Abstract

Founded in 1862 as a patriotic society to support the Union and the policies of President Abraham Lincoln, the Union League of Philadelphia laid the philosophical foundation of other Union Leagues across a nation torn by Civil War. From its founding to the present, the League has been a leading civic organization and has played an important role in the history of our country and the City of Philadelphia. Over the past 150 years, this service has ranged from raising troops during the Civil War and lobbying for enforcement of the “freedom” amendments during Reconstruction, to feeding the hungry during the Great Depression, to finding jobs for returning veterans after World War II. Adorning the walls and hallways of the Union League’s historic building is a distinguished collection of art and artifacts. The collection is a rich, historical chronicle of Philadelphia’s unique imprint upon the American landscape from the 19th century to today and is recognized by historians and art experts as valuable components of our shared American history.
Biography/History

Founded in 1862 as a patriotic society to support the Union and the policies of President Abraham Lincoln, the Union League of Philadelphia laid the philosophical foundation of other Union Leagues across a nation torn by Civil War. From its founding to the present, the League has been a leading civic organization and has played an important role in the history of our country and the City of Philadelphia. Over the past 150 years, this service has ranged from raising troops during the Civil War and lobbying for enforcement of the “freedom” amendments during Reconstruction, to feeding the hungry during the Great Depression, to finding jobs for returning veterans after World War II. The Union League has hosted U.S. presidents, heads of state, industrialists, entertainers and visiting dignitaries from around the globe. It has also given loyal support to the American military in each conflict since the Civil War, and continues to be driven by its founding motto, “Love of Country Leads.”

The classic French Renaissance-styled League building, with its brick and brownstone façade and dramatic twin circular staircases leading to the main entrance on Broad Street, dates to 1865. Additions to the building in the Beaux Arts style, designed by Philadelphia architects Horace Trumbauer and Julian Abele and completed in 1910 and 1911, expanded the building to occupy an entire city block. The building was listed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1979.

Inside, the traditional décor is accented in rich leather, patinated wood and polished marble. Adorning the walls and hallways is the League’s distinguished collection of art and artifacts. The collection is a rich, historical chronicle of Philadelphia’s unique imprint upon the American landscape from the 19th century to today and is recognized by historians and art experts as valuable components of our shared American history.

Scope and Contents

The Union League’s distinguished art and artifact collection is a rich, historical chronicle of Philadelphia’s unique imprint upon the American landscape from the nineteenth century to today. The materials date from 1840 to 2009 and provide a unique glimpse into a private club's activities for more than 150 years.

Included in this collection are articles of clothing; coins; badges; dish and glassware; engravings; flags; furniture; medals; military equipment and weapons; paintings; patches, pins and political buttons; plaques and prints.

While there is a concentration of material from the Civil War, there is material relating to the Republican party, presidential campaigns, and other political events. Civil War materials include ammunition, uniforms, bugles, battle flags, medals and weapons.

Some of the material was generated by the Union League and sports its logo. In particular, there is clothing, dish and glassware, Christmas ornaments, commemorative ribbons and trophies.

The Union League’s collection of art includes many important paintings, bronzes and other works. Highlights include portraits of two American presidents. Thomas Sully’s portrait of George Washington is the first painting the League ever purchased. The collection also includes the League’s first commissioned painting, a life-portrait of Abraham Lincoln by Edward D. Marchant, as well as two bronze life masks made of Lincoln in 1860 and 1865. In addition, researchers will find engravings, prints and sculptures.

This collection is arranged in alphabetical order. Researchers are advised to perform a keyword search to ensure that all relevant items are located.

Harvest Home-When the War Was Over, 1867
Oil on canvas
Signed and dated at lower right: "J. John/1867"
Gift of Alexander M. Fox, 1912 (see below)
File includes card with donor information on verso and legend on recto; we also have a framed photo by Gutekunst, with a label on the back, with important information.
Verso: "1865/Description/of painting presented by Alexander Fox/[4?]11.1912."
Recto: "When the war was over, and our brave defenders had returned to their homes, there was a general reunion of friends and relatives to honor the return of peace with feast and song beneath the shades of a loyal homestead of Eastern Pennsylvania. The bride is welcomed in the family at the old homestead, the loyalty to liberty of whose Friendly proprietors many a sable-faced fugitive has witnessed.

The widowed mother in a secluded corner mourns her loss, meditating on the pictured expression of her partner who returns not with the rest, while the little pledge of their love essays to comfort and console. The table is being spread for the feast in front of the old substantial stone mansion whose walls are half covered with clinging ivy, and a path regularly paved with slabs of stone leads up through the yard to a quaint old portico covering the door.

Standing by the pump with modest expression, the damsel espies in the young cavalryman, (just arrived) the long absent lover, who is being welcomed by members of the family (along with the colored standard-bearer) to the feast.

Grouped around the table to the centre are the political disputants, and the difference that excites the spirit and animus between the soldier and his antagonist is the negro.

Beneath the arbor the mother receives her wounded son; "the long-look'd-for" has come at last.

The whole is a scene representing such people as an intelligent republican community would have, with doors thrown liberally open, gates swung back, a sociability that sinks all personal hostility, no passive indifferences to the duties of the hour, but recognized responsibility; not all mourning for individual loss, nor exultant in victory, but exhibiting an intelligent submission to the philosophy of events.

Around the officer in the foreground, are grouped his listening family and friends, whose attentive faces bear his welcome as he relates his experience and incidents of war, while the children around, catching up the spirit if the scene, are mimicking battle with their fathers' cast-off swords and guns, or watching the amusing pranks of the playful kittens, protected from intrusion by their indignant mother.

Typewritten sheet attached to backing paper on frame of photo: Photograph of: "The Harvest-Home/When The War Was Over"

The bride was Elizabeth T. (Green) Lester wife of Evan Jones Lester of Philadelphia.

Two of the small children were children of the above: Joseph Green Lester - a long time member of the Union League of Philadelphia, and his brother Evan.

Joseph Green Lester born June 6, 1865 Evan Jones Lester, Jr. born May 6 1867 both have died.

Scope and Contents note

This grand depiction of George Washington may not show the General on a specific occasion, but, rather, evokes the national icon that had taken shape during the 1790s, when Washington was president and Philadelphia was the capital. The General who looks out at us from this painting has the same features as the most famous Washington of all, Gilbert Stuart's "Athenaeum" life portrait (1796), which is also the inspiration for the portrait on our one dollar bill.

Henry Clay, 1843
Oil on canvas
Signed and dated at lower left: "Jno. Neagle Pinxit 1843"
Gift of Henry Pratt McKean.
Condition: Good, 1843.

Scope and Contents note

On the left side (the viewer’s left) of this portrait, Neagle has painted symbols of American prosperity that Clay's "American System" of tariffs was designed to protect from foreign competition: in the background a sailing vessel can be seen beyond farmland with cows grazing; and, in the foreground, a plow, an anvil, and a shuttle represent farming, manufacturing, and the textile industry. Artists use such objects, often called attributes, to represent the subject's interests or accomplishments. John Neagle was one of Philadelphia’s most important portraitists; he and Thomas Sully, who painted the League's famous equestrian portrait of Washington, both worked in an English-influenced Romantic style.

The guard is elaborate, with knob on lower end and filigree panel on the right side with letters, "US." Pommel is concentric ovals, the largest being wider than the handle. Blade is straight, engraved, "Ames Mfg. Co. with "US" engraved on blade about 1/3 of the way down from the guard. Old label in curatorial file reads, "Sword in scabbard with bottom shot off..."
1959.2.1B Scabbard main body a dark metal with two brass elements to which attach the two rings. Stamped on upper brass element, "Ames Mfg. Co. Chicopee, Mass."
1959.2.1C Loop with swivel attached, brass. Passing through the upper ring is single piece loop with a swivel metal attachment, which is semi-circular with a bar across the opening. Condition: Stable. Location: Shelf BB.4, 1959.

Sword. Curved Calvary sword (A) with eagle's head finial. Hilt of ivory cut to resemble bands with engraved repeating leaf pattern at base in metal and simple thin guard piece. Blade is curved. Scabbard (B) has two metal bands each with a metal ring attached on the leather part. The top metal band has a fluted edge with a raised knob in the middle. On the reverse of the leather scabbard is a row of stitching going up the center. Condition: Unstable. Location: Shelf BB.4, undated.
Sword. Dress sword (A) with scabbard. The blade engraved with flags, possibly a cannon and curvilinear designs, and has a straight, tapering, double-edged blade. The hilt has a thin knuckle bow with a leaf decoration on either side. The pommel or top has an eagle on one side and has a blank shield on the other side. The hilt, right above the blade, has a large eagle on one side and is blank on the other. The initials, "P.F.B." are scratched on the reverse side of the eagle on the hilt. The handle has a brass, twisted wire wound around dark, textured metal.
The scabbard (B) is made of metal with two bands with a leaf pattern, the upper one with two rings and the lower with one. Condition: Stable. Location: Shelf BB.5, undated.

Sword. Field duty sword (A) with knuckle bow and slightly curved, single edged blade with elaborate engraving. Guard extends to the left slightly with a larger filigree panel to the right. The guard tapers to a thin knuckle bow towards the pommel or top. There is a knob extending down below the guard in front of the blade. Top or finial is made up of concentric circles. Handle is covered in black textured leather with textured wire wrapped around it. The blade has a groove on either side extending along the blunt side. The engraving includes an eagle and shields with stars and stripes on it, a flag, sword, arrows, drum and cannon balls. The blade is inscribed, "U.S." on one side and "Pluribus Unum," "W.H. Horstmann & Sons Philadelphia" on the reverse. Along the blunt edge of the blade near the hilt is inscribed what appears to read, "ON PROOF." A piece of leather is attached, but only hanging by a bit below the hilt, surrounding the blade.
The scabbard (B) is made of leather with two metal bands with attached rings, and a metal cap on the bottom. A piece of cloth is glued to the cap, presumably a label, but no notation can be seen now. Condition: Poor. Location: Shelf BB.5, undated.

Sword. Foot artillery sword (A) has spread eagle with shield at chest in relief on either side of brass pommel. Hilt decorated with brass fish scale decoration. Sword has indentations along shaft, and is straight, double bladed. Makers name and small symbol are stamped near the top of the blade. Scabbard (B) is made of black leather with a brass top with knob and brass bottom, and a central line of stitching on one side. Condition: Unstable. Location: Shelf BB.4, undated.

Sword. Sword blade (A) has no handle. It was blown off by a shell that wounded Patterson in the hand and dented the scabbard (B). Scabbard has one band with a ring near the top, and a remnant of a lower band below at site of damage. Condition: Poor. Location: Shelf BB.5, undated.

Sword. Sword with knuckle bow and slightly curved, single edged blade with elaborate engraving. Guard has "US" in fancy pierced decoration. The guard tapers to a thin knuckle bow towards the pommel or top. An eagle's head extends below the guard. Top or finial is made up of concentric ovals with allegorical figure's face below. Handle is metal. The blade has engraved, "Capt. B.F. Bean" and near the top, "G.W. Simons & Bros. Philada. Pa." The engraving includes flags and leaves. The scabbard is made of brass with a silver oval insert engraved, "Presented to Capt. Benj. F. Bean by members of Co B. 34th Reg."
P.V. as a token of regard for his soldierly qualities and gentlemanly conduct." Condition: Good. Location: Shelf BB.5, undated.

Sword. The sword (A) has a narrow, double, straight-edged blade, not engraved. The guard has an eagle on one side and a shield with two crossed swords, canons and rifles on the other. The handle was a brass wire wound around it with a finial surmounted by a flower design.

The scabbard (B) has two bands, the band closest to the top has two rings and the second band has one ring. Between the bands is inscribed, "Louis Wagner, Col. 88th Reg. Pa. Vet. Vols. and Brev. Brig Genl. U.S. Vols-Wounded, 2nd Bull Run, 8/30/62." Below the second band is inscribed, "Henry S. Wagner, 2nd Lt. 8th U.S. Infy Cuba 1898-99 1st Lt. 14th Infy Tien Tsin to Pekin, 1900. P.I. '01-'02. Wounded, Bayang, Mindanao, 5/2/02." Condition: Stable. Location: Shelf AA.3, 1900.

Sword. The sword (A) pommel is fashioned into a knight's helmet with visor and feathers. The hilt has a thin knuckle bow and is inlaid with mother-of-pearl pieces. A metal wire is entwined around the mother-of-pearl pieces. The guard is folded over the blade on one side with a relief of a Greek warrior on it with two lion heads in the upper corners. Above the guard is a repeating Greek-type pattern, and a single duplicate of this motif is on the scabbard (A). The blade is engraved, single-edged, straight blade.

The scabbard is engraved on one side with two rings attached to two bands, not raised. Condition: Stable. Location: Shelf BB.4, undated.
