can see her in a new TV version of 'Once Upon a Mattress.' She'll play Queen Aggravian. Over forty years ago BURNETT launched her career with the role of the Princess in the Broadway version of 'Mattress.' She played the Princess and she won a Tony award. She earned wide critical and popular acclaim and an Emmy for her work on The Garry Moore Show (from 1959-62). Her variety show The Carol Burnett Show debuted in 1967 and was popular until 1978, when she terminated the show. It won 22 Emmys. She's starred or appeared in a number of TV movies and specials. In 2003 she was one of the Kennedy Center Honorees. BURNETT’S is the author of a memoir 'One More Time' (in paperback, Encore Books). There's also a DVD collection of The Carol Burnett Show (Paramount collection). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (REBROADCAST from 10/13/03) (3.)
Critic JOHN POWERS on two documentaries now out on DVD 'The March of the Penguins,' and 'Grizzly Man.'

(4.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN has some holiday recommendations: The novels, 'The Ice Harvest' by Scott Phillips, 'The History of Love' by Nicole Krauss; the nonfiction 'The Beggar King and the Secret of Happiness' by Joel ben Izzy, and the short story 1961 classic 'Tell Me a Riddle' by Tillie Olsen.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) An in-studio concert with singer REBECCA KILGORE, trombonist Dan Barrett and pianist Rossano Sportiello recorded at the NOLA studios in Manhattan. KILGORE is one of the leading interpreters of American songs. She became best-known for her work with pianist and composer Dave Frishberg. In 2002 she formed her own band BED. Their latest CD is 'BEDlam.' Barrett is a member of her band. Sportiello is a stride pianist from Italy. (THIS CONCERT CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Fresh Air Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN. He talks with Terry about his picks for top ten films of the year, and also tells us about movies opening for this holiday season. He'll tell us about his favorite movie of the year. It's one that has not yet been released. Edelstein is also chief film critic for www.slate.com. (2.) Fresh Air rock critic KEN TUCKER. He'll talk with Terry about his top picks in pop music for 2005. He also addresses the topic of women in music, and he talks about the year in hip-hop. Ken Tucker is also film critic for New York Magazine.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times reporter DEXTER FILKINS. He has been covering the recent elections in Iraq. In April he received the George Polk Award for War Reporting for 'his riveting, first-hand account of an eight-day attack on Iraqi insurgents in Falluja.' (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD has suggestions for the jazz lovers on your holiday shopping list. He recommends Jelly Roll Morton's Library of Congress recordings on Rounder Records; John Coltrane's 'One Up, One Down' on Verve; Bill Evans' 'Complete Village Vanguard Recordings, 1961,' on Riverside; Ray Charles' 'Pure Genius: The Complete Atlantic Recordings 1952 to 1959;' Dizzy Gillespie/Charlie Parker, 'Town Hall 1945'on Uptown records, and Columbia's 4-CD anthology, 'Progressions: 100 Years of Jazz Guitar.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor LUKE WILSON. He's in the new film 'The Family Stone.' It's about the annual holiday gathering of a New England family. Wilson plays Ben Stone, a film editor living on the West Coast. Wilson also makes his directorial and writing debut in the upcoming film 'The Wendell Baker Story,' in which he stars. Wilson made his acting debut in Wes Anderson's 'Bottle Rocket,' which also starred his brother Owen Wilson. He's also been in Anderson's films 'Rushmore' and 'The Royal Tenenbaums.' Other credits include 'Anchorman: The Legend of Ron Burgundy,' 'Legally Blonde,' and 'Charlie's Angels.' (2.) Director and choreographer SUSAN STROMAN. She makes her screen directing debut with the latest film version of 'The Producers,' the screen adaptation of the Broadway hit starring Nathan Lane and Matthew Broderick. Stroman also directed and choreographed the stage version of the musical, and won two Tony awards for her work in that production. She's won a total of five Tony awards over the course of her career. Her other Broadway credits include 'Contact,' 'Oklahoma!,' 'Crazy for You,' and 'Showboat.' She's also choreographed off-Broadway spectacles such as Madison Square Garden's annual 'A Christmas Carol,' and productions for the New York City Opera and the New York City Ballet. She's worked in film and television as well. She's won Emmy, Drama Desk, Outer Critics Circle and Astaire Awards. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN presents her year-end round up of the best books of 2005. Included on her list are 'Veronica' by Mary Gaitskill, 'The History of Love' by Nicole Krauss, 'Never Let Me Go' by Kazuo Ishiguro, 'The Historian,' by Elizabeth Kostova, 'Death in the Garden' by Elizabeth Ironside, 'Citizen Vince' by Jess Walter, 'The Tender Bar' by J. R. Moehringer, 'The Tulip and the Pope' by Deborah Larsen, 'The Year of Magical Thinking' by Joan Didion, 'The Woman at the Washington Zoo' by Marjorie Williams, 'Bury the Chains' by Adam Hochschild, and Doris Kearns Goodwin's

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor JOHN SPENCER. He died on December 16, 2005 at age 58. We replay an interview from April 2000. Spencer is best known for his character Leo McGarry, the President's Chief of Staff, on the popular NBC series 'The West Wing.' Spencer's and McGarry's lives ran parallel. Both were recovering alcoholics and both had driven personalities. McGarry suffered a heart attack on the show, and Spencer died of a heart attack. Spencer was previously a regular on "L.A. Law" and began his career on "The Patty Duke Show." (Original airdate: 4/5/00) (2.) Filmmaker JOHN WATERS. Last year he put together the CD 'A John Waters Christmas' (New Line records). It includes such songs as 'Here Comes Fatty Claus,' 'Little Mary Christmas,' and 'Santa Claus is a Black Man.' William S. Burroughs once crowned WATERS 'The Pope of Trash.' Waters' 1988 film 'Hairspray' was made into a Tony award-winning Broadway musical. His other classic bad taste films include Polyester, Pink Flamingos, Desperate Living and Female Trouble. His more recent work includes 'Serial Mom,' 'Pecker,' and the NC-17 rated 'A Dirty Shame.' Waters is a native of Baltimore, where most of his films are set. (Original airdate: 12/14/04)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Academy award winning film editor THELMA SCHOONMAKER ('SKOON-may-ker'). She's edited every one of Martin Scorsese's movies, from 'Raging Bull' to 'The Aviator.' She'll talk about how film editing has changed over the past 30 years, and how she got her first big break editing Scorsese's student film at NYU. She was also married to the late film director Michael Powell. She won Oscars for her work on 'The Aviator' and 'Raging Bull,' and was nominated for her editing on 'Gangs of New York' and 'Goodfellas.' (Original airdate: 5/31/05. THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with George Clooney; Commentary on reggaeton. December 27, 2005. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/969458263].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor, producer, writer, director GEORGE CLOONEY. He stars in the movie 'Syriana.' He also directed and co-wrote this year's 'Good Night, and Good Luck' about the showdown between legendary journalist Edward R. Murrow and Senator Joseph McCarthy that took place in 1954. CLOONEY also has a role in the film portraying Murrow's producer Fred Friendly. CLOONEY made his directing debut with the film 'Confessions of a Dangerous Mind.' His acting/producing credits include 'Ocean's Eleven,' 'Ocean's Twelve,' 'The Jacket,' 'Full Frontal' and 'Welcome to Collinwood.' He also starred in the Coen brothers' 'O Brother, Where Art Thou?' CLOONEY became a household face and name with his role on NBC's 'ER.' CLOONEY is also the nephew of the late singer Rosemary Clooney. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW. Original airdate: 10/18/05.) (2.) World music critic MILO MILES tells us about reggaeton ('REGG-ay-tone'), an international hybrid of reggae, hip hop and salsa. He plays music from the compilation albums 'Mas Flow,' 'Mas Flow 2,' and 'La Trayectoria.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pulitzer Prize winning novelist PHILIP ROTH. He's been the recipient of numerous awards: The National Book Award (for 'Goodbye Columbus,' and 'Sabbath's Theatre'); the Pulitzer Prize for 'American Pastoral' in 1997; the PEN/Faulkner Awards (for 'Operation Shylock' and 'The Human Stain'); and the American Academy of Arts and Letters' prestigious Gold Medal for Fiction in 2001. His most recent book "The Plot Against America" (Houghton Mifflin) imagines a world in which Franklin D. Roosevelt loses the presidency to America's biggest hero and celebrity Charles Lindberg forms alliances with Germany and Japan. (Original airdate: 9/27/05) (2.) Writer and director DAVID CRONENBERG. He's been called the King of Venereal Horror. He directed the films "M. Butterfly," "The Fly," "Dead Ringers," and "Naked Lunch," all of which tell a story of sexually deviant behavior. In the film "Crash" he continued the theme, combining sex and car wrecks. His most recent film 'A History of Violence' is a psychological thriller about one man's potential for violence. (Original airdate: 10/3/05)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor GENE WILDER. His birth name is Jerome Silberman. He made his film debut as a kidnap victim in 'Bonnie and Clyde' (1967). He's best known for his work with Mel Brooks in the films 'Young Frankenstein,' 'Blazing Saddles,' and 'The Producers.' He was in Woody Allen's 'Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Sex' and starred in the 1971 film 'Willy Wonka & the Chocolate Factory.' He also teamed up with Richard Pryor in the films 'Silver Streak,' 'Stir Crazy' and 'See No Evil, Hear No Evil.' He was married to Gilda Radner for five years until her death of ovarian cancer in 1989. After he formed the support group Gilda's Club to raise awareness of the disease. WILDER published a memoir this year called, 'Kiss Me Like a Stranger: My Search for Love and Art.' (Original airdate: 3/16/05)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz musician and actor HARRY CONNICK JR. and jazz saxophonist BRANFORD MARALIS. They perform and record together. MARALIS is, of course, part of the legendary MARALIS family of jazz, and as a child, CONNICK Jr. learned a thing or two from the MARALIS patriarch Ellis. MARALIS and CONNICK Jr. both grew up in New Orleans. They recall the city pre-flood. CONNICK JR. has a new CD, Occasion, on Marsalis' label. (Original airdate: 10/12/05)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer, songwriter, musician, bandleader BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN. In November Columbia Records released the 'Born to Run 30th Anniversary Edition' box set. The 3 CD set includes a remastering of Springsteen's 'Born to Run' album. After the album was released in 1975 it became a hit and is now considered one of the greatest albums in rock and roll history. The box set also includes a concert DVD of a never-before-seen 1975 concert from London and a documentary about the making of Born to Run. (REBROADCAST from 11/15/05) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE REST OF THE SHOW).
"Days of Grace.'RAMPERSAD is Sara Hart Kimball Professor in the humanities and Associate Dean for the Humanities at Stanford University. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews two new country records that are bestsellers: Carrie Underwood, 'Some Hearts' and Martina McBride's 'Timeless.'

Interview with Tom Blanton; Review of Ike Quebec's ?The complete Blue Note 45 sessions,' Booker Ervin's ?Tex book tenor,' and Leo Parker's ?Let me tell you ?bout it.? January 5, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503165].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Director of the National Security Archive TOM BLANTON. The Archive is an independent non-governmental research institute and library dedicated to the declassification of secret government documents thru the Freedom of Information Act. Last month they celebrated their 20th anniversary. Over the years the Archive has declassified documents related to the Cuban Missile Crisis, Iran-Contra, Nixon and China, and more recently related to pre-911 intelligence warnings about Osama Bin Laden. The National Security Archive is located at The George Washington University in Washington, D.C.?(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews recent reissues featuring three second-tier saxophonists: 'The Complete Blue Note 45 Sessions' by Ike Quebec; 'Tex Book Tenor' by Booker Ervin; 'Let Me Tell You 'Bout It' by Leo Parker. (All on Blue Note).

Interview with Dion; Review of the film "Brokeback Mountain." January 6, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503150].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer Songwriter DION ( DE-on ). His new acoustic CD is Bronx in Blue which he said was inspired by his visit to Fresh Air. We rebroadcast thatinterview today. In the late 1950s, Dion and his band the Belmonts topped thechart with several pop hits, earning him the status of teen idol . Dion splitamicably with the band in 1960 and continued to write Top 10 hits until theBritish Invasion changed the pop preference. Now, in his 50s, he continues toproduce, write and sing new material. He lives in Boca Raton, Florida. (REBROADCAST from 10/17/00) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW. (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN has some thoughts on the new film Brokeback Mountain

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian ERIC FONER. He is the author of the new book, 'Forever Free: The Story of Emancipation and Reconstruction' (Knopf) about the era following the Civil War in which former slaves were promised equal rights and citizenship. During this time the 13th (abolishing slavery), 14th (guaranteeing birthright citizenship and equal rights for all Americans), and 15th (barring states from discriminating on the basis of race in voting rights), amendments to the constitution were ratified. FONER writes that 'the unresolved legacy of Reconstruction remains a part of our lives. In movements for social justice that have built on the legal and political accomplishments of Reconstruction, and in the racial tensions that still plague American society, the momentus events of Reconstruction reverberate in modern-day America.' FONER is DeWitt Clinton Professor of History at Columbia University. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWART reviews four new recordings conducted by Marin Alsop (on the Naxos label): two Brahms discs with the London Symphony Orchestra, a disc of Kurt Weill's two symphonies with the Bournemouth Symphony, and a disc devoted to concert music by Leonard Bernstein.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Diplomat and former Head of Coalition Provisional Authority in Iraq, PAUL BREMER. He was chosen by President Bush to take over from Jay Garner. He held the post from May 2003 to June 2004. He was the highest authority figure in the country and reported to the Secretary of Defense, Donald Rumsfeld. BREMER has written a new memoir, 'My Year in Iraq: The Struggle to Build a Future.' (Simon & Schuster). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Careless Love' (The Sirens label) the new CD by Chicago pianist Erwin Hefler.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Britian MARK ETHERINGTON. He served as governor of Wasit Province in Southern Iraq on behalf of the Coalition Provisional Authority (CPA) from October 2003 until the transfer of sovereignty to the Iraqi interim government in June 2004. Just under a million people lived in the province, and ETHERINGTON and his small staff attempted to reinstate order and aid in reconstruction. Interaction between his team and central CPA in Baghdad was minimal. His compound was attacked by Moqtada Al Sadr's army and they were forced to leave due to lack of military support. ETHERINGTON is the author of the new memoir, 'Revolt on the Tigris: The Al-Sadr Uprising and the Governing of Iraq' (Cornell University Press). He is a former paratrooper in the British Army with extensive experience in post-conflict management in Croatia, Bosnia, Serbia, Kosovo, and Afghanistan. He was one of 18 'Governorate Coordinators' assigned by the CPA. (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the 1951 film version of the Offenbach opera 'The Tales of Hoffman' now out on DVD. It was written, produced, and directed by the British team Michael Powell and Emeric Pressberger.

Interview with James Farmer; Interview with Raymond Arsenault; Review of Sigrid Nunez's novel, "The last of her kind." January 12, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503595].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JAMES FARMER, co-founder of CORE, the Congress On Racial Equality. He served as its National Director from 1961-1966. CORE was one of the civil rights groups of the 1960's that followed Gandhi's principles of non-violent resistance. CORE also helped organize the Freedom Rides -- multi-racial busloads of people traveling through the southern states making sure the Supreme Court's decisions on desegregation were being enforced. FARMER's long life as an advocate of civil rights was detailed in his autobiography, "Lay Bare the Heart" (Dutton). Farmer died in 1999. This interview was originally broadcast in 1985. (2.) Historian RAYMOND ARSENAULT. He is the author of the new book, 'Freedom Riders: 1961 and the Struggle for Racial Justice' (Oxford University Press). It's about the group of volunteers - blacks and whites, many of them college students - who boarded buses and headed for the Deep South to defy segregation. They were met with hatred and violence. The local police often refused to intervene. The Freedom Riders transformed the civil rights movement in the early 1960s. ARSENAULT is the John Hope Franklin Professor of Southern History and co-director of the Florida Studies Program at the University of South Florida. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Last of Her Kind' by Sigrid Nunez.

Interview with Werner Herzog; Interview with Simon Cowell; Review of the film "Cache". January 13, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503147].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker WERNER HERZOG. His documentary is 'Grizzly Man,' now out on video. It's about Timothy Treadwell, who lived for 13 years among grizzly bears. One day, the remains of Treadwell and his girlfriend were found. The bears had eaten them. Herzog used video footage shot by Treadwell, and also interviewed friends, family and experts to get the full story on Treadwell. Herzog is associated with the German New Wave film movement. He's produced, written and directed more than 40 films, including 'Wings of Hope,' 'Aguirre, Wrath of God,' and 'Fitzcarraldo.' (Original airdate: 7/28/05) (2.) Record executive SIMON COWELL. He's a judge on the talent show, American Idol. The show, which begins a new season this month, is a spin-off of the show Cowell co-created in Britain called Pop Idol. American Idol has made him famous for his brutally frank criticism. COWELL spent 26 years in the music industry, and is currently with BMG. His most recent book is 'Simon Cowell: I don't mean to be Rude, but. . .' (Original airdate: 1/15/04) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Cache' (pronounced 'ka-SHAY'), a French language film starring Juliette Binoche and Daniel Auteuil.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pulitzer prize winning biographer TAYLOR BRANCH. He won the Pulitzer for the first of his three part biography of Martin Luther King Jr. He's just completed the third volume, 'At Canaan's Edge.' (Simon & Schuster) It covers the last three years of King's life, and begins with the pivotal voting-rights march from Selma, moves thru King's opposition to the Vietnam war, King's efforts to bring the civil rights movement to the North, and his assassination in 1968. Volumes one and two of BRANCH's biographies are 'Parting the Waters,' and 'Pillar of Fire.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Thulani Davis; Interview with Steve Coogan. January 17, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502867].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist, novelist, playwright THULANI ('Too-LAH-nee') DAVIS. In her new book, 'My Confederate Kinfolk: a Twenty-First Century Freedwoman Discovers Her Roots' (Basic Books), she traces her roots which include a Scots-Irish clan of cotton planters, and Africans from Sierra Leone. DAVIS' previous books include the novels, '1959' and 'Maker of Saints.' She also wrote the librettos for 'Amistad' and 'Malcolm X.' (2.) British comic, writer, producer and actor STEVE COOGAN. He's an icon of British comedy. He's best known for his comedy character Alan Partridge, the 'nerdy radio DJ . . .with a terrible taste in sweaters and an inflated ego.' COOGAN's film credits include Don Roos's 'Happy Endings,' 'Around the World in 80 Days,' and Jim Jarmusch's 'Coffee and Cigarettes.' He's starring in the new film 'Tristram Shandy: A Cock and Bull Story.' It's an adaptation of the classic 18th Century comic novel. 'The Life and Opinions of Tristram Shandy, Gentleman' by Laurence Sterne. COOGAN stars as Shandy. It's directed by Michael Winterbottom.
Interview with Joe Henry; Review of Mary J. Blige's new album "The breakthrough;" Review of the computer game 'Katamari Damacy.' January 18, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502865].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Musician, songwriter, singer, producer JOE HENRY. His latest project is producing the new CD 'I Believe to My Soul.' It's a collection of classic soul and R&B singers doing songs they hadn't done before. It features Mavis Staples, Irma Thomas, Allen Toussaint, Ann Peebles and Billy Preston. They began recording the album before Hurricane Katrina. Now the album benefits Hurricane relief. As performer HENRY has released nine albums between 1986 and 2003. He's had a sort of cult-following for his work. His songwriting has been compared to Bob Dylan and Tom Waits. His songs include 'Richard Pryor Addresses a Tearful Nation' and 'Don't Tell Me' which was recorded by his sister-in-law, Madonna. On his 2001 album 'Scar' he collaborated with jazz musicians Ornette Coleman and Brad Mehldau. HENRY has also produced albums for Soloman Burke, and Aimee Mann. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'The Breakthrough' the new recording by singer Mary J. Blige. It's her 7th studio album. (3.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS considers 'Katamari Damacy' the PlayStation game from Japan.

Interview with Craig Brewer and Terrence Dashon Howard; Review of the film "Looking for comedy in the muslim world." January 20, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502950].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Director and writer CRAIG BREWER and star TERRENCE HOWARD of the film 'Hustle & Flow.' It's about a Memphis pimp who wants to be a rapper. It's now out on DVD. The film won the 2005 Audience Award at Sundance. Prior to 'Hustle & Flow,' Brewer was a relative unknown. His earlier film 'The Poor & Hungry' was made using a $20,000 inheritance. 'Hustle & Flow' was completed with the backing of filmmaker John Singleton, who mortgaged his house to get financing. Terrence Howard has been in many films, including 'Crash,' 'Ray,' 'Dead Presidents' and the upcoming 'Four Brothers.' Howard's first acting part was on 'The Cosby Show.' He went on to roles in other TV shows and the first film that got him notice was 'Mr. Holland's Opus.' Howard is also an accomplished musician, and plays a song he wrote during the show. (REBROADCAST FROM 8/4/05) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Looking for Comedy in the Muslim World' the new film starring and written and directed by Albert Brooks.

Interview with James Risen; Review of the new box set ?Miles Davis January 23, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502393].

Description of show segment(s)

(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews the new box set 'Miles Davis: The Cellar Door Sessions 1970' (on Columbia).

Interview with Steven Soderbergh; Interview with Jonathan Bing. January 24, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502394].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Director STEVEN SODERBERGH. His latest film 'Bubble' is set in doll factory in a small Midwestern town and features a cast of non-professional actors. It's about a love triangle between two long time employees who are years apart in age, and a newcomer. One of the three is murdered. In an unusual move, the film will be broadcast on HDTV the same day it premiers in theatres (Friday, Jan 27th), and available on DVD four days later. SODERBERGH's other films include 'Traffic,' 'Ocean's Eleven,' 'Erin Brockovich,' 'The Limey,' 'Out of Sight,' and 'Kafka.' He also co-produced 'Syriana' and 'Good Night and Good Luck.' SODERBERGH began his career with the low budget hit, 'Sex, Lies and Videotape.' (2.) Columnist JONATHAN BING writes the Hard Sell column for Variety. He discusses the new method of movie distribution to be used by Steven Soderbergh with his new film 'Bubble,' and the impact on the industry. The usual method of distribution is that a hit movie plays in theatres for six weeks or so. Four months later it comes out on DVD. Then after sales have died down, it shows up on cable TV and eventually free TV.
Interview with Jackie Spinner; Interview with Isobel Coleman; Commentary on Mozart. January 25, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502391].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JACKIE SPINNER. She went to Iraqi to write about the Iraqi people for the Washington Post. While there, she reported on the battle for Falluja, and in another incident was nearly kidnapped outside Abu Ghraib. SPINNER writes as well about the Iraqi staff who worked with her at the Post's Baghdad bureau; and each chapter of her book includes reflections of SPINNER's twin sister, Jenny, her closest confidante, who was at home in the U.S. and anxious for the safety of her sister Jackie. SPINNER's new memoir is 'Tell Them I Didn't Cry' (Scribner). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) ISOBEL COLEMAN is a Senior Fellow for U.S. Foreign Policy at the nonpartisan think tank, Council on Foreign Relations. She's an expert on economic development, Afghanistan, and women's initiatives in the Middle East. (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ has some thoughts on the 250th anniversary of his favorite composer's birth: Mozart. Mozart was born on January 27th, 1756. (music from Mozart's 'Cosi fan tutte' from the DVD of the Peter Sellars production, conducted by Craig Smith on the Universal label).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Economist DOUGLAS HOLTZ-EAKIN recently stepped down last Fall as director of the Congressional Budget Office. The office is independent, nonpartisan and its main function is to estimate how much money the government should take in and spend each year. Prior to becoming director HOLTZ-EAKIN was President Bush's Chief Economist. As director of the CBO he earned a reputation for being fair and candid when it came to financial issues. HOLTZ-EAKIN will join the staff of the Council on Foreign Relations. He was also an academic economist at Columbia, Princeton, and Syracuse Universities. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Arthur & George' (Knopf) the new novel by Julian Barnes.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Biographer VICKI WICKHAM. With writer Penny Valentine, Wickham is the author of 'Dancing with Demons: The Authorized Biography of Dusty Springfield.' Wickham was Springfield's close friend and manager for over a decade of Springfield's career. There's a new DVD of a 1979 performance by Dusty Springfield, 'Live at The Royal Albert Hall.' (Eaglerock entertainment) (REBROADCAST from 1/2/02) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews some historic punk DVDs: 'Punk Attitude,' 'All Dolled Up' (about the New York Dolls), 'The Screamers,' and 'God Save the Queen: A Punk Rock Anthology.' (3.) The great tap dancer Fayard Nicholas died earlier this week at the age of 91. With his younger brother Harold, he was part of the famous tap dancing team The Nicholas Brothers. We listen back to a 1985 interview with HAROLD NICHOLAS in which he talks about he and his brother.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Biblical scholar MARC ZVI BRETTLER is the author of the new book, 'How To Read the Bible' (The Jewish Publication Society). In the book he examines the conventions, ideology and history that were in place at the time the bible texts were written - which he says helps us to understand the context under which the texts written. BRETTLER is a professor of Biblical literature and chair of the Department of Near Eastern and Judaic Studies. (2.) Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS talks with Terry about what's going on at the Sundance Film Festival.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Looking at the new Medicare prescription drug plan with health policy expert Dr. JONATHAN OBERLANDER. He's author of the book 'The Political Life of Medicare,' and an associate professor of social medicine in the School of Medicine at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.
(2.) Dr. CHRISTINE K. CASSEL. She's a geriatrician and President and CEO of the American Board of Internal Medicine. Her new book 'Medicare Matters: What Geriatric Medicine Can Teach American Health Care' (California/Milbank 2005) is an analysis of Medicare today and an argument for reforming it.

Interview with Susan Schmidt and Jeffrey Smith; Review of Minus 5's "The Minus 5." February 1, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885109].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Washington Post reporters SUSAN SCHMIDT and R. JEFFREY SMITH. SCHMIDT broke the story two years ago about the Abramoff lobbying scandal and has been covering it ever since. SMITH has been covering Tom Delay and the charges against him. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'The Minus 5' the newest album by singer-songwriter-multi-instrumentalist Scott McCaughey (pronounced 'McCoy') who calls his band 'The Minus 5.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JOHN TAYMAN is a former editor of Outside magazine and is author of the new book, 'Colony: The Harrowing True Story of the Exiles of Molokai' (Scribner). It's about the leprosy colony in Hawaii that existed for 103 years from 1866 to 1969. The disease struck fear in the population at large and victims of leprosy were banished to remote places like Molokai. Later it was found that leprosy is caused by a simple bacteria and isn't nearly as contagious as once believed. TAYMAN's book is based on letters, journals, newspaper articles, medical documents and interviews with surviving patients. Molokai was visited and written about by Robert Louis Stevenson and Jack London. And the priest Father Damien went to work with the patients there and eventually died there of leprosy. (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Girls of Tender Age' (Free Press) the new memoir by Mary-Ann Tirone Smith. (3.) DR. MARC K. SIEGEL is the author of the new book, 'Bird Flu: Everything you need to know about the next Pandemic' (Wiley press, in paperback), and 'False Alarm: The Truth About the Epidemic of Fear' (Wiley). SIEGEL is an Associate Professor of Medicine and a Fellow in the Master Scholars Society at New York University School of Medicine. He is also a weekly columnist for the New York Daily News, and a frequent contributor to the L.A. Times and the Washington Post. (4.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Cubist Music' the new recording by Puerto Rican pianist Edsel Gomez (on the Zoho label).

Interview with Merle Haggard; Interview with Eric Clapton; Interview with David Bowie; Review of television shows. February 3, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503183].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Country music legend, MERLE HAGGARD. He will be one of the recipients of the 2006 Lifetime Achievement Grammy Awards, to be given out during the Grammy ceremonies Feb 7th. HAGGARD has been on the country music scene since the early sixties. Two tribute albums of the songs of MERLE HAGGARD were released: 'Mama's Hungry Eyes' and 'Tulare Dust.' HAGGARD was inducted to the Country Music Hall of Fame. (REBROADCAST from 8/14/95). (2.) Rock guitarist ERIC CLAPTON. For his participation in the band, Cream, he will receive a 2006 Lifetime Achievement Grammy Award. His friends call him "Slowhand," his fans call him "God." Whatever name he goes by, Eric Clapton is at or near the top of any list of the greatest guitar players in rock history. Clapton started out playing blues with the Yardbirds (For Your Love) in the early 60s, then played with John Mayall's Bluesbreakers before forming Cream, one of the 60s most influential bands (Crossroads, White Room). (REBROADCAST from 12/7/89) (3.) Musician and songwriter DAVID BOWIE. He will also receive a 2006 Lifetime Achievement Grammy Award. It's been over 30 years since the legendary rock performer created the gender-bending Ziggy Stardust, and produced the now classic album, 'The Rise and Fall of Ziggy Stardust and the Spiders from Mars.' With it, BOWIE helped invent glam-rock. Over the years BOWIE has produced albums for Lou Reed and Iggy Pop, and collaborated with Brian Eno. BOWIE also starred in the films 'The Man Who Fell to Earth,' 'Merry Christmas, Mr. Lawrence,' and 'Basquiat.' BOWIE has a new album, 'Reality.' (REBROADCAST from 9/4/02) (4.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI considers some of the tv shows that have recently been pulled off the air, or won't continue another season.

Interview with Jay McInerney; Review of The Strokes' third album, "First impressions of earth."
February 6, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503185].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist JAY MCINERNEY ('MAC-in-ernie'). His newest novel 'The Good Life' (Knopf) is set in Manhattan and deals with a group of New Yorkers in the wake of the September 11th attacks. In a review of the book in the New Yorker, Louis Menand writes, 'The chief reason September 11th is a challenge to novelists is that although every New Yorker feels that the attacks made a difference in the way life is lived, it is not clear that the difference is the stuff of novels. McInerney's premise is that after September 11th anything seemed possible to the survivors.' MCINERNEY is also the author of the novels 'Bright Lights, Big City,' 'Brightness Falls,' and 'The Last of the Savages.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'First Impressions of Earth' the third album by The Strokes.

Interview with Senator Joe Biden; Review of Monk's Music Trio's new album "Monk's Bones."

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Democratic Senator from Delaware, JOSEPH BIDEN. He was first elected to the Senate in 1972 at the age of 29. He serves on two major committees: The Foreign Relations Committee (where he is the top Democrat) and the Judiciary Committee. He is the longest-serving senator in Delaware, and he has continued to commute back and forth from Delaware to D.C. by Amtrak. BIDEN is a possible candidate for President in 2008. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Jazz Critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Monk's Bones' (CMB) a new CD from the Monk's Music Trio.
Interview with Joseph Cirincione; Review of the soul music album "Eccentric Soul February 8, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503636].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JOSEPH CIRINCIONE ('suh-RIN-see-OH-knee') specializes in defense and proliferation issues at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. He is Senior Associate and Director, Non-Proliferation Project. He'll discuss the crisis with Iran now that they are ready to restart their nuclear program, in defiance of the International Atomic Energy Agency. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian ED WARD looks back on the soul scene in Miami between the 1960s and 1970s. A new release features the music: 'Eccentric Soul: The Deep City Label' (on The Numero Group)

Interview with Neil Young and Jonathan Demme. February 9, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503637].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and songwriter NEIL YOUNG and film director JONATHAN DEMME. The new documentary 'Heart of Gold' made by DEMME, follows YOUNG in the first public performances of his work from the CD 'Prairie Wind,' which is the third album of his 'Harvest' trilogy. YOUNG made the album after suffering and recovering from a brain aneurysm. Over the years, YOUNG has made excursions into country, blues, electro, rockabilly, and soul. Early in his career, he formed the Buffalo Springfield with Stephen Stills. He was then part of Crosby Stills Nash and Young, which eventually morphed into Crosby, Stills and Nash when YOUNG embarked on a solo career. DEMME's other films include 'The Silence of the Lambs,' 'Philadelphia,' and 'The Manchurian Candidate' (the remake), also the concert film 'Stop Making Sense.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE SHOW.)
Interview with Michael Hurwitz; Interview with Mike Mills; Commentary on 1960's band Joy of Cooking. February 10, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503180].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV producer MITCHELL HURWITZ. He created and is executive producer of the Fox TV series 'Arrested Development,' now in its third and final season. Fox has not renewed the program for a fourth season, but there are rumors that another network, like ABC or Showtime, will pick it up for next year. Hurwitz is also credited as a writer on the series. The show is about the dysfunctional Bluth family. It's critically acclaimed and has won two Emmys, but has a only a cult following. Hurwitz was also a writer and producer on the TV sitcoms 'The Golden Girls' and 'The Ellen Show.' (Original airdate: 11/3/05) (2.) Graphic designer, commercial and music video director MIKE MILLS. His feature film 'Thumbsucker' has just been released on video. The film is based on a novel by Walter Kirn. It stars Vincent D'Onofrio, Tilda Swinton, and Vince Vaughn, and it debuted at the 2005 Sundance Film Festival. MILLS has made a few short documentaries and commercials for Levis, Gap, Volkswagen, Mastercard and Nike. He produced music videos for the bands Everything But the Girl, Moby, and Yoko Ono. He created graphics for the clothing label X-Girl and the bands Sonic Youth and the Beastie Boys. (Original airdate: 9/26/05) (3.) Rock historian ED WARD profiles The Joy of Cooking, a band led by two women out of Berkeley, California in the late 1960s.

Interview with Kristin Henderson; Interview with S. Epatha Merkerson. February 13, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503182].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist KRISTIN HENDERSON. Her new book is called 'While They're At War: The True Story of American Families on the Homefront.' She interviewed dozens of husbands and wives with spouses in the military. Henderson herself is the wife of a military chaplain who has served in the Persian Gulf. She talks about wives waiting at home in a haze of anticipatory grief, and she explains how the culture of email, cell phones and 24 hour news networks has changed the experience of having a loved one abroad. (2.) Actress S. EPATHA MERKERSON (pronounced 'ESS ee-PAY-thah MER-ker-son'). She just won the triple crown of television awards, with an Emmy, a Golden Globe, and a Screen Actor's Guild award for her performance in the HBO special 'Lackawanna Blues.' Most T-V viewers know her as Lt. Anita Van Buren on the popular series 'Law and Order.' As the longest running character in the series, she's currently in her 13th season with the show. Merkerson also played Reba the Mail Woman on the T-V series 'Pee-Wee's Playhouse.' Other screen credits include 'Jersey Girl,' 'Terminator II,' and 'Jacob's Ladder.'

Interview with Beth Wictum; Interview with Christopher Scott. February 14, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885294].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) BETH WICTUM is lab director of the Veterinary Genetics Laboratory (VGL) at the University of California at Davis. It's a forensics lab that helps investigators solve crimes using animal DNA. For instance: a key clue in a sexual-assault conviction was dog urine. The victim was unable to identify the suspect but her dog had relieved himself on his truck during the assault. The lab has also used animal DNA to help identify the remains of an animal on the side of the road or to determine if a neighbor's dog has killed a beloved cat. The lab has the largest database of domesticated-animal DNA in the U.S. The VGL was established to determine the parentage of cattle and horses. (2.) CHRISTOPHER SCOTT is Executive Director of the Stanford University Center for biomedical Ethics Program in Stem Cells and Society. He is the author of the new book 'Stem Cell Now: From the Experiment That Shook the World to the New Politics of Life' (Pi Press). In the book, SCOTT, explains the biology of stem cells, the history of this scientific breakthrough, and the politics and ethics surrounding it.

Interview with Greg Myre; Review of the website "Youtube." February 15, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503635].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist GREG MYRE ('MY-ree') is Jerusalem correspondent for The New York Times. He'll discuss the Hamas victory in the Palestinian elections and how it's effecting the Middle East. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER tells us about what he's been looking at: the website YouTube.com which features a vast array of video material including a llot of vintage rock, soul and funk footage.
Interview with Paul Pillar; Interview with Amitai Sandy. February 16, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503181].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former CIA official PAUL PILLAR (‘PILL-er’). He was the national intelligence officer for the Near East and South Asia from 2000 to 2005. In an upcoming issue of the journal Foreign Affairs, PILLAR, accuses the Bush administration of 'cherry-picking' intelligence on Iraq to justify a decision it had already reached to go to war. Word of PILLAR's article broke in the press last week. PILLAR retired last year after 28 years at the CIA and was considered the agency's leading counterterrorism analyst. PILLAR is the author of the book 'Terrorism and U.S. Foreign Policy' (Brookings Institution Press). (2.) Israeli artist AMITAI SANDY (‘AH-mi-tye SAHN-dee’). He has launched the Israeli Anti-Semitic Cartoons Contest as a response to an Iranian newspaper's competition for cartoons on the Holocaust. The anti-semitic cartoons must be drawn by Jews themselves. His logic is to show the world that Jews 'can do the best, sharpest, most offensive Jew hating cartoons ever published! No Iranian will beat us on our home turf!' The deadline is Sunday, March 5, 2006, and the best works will be displayed in an exhibition in Tel Aviv, Israel. Word of the contest has spread rapidly through the blogosphere. SANDY is publisher of Dimona Comix, a group of five Israeli comic artists, on the web at www.dimonacomix.com.

Interview with Richard Thompson; Review of the film "Freedomland." February 17, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503512].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer/songwriter RICHARD THOMPSON. His new 5-disc box set, "The Life and Music of Richard Thompson" features outtakes, live performances and previously unreleased tracks from Thompson's long career. The set was compiled using Thompson's own archives as well as the archives of Thompson fans. We'll listen back to an in-studio concert and interview. He first became known for his work with "Fairport Convention." He then went solo and is known for his dark songs which blend elements of British folk ballads and the blues. We'll also play an excerpt of another Richard Thompson visit in which he does a cover of the pop tune "Oops I Did it Again." (Original air dates: 2/7/94 and 10/24/02) (THESE INTERVIEWS CONTINUE INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews "Freedomland" the new film starring Samuel L. Jackson and Julianne Moore, screenplay by Richard Price, based on his novel of the same name.

Interview with Sonia Nazario; Review of the classic film "Young Mr. Lincoln." February 20, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503513].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist SONIA NAZARIO. She was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for her series in the Los Angeles Times in which she traced the path of a young boy from Honduras to the U.S. to reunite with his mother. His trek included a harrowing ride on a freight train up thru Mexico. The train was controlled by gangster and bandits who preyed on the passengers who hopped the freight. 'Enrique's Journey' (Random House) is the new book based on her series. NAZARIO decided to write about Enrique when she discovered that many of the Central American women working in the U.S. ? nannies, housekeepers, etc ? are working to send money back home to support their children. NAZARIO found that 48,000 children a year ? some as young as seven ? make the journey alone to the U.S. to reunite with their mothers. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS reviews the the 2-DVD edition of the 1939 classic film 'Young Mr. Lincoln' directed by John Ford and starring Henry Fonda. (on the Criterion label).

Interview with Michael McKean; Review of Deborah Eisenberg's "Twilight of the superheroes

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor, comedian, composer and musician MICHAEL MCKEAN. He's best known for co-starring in the spoofs 'This is Spinal Tap,' 'Best in Show' and 'A Mighty Wind.' He got his start playing Lenny in the 1970s sitcom 'Laverne and Shirley.' He's currently co-starring in the Broadway revival of 'The Pajama Game.' (2.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'Twilight of the Superheroes: Stories' (Farrar, Straus, and Giroux) by Deborah Eisenberg.
Interview with Bruce Bartlett; Review of The Arctic Monkeys' new album "Whatever people say I am, that's what I'm not." February 22, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825898].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Economist and syndicated columnist BRUCE BARTLETT. He is the author of the new book, 'How George W. Bush Bankrupted America and Betrayed the Reagan Legacy' (Doubleday). BARTLETT was a domestic policy aide at the White House in the Reagan administration, and a deputy assistant treasury secretary under the first President Bush. Until recently BARTLETT was senior fellow with the conservative think tank the National Center for Policy Analysis, but was dismissed in October. He says he was dismissed because of his increasingly critical comments about Bush in the book and elsewhere. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the debut album from The Arctic Monkeys (Domino, 2006). It's called 'Whatever People Say I Am, That's What I'm Not.'

Interview with Christopher Dickey. February 23, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503285].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CHRISTOPHER DICKEY is Paris bureau chief and Middle East regional editor for Newsweek magazine. He'll discuss the new Hamas-led Palestinian government, Iran's nuclear program, and the Muslim protests against the cartoons depicting the prophet Muhammad. Dickey is also the author of the novel, 'The Sleeper,' - a thriller about a former terrorist living the U.S. who goes to hunt down his former Al Qaeda comrades after September 11th. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Drew Carey; Interview with Harry Anderson; Interview with Richard Adler; Commentary on Harold and Fayard Nicholas. February 24, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503287].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian DREW CAREY. There's a new DVD collection of his ABC sitcom, 'The Drew Carey Show (Television Favorites Compilation.' In the sitcom he played an everyday blue-collar guy stuck in the same job for ten years. CAREY is also the author of the book, "Dirty Jokes and Beer: Stories of the Unrefined" which was an autobiography as well as a joke book. (REBROADCAST from 10/27/97) (2.) Con-man-turned actor HARRY ANDERSON. Anderson is best known as Judge Harry Stone on the hit NBC comedy series "Night Court." There's a new DVD collection 'Night Court ? The Complete First Season (1984)' (Warner Home Video). Anderson began his con-man career as a street performer. He eventually drifted to San Francisco where he would perform near Fisherman's Warf or to lines of moviegoers outside theaters. He then graduated to Las Vegas, opening for Kenny Rogers. That eventually led to his role on Night Court. Anderson put his cons and schemes into a book, 'Games You Can't Lose: A Guide for Suckers.' (REBROADCAST from 5/5/89) (3.) Composer and lyricist RICHARD ADLER. In the fifties, he collaborated with his partner, Jerry Ross, on the Broadway musicals "Damn Yankees" and "The Pajama Game." He later became an impresario and organizer of events. He is the author of the memoir, "You Gotta Have Heart." There's currently a new Broadway version of 'The Pajama Game' starring Harry Connick Jr., and Michael McKean. (REBROADCAST from 8/9/90) (4.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ has been watching some DVD releases featuring great black entertainers of the 20th century. Some of his favorites feature the great tap dance team of Harold and Fayard Nicholas. The films include 'The Pirate,' (1948), 'Stormy Weather' (1943), 'Cabin in the Sky,' 'Pie, Pie, Blackbird' (1932), 'Orchestra Wives,' and 'The Five Heartbeats,' (1991).

Interview with Gavin Hood and Presley Chweneyagae; Interview with Marc Weingarten. February 27, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503508].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director GAVIN HOOD and actor PRESLEY CHWENEYAGAE. Their new film from South African is 'Tsotsi.' It's about a gang member who steals a woman's car and then finds her baby in the back seat. Because he himself was orphaned the young man takes pity on the baby and attempts to care for Interview with Eric Burns; Interview with James Allen. March 1, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885273].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist ERIC BURNS. His new book is 'Infamous Scribblers: The Founding Fathers and the Rowdy Beginnings of American Journalism' (PublicAffairs). BURNS also is host of 'Fox News Watch' on Fox TV. He is a former NBC news correspondent and was named one of the best writers in the history of broadcast journalism by the Washington Journalism Review. (2.) JAMES ALLEN is the 81 year old director of the Addicts Rehabilitation Center in Harlem. He founded the center in 1957 after he kicked his own habit. Soon after he founded the a cappella Addicts Rehabilitation Center Gospel Choir (A-R-C). The choir has a couple of CD's to their credit 'Walk With Me' (1997 on Mapleshade label), and 'Thank You, Lord' (Wea-2004). Their track 'Walk with Me' has recently been sampled on a Kanye West recording. Also bassist and choir leader CURTIS LUNDY. He joined the choir in 1992, wanting to rid himself of a cocaine addiction. LUNDY has worked extensively with the late Betty Carter, as well as with Art Blakey, Fred Hubbard, and Bobby Watson.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist EYAL ('A-all') PRESS. His new book is called 'Absolute Convictions: My Father, a City, and the Conflict that Divided America' (Henry, Holt & Co.) Eyal's father is obstetrician Shalom Press. In 1998, while performing abortions in Buffalo, New York, Dr. Press received death threats from anti-abortion activists following the murder of another obstetrician in Buffalo. Eyal Press returned to Buffalo and spoke with people on both sides of the deeply divided issue. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'A Godly Hero: The Life of William Jennings Bryan' (Knopf) by Michael Kazin which Kazin calls 'one of the most crucial Americans never to win a presidential election.'

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rapper and actor MOS DEF ('mohz deff'). He is co-starring in the new film 'Sixteen Blocks.' Recently he played a cop in the indie film 'The Woodsman,' also starring Kevin Bacon. MOS DEF most recent rap album is 'The New Danger.' DEF has appeared in the films 'Bamboozled,' 'Monster's Ball,' and 'Brown Sugar.' He made his Broadway debut with the play Topdog/Underdog,' and won an Obie for his performance in the off Broadway play 'Fucking A.' (REBROADCAST from 12/22/04) (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Violet Violets' (Stunt label) the new CD by jazz musician Sam Rivers. (3.) We remember science fiction writer OCTAVIA BUTLER. She died February 28th at the age of 58. The cause of death has not been determined. Because she was black and female, she was considered an atypical science fiction writer. She won the Hugo and Nebula Awards, science fiction's two most prestigious awards. In 1995 she became the first science fiction writer to be awarded a MacArthur fellowship. Butler often described her work as "speculative fiction" rather than science fiction. One of her best-known novels 'Kindred' was the story of a modern-day black woman who must travel back to the antebellum South to save the life of a white, slaveholding ancestor and in doing so, save her own. BUTLER wrote twelve novels in all. (REBROADCAST from 12/14/93) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the films that are up for an Academy award under the Best Foreign Language Film category. They are: 'Paradise Now,' 'Sophie Scholl: The Final Days,' 'Don't Tell,' 'Joyeux Noel' and 'Tsotsi.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and songwriter STUART MURDOCH. He's the frontman of the indie pop band from Scotland called Belle & Sebastian. The seven member band includes a guitarist, bassist, keyboardist, violinist, cellist, drummer, and trumpeter. This past January they passed a milestone: ten years in music. They've just completed their seventh band, 'The Life Pursuit.' When they began a decade ago the band released only non-album singles, refused to speak to the press, or to appear in their press photos. Word of mouth earned them a cult following. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Rabbit Fur Coat' the debut solo album by Jenny Lewis - former child actress, and former lead singer of the cult-indie rock band Rilo Kiley. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Intuition' (Dial Press) the new novel by Allegra Goodman.

Interview with Gershom Gorenberg; Review of the television show "Sons and Daughters." March 7, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503289].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist GERSHOM GORENBERG is former associate editor and columnist for the Jerusalem Report. His new book is 'The Accidental Empire: Israel and the Birth of the Settlements, 1967-1977' (Times Books). (2.) TV Critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the new Lorne Michaels sitcom, 'Sons and Daughters,' premiering tonight on ABC.

Interview with Thurber; Interview with Hilma Wolitzer. March 8, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503509].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Political scientist JAMES THURBER. An expert in campaign conduct and lobbying, he's testified before congress about lobby reform and on "Indian Tribes and the Federal Election Campaign Act" in the wake of the Jack Abramoff scandal. He's Director of the Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies at American University, where he also serves as a professor. (2.) Novelist HILMA WOLITZER ('HILL-muh WO-litz-er'). Her new book is called 'The Doctor's Daughter.' It is a novel of domestic angst. The main character is a middle-aged woman who awakens one day with a sense of dread, and begins to analyze her family life, past and present. Wolitzer has won both Guggenheim and NEA Fellowships, and previous books include 'Hearts,' 'Ending' and 'Tunnel of Love.' Her daughter is best selling author Meg Wolitzer.

Interview with James Burrows; Commentary on Ali Farka Toure. March 9, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503931].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Director and producer JAMES BURROWS. He's being honored this week with a Career Tribute at the U.S. Comedy Arts Festival in Aspen. Burrows is a veteran TV director who made his name with classic TV sitcoms including 'The Mary Tyler Moore Show,' 'The Bob Newhart Show,' 'Rhoda,' 'Phyllis,' 'Lou Grant,' and 'Taxi.' He went on to co-create and co-produce 'Cheers,' and he directed most of the show's 270 episodes. He then went on to direct episodes of many other hit sitcoms, including 'Night Court,' 'Frasier,' 'Friends,' 'Dharma and Greg' and 'Will and Grace.' He is currently at work on the upcoming sitcom 'Courting Alex' starring Jenna Elfman. He's won both Emmy and Director's Guild of America awards. His father was Abe Burrows, who wrote the books for many successful musicals including 'Guys and Dolls' and 'How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Critic MILO MILES remembers the guitarist and singer Ali Farka Toure of Mali who died March 7th at the age of 66.

Interview with Sidney Lumet; Review of the film "The hills have eyes;" Interview with Philip Baker Hall; Review of the new season of "Sopranos" and "Big love." March 10, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503661].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film Director SIDNEY LUMET has directed over 40 films, which have received over 50 Academy Award Nominations. His films include, "12 Angry Men," "Network," "Dog Day Afternoon," 'Serpico,' and "The Prince of the City." "Dog Day Afternoon" and "Network" have both been re-released in two-disc special edition DVDs (Warner Home Video). They are also re-packaged in the DVD "Controversial Classics, Vol. 2: The Power of Media." LUMET also has a new film coming out, 'Find Me Guilty' starring Vin Diesel, based on a true story of a mobster who defended himself in court. (REBROADCAST from 8/23/88) (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new film 'The Hills Have Eyes' a remake of the 1977 Wes Craven horror classic. (3.) Actor PHILIP BAKER HALL has appeared in the Paul Thomas Anderson films 'Hard Eight,' 'Boogie Nights,' and 'Magnolia.' He also played a 'Joe Friday' type cop in an episode of 'Seinfeld' on the trail of overdue library books. He's co-starring in the new FOX tv sitcom 'The Loop.' (REBROADCAST from 11/6/03) (4.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews the new season of 'The Sopranos.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Drummer PAUL MOTIAN (like 'motion'). He is celebrating over 50 years in music. This month he turns 75. MOTIAN has played in many different settings, most notably with the Bill Evans trio with bassist Scott LaFaro. Their recordings include the classics 'Sunday at the Village Vanguard' and 'Portrait of Jazz.' MOTIAN also played with Thelonious Monk, Lee Konitz, Paul Bley, and a long collaboration with Keith Jarrett. Lately he plays with three of his own groups: his trio with guitarist Bill Frisell and saxophonist Joe Lovano; Trio 2000 + 1, with the bassist Larry Grenadier and the saxophonist Chris Potter (plus Japanese pianist Masabumi Kikuchi) and the Paul Motian Band which includes three guitarists, two tenor saxophonists, bass and drums. His latest recording 'Garden of Eden' (on the ECM label) features the Paul Motian Band. (2.) Rock Critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Pay the Devil' (Lost Highway, 2006), the new album from Van Morrison.
Interview with David Mamet and Shawn Ryan; Review of Mary Lou Williams Collective's new album 'Zodiac Suite March 14, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503929].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Playwright and filmmaker DAVID MAMET and writer SHAWN RYAN are collaborating on the new CBS drama 'The Unit.' MAMET created the show; he and RYAN are co-executive producers and writers of the show. 'The Unit' is about a secretive special forces group, and their wives back home. RYAN's other credits include creating and writing the critically acclaimed FX drama 'The Shield.' 'The Unit' is broadcast on CBS, Tuesday nights. It premiered March 7th. (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews a new CD from The Mary Lou Williams Collective, a trio created by pianist Geri Allen to play the tunes of Mary Lou Williams. It's called 'Zodiac Suite: Revisited' (Mary, 2006).

Interview with Dr. Louis Cataldie; Interview with Colleen Fiegel and Dr. Cathy Hightower. March 15, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885274].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Louisiana State Medical examiner LOUIS ('LEWIS') CATALDIE ('Cah-TALL-dee'). He was the coroner for the East Baton Rouge Parish in Louisiana from 1998 to 2003. He was also a small-town general practitioner and emergency room doctor in Baton Rouge. When Hurricane Katrina hit he helped in evacuating patients, set up field hospitals, aided the injured, and investigated the deaths. Currently he is working to identify the dead from Katrina. His new book is 'Coroner's Journal: Stalking Death in Louisiana' (Putnam). (2.) New Orleans teachers Colleen Fiegel (FEE-gil) and CATHY HIGHTOWER. In the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina, many schools remained closed and students were displaced. Fiegel teaches biology and Hightower and Hightower teaches AP English at the Benjamin Franklin High School, one of the few operating charter schools in New Orleans. They'll tell us about evacuating, returning, and picking up the pieces of their lives, as well as the lives of their students.
Interview with Aaron Eckhart; Interview with Elizabeth Weil. March 16, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971501427].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor AARON ECKHART. He stars in the new film 'Thank You For Smoking,' about Nick Naylor, the country's top tobacco lobbyist who defends the rights of smokers. The film is a satire based on the book of the same name by Christopher Buckley. Eckhart's other film credits include 'Erin Brockovich,' 'Nurse Betty,' and 'Paycheck.' He's also starred in four of director Neil LaBute's films, including 'In The Company of Men.' (2.) Journalist ELIZABETH WEIL. She's written a cover story for the 3/12/06 edition of the Sunday New York Times Magazine, entitled 'A Wrongful Birth?' It's about Donna Branca, a mother who gave birth to a severely handicapped child and then sued her obstetrician for neglecting to provide information that would allow Branca to abort the fetus prior to birth. Weil explores the huge upturn in prenatal testing technology, and the ethical questions raised by the results of such testing. WEIL's work has appeared in The New York Times Magazine, Vogue, Rolling Stone and on NPR's This American Life.

Interview with David Cronenberg; Commentary on the girl group "Reparata and the Delrons;" Review of the film "V for Vendetta." March 17, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503660].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer and director DAVID CRONENBERG. His latest film, "A History of Violence," is now out on DVD. It's a psychological thriller about a man's potential for violence. Cronenberg has been called the King of Venereal Horror. He directed the films "M. Butterfly," "The Fly," "Dead Ringers," and "Naked Lunch," all of which tell a story of sexually deviant behavior. In the 1996 film "Crash," he continued the theme, combining sex and car wrecks. (Original airdate: 10/3/05) (2.) Rock historian ED WARD remembers the girl group, Reparata and the Delrons. (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews "V for Vendetta."

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer, musician and folklorist, MICK MOLONEY (pronounced 'muh-LONE-ee'). His new album, "McNally's Row of Flats," centers on theatre songs by an Irish songwriting team from the late 1800s. The team consisted of actor and writer Ed Harrigan and musician David Braham, both acclaimed performers of the early Great White Way, when Vaudeville and minstrelsy were giving way to American Musical Theater in New York City. Mick Moloney has recorded and produced over 40 albums of traditional music. He is also the author of "Far From the Shamrock Shore: The Story of Irish American History Through Song.' He currently teaches at New York University in the Irish Studies Program. (2.) Singer and performer JO SULLIVAN LOESSER (pronounced 'lesser'). She starred in the original production of the Frank Loesser Broadway musical, "The Most Happy Fella." She also starred in the long-running New York production of "The Three Penny Opera." She then married composer Frank Loesser, whose other musicals include "Guys and Dolls" and "How To Succeed in Business without Really Trying." After her husband's death, she worked to preserve and promote his work, through shows, performances, and recordings. The New York City Opera is currently staging a revival of "The Most Happy Fella."

Interview with Kevin Phillips; Interview with Peter Dinklage; Review of Danielle Trussoni's book "Falling through the earth." March 21, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503659].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer and commentator KEVIN PHILLIPS. His new book is American Theocracy: The Peril and Politics of Radical Religion, Oil, and Borrowed Money in the 21st Century. Following Phillips' 2004 bestseller, American Dynasty, American Theocracy is a harsh criticism of the Bush administration and the Republican party. Phillips was formerly a prominent Republican himself, predicting the voting trend toward greater conservatism. Phillips was a senior strategist for Richard Nixon's 1968 presidential bid, and Phillips' 1969 book, 'The Emerging Republican Majority,' greatly influenced both the Nixon campaign and administration. Phillips has been a commentator for CBS and NPR, and has published a total of 13 books on politics, economics and history. He is currently registered as an independent. (2.) Actor PETER DINKLAGE. He plays a defense attorney in the new Sidney Lumet-directed film 'Find Me Guilty,' starring Vin Diesel as a member of the Lucchese crime family who represents himself on trial. DINKLAGE, a person of short stature, is perhaps best known for his award winning film The Station Agent. He also played a dwarf actor in the independent film Living in Oblivion, and a children's book author in the blockbuster movie Elf. Upcoming films include Lassie, The Baxter, and The Little Fugitive. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Falling Through the Earth' by Danielle Trussoni.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Scientist TIM FLANNERY. The Australian biologist and paleontologist recently turned his attention to global warming. His new book is called 'The Weather Makers: The History and Future Impact of Climate Change.' His other books include 'The Future Eaters' and 'Throwin Way Leg.' Flannery is currently the director of the South Australian Museum. (2.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews two new documentaries about the dire effects of outside influences on third world countries: In the film 'Our Brand is Crisis,' American campaign consultants arrive to change the fate of the 2002 Bolivian presidential election. Their work eventually backfires. 'Darwin's Nightmare' is about the devastation of Lake Victoria in Tanzania. In the 1950s, the British colonial government released a new species of fish into the lake, but the Nile Perch devoured all the other fish and destroyed the lake's ecosystems. (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Mosaic Select,' a new Sidney Bechet ('ba-SHAY') anthology. Bechet was known for playing soprano saxophone in the early decades of jazz, before John Coltrane popularized the instrument.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor ANDRE BRAUGHER ('AHN-dray BROW-er'). He stars in the new series 'Thief,' which debuts at 10 PM Tuesday (3/28/06) on FX. Braugher plays Nick Atwater, leader of a small gang of thieves. Braugher is best known for his work on the TV series 'Homicide: Life on the Streets,' in which he portrayed Detective Frank Pendleton, for which he won an Emmy. His other TV shows include Hack, Gideon's Crossing, Law and Order and Kojak. His films include Glory, Get on the Bus and Duets. (2.) Washington Post reporter Michael Grunwald. His new book is called 'The Swamp: The Everglades, Florida, and the Politics of Paradise.' The Everglades were once considered a wasteland, worthy of being decimated. But over the years, attitudes have shifted and now the area is considered a national treasure. Grunwald has won several honors for his reporting, including the George Polk Award for National Reporting.

Interview with Noah Baumbach; Interview with Macaulay Culkin; Review of the film "L'Enfant."
March 24, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885246].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker Noah Baumbach. His Oscar nominated feature 'The Squid and the Whale' is now out on DVD. It's an autobiographical portrait of a family torn apart by divorce, starring Jeff Daniels and Laura Linney. The film won two Sundance awards. Baumbach also wrote and directed the independent feature 'Kicking and Screaming.' Baumbach is a contributor to the New Yorker magazine. He co-wrote the film The Life Aquatic with Steve Zissou. (Original airdate: 10/11/05) (2.) Actor MACAULAY CULKIN. He's just written a book called 'junior (or) Oscar De La Mancha, The Wembling Warrior, and the People I like the Least.' He's been acting since he was a child. He first attracted attention as John Candy's inquisitive nephew in the John Hughes film, "Uncle Buck." The film "Home Alone" turned him into a star. He also made the films "Home Alone II," "Jacob's Ladder," and most recently "Party Monster," for which he returned to acting after a six-year hiatus. His latest film is "Saved!" He plays a student in a wheelchair who attends a evangelical Christian high school and whose friends are a group of outsiders. The film has been described as part religious satire, and part teenage rite of passage film. (Original airdate: 6/7/04) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'L'Enfant' (pronounced lahn-FAHNT), a feature film from Belgian filmmaking brothers Jean-Pierre and Luc Dardennes.
Interview with Seymour Cassel; Interview with Fred Pearce; Review of Willie Nelson's "You don't know me March 27, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503921].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor SEYMOUR CASSEL. He has roles in the new TV series 'Heist,' as well as the film 'Lonesome Jim.' Cassel has been acting in film and TV since 1959. He comes from a showbiz family. His mother was in Burlesque and he grew up backstage around chorus girls and sequins. In the 1960s, Cassel worked with director John Cassavetes and received an Oscar nomination for his work in Cassavetes' classic film 'Faces.' Cassel has appeared in dozens of films, including 'The Royal Tennenbaums,' 'Rushmore,' and 'In the Soup.' (2.) FRED PEARCE is an environment and development consultant at New Scientist. And he has been writing about water issues for over twenty years. His new book is 'When the Rivers Run Dry: Water-The Defining Crisis of the Twenty-First Century' (Beacon Press). (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'You Don't Know Me: The Songs of Cindy Walker' the new CD by Willie Nelson. Cindy Walker died last week at the age of 87.

Interview with Angela Nissel; Interview with Fred Barnes. March 28, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503925].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ANGELA NISSEL is a writer and consulting producer for the NBC TV show 'Scrubs.' She is also the author of the memoir, 'Mixed: My Life in Black and White' (Villard paperback). It's about growing up in Philadelphia; her mother was black and from the city, and her father white and from the country. NISSEL is also the author of 'The Broke Diaries' a collection of online dairy entries she wrote when she was in college and broke. [THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW] (2.) FRED BARNES executive editor of conservative magazine The Weekly Standard and author of the new book 'Rebel in Chief: How George W. Bush is Redefining the Conservative Movement and Transforming America' (Crown Forum).
Interview with Beastie Boys; Commentary on guitar players Richard Leo Johnson, Dominic Frasca, and Jonas Hellborg. March 29, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569198].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) THE BEASTIE BOYS: Mike D, MCA, and Ad-Rock. Their real names are Michael Diamond, Adam Yauch, and Adam Horovitz, respectively. They've been making music since the early 80s, and their catalog includes party songs like '(You Gotta) Fight For Your Right (to Party)' and 'Brass Monkey.' But in the 90s, still making hits like 'Sabotage,' the Beasties became politically active, with Yauch organizing the Tibetan Freedom Concert to raise awareness of human rights issues in Tibet. They've been vocal opponents of the War in Iraq as well. For a new concert film, 'Awesome; I Fin' Shot That,' the Beastie Boys put cameras in the hands of their fans. [THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.] (2.) Rock Historian MILO MILES looks at three inventive guitar players: Richard Leo Johnson, Dominic Frasca, and Jonas Hellborg.

Interview with Thomas Friedman; Commentary on Sarah Caldwell. March 30, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503923].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times Columnist THOMAS L. FRIEDMAN. He's written a new book about globalization, entitled 'The World is Flat: A Brief History of the Twenty-first Century' (Farrar, Straus and Giroux, 2006). His previous book on the subject is 'The Lexus and the Olive Tree.' He won a Pulitzer Prize in 2002 for his columns; recent columns have covered the Bush Administration's tax cuts, the situation in Iran, and the Dubai Ports deal. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ considers the legacy of visionary Sarah Caldwell who founded the Opera Company of Boston in 1958. The Company's principal prima donna was Beverly Sills, and Placido Domingo was an unknown young tenor when he first sang with the company. Caldwell died March 23rd at the age of 82. (The VAI label has released Caldwell's productions of Rossini's 'Semiramide,' Bellini's 'The Capulets and the Montagues,' Beethoven's 'Fidelio,' and Berlioz's 'Benvenuto Cellini.')
Interview with Mary Gordon; Interview with Clive Owen; Review of the film "Basic Instinct 2." March 31, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503922].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist MARY GORDON. Her book 'Pearl' (Pantheon) is about a mother struggling to understand her daughter's public act of martyrdom. It's now out in paperback. GORDON is the author of seven novels (including 'Final Payments' and 'The Company of Women'), and four nonfiction works (including 'The Shadow Man.') (REBROADCAST from 1/31/05)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) British actor CLIVE OWEN. He co-stars in the new Spike Lee film 'Inside Man.' His films include, 'Closer,' 'Sin City,' 'I'll Sleep When I'm Dead,' and 'Croupier.' (REBROADCAST from 7/12/04) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Basic Instinct 2'

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Lead singer and songwriter for The Kinks, RAY DAVIES. He started The Kinks in 1964 with his brother, Dave. They are said to be the pioneers of the rowdy garage band genre of rock music. Their many hits included: "You Really Got Me," "Lola," "All Day and All of the Night," and "Tired of Waiting for you." DAVIES is now 61, and has his first solo album, "Other People's Lives.' He's also currently on tour. (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'American Gospel: God, the Founding Fathers, And the Making of a Nation' (Random House) by Jon Meacham. His previous book 'Franklin and Winston was about the friendship between FDR and Churchill.

---

Interview with Ben Karlin; Commentary on Dadaist art. April 4, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503732].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) BEN KARLIN is executive producer of 'The Daily Show with Jon Stewart' and co-executive producer of 'The Colbert Report' both on the cable channel Comedy Central. Before working with 'The Daily Show'
KARLIN was an editor of the satirical weekly newspaper, 'The Onion.' He also collaborated with Jon Stewart on his material for The Academy Awards show. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ went to see the first major American exhibition of Dadaist art at Washington's National Gallery of Art. He tells us about it. (The exhibition will be at the National Gallery of Art through May 14 and reopens at the Museum of Modern Art in NYC on June 11).

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist STEPHEN KINZER for the New York Times has reported from more than fifty countries. He has been the paper's bureau chief in Turkey, Germany, and Nicaragua. His new book is 'Overthrow: America's Century of Regime Change From Hawaii to Iraq' (Times Books). In the book he writes that in the past 110 years, America has overthrown 14 governments that displeased them for 'ideological, political, and economic' reasons. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian ED WARD reviews 'Talking Heads Brick' (Rhino) the box set of music and DVDs of David Byrne's 'Talking Heads' band.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer KEN FOSTER. His new memoir is 'The Dogs Who Found Me: What I've Learned from Pets who were Left Behind' (Lyons Press). He also contributed to and edited the collection: Dog Culture: Writers on the Character of Canines.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews NBC's 'The West Wing' which comes to an end next month after seven years on the air. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews two new albums by R&B vocalists: 'Ghetto Classics' by Jaheim and 'On the Jungle Floor' by Van Hunt.
Obituary for Jackie McLean; Review of the film "Friends with money." April 7, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503734].

Description of show segment(s)

(1). We remember jazz saxophonist JACKIE MCLEAN ('mc-CLEAN'). He died last week at the age of 74. The cause was unknown. The legendary alto sax player began playing saxophone at the age of 15 in native New York City. Schooled in bebop at the start of his career, McLean names Coleman Hawkins, Lester Young and Charlie Parker as influences. He played with jazz greats pianist Bud Powell, Miles Davis and Charles Mingus. He also taught music at the University of Hartford. (REBROADCAST from 3/26/01) (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Friends with Money' the new film by writer/director Nicole Holofcener who wrote and directed 'Lovely & Amazing' and 'Walking and Talking.'

Description of show segment(s)

Interview with Michael Pollan; Interview with Sean Altman and Rob Tannenbaum. April 11, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884985].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist MICHAEL POLLAN (like Pollen). His new book, "The Omnivore's Dilemma: A Natural History of Four Meals" (Penguin, 2006), follows industrial food, organic food, and food that consumers procure or hunt for themselves, from the source to the dinner plate. It also examines the importance of corn in all of our food products. POLLAN is a Professor of Science and Environmental Journalism at University of California at Berkeley. His previous books include "The Botany of Desire" and "A Place of My Own," and he's a frequent contributor to the New York Times Magazine. (2.) SEAN ALTMAN and ROB TANNENBAUM. They make up the comedy RRock group, "What I Like About Jew." The group started out as a joke-y cabaret act that sold out New York venues like the Knitting Factory and Fez. Now they have a new CD called, "Unorthodox." ALTMAN was a founder and former leader of the vocal group Rockappella. He is a member of the Loser's Lounge series in New York and a contributing producer/performer with Kol Zimra and Voices for Isreal. TANNENBAUM is music editor of Blender Magazine. His work appears in many other magazines, including Playboy. He also helped John Leguizamo write his Tony-nominated Broadway comedy, "Sexaholic."

---

Interview with Seymour Hersh; Interview with Mary Harron. April 12, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503489].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist SEYMOUR HERSCH on the latest developments between Iran and the U.S. regarding Iran's nuclear power program. In this week's edition of The New Yorker magazine (dated 4/17/06) he writes that the Bush administration has clandestine plans for a possible major attack on Iran. (2.) Film director MARY HARRON. Her films include "I Shot Andy Warhol," and "American Psycho." She's directed and collaborated on the screenplay of the new film "The Notorious Bettie Page: The Pin-Up Sensation That Shocked the Nation." Bettie Page was considered the "pin-up queen" from 1950 to 1957 from the photographs of her in the men's magazines Wink, Beauty Parade and Titter. She also posed for private clients in photographs and short films featuring her in S&M scenarios. HARRON says of Bettie's photographs, "she's like Betty Crocker coming out with a tray of cookies, and yet she's posing with a whip. She's so wholesome and at the same time she's very sexual." The film opens in theatres April 14th.
Interview with Barry Werth; Commentary on language; Interview with Neil MacFarquhar; Review of two Korean films "Memories of Murder" and "The President's Last Bang." April 13, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503493].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist BARRY WERTH. In his new book '31 Days: The Crisis That Gave Us the Government We Have Today'(Nan A. Talese/Doubleday) he chronicles the days following Richard Nixon's resignation and leading to Gerald Ford's swearing in as President of the United States. Two figures in the tumultuous transition between the two presidents were Donald Rumsfeld (Nixon's ambassador to NATO) and Richard Cheney (Rumsfeld's former deputy). WERTH is also the author of 'Damages' about one family's medical tragedy and the lawsuit that followed, and 'The Scarlet Professor' about a morals scandal at an elite women's college in 1960. WERTH's articles have appeared in 'The New Yorker,' 'The New York Times Magazine,' and 'Outside.' (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the word 'alien' and its different meanings. (3.) Journalist NEIL MacFARQUHAR (Mac-FAR-qua-har) is a veteran Middle East foreign correspondent. He was Cairo bureau chief for the New York Times. Next he will cover Islam in North America for the Times. His new novel "The Sand Cafe?" is set in Saudi Arabia and examines the day-to-day reporting life of foreign correspondents in the Middle East during the Gulf War. (4.) Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS considers two hit films from South Korea now out on DVD. Both are based on true stories. One is the crime drama 'Memories of Murder' and the other is the political thriller 'The President's Last Bang.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We remember REV. WILLIAM SLOANE COFFIN. He was a civil rights activist and an outspoken opponent of the Vietnam War. During the 1960s he was chaplain of Yale University; in the 1970s he was the head of the Riverside Church in Manhattan which was long known for its social agenda. COFFIN died Wednesday at the age of 81. The cause was congestive heart failure. (REBROADCAST FROM OCTOBER 1985). (2.) Jazz pianist and composer DAVE BURRELL. He was an important part of the free jazz scene of the 1960s, recording with Pharoah Sanders, Marion Brown, Archie Shepp and others. He now performs with his Full-Blown Trio, made up of drummer Andrew Cyrille and bassist William Parker. His most recent album with the trio is 'Expansion' (High Two label). It's his first recording for a U.S. label in almost 40 years. (REBROADCAST from 5/9/06) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Notorious Bettie Page.'

Interview with Pete Earley; Interview with Dr. E. Fuller Torrey. April 17, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503491].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist PETE EARLEY, formerly of the Washington Post. His new book 'Crazy: A Father's Search Through America's Mental Health Madness.' It's about his struggle to get his bi-polar son properly diagnosed and treated. In his efforts to help his son, he investigated the mental health system. One of the things he found is that our jails and prisons have become our new state asylums. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) DR. E. FULLER TORREY is a research psychiatrist specializing in schizophrenia and manic-depressive illness. He is the President of the Treatment Advocacy Center and Associate Director for Laboratory Research at the Stanley Medical Research Institute. He is the author of 20 books including 'Surviving Manic-Depressive Illness,' 'Surviving Schizophrenia,' and 'The Invisible Plague: The Rise of Mental Illness from 1750 to the Present.'

Interview with Catherine Keener; Interview with Helen Mirren. April 18, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503492].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress CATHERINE KEENER. She's currently starring in the new film 'Friends with Money.' This is her third collaboration with independent film director Nicole Holofcener. KEENER was nominated this year for an Academy award for her role in 'Capote.' She also recently co-starred in the film '40 Year Old Virgin.' She was also nominated for an Academy Award for her role in 'Being John Malkovich.' Her others films include 'The Real Blonde,' 'Living in Oblivion,' and 'Walking and Talking,' and 'Lovely and Amazing'(both with Holofcener). (2.) British actress HELEN MIRREN. She's best known for her role as Det. Sup. Jane Tennison in the 'Prime Suspect' series. She plays Queen Elizabeth the 1st in a new HBO four-part miniseries, premiering April 22nd. Mirren has preformed with the Royal Shakespeare Company, Interview with Nicholas Wade; Interview with Mike Luckovich. April 19, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503490].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) NICOLAS WADE is science reporter for The New York Times. In his new book he examines what we've learned about our human ancestors using the latest techniques in DNA analysis. His new book is 'Before the Dawn: Recovering the Lost History of Our Ancestors' (Penguin Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Editorial cartoonist MIKE LUCKOVICH ('LUCK-oh-vich') of The Atlanta Journal-Constitution. He was just awarded the 2006 Pulitzer prize for cartooning. (This is his second. He also received the 1995 Pulitzer prize for cartooning). The judges sited him 'for his powerful cartoons on an array of issues, drawn with a simple but piercing style.' One of his cartoons lampoons Pat Robertson, the founder of the Christian Coalition who earlier this year called for the assassination of Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez. The cartoon depicts Robertson wearing a t-shirt which reads 'Who Would Jesus Assassinate?'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Democratic Senator from Massachusetts TED KENNEDY. He's been forty-four years in the Senate. His new book is 'America Back on Track' (Viking Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Poem That Changed America: 'Howl' Fifty Years Later' (edited by Jason Shinder). It's a collection of essays by writers about their first encounters with the famous poem by Allen Ginsberg.
Interview with John Leguizamo; Commentary on Thelonious Monk; Interview with Steve Lacy; Interview with Paul Motian; Interview with Joel Forrester; Interview with Jessica Williams. April 21, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503281].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and comedian JOHN LEGUIZAMO (‘leg-we-ZAH-mo’). He has a recurring role on NBC's 'ER.' He is the voice of Sid in the animated hit, 'Ice Age: The Meltdown.' He can also be seen in the film 'The Groomsmen' which premieres at the Tribeca film festival next week. Leguizamo got his start as a stand up comedian. His two early 90s HBO specials, 'Spic-O-Rama' and 'Mambo Mouth,' were critically acclaimed. He went on to roles in a many films including 'Carlito's Way,' 'Super Mario Brothers,' 'Ice Age,' and George Romero's film 'Land of the Dead.' (REBROADCAST from 7/18/05) (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD has an appreciation of jazz pianist and composer Thelonious Monk. This week Monk received a special posthumous citation from the Pulitzer Prize committee for 'a body of distinguished and innovative musical composition that has had a significant and enduring impact on the evolution of jazz.' (3.) The late soprano saxophonist STEVE LACY. He died in 2004 at the age of 69. LACY was considered the foremost interpreter of Thelonious Monk and in fact trained and performed with Monk when he was in his mid-20's. LACY was also known as the "father of the modern soprano saxophone." (REBROADCAST from 8/28/97) (4.) Drummer PAUL MOTIAN (like 'motion'). This year he is celebrating over 50 years in music. He worked with Monk in 1960. (REBROADCAST from 3/13/06) (5.) Composer and pianist JOEL FORRESTER, the co-founder of the Microscopic Septet (now defunct), composer of the Fresh Air theme. He never worked with Monk but met him late in Monk's life. (REBROADCAST from 10/20/97) (6.) Jazz pianist JESSICA WILLIAMS. She's been recording albums, both solo and with ensembles, since 1978. Her music is often featured between interview segments on the show. You can hear the influence of Monk on her playing. (REBROADCAST from 11/26/97)

Interview with Liz Mermin and Shaima Ali; Interview with Craig Ferguson. Shaima Ali April 24, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885253].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker LIZ MERMIN and beautician SHAIMA (SHAY-ma) ALI. Mermin's new documentary, 'The Beauty Academy of Kabul,' is about a group of American female hairdressers who go to Afghanistan to open a beauty school to teach local women how to cut hair and apply make-up, thus making them financially independent. Ali was one of the teachers. She is an Afghan-American who returned to the country after fleeing over 20 years ago. After she left Afghanistan, she moved to New York with her two daughters, went to beauty school, and opened a salon. The beauty school in Kabul was sponsored by the American fashion magazine, Vogue. Mermin's other films include 'On Hostile Ground,' about 3 US abortion providers, and the TV documentaries, 'American Talent,' and 'Report from Ground Zero.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Comic and Actor CRAIG FERGUSON. He is host of CBS's 'The Late Late Show.' He is known by many as Drew Carey's boss, Mr. Wick, on "The Drew Carey Show." Ferguson has also written the feature films "The Big Tease" and "Saving Grace." In 2003, Ferguson made his directorial debut with "I'll Be There." Now Ferguson has also written his first novel, 'Between the Bridge and the River.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Psychologist and family therapist DR. DAN GOTTLIEB. A columnist for the Philadelphia Inquirer, and host of the public radio program 'Voices in the Family,' Gottlieb has recently written a new book, 'Letters to Sam: A Grandfather's Lessons on Love, Loss, and the Gifts of Life' (Sterling, 2006). It's a collection of letters he wrote to his grandson. Two decades ago, Gottlieb became a quadriplegic in an automobile accident, and his grandson is autistic, and the letters have lessons about what it's like to be different. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) PAUL WEITZ. His new film, 'American Dreamz,' satirizes 'American Idol,' and stars Dennis Quaid as a dimwitted U.S. President who goes on the show in an effort to save his falling approval ratings. WEITZ's other films include 'American Pie' and 'About a Boy.'

Interview with Bart Ehrman; Review of Bruce Springsteen's new album "We shall overcome April 26, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503713].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Religion scholar BART D. EHRMAN (pronounced 'ERR' as in 'BURR'). He chairs the Department of Religious Studies at UNC-Chapel Hill. His new book is 'Peter, Paul, and Mary Magdalene: The Followers of Jesus in History and Legend' (Oxford University Press). He is also the author of 'Misquoting Jesus: The Story Behind Who Changed the Bible and Why' and 'Lost Christianities: The Battle for Scripture and the Faiths We Never Knew' (Oxford 2003) which chronicles the period before Christianity - as we know it - came to be, when conflicting ideas about the religion were fighting for prominence in the second and third centuries. (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews Bruce Springsteen's new album, 'We Shall Overcome: The Seeger Sessions,' and it features Springsteen singing folk songs made famous by Pete Seeger.

Interview with Jack Goldsmith and Tim Wu; Interview with Jeff Goldblum. April 27, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503279].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Legal scholars JACK GOLDSMITH and TIM WU. They've co-written a book called 'Who Controls the Internet? Illusions of a Borderless World.' It's about the internet's challenge to governmental rule. They'll talk about recent controversies including Google in China and the government's role in policing eBay transactions. JACK GOLDSMITH is a professor of Law at Harvard Law School. He was formerly Assistant Attorney General in the Office of Legal Counsel of the Department of Justice, and special counsel to the General Counsel of the Department of Defense. TIM WU is a professor of Law at Columbia Law School. He formerly worked in the Internet telecommunications industry. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Actor JEFF GOLDBLUM. His new film, 'Pittsburgh,' follows Goldblum as he returns to his hometown of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania to star alongside his new girlfriend in a two-week run of The Music Man. Directors Chris Bradley and Kyle LaBrache filmed Goldblum's escape from celebrity, resulting in a genre-bending documentary with appearances by Ed Begley, Jr., Illeana Douglas and Moby. Goldblum, who also produced 'Pittsburgh,' has been acting since the early 1970s. His first major break came in the film 'The Big Chill,' but he also had roles in many classic TV sitcoms like 'Laverne and Shirley' and 'Starsky and Hutch,' and he also had bit parts in the films 'Nashville' and 'Annie Hall.' Other memorable films include roles in 'The Fly,' 'Earth Girls are Easy,' and 'Jurassic Park.' Goldblum continues to appear on TV sitcoms such as 'Will & Grace.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ROBERT SMIGEL (SMY-gull) is a writer and creator of animated comic episodes ? known as 'TV Funhouse' for Saturday Night Live, including episodes of 'X-Presidents' and 'The Ambiguously Gay Duo.' This Saturday (April 29th) Saturday Night Live will be devoted to a 90 minute best of collection of Smigel's 'TV Funhouse.' Smigel wrote for SNL from 1985-1993, and he was the original headwriter and producer of Late Night With Conan O'Brien. He also is the creator and voice of TRIUMPH the Insult Comic Dog who appears on 'Late Night with Conan O'Brien.' TRIUMPH has a CD (no kidding!) 'Come Poop With Me' (REBROADCAST from 8/20/97, 12/19/00 and 11/20/03) (2.) Photographer WILLIAM GOTTLIBE. He died last Sunday at the age of 89. The cause was a stroke. In the 40s, Gottlieb learned photography and took hundreds of shots of the jazz greats of the time. Many of those shots are now well known through album covers, books, and posters. 200 of those photos appear in Gottlieb's book, 'The Golden Age of Jazz' (DeCapo Press). (REBROADCAST from 6/14/90). (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'United 93' about Flight 93, the fourth plane hijacked on September 11th, that crashed into a field in Pennsylvania. Learning that other planes had been flown into the World Trade Center and the Pentagon, passengers fought back for control of the plane. 'United 93' premiered at the Tribeca film festival in NYC this week and opens nationally today.

Interview with Mark Bowden; Review of DVD box sets of "Mister Peepers," "The Merv Griffin show" and "Six feet under." May 1, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502854].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist MARK BOWDEN (BOW-den, as in 'wow.') , author of the bestseller 'Black Hawk Down.' His new book 'Guests of the Ayatollah: The First Battle in America's War with Militant Islam' (Atlantic Monthly Press) examines the Iranian hostage crisis of 1979-80 when student militants took over the U.S. embassy in Tehran and held them for 444 days. This past week marked the 26th anniversary of the failed rescue attempt of the hostages. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews three DVD box sets, from different eras of television: 'Mr. Peepers' which ran on NBC from 1952-1956, starring Wally Cox as a high school science teacher (4 DVDs from S'More Entertainment); interviews from 'The Merv Griffin Show' the talk show which ran from 1965 to 1986 (from Alpha Home Entertainment); and the fifth season package of HBO's 'Six Feet Under' which completed its run last year.

---

Interview with Clark Kent Ervin; Interview with David Tucker; Review of Louis Malle's films. May 2, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884543].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CLARK KENT ERVIN is the former inspector general of the Department of Homeland Security. He was appointed in January of 2003, but after 18 months was not reappointed. ERVIN earned a reputation for being critical of the department while he was there. And he has a new book 'Open Target: Where America is Vulnerable to Attack' (Palgrave Macmillan) (2.) Poet DAVID TUCKER. His new collection of poems is called 'Late For Work.' It's published in conjunction with the Bread Loaf Writer's Conference Bakeless Prize. Tucker is a journalist too?he's assistant managing editor of the Newark Star Ledger, and was part of a team that won the Pulitzer Prize last year for breaking news. (3.) Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS revisits the films of Louis Malle, just out on DVD in a Criterion boxed set.

---

Interview with Bill Carter; Review of Neil young's new album "Living with war;" Interview with Madeleine Albright; Obituary for Louis Rukeyser. May 3, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502853].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) BILL CARTER reports on the television industry for the New York Times. He has written about TV for almost thirty years. His new book is 'Desperate Networks: starring Katie Couric, Les Moonves, Simon Cowell, Dan Rather, Jeff Zucker, Teri Hatcher, Conan O'Brien, Donald Trump and a Host of Other Movers and Shakers Who Changed the Face of Prime-Time TV' (Doubleday). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Living with War' the new CD by Neil Young which includes his song 'Let's Impeach the President.' He posted the entire album on his website last week for free. It's now on sale as a CD. (3.) Former Secretary of State under Bill Clinton, MADELEINE ALBRIGHT. She's just written a new book, 'The Mighty and the Almighty: Reflections on America, God, and World Affairs' (HarperCollins 2006). ALBRIGHT’s previos book is 'Madam Secretary: A Memoir.' (4.) We remember author and TV host LOUIS RUKEYSER. He died yesterday from a rare cancer of the bone marrow. He was 73. RUKEYSER hosted 'Wall Street Week With Louis Rukeyser' on PBS from 1970-2002. We listen back to a 1984 interview with him.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) National Guard Lieutenant PAUL RIECKHOFF (RYE-coff). He is the founder and executive director of the organization, Iraq and Afghanistan Veterans of America (formerly Operation Truth). Their website is www.optruth.org. One of the group's aims is to see that troops in active duty and veterans are properly provided for. He has written a memoir about his tour in Iraq, shortly after the occupation is 'Chasing Ghosts: A Soldier's Fight for America from Baghdad to Washington' (NAL). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Elements of Style' (Knopf) the first and last novel by the late playwright Wendy Wasserstein.

Interview with Maurice Sendak; Interview with Amy Sherman Pallidino; Review of the film "Mission impossible III." May 5, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502484].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Artist, writer and designer MAURICE SENDAK. He and playwright Tony Kushner (best known for 'Angels in America') collaborated on an adaptation of the opera, 'Brundibar' - a children's opera originally performed by children in the Nazi concentration camp Terezin (TER et sin.) It's a parable about evil, written in 1938 by composer Hans Krasa who was killed in the gas chambers. 'Brundibar' is currently being performed at The New Victory Theatre on 42nd Street in New York City (until May 21st). Kushner adapted the libretto and SENDAK designed the sets. There's also a book adaptation of Brundibar. Sendak has also written and illustrated the classic children's books "Where the Wild Things Are," "In The Night Kitchen," and "Inside Over There." (REBROADCAST from 10/30/03) (2.) AMY SHERMAN PALLADINO is the creator and executive producer of 'Gilmore Girls' a popular TV series on the WB network. It's about a single mother and her daughter who are best friends. The mother was a teenager when she got pregnant with her daughter. The show is now in its sixth season (seasons 1-5 are available on DVD). SHERMAN PALLADINO will be leaving the show at the end of this season. (Gilmore Girls is broadcast on Tuesday nights at 8 pm. Next Tuesday is the season finale). (REBROADCAST FROM 5/5/05). (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Mission: Impossible III' starring Tom Cruise and Philip Seymour Hoffman.

Interview with Lorraine Bracco; Interview with the Dixie Chicks. May 6, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885228].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress LORRAINE BRACCO. She's best known for her role as psychiatrist Dr. Jennifer Melfi on HBO's 'The Sopranos.' As such, she has the unenviable job of treating mob boss Tony Soprano. She was nominated for an Academy Award for her performance in Martin Scorsese's 'Goodfellas,' also about the mob. She played the wife of a mobster. BRACCO has written a new memoir, 'On the Couch' (Putnam's).

(2.) The Dixie Chicks: MARTIE MAGUIRE, EMILY ROBISON, and NATALIE MAINES. They are considered the biggest-selling female band in history. The group ? in some incarnation or another ? have been making music since 1989. They've gone from playing bluegrass and country music to becoming a popular music success with hits like 'Wide Open Spaces,' 'Cowboy Take Me Away,' and 'Long Time Gone.' They became the center of controversy in 2003 after Natalie made an off-the cuff remark on stage on the eve of the US invasion of Iraq. She said she was ashamed President Bush was from her home state of Texas. As a result they were boycotted by conservative music fans, and they received death threats. The Dixie Chicks now have their first CD in three years: 'Taking the Long Way' (Columbia/sony). It's produced by Rick Rubin.

Interview with Philip Roth; Commentary on language; Review of Busby Berkeley's '"The Busby Berkeley Collection.' May 8, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502483].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist PHILIP ROTH. The Pulitzer Prize winning author's twenty-seventh and latest book is 'Everyman' (HoughtonMifflin). It's a novel about a 71 year old divorced, successful advertising man and his response to his physical decline and approaching death. The man - who is never given a name - has no religion or philosophy to cling to. Reviewer Gail Caldwell of the Boston Globe writes that the book is 'swift, brutal novel about a heartbreakingly ordinary subject, and it is also testament to Roth that the book leaves you a little breathless and not at all bereft.' Last year ROTH became the third living American writer to have his work published by the Library of Congress. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the futility of trying to come up with a number of how many words there are in the English language. (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews 'The Busby Berkeley Collection' (Warner) a set of six DVDs of films by choreographer Busby Berkeley from the 1930s.

Interview with Charlie Savage; Interview with Romeo Stodart. May 9, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502855].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist CHARLIE SAVAGE of the Boston Globe. His article in the April 30th edition of the paper, 'Bush challenges hundreds of laws: President cites powers of his office' has prompted Republican Senator Arlen Specter to call for June hearings to investigate the matter. Bush has yet to veto a bill from Congress. However, as SAVAGE details in the article, the President has quietly used 'signing statements' - official documents in which the president lays out his legal interpretation of a bill to be followed when implementing a new law. Other Presidents have also used this power, but Bush has used it far more: 750 times. In his signing statements, Bush has asserted the right to ignore numerous sections of bills. These bills have to do with torture, domestic spying, affirmative-action, 'whistle-blower' protections, and immigration problems. Legal scholars say that Bush's assertions 'represent a concerted effort to expand his powers at the expense of Congress, upsetting the balance between the branches of government.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) British guitarist and vocalist ROMEO STODART. He's one quarter of the group 'The Magic Numbers.' The other members are his sister Michele, and Sean and Angela Gannon (also siblings). In sound, they've been compared to early Beach Boys and the Mamas and the Papas. One reviewer writes 'Cheerful as the harmonies are, the lyrics are full of betrayals and breakups.' They released their debut album 'The Magic Numbers' in the U.S. last year, and The New York Times called it 'One of the year's best rock albums.'
Interview with Katrina Firlink; Interview with Douglas Brinkley; Commentary on All for one (AFO) records. May 10, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502851].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Neurosurgeon KATRINA FIRLIK. Her new book is 'Another Day in the Frontal Lobe: A brain surgeon exposes life on the inside' (Random House). She is now a private practitioner in Greenwich, Connecticut, and a clinical assistant professor at Yale University School of Medicine. She is also the daughter of a surgeon. (2.) Historian DOUGLAS BRINKLEY. His new book about Hurricane Katrina and its aftermath is 'The Great Deluge: Hurricane Katrina, New Orleans, and the Mississippi Gulf Coast.' (William Morrow). BRINKLEY was one of the residents of New Orleans displaced in the hurricane. He left the city just after the hurricane hit but returned to help with rescue efforts and began documenting the catastrophe, collecting oral histories immediately. BRINKLEY teaches at Tulane University. (3.) Rock historian ED WARD tells the story of AFO Records: All For One in New Orleans which came into being in 1960 by a disgruntled black musician tired of not making any money in the business.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist MICHELLE GOLDBERG is a senior writer for the online magazine Salon, and covers the Christian Right. Her new book is 'Kingdom Coming: The Rise of Christian Nationalism' (W.W. Norton). She writes that Christian nationalists believe that the Bible is the absolutely and literally true and they want to see the nation governed by that truth. She writes, 'the ultimate goal of Christian nationalist leaders isn't fairness. It's dominion.' And she writes that the Christian nationalist movement doesn't represent a majority of Americans, but a 'significant and highly mobilized minority.' And they dominate the Republican party. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews the new album 'St. Elsewhere' by Gnarls Barkley, a persona of two Americans: producer and DJ Brian 'Danger Mouse' Burton and rapper and songwriter Thomas 'Cee-loc' Calloway.
Review of the television show "The West Wing;" Interview with Brad Whitford; Interview with Alan Alda; Interview with John Spencer; Review of the film "Down in the valley." May 12, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884544].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) NBC's 'The West Wing' wraps up seven years on the air on Sunday night with a final episode. TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI has a retrospective of the series and we feature some of the actors from the series: (2.) Actor BRADLEY WHITFORD. He played Josh Lyman, the Deputy Whitehouse Chief of Staff on the NBC drama "The West Wing." In more recent episodes he played campaign manager for Congressman Matt Santos' bid for the presidency. (Santos was played by Jimmy Smits). WHITFORD began his acting career on the stage. He has also appeared in many films including 'Scent of a Woman,' 'Philadelphia,' 'A Perfect World,' 'Revenge of the Nerds II,' and 'Billy Madison.' (REBROADCAST from 5/16/01) (3.) Actor ALAN ALDA. Recently, ALDA has played Senator Arnold Vinick, the Republican candidate for President, running against the character played by Jimmy Smits. ALDA is best known for his role on the TV series M*A*S*H, but he's amassed a number of varied roles on stage and screen throughout his career. His film appearances include 'The Aviator,' 'What Women Want,' and 'Crimes and Misdemeanors.' He's just written an autobiography, called 'Never Have Your Dog Stuffed' (Interview was with Dave Davies, REBROADCAST from 9/21/05) (4.) The late actor JOHN SPENCER. He was best known for his character Leo McGarry, the President's Chief of Staff, on 'The West Wing.' Spencer's and McGarry's lives ran parallel. Both were recovering alcoholics and both had driven personalities. McGarry suffered a heart attack on the show, and Spencer died of a heart attack. Spencer was previously a regular on "L.A. Law" and began his career on "The Patty Duke Show." He died on December 16, 2005 at age 58. (REBROADCAST from: 4/5/00) (5.) Film director DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Down in the Valley' the new film by writer/director David Jacobsen, starring Edward Norton, David Morse, and Bruce Dern.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian and archaeologist NEIL ASHER SILBERMAN. His new book, 'David and Solomon: In Search of the Bible's Sacred Kings and the Roots of the Western Tradition' (co-written with Israel Finkelstein) combines close analysis of Biblical text with painstaking archeological research to test the historical accuracy of some of the bible's oldest stories. He and co-author Israel Finkelstein conclude the Israelites' exodus from Egypt probably never happened, and it is doubtful Solomon ever built a temple in Jerusalem. SILBERMAN is director of historical interpretation for the Ename Center for Public Archaeology and Heritage Presentation in Belgium. He is a contributing editor to Archaeology magazine and the author of The Hidden Scrolls: Christianity, Judaism, and the War for the Dead Sea Scrolls; The Message and the Kingdom; and Digging for God and Country, among other books. (2.) Reporter SANDY TOLAN. His new book is The Lemon Tree: An Arab, A Jew and The Heart of The Middle East. The account grew out of a 1998 NPR documentary. Tolan reported on a friendship between a Palestinian man and an Israeli woman that served as an example of the region's fragile history. The Lemon Tree is both a report of the relationship as well as the 58-year history of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. Tolan is the co-founder of Homelands Productions, and has made dozens of documentaries for NPR and PRI. He is also the author of the book Me & Hank: A Boy and His Hero, Twenty-Five Years Later, and he's written for more than 40 newspapers and magazines. He currently directs the UC-Berkeley Graduate School of Journalism's Project on International Reporting.

Interview with Rebecca Clarren; Interview with Ann Fessler. May 16, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885221].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MS. Magazine reporter REBECCA CLARREN and executive editor KATHERINE SPILLAR. In the latest issue of Ms., Clarren writes about the sweatshops of the Northern Mariana Islands in her cover article 'Paradise Lost.' While the Marianas are a U-S territory, they are exempt from the usual U-S laws regulating minimum wage, tariffs, quotas and immigration. Yet clothing sewn in the sweatshops bears the 'made in the USA' label. To further complicate matters, the Marianas were a client of Jack Abramoff, who, with the help of Tom Delay, blocked legislation that would have eliminated these exemptions. Clarren is a freelance writer based in Prtland, Oregon. Spillar is also the Executive Vice President of the Feminist Majority Foundation, which publishes Ms. Magazine. (2.) Author ANN FESSLER. Her new book is 'The Girls Who Went Away: The Hidden History of Women Who surrendered Children for Adoption in the Decades before Roe V. Wade.' Using her own story of adoption as a basis for her book, Fessler tells the story of over a million women who surrendered children for adoption prior to legalized abortion. FESSLER is a photography professor at Rhode Island School of Design.
Interview with Daniel Okrent; Interview with Billy Collins. May 17, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503616].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist DANIEL OKRENT. From 2003 to 2005, he served as the first Public Editor, or ombudsman, for The New York Times. His new book, 'Public Editor #1: The Collected Columns (with Reflections, Reconsiderations, and Even a Few Retractions) of the First Ombudsman of The New York Times,' chronicles his tenure and provides a behind the scenes look at America's most respected newspaper. OKRENT has spent over 25 years in the print media business, with writing and editing jobs at Esquire, Time and Life magazines. OKRENT is also known as the founder of Rotisserie Baseball, the forerunner of popular fantasy sports games. (2.) Former U.S. Poet Laureate BILLY COLLINS. In the first part of a two-part interview, Collins guides us through the new spoken word 4 CD box set 'Poetry on Record: 98 Poets Read Their Work, 1998-2006.' Today's segment features works by William Butler Yeats, William Carlos Williams, Robert Hayden and Muriel Rukeyser. Collins was U.S. Poet Laureate from 2001 to 2003, and currently serves as the Poet Laureate of New York State. His most recent book is 'The Trouble with Poetry and Other Poems.'

Interview with Nicholas Kristof and John Prendergast; Commentary on language. May 18, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503909].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist NICHOLAS KRISTOF and Sudan expert JOHN PRENDERGAST. They talk about the continuing crisis in the Sudanese region of Darfur in Africa. KRISTOF just won the 2006 Pulitzer Prize for his commentary on Darfur in the New York Times. PRENDERGAST is Special Adviser to the President of the International Crisis Group. He has twenty years of experience resolving conflict in Africa, and shaping U.S. foreign policy toward the region. Prendergast has traveled with celebrities Angelina Jolie and Don Cheadle, with whom he is now co-authoring a book about Darfur. (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG comments on the recent controversy surrounding the Spanish-language version of 'The Star-Spangled Banner.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Civil rights lawyer JOSEPH MARGULIES. His new book is 'Guantanamo and the Abuse of Presidential Power.' Margulies has represented several prisoners held at Guantanamo Bay Detention Center, and he believes that current US policy is a legal and ethical disaster. He says that while few new prisoners are arriving at Guantanamo, the prison population at Bagram prison in Afghanistan is growing rapidly. Margulies is a trial attorney and lecturer at the University of Chicago Law School. (2.) Attorney RICHARD SAMP. He is the chief counsel for the Washington Legal Foundation, an organization dedicated to 'fighting freedom and justice in the courts and policymaking arena.' The WLF has been urging the U.S. Court of Appeals to dismiss challenges to detentions at Guantanamo. He has said, 'Throughout our history, the courts have never allowed nonresident aliens to invoke the Constitution as a basis for challenging their detention by American authorities.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Songwriter and poet LEONARD COHEN. His new volume of poetry is called 'Book of Longing.' He's also working on an upcoming album to be released later this year. Cohen's poetry career began 50 years ago with the 1956 publication of 'Let Us Compare Mythologies.' Cohen is also known for his deep voice and slow phrasing of songs that straddle the folk-rock fence. He's made 17 albums. The latest is 'Dear Heather' (2004). He also appeared in the 2005 feature length documentary, 'Leonard Cohen: I'm Your Man.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE SHOW.)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JULIET EILPERIN. ('AYAL-prin') Her new book is called 'Fight Club Politics: How Partisanship is Poisoning the U.S. House of Representatives.' Eilperin is the former Congressional correspondent for the Washington Post. She explores how extreme partisanship is tearing apart Congress. She writes that warlike tactics, manipulation and strategic takeovers have replaced compromise in the House. Currently, Eilperin is a National News Reporter for the Post. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Fox Confessor Brings The Flood' the latest solo CD by Neko Case. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Theft: A Love Story' (Knopf) by Australian writer and twice winner of the Booker Prize Peter Carey.

Interview with Michael Farris; Review of the film "The passenger." May 24, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503899].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MICHAEL FARRIS is the cofounder of Home School Legal Defense Association and the president of Patrick Henry College, the first university in America for Christian home-schooled children, located in Purcellville, Virginia. Its mission is to educate students to be leaders. Some of those students go on to be interns to members of Congress (22 conservative members of congress have employed them); in 2004 seven percent of the interns at the Whitehouse came from Patrick Henry. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS reviews 'The Passenger' ? the 1975 avant-garde movie starring Jack Nicholson, by the Italian art film director Michelangelo Antonioni. It's now out on DVD.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Country music singer and songwriter WILLIE NELSON. He's written a new book, 'The Tao of Willie: A Guide to the Happiness in Your Heart' (written w/Turk Pipkin pub. by Gotham Books). Nelson has been performing for over 50 years. He's recorded 250 albums and appeared in 25 films. He's also the author of a number of books, including the best sellers 'Willie' and 'The Facts of Life and Other Dirty Jokes.' (2.) Rock historian ED WARD profiles Doug Sahm, a Texas musician from the 1960s who spent some time in California with his band the Sir Douglas Quintet.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film makers JON ALPERT and MATTHEW O'NEILL. On Memorial Day, we talk about their new documentary 'Baghdad ER.' The film looks inside the 86th combat support hospital, the army's premier medical facility in Iraq. Shot over two months in 2005, the film tells the stories of the hospital's doctors and wounded soldiers. The film debuted on HBO last week and will be rebroadcast on Memorial Day. Alpert also directed the HBO documentary 'One Year in a Life of Crime' and is an 12-time Emmy Winner. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Photographer DAVID DOUGLAS DUNCAN. "Life" magazine has called him perhaps the best war photographer since Matthew Brady. In 1999, he received the lifetime achievement award for excellence and bravery from the Marine Corps. His pictures were featured in the book, "This Is War!" which portrays the Korean conflict in words and pictures. (REBROADCAST from 7/2/90).
Interview with Al Gore; Commentary on Jamaican singer Desmond Dekker. May 30, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503908].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Vice President and presidential candidate AL GORE. For 17 years he's been on the forefront of warning against global warming. But in his new documentary 'The Inconvenient Truth' he says that he 'failed to get the message out.' He's now getting the message out with his documentary and new book of the same name (published by Rodale Press). The Washington Post calls the book 'downright chilling.' The documentary has been critically acclaimed. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian ED WARD remembers Jamaican singer Desmond Dekker who died last week at the age of 64. His 1969 hit 'Israelites' was for many Americans the first reggae they'd ever heard.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor JOSEPH GANNASCOLI. Up until recently he's played mob captain Vito Spatafore on 'The Sopranos' ? that is until he got wacked. Before that, his character was 'outed' having been spotted dancing in leather chaps at a gay bar. GANNASCOLI has also written a new crime novel, 'A Meal to Die For' (Tom Doherty pub., with Allen Kupfer) about a mobster and gourmet chef who has been summoned to prepare a feast for the boss who is about to be sent to jail. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS has just returned from The Cannes film festival. The top prize winner at Cannes was 'The Wind That Shakes the Barley' a film about the Irish rebellion against British rule and the country's subsequent civil war by director Ken Loach.
Interview with Hanx Blix; Interview with Zack Bazzi and Stephen Pink; Commentary on language.
June 1, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885227].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) HANS BLIX is the former director of the UN Inspection Commission. He is now chairman of the independent Commission on Weapons of Mass Destruction, the goal of this organization is to reduce the threat of WMD. BLIX addresses the UN today to give them a report on WMD. It's called 'Tackling the WMD Challenge.' (2.) Sergeants ZACK BAZZI ('Bah-ze') and STEPHEN PINK with the New Hampshire National Guard. They were two of three soldiers on the frontlines in Iraq who were given cameras to record their experiences. They were part of Charlie Company, 3rd of the 172nd Infantry Regiment and were based in the Sunni Triangle. They filmed their entire year's deployment. The footage makes up the new documentary 'The War Tapes' which was directed by Deborah Scranton. The film opens in New York and L.A. this weekend. (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the Senate's effort to proclaim English the national language. It's part of the Senate's immigration bill.

Interview with Sarah Silverman; Interview with Tiny Tim; Review of the film 'The war tapes.'

Description of show segment(s)

(2.) Comedian and actress SARAH SILVERMAN. Her concert film 'Jesus is Magic' is about to come out on DVD. It's the screen version of her one-woman off-Broadway stage show, with scenes performed before a live audience interwoven with musical numbers and backstage shots. Silverman's act is irreverent, with jokes about September 11th, AIDS and the Holocaust. Silverman has also appeared in a number of films including 'The Aristocrats,' 'School of Rock' and 'There's Something About Mary.' She was a cast member of Saturday Night Live for the 1993-4 season. She's in the film 'Rent.' A pilot for her own show on Comedy Central is in the works. (REBROADCAST from 11/9/05) (2.) We listen back to an interview with the eccentric singer and performer TINY TIM. Born Herbert B. Khaury, TIM began performing in the 1950s. He is best known for his performances on Laugh-In, especially his croonings of "Tip Toe Through the Tulips." TIM died in 1996. There's a new box set of his recordings 'God Bless Tiny Tim' (Rhino) (REBROADCAST from 6/16/96) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new documentary 'The War Tapes.'
Interview with CCH Pounder; Review of the current works of Michael Braam. June 5, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503620].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress C.C.H. POUNDER. She's best known for her portrayal of Detective Claudette Wyms on the FX TV show 'The Shield.' Recently her character got a much deserved promotion as Captain. POUNDER was raised in Guyana, and schooled in Britain. Her film credits include' Bagdad Cafe?,' 'Postcards from the Edge,' 'Benny & Joon,' and 'Face/off.' She's also had numerous TV appearances on 'L.A. Law,' 'ER,' and 'Law & Order.' POUNDER is a member of the group 'Artists for a New South Africa' which is involved in AIDS outreach and education. 'The Shield' is one of this year's recipients of the prestigious Peabody Award (the awards ceremony is June 5th) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews two new trio CDs by the Dutch pianist Michiel Braam (MICK-eel Brahm). They are: 'Change This Song' and 'Hosting Changes' on the BBB label.

Interview with John Peterson; Interview with Billy Collins. June 7, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885226].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JOHN PETERSON is the Illinois farmer who is the subject of the documentary 'The Real Dirt on Farmer John' by filmmaker Taggart Siegel. PETERSON grew up on the farm, took it over after his father's death, and lost most of it in the 1980s when the bank foreclosed on his loans. Later during the 90s, PETERSON remakes his place into a community supported agriculture farm, producing organic food. The documentary includes family home movies, and photographs from John's life and the life of the farm. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Former U.S. Poet Laureate BILLY COLLINS. In this second of our two-part interview, Collins guides us through the new spoken word 4 CD box set 'Poetry on Record: 98 Poets Read Their Work, 1998-2006.' Today's segment features works by Robert Frost, Galway Kinnell, and Billy's own poems. COLLINS was U.S. Poet Laureate from 2001 to 2003, and currently serves as the Poet Laureate of New York State. His most recent book is 'The Trouble with Poetry and Other Poems.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Musician, composer and singer HARRY CONNICK, JR. He recently received a Tony Award nomination as best actor in a musical for his Broadway debut in the revival of 'The Pajama Game.' The show received nine nominations over all. The Tony award ceremony is Sunday night. CONNICK has also released the double CD of 'The Pajama Game' cast album and songs from the 2000 musical he wrote, 'Thou Shalt Not.' (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews two new albums: 'Death by Sexy' by Eagles of Death Metal, and 'Curses' by Rye Coalition. (3.) Animator JOHN LASSETER, Chief Creative Executive of Pixar, Inc. His new feature film is 'Cars.' LASSETER is one of the founding members of the computer animated filmmaking company (which was just bought by the Disney Company). He served as director and animator of the feature films 'Toy Story,' 'Toy Story 2' and 'A Bug's Life.' 'Toy Story' was the first computer-animated feature film. LASSETER also directed a number of shorts for Pixar, including 'Tin Toy,' 'Red's Dream' and 'Luxo, Jr.' 'Tin Toy' won an Oscar in 1988 for Best Animated Short Film. (4.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Terrorist' (Knopf) the new novel by John Updike.

Interview with Neil Young and Jonathan Demme; Review of the film "A prairie home companion;" Review of the television show "Deadwood." June 9, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503623].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and songwriter NEIL YOUNG and film director JONATHAN DEMME. Their documentary 'Heart of Gold' comes out on DVD June 13th. It follows YOUNG in the first public performances of his work from the CD 'Prairie Wind,' which is the third album of his 'Harvest' trilogy. YOUNG made the album after suffering and recovering from a brain aneurysm. Over the years, YOUNG has made excursions into country, blues, electro, rockabilly, and soul. Early in his career, he formed the Buffalo Springfield with Stephen Stills. He was then part of Crosby Stills Nash and Young, which eventually morphed into Crosby, Stills and Nash when YOUNG embarked on a solo career. This summer, Crosby Stills Nash and Young are reuniting for a North American concert tour (check HYPERLINK "http://www.csny.net" www.csny.net for dates). DEMME's other films include 'The Silence of the Lambs,' 'Philadelphia,' and 'The Manchurian Candidate' (the remake), also the concert film 'Stop Making Sense.' (REBROADCAST from 2/9/06) (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'A Prairie Home Companion,' Robert Altman's film adaptation of Garrison Keillor's long-running public radio show. (3.) TV critic (and today's guest host) DAVID BIANCULLI previews the third season premiere of the HBO series 'Deadwood.' The show returns to the air this Sunday, June 11 2006 at 9:00 PM ET.

Interview with Sharon Weinberger; Review of Eric Alexander's latest CD "It's all in the game." June 12, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503831].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist SHARON WEINBERGER. Her new book is 'Imaginary Weapons: A Journey Through the Pentagon's Scientific Underworld.' Weinberger looks at some of the harebrained schemes and fringe science projects underway at the Department of Defense. Weinberger's articles have appeared in the Washington Post, Slate, and Aviation Week & Space Technology. She's editor in chief of Defense Technology International. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'It's All in the Game' (High Note label) by tenor saxophonist Eric Alexander.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MARY CHENEY is the daughter of Vice President Dick Cheney, and was a top campaign aide to him during the presidential campaigns. She is also a lesbian, and she came close to leaving the 2004 campaign because of President Bush's support of a constitutional amendment banning gay marriage. She has a new memoir, 'Now It's My Turn' (Threshold Editions). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Writer MARY KARR is the author of two bestselling memoirs, 'The Liars' Club,' and 'Cherry.' In 2005 she was a Guggenheim Fellow in poetry and has won Pushcart prizes for both her poetry and essays. Her new book of poems is 'Sinners Welcome' (HarperCollins). KARR is the Peck Professor of English Literature at Syracuse University.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ANDREW REVKIN is an environment reporter for The New York Times. He's been covering climate change and climate politics for twenty years. His coverage of climate change won the inaugural National Academies communication Award for print journalism, presented by the National Academy of Sciences. His new book 'The North Pole was Here: Puzzles and Perils at the Top of the World' (New York Times) is geared toward young adults and is about the scientists on the Pole who are monitoring the ice cap, and the expeditions earlier to the Pole, some successful, some not. REVKIN has been to the North Pole three times. (2.) Environmentalist WILLIAM POWERS. His new book is 'Whispering in the Giant's Ear: A Frontline Chronicle From Bolivia's War on Globalization.' Powers is also the author of 'Blue Clay People,' about Liberia. He's worked for over a decade in development aid in Latin America, Africa and Washington DC.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comic and actor LOUIS C.K. ('see-kay'). He created and stars in the new HBO comedy series 'Lucky Louie.' It airs Sunday nights at 10:30 PM ET on HBO, following 'Entourage.' His birth name is Louis Szekely (pronounced 'see-kee'). Louis has been a writer for David Letterman, Conan O'Brien, Chris Rock and Saturday Night Live. He also wrote, produced and directed the film 'Pootie Tang.' He's descended from Jewish Hungarians and Catholic Mexicans. (2.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews the critically acclaimed 'Stuart: A Life Backwards,' by Alexander Masters. It's a British biography of a homeless man as told by his social worker.
Interview with Meg Wolitzer; Obituary for James Cameron; Review of two films ?Nacho Libre,? and ?The lake house.? June 16, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503622].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist MEG WOLITZER ('WAHL-it-zer'). Her novel 'The Position' is now out in paperback. It's about a 1970s era couple who write a Joy of Sex style book complete with illustrations of them making love; then their teenage children get a hold of it. Our book critic describes it as a 'smart, wry novel... that turns out to be a poignant elegy to the fleeting health and pleasures of the body, as well as to the fleeting emotional and physical togetherness of the family.'She's also the author of the novel 'The Wife' which was A New York Times Notable Book. (Original airdate: 5/10/05) (2.) Author and museum director JAMES CAMERON. He died last Sunday at the age of 92. In 1930, an organized mob of more than 10,000 white men and women dragged CAMERON and two other black teenage men from a jail cell in Marion, Indiana. The mob mercilessly beat the three young men. They lynched two. CAMERON was spared. In 1984, he recounted this experience in his memoir "A Time of Terror" In 1988, CAMERON founded the Black Holocaust Museum in Milwaukee. The Museum houses photographs, books, articles and artifacts documenting the atrocities endured by blacks in this country. CAMERON modeled the Museum after the Jewish Holocaust museum in Israel. (Original airdate: 3/8/94) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews two films: 'The Lake House,' starring Keanu Reeves and Sandra Bullock, and 'Nacho Libre,' starring Jack Black.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer REYNOLDS PRICE. His new book is 'Letter to a Godchild (Concerning Faith). ' Price has penned a total of 37 volumes of fiction, poetry, plays, essays and translations. His 1962 book 'A Long and Happy Life' won the William Faulkner Award for a best first novel. Price has taught at Duke University, since 1958, and has won numerous awards and honors for his work. (2.) Rock band THE FIERY FURNACES. The brother sister team of Eleanor and Matthew Friedberger have a new album called 'Bitter Tea,' and the Friedbergers describe it as 'sissy psychedelic Satanism.' Their other albums include 'Blueberry Boat' and 'Rehearsing My Choir,' made with the participation of the Friedbergers' 82-year-old grandmother.

---

Interview with Ron Suskind; Interview with James Hand. June 20, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503830].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author RON SUSKIND. His new book, 'The One Percent Doctrine,' is an investigation into the guarded world of anti-terrorism policy. He also reveals that Al-Qaeda was planning an attack on the New York City subway system. From 1993 to 2000, SUSKIND was the National Affairs writer for the Wall Street Journal. He was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in 1995 for Feature Writing. His 2004 book 'The Price of Loyalty' was an investigation into the early years of the Bush Administration. (2.) Texas singer JAMES HAND. At age 53, Hand has just released his debut album, 'The Truth Will Set You Free,' on Rounder Records. Hand has been singing and playing for nearly four decades, but he's mostly performed in small town dives. Hand is also a horse trainer when he's not singing. His sound has been compared to Hank Williams and Lefty Frizzell.

---

Interview with C. William Schwab and Therese Richmond; Interview with Amy Sedaris; Review of Alan Furst's spy novel, "The Foreign Correspondent." June 21, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503624].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Trauma care professionals C. WILLIAM SCHWAB MD and THERESE RICHMOND PhD, CRNP. They work at the University of Pennsylvania Medical Center in Philadelphia. After years of treating patients in the emergency room, SCHWAB and RICHMOND are taking a proactive approach. They've co-founded the Firearm Injury Center at PENN in an effort to systematically reduce the epidemic of gunshot wounds in the United States. SCHWAB is Chief of Penn's Division of Traumatology and surgical critical care. RICHMOND is an associate professor of trauma and critical care nursing at the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing and serves as Research Director of the Firearm and Injury Center at Penn. (2.) Comic actress AMY SEDARIS. She stars in the big screen version of her Comedy Central series 'Strangers With Candy.' The film version is a prequel to the series. It tells the story of Jerri Blank, a 47-year-old ex-con junkie whore who returns home after 32 years as a runaway. Blank enrolls in high school and decides that the State Science Fair will be the ticket to resurrecting her comatose father. The screenplay is co-written by Amy, Stephen Colbert and Paul Dinello, who met in the late 1980s as members of the Second City improvisational theater troupe. Amy's other films include 'Chicken Little,' 'Maid in Manhattan,' 'Bewitched' and 'School of Rock.' She's also appeared on many TV shows including 'Sex and the City' and 'Late Night with David Letterman.' Amy is the sister of writer DAVID SEDARIS. Critic at Large JOHN POWERS reviews 'The Foreign Correspondent,' a spy novel by Robert Furst.

Interview with Kris Kristofferson; Interview with Christopher Frayling; Review of television shows "Broken Trail" and "Bill Moyers June 23, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971501815].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer, songwriter and actor KRIS KRISTOFFERSON. He's probably best known for his hit 'Me & Bobby McGee.' He turned 70 on June 22, 2006. He's just received the Johnny Mercer Award from the Songwriters Hall of Fame. This spring, he released the album 'This Old Road,' and there's an upcoming tribute album called 'The Pilgrim: A Celebration of Kris Kristofferson.' He's in the upcoming movies 'Fast Food Nation' and 'Disappearances.' His other notable film roles include parts in 'Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore,' 'Convoy,' 'A Star is Born,' and the 'Blade' films. Kristofferson turned down a Rhodes scholarship to take a janitorial job at Columbia records, where he was able to attract attention for his songwriting skills. (Original airdate: 9/7/99) (2.) Cultural historian CHRISTOPHER FRAYLING. His newest book is 'Spaghetti Westerns: Cowboys and Europeans from Karl May to Sergio Leone.' He also wrote last year's 'Once Upon A Time in Italy: The Westerns of Sergio Leone.' It's a large format, beautifully illustrated book that chronicles the history of the spaghetti western through researched text and interviews with Clint Eastwood, Martin Scorsese and Eli Wallach. Frayling is Rector at London's Royal College of Art and a Professor of Cultural History. He's the Chair of the Arts Council of England. He's known for his broadcast work on the BBC, and has written over a dozen books on arts and culture. (Original airdate: 8/1/05) (3.) TV Critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews two new TV shows. 'Broken Trail' premieres on the AMC cable channel this Sunday and Monday night at 8PM ET. It stars Robert Duvall and Thomas Haden Church. 'Bill Moyers: On Faith and Reason' debuts tonight on PBS.
Interview with Brian Cox; Interview with Paul Epstein; Review of Jolie Holland's "Springtime can kill you." June 26, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885282].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor BRIAN COX. The Emmy award winner will be appearing on the HBO series 'Deadwood.' He's been in over a hundred films and TV shows over the past 40 years. His films include 'Match Point,' 'The Bourne Identity' and 'The Bourne Supremacy' and 'Rushmore.' He was a regular guest on 'Frasier,' and he won his Emmy for his role as Reichsmarschall Hermann Wilhelm Goring on the TNT channel's original movie 'Nuremberg.' (2.) DOCTOR PAUL EPSTEIN. He's a physician in Boston and the Associate Director of the Center for Health and the Global environment at Harvard Medical School. He's created a niche as an eco-physician, exploring the link between increased illness and global warming. While illnesses like heatstroke, asthma and allergies are the more obvious outcomes of a warmer and more polluted planet, Epstein says an increase in infectious diseases like malaria and West Nile Virus may also be linked to the greenhouse effect. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Springtime Can Kill You,' the new CD from singer songwriter Jolie Holland.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Poet and musician DAVE ALVIN. His new CD 'West of the West' (Yep Records) is a tribute to California songwriters, and features ALVIN performing songs by Jackson Browne, Jerry Garcia, David Hidalgo, Tom Waits, Brian Wilson, Merle Haggard, and others. Alvin was born and raised in California. The Grammy award winner is best known for his songwriting and guitar playing for the Blasters and the influential punk band X, as well as his solo career. He is also a member of the band The Knitters. (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews Suite Francaise by Irene Nemirovsky and Triangle by Katharine Weber. (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a batch of vintage film musicals just released on DVD, including 'Till the Clouds Roll By,' 'Summer Stock,' 'Down Argentine Way,' and 'It's Always Fair Weather.'
Interview with Frank Griswold; Review of the film "Superman returns." June 28, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885284].

Description of show segment(s)

(2.) The Most Reverend FRANK TRACY GRISWOLD III. He is the 25th Presiding Bishop and Primate of the Episcopal Church in the United States of America. He's ending his nine-year term later this year, and his replacement -- a woman -- has just been named. Additionally, the Episcopal Church has been divided in recent years over the ordination of gay bishops. The incoming bishop, Katharine Jefferts Schori, is known as a feminist, pro-gay liberal, and her appointment threatens to tear apart the church. Griswold tells us about his tenure and discusses recent controversies in his church. (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Superman Returns.'

Interview with Robert Sullivan; Interview with Bill Minutaglio; Commentary on the outrageous rhetoric of political talk shows. June 29, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503685].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer ROBERT SULLIVAN. His new book is called 'Cross Country: Fifteen Years and 90,000 Miles on the Roads and Interstates of America with Lewis and Clark, a lot of bad motels, a moving van, Emily Post, Jack Kerouac, my wife, my mother-in-law, two kids, and enough coffee to kill an elephant.' It's a chronicle of his family's cross country trips from Oregon to New York. He's joined by his two children Louise and Sam, who sing for us. Sullivan is also the author of the books The Meadowlands and A Whale Hunt. He is a frequent contributor to publications including Conde Nast Traveler and The New York Times Magazine. (2.) Journalist BILL MINUTAGLIO. His new book documents the career of U-S Attorney General Alberto Gonzales. It's called 'The President's Counselor: The Rise to Power of Alberto Gonzales.' Minutaglio writes for many publications including the New York Times, Outside and Details. His other books include 'First Son: George W. bush and the Bush Family Dynasty' and 'City on Fire.' (3.) Linguist Geoff Nunberg comments on the outrageous nature of political talk shows. He uses Ann Coulter's remarks describing 9/11 widows as 'witches' to illustrate his point.
Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor PAUL REUBENS. His classic TV series 'Pee-Wee's Playhouse' will be broadcast as part of the Cartoon Network's Adult Swim programming block starting July 10th at 11PM. The series, which includes 45 episodes, aired from 1986 to 1990. In 1991, Reubens was arrested at a Florida movie theater and charged with indecent exposure. Reubens got his start with the Los Angeles comedy troupe The Groundlings, where he originated the Pee-Wee character. He then went on to create a full stage show called 'The Pee Wee Herman Show.' A DVD of that show is now available. (Original airdate: 11/29/04)

(2.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS remembers AARON SPELLING, the TV mogul who died last week at age 83. Spelling created such TV classics as Love Boat, Fantasy Island, Charlie's Angels, Dynasty and Melrose Place. (3.) Librettist, poet, and playwright JACK LARSON. He got his career start as an actor. He played Jimmy Olsen, the cub reporter on the 1950s 'The Adventures of Superman' TV show. He has a cameo role in the new movie 'Superman Returns' as Bo the Bartender. He felt very typecast by his role as Jimmy Olsen, and moved to writing and production behind the scenes. He wrote the libretto to 'Lord Byron' in collaboration with composer Virgil Thomson. One of his poems, "The Relativity of Icarus," was part of a Joffrey Ballet. He's also written some versed plays: "The Candied House" and "Cherry, Larry, Sandy, Doris, Jean, Paul." He's also been a film producer. 'The Adventures of Superman: The Complete Third and Fourth Seasons' has just been released on DVD (Seasons one and two were previously released within the past year). (Original airdate: 4/12/93)

(4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Devil Wears Prada,' based on the book of the same name.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Country musicians DARRELL SCOTT and WAYNE SCOTT. Wayne is the father and Darrell is his son. Darrell's new album is 'The Invisible Man.' Last year, Darrell inspired his father to record his own album of original songs called 'This Weary Way.' The elder Scott was 71 when his debut album was released. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic
KEN TUCKER reviews 'Rockford' the new album by the rock band Cheap Trick best known for their late 70's pop-rock hits.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Academy award winning film editor THELMA SCHOONMAKER ('SKOON-may-ker'). Beginning with "Raging Bull," she has edited every one of Martin Scorsese's movies since. Schoonmker won Oscars for her work on 'The Aviator' and 'Raging Bull,' and was nominated for her editing on 'Gangs of New York' and 'Goodfellas.' She'll talk about how film editing has changed over the past 30 years, how she got her first big break editing Scorsese's student film at NYU, and her marriage to the late film director Michael Powell. (Original airdate: 5/31/05. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Jane Mayer; Review of Ben Goldberg Quintet's new album "the door, the hat, the chair, the fact." July 5, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503314].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.)Reporter JANE MAYER. Her recent article in The New Yorker looks at David S. Addington, Vice President Dick Cheney's Chief of Staff and longtime legal advisor. She says current and former Bush administration officials credit him with helping form the administration's legal strategy in the war on terror. The article, entitled 'The Hidden Power,' is featured in the July 3rd issue of The New Yorker. [THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW] (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'The Door, the Hat, the Chair, the Fact' (Cryptogramophone, 2006), the Ben Goldberg Quintet's tribute to Steve Lacy.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Linguist and Fresh air commentator GEOFF NUNBERG. His new book is 'Talking Right: How Conservatives Turned Liberalism into a Tax-Raising, Latte-Drinking, Sushi-Eating, Volvo-Driving, New York Times-reading, Body-Piercing, Hollywood-Loving, Left-Wing Freak Show.' (PublicAffairs). NUNBERG teaches at UC Berkeley's School of Information, is a researcher at the Center for the Study of Language and Information at Stanford University, and a consulting professor in the Stanford Department of Linguistics. He is also chair of the Usage Panel of the American Heritage Dictionary. His previous books are 'The Way We Talk Now' and 'Going Nucular.' (2.) Army chaplain and captain RAN DOLINGER has twenty years of experience in the army, ministering to soldiers in the field, and training other chaplains. He was in Iraq from July 2003 to February 2004, and returns to Iraq in September. DOLLINGER is a Baptist/Presbyterian. He currently serves at the Chief of Chaplains Office as Media Liason officer and Strategic Communications.

Tribute to Lorraine Hunt Lieberson; Obituary for Lorraine Hunt Lieberson; Interview with Dave Chappelle; Review of the film 'Pirates of the Caribbean July 7, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503315].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ has an appreciation of mezzo-soprano LORRAINE HUNT LIEBERSON. She died Monday at her home in Santa Fe at the age of 52 after a long illness. (2.) We rebroadcast a 1996 interview with mezzo-soprano LORRAINE HUNT. She'd been called the "reigning Handel diva of our day." She appeared in Peter Sellars' productions of Handel and Mozart. (REBROADCAST from 4/8/96) (3.) Comedian DAVE CHAPPELLE. Before walking away from his hit Comedy Central series two years ago he completed enough sketch material for three shows. Those so-called 'lost episodes' will begin airing Sunday night on Comedy Central. CHAPPELLE been called the funniest man on television, and Richard Pryor called Chappelle his favorite comedian. Chappelle himself claims he's 'America's No. 1 source for offensive comedy.' Dave Chappelle's movie roles include parts in 'Half-Baked,' 'Robin Hood: Men in Tights,' and 'Con Air.' His latest film 'Dave Chappelle's Block Party' is now out on DVD. (REBROADCAST from 9/2/04) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Man's Chest.'

---

Interview with Richard Linklater; Interview with Bill Resler and Devon Crosby. July 10, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503318].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer/director RICHARD LINKLATER. His new film 'A Scanner Darkly' is based on the book by Philip K. Dick, about drug addiction, paranoia, and surveillance. It stars Robert Downey Jr., and Keanu Reeves. LINKLATER is a self-taught director and his other films include 'Slacker,' 'Dazed & Confused' and 'The School of Rock.' (2.) From the documentary 'The Heart of the Game,' BILL RESLER and DEVON CROSBY HELMS. The film follows the Roosevelt High School Roughriders, a Seattle-area girls basketball team, for six seasons. BILL RESLER is the coach, a crafty, novice leader who came to the position from his job as a tax professor at the University of Washington. HELMS is an emotional player, one of the Roughriders' stars. 'The Heart of the Game,' released by Miramax, was a hit at the Toronto International Film Festival and is in theatres now.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JED HORNE is metro editor of the New Orleans Times-Picayune. His new book 'Breach of Faith: Hurricane Katrina and the Near Death of a Great American city' (Random House). (2.) EDMUND WHITE has been writing about gay culture in fiction and nonfiction since the 1970s. He has a new autobiography, 'My Lives' (Ecco). He is the author of over 17 books including a trilogy of autobiographical novels: 'A Boy's Own Story,' 'The Beautiful Room Is Empty,' and 'The Farewell Symphony.' He won the National Book Critics Circle Award for 'Genet: A Biography.' WHITE is director of the creative writing program at Princeton University. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews two new albums by Tom Verlaine, of the '70s New York punk band Television: the instrumental album 'Around,' and 'Songs and Other Things' which includes his compositions and vocals.

Description of show segment(s)

1. Thom Yorke (pronounced 'TOM YORK') is the lead singer and songwriter of the band Radiohead. Along with their longtime producer Nigel Godrich, Radiohead has released six critically acclaimed records and explored the boundaries between rock and electronic music. Spin Magazine named Radiohead's album 'OK Computer' the number one album of the past twenty years. Thom Yorke's new solo CD 'The Eraser' is his first release without the band. 2. Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'The Abortionist's Daughter' by Elisabeth Hyde. 3. Jazz critic Kevin Whitehead reviews 'The Clarinets,' a new album from the clarinet-playing trio of Anthony Burr, Oscar Noriega and Chris Speed.

Description of show segment(s)

1. Philanthropist and investor George Soros. He is the chairman of Soros Fund Management and the Open Society Institute. His new book is 'The Age of Fallibility: Consequences of The War on Terror.' Soros is a multibillionaire (his worth has been estimated at over $7 billion) who has directed his philanthropic efforts toward defeating George W Bush in 2004 (he gave $5 million to MoveOn.org), overthrowing communism in Eastern Europe, helping black students attend university in apartheid South Africa, and repealing drug prohibition laws internationally. Soros is also a philosopher. His previous books include 'The Bubble of American Supremacy' and 'The Alchemy of Finance.' 2. Philanthropist William Schambra. He's the director of the conservative Bradley Center for Philanthropy and Civic Renewal at the Hudson Institute. Prior to his work at the Hudson Institute, he was senior advisor and speechwriter to Attorney General Edwin Meese under President Ronald Reagan. The Hudson Institute has been instrumental in welfare reform, and is now engaged in bringing 'political and economic reform to transform the Muslim world.' Schambra has written for many publications including The Christian Science Monitor, the Wall Street Journal, The Washington Times and The Public Interest.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor ROBERT DOWNEY JR. He's currently starring in the new film 'A Scanner Darkly.' He received an Academy Award nomination and won the British Academy Award for best actor for his performance in the title role of 'Chaplin.' He also starred in 'Wonder Boys,' 'Two Girls and a Guy,' 'Natural Born Killers,' and 'The Pick-Up Artist.' He made his primetime television debut on 'Ally McBeal.' Now in recovery, DOWNEY struggled with drug addiction for years. (REBROADCAST from 10/22/03).

(2.) Rock historian ED WARD profiles the early years of the Franklin sisters. Aretha Franklin is still famous, but a little known fact is that her two sisters, Carolyn and Erma, were also singers. (3.) British comic, writer, producer and actor STEVE COOGAN. He's an icon of British comedy. He stars in the film 'Tristram Shandy: A Cock and Bull Story.' It's an adaptation of the classic 18th Century comic novel, 'The Life and Opinions of Tristram Shandy, Gentleman' by Laurence Sterne. COOGAN stars as Shandy. It's directed by Michael Winterbottom and is now out on video. Coogan is best known for his comedy character Alan Partridge, the 'nerdy radio DJ...with a terrible taste in sweaters and an inflated ego.' COOGAN's film credits include Don Roos's 'Happy Endings,' 'Around the World in 80 Days,' Jim Jarmusch's 'Coffee and Cigarettes' and '24 Hour Party People.' (REBROADCAST from 1/17/06) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Edmond,' a thriller starring William H. Macy and Julia Stiles, with screenplay by David Mamet.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times reporter STEVEN ERLANGER. He's the paper's Jerusalem Bureau Chief. He joins us from Israel to talk about intensified fighting in the region. Erlanger has reported from all over the world, serving in Moscow, Bangkok, Prague and other cities. Prior to his tenure at the Times, he wrote for the Boston Globe. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The most Famous Man in America' by Debby Applegate about the life of the charismatic Reverend Henry Ward Beecher, the brother of Harriet Beecher Stowe who wrote 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.'

---

Interview with Dexter Filkins; Review of reissued 1988 Duke Ellington album, "The cosmic scene."

July 18, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503373].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times reporter DEXTER FILKINS. He has been covering the war in Iraq. He is back for a brief visit to the United States, and he updates us on the situation in the Middle East. Last year he received the George Polk Award for War Reporting for 'his riveting, first-hand account of an eight-day attack on Iraqi insurgents in Falluja.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews a new reissue of the 1958 Duke Ellington's Spacemen album 'The Cosmic Scene.' (Mosaic Records)

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Middle East expert VALI NASR (pronounced 'volley NAH-sur'). His new book is 'The Shia Revival: How Conflicts within Islam Will shape the Future.' Nasr is the Senior Adjunct Fellow on the Middle East at the Council on foreign Relations. He is also professor of Middle East and south Asia Politics and associate Chair of research at the Department of National Security at the Naval Postgraduate School. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Writer JEFFREY GOLDBERG. A few years ago, he spoke with Hezbollah leaders for a two-part article he wrote for the New Yorker magazine called 'In the Party of God: are terrorists in Lebanon preparing for a larger war?' (10/7 and 10/14/2002) He'll help us understand the background of the current unrest in Lebanon. Goldberg serves as Washington correspondent for the New Yorker magazine.
Interview with Julia Choucair; Review of The Coup's new album "Pick a bigger weapon." July 20, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503767].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Arab political expert JULIA CHOUCAIR (pronounced 'chew-CARE'). She is an Associate in the Democracy and Rule of Law Project at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Her research is on political reform in the Arab world. She's the Deputy Editor of the Carnegie's e-monthly, the Arab Reform Bulletin. Choucair worked at several other think tanks before joining Carnegie. She was also a volunteer in Palestinian refugee camps in Lebanon for the United Nations Relief and Works Agency. (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Pick A Bigger Weapon,' a new hip hop album from The Coup (pronounced 'coo').

Obituary for Mickey Spillane; Commentary on Mickey Spillane; Interview with Ray Price; Review of the film "Lady in the water." July 21, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503220].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) We remember crime writer MICKEY SPILLANE. He died Monday at age 88. Spillane was most famous for his sex and violence drenched Mike Hammer detective novels. His titles include 'Kiss Me Deadly' and 'I the Jury.' While critics rarely praised Spillane, his books were best sellers. (REBROADCAST. Original airdate: 11/22/89) (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN, a fan of detective fiction, considers Spillane's place in the genre. (3.) Country music singer RAY PRICE. He was a close friend and protege of Hank Williams. PRICE's hits include "Talk to Your Heart," "Don't Let the Stars Get in Your Eyes," "I'll be There," "Crazy Arms," "For the Good Times," and more. In 1996 he was inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame. Next month the Hall will feature an exhibit devoted to PRICE's life and music (thru June 2007). (REBROADCAST from 1/19/99) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews M. Night Shymalan's new film 'Lady in the Water.'
Interview with Tom Hamburger and Peter Wallsten; Interview with Thomas Ricks. July 24, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503768].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Political reporters TOM HAMBURGER & PETER WALLSTEN. They are the authors of the new book 'One Party Country: The Republican Plan for Dominance in the 21st Century' (John Wiley). HAMBURGER covers the White House and the executive branch for the Los Angeles Times. WALLSTEN covers the White House for the Los Angeles Times. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Washington Post senior Pentagon correspondent THOMAS RICKS. This is the first of a two part interview. Part two will air tomorrow. His new book is called 'Fiasco: The American Military Adventure in Iraq.' Ricks is a Pulitzer Prize winning reporter. Today, he will talk about the possibility of United States involvement in the ongoing conflict between Israel and Hezbollah in Southern Lebanon.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Washington Post Senior Pentagon correspondent THOMAS RICKS. His new book is 'Fiasco: The American Military Adventure in Iraq.' Ricks, a Pulitzer Prize winning journalist, takes a hard look at the American military invasion and occupation of Iraq. Ricks has insider's access to top military officials who voice their dismay and frustration with the war, and he combines their opinions with his own observations reporting in the field. Before his position at the Post, he wrote for the Wall Street Journal. His other books are 'Making the Corps' and 'A Soldier's Duty.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE SHOW.)

Description of show segment(s)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rock and roll singer/songwriter TOM PETTY. It's been thirty years since he and the Heartbreakers debuted with their album 'Tom Petty & the Heartbreakers.' They are currently on tour and Petty has a new solo album 'Highway Companion' (American Recordings/Warner). It's been 12 years since PETTY has released a solo album, and four since he's released an album with the Heartbreakers. PETTY also has a recurring role in Fox TV's animated show 'King of the Hill.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock and roll historian ED WARD takes at look at the late 60s band from St. Louis the 'Aerovons.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and musician DAVID JOHANSEN ('joe-HAN-sen') was the lead singer for the 70's pre-punk punk rock band New York Dolls. The band has recently reunited and has a new CD 'One Day it Will Please Us to Remember Even This.' Later JOHANSEN performed as Buster Poindexter, a pompadour tuxedo wearing lounge lizard swing bandleader of the band 'Banshees in Blue.' Three years ago he released an album of straight blues, 'David Johansen and the Harry Smiths.' (REBROADCAST from 2/22/01)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new film 'Miami Vice.'

---

Interview with Christopher Dickey; Commentary on Language. July 31, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503233].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CHRISTOPHER DICKEY is Paris bureau chief and Middle East regional editor for Newsweek magazine. He'll discuss the crisis in the Mideast. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Language commentator GEOFF NUNBERG on the word 'lifestyle.'

---

Interview with Tom Friedman; Interview with Ammar Abdulhamid. August 1, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503632].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Foreign Affairs columnist for The New York Times, THOMAS FRIEDMAN. He's just returned from Syria. FRIEDMAN is a three-time recipient of the Pulitzer Prize. In 2002 he won for his 'clarity of vision, based on extensive reporting, in commenting on the worldwide impact of the terrorist threat.' FRIEDMAN was awarded the 1983 Pulitzer Prize for his international reporting from Lebanon and the 1988 Pulitzer Prize for international reporting from Israel. His most recent book is 'The World is Flat: A Brief History of the 21st Century.' He's also the author of 'From Beirut to Jerusalem,' and 'The Lexus and the Olive Tree: Understanding Globalization.' (2.) Syrian dissident AMMAR ABDULHAMID. He is a visiting fellow with the Saban Center for Middle East Policy at the Brookings Institution. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Etgar Keret; Interview with Samir el-Youssef. August 2, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503234].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Israeli writer ETGAR KERET. He is a bestselling author in Israel, and his books have been published in the U.S. KERET's books include 'The Nimrod-Flip Out,' 'The Bus Driver Who Wanted to Be God & Other Stories' and 'Pizzeria Kamikaze.' His work has been featured on public radio's This American Life. (2.) Palestinian author, journalist, and literary critic SAMIR EL-YOUSSEF. He was born in a refugee camp in Lebanon. He now lives in London. In 2005 he was the recipient of the Swedish PEN Tucholsky Award. Two years ago he collaborated with his friend Israeli writer Etgar Keret on the book 'Gaza Blues.' Keret contributed a collection of short stories and EL-YOUSSEF a novella. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Interview with Tony Bennett; Review of the film "Little miss sunshine." August 4, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825567].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer TONY BENNETT is a favorite here at Fresh Air. He turned 80th years old yesterday. A grocer's son, Anthony Dominick Benedetto was born in Astoria Queens in 1926. After working as a singing waiter in his teens and then following service in the U.S. Army, he auditioned for Columbia Records and launched a career that started off with his first big hit "Boulevard of Broken Dreams" (1950), and went on to include "I Want to be Around," "I Left My Heart in San Francisco," and "The Good Life." In the 1970s he recorded a couple of now classic albums with pianist Bill Evans. In the 1990s he was "rediscovered" by the MTV generation. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Little Miss Sunshine' starring Greg Kinnear, Alan Arkin, Toni Collette, and Steve Carrell.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor JOHN C. REILLY. He's currently co-starring in the new film 'Talladega Nights: the Ballad of Ricky Bobby' with Will Farrell. He's probably best known for his association with writer/director Paul Thomas Anderson in the films 'Hard 8,' 'Boogie Nights,' 'Magnolia.' REILLY came out of the Chicago-based drama troupe The Steppenwolf Theatre. He made his film debut in Brian DePalma's 'Casualties of War.' His other films include 'The Perfect Storm' 'Dolores Claiborne,' 'The Thin Red Line,' 'Chicago' and 'The Aviator.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian ED WARD pays tribute to Arthur Lee, leader of the rock group Love who died last week in Memphis. He was 61.

Interview with Rory Stewart; Interview with Ginger Cruz; Review of Oliver Stone's new film "World Trade Tower." August 8, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503629].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RORY STEWART is a British diplomat, journalist and former fellow at the Carr Center for Human Rights Policy at Harvard's Kennedy School of Government. At the age of 29, following the fall of the Taliban in Afghanistan, STEWART, walked alone across the country. The sometimes harrowing journey took him two years. He wrote about it in the memoir 'The Places in Between' (Harvest Books). Then after the U.S. invasion of Iraq, STEWART was appointed a provincial governor. His account is 'The Prince of the Marshes: And Other Occupational Hazards of a Year in Iraq' (Harcourt). RORY is from Scotland. (2.) Deputy Inspector General for Iraq Reconstruction, GINGER CRUZ. She oversees the audit, inspection and investigation operations established to prevent waste, fraud and abuse in the U.S. reconstruction of Iraq. CRUZ just returned from Iraq. (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews Oliver Stone's new film 'World Trade Center' which centers on the story of two Port Authority Policemen trapped in the rubble of the towers.
Interview with Maria Bello; Interview with Adam Roberts. August 9, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884806].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress MARIA BELLO. She's currently starring in the new film 'World Trade Center.' Her other films include 'A History of Violence,' 'Thank You for Smoking,' and 'The Cooler.' She also played Dr. Anna Del Amico on the TV show ER for one season (1997-98). (2.) Journalist ADAM ROBERTS of The Economist in London. He is their former South Africa correspondent. His new book 'The Wonga Coup' (PublicAffairs) is about a group of mercenaries and merchants who hatched a plan to topple the dictatorship of Equatorial Guinea, so that they could reap the profits from the country's oil resources. One of the group was Margaret Thatcher's son, Sr. Mark Thatcher.

Interview with Alan Arkin; Interview with Damon Wayans. August 11, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825768].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and director ALAN ARKIN. Arkin began his career with Chicago's Second City improv group. He went on to win a Tony on Broadway, in Carl Reiner's play "Enter Laughing," and to star in movies such as "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming," "The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter," "Wait Until Dark," "Catch-22," and "The In-Laws." Arkin's directing credits include "The Sunshine Boys" and "Little Murders" on Broadway, and several movies and T-V shows. He's currently co-starring in 'Little Miss Sunshine.' (REBROADCAST from 11/2/89) (2.) Comic, writer and actor DAMON WAYANS. A rare performance, "The Last Stand?" has just been released on DVD. It's a 1990 HBO comedy special. He's starring in the upcoming Showtime series 'The Underground,' which he also directs and co-writes. Wayans got his big break doing the show 'In Living Color' from 1990-1992. In 1999 he wrote a bestselling book of humorous essays entitled 'Bootleg.' From 2001-2005, he starred in the network sitcom 'My Wife and Kids.' He's had roles in many films, including 'Earth Girls are Easy,' 'Hollywood Shuffle,' and 'Colors.' His brothers are Keenen Ivory Wayans, Kim Wayans, Shawn Wayans, Dwayne Wayans and Marlon Wayans. (Original airdate: 6/14/99)
Interview with Charlie Savage; Interview with Jerry Schilling. August 14, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503630].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Reporter CHARLIE SAVAGE. He is based in Washington for the Boston Globe. He writes about the Bush administration's legal theories. He recently wrote an investigative piece about the Civil Rights section of the Department of Justice, where he found that staffers with legal expertise are being replaced by conservatives with little experience but who promote right wing Christian values. He also broke the recent story about President Bush's push to create signing statements which would bypass the traditional system of checks and balances accorded the U.S. Congress by the Constitution. (2.) Elvis Presley confidant JERRY SCHILLING. His new book (co-written with Chuck Crisafulli) is 'Me and a Guy Named Elvis: My Lifelong Friendship with Elvis Presley.' When Schilling was 12 years old, he met the teenaged Elvis Presley at a north Memphis pickup football game. Presley's hit, 'That's Alright,' had just debuted. As Presley rose to fame, Schilling joined him on the rise, eventually becoming creative affairs director for Elvis Presley Enterprises. He was part of the Memphis Mafia. Schilling also went on to work as an actor, film editor, producer and manager for acts including The Beach boys and Jerry Lee Lewis.

Interview with Lawrence Wright; Review of Claire Messud's new novel, "The Emperor's Children." August 15, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503631].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist LAWRENCE WRIGHT is the author of the new book 'The Looming Tower: Al-Qaeda and the Road to 9/11' (Knopf). The book is based on more than 500 interviews, some with friends and relatives of Osama bin Laden and examines the circumstances that led to the formation of Al Qaeda. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Emperor's Children' the new novel by Claire Messud.
Interview with Tom Kean; Interview with Charles Vitchers and Bobby Gray. August 16, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503879].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Chairman of the 9/11 Commission, THOMAS KEAN. He and his vice-chair Lee Hamilton have written the new book, 'Without Precedent: the Inside Story of the 9/11 Commission' (Knopf). The two write about the challenges of completing their work on the commission with little money, a tight timeline, constant wrangling to gain access to classified documents, and with the necessity of forging a consensus among Republican and Democratic commissioners. (2.) CHARLES VITCHERS and BOBBY GRAY. VITCHERS, a construction superintendent, and GRAY, a crane operator, spent the months after September 11th sorting through the rubble of Ground Zero, recovering remains, making it safe for rescue and construction workers, and clearing the site for future development. Their experiences are recounted in a new book called, 'Nine Months at Ground Zero: The Story of a Brotherhood of Workers Who Took on a Job Like No Other.' (Scribner, 2006).

Interview with Michael Gordon; Review of Golden Smog's new album "Another fine day." August 17, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503633].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MICHAEL GORDON is Chief Military Correspondent for The New York Times. He was recently in Iraq. He'll discuss the efforts to recruit Iraqis for the Iraqi army, and look back at the invasion of Iraq. It's the subject of his recent book "Cobra II: The Inside Story of the Invasion and Occupation of Iraq" (Pantheon). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews "Another Fine Day" by the band Golden Smog, a band made of veteran rockers from such bands as Wilco, the Jayhawks, and Soul Asylum.
Interview with Tommy Chong; Review of a new re-issue of Jackie McLean's "it's time;" Obituary for Bruno Kirby; Review of the film "Half Nelson." August 18, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825769].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian TOMMY CHONG - one half of the comedy duo Cheech & Chong, who made a career out of making jokes about being stoned. They recorded six gold comedy albums and starred in seven films. CHONG recently spent nine months in prison after pleading guilty to conspiring to sell drug paraphernalia. His arrest was part of the U.S. Justice Department's Operation Pipe Dreams investigation into the Internet distribution of drug paraphernalia like bongs and marijuana pipes. CHONG says he pleaded guilty to protect his son whose company was targeted. CHONG now has a new book, 'His new book is "The I Chong: Meditations from the Joint" (Simon Spotlight Entertainment). One reviewer writes it is 'a memoir, a spiritual exploration of his time in prison, and a political indictment of the eroding civil liberties in post-9/11 American society.' (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'It's Time,' a new reissue of a classic sixties jazz album from the late alto saxophonist Jackie McLean. (3.) Actor BRUNO KIRBY. He died Monday at the age of 57 from complications of leukemia. KIRBY was the would-be comedian in "Good Morning, Viet Nam" and Carrie Fisher's boyfriend in "When Harry Met Sally." He played opposite Matthew Broderick in "The Freshman," and was the limousine driver in 'This is Spinal Tap.' Over the years KIRBY played in dozens of movies, TV shows and on Broadway. (REBROADCAST from 7/27/90). (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Half Nelson,' about a young inner city junior high school teacher who develops a drug habit, and the friendship he strikes up with one of his students.

Interview with Smokey Robinson; Review of the film ?When the levees broke August 21, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502843].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rhythm and blues legend SMOKEY ROBINSON. The singer and songwriter has a new album called 'Timeless Love.' Robinson sings hits from the American songbook, including 'I Can't Give You Anything But Love (Baby),' 'Night and Day' and 'More Than You Know.' William 'Smokey' Robinson recorded dozens of top 40 hits for the Motown label as a solo artist and with The Miracles. The Miracles' 1960 song 'Shop Around' was Motown's first number one hit on the R&B singles chart. Other hits include 'Mickey's Monkey,' 'I Second That Emotion,' and 'The Tears of a Clown.' (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews 'When The Levees Broke: A Requiem in Four Acts,' Spike Lee's 2-part HBO documentary about New Orleans in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina.

---

Interview with Anthony Shadid; Review of the film "Double Indemnity." August 22, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502844].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist ANTHONY SHADID (pronounced 'sha-DEED'). He's been reporting from Lebanon. He is the reporter for the Washington Post's Foreign Desk, Middle East. Shadid won the Pulitzer Prize in 2004 for International Reporting. His latest book is 'Night Draws Near: Iraq's People in the Shadow of America's War,' which has just come out in paperback. Shadid is of Lebanese descent and grew up in Oklahoma City, OK. (2.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews the DVD release of Billy Wilder's classic 'Double Indemnity,' starring Fred MacMurray and Barbara Stanwyck.

---

Interview with Yossi Beilin; Interview with Sari Nusseibeh. August 23, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502300].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Peace negotiator YOSSI BEILIN (pronounced 'YO-see bay-lin'). He is a member of Israel's Knesset (Parliament) and chairman of the Meretz-Yachad party. Dr. Beilin has had posts in the governments of Yitzhak Rabin, Shimon Peres and Ehud Barak. His positions include Deputy Foreign Minister, Deputy Finance Minister, Minister of Economy and Planning, Minister in the Office of the Prime Minister, and Minister of Justice. Beilin held unofficial peace talks between Israel and Palestine in 2003, which led to the Geneva Initiative, and was one of the architects of the Oslo Accords, signed in 1993. He was also part of the 2001 peace negotiations. He's written several books, including 'Israel: A Concise Political History.' (2.) Middle East peace expert SARI NUSSEIBEH (pronounced 'sorry new-SEH-bay'). He's the founder of the Palestinian Consultancy Group and the Israeli-Palestinian Science Organization, the president of Al-Quds University in Jerusalem and a professor of Islamic Philosophy. He's co-author of the People's Voice Initiative to build grassroots support for a two-state solution. Until December 2002, he was the representative of the Palestinian National Authority in Jerusalem.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pakistani journalist AHMED RASHID. He files for English language papers including the International Herald Tribune, The Wall Street Journal and The Daily Telegraph. He's the author of the book Taliban, published in 2000, which became a best seller after 9/11/01. He'll talk about the resurgence of Islamist militants in Pakistan and plans in place to control the violence.

Interview with David Shore and David Foster; Interview with Michell Hurwitz; Interview with Lisa Kudrow and Michael Patrick King; Review of two films, " Idlewild," and "How to eat fried worms." August 25, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884404].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DAVID SHORE and DAVID FOSTER, MD, from the FOX T-V series 'House.' The show is nominated for 4 Emmys. The television awards show airs this Sunday night. SHORE is the executive producer. FOSTER is the medical consultant and writes for the series. 'House,' which airs Tuesday evenings, casts a medical malady as the villain. The hero is an irreverent and controversial doctor who trusts no one. He and his team solve a medical case each week. DAVID SHORE'S other TV producing credits include 'Hack,' 'Family Law' and 'Law and Order.' FOSTER is an instructor in medicine at Harvard Medical School, and has consulted on many T-V shows, including 'Law and Order: SVU,' 'Ozzie and Drix,' and 'Gideon's Crossing.' Season two of 'House' has just been released on DVD, and season three premieres Tuesday, September 5 2006 at 8 PM ET. (Original airdate: 5/17/05) (2.) TV producer MITCHELL HURWITZ. He created and was executive producer of the Fox TV series 'Arrested Development,' which is up for two Emmys this year. The show was cancelled at the end of this past season. The show was about the dysfunctional Bluth family. It's already won two Emmys, and it had a cult following while on the air. Hurwitz was also a writer and producer on the TV sitcoms 'The Golden Girls' and 'The Ellen Show.' (Original airdate: 11/3/05) (3.) Actress LISA KUDROW and executive producer MICHAEL PATRICK KING. KUDROW stars and KING created the HBO comedy series 'The Comeback,' a mock reality show that follows the career of a celebrity desperate to return to the spotlight. 'The Comeback' is nominated for one Emmy this year, but the series was cancelled after 13 episodes. KUDROW, who starred in the hit TV series 'Friends' in real life, plays Valerie Cherish, who starred in the fictional sitcom 'I'm It!' Cherish gets a chance to star in a new network sitcom only if she agrees to do a reality series about her comeback. KUDROW won an Emmy for her role on 'Friends;' her other credits include the feature films 'Analyz

---

Interview with Barbara Brown Taylor; Commentary on language. August 28, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502302].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Episcopalian minister BARBARA BROWN TAYLOR. Her new book is LeavingChurch: a memoir of faith. The book is the story of her decision to leave her job at a small church in Georgia, after 15 years as a full time minister. Taylor was named one of the twelve most effective preachers in the English-speaking world by Baylor University. After her ministry, she went to teach religion at Piedmont College in Georgia. She is also an editor-at-large and columnist for The Christian Century. (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG talks about the wider implications of downgrading the planet Pluto to dwarf planet status.

---

Interview with Ivor van Heerden; Interview with Father Doug Doussan and Sister Kathleen Pitman. August 29, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502849].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Disaster science specialist IVOR VAN HEERDEN (pronounced 'EYE-vohr van HEAR-din'). He is the cofounder and deputy director of the LSU Hurricane Center and director of the Center for the Study of Public Health Impacts of Hurricanes. His new book is 'The Storm: What Went Wrong And Why During Hurricane Katrina? the Inside Story from One Louisiana Scientist.' (2.) MONSIGNOR DOUG DOUSSAN (pronounced ‘due-SAHN’) and SISTER KATHLEEN PITMAN. Doussan is the pastor and Pitman is the pastoral associate at St. Gabriel the Archangel Catholic Church in New Orleans. It is a hub for rebuilding efforts in one of the most damaged sections of the city. We talk with them about the status of their church and surrounding neighborhood on the one year anniversary of the day Hurricane Katrina hit the Gulf Coast.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Freedom scholar MICHAEL LEDEEN. The conservative thinker holds the Freedom Chair at the American Enterprise Institute. He prefers the term 'democratic revolutionary' to neoconservative. Ledeen has written many books on U-S foreign policy and has consulted for the Bush Administration. He is a close ally of Karl Rove. He'll talk about the current and future U-S policy toward Iran. He is in favor of regime change but he believes the U-S should encourage change from within the country, rather than launching an all-out attack. Formerly, Ledeen served as the executive director of the Jewish Institute for National Security Affairs, a group that was established to promote close military relations between the U-S and Israel. During that time, Ledeen was involved in creating the arms for hostage trade known as the Iran-Contra affair. Ledeen is a regular contributor to National Review Online, American Spectator and the Wall Street Journal. (2.) Foreign policy expert JOSEPH CIRINCIONE. He's the senior vice president for National Security and International Policy at the Center for American Progress, a liberal think tank. He's been called a 'nonproliferation guru.' Prior to joining the Center for American Progress, Cirincione was director for nonproliferation at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. He is the author of the soon-to-be-published book Bomb Scare: the History and Future of Nuclear Weapons. Cirincione also teaches at Georgetown University's Graduate School of Foreign Service.

Interview with the Dixie Chicks; Interview with Darrell Scott and Wayne Scott. August 31, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825662].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Country music singers THE DIXIE CHICKS. We kick off our series on country music in time for the Labor Day holiday with MARTIE MAGUIRE, EMILY ROBISON, and NATALIE MAINES. They are considered the biggest-selling female band in history. The group ? in some incarnation or another ? has been making music since 1989. They've gone from playing bluegrass and country music to becoming a popular music success with hits like 'Wide Open Spaces,' 'Cowboy Take Me Away,' and 'Long Time Gone.' They were the center of controversy in 2003 after Natalie made an off-the-cuff remark onstage on the eve of the US invasion of Iraq. She said she was ashamed President Bush was from her home state of Texas. As a result they were boycotted by conservative music fans, and they received death threats.
In June 2006, the Dixie Chicks released their first CD in three years: 'Taking the Long Way' (Columbia/Sony). It remains in the top ten on Billboard's Country Music Albums chart. (Rebroadcast. Original airdate: 6/06/06) (2.) Country musicians DARRELL SCOTT and WAYNE SCOTT. Wayne is the father and Darrell is his son. Darrell's newest album is 'The Invisible Man.' Last year, Darrell inspired his father to record his own album of original songs called 'This Weary Way.' The elder Scott was 71 when his debut album was released. (Rebroadcast. Original airdate: 7/3/06)

Interview with Billy Joe Shaver; Interview with Jimmie Dale Gilmore. September 1, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503278].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer songwriter BILLY JOE SHAVER. His life has been a rough road. Shaver became famous in the 1970s as the songwriter for the so called country music outlaws including Waylon Jennings. Many of Shaver's recent songs are heartbreaking, reflecting the loss of his mother, wife and son within a single year. In 2005 he wrote a memoir, entitled 'Honky Tonk Hero.' Currently, he's fronting the group Diamondback Texas, which was originally a Shaver tribute band. They've just returned from a sold-out tour in Europe. Last year, a tribute album to Shaver was released and includes live performances by Joe Ely, Dale Watson, and Jimmie Dale Gilmore. It's called 'A Tribute to Billy Joe Shaver.' His recent albums include 'Freedom's Child,' 'Electric Shaver' and 'Victory.' He'll perform some of his songs during the interview. (Original airdate: 7/13/05) (2.) Singer songwriter JIMMIE DALE GILMORE. His latest album is called 'Come on Back.' It's a memorial to his late father, who died of ALS in 2000. The CD features versions of his dad's favorite songs like 'Pick Me Up on Your Way Down' and 'Walkin' The Floor Over You.' Gilmore's previous albums include 'Now Again' and 'Wheels of Fortune.' Gilmore was born, raised and lives in Texas. In the early 1970's, Gilmore founded the band The Flatlanders with Joe Ely and Butch Hancock. The band released an album in 1973 but it did not sell well. Gilmore spent the rest of the decade living in an ashram in Denver, not performing. But his songs became well known through singer Joe Ely, and in 1988, Gilmore released his first solo album, 'Fair and Square.' 'Come on Back' is Gilmore's seventh album.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Texas singer JAMES HAND. This summer, at age 53, Hand released his debut album, 'The Truth Will Set You Free,' on Rounder Records. Hand has been singing and playing for nearly four decades, but he's mostly performed in small town dives. Hand is also a horse trainer when he's not singing. His sound has been compared to Hank Williams and Lefty Frizzell. (Rebroadcast. Original airdate: 6/20/06) (2.) Country music singer and songwriter WILLIE NELSON. His newest book is 'The Tao of Willie: A Guide to the Happiness in Your Heart' (written w/Turk Pipkin pub. by Gotham Books). Nelson has been performing for over 50 years. He's recorded 250 albums and appeared in 25 films. He's also the author of a number of books, including the best sellers 'Willie' and 'The Facts of Life and Other Dirty Jokes.' (Rebroadcast. Original airdate: 5/25/06)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer JONATHAN FRANZEN. His new book is called 'The Discomfort Zone: A Personal History.' Franzen's massive 2001 bestseller 'The Corrections' was in part based on his own life. His new book is a memoir. Franzen's other books include 'The Twenty-Seventh City,' 'Strong Motion' and 'How to be Alone.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Trumpeter, composer, and arranger GERALD WILSON. His 88th birthday is Monday, September 4th. WILSON grew up in Mississippi and got his start playing with Jimmy Lunceford's band in New York City. He later worked with Benny Carter's band and formed his own. As a composer-arranger he worked for the Count Basie and Dizzy Gillespie bands. And he accompanied Billie Holiday on her tour of the South in 1949. He's arranged music for Ella Fitzgerald, Ray Charles, Sarah Vaughan, Bobby Darin, and Carmen McRae. His most recent CD was released last year, 'In My Time' (Mack Avenue).
Interview with Wayne Slater; Interview with Diane Lane. September 6, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502303].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist WAYNE SLATER. He has written extensively about the influence of Karl Rove on President Bush. His new book is 'The Architect: Karl Rove and The Master Plan for Absolute Power' (co-written with James Moore, pub. by Crown Publishers). Moore and SLATER are also authors of, 'Bush's Brain: How Karl Rove Made George W. Bush Presidential.' Rove has been involved with the Bush family for nearly 30 years and worked with George W. Bush on every one of his campaigns. SLATER has covered Bush for years and is senior political writer and an award-winning reporter for The Dallas Morning News. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) Actress DIANE LANE. She's co-starring in the new film 'Hollywoodland' with Adrian Brodey, Ben Affleck, and Bob Hoskins. It's based on the real-life mystery surrounding the death of actor George Reeves who played Superman on TV. LANE has been acting since she was six years old. Her films include the Francis Coppola films 'The Outsiders,' 'Rumble Fish,' and 'The Cotton Club.' Her other films include 'Unfaithful,' 'The Perfect Storm,' 'My Dog Skip,' and 'Chaplin.' She also starred in the miniseries 'Lonesome Dove.'

Interview with Louis Wiley; Interview with Jonathan Adelstein; Interview with Stephen Weiswasser; Interview with Tim Winter. September 7, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503608].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) LOUIS WILEY is executive editor of the PBS "Frontline" documentary series. He will discuss how they have been affected by the FCC’s crackdown on indecency in broadcasting. The FCC has increased fines tenfold for material they deem indecent. A single incident can warrant a fine of {dollar}325,000. The FCC crackdown has had a chilling effect on broadcasters, forcing them to self-censor. (2.) FCC Commissioner JONATHAN ADELSTEIN (Add-el-STEEN). He was appointed in 2002. Previously he was senior legislative aide to Senator Tom Daschle. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (3.) Attorney STEPHEN WEISWASSER (WISE-wass-er) advises stations on what material may be deemed indecent. He is a partner in law of Covington & Burling in Washington, D.C. He says the FCC guidelines are difficult to interpret. (4.) TIM WINTER is Executive Director of the Parents Television Council (PTC). The PTC's stated mission is to "promote and restore responsibility and decency to the entertainment industry in answer to America's demand for positive, family-oriented television programming." Last week the PTC filed an indecency complaint with the FCC over the NBC broadcast of the Emmy Awards because of language used by actresses Helen Mirren and Calista Flockhart.

Interview with Peter Guralnick; Review of the film "Mutual Appreciation." September 8, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503312].

Description of show segment(s)

1. Biographer PETER GURALNICK ('guh-RAHL-nick'). His book 'Dream Boogie: The Triumph of Sam Cooke' is now out in paperback. GURALNICK follows the life of rhythm and blues legend Sam Cooke from his roots in gospel music through his legendary career as a singer and songwriter whose hits include 'You Send Me,' 'Bring it on Home to Me,' 'Only Sixteen' and many others. PETER GURALNICK has written extensively about American music. His other work includes a two-part biography on Elvis Presley as well as a trilogy on American roots music. (REBROADCAST from 10/31/05). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

2. Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new independent film 'Mutual Appreciation.' It's directed by Andrew Bujalski whose previous film 'Funny Ha Ha' made ten critic's Top 10 lists, including A.O. Scott of The New York Times.

Description of show segment(s)

1. GORDON CORERA is a security correspondent for the BBC. In his new book he warns that we may be entering a 'new era of accelerated proliferation.' He writes about the challenges of halting the proliferation of nuclear weapons and about A.Q. Khan - the man described by a former CIA Director as 'at least as dangerous as Osama bin Laden.' Khan developed the nuclear capability for Pakistan, and then went on to build a clandestine global nuclear technology network selling to Iran and North Korea before he was stopped. CORERA's new book is 'Shopping for Bombs: Nuclear Proliferation, Global Insecurity, and The Rise and Fall of The A.Q. Khan Network' (Oxford University Press). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews Bob Dylan's new album, 'Modern Times.'

Interview with Christian Miller; Review of Santa Fe Opera's 50th anniversary season. September 12, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503317].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist T. CHRISTIAN MILLER. His new book is "Blood Money: Wasted Billions, Lost Lives, and Corporate Greed in Iraq." It's about the massively mismanaged reconstruction effort in Iraq. Miller writes, "In almost every way, the rebuilding has fallen short." Miller is an investigative reporter who writes for the Los Angeles Times Washington bureau. (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ tells us about a recent trip to the Santa Fe Opera, which celebrated its 50th anniversary season this year.

Interview with Kirby Dick; Interview with Joan Graves; Interview with Jeremy Sisto. September 13, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885231].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker KIRBY DICK. His new documentary is 'This Film is Not Yet Rated.' It's a look into the secretive world of the MPAA film ratings system. Dick considers the highly secretive process of rating films G, PG, PG-13, R and NC-17. MPAA board members are anonymous, deliberations are private, and standards are seemingly arbitrary. Dick's previous documentary films include the Academy Award nominated 'Twist of Faith' and 'Derrida.' 'This Film is Not Yet Rated' is co-produced by Netflix and IFC. (2.) MPAA Ratings Board Chair JOAN GRAVES. As chair, she's the only member of the board that the MPAA does not keep anonymous. GRAVES will respond to some of the contentions of Kirby Dick's documentary 'This Film is Not Yet Rated.' (3.) Actor JEREMY SISTO. He's best known for his role as Billy on HBO's Six Feet Under. Now he's starring in the new series Kidnapped on NBC. It premiers next Wednesday at 10PM. SISTO has also appeared in films including 'Clueless,' 'Without Limits,' and 'Thirteen.'
Interview with Artie Lange; Review of Alice Dermott's new novel "After this." September 14, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503187].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor, comic, and Howard Stern Show cast member ARTIE LANGE. He's co-producer, co-writer, and star of the new film "Artie Lange's Beer League." He was a regular on Fox's sketch comedy show Mad TV, and he's appeared in a number of comedy films, including "Old School" and "Elf." His personal life--namely his binge drinking and eating--is often fodder for Howard Stern and the rest of the cast on the daily Sirius Radio program. [THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW]

(2.) MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews the latest book from Alice McDermott, "After This" (Farrar, Straus & Giroux, 2006).

Interview with Jon Wiener; Commentary on 2006 fall television season. September 15, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503610].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian JON WIENER (WE-ner). He was a consultant on the new documentary 'The U.S. vs. John Lennon.' (which opens in LA and NY Sept 15th, and wider later this month). WIENER spent 14 years fighting to gain access to the FBI's secret files on the former Beatle. WIENER's Freedom of Information case went all the way to the Supreme Court before the FBI decided to settle. His book 'Gimme Some Truth' outlines and reproduces the most important pages of the file, revealing that the Nixon administration plotted to deport Lennon in 1972 and silence him as a voice of the anti-war movement. WIENER is Professor of History at the University of California, Irvine, and also author of 'Come Together: John Lennon and His Time.' (REBROADCAST from 1/25/00) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews the new TV season.
Interview with Gershom Gorenberg; Interview with Max Blumenthal; Interview with John Hagee. September 18, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503683].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) On today's show we look into the Christian Zionist movement - made up of evangelical Christians who see the rebirth of Israel as a prelude to the second coming of Christ. Journalist GERSHOM GORENBERG is former associate editor and columnist for the Jerusalem Report. He is the author of the book, 'The End of Days: Fundamentalism and the Struggle for the Temple Mount' (Oxford University Press). His new book is 'The Accidental Empire: Israel and the Birth of the Settlements, 1967-1977' (Times Books). (2.) MAX BLUMENTHAL is a Puffin Foundation writing fellow at the Nation Institute based in Washington, D.C. His work has appeared in 'Nation,' 'Salon,' 'The American Prospect,' and 'Washington Monthly.' He is also a research fellow for Media Matters for America. He has written extensively about the conservative movement, and the Christian right. His recent article in The Nation (8/8/06) is 'Birth Pangs of a New Christian Zionism.' (3.) JOHN HAGEE is the founder of the Christian Zionist group, Christians United for Israel. He is the senior pastor of Cornerstone Church an evangelical church in San Antonio, Texas. And he is the author of a number of books; his most recent is 'Jerusalem Countdown: A Warning to the World.' (FrontLine).

Interview with Rajiv Chandrasekaran; Interview with Ed Harris. September 19, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503684].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist RAJIV CHANDRASEKARAN (rah-JEEV CHAHN-drueh-SAY-kuh-rin) is the former Baghdad bureau chief for the Washington Post. His new book about the Green Zone in Baghdad during the first year of the U.S. occupation is 'Imperial Life in the Emerald City' (Knopf). (2.) Actor ED HARRIS. He plays Ludwig van Beethoven in the new film 'Copying Beethoven,' and he's also starring in the new play 'Wrecks,' written and directed by Neil LaBute, set to begin previews at New York's Public Theater on September 26 and open on October 10, 2006. Harris' recent films include A History of Violence, The Human Stain, A Beautiful Mind and The Right Stuff, as well as the TV miniseries "Empire Falls." He received Academy Award nominations for his role in the films The Hours, Pollock, The Truman Show and Apollo 13.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times columnist FRANK RICH. His new book is 'The Greatest Story Ever Sold: The Decline and Fall of Truth from 9/11 to Katrina.' It's about the endless spin that comes out of the Bush administration. Rich has been with the Times since 1980, when he was named Chief Theater Critic. His nickname was 'The Butcher of Broadway.' In 1994, Rich became an Op-Ed columnist for the paper. His pieces focus on politics and culture. Slate magazine recently re-dubbed him 'The Butcher of the Beltway.' Rich's other books include 'Ghost Light' and 'Hot Seat.' (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Harry Miller's Ispingo: Which Way Now?' It's a newly issued historical recording from the South African bassist Harry Miller and his sextet.

Interview with James Woods; Review of new drama series, "Brothers & Sisters," and "Desperate Housewives;" Commentary on Don Walser; Review of the film "All the king's men." September 22, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503612].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor JAMES WOODS. He's currently starring in the new CBS drama "Shark" playing the ruthless super-lawyer Sebastian Stark. WOODS films include "Salvador," "Ghosts of Mississippi," "The Onion Field," "Once Upon a Time In America," "Nixon" and "Casino." (REBROADCAST from 1/12/99). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the new drama series 'Brothers & Sisters' which airs on Sunday night in the time slot previously occupied by 'Gray's Anatomy.' (3.) We remember country music singer and yodeler DON WALSER. He died Wednesday at the age of 72 of complications from diabetes. WALSER was a country music icon in Austin, Texas, where he lived and played at clubs, VFW halls, and honkytonks. He's best remembered for his series of records in the 1990s produced with Asleep at the Wheel's Ray Benson. He was also known keeping western swing alive by performing the music of Bob wills and Eddie Arnold. WALSER developed a "punk" like following attracting fans of all different ages. (REBROADCAST from 12/13/94). (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new Sean Penn film 'All the King's Men.'
Interview with Ben Affleck; Interview with Bucky and John Pizzarelli. September 25, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503942].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor BEN AFFLECK. He's currently starring in the new film 'Hollywoodland' as George Reeves the actor who played Superman in the original TV series. The film is about the real-life unsolved murder of Reeves. AFFLECK co-wrote 'Good Will Hunting' with Matt Damon and their screenplay won an Academy Award, and a Golden Globe Award. AFFLECK's other films include 'Shakespeare in Love,' 'Dazed and Confused,' 'Chasing Amy,' and 'Dogma.' He also wrote the screenplay for the upcoming film 'Gone, Baby, Gone' based on the novel by Dennis Lehane. (2.) Jazz guitar players BUCKY and JOHN Pizzarelli. John has been playing guitar with his legendary father Bucky since age six. John's latest album is 'Dear Mr. Sinatra,' on which he plays songs written for Frank Sinatra. Tracks include 'Ring a Ding Ding,' 'Nice and Easy' and 'Witchcraft.' John is also a singer. Self-taught, Bucky Pizzarelli has long been a master of the seven-string guitar. In 1952 Bucky joined the staff of NBC, and 12 years later he switched to ABC; in addition he worked with the Three Sounds (1956-57) and had several tours with Benny Goodman. In the 1970s he was more active in jazz, co-leading a duo with George Barnes and working with Zoot Sims, Bud Freeman and Stephane Grappelli among many others. Pizzarelli has since kept up a busy recording schedule and plays often at jazz parties. Bucky has also recorded with his son John Pizzarelli on an occasional basis since the early '80s. John Pizzarelli is appearing at Birdland jazz club in Manhattan this week.

Interview with Ian Buruma; Interview with Kitty Dukakis and Larry Tye. September 26, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825407].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer IAN BURUMA. His new book is 'Murder in Amsterdam: The Death of Theo van Gogh and the Limits of Tolerance.' It's about the 2004 death of a popular media personality at the hands of a Muslim radical. Buruma found that underlying the brutal event are long-standing tensions between native born Dutch and Muslim immigrants. Buruma was brought up in Holland and Japan. Following a career in acting and dancing, Buruma turned to journalism, and now writes for The New York Review of Books, The New Yorker, The New York Times, The Financial Times, and The Guardian. His previous books include Inventing Japan, Bad Elements, and The Wages of Guilt. (2.) Former gubernatorial first lady KITTY DUKAKIS and writer LARRY TYE. Their new book is called 'SHOCK: The Healing Power of Electroconvulsive Therapy.' Kitty is the wife of former Massachusetts governor and 1988 Democratic presidential nominee Michael Dukakis. For over 20 years, Kitty battled depression, but she says electroconvulsive therapy dramatically changed her life for the better. Larry Tye is a journalist who wrote for the Boston Globe. He now runs a fellowship program for medical journalists.

Interview with Todd Phillips; Commentary on the musical group "Wire;" Review of the film "The Death of Mr. Lazarescu." September 27, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825858].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Writer/director TODD PHILLIPS. His new film is 'School for Scoundrels,' starring Billy Bob Thornton as a cross between a self-help genius and a scam artist. His other films include 'Old School,' 'Road Trip' and 'Starsky and Hutch.' Phillips is also credited for writing the story for the upcoming film 'Borat: Cultural Learnings of America for Make Benefit Glorious Nation of Kazakhistan.' (2.) Rock historian ED WARD tells us the story of Wire, a British art-rock band from the late 1970s. While Wire has broken up and reformed several times, WARD focuses on the first incarnation of the band. Three discs have been reissued and are available in stores: Pink Flag, Chairs Missing and 154. (3.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews 'The Death of Mr. Lazarescu,' now out on DVD.

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Author JONATHAN KIRSCH. His new book is "A History of the End of the World: How the Most Controversial Book in the Bible Changed the Course of Western Civilization." He writes about how the Book of Revelation has been interpreted since its inception and how the final book of the New Testament has influenced literature, history, and popular culture. Kirsch's other books include "The Harlot By the side of the Road" and "Moses: A Life." Kirsch serves as an adjunct professor at NYU and is an intellectual property lawyer in Los Angeles. (2.) Islamic Society of North America president INGRID MATTSON. She is the first woman, the first convert, and the first native North American to be elected to the position. Mattson, who was born and raised in Ontario, converted to Islam in college. The Islamic Society of North America is the largest Muslim organization on this continent.

Interview with Jason Moran; Review of the television show "Dexter;"Review of the film "The science of sleep." September 29, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825856].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Jazz pianist JASON MORAN. His new CD, Artist in Residence, is the result of music he created after he accepted commissions from three American art institutions. Moran has been described in Downbeat Magazine as one of the most important figures of his generation. (Original airdate: 6/27/05) (2.) Today's host and TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews Dexter, the new Showtime series starring Michael C. Hall of Six Feet Under fame. Hall plays a forensics expert who investigates serial killers by day and turns into one at night, stalking and murdering criminals. (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews The Science of Sleep, the new film from Michel Gondry. Previously, Gondry directed Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind.

Interview with Thom Bell; Review of the documentary film "Ballets Russes." October 2, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825857].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Producer, composer and arranger THOM BELL. He was one of the principal architects of the Sound of Philadelphia. Bell was born in Jamaica and moved to Philadelphia at age 5. He planned to become a classical conductor, but in his early 20s, he was signed by Cameo Records to create a Philadelphia version of Motown. His first hits were with the Delfonics: La La La Means I Love You and Didn't I Blow Your Mind. He produced the Stylistics' debut album, worked with the O'Jays and the Spinners, and later went on to collaborate with solo artists including Johnny Mathis, Bob Marley and Elton John. This year, Hall was inducted into the Songwriters Hall of Fame. (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews a new documentary, Ballets Russes, just out on DVD. It tells the story of ballet after the death of Diaghilev, who founded and ran the company until 1929.
Interview with Michael Weisskopf; Interview with Philip Jenkins. October 3, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503693].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist MICHAEL WEISSKOPF. He's the senior correspondent for the Washington DC bureau of Time Magazine. In 2003, while on assignment in Baghdad, he threw a live Iraqi grenade from the back of an open Humvee. He saved himself, four soldiers and time's photographer, but he lost his hand. His story is the subject of the September 25 2006 cover story of Time, as well as his new book, Blood Brothers: Among the Soldiers of Ward 57. Weisskopf has won many awards for his reporting. His other books are Truth at Any Cost and Tell Newt to Shut Up. Prior to his position at time, he was a reporter for the Washington Post. (2.) Religion professor PHILIP JENKINS. His latest book is The New Faces of Christianity: Believing the Bible in the Global South. It's a follow-up to his 2002 book The Next Christendom: the Coming of Global Christianity, which was named on of the top religion books of that year by USA today. Jenkins is Distinguished Professor of History and Religious Studies at Pennsylvania State University.

Interview with Bob Woodward; Interview with Mark Halperin and John Harris. October 4, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503695].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist BOB WOODWARD. His new book is State of Denial: Bush at War, Part III. It's a follow-up to his previous books, Bush at War and Plan of Attack. In the new book, Woodward examines how the Bush administration has avoided telling the truth about the Iraq war to the public, to congress, and to itself. Woodward is an assistant managing editor of the Washington Post. He's been a newspaper reporter and editor for 35 years. (2.) Journalists MARK HALPERIN and JOHN HARRIS. They've collaborated on a new book, The Way to Win: Taking the White House in 2008. Halperin is the political director of ABC News and creator of The Note, an online tipsheet. Harris is the national political editor of The Washington Post. They write that the US is 'on the brink of what promises to be one of the most intensely fought and consequential presidential elections in its history.'
Interview with James Baker; Interview with Andy Stern. October 5, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503484].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former presidential cabinet member JAMES A. BAKER III. His new memoir is 'Work Hard, Study...and Keep Out of Politics!: Adventures and Lessons from an Unexpected Public Life.' Baker served as Chief Of Staff and Secretary Of The Treasury under President Reagan, Secretary Of State and Chief Of Staff under President George H. W. Bush, and represented the bush Cheney campaign during the 2000 Florida recount. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).

(2.) ANDY STERN is president of the Service Employees International Union (SEIU). Last year he led his union along with the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and several others out of the AFL-CIO to start the Change to Win federation, the first new labor movement in fifty years. STERN was also a key strategist in the creation of Wal-Mart Watch, to push for better work conditions and health care benefits for the company's employees. His new book is 'A Country That Works: Getting America Back on Track' (Free Press).

Interview with Steve Reich; Review of the film "The departed." October 6, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503692].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Minimalist composer STEVE REICH. He's considered one of our foremost living composers. Last week (Sept 26) he celebrated his 70th birthday. Nonesuch records is commemorating the occasion with the new box set, 'Phases: A Nonesuch Retrospective' And a month long series of dance performances, concerts, and workshops take place in New York City at BAM, Carnegie Hall, and Lincoln Center. THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (REBROADCAST from 5/11/99, and 3/31/89)

(2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Departed' the new Martin Scorcese film starring Leonardo DiCaprio, Matt Damon, Mark Wahlberg, and Jack Nicholson.
Interview with Tanya Erzen; Interview with Alan Chambers; Interview with Shawn O'Donnell. October 9, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503169].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TANYA ERZEN is Assistant Professor of Comparative Studies at Ohio State University. She is the author of the new book, 'Straight to Jesus: Sexual and Christian Conversions in the Ex-Gay Movement' (U. of California Press). It's about New Hope Ministry, a residential program for evangelical Christian men in the San Francisco Bay area who are 'struggling with homosexuality.' It's part of a larger movement to convert gays to the straight Christian life. (2.) ALAN CHAMBERS is the president of Exodus, the largest evangelical group devoted to converting homosexuals to heterosexuals. He himself was a gay teen and young adult before the church helped him 'overcome' his homosexuality. (3.) SHAWN O'DONNELL is a former 'ex-gay' and a Christian. He was involved with Exodus for many years, before he left the program and to live as gay man. His story was part of the documentary 'Fish Can't Fly.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JUDEA PEARL the father of slain journalist Daniel Pearl and author of "I am Jewish," and Professor AKBAR AHMED who teaches Islamic Studies at American University. The two are collaborating on a series of interfaith dialogues across the country and abroad. Daniel Pearl was kidnapped and murdered in Pakistan in 2002, while reporting on Islamic extremists. JUDEA PEARL is a professor at UCLA, and President of the Daniel Pearl Foundation www.danielpearl.org. AKBAR S. AHMED is the author of 'Islam Under Siege.' (INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).
Interview with Jeffrey Goldberg; Review of Scritti Politti musical group's "White bread black beer;" Review of the television program "30 Rock." October 11, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503696].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JEFFREY GOLDBERG is the Washington correspondent for The New Yorker. He is the magazine's former Middle East Correspondent. His new memoir is "Prisoners: A Muslim & A Jew Across the Middle East Divide" (CurrentAffairs). GOLDBERG won the National Magazine Award for Reporting in 2003 for his coverage of terrorism. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews "White Bread Black Beer" the first album in eight years by the post-punk band Scritti Politti - which is now down to its sole founding member, Welshman Green Gartside. (3.) Film critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews "30 Rock" the new NBC sitcom created by and starring Tina Fey, former head writer and "Weekend Update" anchor on "Saturday Night Live." It's the second NBC show about a behind-the-scenes look at a fictional late-night live variety show.

Interview with Neil Labute; Interview with William Cope Moyers; Commentary on the debate about torture. October 12, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503690].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Playwright and film maker NEIL LABUTE (rhymes with 'cute'). He's earned a reputation for writing characters who are selfish, mean, misanthropic, and misogynistic. His films include 'In the Company of Men' and 'Your Friends & Neighbors.' His plays include 'The Mercy Seat,' 'Some Girls' and 'Fat Pig.' The New Yorker's John Lahr says his plays are 'complex and unnerving,' and that 'there's no playwright on the planet who is writing better.' 'Wrecks' is LABUTE new one-man play starring Ed Harris. It opened last night at the Public Theatre in New York. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) WILLIAM COPE MOYERS is the son of journalist Bill Moyers. He's written a new memoir about his addiction to alcohol and crack cocaine and his recovery. He's been sober for twelve years and is the vice president for external affairs at the Hazelden Foundation in Minnesota. His new memoir is 'Broken: My Story of Addiction and Redemption' (written with Katherine Katcham published by Viking) (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers how we talk about torture.
Interview with Zadie Smith; Interview with Tom Perrotta; Review of the film 'The queen.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer ZADIE SMITH. Her latest novel 'On Beauty' is out in paperback (Penguin). Smith gained critical acclaim for her debut novel, 'White Teeth,' penned when she was just 24. Her second novel was 'The Autograph Man.' 'On Beauty,' her third book, is already garnering praise from critics. Smith says it is a homage to E.M. Forster's 'Howard's End.' 'On Beauty' is set in the fictional New England town of Wellington, which is based on the real town of Boston, Massachusetts. Smith grew up in London, the child of an English Father and a Jamaican mother. (REBROADCAST from 10/17/05)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Novelist TOM PERROTTA. His book 'Little Children' a satirical take on parenthood and suburbia has been adapted into a new film starring Kate Winslet. One reviewer wrote of the book 'it represents a sterling comic contribution to the growing literature of the Bad Mommy and Bad Daddy.' PERROTTA is also the author of the novels 'Joe College' and 'Election' which was made into the 1999 movie of the same name. (REBROADCAST from 4/12/04) (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews Stephen Frears's new film 'The Queen.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Peabody award-winning independent radio producer JAY ALLISON. His radio series include 'Life Stories' 'Lost and Found Sound' (with The Kitchen Sisters), and the 'Sonic Memorial Project.' He created Transom.org ? an online resource for newcomers to radio production. Along with producer Dan Gediman he created the 'This I Believe' series, currently on NPR, modeled after the Edward R. Murrow series. (2.) Director STEPHEN FREARS. His new film 'The Queen' takes us behind the scenes to the tension between Queen Elizabeth and Prime Minister Blair in the days following the death of Princess Diana as they struggled to come up with the appropriate official response. FREARS’S other films include 'My Beautiful Laundrette,' 'Prick up Your Ears,' 'Sammy and Rosie Get Laid,' 'Dangerous Liaisons,' 'The Grifters,' 'The Hi-Lo Country,' 'High Fidelity,' and 'Dirty Pretty Things.'
Interview with Forest Whitaker; Obituary for Freddy Fender; Commentary on crime procedural television programs. October 17, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502611].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor FOREST WHITAKER. He played jazz musician Charlie Parker in 'Bird,' a British soldier kidnapped by the IRA in 'The Crying Game,' a mafia hit man who models himself after a Samurai warrior in 'Ghost Dog,' and an internal affairs detective on the FOX TV show 'The Shield.' In his latest film 'The Last King of Scotland' he plays Ugandan dictator Idi Amin. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) We remember Texas and country music legend FREDDY FENDER. He died Saturday at the age of 69. He had lung cancer. FENDER's big hit was 'Before the next Teardrop Falls.' (REBROADCAST from 9/27/90) (3.) Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS considers the appeal of crime procedural shows like 'CSI' versus that of 'Lost.'

Interview with David Kuo; Interview with Jim Towey; Review of Daniel Mendelsohn's memoir "The Lost." October 18, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972884403].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) DAVID KUO (pronounced 'KWO') is the former deputy director of the Whitehouse's Office of Faith-Based and Community Initiatives. He left in December 2003. He says he was disillusioned with the administration because they failed to actually fund faith-based charities, and they used compassion and religion for political ends. He is the author of the new memoir, 'Tempting Faith: An Inside Story of Political Seduction' (FreePress)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) H. JAMES TOWEY is the former director of the Bush Administration's Office of Faith-Based and Community Initiatives, and was David Kuo's boss. He will respond to the comments made by Kuo. TOWEY also served as Mother Teresa's lawyer. He is now president of the Benedictine Saint Vincent College in Latrobe, PA. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Lost: A Search for Six of Six Million' (Harper Collins) by Daniel Mendelsohn. In the book he unearths and reconstructs the lives of six people in his family who died in the Holocaust.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) British journalist STEPHEN GREY. He writes about security issues and Iraq. His work appears in the Sunday Times of London, the New York Times, the Guardian, and the Atlantic Monthly. He says that dozens of terror suspects are still being held in secret prisons and interrogated by the CIA despite President Bush's declaration that the CIA is no longer doing so. GREY's new book is 'Ghost Plane: The True Story of the CIA Torture Program' (St. Martin's Press). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'The Captain and the Kid,' Elton John's new album.

Interview with Ray Manzarek; Interview with Jac Holzman; Interview with John Densmore; Review of the film "Flag of our fathers." October 20, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502834].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Keyboard player and record producer RAY MANZAREK. He was part of the rock band the Doors, which broke up after the death of lead singer Jim Morrison. This month marks the 40th anniversary of the band's formation. There's a new book out next month called The Doors. It's an inside look at the band and includes interviews with the three surviving members. Never before seen photos and previously untold stories are revealed. More info at www.raymanzarek.us. (this interview continues later in the show.) (Original airdate: 7/6/98) (2.) Record exec JAC HOLZMAN. He founded Elektra Records in 1950, initially focusing on recording folk and ethnic music. In 1964 he founded Nonesuch Records. In the 1960s he signed on some of the big pop and rock voices of the era like Bob Dylan, Judy Collins, Carly Simon, Jackson Browne, and the Doors. He talks about working with the Doors. HOLZMAN headed Elektra Records for 23 years. (Original airdate: 7/7/98) (3.) Doors drummer JOHN DENSMORE. On his web site, he declares, 'The drum was the first fing instrument.' After the breakup of The Doors, Densmore went on to play reggae music and got involved in theater and writing projects, penning his autobiography and publishing magazine articles. His current project is the group Tribaljazz. Their self-titled debut album is now out in stores. (Original airdate: 9/14/90) (4.) More with RAY MANZAREK. He'll talk about coming up with the famous piano riff from 'Light My Fire.' (5.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Flags of Our Fathers,' directed by Clint Eastwood. It's about the six men who raised the flag at Iwo Jima.

---

Interview with Andre Benjamin. October 23, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825919].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rapper, producer and actor ANDRE BENJAMIN. He's also known as Andre 3000 (his first name is pronounced 'AHN-dray'). He's half of the Grammy-winning hip-hop duo Outkast, best known for their kit single Hey Ya! from the double album Speakerboxxx/The Love Below. His new project is an animated series for the Cartoon Network called Class of 3000. It debuts Friday November 3rd at 8:00 PM. On Friday October 27, the Cartoon Network will air a half hour mockumentary chronicling the life of the fictional star of Class of 3000. That show is called Sunny Bridges: From Bankhead to Buckhead. Benjamin stars as the voice of Sunny Bridges. Benjamin's films include Idlewild, Four Brothers and Be Cool.(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THOROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE SHOW.)

---

Interview with Lou Dubose; Interview with Tina Cassidy; Review of the film "Infamous." October 24, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502608].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Author LOU DUBOSE. His new book, co-authored with Jake Bernstein, is Vice: Dick Cheney and the Hijacking of the American Presidency. Dubose, a former writer for the Texas Observer, has covered Texas politics for over two decades. He's also the co-author (with Molly Ivins) of two books about George W Bush, and he also wrote books about Tom DeLay and Karl Rove. (2.) Journalist TIMA CASSIDY. Her new book is BIRTH: The Surprising History of How We Are Born. After Cassidy had her own child in 2004, she was inspired to write the book after hearing many accounts of other women's birth experiences. Cassidy chronicles birth practices throughout time and across cultures. Cassidy is a former reporter for the Boston Globe and writes for other publications including The New York Times Magazine. (3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews Infamous, the new film about Truman Capote based on the book by George Plimpton. Toby Jones and Sigourney Weaver star. The film covers the same ground as last year's Oscar winning film Capote.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Gambian attorney FATOU BENSOUDA (pronounced "fah-TOO ben-SOO-dah"). She is the deputy prosecutor of the International Criminal Court (ICC). The court's first case concerns crimes involving child soldiers. The ICC was set up as a court of last resort to deal with genocide, war crimes and crimes against humanity. Bensouda has been a prosecutor for 19 years. She has served as Attorney General, Secretary of State and Minister of Justice for The Gambia. She is an authority on gender and armed conflict, such as crimes of sexual violence. (2.) Kenya political activist WANGARI MAATHAI (pronounced "wahn-GAH-ree mah-THIGH"). Maathai won the 2004 Nobel Peace Prize. Her new memoir is called Unbowed. She is the founder of the Green Belt Movement, which has planted over thirty million trees across Kenya. In 2002, she was elected to Kenya's parliament, and in 2003 was appointed assistant minister for the environment. Maathai served in the National Council of Women in Kenya. She is the first woman in East and Central Africa to earn a doctoral degree. She's won twenty awards and prizes for her humanitarian work. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews The Shakespeare Wars by Ron Rosenbaum.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress JULIA SWEENEY. She's currently performing a one-woman show called Letting Go of God at the off-off-Broadway theater Ars Nova in Manhattan. It's about her take on religion. Sweeney is an atheist. A Saturday Night Live cast alum, Sweeney is also currently writing for the TV show Desperate Housewives. Sweeney also wrote and performed the 1996 Broadway show God Said, Ha! which was later made into a film and CD. Her films include Pulp Fiction, Clockstoppers and It's Pat, based on her gender-confused character on SNL. [THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW] (2.) Writer RICHARD FORD. He brings back Frank Bascombe, the protagonist of his two previous novels, 'The Sportswriter' and 'Independence Day,' in his new book 'The Lay of the Land' (Knopf, 2006). 'Independence Day' was the first book to win both the Pulitzer Prize and the PEN/Faulkner Award.

Interview with Annette Bening; Interview with Harvey Pekar; Commentary on the difference between progressives and liberals. October 27, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502607].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress ANNETTE BENING. She's starring in the new film adaptation of Augusten Burrough's memoir, 'Running With Scissors.' She was nominated for Oscars for her roles in 'Being Julia,' 'American Beauty,' and 'The Grifters.' She is married to actor Warren Beatty and has four children. This interview first aired 2/22/05. (2.) Writer HARVEY PEKAR ('PEE-car'). He's edited a new volume of comics called 'The Best American Comics 2006.' Pekar began writing comic book stories in 1972, encouraged by his friend Robert Crumb, who has illustrated many of his pieces. The first collection of Pekar's work was 'American Splendor.' An award winning film of the same name was released in 2003. Pekar also wrote the book 'Our Cancer Year' in collaboration with his wife, Joyce Brabner. This interview first aired 11/10/05. (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG. He'll tell us what he thinks is the difference between progressives and liberals.

Interview with Neal Gabler; Commentary on Floyd Dixon; Review of the television series "Cracker." October 30, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502609].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Entertainment expert NEAL GABLER (pronounced 'GAY-blur'). His new book is WALT DISNEY: The Triumph of American Imagination. Gabler was given complete access to the Disney archives to write a biography that begins when Disney was just a twinkle in his father's eye and ends at the entrance to the Walt Disney mausoleum. Gabler is also the author of An Empire of Their Own: How the Jews Invented Hollywood, and Winchell: Gossip, Power and the Culture of Celebrity. Gabler is a senior fellow at the Norman Lear Center for the Study of Entertainment and Society in the Annenberg School for Communications at the University of Southern California. (2.) Rock historian ED WARD pays tribute to Floyd Dixon, a pioneering rhythm & blues singer and piano player who died this summer at age 77. (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews a new episode of the popular British crime series Cracker. The program was originally produced in the 1990s, and Robbie Coltrane returns to star as Edward Fitzgerald, an abrasive criminal psychologist. Tonight's two hour show, Cracker: A New Terror, airs at 9PM on BBC America.

Interview with James Traub; Obituary for Richard Gilman. October 31, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502610].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer JAMES TRAUB. His new book is The Best Intentions: Kofi Annan and the UN in the Era of American World Power. Traub recounts the intertwined story of Annan, the United Nations and American foreign policy from 1992 to the present. Traub is a contributing writer for The New York Times Magazine. His other books include City on A Hill and the Devil's Playground. (2.) Theater critic RICHARD GILMAN. He died Saturday at age 83. Gilman was a writer and professor at the Yale School of Drama. Ben Brantley of The New York Times writes, 'Mr. Gilman was one of a breed of philosopher-critics?who came to prominence in the 1950s and 1960s. They located in modern drama the elements of abstraction, alienation and absurdity that had long been at the core of discussions of other forms of art and literature.' Gilman believed that 'rather than imitate reality, theater should offer alternatives to it.' In this archive interview from 1987, Gilman recounts his conversion from Judaism to Catholicism and then to atheism.

Interview with Dan Seligson; Interview with Nelson B. Rivers III; Interview with Don Byron. November 1, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885275].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Election reform expert DAN SELIGSON. He's the editor of www.electionline.org, a nonpartisan and non-advocacy organization that tracks and analyzes election reform issues. The website (2.) NAACP officers MARVIN "DOC" CHEATHAM & REV. NELSON B. RIVERS, III. CHEATHAM is the 7th
President of the NAACP Baltimore City Branch and an election specialist. He's the founder and chairman of the Maryland Voting Rights Restoration Coalition. RIVERS is the Chief Operating Officer of the NAACP. They'll be speaking about manipulation of African-American voters, and the efforts they are making to change the voting landscape. is a venture of the Election Reform Information Project. (3.) Musician, composer and bandleader DON BYRON. He has a new album out called Do the Boomerang: the Music of Junior Walker. It's a collection of songs associated with the great Motown saxophonist and singer Autry "Junior Walker" DeWalt. Tracks include Shotgun and Roadrunner. While BYRON is usually associated with the clarinet, he plays baritone sax on this new CD. BYRON is a prolific musician who gets inspiration from all kinds of music. Classically trained, he's performed and recorded music by Henry Mancini, Stevie Wonder, Leonard Bernstein, Stephen Sondheim, Ornette Coleman, Frederic Chopin, Duke Ellington, William C. Handy, and Raymond Scott, and klezmer music by Mickey Katz. One of his most played recordings is "Bug Music" (1996, Nonesuch) used on NPR, as well as on commercials.

Interview with Greg Daniels and Mindy Kaling; Review of the latest Yo La Tenga album "I am not afraid of you and I will beat your A;" Review of the film "Borat." November 2, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503725].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV writers GREG DANIELS and MINDY KALING. They work on the hit NBC series The Office, starring Steve Carrell. Kaling also plays Kelly on the show. Daniels has a history of TV comedy writing. He's worked on Saturday Night Live, Seinfeld and the Simpsons. Kaling had a role in the film The 40 Year Old Virgin and appeared on an episode of HBO's Curb Your Enthusiasm. (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews I Am Not Afraid of You and I Will Beat Your A, the new CD from the band Yo La Tenga. (3.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews Borat: Cultural Learnings of America for Make Benefit Glorious Nation of Kazakhstan, starring Sacha Baron-Cohen.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian and actor JERRY LEWIS. There is a new DVD featuring the films of Jerry Lewis and Dean Martin. Paramount Home Video's Martin and Lewis Collection, Volume 1, is a 4 disc set that includes 8 movies - My Friend Irma, My Friend Irma Goes West, That's My Boy, Sailor Beware, Jumping Jacks, The Stooge, Scared Stiff, and The Caddy. Five of the eight make their DVD debut in this collection. Last fall, Lewis penned a memoir of his days with Dean Martin. It's called "Dean and Me: A Love Story" (coauthored by James Kaplan published by Doubleday). It has just come out in paperback. The two made 16 films together; in fact they were the number one box office earners from 1950 to 1956. They also performed in nightclubs, theatres, and television. Martin was straight man to Lewis. The book chronicles their tumultuous relationship. By the end the two weren't speaking to each other. LEWIS turned 80 this year (Rebroadcast. Original airdate: 10/25/05). (2.) Author WILLIAM STYRON. The Pulitzer Prize winning writer died Wednesday at the age of 81. His daughter, Alexandra Styron, said that he died of pneumonia at Martha's Vineyard Hospital. His books include Lie down in Darkness, The Confessions of Nat Turner (which won the Pulitzer) and Sophie's Choice, which was adapted into an Oscar-winning film starring Meryl Streep. His memoir Darness Visible was about his struggles with depression and suicidal impulses. (Rebroadcast. Original airdate: 9/19/90) (3.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews a recently re-released 1940 recording from pianist Frank Melrose called Bluesiana (Delmark).

Interview with Harry Shearer; Interview with May Chidiac. November 6, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503121].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian HARRY SHEARER. He has a new book called Not Enough Indians. It'sa comic novel about Native Americans and gambling. Shearer also has a role inthe new film For Your Consideration, directed by Christopher Guest. Shearer isa voice actor on The Simpsons. He plays voices of Mr. Burns, Waylon Smithers,Ned Flanders, Principal Skinner and many more characters. Shearer is also the host of the weekly public radio series Le Show. Shearer has had roles in dozensof films, including this is Spinal Tap, which he co-created and co-wrote; AMighty Wind, The Truman Show and Ghost Dog.
Shearer will be performing live across the country over the next few months. For more information, check www.harryshearer.com. (2.) Lebanese TV anchor MAY CHIDIAC (pronounced "SHE-jack"). Last year, she lost an arm and a leg as the result of a car bomb explosion. Chidiac works for the Lebanese Broadcasting Corporation. She just won a Courage in Journalism Award presented by the International Women's Media Foundation.

Interview with Dexter Filkins; Review of a DVD collection "Essential Art House November 7, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825547].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New York Times correspondent DEXTER FILKINS. He wrote the cover story of this week's Sunday New York Times Magazine. The title is "Where Plan A Left Ahmad Chalabi." Filkins writes that the war Chalabi "pushed for has not succeeded. He has no place in an Iraqi government he thought he would lead. He has some issues." Filkins was a correspondent in the Baghdad bureau of the New York Times from March 2003 to August 2006. He is now a Nieman fellow at Harvard University and is writing a book about his experiences in Iraq and Afghanistan. (2.) Film critic JOHN POWERS reviews a new 50 movie DVD collection, Essential Art House: 50 Years of Janus films. Titles include The Seventh Seal, Pandora's Box, The 400 Blows and The Lady Vanishes.

Interview with Marc Sandalow; Interview with Daniel Mendelsohn. November 8, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825850].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist MARC SANDELOW (pronounced ?SAND-uh-low?). He's the Washington Bureau chief for the San Francisco Chronicle. He'll tell us all about Congresswoman Nancy Pelosi, who stands to become the first female Speaker of the House, now that the Democrats have taken control of congress following yesterday's mid-term elections. Pelosi represents California's 8th district, which covers most of the city of San Francisco. She's held the post since 1987. (2.) Author DANIEL MENDELSOHN. His new book is THE LOST: a search for six of six million." As a child, old Jewish relatives told stories of family members killed in the Holocaust. Medelsohn undertook a worldwide search for surviving members of his family's town. about investigating what happened to his great uncle's family. Mendelsohn discovered letters from the family begging their relatives in the U. S. to help them get out of their Ukrainian town. Currently, he teaches at Bard college.

---

Interview with Will Ferrell; Review of the television program "Prime suspect November 9, 2006.
[Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503475].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian and actor WILL FERRELL. He stars in the new film "Stranger Than Fiction." He plays an accountant who finds that his life has a voiceover that only he can hear. It turns out he's the subject of a novel, and that the writer plans to kill him. Ferrell became famous as a member of Saturday Night Live from 1995 to 2002. This summer, his film Talladega Nights: The Ballad of Ricky Bobby was a big hit. His other films include Anchorman: The Legend of Run Burgundy, Old School and Bewitched. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECONDHALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews "The Prime Suspect: The Final Act" the seventh and the last in a series of "Prime Suspect" dramas starring Helen Mirren as police inspector Jane Tennison. It airs on PBS's "Masterpiece Theatre."

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV and film director JOHN RICH. He's written a new memoir about directing some of the most well-known shows in TV history including 'The Dick Van Dyke Show,' 'Gunsmoke,' 'All In the Family,' 'Barney Miller,' 'Good Times,' and 'Newhart.' His film credits include 'Wives and Lovers' and 'Roustabout' starring Elvis Presley. RICH's new memoir is 'Warm Up the Snake: A Hollywood Memoir' (University of Michigan Press). (2.) Former athlete and president of the World Anti-doping Agency RICHARD POUND. He's author of the new book, 'Inside Dope: How Drugs Are the Biggest Threat to Sports, Why You Should Care, and What Can Be Done About Them' (Wiley publishing). POUND is also a 25-year member of the International Olympic Committee. In 1960 he participated in the Olympics as a swimmer from Canada.
(3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the debut album by country singer Bradley Walker, it's called 'Highway of Dreams.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) MICHAEL GORDON is Chief Military Correspondent for The New York Times. He was recently in Iraq. We'll talk with him about efforts to stem the violence in Baghdad, and the prospects for change in American policy. His recent book is "Cobra II: The Inside Story of the Invasion and Occupation of Iraq." (2.) Author Richard Sloan, Ph.D. His new book is called Blind Faith: The Unholy Alliance of Religion and Medicine (St. Martin's Press). In it, he examines the claim that prayer and religion can heal the sick. Using the scientific method, he shows that there is no compelling evidence that religion can actually cure medical ailments. He finds this reliance on religion and the rejection of well-established medical treatments to be a disturbing trend. Sloan is professor of behavioral Medicine at Columbia University. (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI. He will review 3 new shows premiering this week on the 3 major networks. We are currently in the middle of November sweeps month.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Vice Presidential candidate and senator JOHN EDWARDS. During the election of 2004, he resigned from the Senate. He currently lives in Chapel Hill, North Carolina and recently did a lot of campaigning for Democrats in advance of last week's midterm elections. He'll talk about politics, the Kerry-Edwards campaign, and his thoughts on his own possible presidential bid in 2008. He has edited a new book called, 'Home: The Blueprints of Our Lives.' (Collins). In it, well-know politicians, writers, celebrities, and lesser-known professionals talk about their homes. (2.) Journalist JULIAN DIBBELL (dih-BELL), author of 'Play Money: Or, How I Quit My Day Job and Made Millions Trading Virtual Loot.' (Basic Books). In it, he explores the world of online roleplaying games, where hundreds of thousands of players log on to operate fantasy characters in virtual environments. One of the most popular games, World of Warcraft, has six million subscribers. These virtual games spawn virtual economies that have real life implications. Many players buy virtual weapons and other products on Ebay and special online storefronts. Dibbell's work has appeared in Details, Spin, Harper's and the New York Times. He is also the author of My Tiny Life: Crime and Passion in the Virtual World, and he is currently a contributing editor for Wired magazine.

Interview with Greg Kinnear; Interview with Shirley Corriher; Commentary on language. November 16, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503727].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor GREG KINNEAR (kin-EAR). He's starring in the new film 'Fast Food Nation,' based on the nonfiction book about the fast food and meatpacking industries. Kinnear's other films include 'Little Miss Sunshine,' 'As Good As It Gets,' 'AutoFocus,' and 'Nurse Betty.' KINNEAR got his start as host and executive producer of 'Talk Soup' on E! Entertainment. Later he hosted his own late-night talk show, 'Later with Greg Kinnear.' (2.) Culinary expert SHIRLEY CORRIHER (CORR-ee-er), author of "Cookwise," (William Morrow) a practical guide to culinary mysteries and the science of cooking. It won the 1998 James Beard Award for Food Reference & Techniques. CORRIHER got her start as a research biochemist at the Vanderbilt Medical school, and learned to cook preparing meals for a boarding school she and her husband ran. She has a new DVD 'Kitchen Secrets Revealed' (available at Kitchen Secrets Revealed, 1107 Camden Court, Atlanta, GA 30327-4277). (REBROADCAST from 11/24/97) (3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the use of labels, particularly political labels, and at what point they become no longer useful.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former New York Times crime reporter SELWYN RAAB (like "cab"). His book, "Five Families: The Rise, Decline, and Resurgence of America's Most Powerful Mafia Empires," is now out in paperback. He provides a history of New York City's organized crime, and describes how the mafia experienced a resurgence in the aftermath of 9/11. (Original airdate: 9/19/05) (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews sound Grammar, the new album from saxophonist Ornette Coleman. (3.) War correspondent NICHOLAS PROFFITT. He covered the Vietnam War for Newsweek Magazine and wrote the book Gardens of Stone, which was later made into a film directed by Francis Ford Coppola. Proffitt died November 10 2006 at age 63. (Original airdate: 5/25/87) (2.) Film critic David Edelstein reviews "Casino Royale," the new James Bond film starring Daniel Craig.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelists ANITA and KIRAN DESAI (duh-SIGH). They are mother and daughter. Kiran's novel, 'The Inheritance of Loss,' won the 2006 Man Booker Prize. Kiran's mother, Anita, has been short listed for the Booker Prize three times. Anita was born in India to a German mother and Bengali father. She is the John E. Burchard Professor of Humanities, Emeritus at MIT. Her books include 'Fire on the Mountain,' 'Clear Light of Day' and 'In Custody.' Kiran was born in New Delhi and moved to the U.S. as a teenager. Her first book was 'Hullabaloo in the Guava Orchard.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews the new recording of Beethoven's 5th and 7th Symphonies, led by 25-year-old Venezuelan conductor Gustavo Dudamel (on the Deutsche Grammaophon label). The conductor and the orchestra are the product of Venezuela's 30-year-old national program for young musicians, which provides poor students with the opportunity to learn and play music. [THIS RE

Interview with Parker Posey; Interview with Joe Garden and Joe Randazzo; Obituary for Robert Altman. November 21, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503478].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actress PARKER POSEY. She is co-starring in her fourth Christopher Guest comedy, 'For Your Consideration.' Her other films include 'Dazed & Confused,' 'Kicking & Screaming,' and 'The Daytrippers.' She also co-starred in the TV mini-series 'Tales of the City,' 'More Tales of the City,' and 'Further Tales of the City.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Editors JOE GARDEN and JOE RANDAZZO of The Onion, a news parody website (www.theonion.com) and newspaper. There's a new compilation of articles from The Onion called Homeland Insecurity: Complete News Archives Volume 17. GARDEN is the features editor. He started as a reporter for the print version in 1993. His personal website is www.votejoegarden.com. RANDAZZO is the assistant editor of The Onion and comes from a standup comedy background. (3.) Film director ROBERT ALTMAN. He died last night at age 81. We play back a 1990 interview with Altman, whose work includes MASH, The Long Goodbye, Nashville and this year's A Prairie Home Companion. While Altman was nominated many times, he never won an Oscar; this year he received an honorary Academy Award for lifetime achievement. His career began in the early 1950s and he wrote, produced and directed hundreds of TV shows and films over the course of his life. (Original airdate: 12/20/90)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV writer and producer ED BURNS. He draws on his experience as a former Baltimore detective to create the acclaimed HBO series The Wire, now in its fifth and final season. It's a crime drama with a central theme of surveillance technology used to capture drug dealers. In 2003, the show won a Peabody Award. Last year, the show was nominated for an Emmy. However, viewership is not commensurate with acclaim, and The Wire's ratings have never been very high. Seasons one through three are available on DVD. Burns is also the co-author (with the Wire's exec producer and co-writer David Simon) of the book The Corner: A Year in the Life of an Inner-City Neighborhood. An HBO miniseries of the same name was adapted from the book. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE SHOW.)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Playwright NEIL SIMON. He is this year's recipient of The Kennedy Center's Mark Twain Prize for American Humor. (The award ceremony will be broadcast this week on many PBS stations). His plays and movies include, "Barefoot in the Park," "The Odd Couple," "The Goodbye Girl," "The Out-of-Towners," and "The Sunshine Boys." He won a Pulitzer Prize for his play "Lost in Yonkers." When he talked with Terry he had just completed his memoir, "Rewrites." (REBROADCAST from 10/17/96). (2.) We remember Rhythm and Blues singer RUTH BROWN. She died last week (Nov. 17th) at the age of 78. The cause was complications following a heart attack and a stroke she suffered after surgery. BROWN got her start in the 1940s, and influenced a whole generation of singers including Stevie Wonder, Aretha Franklin, Little Richard and Bonnie Raitt. Her hits include "Mama, He Treats Your Daughter Mean" and "Teardrops From My Eyes." Later she appeared in John Water's film "Hairspray" and in the Broadway hit "Black and Blue." In 1996 her autobiography was published, "Miss Rhythm." (REBROADCAST from 12/22/97)

Interview with Robin Williams; Review of the film "Borat." November 24, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503469].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and comic ROBIN WILLIAMS. He's co-starring in the new animated feature 'Happy Feet.' Recently he's stared in the film 'The Night Listener' as a late-night radio host who befriends a 14 year old listener. It's based on a novel by Armistead Maupin. WILLIAMS began his career as a stand-up comic but first got wide attention in the 1970s as Mork in the sitcom 'Mork & Mindy.' His films include 'The World According to Garp,' 'Good Morning Vietnam,' 'Mrs. Doubtfire,' 'Good Will Hunting,' (for which he won an Academy Award) 'Dead Poets Society' and in two thrillers 'Insomnia' and 'One Hour Photo.' (REBROADCAST from 8/3/06) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS considers the controversial new hit film 'Borat.'
Interview with Jimmy Carter; Review of Alice Munro's short story collection 'The view from castle rock.? November 27, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503470].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former President JIMMY CARTER. His new book is 'Palestine Peace Not Apartheid' (Simon & Schuster). He founded The Carter Center, a conflict resolution organization. He won a Nobel Peace Prize for his mediation work. He's written a number of bestselling books, including 'An Hour Before Daylight,' 'Christmas in Plains,' 'Keeping Faith: Memoirs of a President' and 'Talking Peace: A Vision for the Next Generation.' His most recent book is 'Our Endangered Values: America's Moral Crisis.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The View from Castle Rock' (Knopf) the new short story collection by Alice Munro.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ARIEL LEVY (R-ee-el LEE-vee) is a contributing editor at New York magazine, where she writes about sexuality, culture, and gender politics. Her new book is 'Female Chauvinist Pigs: Women and the Rise of Raunch Culture' (Free Press). One reviewer writes that Levy 'strips the 'Girls Gone Wild' culture of its cuteness in her provocative 'Female Chauvinist Pigs,' arguing that post-feminist poster girls such as Playboy Bunnies offer only faux empowerment.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Musicians and composers PHILLIP JOHNSTON and JOEL FORRESTER of The Microscopic Septet (the group that composed and recorded the Fresh Air theme song). The group has reunited for the release of their two volume 'History of the Micros: Seven Men in Neckties & Surrealistic Swing' (on the Cuneiform label).
Interview with Nicholas Blanford; Obituary for Anita O'Day. November 29, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503898].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist NICHOLAS BLANFORD is Beirut correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor and is the author of the book 'Killing Mr. Lebanon' about the assassination in 2005 of former Lebanese prime minister Rafik Hariri. [THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW=] (2.) We remember jazz singer ANITA O’DAY. She died last week of a heart attack at the age of 87. She was known for her distinctive legato style, the result of a botched childhood tonsillectomy that left her without vibrato. She made her name with the bands of Gene Krupa and Stan Kenton, and later had success as a solo performer. [THIS INTERVIEW WAS FIRST BROADCAST IN 1987]

Interview with Danny DeVito; Review of the new Beatles remix album "Love." November 30, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503467].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor, producer, director, DANNY DEVITO. He first became known to audiences for his role as Louie on the TV comedy Taxi, and he's gone on to be involved in a number of great movies. He directed War of the Roses, Hoffa, and Death to Smoochy, and produced Erin Brockovich and Pulp Fiction, among others. DEVITO's is now starring in Deck the Halls. [THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW]. (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews Love, the new Beatles remix album produced by George Martin and his son Giles.

Interview with John C. Reilly; Review of the film "Happy feet." December 1, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503907].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor JOHN C. REILLY. He co-stars in the hit film 'Talladega Nights: the Ballad of Ricky Bobby' with Will Farrell. It's soon out on video. Reilly is probably best known for his association with writer/director Paul Thomas Anderson in the films 'Hard 8,' 'Boogie Nights,' and 'Magnolia.' REILLY came out of the Chicago-based drama troupe The Steppenwolf Theatre. He made his film debut in Brian DePalma's
'Casualties of War.' His other films include 'The Perfect Storm,' 'Dolores Claiborne,' 'The Thin Red Line,' 'Chicago' and 'The Aviator.' (REBROADCAST from 8/7/06) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new animated feature 'Happy Feet.'
and she'll tell us about the particular dangers of covering the war in her native land. She's written about the issues of women and children in a war zone, human rights abuses and the struggle of women in a Muslim society. (2.) Musicians CHRIS GAFFNEY and DAVE GONZALEZ of the band The Hacienda Brothers.
Their new album is called What's Wrong With Right. It's a mix of original tunes and covers. The Tuscon, Arizona based band blends country and R&B. Their producer is the legendary Dan Penn.

Interview with Brian Whitakar; Interview with Noa Sattath; Review of Marisa Monte's "Universo ao Meu Redor" and "Infinito Particular." December 6, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http:// www.worldcat.org/oclc/972885271].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Journalist BRIAN WHITAKER. His new book is 'Unspeakable Love: Gay and Lesbian Life in the Middle East' (University of California, 2006). He's the Middle East editor for the British newspaper
The Guardian. He also runs the website al-bab.com, which aims to provide Arab cultural and political information to non-Arabs. (2.) Israeli gay rights activist NOA SATTATH (pronounced 'NO-a sah-TAHT').
She's the executive director of Jerusalem Open House, an organization devoted to fostering gay pride.
Last month, the city hosted WorldPride 2006: Love Without Borders, an international pride gathering. A gay pride rally took place at a university stadium in Jerusalem under tight security. A march was planned but did not take place, because the Orthodox community was opposed to a parade through the city. (3.)
MILO MILES talks about the music of Brazilian singer, songwriter, and bandleader Marisa Monte. She released a pair of albums earlier this year, Universo ao Meu Redor, and Infinito Particular, both on EMI International.

Interview with Jim Newton; Review of Best fiction books of the year; Review of My Chemical Romance's new album "The black parade." December 7, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503893].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Journalist JIM NEWTON. His new book, 'Justice For All: Earl Warren and the Nation He Made,' looks at the life of the Supreme Court Justice who presided over such landmark decisions as Brown v.
Board of Education. Newton is a Pulitzer Prize winning journalist, sharing in the awards given to the Interview with Sam Moore; Review of the best mystery books of the year. December 11, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502837].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rock and roll famer SAM MOORE, formerly of the duo Sam and Dave. His is the voice most associated with the hits 'Hold On! I'm Comin,' and 'Soul Man.' His persona was the inspiration for 'The Blues Brothers' characters immortalized by Dan Aykroyd and John Belushi on Saturday Night Live. He has a new solo album, 'Sam Morre: Overnight Sensational' (Rhino records). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN continues her list of the year's best in books. This time she tells us about her favorites in mysteries and nonfiction: 'Puccini's Ghosts' (a mystery by Morag Joss) and 'The Night Gardener' (another mystery by George Pelecanos). Also 'Girls of Tender Age' (a memoir by Mary-Ann Tirone Smith), 'Impounded' (a collection of photos of Japanese American interment camps by Dorothea Lange), 'The Lost' (by Daniel Mendelsohn about his uncle lost in the Holocaust), 'The Shakespeare Wars,' (by Ron Rosenbaum), 'The Most Famous Man in America' (a biography of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher by Debby Applegate), and 'A Godly Hero' (a biography of William Jennings Bryan by Michael Kazin).
Interview with Richard Powers; Interview with Alex Kuczynski. December 12, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503083].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) RICHARD POWERS. He's just won the National Book Award for his novel 'The Echo Maker' (Farrar, Straus and Giroux 2006). His previous books include 'The Gold Bug Variations' and 'The Time of Our Singing.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) New York Times reporter ALEX KUCZYNSKI. Her new book is 'Beauty Junkies: Inside our $15 Billion Obsession with Cosmetic Surgery' (Doubleday, 2006). KUCZYNSKI is no stranger to 'beauty maintenance' herself; she's had botox, an eye-lift, and lipo, but gave it up after a bad experience with lip augmentation.

Interview with Lincoln Chafee; Commentary on language. December 13, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825484].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rhode Island Republican Senator LINCOLN CHAFEE. He's serving out his term after being ousted by Democrat Sheldon Whitehouse in the mid-term elections. CHAFEE's considered the most liberal Republican in the Senate, and is the only one to have voted against the war in Iraq. He made another notable split with the GOP when he united with Democrats to oppose the nomination of John Bolton as Ambassador to the United Nations. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers some of the words that made headlines this past year and were part of the zeitgeist.

Interview with Robert Satloff; Obituary for Peter Boyle. December 14, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503084].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian ROBERT SATLOFF is the author of the new book 'Among the Righteous: Lost Stories from the Holocaust's Long Reach into Arab Lands' (PublicAffairs). It's about the Arabs who protected or aided Jews in North Africa where Nazi Germany, Vichy France, and fascist Italy exported anti-Semitic

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ROBERT LOPEZ & JEFF MARX, the songwriting team behind the Tony award-winning Broadway musical, 'Avenue Q.' (Best Musical, Best Original Score, Best Book of a Musical). There's a new companion book (Avenue Q: The Book) and you can't miss it at the bookstore. It's covered in bright orange fur. The subversive show features people and puppets and is about a group of aimless, 30-somethings with low expectations and active libidos. It includes such songs as 'It Sucks to be Me,' 'Everyone's A Little Bit Racist,' 'If You Were Gay,' and 'I Wish I could Go Back to College.' (Original airdate: 8/2/04) (2.) Music critic MILO MILES tells us how the klezmer-fusion band the Klezmatics are keeping the music of Woody Guthrie alive. Their latest albums are Woody Guthrie's Happy Joyous Hanukkah and the Grammy-nominated Wonder Wheel. They are currently on tour. (3.) Jazz musician KENNY DAVERN (pronounced dah-VERN). He died this week at age 71. Davern loved traditional jazz, and played clarinet and soprano saxophone. He was a part of the band the Soprano Summit along with Dick Wellstood and Bob Wilber. We rebroadcast a live concert with Davern, performing with guitarist Howard Alden and bassist Phil Flannagan. (Original airdate: 2/18/88) (4.) Critic at large JOHN POWERS reviews Preston Sturges: The Filmmaker Collection, a new seven DVD set of classic 1940s Preston Sturges films. Titles include The Palm Beach Story, The Lady Eve and Christmas in July.
Interview with Ricky Gervais; Review of Fat Waller, Sonny Stitt and Andrew Hill Solo's CD box sets. December 18, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503085].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedic actor and writer RICKY GERVAIS. He's in the new film Night at the Museum. Creepy crawly insects come to life after a spell is cast at The Museum of Natural History. Gervais is best known as the creator and star of the British TV comedy series The Office, which has been adapted into a hit show in the US starring Steve Carrell. Gervais is a writer and co-creator of the American version. He has another TV series called Extras, which airs in the U.S. on HBO. Gervais has a role in the film For Your Consideration, currently in theaters. He's won an Emmy, a Golden Globe and three BAFTA Awards (the British equivalent of the Academy Awards). Gervais also writes the Flanimals series of children's books. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD recommends four box sets for gifts that won't break the bank. They are: Fats Waller/If You Got to Ask, You Ain't Got it; How Low Can You Go? (music from between the world wars); Sonny Stitt/Stitt's Bits: The Bebop Recordings, 1949-1952; and Andrew Hill Solo. All sets contain three discs each.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Green evangelist RICHARD CIZIK (pronounced SIZE-ik). He is the Vice President for Governmental Affairs of the National Association of Evangelicals, a powerful lobbying organization that represents 45,000 churches. He is a conservative Christian who preaches the message of environmentalism from a pro-life perspective. He talks about creation care in relation to the threat of global warming. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN. It's his year-end talk with Terry about the movies of 2006. He'll give us his top ten and also talk about the best of the holiday options.
Interview with John Powers; Review of top 10 music albums of the year; Review of classic and more recent television shows. December 20, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502840].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Fresh Air critic at large JOHN POWERS. He'll talk with Terry about the events that defined American culture this year. Highlights include the Borat movie, Stephen Colbert's speech at the White House correspondent's Dinner, George Allen's use of the racial slur macaca during the 2006 US senate election in Virginia, and the rise of YouTube.com as a mechanism for rapid dissemination of information. John Powers is also a critic for Vogue magazine. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER presents the tops in pops. He does not have a ten best list this year, but instead gives us a quick overview of the music industry along with his picks for some of the year's best tunes, including work from Gnarls Barkley, Nellie McKay, My Chemical Romance, Willie Nelson and Bob Dylan. (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI has suggestions for last-minute holiday gifts: boxed DVD sets of classic and recent TV shows, including The West Wing, Homicide, Six Feet Under, MASH, St. Elsewhere, the first season of Saturday Night Live and Get Smart.

Interview with Bill Condon; Interview with Christine Vachon. December 21, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502838].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director and screenwriter BILL CONDON. His new film is Dreamgirls. It's a film adaptation of the Broadway hit musical. Condon also wrote and directed Kinsey and Gods and Monsters, for which he won an Oscar. He was nominated for an Oscar for Chicago. (2.) Film producer CHRISTINE VACHON. Her new book is A Killer Life: How an Independent Film Producer Survives Deals and Disasters in Hollywood and Beyond. Vachon has produced over 30 feature films, including Infamous (the other Truman Capote film), Far From Heaven, One Hour Photo and Boys Don't Cry. This book is a follow-up to Vachon's best selling first book, Shooting to Kill.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) An in-studio concert with singer REBECCA KILGORE, trombonist Dan Barrett and pianist Rossano Sportiello recorded at the NOLA studios in Manhattan. KILGORE is one of the leading interpreters of American songs. She became best-known for her work with pianist and composer Dave Frishberg. In 2002 she formed her own band BED. Their latest CD is 'BEDlam.' Barrett is a member of her band. Sportiello is a stride pianist from Italy. (THIS CONCERT CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (Original airdate: 12/19/05) (2.) Songwriter HUGH MARTIN. Along with Ralph Blaine, he wrote 'Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas.' The song was made famous in the 1944 film Meet Me in St. Louis, but since then, many different versions have been recorded with changes in lyrics. Martin also wrote music for Broadway productions including Best Foot Forward, Look Ma, I'm Dancin' and the stage version of Meet Me in St. Louis. Martin is 94. (NOTE: THIS IS A NEW INTERVIEW, NOT A REBROADCAST.)

Interview with Smokey Robinson; Interview with Lamont Dozier, Brian Holland and Eddie Holland. December 25, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971502842].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rhythm and blues legend SMOKEY ROBINSON. The singer and songwriter has a new album called 'Timeless Love.' Robinson sings hits from the American songbook, including 'I Can't Give You Anything But Love (Baby),' 'Night and Day' and 'More Than You Know.' William 'Smokey' Robinson recorded dozens of top 40 hits for the Motown label as a solo artist and with The Miracles. The Miracles' 1960 song 'Shop Around' was Motown's first number one hit on the R&B singles chart. Other hits include 'Mickey's Monkey,' 'I Second That Emotion,' and 'The Tears of a Clown.' (Original airdate: 8/21/06) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) The great songwriting trio of BRIAN HOLLAND, LAMONT DOZIER, and EDWARD HOLLAND. They wrote many early Motown hits, and helped turn the company into a powerhouse. Their songs include 'You Can't Hurry Love,' 'Reach Out I'll Be There,' 'Baby, I Need Your Loving,' 'Heat Wave,' and 'Stop! In the Name of Love.' Diana Ross & The Supremes, Marvin Gaye, the Four Tops, and Martha Reeves & The Vandellas... recorded their songs. In 1990 they were inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. They have a new 3-CD box set called 'Heaven Must Have Sent You?the Holland/Dozier/Holland Story' on Hip-O Records. (Original airdate: 5/12/03)

Obituary for James Brown; Interview with Bruce Tucker; Interview with Maceo Parker; Interview with Bootsy Collins. December 26, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503575].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer JAMES BROWN. The Godfather of Soul passed away Christmas day (12.25.06). Brown is considered one of the most influential musicians of the 20th century, blending gospel, soul and funk. Brown's many hits include Get Up Offa That Thing, Funky President, Papa's Got a Brand New Bag, Super Bad, and I Got You. His other nicknames include Soul Brother No. 1, The Hardest Working Man in Show Business and Mr. Dynamite. He's received a Lifetime Achievement Grammy Award and was one of the first musicians inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame.(Original airdate: 2/2/05) (2.) Writer BRUCE TUCKER. He was the ghostwriter for James Brown's autobiography, The Godfather of Soul. Tucker is a contributing editor for The Black Music Research Journal. (3.) Musician MACEO PARKER is best known as the saxophonist who played with James Brown. His on again off again association with Brown began in 1964. He's got several albums of his own, as well as collaborations with others. His latest album is Schools In! (Rebroadcast from 10/2/90) (4.) Musician WILLIAM "BOOTSY" COLLINS. He got his start with James Brown, where he "defined the finger-popping funk bass style" (Rolling Stone). He went on to work with George Clinton as part of the Parliament-Funkadelic tribe, before forming Bootsy's Rubber Band. On stage, he created alter egos, including Bootzilla, Boot-Tron, and King of the Geepies. He's put out more than 30 albums. His latest is Christmas Is 4 Ever. (REBROADCAST from 10/10/94) (5.) JAMES BROWN (reprise). We hear once more from the soul legend.
Interview with Ray Davies; Interview with Tom Petty December 27, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503576].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and songwriter RAY DAVIES. His latest album is the solo effort, 'Other People's Lives.' Davies started The Kinks in 1964 with his brother, Dave. They are said to be the pioneers of the rowdy garage band genre of rock music. Their many hits include: "You Really Got Me," "Lola," "All Day and All of the Night," and "Tired of Waiting for you." DAVIES is now 61. (Original airdate: 4/03/06) (2.) Singer and songwriter TOM PETTY. It's been thirty years since he and the Heartbreakers debuted with their album 'Tom Petty & the Heartbreakers.' Petty's most recent album is 'Highway Companion' (American Recordings/Warner). It's been 12 years since PETTY has released a solo album, and four since he's released an album with the Heartbreakers. PETTY also has a recurring role in Fox TV's animated show 'King of the Hill.' (Original airdate: 7/27/06)

Interview with Thom Yorke; Interview with Stuart Murdoch. December 28, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/971503675].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) THOM YORKE (pronounced 'TOM YORK') is the lead singer and songwriter of the band Radiohead. Along with longtime producer Nigel Godrich, Radiohead has released six critically acclaimed records and explored the boundaries between rock and electronic music. Spin Magazine named Radiohead's 'OK Computer' the number one album of the past twenty years. Thom Yorke's new solo CD 'The Eraser' is his first release without the band. (Original airdate: 7/12/06) (2.) Singer and songwriter STUART MURDOCH. He's the front man of the indie pop band from Scotland called Belle & Sebastian. The seven-member band includes a guitarist, bassist, keyboardist, violinist, cellist, drummer, and trumpeter. This past January they passed a milestone: ten years in music. This year they completed their seventh album, 'The Life Pursuit.' When they began a decade ago the band released only non-album singles, refused to speak to the press, or to appear in press photos. Word of mouth earned them a cult following. (Original airdate: 3/6/06)
Interview with Andre 3000; Interview with Iggy Pop. December 29, 2006. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825847].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rapper, producer and actor ANDRE BENJAMIN. He's also known as Andre 3000 (his first name is pronounced 'AHN-dray'). He's half of the Grammy-winning hip-hop duo Outkast, best known for their hit single Hey Ya! from the double album Speakerboxxx/The Love Below. His newest project is an animated series for the Cartoon Network called Class of 3000. Benjamin stars as the voice of Sunny Bridges. Benjamin's films include Idlewild, Four Brothers and Be Cool. (Original airdate: 10/23/06) (2.) Singer IGGY POP. He was punk before punk existed. His career began in the late 1960s when he was the frontman for the band The Stooges. He then went solo. Pop was born James Jewell Osterburg, Jr., but took the name Iggy while in a high school band. The Stooges put out two influential albums that were not great sellers, and the band eventually broke up when heavy drug use got in the way of performing. David Bowie was a big fan of Iggy Pop, and continued to offer support despite Pop's heroin addiction. Pop kicked the habit in the 80s. He's influenced countless rock, pop, heavy metal and garage bands. His albums include 'Fun House,' 'Raw Power,' 'Sister Midnight' and 'Avenue B.' His work was collected in last year's CD 'A Million in Prizes: The Iggy Pop Anthology.' (Original airdate: 7/14/05)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Songwriter and poet LEONARD COHEN. His latest volume of poetry is called 'Book of Longing.' He's also working on an upcoming album. Cohen's poetry career began 50 years ago with the 1956 publication of 'Let Us Compare Mythologies.' Cohen is also known for his deep voice and slow phrasing of songs that straddle the folk-rock fence. He's made 17 albums. The latest is 'Dear Heather' (2004). He also appeared in the 2005 feature length documentary, 'Leonard Cohen: I'm Your Man,' which is now out on DVD. Three of his early albums from the late 1960s are set to be re-released in March 2007. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE SHOW.) (ORIGINAL AIRDATE: 5/22/06)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Writer STEFAN KANFER. His new book is 'Stardust Lost: The Triumph, Tragedy, and Mishugas of the Yiddish Theater in America.' It's about the glory days of Yiddish theater in the late 19th and early 20th century. Kanfer was a writer and editor at Time magazine for 20 years and is the author of many books including biographies of Lucille Ball and Groucho Marx. (2.) Journalist JODY ROSEN. He's put together an album called 'Jewface' (Reboot Stereophonic Records). It's the first anthology of Jewish minstrel songs. Tracks include 'Cohen Owes Me 97 Dollars,' 'I'm a Yiddish Cowboy' and other long lost hits from the vaudeville stage of the early 20th century. Rosen is the music critic for Slate.com and also writes for The Nation. He's the author of the book 'White Christmas: The Story of an American Song.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist ROBERT STONE has written a new memoir that begins with a stint in the navy in the late 1950s, continues thru his work as a journalist in Vietnam and then includes his counterculture years in the 1970s, taking hallucinogenic drugs, cross-country road trips, and hanging out with Ken Kesey and the Merry Pranksters. His memoir is, 'Prime Green: Remembering the Sixties' (Ecco). STONE's novels include 'Dog Soldiers' (which was adapted into the film 'Who'll Stop the Rain'), and 'Outerbridge Reach.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW) (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on ridiculous bits of linguistic nonsense. (3.) Classical music critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ reviews three new releases of live recordings by the late mezzo-soprano Lorraine Hunt Lieberson: 'John Harbison's North and South' (on Naxos); 'Peter Liberson's Neruda Songs' (on Nonesuch); and 'Rilke Songs' (on Bridge).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) English comedian and actor SACHA BARON COHEN. He's best known for his characters Ali G (a journalist from England), Bruno (a flamboyantly gay Austrian fashion reporter), and Borat (a Kazakhstan reporter) which are played for real for unsuspecting audiences. All three characters were part of his Da Ali G Show shown on cable TV. And Borat is now the star of a new controversial film. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist BARRY WERTH. In his book '31 Days: The Crisis That Gave Us the Government We Have Today'(Nan A. Talese/Doubleday) he chronicles the days following Richard Nixon's resignation and leading to Gerald Ford's swearing in as President of the United States. Two figures in the tumultuous transition between the two presidents were Donald Rumsfeld (Nixon's ambassador to NATO) and Richard Cheney (Rumsfeld's former deputy). WERTH's articles have appeared in 'The New Yorker,' 'The New York Times Magazine,' and 'Outside.' (REBROADCAST from 4/13/06)(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'What Exit' (on ECM label) the major label debut by violinist Mark Feldman.(3.) Writer/director RICHARD LINKLATER. His film 'A Scanner Darkly' is now out on DVD. It's based on the book by Philip K. Dick, about drug addiction, paranoia, and surveillance. It stars Robert Downey Jr., and Keanu Reeves. LINKLATER is a self-taught director and his other films include 'Slacker,' 'Dazed & Confused' and 'The School of Rock.' (REBROADCAST from 7/10/06)(4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'The Painted Veil' and 'Miss Potter.'
Interview with Alex Kapranos; Commentary on The Pogues; Interview with David Bowie. January 8, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569126].

Description of show segment(s)

1. Singer, guitarist, and author ALEX KAPRANOS. He is the frontman for the indie rock quartet Franz Ferdinand which is from Glasgow. The band has produced two hit CDs 'Franz Ferdinand' and 'You Could Have it so Much Better.' Their breakthrough single was 2004's 'Take Me Out.' KAPRANOS has a new book about eating on tour. It's called 'Sound Bites' (Penguin) and it was adapted from a series of columns he wrote for The Guardian. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)

2. Rock historian ED WARD takes a look at the Irish punk rock group The Pogues. Their first five albums were reissued recently on Rhino records

3. Musician and songwriter DAVID BOWIE. We rebroadcast an excerpt of his 2002 interview on the occasion of his 60th birthday today. Over 30 years ago he created the gender-bending Ziggy Stardust, and produced the now classic album, 'The Rise and Fall of Ziggy Stardust and the Spiders from Mars.' With it, BOWIE helped invent glam-rock. Over the years BOWIE has produced albums for Lou Reed and Iggy Pop, and collaborated with Brian Eno. BOWIE also starred in the films 'The Man Who Fell to Earth,' 'Merry Christmas, Mr. Lawrence,' and 'Basquiat.' (REBROADCAST from 9/4/2002)

Description of show segment(s)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) CLINT EASTWOOD. He's looked at the Battle of Iwo Jima from two sides this year. His acclaimed film 'Flags of Our Fathers' followed the stories of the American soldiers who raised the flag in one of World War II's most enduring images. And just out, his film 'Letters from Iwo Jima' examines the battle from the perspective of the Japanese soldiers who fought it. The actor once best known as a western and action star has directed a number of great films, including 'Unforgiven,' 'Mystic River,' and 'Million Dollar Baby.' THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW. Classical music critic Lloyd Schwartz looks at a twelve disc DVD set of Rodgers and Hammerstein musicals.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian MICHAEL HONEY has written a new book about the campaign Martin Luther King was working on at the time he was assassinated: the Memphis Strike in support of 1300 black sanitation workers. HONEY's new book is 'Going down Jericho Road: The Memphis Strike, Martin Luther King's Last Campaign.' (W.W. Norton). HONEY is professor of ethic, gender, and labor studies and American history at the University of Washington, Tacoma. He is also a former civil liberties organizer. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian EDWARD takes a look at the year 1964 for Motown records. He calls it their 'magical year.'

Interview with Thant Myint-U; Interview with Emily Rapp; Commentary on Alec Baldwin's career. January 16, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569341].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Historian THANT MYINT-U (Thont ME-int Ooh). He's just written 'The River of Lost Footsteps: Histories of Burma' (Farrar, Straus & Giroux, 2006). The grandson of former Secretary-General of the United Nations U Thant, Myint-U joined the UN in 1992. He was senior spokesman for the UN in Yugoslavia, a post he left when he found he was at odds with UN policy in Bosnia. He returned to the UN in 2000 and worked in policy planning. He's currently a visiting senior fellow at the International Peace Academy in New York and a research associate at the Cambridge Centre for History and Economics. (2.) Writer EMILY RAPP. She was born with a congenital defect and her left foot was amputated when she was four years old. She's worn a prosthetic ever since. Her book 'Poster Child: A Memoir' (Bloomsbury 2006) has just been published. Rapp teaches writing at Antioch College. (3.) Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS on the great mid-life career of Alec Baldwin. Baldwin won a Golden Globe last night for Best Actor in a Musical or Comedy for his role on NBC's 30 Rock.

Interview with Zarqa Nawaz; Interview with Mark Kline; Review of Jerry Lee Lewis's album "Last Man Standing." January 17, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569127].

Description of show segment(s)
(1.) Producer ZARQA NAWAZ. She's the creator of 'Little Mosque on the Prairie,' a new CBC (Canadian Broadcasting) sitcom about a group of Muslims living in a prairie town in Saskatchewan. She is head of the production company FUNdamental Films, which produced her 2005 documentary 'Me and the Mosque,' about the relationship of women to Islam. (2.) DR. MARK KLINE is president of the Baylor International Pediatric AIDS Initiative (BIPAL) and chief of retrovirology at Texas Children's Hospital. Last summer he launched his pediatric AIDS Corps, which sends doctors to six African countries to treat HIV-infected children and train medical professionals. Recently BIPAL signed an agreement with UNICEF to get first-rate drugs to infected children throughout the world. KLINE will discuss his efforts and the advances that have been made in treating children who are HIV-infected. (3.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews 'Last Man Standing' the new studio recording by Jerry Lee Lewis.
Interview with Zev Chafets; Review of Sloan's album "Never Hear the End of It." January 18, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569312].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist ZEV CHAFETS (‘CHAY-fit’). In his new book he explores American evangelical support for Israel. His book is 'A Match Made in Heaven: American Jews, Christian Zionists, and One Man's Exploration of the Weird and Wonderful Judeo-Evangelical Alliance' (HarperCollins). CHAFETS is a former New York Daily News columnist, was founding editor of the Jerusalem Report and directed the government press office under Prime minister Menachem Begin. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Never Hear the End of It' the new recording by Sloan, the quartet from Nova Scotia.

Interview with Maureen Corrigan; Interview with Greg Kinnear; Review of the film "Venus." January 19, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569309].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Our book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN. Her memoir about her lifelong love of reading, 'Leave Me Alone, I'm Reading: Finding and Losing Myself in Books' has just been published in paperback (Vintage). CORRIGAN is also mystery columnist for the Washington Post and teaches at Georgetown University. (REBROADCAST from 9/12/05)(2.) Actor GREG KINNEAR (kin-EAR). He co-starred in the film 'Little Miss Sunshine,' which is now out on DVD. His other films include 'Fast Food Nation,' 'As Good As It Gets,' 'AutoFocus,' and 'Nurse Betty.' KINNEAR got his start as host and executive producer of 'Talk Soup' on E! Entertainment. Later he hosted his own late-night talk show, 'Later with Greg Kinnear.' (REBROADCAST from 11/16/06)(3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Venus' the new film starring Peter O'Toole and Vanessa Redgrave, and written by Hanif Kureishi who wrote the films 'My Beautiful Laundrette,' and 'London Kills Me.'
Interview with Mark Harris; Interview with Maggie Gyllenhaal. January 22, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569363].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist MARK HARRIS is a former environmental columnist with the Los Angeles Times Syndicate. His new book is 'Grave Matters: A Journey Through the Modern Funeral Industry to a Natural Way of Burial.' (Scribner)(2.) Actress MAGGIE GYLLENHAAL ('JILL-in-hall') Her films include 'Secretary,' 'Happy Endings,' 'World Trade Center,' and 'Stranger than Fiction.' She was nominated for a Golden Globe for her role in the independent film, 'Sherrybaby.' It's out on DVD this month. GYLLENHAAL made her feature film debut in the 1992 film 'Waterland.'

Interview with Jan Crawford Greenburg; Interview with Bradley Walker; Review of Claire Tomalin's biography "Thomas Hardy January 23, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569365].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Legal correspondent for ABC news, JAN CRAWFORD GREENBURG. She writes about the Reinhust Court in her new book 'Supreme Conflict: The Inside Story of the Struggle for Control of the United States Supreme Court' (Penguin). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Country singer BRADLEY WALKER. He's making his recording debut with the CD 'Highway of Dreams' (Rounder Records). The record's producer is Carl Jackson who worked with Emmylou Harris and Glen Campbell. WALKER has performed on the Grand Ole Opry, and sung at leading bluegrass festivals. Our critic Ken Tucker says WALKER's vocal style 'harkens back to an earlier generation of vocalists, such as George Jones and bluegrass pioneer Bill Monroe." WALKER was born with Muscular Dystrophy and has been in a wheelchair all his life. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'Thomas Hardy: The Time-torn Man' (Penguin) the new biography of novelist Thomas Hardy by Claire Tomalin.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film director GUILLERMO DEL TORO. He grew up in Mexico. His current film (which he wrote and directed) 'Pan's Labrynth' is up for six Academy Awards: including best original screenplay, foreign language film, and score. DEL TORO also wrote and directed the films 'Cronos,' 'Hellboy' 'The Devil's Backbone.' He directed the film 'Blade II,' and 'Mimic.' DEL TORO also helped his fellow Mexican directors on the films 'Y tu Mama Tambien' by Alfonso Cuaron, and 'Amores Perros' by Alejandro Gonzales Inarritu. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Army Lieutenant EHREN WATADA ('AIR-en Wah-TAH-dah') and his lawyer ERIC SEITZ ('SIGHTZ'), a civilian. WATADA is the first American officer to refuse to deploy to Iraq on the grounds he thinks the war is illegal. He is now being court martialed for his refusal and for statements he made opposing the war and the Bush administration's leadership. The court martial is set to begin Feb 5. WATADA's unit, the 2nd Infantry Division Stryker Brigade Combat Team is based at Fort Lewis, Washington. In June 2006 he refused to deploy with them to Iraq. WATADA faces up to six years in a military prison if convicted. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Attorney EUGENE FIDELL (FYE-dell) is the president of the National Institute of Military Justice. He is also a partner and head of the Military Practice Group at the Washington DC firm of Feldesman Tucker Leifer Fidell. FIDELL also served in the U.S. Coast Guard.
Obituary for Ryszard Kapuscinski; Interview with Forest Whitaker; Commentary on apologies. January 26, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569366].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Polish writer RYSZARD KAPUSCINSKI (ree-SHARD ka-poos-CHIN-ski). He died January 23rd at the age of 74. As a foreign correspondent KAPUSCINSKI covered coups and revolutions in the developing world for forty years. He wrote dispatches for the Polish news agency, but also wrote longer essays about the places he reported from. In the 1970s many of those articles appeared in a series of books that made him famous: 'The Soccer War' (about Latin American conflicts), 'Another Day of Life,' (about Angola's civil war), and 'Shah of Shahs' (about Iran). (REBROADCAST from 1988) (2.) Actor FOREST WHITAKER. He has been nominated for an Academy Award for his portrayal of Ugandan dictator Idi Amin in the film 'The Last King of Scotland.' WHITAKER played jazz musician Charlie Parker in 'Bird,' a British soldier kidnapped by the IRA in 'The Crying Game,' a mafia hit man who models himself after a Samurai warrior in 'Ghost Dog,' and an internal affairs detective on the FOX TV show 'The Shield.' (REBROADCAST from 10/17/07)(3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on when an apology is not an apology.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) STUART BOWEN, Special Inspector General for Iraq Reconstruction. He's just issued his quarterly report investigating waste, fraud and security problems in the reconstruction efforts. Next week BOWEN appears before a House Committee which begins hearings into waste and fraud in reconstruction. Bowen has served in this post since October 2004. Formerly, Bowen served in the White House under George W. Bush, and was a partner at the Washington DC law firm of Patton Boggs LLP. Bowen's ties to Bush go back to the early 1990s, when he worked in the Texas Governor's office in various legal offices. Bowen was also an intelligence officer in the U.S. Air Force, where he achieved the rank of Captain.(2.) Former FBI agent ERIC O'NEILL and film director/screenwriter BILLY RAY. The two have collaborated on the new film 'Breach' based on the true story about FBI operative Robert Hanssen who was found guilty of treason and the FBI agent (O'NEILL) who was assigned to Hanssen to draw him out of deep cover. BILLY RAY also wrote and directed the critically acclaimed feature 'Shattered Glass.' 'Breach' stars Chris
Cooper, Ryan Phillippe, and Laura Linney. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW)

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Staff writer at The New Yorker, MICHAEL SPECTER. In this week's issue of the magazine SPECTER writes about the murders of 13 journalists in Russia since Vladimir Putin took office in 1999. The Kremlin has been linked to many of the murders. SPECTER's article is 'Kremlin, Inc: Why are Vladimir Putin's opponents dying?' SPECTER has been with The New Yorker since, September 1998 and often writes about science and technology. Previously he wrote for the New York Times and was the paper's Moscow bureau chief. (2.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN. She reviews "Sacred Games," by Vikram Chandra, a novel about the mob in India.(3.) Liberal political columnist MOLLY IVINS. She died yesterday at the age of 62 after an 8-year battle with Breast Cancer. In her over 40-year career, she wrote for the Texas Observer, The New York Times, the Dallas Times Herald, and her columns were syndicated in about 350 newspapers. We'll listen back to two of Terry's interviews with her (Original Broadcast: 10/03/91 and 10/07/03.)

---

Interview with Peter O'Toole; Commentary on Ennio Morricone; Interview with Christopher Frayling. February 2, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569268].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor PETER O'TOOLE. The star of "Lawrence of Arabia," "The Lion in the Winter," and "My Favorite Year," has been nominated for an Oscar for his role in the film 'Venus.' (REBROADCAST from 4/16/93)(2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD has an appreciation of the music of Ennio Morricone on the occasion of the release of the box-set by Rhino records, "A Fistful of Film Music" (REBROADCAST FROM 9/28/95)(3.) Cultural historian CHRISTOPHER FRAYLING. He is the author of the book 'Once Upon A Time in Italy: The Westerns of Sergio Leone' which chronicles the history of the spaghetti western through researched text and interviews with Clint Eastwood, Martin Scorsese and Eli Wallach. Composer Ennio Morricone who composed music for the Sergio Leone films will be awarded an honorary Oscar at this year's Academy Award. FRAYLING is Rector at London's Royal College of Art and a Professor of Cultural History. He's the Chair of the Arts Council of England. He's known for his broadcast work on the BBC, and has written over a dozen books on arts and culture. (REBROADCAST from 8/1/05).(4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'An Unreasonable Man' the new documentary about Ralph Nader. (AUDIO MISSING)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Directors VALERIE FARIS and JONATHAN DAYTON, and writer MICHAEL ARNDT. Their film 'Little Miss Sunshine' is up for four Academy Awards: best film, best original screenplay, best supporting actor (Alan Arkin) and best supporting actress (Abigail Breslin). After the small independent film premiered at Sundance last year to appreciative audiences, film distribution companies went into a bidding war. The film fetched [dollar]10.5 million, the highest price ever at Sundance. The film stars Greg Kinnear, Toni Collette, Alan Arkin, Steve Carell and Abigail Breslin. This was FARIS and DAYTON's feature film debut after directing hundreds of music videos. This was also the first screenplay of ARNDT's to be produced. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF).(2.) Writer JON MOOALLEM (Moe-AL-em). He's written the cover story of yesterday's New York Times Magazine section dated 2/4/07), 'Designer-Dog Fights' about the breeders who breed dogs to create a canine with the right mix of behavioral and physical characteristics. Some of the dogs include Pugshires (Pugs and Yorkshire terriers), Bagels (Beagles and Bassets) and Labradoodles (Labradors and Poodles).

Interview with Elif Shafak; Interview with Michael Stein. February 6, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569264].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Turkish novelist ELIF SHAFAK (ah-LEAF Sha-FAHK). The bestselling author in Turkey has a new novel, 'The Bastard of Istanbul' (Viking). When it was published in Turkey she was accused of 'public denigration of Turkishness' (under Article 301 of the Turkish penal code). She was eventually acquitted. Under the code there have been as many as 60 writers, journalists, publishers, scholars, and intellectuals who have been prosecuted. One of them was editor Hrant Dink who was assassinated last month by a Turkish fanatic.(2.) DR. MICHAEL STEIN is the author of the new book 'The Lonely Patient: How We Experience Illness' (William Morrow). He is professor of medicine and community health at Brown University Medical School.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) (DD interview) Writer and director FLORIAN HENCKEL VON DONNERSMARCK from Germany. His film 'The Lives of Others' has been nominated for an Oscar for Best Foreign Language Film. It's a spy film set in former East Germany in 1984. It won seven Lola awards in Germany (the equivalent of the Academy Awards) and awards at the Telluride Film Festival and the Toronto International Film Festival. DONNERSMARCK writes that his film is 'a human drama about the ability of human beings to do the right thing, no matter how far they have gone down the wrong path.' (2.) We remember singer FRANKIE LAINE. He died yesterday at the age of 93. He gained TV immortality by singing the theme of 'Rawhide.' Other credits include the theme to the Mel Brooks film 'Blazing Saddles.' He first became successful as a jazz singer recording standards like 'Black and Blue' and 'West End Blues.' The songwriter Hoagy Carmichael was one of his early fans. In all LAINE sold more than 100 million records. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews the debut album 'Alright Still' by the 21 year-old British singer Lily Allen.

Interview with Mark Wahlberg; Review of James Brown's album "The Singles February 8, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569266].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor MARK WAHLBERG. He's an academy award nominee for best supporting actor for his role as a police sergeant in the film 'The Departed.' WAHLBERG was one of the initial members of the pop bubblegum group New Kids on the Block (with his brother Donnie) but left before the group became famous. Later with his brother's guidance he created Marky Mark and the Funky Bunch and recorded the album 'Music for the People' from which came the hit 'Good Vibrations.' WAHLBERG went on to record one more album, and appeared in a number of Calvin Klein underwear commercials. After a number of smaller film roles, he broke thru with his role as a porn star in 'Boogie Nights.' His other films include 'The Perfect Storm,' 'Three Kings,' 'The Italian Job,' and 'Invincible.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock historian ED WARD reviews a new collection of James Brown's first four years worth of singles: 'James Brown: The Singles: The Federal Years 1956-1960' (Hip-O Select).

Interview with Al Gore; Obituary for Joe Hunter; Review of the film "The Lives of Others."

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Former Vice President and presidential candidate AL GORE. For 17 years he's been on the forefront of warning against global warming. His critically acclaimed documentary 'The Inconvenient Truth' about the dangers of global warming is up for two academy awards: one for Best documentary feature and another for Music Written for a motion picture. (REBROADCAST from 5/30/06)(2.) We remember musician JOE HUNTER with a rebroadcast of his 2002 interview. He died last week at the age of 79. HUNTER was one of the Funk Brothers, the session musicians who helped create the Motown Sound. HUNTER was an early keyboardist with the band (from 1959-1963) and could be heard on the hits 'Money' (by Barrett Strong), 'Shop Around' (The Miracles,' 'Pride and Joy (Marvin Gaye), and 'Heat Wave' (Martha and the Vandellas.) HUNTER was interviewed with JACK ASHFORD who was also a member of the Funk Brothers and played vibes and tambourine. They were the subject of the documentary 'Standing in the Shadows of Motown.' (REBROADCAST from 11/18/02)(3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the German film 'The Lives of Others.'
Interview with Lowell Bergman; Interview with Pat DiNizio and Dennis Diken. February 12, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569217].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Investigative reporter LOWELL BERGMAN. He's the producer of the new Frontline documentary, 'New War: Secrets, Spin and the Future of the News.' The four-part series is about the mainstream news media and the political, legal and economic forces on it. (it begins airing Feb 13th on most PBS stations). BERGMAN is a contributor to the New York Times. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Lead singer/guitarist PAT DINIZIO (Din-EASY-oh) and drummer DENNIS DIKEN (DIE-kin) from the band The Smithereens. The band has a new album, called 'Meet the Smithereens' (on Koch) a track-by-track homage to the Beatles' 'Meet the Beatles.' The band hails from New Jersey and got their start in 1980. They have seven other albums to their credit. Their hits include 'A Girl Like You,' 'Too Much Passion,' and 'Blood & Roses.'

Interview with Robert Crumb and Aline Kominsky-Crumb; Commentary on the death of Anna Nicole Smith; Interview with Nuruddin Farah. February 13, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569267].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Underground comic book artist ROBERT CRUMB and his wife ALINE KOMINSKY-CRUMB, one of the earliest underground female cartoonists. ROBERT began drawing comics over forty years ago. He created ZAP COMIX and he's the artist behind such 60s and 70s icons as Mr. Natural, Fritz the Cat, and Keep-on-Truckin. ALINE has also been drawing comics for over forty years and has a new book which chronicles her life and career, 'Need More Love: A Graphic Memoir.' Robert's new book is 'The Sweeter Side of R. Crumb' (both books are by MQ Publications). The two live in France. (2.) Critic John Powers comments on the death of Anna Nicole Smith.(3.) Writer NURUDDIN FARAH (pronounced 'NUH-ruh-deen FA-rah'). His new novel is called Knots. It's about the terrible conditions for women in Somalia. The central character is a Somali-Canadian woman who returns to her native city of Mogadiscio. Farah is the author of nine novels. The most recent is Links.
Interview with John Waters; Interview with Willie Nelson; Commentary on valentines. February 14, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569220].

Description of show segment(s)

Filmmaker JOHN WATERS. He's released a new Valentine's Day Album called A Date With John Waters. It's a compilation of love songs including Mink Stole's Sometimes I Wish I Had a Gun, the late Edith Massey (AKA the Egg Lady) singing Big Girls Don't Cry, and some actual well known crooners like Ray Charles and Ike and Tina Turner. The CD also includes the first record Waters ever shoplifted: Tonight You Belong to Me by Patience and Prudence. Waters' trashy filmography includes Pink Flamingos, Desperate Living, Polyester, Cry Baby, Pecker and Hairspray, which became a Broadway musical and will soon be a film again, but this time as an adaptation of the Broadway show.(2.) Singer WILLIE NELSON. We rebroadcast part of our interview from last year. We'll play a couple of his most heartbreaking love songs. Nelson is a legendary singer and songwriter, and is part of the outlaw country music scene. His most recent album is Songbird. He's won many Grammy awards and was inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame. Nelson is also an actor. He has a role in the upcoming film Blonde Ambition. (Original airdate: 5/25/06)(3.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the sending of Valentine's messages via telephone, the postal system, and email. In the process, he takes a look at the evolution of personal communication, from a time when sending letters was prohibitively expensive, to the present, as email replaces the personal letter.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist and crime novelist MATT BEYNON REES. His debut detective novel is called the Collaborator of Bethlehem. A Palestinian schoolteacher turns detective to solve a murder set in the violence-ridden West Bank. REES was based in Jerusalem as a Middle East reporter for Time magazine for over a decade, and was that publication's Bureau Chief from 2000 to 2006. (2.) Actor and singer VICTOR GARBER. He's just finished a short run of Stephen Sondheim's Follies for the New York City Center's Encores! Series. The show received rave reviews and played to huge crowds. Garber got his start at the top, playing Jesus Christ in the 1973 film Godspell. He had a regular role on the recent FOX TV series Justice. Viewers may remember Garber as Jack Bristow on the hit TV show Alias. Film credits include Titanic, Legally Blonde, Sleepless in Seattle and Annie. Broadway credits include Death Trap, Noises Off and Sweeney Todd. He will be starring in the upcoming ABC drama Eli Stone.

Interview with Clint Eastwood; Review of the television shows "Longford" and "The State Within"; Interview with Ben Affleck; Review of the film "Breach." February 16, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569300].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor and Director CLINT EASTWOOD. His most recent film 'Letters from Iwo Jima' has been nominated for Best Director and Best Picture Academy Awards. His other 2006 film, 'Flags of Our Fathers,' was also nominated for two Oscars, in Sound Editing and Sound Mixing. 'Flags of Our Fathers' follows the stories of the American soldiers who raised the flag in one of World War II's most enduring images. And 'Letters from Iwo Jima' examines the battle from the perspective of the Japanese soldiers who fought it. The actor once best known as a western and action star has directed a number of great films, including 'Unforgiven,' 'Mystic River,' and 'Million Dollar Baby.' (Original airdate: 1/10/07)(2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews two new British shows premiering on American cable this weekend, 'Longford,' and 'The State Within.' (3.) Actor BEN AFFLECK. He starred in the film 'Hollywoodland' as George Reeves the actor who played Superman in the original TV series. The film is about the real-life unsolved murder of Reeves. Its now out on DVD. AFFLECK co-wrote 'Good Will Hunting' with Matt Damon and their screenplay won an Academy Award, and a Golden Globe Award. AFFLECK's other films include 'Shakespeare in Love,' 'Dazed and Confused,' 'Chasing Amy,' and 'Dogma.' He also wrote the screenplay for the upcoming film 'Gone, Baby, Gone' based on the novel by Dennis Lehane. (Original airdate: 9/25/06)(4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the CIA thriller, 'Breach,' starring Chris Cooper, Ryan Phillippe, and Laura Linney.FEBRUARY 19-23, 2007

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Curator DAVID SCHWARTZ. His show at The American Museum of the Moving Image, 'The Living Room Candidate: Presidential Campaign Commercials 1952-2004,' is available on the web at http:// livingroomcandidate.movingimage.us. Schwartz is the Chief Curator of film at the American Museum of the Moving Image. He'll talk about the history of political commercials from their inception in 1952 to the present. (Original airdate: 7/29/04)(2.) Historian DORIS KEARNS GOODWIN. Her most recent book is 'Team of Rivals: The Political Genius of Abraham Lincoln.' She's just been awarded the 16th Annual Lincoln Prize for the book. Goodwin, who won the Pulitzer Prize for her previous book 'No Ordinary Time,' recounts the life and work of our 16th president, as well as the work of the principal characters of his administration. (Original airdate: 11/8/05)

Interview with Irvin Mayfield; Interview with Allen Shawn. February 20, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569356].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Jazz Trumpeter IRVIN MAYFIELD. Born and raised in New Orleans, Mayfield was appointed to the post of cultural ambassador for the city in 2003. He performs with Los Hombres Calientes, The Irvin Mayfield Quintet, and the New Orleans Jazz Orchestra. Mayfield is also an educator, composer and arranger. He lost his father, Irvin Mayfield, Sr. in the floods caused by the levees breaking after Hurricane Katrina. He will talk about his Mardi Gras memories and his city today. (2.) Composer and writer ALLEN SHAWN. He is author of the new memoir, 'Wish I Could Be There' (Viking). Shawn comes from a very literary family; his father William Shawn was editor of The New Yorker for 35 years and his brother, Wallace Shawn is a distinguished playwright and actor. Allen Shawn himself has been composing music since the age of 10. Still, he is deathly afraid of a lot of things, including heights, water, fields, parking lots, and unknown streets. These phobias make it difficult for him to travel or even leave home. In his memoir, he examines the sources of his phobias. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ISHMAEL BEAH (BAY-ah) has written a new memoir about his years as a child soldier in Sierra Leone. Orphaned by the civil war there, he was carrying an AK47 at the age of 12, pumped up by drugs, and forced to kill or be killed. When he was 15 UNICEF took him to a rehabilitation center, and later he was adopted by an American woman and brought to the United States where he attended high school and graduated from Oberlin College. His memoir is 'A Long Way Gone: Memoirs of a Boy Soldier.' (Farrar, Straus & Giroux). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Uri Caine Ensemble Plays Mozart' (Winter&Winter).

Interview with Hisham Matar; Interview with S.V. Date; Review of Ben Yagoda's book "When You Catch an Adjective, Kill It." February 22, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569304].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Novelist HISHAM MATAR (HISH-am MAH-tar). His semi-autobiographical debut novel 'In the Country of Men' (Viking) was short-listed for the 2006 Mann Booker Prize. Matar was born in New York City in 1970 to Libyan parents and spent his childhood first in Tripoli, Libya and then in Cairo, Egypt. Matar has lived in the UK since 1986. Matar's father, an opponent of Colonel Khadafy's regime, was arrested in 1990. Matar has been unable to find out what happened to him. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Journalist S.V. DATE (DAH-tay) writes for the Palm Beach Post. As such he followed the Jeb Bush's eight-year reign as governor of Florida. His new book is 'Jeb: America's Next Bush' (Tarcher)(3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'When You Catch an Adjective, Kill It' (Random House) by Ben Yagoda.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) IRA GLASS, the host of the popular public radio program 'This American Life.' Next month (March 22nd) the TV version of his show premieres on Showtime. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews 'The Black Donnellys' the new TV show on NBC created by Paul Haggis and Bobby Moresco the team who wrote the Oscar-winning movie 'Crash.'
Interview with Seymour Hersh; Interview with Lowell Bergman. February 27, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569355].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Investigative journalist SEYMOUR HERSH is a regular contributor to The New Yorker magazine. His article 'The Redirection: Is the Administration's new policy benefiting our enemies in the war on terror?' is in the current edition (March 5th) of the magazine. It's about the administration's efforts to undermine Iran and its shift in priorities to do so. HERSH exposed the Abu Ghraib prison scandal in 2004, in a series of articles published in the magazine early in 2005. He has been the recipient of the Pulitzer Prize, five George Polk Awards, two National Magazine Awards, and a dozen other prizes. He is also the author of eight books including 'Chain of Command' about Abu Ghraib. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Investigative reporter LOWELL BERGMAN. He's the producer of the new Frontline documentary, 'News War: Secrets, Spin and the Future of the News.' The four-part series is about the mainstream news media and the political, legal and economic forces on it. The third installment - about how the mounting pressure for profits, declining advertising, and internet competition is affecting the news business airs Tuesday, Feb 27th on most PBS stations. BERGMAN is a contributor to the New York Times.

Interview with Bob Woodruff and Lee Woodruff; Interview with Marc Lawrence. February 28, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569301].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ABC news correspondent and former anchor BOB WOODRUFF and his wife LEE. On January 29, 2006 he was nearly killed by a roadside bomb in Iraq where he was reporting. He suffered a severe brain injury, was in a coma for over a month, and endured intense therapy. He and his wife LEE, have written a new memoir about his recovery, "In an Instant: A Family's Journey of Love and Healing" (Random House). WOODRUFF has just returned to work at ABC with the special report "To Iraq and Back," about his recovery and the plight of other brain-injured Iraq veterans. He and his wife have also set up a new foundation to help soldiers recovering from brain trauma. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film director MARC LAWRENCE, wrote and directed the new film 'Music & Lyrics' starring Hugh Grant and Drew Barrymore. He also directed the film 'Two Weeks'
Notice,' and co-wrote and produced the comedy, 'Miss Congeniality.' Previously LAWRENCE was a staff writer on the NBC sitcom 'Family Ties.'

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) ABC news Chief White House correspondent MARTHA RADDATZ. She's been to Iraq 12 times since the beginning of the American invasion. She has a new book about one of the battles that was a turning point in the war: the battle in Sadr city in April 2004 when American troops realized they were facing an insurgency. Her book 'The Long Road Home: A Story of War and Family' (Putnam) is about the soldiers who fought that battle and their families. One of the soldiers in the battle was Casey Sheehan, the son of antiwar activist Cindy Sheehan. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)(2.) We remember Pulitzer prize winning historian ARTHUR SCHLESINGER JR. and listen back to an interview recorded with him at the occasion of the 40th anniversary of the Cuban missile crisis. SCHLESINGER was special assistant in the White House, appointed by President Kennedy. SCHLESINGER died last night at the age of 89. (REBROADCAST from 10/16/02).

Interview with Melle Mel; Interview with Grand Master Flash; Interview with Ronnie Spector; Review of the film "Zodiac." March 2, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569210].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) This month Grand Master Flash and the Furious Five will be the first hip-hop act inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. MELLE MEL ("Melly Mell") was the original vocalist on "The Message" by Grandmaster Flash and the Furious Five. Rappers regarded it as an inspiration as well as a political message. He also rapped on the updated version, "The New Message," an updated version has been released. (REBROADCAST from 8/4/92)(2.) DJ and hip hop forefather GRAND MASTER FLASH. Their hits included "The Message" and "White Lines (Don't Do it)". Nearly 3 decades ago, Flash created the 'Quick Mix Theory,' the process of blending one music break with another. (REBROADCAST from 7/8/02)(3.) RONNIE SPECTOR, who in the 60s was a member of the girl group The Ronettes. The Ronettes will also be inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. She left the music business for several years, but then recorded a new album. (REBROADCAST from 8/31/87)(4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews the new thriller "Zodiac" starring Jake Gyllenhall.

---

Interview with Dan Gilgoff; Review of The Trucks' album "The Trucks." March 5, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569286].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist DAN GILGOFF is the author of the new book "The Jesus Machine: How James Dobson, Focus on the Family, and Evangelical America Are Winning the Culture War" (St. Martin's Press). GILGOFF is a senior writer at "News & World Report" and he gained rare access inside the organization. He writes about how Dobson's group became the most powerful organization in the Christian Right.THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW. Milo Miles considers how "The Trucks" fit into the history of female rock bands. "The Trucks" debut, eponymous album is out on Click Pop records.

---

Interview with Mira Nair; Interview with Mary Weiss. March 6, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569211].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Filmmaker MIRA NAIR (NAH-eer). She's just adapted Jhumpa Lahiri's 2003 novel 'The Namesake' to the big screen. Her previous films include 'Vanity Fair,' 'Monsoon Wedding,' and 'Mississippi Masala.'(2.) Singer MARY WEISS. She first found fame as a member of the Shangri-Las, with hits like 'Leader of the Pack,' 'Remember (Walking in the Sand)' and 'Give Him a Great Big Kiss.' Now she's recorded her first album of new material since 1965. It's called Dangerous Game, and it's out March 20th on Norton Records.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Navy doctor Commander RICHARD JADICK (‘JAH-dick’). He earned a Bronze Star with a V for valor for his service during the Battle of Fallujah. JADICK volunteered to go to Iraq and in November 2004 he accompanied the first Battalion, Eighth Marine Regiment there. As a battalion surgeon he lead 54 navy medical corpsmen assigned to the battalion. He and other doctors developed the concept of forward aid stations to care for casualties on the front lines instead of having to transport the wounded for miles to aid stations. They treated the wounded during the Battle of Fallujah, the worst street fighting Americans had faced since Vietnam. His new memoir is 'On Call in Hell: A Doctor's Iraq War Story' (NAL) (written with Thomas Hayden). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'The Wierdness' the first recording in almost 35 years by Iggy Pop and The Stooges.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Brothers ROB & NATE CORDDORY. Both are former correspondents on The Daily Show with Jon Stewart. Now Rob has a new FOX sitcom 'The Winner' (by the creators of The Family Guy) about a 32-year-old virgin who still lives at home. It airs on Sunday nights. NATE CORDDORY plays a performer and writer for a late night sketch TV show on the show 'Studio 60.' (Monday nights on NBC). (This interview continues into the second half of the show.)(2.) Jazz critic Kevin Whitehead reviews Enrico Rava's album "The Words and the Days."
Interview with Patti Smith and Michael Stipe; Interview with Michael Stipe; Review of the film "300." March 9, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569287].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer and poet PATTI SMITH. She will be inducted into this year's Rock and roll Hall of Fame on March 12 2007. Smith got her start in the punk movement of the 1970s with her album 'Horses.' Her upcoming album is called 'Twelve,' and is comprised of covers of classic rock tunes including 'Are You Experienced?' 'Gimme Shelter' and 'Smells Like Teen Spirit.' It will be released April 12, 2007. She will go on tour in Europe this spring. (REBROADCAST from 6/24/96) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Singer MICHAEL STIPE. His band, REM, will be inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame on March 12, 2007. The multiple Grammy-winning band hails from Athens, Georgia and is considered a pioneer of alternative rock. REM's many albums have gone gold and platinum. Hits include 'Shiny Happy People,' 'Losing My Religion' and the recent 'In the Sun.' Their latest CD is REM: The Best of the IRS Years 1982-1987,' a CD and DVD combo. For more info, go to HYPERLINK "http://www.remhq.com" www.remhq.com. (REBROADCAST FROM 5/11/98)(3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews '300' adapted from a graphic novel by Frank Miller & Lynn Varley, about an ancient battle between the Spartans and the Persians.

Interview with Lisa Chedekel and Matthew Kauffman; Interview with Jonathan Lethem; Review of the television show "The Riches." March 12, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569212].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalists LISA CHEDEKEL ('CHED-eh-kel')and MATTHEW KAUFFMAN of the Hartford Courant. They've been awarded the George Polk Award for their May series on flaws in the military's mental health system. The series, 'Mentally Unfit, Forced to Fight' details their findings that deploying troops are for the most part not getting mental health evaluations even though they are mandated by congress, that the military is relying on psychotropic medications to keep service members in combat, and that soldiers with Post Traumatic Stress Disorder are being sent back into battle for multiple tours of duty. (2.) Author JONATHAN LETHEM (LEE-thim). His new novel is 'You Don't Love Me Yet' (Doubleday). He is also the author of the semi-autobiographical novel, "The Fortress of Solitude" (Doubleday 2003) about a white kid growing up in an African-American and Latino neighborhood in New York. His novel,
"Motherless Brooklyn" (Doubleday 1999) won the National Book Critics Circle Award for Fiction. His other books include "Girl in Landscape" (Doubleday 1998) and "Amnesia Moon" (Harcourt 1995). (3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI reviews the new drama series 'The Riches' on the FX cable network. It stars Eddie Izzard and Minnie Driver.

Interview with Jeffrey Rosen; Interview with Larry Devlin. March 13, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569214].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JEFFREY ROSEN is a frequent contributor to The New York Times Magazine section. In the issue dated March 11, he writes ('The Brain on the Stand: How neuroscience is transforming the legal system') about the emerging new field of study, neurolaw, which combines neuroscience and the law. He writes how evidence from brain technologies are being used in the courtroom to explain away criminal behavior. ROSEN is also the author of the book, 'The Supreme Court: The Personalities and Rivalries That Defined America.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Retired CIA field officer LARRY DEVLIN. He was appointed CIA station chief in Zaire in the Congo in 1960 during the height of the Cold War and following the Congo's independence from Belgium. DEVLIN has written a memoir about his experiences, 'Chief of Station, Congo: Fighting the Cold War in a Hot Zone' (PublicAffairs). In January 1960, Congo's Prime Minister Patrice Lumumba was assassinated, apparently for accepting assistance from the Soviets. DEVLIN insists that the CIA didn't participate in Lumumba's murder even though the U.S. government had a plan to 'neutralize' him.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Religion scholars ELAINE PAGELS and KAREN KING. Their new book, 'Reading Judas: The Gospel of Judas and the Shaping of Christianity' (Viking) interprets and translates the Gnostic gospel of Judas which was recently discovered. PAGELS previous books include, "Beyond Belief: The Secret Gospel of Thomas," and "The Gnostic Gospels." KING's previous book is "The Gospel of Mary of Magdala: Jesus & the First Woman Apostle.'(2.) DR. JEROME GROOPMAN is a staff writer at The New Yorker. His new book is about how doctors make decisions regarding their patients. It's called 'How Doctors Think' (Houghton Mifflin). GROOPMAN is chief of experimental medicine at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center in Boston and teaches at Harvard Medical School. (3.) Book critic MAUREEN CORRIGAN reviews 'The Other Side of You' the new novel by Salley Vickers.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Documentary film maker KEN BURNS. His upcoming PBS documentary series 'The War' tells the story of the World War II thru the eyes of the soldiers who fought. The 14-hour, seven-part series begins airing in September. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS considers the film 'Amazing Grace' about the British anti-slave crusader William Wilberforce. (3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Sound of Silver' the new recording by the band LCD Soundsystem.

Interview with Mick Moloney; Commentary on Betty Hutton; Interview with Charlie Louvin; Review of the film "The Host." March 16, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569442].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Singer, musician and folklorist, MICK MOLONEY (pronounced 'muh-LONE-ee'). His album, "McNally's Row of Flats," centers on theatre songs by an Irish songwriting team from the late 1800s. The team consisted of actor and writer Ed Harrigan and musician David Braham, both acclaimed performers of the early Great White Way, when Vaudeville and minstrelsy were giving way to American Musical Theater in New York City. Mick Moloney has recorded and produced over 40 albums of traditional music. He is also the author of "Far From the Shamrock Shore: The Story of Irish American History Through Song." He currently teaches at New York University in the Irish Studies Program. (REBROADCAST from 3/20/06)(2.) Critic LLOYD SCHWARTZ remembers actress Betty Hutton. She died last weekend at the age of 86. Hutton was a singer and actress who starred in classic musicals and comedies of the 1940s and 50s. Hutton had the lead role in the film version of Annie Get Your Gun and starred in The Greatest Show on Earth. Later in life, her star faded, she lost her fortune, and in the 1970s was working as a cook and housekeeper for a church rectory in Rhode Island. She then returned to the stage for a brief period in the 1980s, performing in nightclubs. She returned to school and got a master's degree in psychology and became a teacher at Emerson College in Boston. She was married and divorced four times. (3.) Country music singer CHARLIE LOUVIN. In the 1950's, he and his brother Ira Louvin were regulars at the Grand Ole Opry. Ira was later killed in a car accident. In 2001 the Louvin brothers were inducted into the country music Hall of Fame. Charlie Louvin has just released a self titled album. It's his first studio work in over a decade, featuring Elvis Costello, George Jones, Will Oldham, Jeff Tweedy and more. Louvin will appear at the 2007 Bonnaroo Music Festival in Tennessee. (Original airdate: 11/27/96) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews The Host, a South Korean monster movie.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist JEREMY SCAHILL. His new book is Blackwater: The Rise of the World's Most Powerful Mercenary Army. Blackwater USA is a secret army based in North Carolina with a sole owner: Erik Prince, a radical right wing Christian multi-millionaire. Price equates Blackwater with FedEx, and asks, 'When you ship overnight, do you use the postal service of FedEx?' The US government has hired Blackwater to operate in international war zones and American soil. Its forces, with 20 thousand troops at the ready, a military base and a fleet of 20 aircraft, are capable of overthrowing governments, but most people have never heard of Blackwater. Scahill is a Polk-award winning investigative journalist. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews Cantilever, a new solo album from Jeff Murphy, formerly of the 1970s band Shoes.

Description of show segment(s)

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Weapons expert JOSEPH CIRINCIONE (pronounced sir-IN-see-own-ee'). His new book is Bomb Scare: the History & Future of Nuclear Weapons. Cirincione is Senior Vice President for National Security and International Affairs at the Center for American Progress. He also teaches at the Georgetown University School of Foreign Service. He is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Comedian and actor ANDY RICHTER. His new sitcom is Andy Barker, P.I. It just premiered on NBC. You can see it Thursdays at 9:30 PM. Richter plays an accountant who is mistaken for the detective who formerly occupied the office he is renting. He reluctantly takes on the role of private investigator and discovers he likes it. Richter got his start as Conan O'Brien's sidekick on Late Night with Conan O'Brien. Richter's film roles include appearances in Scary Movie 2, Cabin Boy, Pootie Tang, Talladega Nights: The Ballad of Ricky Bobby, and South Park: Bigger, Longer & Uncut.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist GEORGE PACKER. His article in the March 26 2007 issue of the New Yorker magazine is called Betrayed: The Iraqis who trusted America the most. He reports that those men who have been employed by Americans as construction workers, drivers and office workers are not being hunted down as collaborators and they are marked for death. Packer's most recent book is The Assassin's Gate: America in Iraq. (2.) Middle East policy expert DANIEL BYMAN. He talks about the effect of the war in Iraq on state-sponsored terrorism. Byman is the Director at the Center for Peace and Security Studies at the Edmund A. Walsh School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University, where he is also a professor.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Comedian and actor WILL FERRELL. He stars in the new film "Blades of Glory.' He plays a former Olympic ice skater whom, banned from competition with a fellow competitor (played by John 'Napoleon Dynamite' Heder), discovers a loophole which allows the men to compete as a pair. Ferrell became famous as a member of Saturday Night Live from 1995 to 2002. His other films include Talladega Nights: The Ballad of Ricky Bobby, Stranger Than Fiction, Anchorman: The Legend of Ron Burgundy, Old School and Bewitched. (Rebroadcast. Original airdate: 11/9/06) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW.) (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews Reign Over Me, starring Adam Sandler and Don Cheadle.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rhythm and blues songwriter, producer and musician BOOKER T. JONES. His band, Booker T and the MGs, created the classic instrumental Green Onions, which was originally intended as a B-side on a
45. But they were also the studio band for Stax Records, making music with great soul artists like Otis Redding, Ray Charles and Wilson Pickett. There's a new 2-CD box set of Stax highlights. It's called the Stax 50th Anniversary Celebration. Booker T has also played with Barbara Streisand, Bob Dylan and Boz Scaggs. He's produced albums for Bill Withers and Willie Nelson, and he co-wrote the song Born Under a Bad Sign. He received the 2007 Lifetime Achievement Grammy. Booker T is now on tour. Check his website for details at HYPERLINK "http://www.bookert.com" www.bookert.com.

(2.) Classical music critic Lloyd Schwartz watches a new Criterion 4-DVD set featuring six of Paul Robeson's films and documentary material.

---

Interview with Elizabeth Warren; Review of Ned Rothenberg's album "Inner Diaspora." March 27, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569401].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Harvard Law Professor ELIZABETH WARREN is an expert on bankruptcy and is an outspoken critic of consumer lenders. Recently she appeared before the Senate Banking Committee to discuss the abusive lending practices by credit card companies. She considers the interest charges and late fees imposed by credit card companies to a 'hidden tax' on cardholders. WARREN is also the author of 'The Two-Income Trap: Why Middle Class Mothers and Fathers Are Going Broke.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Jazz critic KEVIN WHITEHEAD reviews 'Inner Diaspora' (TZADIK) by saxophonist and clarinetist Ned Rothenberg.

---

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) British scientist RICHARD DAWKINS. He is a Professor of the Public Understanding of Science at Oxford University. The New York Times Book Review has hailed him as a writer who 'understands the issues so clearly that he forces his reader to understand them too.' In his new book he writes about the irrationality of a belief in God, examines God in all his forms, and sets down his arguments for atheism. His new book is 'The God Delusion.' (Houghton Mifflin). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Back to Black' the debut album by British singer-songwriter Amy Winehouse.

Interview with Francis Collins; Commentary on the magazine "Time's" writing style. March 29, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569441].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Geneticist FRANCIS COLLINS. He is director of the National Human Genome Research Project. Previously, as head of the National Genome Project, he helped decode the human genome. COLLINS is also an evangelical Christian, and author of the book 'The Language of God: A Scientist Presents Evidence for Belief' (Free Press). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG on the writing style that once set Time magazine apart from other journalistic publications.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) English comedian and actor SACHA BARON COHEN. His popular film 'Borat' is now out on DVD. COHEN best known for his characters Ali G (a journalist from England), Bruno (a flamboyantly gay Austrian fashion reporter), and Borat (a Kazakhstan reporter) which are played for real for unsuspecting audiences. All three characters were part of his Da Ali G Show shown on cable TV. (REBROADCAST from 1/4/07) (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Blades of Glory' the new Will Ferrell comedy.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actors and comics MAZ JOBRAHNI (mazh Joe-BRA-nee), AHMED AHMED (AH-med AH-med) and ARON KADER (Aaron KAY-der) make up the Axis of Evil Comedy group. They are respectively of Iranian, Egyptian and Palestinian descent. Their special premiered a Comedy Central last month? it's out on DVD this week. (available in stores April 3rd). They are on tour now. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews the new memoir The Mistress's Daughter by novelist A.M. Homes.

Interview with David G. Nathan; Interview with Mohsin Hamid; Review of the television "The Shield." April 3, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973569143].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) New cancer fighting techniques including the development of smart drugs which target and block the growth of cancer cells mean thousands of patients are surviving their cancer. Researcher and doctor DAVID G. NATHAN, talks about his new book, 'The Cancer Treatment Revolution.' Nathan is President Emeritus of the Dana Farmer Cancer Institute.(2.) MOSHIN HAMID (MO-sin HA-mid) new novel, "The Reluctant Fundamentalist" is told through the voice of a young Pakistani who tells his life story to an American stranger over dinner in a cafe? in Lahore, Pakistan. HAMID worked as freelance journalist in Lahore and currently lives in London. His previous novel, "Moth Smoke" was a New York Times Notable Book of the Year.(3.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI previews the new season of 'The Shield.'

Interview with Richard Gere; Interview with Jake Kasdan. April 4, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825223].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Actor RICHARD GERE. He has almost 40 films to his credit, including 'Days of Heaven,' 'American Gigolo,' 'An Officer and a Gentleman,' 'The Cotton Club,' 'Looking for Mr. Goodbar,' and 'Chicago.'
In his new film 'The Hoax' GERE plays a scam artist who gets a major book publisher to pay him a seven figure publishing deal. It's based on the true story of Clifford Irving who claimed to be a Howard Hughes biographer. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).
(2.) Writer/director JAKE KASDEN. His new film is 'The TV Set' which stars David Duchovny and Sigourney Weaver. KASDEN previously directed the pilot for the highly acclaimed TV series 'Freaks and Geeks.' He produced the pilot with Judd Apatow, who is also producing KASDEN's new film. His other films include 'Zero Effect,' and 'Orange County.'

Interview with Ahmed Rashid. April 5, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http:// www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825913].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pakistani journalist AHMED RASHID. (Ah-MED RAW-sheed). He files for English language papers including the International Herald Tribune, The Wall Street Journal and The Daily Telegraph. He's the author of two bestseller's the book 'Taliban,' and 'Jihad.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES THRU THE END OF THE SHOW).

Review of the television show "The Sopranos"; Interview with Joseph Gannascoli; Interview with Lorraine Bracco; Review of the film "Grindhouse." April 6, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825225].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) TV critic DAVID BIANCULLI on the conclusion of the final season of 'The Sopranos.' It begins on Sunday night. (2.) Actor JOSEPH GANNASCOLI ('Gan-ah-SKO-lee'). He played mob captain Vito Spatafere on 'The Sopranos'? that is until he got wacked. Before that, his character was 'outed' having been spotted dancing in leather chaps at a gay bar. GANNASCOLI wrote a crime novel, 'A Meal to Die For' about a mobster and gourmet chef who has been summoned to prepare a feast for the boss who is about to be sent to jail. (REBROADCAST from 5/31/06)(3.) Actress LORRAINE BRACCO ('BRAHcco'). She's best known for her role as psychiatrist Dr. Jennifer Melfi on HBO's 'The Sopranos.' As such, she has the unenviable job of treating mob boss Tony Soprano. She was nominated for an Academy Award for her performance in Martin Scorsese's 'Goodfellas,' also about the mob. She played the wife of a mobster. BRACCO wrote her memoir, 'On the Couch.' (REBROADCAST from 6/6/06) (4.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Grindhouse' the new double feature film by directors Robert Rodriguez and Quentin Tarantino.

Interview with Michael Schudrich; Interview with Mike White. April 9, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825912].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Rabbi MICHAEL SCHUDRICH (SHOED-rick). He is the chief rabbi of Poland. He is also a native of New York City. SCHUDRICH moved to Warsaw in 1990 to help rebuild Jewish communities there funded by the Ronald S. Lauder foundation a U.S. charity established to help rebuild Jewish communities in Eastern Europe. SCHUDRICH's grandparents emigrated from Poland before World War II.(2.) Writer/director MIKE WHITE. His films include 'Nacho Libre,' 'The School of Rock,' 'Orange County,' and 'Chuck & Buck.' He also directed three episodes of the critically acclaimed TV show, 'Freaks & Geeks.' WHITE's new film, 'Year of the Dog,' stars Molly Shannon and Peter Saarsguard.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist and author WALTER ISAACSON. He's written the new biography of Albert Einstein, 'Einstein' (Simon & Schuster). It's based on newly released personal letters of Einstein. ISAACSON is also the author of biographies of Benjamin Franklin and Henry Kissinger. ISAACSON is president of the Aspen Institute, and was managing editor of Time magazine. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.)Critic-at-large JOHN POWERS looks at the film "Children of Men," which is just out on DVD.
Interview with Peter Berg; Interview with Jonathan Cohn. April 11, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825224].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) PETER BERG. He's executive producer of Friday Night Lights on NBC. He co-wrote and directed the 2004 film "Friday Night Lights." Both the TV series and the film are adapted from H.G. Bissinger's book about the high-stakes world of Texas High School Football. The NBC series, which won a Peabody Award, ends its first season tonight. THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW JONATHAN COHN. His new book "Sick: The Untold Story of America's Health Care Crisis--and the People Who Pay the Price" (HarperCollins, 2007), uses case studies of patients struggling with the health care system to examine how a profit-based model means some people don't get the care they need. COHN, a Senior Editor at The New Republic, advocates for a government-regulated single-payer system.

Interview with Kenneth Weiss; Interview with Gabriel Byrne; Review of Fountains of Wayne's album "Traffic and Weather." April 12, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825561].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist KENNETH WEISS writes for the L.A. Times. He has covered the California coast and the oceans for the past five years. He's written a new five part series Altered Oceans on the long-term health of the seas (written with Usha Lee McArling). The series has been given the George Polk Award. (2.) Irish actor GABRIEL BYRNE ('BURN'). His new film is 'Jindabyne.' He's best known for his roles in the films 'The Usual Suspect' and 'Miller's Crossing' and 'Into the West.' He also was executive producer of the film 'In the Name of the Father,' and associate producer of 'Into the West.' He started his acting career in his late 20s. Before that he was an archeologist, schoolteacher and short-order cook.(3.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Traffic and Weather' the new album by the band Fountains of Wayne. It's their first collection of songs in four years.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Film makers JON ALPERT and MATTHEW O'NEILL. Their new documentary 'Baghdad ER' is a recipient of this year's coveted Peabody award. It's also out on DVD. The film looks inside the 86th combat support hospital, the army's premier medical facility in Iraq. Shot over two months in 2005, the film tells the stories of the hospital's doctors and wounded soldiers. The film debuted on HBO. Alpert also directed the HBO documentary 'One Year in a Life of Crime' and is an 12-time Emmy Winner. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW)

(2.) Writer KURT VONNEGUT. He died Wednesday at the age of 84, after complications from a fall. His most famous book was the anti-war novel "Slaughterhouse Five.' It was based on VONNEGUT's own experiences during the Dresden firebombing during the Second World War, the novel was a cultural icon at the height of popular protest against the war in Vietnam. VONNEGUT's other novels were 'Cat's Cradle' and 'God Bless you, Mr. Rosewater.' He wrote 14 novels in all. (REBROADCAST FROM MAY, 1986.)

(3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Black Book' the new thriller by Dutch film maker Paul Verhoeven, set during the Nazi occupation of the Netherlands.

Description of show segment(s)

MONDAY, APRIL 16, 2007(1.) Songwriter/singer NEIL SEDAKA. This year marks his 50th in the music business. He was part of the original creators of the 'Brill Building Sound' of the late fifties and early sixties. His early songs 'Stupid Cupid' and 'Where the Boys Are' were hits by Connie Francis. He wrote the 'Puppet Man' and 'Workin' on a Groovy Thing' recorded by The 5th Dimension. Later SEDAKA went on to perform his songs 'The Diary,' 'Calendar Girl,' 'Breaking Up Is Hard To Do' and 'Laughter in the Rain.' SEDAKA has been inducted into the Songwriter's Hall of Fame. He also has a new collection of his songs 'The Definitive Collection' (Razor & Tie). (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES
Into the second half of the show. (2.) Book critic Maureen Corrigan reviews 'Edith Wharton' (Knopf) a new biography of the famous writer by Hermione Lee.

Interview with Charlie Savage; Interview with Charlie Savage; Interview with Lawrence Wright; Review of Ornette Coleman's album "Sound Grammar." April 17, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825882].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist Charlie Savage of the Boston Globe. He has been awarded at 2007 Pulitzer Prize award for National Reporting for his 'revelations that President Bush often used "signing statements" to assert his controversial right to bypass provisions of new laws.' His article in the April 30th 2006 edition of the paper, 'Bush challenges hundreds of laws: President cites powers of his office' prompted Republican Senator Arlen Specter to call for hearings to investigate the matter. Instead of vetoing bills, Savage details that the President has quietly used 'signing statements' - official documents in which the president lays out his legal interpretation of a bill to be followed when implementing a new law. Other Presidents have also used this power, but Bush has used it far more: 750 times. In his signing statements, Bush has asserted the right to ignore numerous sections of bills. These bills have to do with torture, domestic spying, affirmative-action, 'whistle-blower' protections, and immigration problems. Legal scholars say that Bush's assertions 'represent a concerted effort to expand his powers at the expense of Congress, upsetting the balance between the branches of government. (Rebroadcast from 5/9/06).(2.) Journalist Lawrence Wright, staff writer for The New Yorker. It's just been announced that he is a 2007 Pulitzer Prize winner (in the category of General Nonfiction) for his book 'The Looming Tower: Al-Qaeda and the Road to 9/11' (Knopf). The book is based on more than 500 interviews, some with friends and relatives of Osama bin Laden and examines the circumstances that led to the formation of Al Qaeda. (Rebroadcast from 8/15/06)(2.) Jazz critic Kevin Whitehead reviews Sound Grammar, the recent album by saxophonist Ornette Coleman which was just awarded a Pulitzer Prize (Rebroadcast from 11/17/06).
Interview with Sari Nusseibeh; Commentary on racist comments made by Don Imus. April 18, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825560].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) SARI NUSSEIBEH (pronounced 'Sorry New-SEH-bay') is the president of and a professor of philosophy at Al-Quds University, the only Arab university in Jerusalem. He has written a new memoir, 'Once Upon a Country: A Palestinian Life' (Farrar, Straus, Giroux). He's also co-author of the People's Voice Initiative to build grassroots support for a two-state solution. Until December 2002, he was the representative of the Palestinian National Authority in Jerusalem. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Linguist GEOFF NUNBERG considers the reactions to the comments by Imus.

Interview with Jimmy Wales; Interview with Aziz Ansari, Rob Huebel, and Paul Scheer; Review of King Sunny Ade albums. April 19, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825878].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) JIMMY WALES is the co-creator of the interactive on-line encyclopedia 'Wikipedia' which was founded in 2001. Readers of Wikipedia write and edit the entries themselves. The site also has its own editors. Some entries, including the one on the '2006 Israel-Lebanon conflict' have been edited more than four thousand times. Often there are 'edit wars' over a site, and the accuracy of entries has been questioned by some professors and colleges who forbid their students to use it. Wikipedia is one of the 10 ten sites on the internet and is in 250 languages. (2.) Comics AZIZ ANSARI (AN-sar-ree), ROB HUEBEL (HEW-ble), and PAUL SCHEER (Sheer). The group also consists of Jason Woliner. They are part of the comedy troupe, 'Human Giant.' Their new sketch comedy series of film shorts premiered on MTV this month. (It's on Thursday nights). It's also called 'Human Giant.' (3.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews three new CDs collecting the work of Nigerian juju superstar King Sunny Ade. They are 'The Best of the Classic Years' and 'Gems From the Classic Years' (both on Shanachie) and 'King of Juju' (on the British label, Wrasse).

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) SHAWN RYAN is the creator and writer for the critically acclaimed FX drama 'The Shield.' It is currently in season six. (REBROADCAST from 3/14/06)(2.) Actress C.C.H. POUNDER. She's best known for her portrayal of Detective Claudette Wyms on the FX TV show 'The Shield.' The show just began its sixth season. Last season POUNDER's character got a much deserved promotion to Captain. POUNDER was raised in Guyana, and schooled in Britain. Her film credits include 'Bagdad Cafe?,' 'Postcards from the Edge,' 'Benny & Joon,' and 'Face/off.' She's also had numerous TV appearances on 'L.A. Law,' 'ER,' and 'Law & Order.' POUNDER is a member of the group 'Artists for a New South Africa' which is involved in AIDS outreach and education. 'The Shield' is one of last year's recipients of the prestigious Peabody Award. (REBROADCAST from 6/5/06)(THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(3.) Film critic DAVID EDELSTEIN reviews 'Hot Fuzz' a parody of Hollywood-style action films by the makers of 'Shaun of the Dead.'

Interview with Bill Moyers; Interview with Joshua Ferris. April 23, 2007. [Link to record with audio file http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/973825881].

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Journalist BILL MOYERS. He returns to PBS with Bill Moyers' Journal. The first episode is a 90 minute documentary about the role of the press in the lead-up to the Iraq War. (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW).(2.) Novelist JOSHUA FERRIS is making his debut with the novel 'Then We Came To the End' (Little, Brown & Co.) a satire about life in a Chicago advertising agency. FERRIS' short fiction has appeared in the Iowa Review, Best New American Voices, and Prairie Schooner.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Pulitzer-prize winning journalist DAVID HALBERSTAM. He died yesterday from injuries received in a car crash. He was 73. We listen back to his interviews on Fresh Air, from 1985, from 6/3/93, and from 1/21/99. HALBERSTAM was part of the 1964 Pulitzer-prize winning team who covered the emerging war in Vietnam for The New York Times. He wrote more than 20 books on a variety of topics. They include 'The Best and Brightest' (about the Vietnam War), 'The Coldest War' (about the Korean War), 'The Powers That Be' (about the media), 'The Fifties' (about the 1950s), 'Playing for Keeps: Michael Jordan and The World He Made" (about basketball), and 'Firehouse' (about firefighters at one firehouse in the Upper West side who went to the World Trade Center on 9/11. Only one survived.) THESE INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF. (2.) Music critic MILO MILES reviews 'Old School' (on the Alligator label) the latest CD by blues singer Koko Taylor.

Description of show segment(s)

(1.) Presidential historian ROBERT DALLEK (rhymes with 'SHALL'). His new book is 'Nixon & Kissinger: Partners in Power' (HarperCollins). He writes about two ambitious men who were very different but very similar as well, describing the two as 'self-serving characters with grandiose dreams of recasting world affairs.' DALLECK is also the bestselling author of 'An Unfinished Life: John F. Kennedy.' (THIS INTERVIEW CONTINUES INTO THE SECOND HALF OF THE SHOW). (2.) Rock critic KEN TUCKER reviews 'Hyphy Hitz' that collects a variation of hiphop known as 'hyphy' (pronounced HI-FEE) from the San Francisco Bay Area.
